I know, Mr. Editor, that you are not curiously inclined, but you must be careful, as you reflect on the luxuries of a brother who sits, on one Sabbath, under the cheer and inspiration of two sermons. Such grace seldom falls to the lot of a North Louisiana preacher. Bishop Key is a good collector as well as a good preacher. He cleared the church at Athens of all debt before the dedication. While it was "the house" which was to be dedicated, the sermon was on the dedication of "the church"—"Who among you will consecrate himself unto the Lord this day?" In a sense, the meeting-house is "the temple of the Lord," and must be for his service alone; but God has another and more important temple, "which temple ye are." If the wood and iron and brick must be consecrated to God, how much more must the soul, the body and the spirit be consecrated to him?

Bro. Munholland continued the meeting, and up to Tuesday night some five or six persons had been "added unto them." So delighted at the taste of episcopal ministrations, the people of Homer will wait anxiously for Dec. 14, when they hope again to see and hear "our Bishop."

It is not idle talk to say that this ante-Conference visitation of a Bishop has been an inspiration to the church everywhere he came in touch with it. When my time comes to be BISHOP, I am going to swing around among my Conferences pretty liberally during the Fall preceding the sessions. It does good; it increases the confidence and enlarges the sentiments of our people. I think also that it has a liberalizing tendency, bringing our people up to a higher appreciation of our polity and unity.

People like to feel the touch of their own heads now and then, and as a body, we have need to know we have a head in the form of an episcopal college. Many of our people, raised in our church, pious and useful and long lived, have lived, labored and died without ever having seen the human head of the church which they loved. It is true our territory is large, our people are many and broadly scattered, our Bishops are few, and some of them old and infirm, but still I see not why the focal points in each presiding elder's district should not be touched by the presiding Bishop once each year. If there are not Bishops enough to do this, there ought to be, and if it requires one in each Conference—and this should never be possible to avoid—to touch the whole church, why, let us have it just that way as the least of two evils.

Bishop Key's coming has been a benediction to the Arcadia district; it has been a contribution to the faithful services of a faithful presiding elder.

Address of the Methodist Bishops in 1824.

Never was there a period more momentously interesting to our church than the present. Do we, as preachers, feel the same child-like spirit which so eminently distinguished our first ministers? Do we come to the people in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel of peace? It is not enough to preach the gospel from a full heart, and preach it, too, in demonstration of the Spirit and with power. And, above all, do we insist on the present witness of the Spirit and entire sanctification through faith in Christ? Are we striving, by faith and obedience, to elevate our hearts and lives to the standard of gospel holiness? or, are we wishing to have the standard lowered to our unsanctified natures? In short, are we contented to have the doctrine of Christian holiness an article of our creed only without becoming experimentally and practically acquainted with it? or, are we pressing after it as the prize of our high calling in Christ Jesus?

If Methodists give up the doctrine of entire sanctification, or suffer it to become a dead letter, we are a fallen people. It is this that lays the ax at the root of the Antinomian tree in all its forms and degrees of growth; it is this that inflames and diffuses life, rouses to action, prompts to perseverance, and urges the soul forward to every holy exercise and every useful work. If the Methodists lose sight of this doctrine, they fall by their own weight. Their success in gaining numbers will be the cause of their dissolution. Holiness is the main cord that binds us together. Relax this, and you loosen the whole system. This will appear more evident if we call to mind the original design of Methodism. It was to raise up and preserve a holy people. This was the principal object which Mr. Wesley—who, under God, was the great founder of our order—had in view. To this all the doctrines believed and preached by Methodists tend. Who ever supposed, or who that is acquainted with the case can suppose, that it was designed in any of its parts to secure the applause or popularity of the world, or a numerical increase of worldly or impenitent men? Are there any provisions made for the aggrandizement of our ministers or the worldly-mindedness of our members? None whatever.

(Signed) WILLIAM MCKENDREE,
ELIJAH HEDDING,
ENOCH GEORGE,
JOSHUA SOULE,
ROBERT R. ROBERTS.

Kentucky Conference.

The session of the Kentucky Conference just closed was a most delightful one. The people of Maysville entertained it in elegant style, and extended a hospitality equal that of Old Virginia. The financial outlook was not promising some time before the Conference, but we were all agreeably surprised at the showing made with an increase in the collections, and especially in an increase of $849 in the missionary collection.

Bishop Galloway won all hearts and carried away with him the love of every man in the Conference. He is not only a fine presiding officer, but also a loving Christian man, making all feel that he was simply a loving Methodist preacher among his brethren. His sermon, Sunday morning, was one of the finest efforts I ever heard; and if I am any judge of preaching, and that sermon was a fair sample of his preaching, he stands at the head of his class. No wonder he captured our English brethren, for he will be apt to capture any people who hear him. He is logical, eloquent, and spiritual, reminding one much of Bishop Pierce in his palmy days.

We all hope he will be with us again next year, and the Kentucky Conference will give him a royal, loving welcome whenever he may come to us, and he promises to be among us during the year, if possible, in the interest of education.

The delegates to the General Conference are C. J. Nugent, J. E. Wright, J. R. Deering, and H. P. Walker, and constitute a strong delegation to represent us at Memphis.

I herewith send you the appointments:

LEXINGTON DISTRICT.—J. Rand, P. E. Lexington, E. L. Southgate; Winchester, W. T. Boiling; Frankfort, H. G. Henderson; Versailles, J. R. Deering; Paris, J. O. A Vaught; Spears, E. J. Terrell; Georgetown, H. G. Turner; Mt. Sterling, A. Redd; Old Fort, P. J. Ross; Grassy Lick, D. P. Wear; North Middleton, W. S Grinstead; Mt. Hope, J. H. Williams; Ilinton, W. W. Chamberlain; New Columbus, C. M. Humphrey.

COVINGTON DISTRICT.—W. F. Vaughn, P. E. Covington, Scott St., G. H. Means; Covington, Eleventh St., J. W. Mitchell; Newport, E. G. B. Mann; Highlands, D. E. Reddinger; Augusta and Foster, Minor S. Clark; California, J. R. Kendall; Visalia, J. M. Wilson; Falmouth, T. W. Barker; Carrollton, R. Hiner; Berry, W. T. Benton; Petersburg, D. H. Marrimon; Warsaw, Wm. Shoesmith; Brookesville, J. T. J. Fisher; Morning View, W. F. Wyatt; Walton, W. A. Cooper; Cynthiana, George W. Young; Williamstown, P. H. Hoffman; Brackan mission, E. K. Kidwell; Oddville, W. W. Green.

SHELBYVILLE DISTRICT.—J. W. Fitch, P. E Shelbyville, J. R. Savage; Simpsonville, J. T. McEntyre; Taylorsville, Geo. Froh; Bloomfield, W. W. Spates; New Castle, D. B. Cooper; Port Royal, J. S. Walker; Campbellsburg, W. H. H. Ditzler; Bedford, G. H. Crutchfield; Milton, W. H. Winter; La Grange, T. J. Godbey; Peewee Valley, J. B. Strother; Pleasureville, J. J. Johnson; Clay Village, A. E. Colgrove; Gratz, J. W. Gardner; Proctorville, W. E. Boswell.

MAYSVILLE DISTRICT.—J. Reeves, P. E. Maysville, T. W. Watts; Millersburg, D. W. Robertson; Flemingsburg, W. T. Rowland; Tilton and Nepton, M. T. Chandler; Hillsboro, E. C. Savage; Mt. Carmell, Jno. R. Peeples; Sharpburg, J. D. Redd; Carlisle, T. S. Tallaferro; Owingsville, E. E Holmes; Sylvan Dell, S X Pollitt; Mt. Olivet, W. A Penn; Shannon and Sardis, R H. Wightman; Germantown, T. B. Cook; Vanceburg, S. W. Spear; Tolesboro, M. T. Morgan; Dover, Whitly Waldrof; Moorfield, C. E. Baswell; Kinney mission, J. R. Word; Ruddle's Mills, J. W. Harris.

DANVILLE DISTRICT.—H. P. Walker, P. E. Danville, W. F. Taylor; Harrodsburg, C. J. Nugent; Nicholasville, J E. Wright; Mackville, S. F. Colby; Chaplain, A. C. Wright; Lawrenceburg, H. V. Moore and S. W. Peeples; Salvisa, T. G. Wallace; Jessamine, J A. Sawyer; Bryantsville, A. P. Jones; Stanford, W. E. Arnold; Richmond, F. S. Pollitt; College Hill, W. J. Doran; Somerset, E. H. Pierce; Cane Town, J. W. Hunter; Moreland, W. D. Wolborne; Lancaster, C. H. Green.

MIDDLESBORO DISTRICT.—C. F. Oney, P. E. Meadow Creek, J. W. Crates; London and Pineville, F. K. Strive; Manchester, W. B. Ragan; Whitesburg, J. M. Mathews; Cartersville, G. G. Ragan; Campton, J. L. West; Jackson, B. E. Lancaster; Irvine, H. A. McClure; Morehead, J. E. Wright; West Liberty, S. M. Carrier; Hazard, E Allen; Clay City, D. J. Chandler; Harding, R. B. Beard.

W. T. BOLLING.

—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

Edward McGehee College.

Edward McGehee College opened well, better than ever before. We have matriculated sixty-four to date. Others are promised, and are coming in daily. There are twenty-two boarders—seventeen of these are boarding in the college.

H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

Notice.

Our new church at Lawrence, in the Lake circuit, is nearing completion, and will be dedicated by Bishop Galloway on the fourth Sunday in October, at 11 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend. R. F. WITT, P. C.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. R. M. Blocker, Lisbon, La. Sept. 18: "Our revival at Salem, last week, was a success. While we had but seven accessions to the church, including four by transfer and letter, there was a good work in the church and a general awakening on religion in the community. The attendance was excellent day and night."

Rev. W. J. Burt, P. C., Kossuth circuit, Corinth district, North Mississippi Conference, Sept. 16: "I have just closed a good meeting at Madden's. Twenty accessions to the church. Bro. B. R. East was with me. He is a good man, full of the spirit and love of Christ. He is a good revivalist and a good worker in a protracted meeting. We have torn down the old Methodist Church at Kossuth and are building a new one. When finished, it will be real neat and comfortable, worth about $700."

Rev. J. S. Hodges, P. C., Tunica mission, Mississippi Conference: "We found this work last January with only eleven members. Up to date we have received about seventy. Dr. H. W. Featherstun dedicated our new church, Hays Chapel, two weeks ago. We protracted the meeting, ably assisted by Bro. G. D. Anders, who preached with great power. Results: Thirty accessions, about twenty-five conversions, pastor's salary more than doubled, and two prayer meetings and Sabbath-school organized. Surely the walls of Zion are being rebuilt. To God be the praise!"

Rev. Jas. Porter, P. C., Charleston circuit, North Mississippi Conference, Sept. 8: "Raining here to-day, which is the first we have had for a long time—in fact, we have not had but little rain since June. Corn crop short, and not a good crop of cotton. Money so scarce that we do not have any, or scarcely any at all. It will be impossible, unless there is a change, for the church to pay the amounts assessed for the different claims this year. We have held four meetings, and have had some success. We have had sixty additions to the church, twenty-six adults baptized and five children baptized; the church in good condition."

Rev. W. L. Graves, P. C., Athens, North Mississippi Conference, Sept. 16: "We began last Sunday (the tenth) at Riggan's Chapel, with Bro. Raper, of Tremont, assisting us, and continued six days, Bro. Raper doing most of the preaching. Owing to the rainy weather the attendance was small, but the work was begun and continued in earnest, and the Holy Ghost came upon the people every service. Almost without an exception, every sinner that came to the meetings was converted, and there were twenty, or more. The membership at that place was doubled, giving us twenty-four now. It was truly a wonderful meeting; the best they have had in ten years, they say. Those people will long remember Bro. Raper to love him. His preaching was good; it was the soul-stirring kind. May God bless him!"

Rev. E. G. Kilgore, Magnolia, Ark., Sept. 16: "Since I was in your office at New Orleans, I have assisted in revivals at Thayer, Mo.; Reeves, Tenn., and Searcy and Prescott, in this State. At all these places God gave his people great victories. Many souls have been converted and added to the church. We are now in the midst of one of the grandest meetings I have ever witnessed. Twenty-one conversions yesterday, and the work has been going on thus for more than a week. Soores and scores have been saved. Glory to God! The work will continue several days yet. I go from here to Boydsville, Ark., for a few days, and thence to Dresden, Tenn., where I will spend two weeks with Rev. E. H. Stuart. May God give us victory at these places! Pray for us. May God bless you and the dear ADVOCATE!"

Rev. W. L. Graves, P. C., Athens, North Mississippi Conference, Sept. 9: "No doubt many will rejoice to know that Athens charge has had great revivals this year. We have held five meetings to date here. These meetings were well attended, and the Spirit of the Lord was present from the first to convict and to save. Many were the conversions and reclamations, and the whole church quickened and raised to a higher life and experience in Christ. The people say they have not had such revivals on this charge for many years. Forty-six have joined our church, with more to follow. Great good has resulted from these meetings. Bros. J. A. Bowen, of Aberdeen station; J. M. Barnes, of Strong; L. M. Broyles, of Stonnville; J. W. Peavy, L. P., and L. D. Hollingsworth, L. P., have placed us under many obligations for earnest and efficient labors with us. The Lord's blessings attend these brethren!"

Rev. Isaac L. Penhler, Enterprise, Miss., Sept. 16: "Our protracted meeting at this place closed last Sunday night after a protraction of two weeks. During the meeting Bro. T. B. Holleman, president of the East Mississippi Female College at Meridian, preached twice for us, and Bro. D. P. Bradford, of Shubuta, preached seven days. Although the meeting did not result as we desired, yet we are thankful to say that much good was accomplished. Likely much more would have been done if it had not been for the rain. Bro. J. W. Chambers, our predecessor on this work, came by, and was with us in one service, and would have preached for us the following night if it had not rained too hard. Said that he could see quite a change in the church for the better. This is quite encouraging, for our earnest desire is that our people may live a pure, godly life, and that sinners may be converted. Pray for us, brethren."

Rev. W. T. Woodward, Port Vincent circuit, Woodville district, Mississippi Conference: "We have held three revivals on this work, viz.: Bayou Barbary, assisted by Dr. John T. Sawyer and Ed. T. Denson, both of the Louisiana Conference. These brethren did effectual, deep work. Their preaching was of high spiritual order. Maurepas, assisted by W. T. Currie, of Ponchatoula, who preached very plain, pointed gospel sermons to great effect. Huff's Chapel, assisted by Geo. W. Huff and Ed. T. Denson, who preached the gospel unadulterated, and without sugar coating, which is characteristic of these co-laborers. Results: About thirty conversions, six accessions, and many of the faithful strengthened and sent on their way rejoicing. We are improving all of our churches on this work. Lumber, brick and lime on ground in Port Vincent to build a new church. Lumber on ground to build parsonage. Collections ordered by the Conference we expect in full. Preacher doing pretty well, although he is alone now, and has been since the eighteenth of August. This year we have secured seventeen new subscribers to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and hope to get a few more."

Rev. D. Scarborough, Nicholson, Miss., Sept. 8: "You seldom hear from this part of the country, but the Lord's cause is prospering here as well as elsewhere. This circuit (East Pearl), in charge of Bro. A. H. Shannon, is moving onward. Bro. Shannon is a young man of limited experience in the ministry, but he is an earnest worker, and is laboring faithfully to bring this people to Christ. Last Saturday we began a meeting at Pine Grove Church, which lasted four days. The opening sermon was preached by the pastor, and for two days he and the writer proclaimed the Word to an attentive audience. On Monday, Bro. D. C. Rawls came to us in the power of the Holy Ghost, and preached some soul-stirring sermons. Bro. Rawls is, indeed, a man of God, and knows how to reach sinners. The Lord blessed the meeting. The members of the church were revived, and there were five accessions. Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians all kneeled around the altar together, and prayed for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. It came in convicting power, and was manifested in the conversion of souls. The people of this community say that there is a better spirit existing now among the members of the different denominations than ever before. May the Lord continue to be with us!"

Rev. J. M. Alford, P. C., Pocahontas, Miss., Sept. 13: "The Pocahontas work is now moving on harmoniously. The outlook is brightening as we progress. As many of the readers know, I came here last June to take the place of Bro. Tinnin, who was sent to the Adams charge. This is my first experience as a pastor, and, of course, none but the inexperienced will fail to appreciate fully my situation. I entered the work with no other design than to benefit souls and to glorify God's blessed name; hence all our Christian duties have been discharged in the love and fear of him who is faithful to answer fervent prayer. O, the power of prayer! We have been laboring and praying for the blessings of God upon us, and we feel that our petitions have been granted. God has very graciously blessed two of our churches. We had a few days' meeting at Flag's Chapel, embracing the fourth Sabbath in August. Bro. C. M. Crossley, of the Brookhaven circuit, was with us, who labored with unsurpassed zeal and earnestness, the fruits of which will, doubtless, be seen and felt for years to come. Only one accession to the church—a man of more than sixty Summers, who was happily converted. Eternity alone can reveal the good accomplished, for inasmuch as the church was greatly revived, and 'inasmuch as we know our labors are not in vain in the Lord.' We then left Flag's Chapel and pitched our tents toward Pocahontas, to engage in another campaign against Satan. We had a nine-days' struggle, which resulted in a glorious victory over the world, the flesh, and the devil. Brother, cheer up; the candlestick has not been removed. God was with us from the beginning, and that to bless our efforts for good. Pocahontas can boast of the best revival she has had for quite a number of years. There were thirteen accessions to the church, several conversions, and church members built up in the most holy faith, and, glory be to God! one young man was called to preach the everlasting gospel of Christ. O, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness and his wonderful works to the children of men! Rev. J. W. Chambers was with us four days, and preached with his usual zeal and power, which resulted in bringing sinners to a knowledge of the truth. He was with us on a twofold mission, viz.: to labor for the interest of souls, and also for the interest of Millsaps College. However, he indirectly labors for souls in the latter. Dr. T. S. West, of Jackson, was with us two days at the conclusion. He preached with intense interest and power, as he usually does. Some of the good sisters believed the world was coming to an end, since so many were taking such an interest in church affairs; and when Dr. West preached a sermon on the second coming of Christ, in which he stated that it had been prophesied that the end of time was near at hand, it naturally brought about some serious thinking. The interest of the meeting toward the last was decreased somewhat by the rains; still we have reason to believe some good was accomplished, even under such unfavorable circumstances. May God still prosper his cause in our little Zion! We have just held our third Quarterly Conference. Finances are badly behind as yet; however, we fully expect to be able to come up with what is expected of us by Conference. One young man was licensed to preach. Baptism administered to three children. This work expects to put several boys in Millsaps College this year. The writer expects to enter again. I have visited every home in this pastoral charge, and thereby had the pleasure of conversing and praying with people who have heretofore been neglected by their pastor. Young as I am in the cause, I have evidently found out the secret of success with a minister. Thank God for the itinerancy! Congregations are good, increasing, and alive to a sense of duties. Brethren, pray for us."

MT. OLIVET CIRCUIT.

Have just closed a series of protracted meetings, with good results, at each point on the charge. At Dover we had two accessions, but more to follow. Had good help at Bentonia, as Bro. Skipper did most of the preaching. Five accessions. Good meeting at Mt. Olivet. Membership revived, five accessions; assisted by Bros. Tom Miller and Henry Scarborough, who did faithful work. At Satartia we had unusual manifestations of the Spirit. Bro. A. D. Miller assisted. Five accessions to the church, and more to follow.

J. W. ELLISON, per R.

Satartia, Miss.

Continued on Second Page.

DAYS GONE BY.

BY JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

O, the days gone by! O, the days gone by!
The apple in the orchard and the pathway through the rye;
The chirrup of the robin and the whistle of the quail
As he piped across the meadows sweet as any nightingale,
When the bloom was on the clover and the blue was in the sky,
And my happy heart brimmed over in the days gone by.

In the days gone by, when my naked feet were tripped
By the honeysuckle's tangles, where the water lilies dipped;
And the ripple of the river lipped the moss along the brink,
Where the placid-eyed and lazy-footed cattle came to drink;
And the tilting snipe stood fearless of the truant's wayward cry,
And the splashing of the swimmer, in the days gone by.

O, the days gone by! O, the days gone by!
The music of the laughing lip, the luster of the eye,
The childish faith in fairies and Aladdin's magic ring,
The simple, soul-reposing, glad belief in everything,
When life was like a story, holding neither sob nor sigh,
In the olden, golden glory of the days gone by.

A Louisianian Abroad.

MR. EDITOR: For months I have been seeking a restoration of health, and to find it, last May I left New Orleans on a passenger train for South Illinois, where I have been enjoying reunions with kinsmen in the flesh, and a few friends whom I knew years ago. Time has been thus robbed of its monotony by these pleasant occasions, and the object sought has been found, in part, through their cheerful effects upon the mind. I am beginning to realize that I am so far restored as to be able to preach once or twice a week without any detriment.

Tangipahoa was called out by the brakeman, which roused me from my quietude. It was near this town Camp Moon was located, for the rendezvous of Louisiana troops during the late war. It was there I was initiated into the realities of war, being sworn into the Confederate service, with the privilege of joining any command I desired to. I went into the regiment of Partisan Rangers, commanded by Col. John H. Morgan, of Kentucky, and after serving for a time as private, I was appointed chaplain. How a name quickens the memory, and how the mind runs back into the long ago, and how it dwells upon the events and circumstances which have been committed to the pages of personal history, which have been read over a thousand times!

We breakfasted at Holly Springs. This is a beautiful name for a town, and the town is as beautiful as the name sounds to the ear. On the Holly Springs circuit, in my earliest ministry, I preached six months, with S. S. Scott as my senior. There were ten appointments located east, west and south of the town. The Illinois Central runs through one of them and near another. I looked out to see if I could discover the house where I proclaimed the gospel to the people; but there was no sign of it. Great changes take place in a few years, both in country and people. It was on this circuit that I made the acquaintance of Bros. McGanghey and T. L. Beard, the father of Dr. James M. Beard, the present editor of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE. These brethren have gone up to dwell with the saints of all ages, and to wear the crown of everlasting life provided for them.

When I first traveled on the Illinois Central, between Cairo and Columbus, Ky., a distance of twenty miles, connection was made by a steamer. Now there is a very costly bridge spanning the Ohio river three miles above the city of Cairo. As soon as we crossed the river the colored people began to take seats in the car reserved for the white people—a thing not allowed in Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky. Our brother in black has no restraint placed upon him, in this matter, in a State where he has always been free. His freedom has not changed his color; nor has it, so far, improved his condition as to make his social relations acceptable to the whites. His efforts to improve his condition are commendable, but he will never make a legislator, a ruler of any note, or attain any tolerable degree of social equality among the whites. In some directions his efforts will be unavailing; they will meet with the saddest defeat. Now that he is enjoying the blessings of freedom, we trust that he may be so enlightened, moralized and elevated that he will be made a good and useful citizen.

Recently, under the labors of some of our brethren from Missouri, an organization of fifty members has been effected in the city of Cairo, where we have never had any foothold. The town of Dongola, located twenty-seven miles above Cairo, on the Illinois Central, has no Methodist Church. At one time there was an organization at that point, but it has become extinct. Since, the Congregationalist and Lutherans have organized and built churches. I have been in several counties in this part of the State, and have preached for the Congregationalists, the Cumberland Presbyterians and Baptists; but, as yet, have not had an opportunity of preaching to a Methodist congregation. I had the pleasure of meeting two brethren of the society which recommended me to the Quarterly Conference for license to preach. Ephraim Joy was present, and presided over the Quarterly Conference. He is still in the active work. You will see that the M. E. Church sent me out, in a public way, to represent the cause of Christ. As I was brought up in the South, soon after I was licensed to preach I went back, and identified myself with the M. E. Church, South, in which I have been laboring ever since.

I have been over to Blodgett, in Missouri. I found a camp meeting in progress, and nearing its close. I was invited to preach Saturday night, and Sunday, at three o'clock. I made the acquaintance of Revs. J. L. Batten, of Charleston station, and I. W. Hickam, of Blodgett station, and preacher in charge of the camp meeting. At eleven o'clock he preached on Methodism and its origin. It was clear and to the point. With some emendations and enlargement, it would benefit Methodism to put in pamphlet form. Having once been a member of the Southwest Missouri Conference, I felt very much at home among the Missourians. An ex-Confederate soldier, who served under Gen. Sterling Price, and myself spent several hours together in pleasant conversation. These noble characters are gradually disappearing from the walks of men. I heard "Wild Bill"—W. H. Evans—preach in Charleston in our church. He is an unique character, which I dare not undertake to describe without a more thorough acquaintance with him. He indulges in "slang" and pantomimic show, but he is sharp and shrewd in the statement of his points, as also in his observations. He had gone there to convert the "tonghs" which could not be reached by the resident ministers.

The Methodist Advocate is a new enterprise, as well as a new adventure, by Rev. I. W. Hickam, of the St. Louis Conference. It is intended to supply a pressing want in Southeast Missouri which can not be met by the St. Louis Advocate. It is not intended to supersede any other of our Advocates, but to aid their circulation. It has reached two thousand subscribers, though only a little over two years old. It is a bright, newsy little sheet, thoroughly alive to the doctrines and polity of our church, and commends itself in every way to the patronage of our people in the bounds of its circulation.

The people of Southeast Missouri, from my contact with them, proved themselves generous, hospitable and trustworthy. Methodism has a strong hold there, and the members, under its fostering care, will grow in influence and piety. What has been done by it is but the beginning of the great movement which is to swell the ranks of the hosts of Zion far beyond anything which has taken place in the past.

That locality is especially adapted to melon growing. Such as I saw in size and quantity would lead anyone to think that there is money in raising them, but there was a general complaint at low prices, which had almost stopped any shipments. And the corn does not fall below the highest expectations. I saw thousands of acres which will yield a bountiful supply, notwithstanding the long drouth. It is a sandy soil, and a long drouth yields an abundance of dust, not equal to the quantity I saw in California.

It is as warm as in Summer time, but the season indicates that this will soon come to an end, and that the Fall proper will set in. The preparations going on among the people is evidence that they are expecting a visit from old Boreas in due time.

J. F. SCURLOCK.

Dongola, Ill., Sept. 18, 1893.

Our Young People.

It seems it is just being discovered that our young people are not all religious, and that many of them are tronbling Zion and, therefore, the question now is, Why is this? and what is the remedy? It seems to us that it does not require a Solomon to see the "why" and the "remedy," but if we should have recourse to "small shot" for a solution of the whole matter, and allow it to settle it, we would conclude that the "why" is not giving them the gospel, and the "remedy" is to give them the gospel, and that, too, in the sense of leaving out its discipline and its enforcement. But since the writer of "small shot" distrusts it as a solution of the matter, we shall agree with him that it is not, and, therefore, search on for the "why" and the "remedy." Why are our young people irreligious? and why do they trouble Zion? The beginning of this whole trouble is traceable to the parents themselves, and then, like a tender plant, it is encouraged and cultivated by the Sunday-school and the ministry until it grows into the stubbornness of a mighty oak. Some parents talk occasionally to their children about religion, others neglect it altogether perceptively and practically, while others, who give much time to this matter, so deal with their children as to bring them up religious dyspeptics, who are hardly fit to live in the world, much less in the church of God. They are brought up to be little sickly religious pets, religious only when they are petted, bragged on and allowed to do just as they please, and this is why there are husbands, wives, members of the church, stewards, deacons, elders, Sunday-school superintendents and even ministers who have to be petted, bragged on and allowed to do just about as they please, or there is trouble.

Ministers who like to be popular with men irrespective of God's plan, adjust themselves to the furtherance of this state of things until their pets grow so small that even they themselves have to exhaust their skill in order to maintain themselves only for a limited time. Why, we know churches to-day that brag on themselves, and that expect the ministers to brag on them too, and if they do not respond freely to their wishes they have very little use for them. We know a church well whose members would brag about their fine Sunday-school, their well-attended prayer meeting, and fine audiences in all kinds of weather, etc., when it was not the case, and their Sunday-school superintendent was so ill and waspish that even the members themselves dreaded to speak to him only under very favorable circumstances. Ministers who served that church, in order to be popular, took up and aided in sustaining the same popular strain.

We have found the "why;" now let us find the "remedy." Much is said about the consecrated ministry, but let us remember that "consecration" means a heart and life wholly for God, and such a heart and life mean a great love for law and order. God is a God of law and order, and, therefore, away with that "consecrated ministry" that ignores, even in part, true law and order. It is now discovered by men of even ordinary ken that worldliness of a very bad type is destroying our church, and, too, that it has gotten such a hold on it that some fear that even a righteous enforcement of its scriptural rules will ultimate in its ruin. We do not believe one word of the plea that a righteous enforcement of discipline will ruin our church or any other church, because it is God's plan. God will honor his own plans, but no others. Now, let our preachers consecrate themselves to God unreservedly, preach God's way of training children to parents, preach and live all God wants us to, and enforce discipline his way, and the difficulty is solved. Preach and practice before parents that a child must be made to obey whether sick or well, even if the rod has to be used, for this is God's plan. The parents who have adhered to God's plan have brought up children who are loyal to rightful authority, but those who have brought them up differently have brought up children who are opposed to rightful authority—law and order. We have not time to speculate as to the results of duty performed. We must do what God wants us to do, and he will take care of the results. "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." (Zech. iv, 6.)

ISAAC L. PEEBLES.

Enterprise, Miss.

Who is to Blame?

In the ADVOCATE, of Aug. 10, S. S. Cope asks me how have the churches under my care prospered since I ceased to enforce discipline.

I believe his question is the result of a misapprehension of my article. I am unable to understand why he think I would pretend to be an itinerant minister in the M. E. Church, South, without being an administrator of the discipline of the church. I will, therefore, endeavor to explain myself more fully.

In my article I stated substantially that a Bishop publicly denounced me for ridding the church of "certain lewd fellows of the baser sort," and that a preacher in charge in the presence, and with the sanction of his presiding elder, reinstated two of the very worst cases without their reassuming the vows—in fact, the persons were absent at the time they were reinstated; besides they never gave any sign of penitence or reformation. He intensified his wrong by stating publicly that the said persons were by me unlawfully deprived of membership, though he and the presiding elder knew that his statement was a fabrication. In evidence that the presiding elder did not believe the accusation, I will state that, though I was under his charge, he did not tell me of the occurrence or ask me if I was guilty, and when the Bishop, at the next Annual Conference, asked the customary question in reference to my character, he replied, "Nothing against him."

In my article I stated, in substance, that such conduct caused me to decide to hold no more church trials, to enforce no more discipline till I know the Bishop and presiding elders are in favor of sustaining the preacher who enforces the law as it is written in the Discipline—sustaining the man who faithfully performs that very unpleasant duty instead of treating him as if he were a criminal. But that does not imply that I have ceased to administer discipline. I am as careful as ever to watch over my people for their good. I persuade and admonish publicly and privately, and I will state just here that I believe a faithful effort along these lines will usually be successful if the parties have ever been converted. Besides, I have never again met such depraved people among the membership of the church as those to whom I have referred, possibly I never shall—indeed, I have a fond hope that such an experience occurs only once in an ordinary lifetime; but if I should ever be so unfortunate as to find one or more church members who are so given over to Satan that they have no love for God, nor respect for his church, and no desire to reform, I will confer with my presiding elder and, if necessary, with my Bishop, and if they do not promise to sustain me in enforcing discipline after the charges have been proved by truthful witnesses or admitted by the accused, I will let the matter rest and never trouble those persons again, though they wax worse and worse. For if the powers that be encourage or wink at those who would subvert the work of the faithful preacher who enforces discipline, the cause of Christ will be injured more by such subversion than if the sin had been left unnoticed and unrebuked.

I do not think his question as to how my charges have prospered is relevant; but for an answer I refer him to my presiding elder, Rev. Thos. R. Curtis, Downey, Cal.

JAMES HEALEY.

Santa Ana, Cal.

For Information—Read It.

Now and then we receive a postal or letter saying: "I only subscribed for one year;" and yet, that subscriber has been taking the Advocate three or six months over that time. He proposes now to make his church paper lose fifty cents or a dollar. To put it in the most modest possible form—this is not honest.

We publish below the newspaper subscription laws. We trust they will be read and heeded. We wish to collect all unpaid balances. Please read.

NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIPTION LAWS.

A summary of the decisions of the United States Courts touching newspaper subscriptions:

1. Subscribers who do not give express orders to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the post-office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and having them uncalled for, is prima-facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrearages, is sent to the publisher. —Western N. C. Advocate.

World's and National W. C. T. U. Convention.

The World's W. C. T. U. will hold its second biennial meeting in the Memorial Art Palace, Lake Front Park, Chicago, Ill., beginning Oct. 16, 1893, in connection with the World's Columbian Exposition Congresses, and the National W. C. T. U. will hold its twentieth annual convention in the same place on succeeding days. All national societies of the W. C. T. U. are entitled to send delegates to the World's Convention in the proportion of one for every one thousand members, and State societies will be represented in the National W. C. T. U. Convention by one for every five hundred members, besides the general officers.

Christian Perfection.

Q. 3551. Is a belief in the doctrine of Christian perfection and the manner of its attainment, or rather obtainment, as formulated and promulgated by Mr. Wesley, essential to a membership in an Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church?

A. The doctrine of Christian perfection as taught by Methodism—so far as the same differs from ordinary growth in grace—may be epitomized in these words: Christian perfection is the consummation of Christian love, in connection with an act of faith to be sought for continuously until received, and to be expected in this life. In the controversies which Mr. Wesley had upon the subject he said many things at different times, to understand which requires a mastery of all those controversies and a comparison of all those passages. It may, we think, be said that the substance of the doctrine as taught by Mr. Wesley must be believed in order to admission in an Annual Conference; but the Conference has the application of the law, and a wise Conference would not impose upon an applicant in whose Christian character and candor it had confidence an express concurrence in any one passage that might be quoted from Mr. Wesley's voluminous writings. Lest, however, it should be supposed that this answer opens a door to persons who positively deny the doctrine of Christian perfection as taught by Methodists, antagonize it dogmatically, affirm that Mr. Wesley was wrong, or hold views and manifest a spirit which would undermine the church and lead unavoidably to controversy, we wish explicitly to say that any Conference that would receive such persons, understanding the situation, would betray one of the most distinguishing and influential principles of Methodism from the beginning until now. Under the present form the questions propounded to a candidate for admission into an Annual Conference on this subject are:

Are you going on to perfection?

Do you expect to be made perfect in love in this life?

Are you earnestly striving after it?

Are you resolved to devote yourself wholly to this work?

—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Camp Meeting, Sam Jones Camp Ground.

This annual meeting, near Gloster, Miss., began Friday night, Aug. 18, 1893, and continued to Monday, the twenty-eighth. The daily attendance was unusually large at every service. The number, character and deportment of the attendants demonstrated the fact that this camp ground is growing in favor with the people, and the efforts of the association to provide for the comfort and welfare of the bodies and souls of the visitors appreciated more and more each year.

It is seldom any person is permitted to enjoy the privilege of hearing such purely gospel sermons as were preached four times each day during the continuance of the meeting. God owned and blessed his Word. Sinners were converted, the lukewarm revived, backsliders reclaimed, and believers greatly refreshed and strengthened. The work of grace seemed to be deep, thorough, and promises to be abiding. Those who have attended every camp meeting here since the first declare this to have been the best in valuable fruits and manifestations of the Holy Spirit. The last Sunday night a wave of Divine power and heavenly glory seemed to sweep the entire encampment.

The association adopted plans for very important improvements in the grounds, and for the accommodation and comfort of visitors. One deserving special mention: the enlarging and thoroughly furnishing the "Preachers' Tent," making it the most comfortable and inviting home on the grounds, also building and furnishing another cottage home for the wives of the preachers who attend these camp meetings.

A ten days' sojourn at this health-restoring resort will give power to infuse effective vitality into dying pastoral charges. J. A. B. JONES.

Resolutions adopted by the Sam Jones Camp Ground Association, Aug. 28, 1893:

Whereas, At the meeting of the Sam Jones Camp Ground Association, Sept. 5, 1892, the following resolution was adopted, viz.: "This association through its official capacity authorizes the secretary to invite Sam P. Jones to hold a series of services on the camp ground during the months of July or August, and if we fail to secure his (Jones') services we invite George S. Inge;" And whereas, At the meeting of the association, March 7, 1893, the following action, "On motion, the committee to invite Rev. Sam P. Jones or George S. Inge be continued, and the president and vice-president were added. Bro. George S. Inge being dead, the committee is to use their own discretion;" And whereas, The action of Sept. 5, 1892, and March 7, 1893, have been pronounced to be beyond the "functions of camp meeting associations," an "attempt to control or direct" "the appointments to preach at the camp meeting," an "infringement of the legal method of filling the pulpits at our camp meetings, subversive of Methodist polity and good order, tending to the establishing precedent dangerous in the extreme;" therefore, be it Resolved, This Sam Jones Camp Ground Association disclaim any desire or intention to overleap the legal functions of camp meeting associations, and most emphatically disclaim any desire, purpose or attempt to control or direct the appointments to preach during the camp meetings by the resolutions, Sept. 5, 1892, and March 7, 1893.

Resolved, This association was organized, chartered, and continues for the advancement of the cause of Christ, are true and loyal to the M. E. Church, South, each member of the association by constitutional requirement being a member in good standing of the M. E. Church, South.

REV. J. A. B. JONES,
Pres. S. J. C. G. A.
JOHN F. CASSELS, Sec'y.

FROM THE WORK.

Continued from First Page.

Rev. J. W. Jones, L. P., Tillatoba circuit, Grenada district, North Mississippi Conference: "I will give a brief account of my work, and what I have seen of the wonderful work of God at Tillatoba. We had an eight-days' meeting. Bro. Boyd, our pastor, was called away in the middle of the week, but we went on until Sunday night. Bro. T. J. Newell, of the Grenada Collegiate Institute, came on Saturday and preached three powerful sermons, which raised him in the estimation of all that heard him. The meeting closed pleasantly. I went from this place to Bethel, in the Grenada circuit, and worked with Bro. O'Bryant for eight days with gratifying results. The Lord was with us in great power; many sinners were convicted, mourners converted, and God's people shouted and praised the Lord for his goodness and for his wonderful works in their midst. The church was greatly revived and numbers added to it. From thence I went to Pleasant Hill, on Tillatoba circuit, and preached a few days for Bro. Boyd, which afforded me great pleasure. God bless the pastor and the good people there. From there I went to Bethel, on the Charleston circuit, to assist Bro. James Porter. The Lord was with us at this place. Remained here eight days. This is one of the oldest and best churches in the country, and many that have lived here a long time said that it was the best meeting ever held at that place. Forty-six were added to the church, a great number reclaimed, membership greatly revived, and many went to other churches. Bro. Porter is in favor with all the people. My next place was at Tippo Church, Tillatoba circuit, where I again assisted Bro. Boyd. The Lord was with us here; twelve were added to the church, eight reclaimed, and the membership revived. The recent rain compelled me to close for a season, in the midst of the wonderful work of grace that was going on in a badly neglected community, and hope that I shall be able to resume my labors among them at no distant day. It seems that we had to close all of these meetings when they were just ripe for a great ingathering of souls. God bless all the good people with whom I have labored, and for whom I will pray that we may all meet in the 'sweet bye-and-bye.' To all my friends who expected me at other places, I will say that I have done all I could to be with them, and regret very much that circumstances ordered it otherwise."

Rev. P. D. Hardin, P. C., Clarksburg circuit, Brandon district, Mississippi Conference, Sept. 7: "We would like to say a word about our protracted meetings. We have held five meetings on the work—one at each church. At Lodobar we were assisted by Bros. Griffin and Kendall. Results: The most powerful revival of religion known at that church for years. Several conversions, seven accessions, and seven children baptized. At Clarksburg Bros. Rayner and Griffin assisted. Twenty-four were added to the church, some of the brightest conversions we ever saw, and the church wonderfully revived. Our beloved presiding elder, Bro. McDonald, was with us at Holly Bush part of the time, and also Bros. Griffin and Caldwell. Good meeting, three children baptized and eight accessions. At New Providence, Bros. Rayner and King assisted us. Nine accessions, four children baptized, and quite a number professed conversion. Bros. Rayner, Griffin, and Bro. Franklin, of the M. P. Church, assisted us at Liberty. Fifteen accessions, one child baptized, and the church greatly revived. Thanks to the brethren who have so faithfully labored with us, and to God be all the praise. Pray for us."

Rev. N. J. Roberts, P. C., St. Helena circuit, Mississippi Conference: "Protracted meetings held: Day's Church, assisted by T. A. Luster: 8 accessions, a number of conversions, and membership greatly revived. Nsbo, assisted by W. H. Carrol, L. P.: 10 accessions, 30 conversions, lukewarm members revived, and their backslidings healed. Wesley Chapel: 8 accessions, quite a revival among the members, some bright conversions; assisted by J. S. Hodges. Pine Grove, assisted by J. F. Haney: 8 accessions, 50 conversions. Pearlington, assisted by Bro. Carroll, L. P.: 9 accessions, the membership greatly revived, 15 adults baptized and 25 infants. Many began leading in public prayer, and praying in their homes. One church called and another being called, and, best of all, God is with us. To him be all the glory."

Rev. L. P. Meador, Chunkey circuit, Meridian district, Mississippi Conference, Sept. 13: "I have held six meetings on this work; all good, some better. Report twenty accessions, four prayer meetings, some new family altars, and several prayed in public who had not done so before. I was assisted in all, except one, more or less, by Bros. Peebles, Nicholson, Meador, Jr., and Below, of the Congregational Methodist. A sermon each from Williamson and Walker, of the M. P. Church; and our local, Bro. Blank gave good help."

Rev. J. W. Tinnin, Sept. 13: "I was placed in charge of this work (Adams circuit) June 22. The people received me kindly. We have received twenty-six in the church, and baptised nine teen children. We have all our Conference collections either in cash or good subscription. I have received several subscribers for the ADVOCATE. God bless the faithful, courageous editor!"

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON.—Oct. 8, 1893.

PREPARED BY REV. A. F. WATKINS.

Redemption in Christ.

(Romans iii, 19-26.)

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Being justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus." (Romans iii, 24.)

TOPICAL OUTLINE.—I. Guilt Declared (vs. 19 and 20). II. Righteousness Manifested (vs. 21-23). III. Justification Proclaimed (vs. 24-26).

CENTRAL THOUGHT.—Salvation by Grace.

INTRODUCTORY.

The apostle, after the announcement of his theme—salvation by faith in Christ, Romans i, 16 and 17—proceeds to show that all men, both Jews and Gentiles, are under condemnation. The state of the Gentiles is first discussed, and the picture of moral depravity presented is appalling; but its accuracy is as unquestionable as its hideousness. Then, turning to the Jew, the apostle shows that his disobedience to the Law has placed him under the same condemnation. The only advantage the Jew could boast was his possession of the oracles of God; but that this did not produce holiness is evident from the description of depravity drawn from the Old Testament Scriptures. The lesson, in making the application to the Jew, unites him with the Gentile under the general condemnation, and having thus prepared the way, by the demonstration of universal guilt, announces God's plan of human salvation by faith in Jesus Christ. Confined within the narrow limits of these few verses may be found the wisdom and goodness of God, the subject of eager examination by angelic minds, the burden of prophetic utterances, the message of the evangelists, the theme of the apostles, the inspiration of the apocalyptic vision, and the hope of the world.

EXPLANATORY.

I.—GUILT DECLARED.

Ver. 19. "The law is that universal law which Jews and Gentiles are alike obligated to obey, the law of universal and eternal right. This law was for the Jew embraced essentially in the Decalogue; and the so-called Mosaic law was a system of special enactments designed to bring men into harmony with that central law." (Whedon.) The same law was written (though less distinctly) upon the Gentile conscience and reason. The terrible indictment then stands against both Jew and Gentile, and every mouth is stopped and the whole world is shown to be guilty before God.

Ver. 20. This verse gives not a conclusion deduced from the teachings of the preceding, but a reason for its declarations. Hence the "therefore" should be rather "because," as in the Revised Version. All the world stands condemned before God, because measured by the requirements of the law or judged by the works done under the law, no man can be accounted righteous in God's sight. The law in disclosing the right has revealed the wrong, and the knowledge of its requirements has brought the painful consciousness of our insufficiency. The law reveals disobedience in all to whom it is given. Therefore it can not justify. For justification by the law could only be obtained by obedience to the law." The picture thus presented is one of universal human guilt.

II.—RIGHTEOUSNESS MANIFESTED.

Vers. 21 and 22. The apostle, having demonstrated the impossibility of justification by the works of the law, now believes the hopelessness of the case by declaring that what the law in its weakness could not do, could be done by a method apart from the law, and not witnessed by the law, even the righteousness of God, which is by faith in Jesus Christ unto all that believe. This righteousness, though but now manifested by the advent of Jesus Christ, was witnessed by the law and the prophets. "There is no difference." The provision for salvation is as universal as the guilt, and its power to save is unlimited by the relation which any man may have sustained to the revealed law. As Jew and Greek are alike in being under condemnation, so the provision for redemption there is no difference between them.

Ver. 23. The connection between this verse and the preceding one is very close, this being added as a proof of the assertion that there is no difference. All men, without reference to race or race, have sinned, and, like unsuccessful racers, they fall short of the goal—divine approval.

III.—JUSTIFICATION PROCLAIMED.

Ver. 24. By inclosing the last clause of the twenty-second verse and the whole of the twenty-third verse in a parenthesis, and thus connecting the twenty-fourth verse with the twenty-second, we preserve the logical connection of the passage. They that believe are freely accounted righteous by the unmerited favor of God through the redemption that is in Jesus Christ. They are not made righteous nor supposed by God to be righteous, but they are accounted or recognized as righteous, and the penalty due for sin is remitted. The word "redemption" means "a deliverance effected by the payment of a ransom." (Hodge.)

Ver. 25. That view of the atonement which represents Jesus Christ pleading in our behalf before an angry God, dying on the cross to appease his wrath against men, and with difficulty reconciling this vengeful God to his sinful creatures, finds no favor in this verse nor in the Word of God. God hath set forth Jesus Christ to be the propitiation for sin that, through the forbearance of God, his righteousness might be declared in the forgiveness of sin. In this connection refer to John iii, 16 and 17, and Hebrews ii, 9. The words "propitiation" and "blood" indicate the sacrificial character of Christ's death.

Ver. 26. "The purpose which God had in view in setting forth Christ as a propitiatory sacrifice on the cross was twofold: First. That he might vindicate his righteousness in passing over without punishment the sins of the past. Second. That he might justify himself in pardoning the guilty, and in justifying the believers in Jesus." (Alexander.)

North Mississippi Conference Notes.

The twenty-third consecutive camp meeting at South Union, Chester circuit, has just closed, with twelve accessions to the church. Rev. D. C. Foust, P. C., was assisted in the preaching by Revs. T. G. Freeman, W. R. Rainey, J. E. Buck, A. T. Buck, and this scribe.

Only two months till Conference, and much remains to be done, that good reports may be made. The Lord has blessed our labors with gracious revivals and ingathering of souls in many places, and meetings are yet to be held, where, we trust, much good will be accomplished. In the main, the general collections and preachers' salaries are far behind; but let all concerned act their part and do their best, that there may be no deficits or arrearages.

Let the preachers all bear in mind the following resolution, which they unanimously adopted last Conference:

Resolved, That we deplore the smallness of collections for the Bible cause, and to insure better results, we instruct our preachers to present the Bible in every congregation during the month of October, which time is hereby adopted as a permanent time for such collection, unless taken before. (See Conference Minutes, pages 15 and 16.)

The American Bible Society has been very generous and helpful to us this year, and it is proper and right that we should bring up a contribution—however small it may be—from each pastoral charge. Inform the people of the design and work of this society, and of the part that our own Conference is taking in the same, and give them an opportunity to help in the cause by their gifts and prayers.

The colporter and Sunday-school agent desires to make a good report at Conference. Brethren, help him by sending orders for books, remitting what is due, and letting him know where and when you need his services.

G. W. BACHMAN.

No Saloons Allowed.

I have been moved to say a few words to all whom it may concern by reading in a New Orleans paper of a lady enquiring for a suitable place in Mississippi to educate her children, where no saloons are allowed. Just such a place is Port Gibson, Miss., on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad. Not even a blind tiger has a lair there, for the mayor and chief of police are always on guard and on the qui vive for such game.

The Port Gibson Female College and the Chamberlin and Hunt Academy for boys furnish every facility for the education of both sexes, and the brothers and sisters can be educated, as it were, under the same roof. The professors and teachers in both institutions will compare most favorably with other institutions of the State.

G. W. HUMPHREYS.

As the name indicates, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is a renewer of the hair, including its growth, health, youthful color and beauty. It will please you.

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

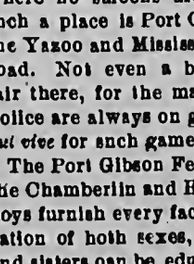
To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.

Jackson, Miss.

Eyesight Saved

After Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia and similar diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled to thoroughly purify the blood and give needed strength. Read this:



Clifford Blackman.

"My boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, leaving him weak and blood poisoned with canker. His eyes became inflamed, his sufferings were intense, and 7 weeks he could not open his eyes. I took him to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but their remedies failed to do any good. I began giving him which soon cured him. It saved his sight, if not his very life." ABBIE F. BLACKMAN, 2888 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. 25 cents.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

Gloster, Amite Co., Miss., Sept. 2, 1893.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Evergreen -:- College,

EVERGREEN, LA.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Offers Board and Tuition for the entire session, payable quarterly, for $120.

For particulars address,

C. C. WIER, Pres.

McTyeire -:- Institute,

MCKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50.

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination.

Next session begins August 31.

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin.,
McKenzie, Tenn.

Clinton Female Academy.

(Chartered in 1852)

WILL OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1893

Course thorough. Charges lower than offered by any school of its grade in the South.

CHARGES PER MONTH.

Tuition per month	$2 50 to $3 00
Music " "	5 00
Use of Piano per Month	1 00
Painting in Oil " "	3 00
Drawing " "	1 00
Latin, French and Book-keeping, each per month	1 00
Incidental Expenses per Session	50

Board, Tuition, Washing, Fuel and Lights, $12 per Month. $120 per the Session of Ten Months. For particulars address the Principal,

Mrs. S. E. MUNDAY, Clinton, La.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss.

MILLWOOD Female Institute.

This Institute is located near Jackson, La., and is as remarkable for its delightful environments as its healthy location.

Special teachers in each Department.

Charges lower than any school which offers the same advantages.

Session opens Sept. 4, 1893.

Send for Catalogue.

Miss M. McCALMONT,
Principal.

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,
No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,
Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

WALL PAPER.

The Spring patterns of Wall Paper are handsomer than ever before, and we are able to offer them to you at prices which are within the reach of all. We believe that anyone buying cheap paper will do better to invest 10, 12½ or 15 cents and buy a gilt paper or a fine blank for the small difference than to invest 5 cents in a cheap blank; but if you want the 5-cents paper, we have it and will be glad to sell it.

MATTINGS.

in novel and dainty designs, which can not be had elsewhere, as we control our own private patterns. Prices from $5 per roll of 40 yrds, and up

LACE CURTAINS,

Rugs, Screens, Easels, Oil Cloth, Window Shades and Upholstering Goods.

ESTIMATES

Given for papering in the country under the direction of our foreman and with our own experienced corps of men.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp Street, New Orleans.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $5.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

WANTED.

An A. M. graduate, having twenty years' successful experience in managing large institutions of learning, wants to lease desirable school or college property. Parties interested please address

"COLLEGE PRESIDENT,"
Care of ADVOCATE.

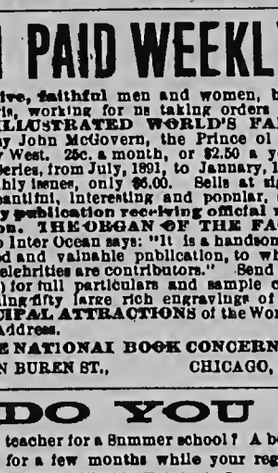
Advertising in England, European Continent, Etc.

SELL'S ADVERTISING AGENCY, Limited.

Capital, $250,000. Henry Sell, Manager (editor and founder of "Sell's World's Press").

Full particulars regarding British or European Advertising, sample papers, rates, etc., at the London Office, 167-168 Fleet street, or at New York Office, 21 Park Row, Ground Floor.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Ohidester & Son, 2 Bond St., New York City.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.		Leave.
Passenger	6:55 p.m	Passenger	7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail	8:30 a.m	Chic. St. L. mail	6:00 p.m
Chic. limited	8:40 p.m	Chic. limited	12 01 n'n
Sunday ex	8:30 p.m	Sunday ex	7:35 a m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,
NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,
NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,
NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.		Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex.	7:10 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex	8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex	6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex	8:20 p.m
Local	10:05 a.m	Local	3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:35 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex	7:55 a. m	1:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

CLARK & MEADER,

16 and 18 CARONDELET ST.

BRANCH STORE:

Cor. ST. CHARLES and NAPOLEON Avenues,

NEW ORLEANS.

Stuffed Olives in Oil; Boneless Anchovies in Oil; Boneless Anchovies in Salt; French Creoent Olives; Mammuth Queen Olives; Cepes au Naturel; Mushroom Powder; Bijou Cans of Aluettes; Thon a huille; Pure of Fois Gras; Sanciss-es Truffe; Pure of Sardines; Truffled Sardines; New Maple Syrup in Quart bottles. 1 Gallon and ½ Gallon Cans; Maple Sugar in 1-pound cakes; Franco-American Game Pates, such as Wild Duck, Gronse, Partridge, Pheasant, Chicken, Chicken Liver, Woodcock; Entrees—Chicken Curry a la Indienne. Chicken Saute a la Marengo; Calves' Tongues with Tomato Sauce; Veal and Green Peas; Calves' Tongue, sauce Piquant; Braised Beef a la Jardeniere; Ross' Belfast Ginger Ale, Sarsaparilla, Club Soda, and Raspberry Vinegar; Potoma's Roe Herring; Clysmic Water; Smoked Beef; Small Whole Boneless Cooked Hams in cans; Whole Boiled Beef Tongues in cans; Wheatena; Pettijohn's California Breakfast Food; Schumacher's Rolled Wheat and Avena; Cerealine Flakes; Mott's Pure Sparkling Sweet and Crab Apple Cider; Large Smoked Beef Tongue.

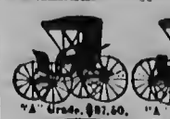
J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.



"A" Grade, $37.50. "A" Grade, $45. "A" Grade, $150.

QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

The only Harmony book ever written, that can be readily understood by the average student.

GOODRICH'S Analytical Harmony.

(A new Theory of Composition, from the Composer's standpoint.)

Clearer and more helpful than anything I have seen ARTHUR FOOTE.

A welcome relief from our present difficulties. WM. H. SHERWOOD.

Invaluable to teachers and pupils. EMIL LIEBLING.

It will be eminently successful. CLARENCE EDDY.

Goodrich has solved the great problem. B. MOLLENHAUER.

Delightfully clear. HARRISON WILD.

Plainly expressed and easily understood. JOS. H. GITTINGS.

A COMPANION VOLUME TO "MUSICAL ANALYSIS."

—PRICE, $2.00.—

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

Cincinnati—New York—Chicago.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Chart of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address postal to him and receive circulars free,

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D, Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks, each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pages. Price 50 cents. Address, him, Richmond, Va.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL, Petersburg, Va.

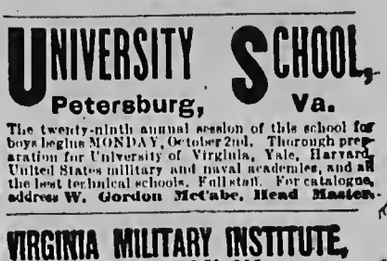
The twenty-ninth annual session of this school for boys begins MONDAY, October 2nd. Thorough preparation for University of Virginia, Yale, Harvard, United States military and naval academies, and all the best technical schools. Full staff. For catalogue, address W. Gordon McCabe, Head Master.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE, LEXINGTON, VA.

55th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $276.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING



WOVEN WIRE, WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Agents wanted. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

Are You Unemployed?

Will you work for $18 per week? Write to me at once. JOSEPH R. GAY, Pres. C. P. & L. Co., 56 FIFTH AVE., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn. FOR Catalogue.

No Tobacco, NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach CATARRH thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. DR. J. W. SLOSSER & CO., DALTON GA.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT REFLECTORS FOR OIL, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT

I. P. FRINK, 551 PEARL ST. N.Y.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. (INCORPORATED) CINCINNATI, OHIO. SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c. Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and Terms FREE.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 113 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, . . $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. J. M. Beard, CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 113 Camp Street, New Orleans, La

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, October 5, 1893.

How things look depends a great deal upon how high the mercury of our prejudice rises.

To say that a man, person, or thing, known or unknown, is a rattlesnake is bad; that he is like a rattlesnake is worse; that he strikes like a rattlesnake is worst.

Newton, while engaged in his mathematical researches often forgot to dine, and on one occasion sat on the edge of his bed a whole day with one foot in his pantaloons lost in profound meditation.—Common Folks' Religion.

It would seem from the Cardinal's late speech, that priestly absolution and auricular confession have but little to do with the betterment of society in the new world. They are not once mentioned as factors of the Romanist era of our liberties.

Sunday is the material image of the Creator's smile and the earthly counterfeit of heaven. One-seventh of our time the Lord God deigns to dwell with us, and to suffer the perfume of his garments to flow out upon our stagnant horizons. That man must be very far gone from righteousness who can discover no trailing beauty of the Infinite in the mellow sky and radiant morn and eve of the day of days. "My Sabbaths" he calls the sum of them, substance as well as gilding, and he is a robber who appropriates any portion of them except in cases of dire necessity to his own use. Let us by faith enter into the Sabbath experience, and then being in the spirit on the Lord's day, the Sabbath duties, and beauties, too, shall be all our own.

Nobody has been promoted for piety in the Methodist Church since the days of Bishop Whatcoat. Indeed, it seems in this age to be the one thing not indispensable for exalted position among us. A young man is elected to fill a connectional place, and we are told both by the secular and religious papers how brilliant his oratory, how faultless his scholarship, and how long he was professor and pastor, and not one small word about the spirituality of his ministrations or his devotion to soul saving. Alas! not piety, but patronage is the one thing needful to help the young doctrinaire forward. It is not doubted that pious men hold office, but these cases are purely providential. A fledgeling professor of Greek would be promoted thrice while piety was pulling on its boots.

Dr. Kynett, chairman of the Temperance Committee of the General Conference of the M. E. Church, in order to secure greater results from the strong temperance sentiment that prevails in the church, proposes that a temperance society be organized in every church and Sunday-school, and he urges that the different denominations of Christians, as Baptists, Presbyterians, etc.—some of whom have already expressed readiness to join in the movement—be invited to co-operate, and further, that it be made a great Pan-Protestant league for the destruction of the liquor traffic. This would be a good device to drive intemperance out of the church as well as out of the country, and it might help the cause of fraternity, too. We suggest that it be made the platform of the temperance resolutions to be offered before the General Conference next May.

What He Thinks.

Dr. Hoss' article, headed "What Do We Think," in the Christian Advocate, of Sept. 21, did not exactly set us to thinking though we must confess to some pretty active remembering in which we called to mind an anecdote that we once heard him relate of one of his East Tennessee cotemporaries, who had a wise countenance and a correspondingly dull head, and who was much devoted to fits of abstraction, at which times his aspect of nascence was said to have been truly owlish. Finding him in this state on a certain public occasion, and when apparently there was nothing unusual or thought-provoking in the surroundings to justify it, a legal gentleman interrogated a waggish friend as to what was the probable cause of the transformation, and received for answer the observation, "He thinks he's thinkin'."

We read the Doctor's article, if he will pardon us, haunted by the vision and phrase which his half-forgotten pleasantry conjured up, and even once or twice murmuring aloud as the unloaded procession of fine nothings filed solemnly by, "He thinks he's thinkin'." That was our impression at the time certainly, but after a calmer survey we are by no means sure that we think that he thought that he was thinking real thoughts when he perpetrated those platitudes. As for instance this, quoting from us: "Dr. Hoss will surely bear us out in the statement that what is true to nature is true to Scripture." In reply to this, he goes on, "It need only be said that true to nature is a very indefinite phrase meaning anything or nothing according as you take it. In the case before us we confess our inability to attach any significance to it whatever." Now, "the case before us" was a simple comparison between the swift processes of nature in its higher departments and the power exerted in moving the planets or in calling them into being, and the probable effects produced by the same agent in the kingdom of grace and revealed to us in Scripture. That conceded, we certainly agree with the writer of that article that this and that taken together, mean anything or nothing accordingly as a man thinks or does not think; but at the same time we insist, in spite of his fine rhetoric, that it means anything but nothing to the man who thinks. He could not have been thinking when he penned that sentence, though his confession of inability strikes us as being somewhat overstated.

Next, he indicts a long paragraph, and by that we mean one composed of 200 words, or thereabout, to correcting one or two slight errors in some Scriptures that we used to express something whose force he seems to admit, but which his zeal for textual inerrancy will not allow him to consider, and with no other apparent object in view than to display his knowledge of the Concordance. Verily, we stand corrected, even if he does admit that every word and comma of our Scriptures are genuine, and refer to the very event to which we applied them. The writer's technique in this and other matters is admirable; but where could his thoughts have been while he was thinking out that mode of reply? If it is a question of mysteries, and not one of masteries, reason would that we should stick to the very text of dispute and not be diverted by trifles. He asked us for Scriptures, and we gave them to him, and he adopts the very unscholarly subterfuge of rejecting them on the ground of authenticity, making that accident to outweigh the diviner quality of genuineness, though even their authenticity he admits with some qualifications.

In the second, or, more properly, the third place, he continues: "We think that our confrere joins together a number of events that have no close relation to one another, classifying in one group the inaugural Pentecost, and what he is pleased to term the Samaritan and the Ephesian Pentecosts. Where is the authority for this?" The Ephesians, he says, were disciples only in a very limited sense. But in what limited sense we reply that Apollos was not, and we suppose that he will scarcely have the hardihood to deny that Apollos was a second-blessing man of strictly Jewish origin and Hebrew faith. There are a great many people even in this age, as our friend must admit, who have been baptized in the name of the Holy Trinity, and who are as ignorant of the Holy Ghost as if his hallowed name had never been called over them. But John's baptism, doubtless, meant conversion to them, and their protestation of ignorance concerning his office work can hardly mean that they were more ignorant on this subject than barbarians. The apostle was undoubtedly conferring a "second benefit" upon the Ephesians and Apollos. He will admit certainly that the former were in a state of grace, and had been for a dozen years or more, and that, too, when a profession of Christianity meant martyrdom. But what state? Let him ponder that thought for awhile.

The Samaritan Pentecost he does not deny, except pro forma, which is equivalent to admitting our position whatever may be his thoughts about the Ephesian. Indeed, in the very next paragraph he does admit it in terms, saying, "There is an incident in the Acts that we have apostolic warrant for putting alongside of the great transaction of Pentecost," viz.: the sanctification of Cornelius and the religious community of which he was the center; but almost instantly he descends to quibbling again, and asserts that Cornelius was a heathen. Where, when, by what rite? Listen to the inspired description of this saintly man: "A devout man, and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people and prayed to God always," and who it seems also was even worthy to entertain both angels and apostles. Does Dr. Hoss mean to tell us that he was a heathen. If this man was not converted, he did not need conversion; and our brother can, with perfect consistency and safety, renounce conversion tomorrow. Which of the apostles—the twelve, we mean—was his double in all the particulars of sanctity that go to make up the approved Christian life? If the Lord granted a Pentecost to the former, he knew that he could not consistently do less for Cornelius, and so, according to St. Peter's account, "As I began to speak the Holy Ghost fell on them as on us at the beginning." If this was a Pentecost, the Nashville editor is in perfect agreement with us, and he avows that it was. But if he should have doubts even while he writes confession, the Holy Ghost has left abundant testimonies to the specificness of this work on this occasion. That was veritable Pentecost, not even excepting such a minor detail as the gift of tongues. It was power from on high; the baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire, upon the pious layman and his friends who had no call to apostolic labors.

"We think in the third place," quoth our cotemporary, "that the effort to prove the second-blessing theory from the historical fact of Paul's rapture into third heaven, is a puerile wrestling of the Scriptures of which no good man, with the least knowledge of the laws and rules of interpretation, ought to be guilty." Now, if our brother—and we must be pardoned for answering him somewhat in the vein in which he writes—had remembered that he had forgotten that we were speaking not of a thing, but of the likeness of a thing, both when he interrogated us and when we essayed a meek reply, he would have been saved the agony of mental effort No. 3. But admitting his interpretation of us to be correct there is nothing puerile in our interpretation or application of that Scripture either, that does not proceed from that imaginative faculty upon which he has relied so strongly in penning his reply, and which he so often confounds with the other of reason. St. Paul says that he knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, whether in the body I can not tell, or whether out of the body I can not tell, God knows; such an one caught up to the third heaven, and intimates that he was the man; but how strongly in the terms of this confession does he seek to guard against that enthusiasm, of which our brother betrays an uncommonly large supply, that would impute to him a bodily entrance to the third heaven. We can not believe that extravagance involving not only torture, or the pains of death, but death itself, to the most simple terms of revelation, even though it have the endorsement of Dr. Hoss. What a dromedary he gulps down while straining at our small insect! But the least of saints got sanctified about fourteen years before our brother alleges that he went to heaven in the flesh, and his rejoicing Spirit rose to paradise and saw and heard things unutterable, as millions of saints had done before, and millions since.

That experience of Paul is almost common to sanctified people, and there is not one of them, perhaps, who has not felt that rapture of the Spirit that quite dissipates all bodily consciousness, if it does not in every case exalt them to heaven, and reveal to them the unutterable. Never did the writer of these lines have the least conception of the meaning of those words of the great apostle, though always excepting the barbarous exegesis of our friend, until he, too, felt that rapture and was caught away whether in the body or out of the body, he can not tell, into the unspeakable vistas. It may be well for us to deify the apostles, and exalt them to the third heaven of reverential contemplation; but we warn all such persons that saint worship and saint culture are two things that flourish but indifferently in the same soil. "The notion that the words of Revelation mean anything that they can be taken to mean is not to be tolerated for a single moment," says our brother; and we reply neither is the notion that they can be taken to mean nothing, that they must mean to mean anything. "To put a passage into a vise," he continues, "and twist and torture it into an accommodation to our views, is sure to breed the habit of intellectual insincerity—a most deplorable thing." Yea, and a most deplorable thing to say, and which no sort of provocation will induce us to utter against a brother beloved, though engaged in sharpest controversy with him. We will rather hope the better alternative, and give to the honest man as well as to the thief the benefit of the fugitive doubt.

The Savior's prayer, "Sanctify them," he admits the force of, and joins it to that of St. Paul, "The very God of peace sanctify you wholly," appropriating both to some far-off exigency of his own earthly being, and does not see, so blind is the man who suspends intellectual vision in the moment of crisis, that such admission invalidates all that he has written or may write against the foolish second-blessing theory of sanctification.

But in the next breath, "We can not accept a theory which, though it satisfies the minds of many good men and women, is proven on analysis to be an ill-assorted compound of impossible psychology, absurd exegesis, and misread experience." That sounds like invective; but if he meant it for argument, we are more than willing to take it at his own valuation. As the closing sentence, it nearly took our breath; but happening to see the word "analysis" in the midst, we bethought ourselves how little it could mean in such a connection. But does our brother put analysis of any kind against plain Scripture, and such Scripture, too, as that sublime passage of prayer that seems to force the very gates of heaven for the needy disciples, or that other whose importunity startles us, and which alone of all prayer creed is worthy to be written with it?

Admitting that these inspired prayers mean anything, and the former of them our cotemporary says he binds to his heart, they mean everything but a pentecost for sinners and a growth in grace for Christians. Alas! our prayers seem so small and doubting when placed alongside these prayers of the great High Priest of our profession, and the great apostle of our high calling, as hardly to deserve the name of prayers; and our philosophy of human growth when matched against the sublimer one of Divine endowment, seems so despicable, as in our thought to divest all prayer of hyperbole, and all promise and prophecy of such limitations as time and place. Let us in view of these examples, as well as such Divine warrants as faith and prayer, and such intermediaries as the Word of power and the sanctifying Spirit, draw near with faith to the blood of sprinkling—speaking better things than ante-patriarchal type, or of bulls and goats, or even of flowing fountain; for "if when we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of his son; much more being reconciled we shall be saved by his life."

The Missionary Review of the World, for October, is a splendid number. We read the articles on "Christian Work in Moslem Cities," by J. A. Riggs, D. D.; "The Attitude of the Moslem Mind toward Christianity;" "Missions in Turkey," by H. N. Barnum, D. D.; "The Year in Japan," by G. W. Knox, D. D.; "The Church in Abyssinia," by Prof. Dr. Schodde, and "D. L. Moody and His Work," with parts of supplement; and our verdict is that all these distinguished writers have done well, and that each has done the best in his own department. It is an invaluable periodical both for the scholar and the worker. Two dollars per year; 50 cents per single copy.

A contemporary remarks that the man who pays for his promotion with piety is guilty of simony. He should have reflected before committing himself to that bit of profundity that piety is anything but a promoter of promotions in our day and generation. And, indeed, we may add in all ages, for from the time of our Savior there has never been a community where the pious man was not rankly discounted. The succession of saints and the succession of benefices are two wholly different things.

Some people weep under religious excitement, and others laugh. The latter we should take to be the more usual and natural expression of spiritual rapture.

A weeping sermon practiced on a weeping congregation will in 999 cases of 1000 produce that pathetic result known as a "dry haul."

Tears indicate emotion, but have nothing more to do with religion per se, than the clouds with the luminous firmament beyond.

"Dry-eyed excitement" is a slight improvement on dry-eyed morlbnndlty.

NOTES.

Saloons are the devil's churches.

***

If the Lord can empty a sinner, he can fill a saint.

***

Perfection is the unvarying theme of Holy Scriptnre.

***

The women are open to flattery, and the men also, if not more so.

***

The women are curious, and the men are of an inquiring turn of mind.

***

The Lord is perfection, and, therefore, he both pledges and exacts it.

***

The man who hates sanctification does not know why, or he denies it.

***

A transparent style is not a fatal objection, if there is anything to be seen through it.

***

The preacher who has nothing to say against intemperance is a buncombe preacher.

***

The man who does not outgrow his nom de plume is persuaded that he owes his reputation to it.

***

The average man makes much of himself in religious matters, and gets his neighbors to help him.

***

Any number of hypocrites would not by their hypocrisy disconnt the smallest doctrine in the lightest measure.

***

The sanctification wave is rising and it will sweep the church with the force of the great billows that roll in the track of the simoom.

***

The King of kings in administering government and bounty, proceeds upon the plan of bestowing the greatest wealth upon the poorest subject.

***

There are two kinds of preachers that are at a great discount both among preachers and people, viz.: the poor-mouthed and the sore-headed.

***

That august body, the American Congress, seems to have no conscionsness of hard times, as well as no immediate design upon the life of the goose that lays the golden egg.

***

Don't get mad because Providence put another man in the place that you intended for yourself. All things come to him who humbly waits if he don't write too much for the newspapers.

***

The preacher who licks the Bishop's boot and writes letters to General Conference electors on the eve of an Annual Conference, would do himself and the church a great service by getting into the locating potential mood.

***

The Lord does not design to save the sinner in his sins. Anger, malice, dissensions, covetings, and the like, are the roots of all sin and will bear green sprouts oftener than the seasons recur. There must be death to sin, before there can be life to God.

***

Editor Hoss says: "Few things are more repulsive than the dry-eyed excitement which is sometimes witnessed in a congregation of religious fanatics." We wonder how he would be affected by weeping platonism. The ancients put a high premium upon "dry light."

***

The people who say that holiness has no definition and no boundaries, yet aver that they are outside of holiness as well as nearly all the balance of the world. We can certainly say the same of the profundity that gave birth to the statement that has placed them in this false position.

***

It is sad for a man to acquire the reputation of a sage inasmuch as he is under obligation both to himself and the balance of the world to believe all that he thinks. The most of them, as far as our observation goes, avoid the dilemma by thinking less. And this course we heartily commend.

***

The article published on our first page, last week, as from the pen of Bishop J. C. Keener, under the caption "Legislation," the Bishop repudiates. It is partly his and partly Dr. Armstrong's, editor of the Alabama Christian Advocate. In justice to the Bishop and fairness to our readers and all concerned, we will publish his article in our next in the form in which it first appeared.

***

White caps and anarchy are the order of the day in the cotton-growing districts. This is a strike for higher prices at the pocket as well as the life of the man who sells, and will undoubtedly cause the capitalist from his elevated point of view to grin and embrace himself. It is a sample, too, of the political economy that the country would enjoy under the reign of that agrarian firm, Messrs. George, Bellamy & Co. "How true the world is given to lying," Falstaff observed; but the little fairy Puck was much nearer to the truth, exclaiming "What fools you mortals be."

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Worthington's is one of our best magazine exchanges. Cheap and excellent best describes it.

Bishop Haygood is delighting and astonishing the stalwarts of Northern and Western Missouri.

Dr. J. W. Lee joins the noble army of Giraffes, and succeeds Dr. Mathews at St. John's, St. Louis.

Bishop Keener and family returned last week, and the latter are domiciled at Carrollton for the Winter.

The Fulton Street Daily Noon Prayer Meeting celebrated its thirty-seventh anniversary, Saturday, Sept. 23.

Rev. C. H. Ellis was in the city last week en route to the Palmer Camp Meeting. He was one of the leading preachers and workers at St. Tammany.

The Indian Methodist says Bishop Key will dedicate a new church at Wagoner, Oct. 29. The Bishop has been holding District Conferences in Indian Territory.

Rev. T. H. McClendon, of Vienna, North Louisiana, and one of our best preachers and most useful men, is in the city for a few days, and made a pleasant call at the ADVOCATE office.

The Mississippi Leader says: "Whitworth College opened finely." Also: "An immense congregation assembled in the Methodist Church, Sunday night, and were given an excellent sermon by Bro. Weems."

Rev. H. E. Partridge, just returned from the great camp meeting at Talisheek, Bro. Rawls' work, called on Wednesday last. It was run, he informs us, as a holiness meeting, and there were numerous conversions and sanctifications.

Help those women at the Rescue Mission. They are doing your work and the Lord's. Set by a sum for this "inasmuch" work every month, and thus "lay up for yourself both treasure in heaven" and "a good foundation against the time to come."

Archbishop Kenrick has been deposed by Satolli, and a stranger by the name of Cain appointed in his room. It is useless to say that this has raised Cain, if not a small revolution in St. Louis. The venerable Archbishop did not believe in papal infallibility and the immaculate conception, was 90 years of age, and greatly beloved by his flock.

The Cyclopedic Review of Current History—Second Quarter—is an interesting number covering the whole world of politics, science, literature, religion and neorology, and in a few hours' reading will enable anyone to be up with the times. Its portrait illustrations are numerous and excellent. Quarterly, $1.50 per annum; 40 cents single copy.

McClure's Magazine, for October, opens with a paper on "Thos. B. Reed, of Maine, and the County at Large," by R. P. Porter, and the entire program is in keeping and of the highest order of merit. The prize of $1,000 for the best short story submitted before Nov. 1, 1893, is drawing this magazine a rich supply of literature of that order, and other prizes are explained in this number.

Dr. W. B. Palmore has returned from a long trip to the less frequented and more antique of the cities and countries of the old world. We trust that he will get down to his work now and give us some echoes from Beulah land. A man don't have to go far from home to be present with the Lord in that rare nativity of the soul, and there is no place or period of inspiration to equal it.

The Review of Reviews is one of our best magazine exchanges; its scope is comprehensive, and its writers among the most talented of the two hemispheres through which it circulates. It is yet, perhaps, but just to say that Mr. Stead's fame as a writer has in a certain sense both made and been made by the Review. As a literature venture it was a success from the beginning; but it constantly improves, and particularly in those features in which every new publication must be at a disadvantage. The October number is one of the best.

The Times-Democrat, Sept. 29, says:

The chair of mathematics in Tulane University, made vacant by the death of Major James L. Cross, will be filled at the opening of the approaching session, next Monday, by Prof. William Benjamin Smith, for several years past connected with the University of Missouri. Prof. Smith is a native of Kentucky and a Ph. D. of the University of Gottingen. He has won a high reputation as a teacher and as a writer in the higher branches of mathematics. He has been connected with the University of Missouri for the past eight years—for three years as professor of physics and for the past half-decade as professor of mathematics. His prestige as an educator is great throughout the Northwest.

Day of Prayer.

The second Sunday in November is to be observed as a day of prayer, for God's blessing upon our Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Societies. May the Lord greatly bless this portion of his vineyard!

MARY WERLEIN, Conf. Sec.

The ADVOCATE to subscribers and renewals from now until Jan. 1, 1895, for $2.

Malone College.

Our college has opened with seventy-two pupils; but we have plenty of room and will still take preachers' daughters, and a dozen more girls who have no father to educate them, free of charge for tuition, giving them all the advantages of the school for $12 per month. This includes everything except books and clothing. Owing to the scarcity of money, we have cut down tuition for all to about one-half the customary price.

We give every comfort and advantage, and if customers do not so decide when they give us a trial, they can take their daughters away at any time and pay only for the time they have been here.

Holly Springs is at the junction of the I. C. and K. C. M. R. R., unsurpassed for health, and 613 feet above the level of the sea. The Malone College is under the auspices of the M. E. Church, South, at Holly Springs. Our church and Sunday-school can not be surpassed by any of the same size in the State.

Our teachers are all Methodists of the best standing, except one, our art teacher; and she is a consistent Presbyterian. We have a Methodist school.

J. W. HONNOLL.

Holly Springs, Miss.

Mr. Moody's Offer.

The extensive evangelistic work that has been in progress in Chicago during the last five months has attracted hundreds and thousands of ministers, teachers, and other Christian workers, from all parts of America and Europe. October will be the last month of these evangelistic efforts. There are still other thousands of ministers to whom the work would doubtless be a great blessing, both as an object lesson in evangelism and as an experience. We, therefore, invite all ministers of the gospel now engaged in pastoral work to spend some time during this last month of the work in Chicago, and offer them accommodation at the Bible Institute, 80 Institute Place, at the lowest possible rates, not exceeding five or six dollars a week, the boarding being on the European plan.

Admittance will be free to all the daily Bible lectures and various meetings of the institute. It is the opportunity of a lifetime to come in touch with a gospel movement on such a grand scale, and all who can should get the benefit of it.

Musical Talent.

One possessing a voice and talent to sing well has a valuable gift. Although I can scarcely sing at all, yet I enjoy music, and think I am a good judge of it. In my rounds recently I heard a female voice that, in my judgment, is equal, if not superior, to any I know of. On inquiry I find she is a girl of fourteen in a family with several children, and parents poor, but of good standing, one of our good Methodist families. This girl, if educated, would be a jewel. Her father realizes this. I have become so interested in her behalf that I write the above lines, and if some one blessed with means, and wishes to confer a great blessing, I will be glad to correspond with him.

C. MCDONALD.

Forest, Miss.

"Ministerial Selfishness."

Please allow me to say for the information of those not conversant with the case, that I would never have recognized the reference in the ADVOCATE, of Aug. 24, under above head, which I answered in a later issue, if I had not previously heard it from the same source, and, I had thought, so fully met it that it would never have been mentioned again. B. S. RAYNER.

Sick-Headache? BEECHAM'S PILLS will relieve.

Southern Holiness Convention.

So many of our leading men could not be with us in October, because of prior engagements or approaching sessions of Conference, that we have concluded to defer the time of holding the Southern Holiness Convention. If you have made any mention of the call in your columns, please say that it will not be held in October for the above reasons. J. W. LOWRANCE.

Jackson, Tenn.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Hofman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

The Name.

In connection with the Constitution of the Epworth League, there is this statement regarding the name:

The committee has selected the name EPWORTH LEAGUE, as being in every way appropriate for such an institution. (1) Because of its historical associations. It carries the mind back to the birthplace and early home of the founder of Methodism. The name also recalls the family life and godly training of the Wesley home, an example worthy to be kept in perpetual remembrance. (2) Because of its ecumenical character, being common to all the many branches of Wesleyan Methodism in this country, in Europe, and in all countries where it exists. From Epworth as a geographical center its lines have gone out through all the earth, and its words unto the ends of the world.

Samuel Wesley, father of John and Charles Wesley, was rector of the Epworth parish for thirty-nine years, the living having been conferred upon him by Queen Mary; and it was in the Epworth parsonage that those characters were molded that afterwards impressed themselves so indelibly upon church history. The household, says Bishop McTyeire, in his History of Methodism, was one "that seems to have been providentially constituted for preparing chosen instruments. The moral elevation and intellectual vigor of the father and an elder brother; the refining power of variously gifted sisters, the uncommon mother, the honest struggles with poverty, and the opportune openings for such higher education as could not be imparted at home, all conspired to prepare instruments fit for the kingdom of God." The Epworth parsonage, then, was the training-school for the founder of Methodism; and so it seems peculiarly fitting that that organization, which is practically a training-school for young Methodists, should have for its name the Epworth League, in memory of the historic Epworth. When the International League Convention met recently, the wisdom of selecting a name for the Young People's League of the M. E. Church, South, that was ecumenical in character, was fully shown, as we were thus able through our representatives to co-operate more fully with the 13,000 Epworth Leagues of the M. E. Church, and with the various leagues in other branches of Methodism, in this and other countries.

John Wesley was born in the Epworth parsonage, June 17, 1803, and his brother Charles, Dec. 18, 1708.

On a map, the town of Epworth appears in the eastern part of England, in the county of Lincoln.

* * *

Stewart Brooks, in (Nashville) Christian Advocate:

Our League was fortunate in being organized by, and having its first year of growth under the care of a pastor who keeps well abreast of the march of progress in the church. He realized the importance of the League movement and conducted himself accordingly. He was a member of the League, and if he ever absented himself from a meeting, except in case of necessity, the writer is not aware of it. He voted and debated questions in the business meeting, prayed and testified in the devotional meeting, read and spoke in the literary meeting, and joined in the simple recreations of the social meeting. Thus, without the least of that familiarity which breeds contempt, he endeared himself to the League, and the influence thus gained he used to the spiritual edification of its members. In its powerful influence in the church, and its singleness of purpose in soul-saving work, it now stands a monument to the wisdom of his course. Though his pastorate among us terminated nearly two years ago, his influence upon our League is still distinctly felt and often referred to by its members. Similar results will be very likely to follow a similar course on the part of other pastors.

* * *

Bishop E. R. Hendrix, in (Nashville) Christian Advocate (May 4) says:

I believe that we have had a few men who have opposed every new idea since the renaissance of our church following the changed conditions since the close of the Civil War, whether it was Lay Representation, the Woman's Missionary Society, Church Extension, the Parsonage Society, or a Board of Education. It is not strange that the Epworth League should not command their hearty co-operation. But they, rather than these great movements, are the real sufferers. Each great movement wins its own circle of supporters and fixes its place in the history and work of the church.

* * *

The following States are ahead of Louisiana in the number of Leagues organized and reported to the Sunday-school secretary: Texas, Missouri, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, California and Virginia. This information is obtained from an article by Rev. J. J. Ransom, in Tennessee Methodist. The showing is not quite so bad as it might appear at first sight, considering the fact that nearly all the above-mentioned States have more than one Conference; but it could be much better.

* * *

The Epworth Methodist, published at Fort Worth, Texas, is "the only paper published exclusively in the interest of the Epworth Leagues of the M. E. Church, South." It is an eight-page weekly, and the subscription price is one dollar.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,
MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.
The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.
The Newest Helps and Best Helps.
Bindings Unsurpassed.
Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Queen & Crescent Route

"Finest Trains in the South."

Through Cars to Chicago without change, from New Orleans, Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Jacksonville, Fla., Atlanta, Macon, Lexington and Georgetown, Ky. Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville. Stop-overs allowed on all World's Fair tickets, at Chattahooga, Louisville, Indianapolis or Cincinnati.

For further information as to Rates, Car Service, Sleeping Car Reservations, etc., call on or address any agent of the Queen & Crescent Route or E. T. V. & G. Ry.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

THROUGH CARS TO CHICAGO.

Metal Tipped. EVER READY DRESS STAY Will Not Cut Through.

See Name "EVER READY" on Back of Each Stay.

Acknowledged the BEST DRESS STAY On the Market

Made with Gutta Percha on both sides of steel and warranted water-proof. All other stays are made differently and will rust. Beware of Imitations. Take none but the "Ever Ready."

Manufactured by the YPSILANTI DRESS STAY MFG. CO., Ypsilanti, Mich.

FOR SALE BY ALL JOBBERS AND RETAILERS.

SPECIAL DEPOTS. MODEL DRESS STEEL CO., 74 Grand St., New York.
BROWN & METZNER, 535 Market Street, San Francisco

WM. HILLSMAN,

Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining,

NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.,

Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.

Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Classical and Commercial Institute,

7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.

Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.

H. S. CHENEY, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

Spencerian Penmanship

With BOOK-KEEPING, COMMERCIAL LAW, SHORTHAND and TYPE-WRITING Thoroughly Taught in the Commercial Department, Classical and Commercial Institute, 7 PRYTANIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

G. W. HARMAN, Principal.

Entire expenses for three months: Course, $90, including board, tuition, etc.

Ladies received in this department.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE

Opens Sept. 6th, 1893.

STAUNTON, VIRGINIA. Climate and surroundings exceptional. Handsome buildings, now being remodeled, thoroughly renovated, repainted inside and outside, and refurnished with new pianos, carpets, &c. Steam heat, gas light, bath rooms on every floor. New Laboratory thoroughly equipped. Excellent Faculty of Experienced Teachers. Advanced courses in English, Latin, German, French, &c. Special advantages in Art. Conservatory Course in Music. One hundred and forty-one boarding pupils from eighteen States. Terms moderate. For Catalogues of this celebrated old Virginia school, address

W. W. ROBERTSON, President, Staunton, Virginia.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA,
New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 29th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	3.102 grains
	Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.063 grains
Sulphuric Acid	785.106
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.661
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	80.478
Magnesia	26.872
Potash	2.322
Soda	8.045
Silica	8.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

	Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	213.776
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.018
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5.063
Silica	8.049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1.564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D.,
Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Boils, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is sour, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except when used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "The water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,
106 Camp Street,
NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

PUT UP in glass vials, hermetically sealed, and always fresh—is the way Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come. When you take a pill it's an important point to have them small—provided they have equal strength and efficiency. You'll find what you want in these little liver pills of Dr. Pierce's. They're put up in a better way, and they act in a better way, than the huge old-fashioned pills. What you want, when you're "all out of sorts"—grumpy, thick headed and take a gloomy view of life, is these Pellets to clear up your system and start your liver into healthful action. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that Malaria from your body and get you well.

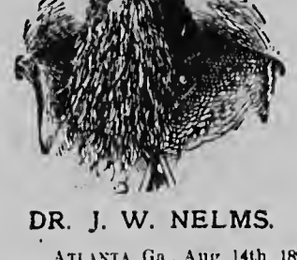
I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. I will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.

Chas. H. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GERMETUER

CURES FEVERS.



DR. J. W. NELMS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 14th, 1893.

For the past two years I have used King's Royal Germetuer in my practice with most satisfactory results. I have used it in Typhus, Typhoid and Bilious Fevers, and always with the speediest and best effects. It lowers the temperature and breaks up fevers of all kinds common to this latitude more expeditiously than any remedy within my knowledge. From my own experience in its use upon myself and others to whom I have recommended and administered it, I believe it would be a good remedy for Yellow Fever. It is a most excellent antiseptic, cures catarrh, insomnia, night sweats and eczema in all its forms. King's Royal Germetuer is emphatically a safe remedy, and leaves no injurious effects in the system.

JOHN W. NELMS, M. D.,
Mayor West End, Ga.

For Nervous Troubles, Teething Children and Summer Complaint, Germetuer has no equal. Try it; $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.

KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Germetuer Pills for constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

40 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

—A—

Washington and Lee College

SCHOLARSHIP

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Apply at

Werlein's Music Store,

185 Canal Street.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

HOME CIRCLE.

SOMETIME, SOMEWHERE.

BY ROBERT BROWNING.

Unanswered yet? The prayer your lips have pleaded
In agony of heart these many years?
Does faith begin to fail? Is hope departing?
And think you all in vain those falling tears?
Say not the Father hath not heard your prayer;
You shall have your desire sometime, somewhere.

Unanswered yet? Though when you first presented
This one petition at the Father's throne
It seemed you could not wait the time of asking,
So urgent was your heart to make it known;
Though years have passed since then, do not despair;
The Lord will answer you sometime, somewhere.

Unanswered yet? Nay, do not say ungranted;
Perhaps your part is not yet wholly done;
The work began when first your prayer was uttered,
And God will finish what he has begun.
If you will keep the incense burning there
His glory you shall see, sometime, somewhere.

Unanswered yet? Faith can not be unanswered.
Her feet were firmly planted on the Rock;
Amid the wildest storms she stands undaunted.
Nor quails before the loudest thundershock.
She knows Omnipotence has heard her prayer,
And cries: "It shall be done," sometime, somewhere.

Lady Henry Somerset and Miss Willard.

It was about this stage in her development when one day at Eastnor she came across Miss Willard's touching tribute to her sister Mary, entitled "Nineteen Beautiful Years." "It was a rainy Sunday, some seven years ago," Lady Henry told me, "that I went down as usual at the castle to have tea with my capable and faithful housekeeper. We usually sat together on Sunday afternoon and discussed the affairs of the village and the wants of the people, as she conducted large mothers' meetings for me in the village. I saw on her table a little blue book, and taking it up read the title, 'Nineteen Beautiful Years.' It was the well-known memorial volume written by Frances E. Willard after the death of her sister Mary. I sat down by the fire and soon became so engrossed that my old housekeeper could get nothing out of me that day, nor did I move until I had finished the little volume. From that time on I was impressed by that personality that has meant so much to so many women. The simplicity, the quaint candor, and the delicate touches of humor and pathos were a revelation to me of a character that remained on my mind as belonging to one whom I placed in a niche among the ideal lives of whom I hoped to know more, and at whose shrines I worshiped. My first visit to America was as much to see and know Miss Willard as for any other purpose and to understand from her the principle upon which she had worked the marvellous organization of which she has long been president." Lady Henry's son, who was now growing up to early manhood, had a craving to shoot the great moose deer that wander on the hills north of the Yellowstone. He made up a shooting party for the Far West, and Lady Henry accompanied them as far as Chicago. There she met Miss Willard, and found all her anticipations more than realized. In the Willard household she found for the first time the realization of her ideal of Woman's Christian Temperance Work. Mrs Willard took to the English stranger as if she had been a reincarnation of her lost sister Mary. "Lady Henry has the unobtrusiveness of perfect culture," said the old saint; "she shall be loved always for her sweet ways." In America Lady Henry found much readier appreciation than in her own country. Not only did she find in Miss Willard a sister beloved, but she found everywhere in America the most enthusiastic welcome."—From Mr. Stead's sketch of Lady Henry Somerset, September Review of Reviews.

If the mercies of God be not lode-stones to draw us to heaven, they will be mill-stones to sink us to perdition.—Secker.

Girls in Business.

But, girls, if you don't mean to make a thorough business of the occupation you have chosen, never, never, never begin to be occupied at all. Half-finished work will do for amateurs. It will never answer for professionals. The bracket you are sawing for a New Year's present can hang a little crooked on its screws, and you will be forgiven for the love's sake found therein by the dear hearts to which you offer it; but the trinket carved for sale in the Sorrento rooms must be cut as true as a rose leaf. You can be a little shaky as to your German declensions in the Schiller club, which you join so enthusiastically after leaving school, and no great harm ever come of it; but teach Schiller for a living, and for each dative case forgotten you are so much money out of your pocket.

People who pay for a thing demand thorough workmanship or none. To offer incomplete work for complete market price is to be either a cheat or a beggar. The terrible grinding laws of supply and demand, pay and receive, give and get, give no quarter to shilly-shally labor. The excellence of your intentions is nothing to the point. The stress of your poverty has not the slightest connection with the case. An editor will never pay you for your poem because you wish to help your mother. No customer will buy her best bonnet or her wheat flour of you because you are unable to pay your rent. When you have entered the world of trade you have entered a world where tenderness and charity and personal interest are foreign relations. Not "for friendship's sake," nor "for pity's sake," nor "for chivalry's sake," runs the great rallying cry of this great world—but only "for value received."

It is with sorrow and shame, but yet with hope and courage, that I write it—there is reason for the extensive complaint made by men that women do not work thoroughly. I am afraid that, till time and trouble shall have taught them better, they will not. Is it because they have never been trained? Is it because they expect to be married? That it is not in the least because they can not, we know; for we know that some of the most magnificently accurate work in the world has been done by women.—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, in St. Nicholas.

"All Died in the Faith."

"If this be dying, it is a pleasant thing to die. I could not wish to live; no, not for a thousand worlds."—Eliza Cunningham.

"Farewell, my dear Christian friends! I have taken sweet counsel with you in the way; but I leave you for better, sweeter converse above."—Darracott.

"God be with you, my dear children; I have breakfasted with you, and I shall supper with my Lord Jesus Christ this night."—Robert Bruce.

"Tell my brethren in the ministry that the gospel I preached to others supports me now in the hour of death more than I had anticipated."—Jacob Smith.

"I have pain, there is no arguing against sense; but I have peace, I have peace."—Richard Baxter.

"The Sun of Righteousness is drawing nearer, appearing larger and brighter."—Edward Payson.

"I am sweeping through the gates of the New Jerusalem, washed in the blood of the Lamb."—Alfred Cookman.

"I shall see strange sights today; but it is God I want to see. He is all and in all."—Richard Watson.

A curate said to his flock: "I fear, when I explained to you in my last charity sermon that philanthropy was the love of our species, you must have understood me to say 'specie,' which may account for the smallness of the collection. I hope you will prove by your present contributions that you no longer labor under the same mistake."

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.

in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

IMPROMPTU VERSE BY PHILLIPS BROOKS.

The following bit of nonsense-verse is a part of one of Bishop Brooks' Letters from India, printed in the September Century:

Oh! this beautiful island of Ceylon
With the cocoanut-trees on the shore,
It is shaped like a pear with the peel on,
And Kandy lies in at the core.

And Kandy is sweet (you ask Gertie!)
Even when it is spelt with a K,
And the people are cheerful and dirty,
And dress in a comical way.

Here comes a particular dandy,
With two ear rings and half of a shirt,
He's consid'ered the swell of all Kandy,
And the rest of him's covered with dirt.

And here comes the belle of the city,
With rings on her delicate toes,
And eyes that are painted and pretty,
And a jewel that shakes in her nose.

And the dear little girls and their brothers,
And the babies so jolly and fat,
Astride on the hips of their mothers,
And as black as a gentleman's hat.

And the queer little heaps of old women,
And the shaven Buddhistical priests,
And the lake which the worshipers swim in,
And the wagons with curious beasts.

The tongue they talk mostly is Tamul,
Which sounds you can hardly tell how,
It is half like the scream of a camel,
And half like the grunt of a sow.

—Zion's Herald.

About Pearls.

Very few people are aware that the pearl-oyster is not in any way like the oysters which we eat. It is of an entirely different species, and, as a matter of fact, the shells of the so called pearl oyster are of far more value to those engaged in "pearl-fishing" than the pearls. There are extensive pearl fisheries in the Gulf of California, and some of the finest pearls have been taken from these waters. In 1881 one pearl, a black one, was sold for $10,000, and every year since that time many pearls have been taken from the beds in the California gulf valued at over $7,500 each. But such "finds" are very rare, and, as a rule, the pearls which are brought up are of very little value. The shells, however, are very valuable; most of them are shipped to Europe, where they are manufactured into ornaments, knife handles, buttons, and the hundreds of other articles for which "mother-of-pearl" is used. Another fact concerning the pearl-oyster and the pearl itself is very little understood. I have seen in books of instruction both in this country and in England the statement that "the formation of the pearl in the oyster-shell is caused by a disease of the oyster;" and this statement is more or less generally believed, as is also the erroneous inference to be drawn from it, that the oyster referred to is the edible oyster. The mother-of-pearl is nothing more than a series of layers of nacreous matter deposited by the oyster upon the interior of the shell, and the pearl itself is a perfectly accidental formation. It is caused by a similar deposit of nacre around some foreign object. This foreign substance may be a grain of sand, a parasite, or some similar object; but most authorities agree that it is more usually an undeveloped egg of the oyster around which this deposit is thrown. The largest pearl ever found measures two inches long, and weighs three ounces. This is of Eastern origin. The largest found in the Gulf of California did not exceed an inch and a quarter long, and was somewhat larger than the egg of a bluebird. Many of the Californian pearls are black and speckled. These are considered more valuable than the white pearls in Europe, but the most highly prized pearls of all are pink.—Harper's Young People.

Japanese Courtesy.

Sir Edwin Arnold, in lecturing in Chicago on Japan, said:

I was led to Japan by grammar. No guide-book took me there. I had read all the guide-books, and most of them are not very good. None of them lured me to Japan, but I picked up a grammar once, which was very splendidly done by Mr. Chamberlain, and there I read: "The Japanese language has no imperative mood. The Japanese language has no form of oaths and no word of abuse." I rubbed my eyes, but there was the positive affirmation that one could not swear in Japanese, you could not tell a person to go, rudely or roughly, in Japanese; and I found it really to be so. The worst thing you can say in Japanese is "fellow!" Or if you are very much put out you say, "There! there!" It sounds like an exaggeration, but you can not find a bad word in the Japanese dictionary. There are those who might find that a great privation.

Now, it stands to reason that language so refined as this reacts upon the people, and it does. Although not Christians, they carry out, as we never do, the maxim, "In honor prefer one another." They invariably speak of another person in the most respectful way, and of themselves in the most disparaging way. In Japan you must not say, "Where are you going this afternoon?' You must say, "Where do you augustly condescend to repair?" You must never say, "Come in." You must say, "Condescend an honorable entrance." You must honor your friend and dishonor yourself, and this habit is carried almost to a ludicrous extent, and it reacts upon the habits and manners of the people, so that in Japan you find a place of tranquility, of restoration and of soft pleasure and peace which, I declare to you, I have not exaggerated.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Elephants Laughed.

Mr. O'Shea, the well-known war correspondent, tells the following anecdote of an adventure with a herd of elephants:

"A young friend asked me once to show him some elephants, and I took him with me, having first borrowed an apron and filled it with oranges. This he was to carry while accompanying me in the stable; but the moment we reached the door the herd set up such a trumpeting—they had scented the fruit—that he dropped the apron and its contents, and scuttled off like a jack rabbit. There were eight elephants, and when I picked up the oranges I found I had five and twenty.

"I walked deliberately along the line giving one to each. When I got to the extremity of the narrow stable I turned, and was about to begin the distribution again, when I suddenly reflected that if elephant No. 7 in the row saw me give two oranges in succession to No. 8 he might imagine he was being cheated, and give me a smack with his proboscis—that is where the elephant falls short of the human being—so I went to the door and began denovo as before.

"Thrice I went along the line, and then I was in a fix. I had one orange left, and I had to get back to the door. Every elephant in the herd had his greedy gaze focused on that orange. It was as much as my life was worth to give it to any one of them. What was I to do? I held it up conspicuously, coolly peeled it, and sucked it myself. It was most amusing to notice the way those elephants nudged each other and shook their ponderous sides. They thoroughly entered into the humor of the thing."—From the Million.

Only One.

There was once a little girl—and the only reason there is none such now is that she has grown a big girl—who talked of everything in the plural. Especially was she likely, at the table, to ask for "forks," "spoons," or "potatoes," when it was but one of the articles she really desired.

One day her papa said to her at dinner: "Kitty, don't ask for biscuits.' Say, 'Please give me a biscuit. You don't want more than one at a time."

"No, papa," was the dutiful answer, but presently came the request: "Please, may I have some rolls?"

"A roll," corrected her father, and she repeated the words carefully.

Then all went well until the cheese was handed round, and this Kitty was not usually allowed to eat. Yet she delighted in it, and realized that her success in obtaining a bit might be determined by her manner of asking for it. Leaning forward, she said, anxiously, in a soft, sweet voice: "Papa, will you please give me a chee?"—Youth's Companion.

Little Things.

Little words are the sweetest to hear; little charities fly farthest and stay longest on the wing; little lakes are the stillest; little hearts are the fullest, and little farms are the best tilled. Little books are the most read, and little songs are the dearest loved. And when nature would make anything especially rare and beautiful, she makes it little—little pearls, little diamonds, little dews. The Sermon on the Mount is little, but the last dedication discourse was an hour. Life is made up of littles; death is what remains of them all. Day is made up of little beams, and night is glorious with little stars.—The Baptist.

Would you rather buy lamp-chimneys, one a week the year round, or one that lasts till some accident breaks it?

Tough glass, Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," almost never break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost? Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

BEST In the world for all black leather, Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

includes the great temperance drink

Hires' Root Beer

It gives New Life to the Old Folks, Pleasure to the Parents, Health to the Children.

Good for All—Good All the Time.

A 25 cent package makes Five gallons. Be sure and get Hires'.

3 Lovely Named Hyacinths,

Different Colors, for blooming in pots, sent by mail, post-paid, For 10 Cents, together with our beautifully illustrated Catalogue of 64 pages, and a sample copy of the Mayflower, 40 pages, elegantly illustrated and containing two magnificent, large colored plates of flowers. OUR FALL CATALOGUE for 1893. A superb work of Art. We offer the finest stock of Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocus, Narcissus, Lilies, Freesias, etc., and scores of rare new Bulbs and Plants for fall planting and winter blooming, also choice Shrubs, Trees and Fruits. It is the most beautiful and complete Catalogue of the kind ever issued.

JOHN LEWIS CHILDS, Floral Park, N.Y.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,

S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—

Chas. H. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $620 in six days. Another $37 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 575.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. Lown Mills Building, New York.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

MARRIAGES.

LONG—RANDLE.—At the M. E. Church, Crawford, Miss., Sept. 20, at 7 o'clock A. M., by Rev. A. H. Barkley, Mr. J. T. Long, of Teoc, Carroll county, Miss., to Miss Emma Louise Randle, of Lowndes county, Miss.

FLETCHER—BOYES.—At Wesley Chapel Church, Sept. 21, 1893, by Rev. N. B. Young, Mr. A. H. Fletcher, of St. Helena parish, to Miss Nettie Boyes, daughter of Rev. John Boyes, of Tangipahoa parish, La.

WILLIAMS-BUTTS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Warren county, Miss., Sept. 26, 1893, by Rev. J. W. Ellison, Mr. J. Reason Williams and Miss Ella Butts.

And the mother gave, in tears and pain,
The flowers she most did love;
She knew she should find them all again
In the fields of light above.

O, not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The reaper came that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth
And took the flowers away.

—Longfellow.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200.

GILMORE—Miss NETTIE K. GILMORE, eldest daughter of Rev. George M. and Sister M. E. Gilmore, was taken with the typhoid fever while engaged in teaching school at Hurricane Creek, seventeen miles east of Meridian, Miss., and twenty-eight from Enterprise, and died Aug. 2, 1893, being in her twenty-second year. Her sickness was very severe from its beginning to its termination, lasting only two weeks. Towards its ending her sufferings were exceedingly intense.

She was born near Shubuta, Miss., March 14, 1872. At this time her father was a member of the Mississippi Conference, in which he died at Clinton, La., May 11, 1884. Her mother, two brothers and two sisters, who survive her, are living now at Enterprise, Miss. In 1882 she was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, at China Grove Camp Meeting, during her father's pastorate there, and remained a member of the same until her departure from this life. She was a student at the East Mississippi Female College, at Meridian, in 1892.

Her life was short, but it was not without good results. Wherever she went she soon made many friends. Her associates loved and admired her. In her home circle she was the center of attraction. She freely reproved wrong-doing and heartily advocated the right. Her brothers and sisters respected her judgment in religious matters, and consequently her influence over them was great. It was her delight to share the burdens and responsibilities of the family with her mother. She was a great comfort and support to her.

But, after all, she has gone "the way of all the earth;" and how strange it seems to many! But our blessed Savior says, "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." (John xiii, 7.) May God continue to comfort her mourning loved ones, and let his blessings, both spiritual and temporal, rest richly upon them until they are at home with God in heaven! ISAAC L. PAGULES.

Enterprise, Miss.

HOWE—Died, in Algiers, La., Sept. 12, 1893, Mr. MATTHAW HOWE, aged forty-nine years.

Mr. Howe was born in Germany nearly half a century ago, and brought to this city by his parents when about three years of age. He spent the early days of his life in the Third District, where he married a daughter of Captain Williams, a well-known bar pilot. Mr. Howe learned the business of ship carpenter, and was thorough in his profession. He was for several years employed as carpenter on various steamboats, including the Era No. 9, 12th Era, 13th Era, Monsoon, Irene, and Red Cloud, and was then chief carpenter on the Canal street ferry boats during the lease of that ferry to Captains Kouns and Scovell.

Mr. Howe was for several years engaged as foreman of the Ocean Dry Dock of Algiers, and has held a similar position with the Good Intent Dry Dock Company of Algiers for the past fourteen years, and the owners held him in high esteem. He was an expert and reliable mechanic, and took great pride in his profession. He leaves a wife and ten children to mourn his untimely death.

Outside of his vocation, in which he long ago obtained a leadership, he was a progressive citizen, a stannch friend, and a warm-hearted and self-sacrificing gentleman.

His funeral took place from his residence, and was largely attended by his friends. Rev. Dr. J. M. Beard and this writer conducted religious services, after which the society of Odd Fellows took charge of the body and interred it in Metairie Cemetery, New Orleans.

We tender the bereaved ones the consolation of the religion of our Lord Jesus Christ, and pray that God may be a husband and father to the widow and orphan. HENRY S. JOHNS.

STAFFORD—FRANCES STAFFORD died at her home in Washington parish, La., Aug. 30, 1893. She was born in Lauderdale county, Miss., July 4, 1833, but had lived in this parish for several years. Eighteen years ago she was left a widow. Her husband was a good man, and has gone to his final reward in heaven, and for eighteen years she lived a widowed life. She was a patient, cross-bearing Christian for many years. She was a faithful member of the Methodist Church, cheerful and happy. This writer had been her pastor for two years, and always found her in the service of the Master. There were born to her ten children; nine of them still survive.

She died in the full triumph of faith; told myself and others that there was nothing in the way. All of the family who have died have left the evidence that they were entering the portals of everlasting light. God grant this dispensation of his providence may be a means of grace in bringing her loved ones nearer the cross! W. M. SULLIVAN.

KEYS—Died in Copiah county, Miss., Aug. 19, 1893, MARY KEYS. She was the daughter of Norman and Katie McLeand, and was born May 9, 1839. Was married to Joshua Keys in 1867; joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1859, and remained in that communion until 1876, when she joined the Baptist Church with her husband (who was of that persuasion), to be a helpmeet to him in working out his salvation. It is due her to state here that she was of thorough Methodist stock, and that she never lost her love for the church of her parents. She was esteemed very highly both by the Baptists and Methodists for her work's sake.

She has left as an inheritance to her family and the Pine Grove community a Christian reputation of priceless value. She was true and faithful in all the relations of life. A pure, good and devoted woman has gone to be crowned and sceptred in glory. May God bless the bereaved and stricken ones!

F. M. WILLIAMS.

Try Us, Miss.

LOWERY—Another saint of God has gone home—has quit the church militant and joined the church triumphant.

Sister SALLIE LOWERY was born in Georgia in 1809. She was married to Peter Lowery in 1825. At an early age she professed faith in Christ and joined the church. In many respects she was one of the most wonderful persons we have ever known. Fifty-four years ago she became afflicted, and since that time she has been a constant sufferer, till death released her from her pain. For twenty-five years before her death she had not walked, and the greater part of the time she had been confined to her bed. But on July 20 God called her from that bed so long occupied to a mansion beyond the skies. Sister Lowery was a widow since 1886. She was the mother of twelve children, and survived them all but three.

Since she has been in our charge we have visited her more than once, and always found her, when able at all, cheerful. She spoke often of her departure, and seemed anxious to join her husband and children in the celestial world. Although she was so long a sufferer, she bore her afflictions with that fortitude and patience that characterize the true Christian. Her life, though inactive, was an exemplary one. We have no doubt but that she is now one of the white-robed of the beautiful city of God. May God comfort the bereaved ones, and sanctify the affliction to their immortal good! HER PASTOR.

Rural Hill, Miss.

STEPENSON—At the request of the widow, I write the obituary of JOHNNIE T. STEPENSON. He was born in Warren county, Miss., Dec. 17, 1858, and died in Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 19, 1893. In 1881 he was happily married to Miss Mattie Grant, of Warren county, Miss., who has recently returned to Warren county with two children.

In 1877 the writer received him into the M. E. Church, South, at Oak Ridge, Warren county, Miss., and for three years was his pastor, and was frequently associated with him until his removal to California in 1891, and a better young man I never saw. He was a born gentleman of genuine type, high-toned both in his business transactions and all his social relations. Not for any consideration would he compromise his manhood or his Christian character. Amid all his misfortunes and reverses he ever maintained that affable and sweet spirit with which he always impressed his Christian character upon all with whom he came in contact; but he has gone to take his place with the blood-washed throng in heaven. He was my personal and dear friend, and hence I do most sincerely sympathize with the bereaved widow and children. May the world be kind to them, and God's blessings rest upon them! F. M. WILLIAMS.

Try Us, Miss.

GILMORE—Whereas, It has pleased God, our Father, to remove from us our beloved friend, NETTIE GILMORE, on Aug. 2, 1893; And whereas, By this sad event the Methodist Sunday-school of Enterprise is called upon to mourn the loss of a noble, earnest member; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is only a just tribute to the memory of our sweet friend to say that her life among us was ever that of a consistent Christian, and we know we mourn for one who was worthy of the high regard and loving esteem in which she was held by all who knew her.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with the bereaved family of the deceased on the dispensation which removed from the home circle one so gentle, pure and affectionate, and that we commend them for consolation to Him whose chastisements are meant in mercy.

Resolved, That this heart-felt testimonial of our sorrow and sympathy be published in the Clarke County Times and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased as a token of the interest and love felt by this Sunday-school, and as a loving mark of respect and esteem for our Nettie, "basking now in the sunlight of God's presence."

MISS EFFIE DAVIS, for Committee.

JONES—RACHAL BLAKE was born Oct. 12, 1889, and died Aug. 18, 1893.

JOSEPH EDWARD was born Aug. 14, 1891, and died Aug. 30, 1893.

These were beautiful children, unusually bright and interesting, and the only children of William H. and Emma J. Jones, and yet an all-wise Providence has, in two short weeks, removed them from earth to an everlasting home in heaven, and their little forms have been laid to rest in the cemetery at Adams Church, Lincoln county, Miss. The fond parents are in the midst of affliction, such as only those who have passed through a like ordeal can realize. May he who has promised never to leave nor forsake enable them to lean upon the promise that his grace is sufficient!

J. E. CARRUTH.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1039 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

"Might I ask who lives here?" asked a polite gentleman of a stranger he met in front of a handsome mansion. "Certainly, sir," as politely as the other. "Who is it, sir?" "I'm sure I don't know," replied the stranger.—Ram's Horn.

Timothy Davis, postmaster at Pattersonville, La., says: "Some years ago, while living in Algiers, I contracted a cough that everyone thought would cause my death. I was unable to sleep, had night-sweats, and soon became too weak to work. I had several doctors and tried many remedies, but with no improvement. An old friend hearing of my condition recommended Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. It had cured him of a serious lung trouble, and he had great confidence in Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar. Before three bottles had been taken I was up and about, a well man. It saved my life. I always recommend it for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, any lung or throat trouble." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

Jerusalem has been enjoying a "boom" since the completion of the railroad that connects it with Jaffa. Over eight hundred houses, hotels, stores and residences have been erected in the town since it became a railway terminus.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Every great scientific truth goes through three stages. First, people say it conflicts with the Bible. Next, they say it had been discovered before. Lastly, they say they always believed it.—Agassiz.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by T. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.

Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3,236,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.

All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.

Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,179.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.

Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y

J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary

Crescent Insurance Com'y

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.

The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.

College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.

Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.

Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.

For Catalogue and other information address

W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.

The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893.
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address

Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.

Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up.
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.

Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.

For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.

Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE in all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Latest intelligence from Bayou Cook, Grand Isle, Chenlere and Lower Coast regions indicate that the effects of the storm in these localities were terrific, and that hundreds of lives were lost.

Thirteen new cases of yellow fever were reported at Brunswick, Ga., on Sept. 29.

The police of Paris, London, New York and Chicago have formed a compact to keep the anarchists under surveillance.

Twenty-eight men were hurled by the collapse of a mine in Michigan on Sept. 28. The mine caved in from top to bottom, entailing a loss of $600,000.

A storm struck New Orleans on Oct. 1, and considerable damage ensued. The Soraparu market was blown down. Boats were blown away, cars stopped and the fire alarm system rendered useless.

A claim for about $3 500 000 for damage done in Southern Pennsylvania during the Civil War, by the invasion of the Confederate forces, has been reported on favorably by the House Committee on War Claims.

Everywhere in California the Chinese are now working the gold mines on their own account. The metal is sent directly to China, and is smuggled out of the country in the same way that opium is smuggled in. Since 1860 the Chinese have taken from California mines the enormous sum of $141 750,000.

It is estimated that the overhauling of the pension lists by Commissioner Lochren will result in saving to the country no less than $128,000,000. About 25 per cent. of the 300,000 names that were added to the list under the act of 1890 are liable to be dropped permanently. About 25 per cent. more will be given a lower rating.

The anti-Chinese troubles at La Grande, Ore., culminated in a riot a few nights ago. At midnight a mob of 200 men collected in the outskirts of the town and proceeded to the Chinese quarter. All the houses of the Chinese were looted, and the Chinamen were conducted to the edge of town and ordered to make themselves scarce.

For some weeks past the New York statements have been very favorable, each week developing more cheerful features than its predecessor. The last statement was by far the most favorable since the turn in the financial tide, several weeks ago. It showed, for instance, the great increase of $6,150,000 in the reserve held by the banks. The statement also shows a gain in cash of more than $8 000 000, while deposits increased over $7,000,000.

The report of the industrial development of the South for the third quarter of 1893, ending Sept. 30, as compiled by the Tradesman, Chattanooga, Tenn., shows considerable falling off in the number of new industries reported, as compared with the same period of 1891 and 1892. It says that a careful examination of the report, however, shows that the decrease has been largely in enterprises of a somewhat speculative nature. The establishment of industries for the utilization and development of the natural resources of the South show a most gratifying average when the financial condition of the country for the past three months is taken into consideration.

FOREIGN.

Advices from all parts of England indicate that the keenest distress exists among the striking coal miners and their families.

The priests throughout France have been, for the first time, called to do a month's service with the army reserves; their temporary absences from their parishes are being officially noticed in the church papers.

It is stated that President Pelxoto, of Brazil, has under his command in Rio de Janeiro 5,000 well-armed and loyal troops. It is thought that this force is sufficient to prevent landing parties from the rebel warships effecting a lodgment in the city.

There has been a new and most serious disagreement between King Humbert and the Vatican. The Pope refuses to recognize the King's right to nominate a patriarch for Venice, and in consequence the Italian ministry has decided to refuse exequator to all Bishops nominated at the last consistory.

The steamer Carlos, which the Brazilian government refused to allow dock at Rio de Janeiro because she had cholera aboard, has arrived at Assyrins, a small island of Sardinia, where she is held in quarantine. During the voyage from Brazil 114 deaths occurred on board the vessel, and there are seventeen persons now ill on the vessel, including the doctor.

It is claimed that the military attaches of the powers composing the Triple Alliance have been very much shown the cold shoulder by the French officers, and, as a retaliatory measure, the military authorities in Berlin propose to withdraw all German military attaches from France, in order to force the French government to withdraw its military attaches from Germany, Austria and Italy.

A Battle for Blood

Is what Hood's Sarsaparilla vigorously fights, and it is always victorious in expelling all the foul taints and giving the vital fluid the quality and quantity of perfect health.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25c.

The Origin of the Moss Rose.

There is a very pretty German tradition not generally known which accounts in the following manner for the existence of the moss rose. The legend is to the effect that once upon a time an angel, having a mission of love to suffering humanity, came down on earth. He was much grieved at all the sin and misery he saw, and at all the evil things he heard. Being tired, he sought a place wherein to rest, but as it fared with his Master, so it fared with him; there was no room for him, and no one would give him shelter. At last he lay down under the shade of a rose and slept till the rising sun awoke him. Before winging his flight heavenward he addressed the rose, and said that as it had given him that shelter which man denied, it should receive an enduring token of his power and love. And so, leaf by leaf, and twig by twig, the soft green moss grew round the stem, and there it is to this day, a cradle in which the new-born rose may lie, a proof, as the angel said, of God's power and love.—Southern Churchman.

Everybody who has heard of Lord & Thomas' great Chicago advertising agency knows their motto—"Advertise Judiciously." Many are the novel ways in which they impress these two words upon the public. Their latest plan is to distribute thousands of rules for measuring advertising space which bear this legend and the compliments of the firm. Any general advertiser can secure one of these convenient little articles by writing for it.

The Epworth League is a flat failure when in becomes too literary to be vitally spiritual.—Epworth Herald.

Camp Meeting.

The New Prospect Camp Meeting will begin on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in October (Oct. 20). Ministers of the gospel are invited to attend, and will be furnished with transportation from the railroad to camp ground. Get off at Ocean Springs, where you will get hacks, etc. N. B. YOUNG.

Vancleave, Miss.

Camp Meeting Calendar.

Camp Meeting.	Begins.
Salem	Oct. 5
Shiloh	Oct. 6
New Prospect	Oct. 20

Colored Knights of Pythias Supreme Lodge Meeting, New Orleans, La.

Queen and Crescent Route, and Louisville Southern Railroad, will make one and one-third fare rate for the round trip, to New Orleans, La., on account of the meeting of the Colored Knights of Pythias Supreme Lodge, New Orleans, La., Sept. 25 30, 1893, inclusive. Tickets on sale Sept. 22 to 27, on certificate plan, from all points on Q and C. and L. & N. R. R.

Solid vestibuled trains from Cincinnati to New Orleans. Ninety-four miles shortest line. Only 26½ hours.

Call on agents for full information.

W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

I. O. O. F. Demonstration in Chicago.

The Queen and Crescent route, and Louisville Southern railroad, on account of its first-class train service, elegant equipment, and quick time, has been named as the official route of the I. O. O. F. from the South to the grand I. O. O. F. Demonstration, to be held in Chicago, Sept. 28 to 30, 1893.

Ask agents to quote you rates, and take the Queen and Crescent route through our lines to Chicago.

Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville.

W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

Grand United Order of Odd Fellows.

One fare for the round trip, via Queen and Crescent Route, on account of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows' Meeting, Jackson, Miss., Oct. 17, 1893.

The Queen and Crescent Route will sell tickets for the occasion of the Fiftieth Anniversary of G. U. O. O. F. of Mississippi from all stations in Mississippi, Oct. 16 and 17, good to return until Oct. 18, at the rate of one fare for the round trip.

Call on agents for particulars.

W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen. Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

Union Gospel Mission.

MAGNOLIA STREET, NEAR FELICITY.

CONDENSED REPORT OF TWO YEARS' WORK.

Total receipts	$581 76
Total expenditures	581 76
Services held in Mission	203
Total attendance	4,868
Services held in open air	66
Total attendance	10,810
Conversions (professed)	28
United with Methodist Church	9
Children attending Sunday-school	41
Bibles and Testaments distributed	481
Tracts and religious papers	106,382
Visits made to Police Jail	104
Night lodgings furnished	14
Money given to sick and needy	$81 45
Clothes, hats, shoes, etc., distributed	102
Coal furnished in Winter	7 bbls
Wood	2 loads
Mission benches give to another mission (new)	24

We copy from the address of Bros. E. A. Vail and H. Bien, superintendents, to the pastors of the city:

"The above mission has been carrying on a successful work among the poorer classes in the rear of the city for the past three years. The mission has never been properly supported, and its work has been accomplished under exceedingly trying circumstances. It is non-sectarian in every particular, being organized only for the salvation of souls, and helping the needy. The mission, not being founded on denominational lines, receives no stated help from the churches, but is now in need of money, and requests help from them in order to continue its work."

All of this we heartily indorse. The mission rents a house, conducts open-air meetings, feeds and clothes the poor, and in its hour of trial should have prompt assistance. Bros. Vail and Bien are pious and godly men, who have no doubt been called of God to perform this most difficult and urgent task, and have many claims upon the New Orleans religious public. Let them be sustained.

Louisiana Conference.

NOTICE TO PRESIDING ELDERS.

Send to me at Homer, La.:

1. Names of lay delegates.
2. Local preachers to be ordained.
3. Applicants for admission on trial.

Please attend to this, and save your friends trouble when they visit the seat of the Conference.

J. A. PARKER, P. C.

Homer, La.

When the apostles were eager to win the world, he kept them waiting for ten long days; not that he was indifferent to the claim of a perishing race, nor to damp their ardor, but because they had not received that enduement of power, which is the prerogative of the Holy Ghost to impart.—Bishop Meyer.

The joy God puts into human hearts is something the devil has never yet been able to take out.—Ex.

For Debility

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

DR. W. H. HOLCOMBE, New Orleans, La., says: "I have found it particularly serviceable in treatment of women and children, for debility and loss of appetite."

Plans of Episcopal Visitation, 1893-94.

FIRST DISTRICT—BISHOP KEENER.

Tennessee Conference—At Lebanon, Tenn., Oct. 18.

Arkansas Conference—Clarksville, Ark., Nov. 22.

Little Rock Conference—At Hot Springs, Ark., Dec 8.

White River Conference—At Jonesboro, Ark., Dec. 13.

SECOND DISTRICT—BISHOP WILSON.

West Texas Conference—At Beeville, Tex. Nov. 1.

German Mission Conference—At Grassyville, Tex., Nov 9.

Northwest Texas Conference—At Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15.

North Texas Conference—At Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 29.

THIRD DISTRICT—BISHOP GRANBERY

Virginia Conference—At Danville, Va., Nov. 22.

Baltimore Conference—At Fredericksburg, Va., March 22.

FOURTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HARGROVE.

Illinois Conference—At Nashville, Ill., Oct. 8.

North Mississippi Conference—At Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29.

South Carolina Conference—At Sumter, S. C., Dec 6.

Alabama Conference—At Opelika, Ala., Dec. 13.

FIFTH DISTRICT—BISHOP DUNCAN.

Holston Conference—At Broad Street Church, Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 11.

North Alabama Conference—At Talladega, Ala., Nov. 15.

Western North Carolina Conference—At Tyron Street Church, Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 29.

North Carolina Conference—At Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 6.

SIXTH DISTRICT—BISHOP GALLOWAY.

Memphis Conference—At Central Church, Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 29.

South Georgia Conference—At Dawson, Ga., Dec. 13.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HENDRIX.

Northwest Mexican Conference—El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.

Central Mexico Conference—City of Mexico, Nov. 15.

Mexican Border Mission Conference—Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 23.

Texas Conference—Navasota, Tex., Nov. 30.

East Texas Conference—At Orange, Tex., Dec. 7.

EIGHTH DISTRICT—BISHOP KEY.

China Mission Conference—At Shanghai, Oct. 18.

Indian Mission Conference—At Vinita, I. T., Nov. 1.

Mississippi Conference—At Haslehurst, Miss., Dec 7

Louisiana Conference—At Homer, La., Dec. 14.

NINTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HAYGOOD.

North Georgia Conference—At Gainesville Ga., Nov. 29.

Florida Conference—At Palatka, Fla., Jan. 3.

TENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP FITZGERALD.

Los Angeles Conference—At Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.

Pacific Conference—At Fresno, Cal., Oct. 11.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Brookhaven	Oct.	7, 8
Magnolia, at Magnolia		14
Lebanon, at Lebanon		21, 22
Caseyville, at Bethel		28
McComb City		28, 29
Summit, at Summit		29, 30
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	Nov.	4, 5
Terry, at Spring Ridge		7
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel		10
Adams circuit, at Adams		11, 12
Holmesville and Tinsaw, at H		17
China Grove, at China Grove		18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman		22
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman		25, 26
Providence		30
Hazlehurst	(night)
Beauregard, at Beauregard	Dec.	2, 3
Wesson		2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Wesley Chapel, at Natchez	Fri. night)	Oct. 6
Washington, at Washington		7, 8
Jefferson St.—Natchez	(Mon night)	9
Roxie, at Roxie	(Wed.)	11
Utica station		14, 15
Martin, at Cane Ridge		21, 22
Learned, at Bear Creek		28, 29
Fayette, at Fayette		Nov. 4, 5
Sunflower, at Sunflower	(Wed.)	8
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	(Thu.)	9
Warren, at Oak Ridge		11, 12
Meadville, at Meadville		18, 19
Marersville		25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	(Fri.)	Dec. 1
Hermanville		2, 3
Port Gibson	(Tues.)	5

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Edwards	Oct.	7, 8
Sharon, at Sharon		14, 15
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet		21, 22
Lake City and Lodi, at L. C.	Thurs.)	28
Silver Creek and B. Lake, at Hillsdale		28, 29
Yazoo circuit, at Fletcher Chapel		Nov. 4, 5
Madison, at Wesley Chapel	(Wed.)	8
Camden, at Shuck		11, 12
Bolton, at Bolton	(Wed.)	15
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas	(Sat.)	18
Jackson—First Church		18
Jackson—Capitol Street		18
Flora, at Flora	(1 hurs.)	22
Benton, at Midway		25, 26
Tranquil		28, 27
Canton		Dec 2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shubuta circuit, at DeSoto	(Thurs.)	Oct. 3
Clark circuit, at Manasseh		7, 8
Vossburgh circuit, at Central		14, 15
Enoutia circuit, at Enoutia		21, 22
East stonewall, at Enterprise	(Tu.)	24
Meridian—East End	(Wed.)	25
Daleville cir., at Daleville	Thurs.)	26
Linwood circuit, at Hopewell		28, 29
North Kemper cir., at Mellen	(Wed.)	Nov. 1
DeKalb circuit, at Pt. Ridge		4, 5
Binnsville, at Scooba	(Tues.)	7
Lauderdale	(Thurs.)	9
Why Not circuit		11, 12
Chunky circuit	(Thurs.)	18
Marion circuit		18, 19
Meridian—West End		25, 26
Meridian—Central	(Sun. and Mon.)	Dec. 3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Ques 28. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Ques. 18. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up full collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Neshoba, at Mars Hill	Oct.	7
Walnut Grove, at Rocky Point		14, 15
Carthage and W. Grove, at Carthage		15
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove		17
Lake, at Lawrence		21, 24
Rose Hill, at Missionary		28, 29
Trenton, at Trenton	Nov.	2
Clarksburg, at Liberty		4, 5
Morton and Forest, at Morton		8
Fannin, at Fannin		10
Braudon station		11, 12
Montrose, at Montrose		18
Raleigh, at Raleigh		18, 19
Shiloh, at Cato		24
Marvin, at Wesleyana		25, 26
Westville, at Goshen		28
Homewood, at Zion Grove	Dec.	2, 3

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

E. Baton Rouge	Oct.	7, 8
Fort Vincent, at Manrepas		14, 15
Live Oak, at Friendship		21, 21
North Wilkinson		28, 29
Wilkinson, at Bethel	Nov.	4, 5
Bayou Sara, at Star Hill		11, 12
St. Helena, at Center		18, 19
E. Feliciana, at Gilead		25, 26
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel		30
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Dec.	2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City		3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Whitlington c. (4th round)	Palmer C. C. 30 to Oct. 6
E. Pearlmiss., at Pine Grove	(Tues.)	10

The Conference for charges marked with * will be held on second day published.

Let special prayer be made by all our people for the camp meetings. Observe the quarterly fast. Have General Rules read, and registers on hand for examination. Preachers will please try to "clear the decks" of the collections during this quarter, at least in good subscriptions. Push the interests of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ebenezer circuit, at Bethany	Oct.	7, 8
Lexington and Tchula, at Tchula		8, 9
Ethel circuit, at Tabernacle		14, 15
Belzona circuit, at Hickory Grove		21, 22
Stewart circuit, at Stewart		28, 29
Sallis circuit, at Sallis		31
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	Nov.	4, 5
Rural Hill circuit, at Rural Hill		5, 6
Wier circuit, at Pisgah		10
Chester circuit, at Ackerman		11, 12
Kosciusko circuit, at Salem		18, 19
Eupora circuit, at Walthall		25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the assessments.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Columbus circuit	Oct.	7, 8
Columbus station		8, 9
Starkville circuit		14, 15
Brooksville		21, 22
Sturges		28, 29
Phebe	Nov.	4, 5
Sparta		11, 12
Macbalaville		17
Shuqualak		18, 19
Macon		19, 20
Hebron		24

T. C. WEIR, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ashland circuit, at Wesley	Oct.	7, 8
Lonnersville, at Bethlehem		14, 15
Olive Branch, at Miller		21, 22
Shelley Creek		28, 29
Red Banks circuit, at Wesley	Nov.	4, 5
Mt. Pleasant circuit, at New Salem		11, 12
Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia		18, 19
East Holly Springs, at Lamar		25, 26

J. W. HOSKELL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Charleston	Oct.	6
Coffeeville		7, 8
Oxford station		14, 15
Tocopola		21, 22
Cherry Hill	(Tues.)	24
Atlanta		28, 29
Banner	(Tues.)	31
Chapel Hill	Nov.	4, 5
Pittsboro	(Tues.)	7
Abbeville		11, 12
Grenada circuit		18, 19
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.)	22
Water Valley station		26, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Courtland, at Center Hill	Oct.	7, 8
Nesbit		14, 15
Mt. Vernon, at Free Springs		21, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg		28, 29
Arkabutla	(Tues.)	31
Morgansville mission	Nov.	4, 5
Cockrum, at Green Leaf		11, 12
Wall Hill		18, 19
Panola		25, 26

It stewards and pastors will address themselves faithfully and constantly to their respective duties, salaries and connectional collections will be paid in full. Brethren, the Lord and the church expects everyone to do their duty.

H. C. MORRHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Prairie	Oct.	7, 8
Shannon		11
Aberdeen station		14, 15
Saltillo		21, 22
Amory and Smithville		25
Pontotoc		28, 29
Tremont	Nov.	4, 5
Okolona circuit		8
Houston and Wesley		11, 12
Athens		18, 19
Buena Vista		25, 26

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Carrollton	Oct.	7, 8
Mouth		14, 15
Ludlanola		21, 22
Leherton		24
Sidon		28, 29
Black Hawk	Nov.	4, 5
Valden		11, 12
West		18
Carrollton circuit		18, 19
Winona circuit		25, 26

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Rosedale	Oct.	8
Cleveland		15
Bolivar		22
Shaw		29
Lyon	Nov.	5
Wintersville		12
Friar's Point		19
Greenville		26

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine, at Donaldson	Nov.	13
Carrollton	(Tues.)	14
Gretna	(Thurs.)	16
Baton Rouge		19
Parker Chapel	(Tues.)	21
Moreau	(Thurs.)	23
Gross Tete, at Raimuny		26
Airgades	(Tues.)	28
Lower Coast	(Thurs.)	30
Algiers	(Sun. morning)	Dec. 3
Crais	(Sun. evening)	2
Louisiana Avenue	(Mon.)	4
Carondelet	(Tues.)	5
Felicity	(Thurs.)	7
Rayne Memorial	(Fri.)	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Centerville, at Trout Creek	Oct.	7, 8
Evergreen, at Bunkie		14, 15
Thicol, at Fairview		21, 22
Montgomery, at Montgomery		28, 29
Big Cane, at Melville		28 28
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Nov.	4, 2
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill		11, 12
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground		18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce		25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec.	2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville		9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards assist themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Summerfield, at Alabama	Oct.	7, 8
Gansville, at Rochester		14, 15
Sparta, at Bienville		21, 22
Downsville, at Downsville		28, 29
Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel	Nov.	4, 2
Vernon, at Oak Ridge		11, 12
Minden, at Minden		18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall		25, 26
Valley, at Sapps	Dec.	2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch		9, 10
Huston station		10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia		12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Grand Cane, at Grand Cane	Oct.	7, 8
Wesley, at Wesley Chapel		14, 15
Coushatta, at Coushatta		15, 16
North Bossier, at Hope's Spurr		21, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville		28, 29
Caddo, at Keachie	Nov.	4, 5
Shreveport station and mission		11, 12
Victoria mission, at Victoria		18, 18
Cane River, at Provencal		19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh		21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove		24, 24
Many, at Many		25, 26
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup		26, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec.	2, 3
Mansfield station		8, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 28, 11 include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamana, Midkiff, and Wood's Schoolhouse)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge

The District Sabbath-school Convention meets at Robeline, Oct 25, at 10 A. M. Arrangements will be made to entertain the delegates.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 9 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

The trustees of Pierce and Paina College property are requested to meet at Marthaville, Oct. 28.

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

829 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lind Grove, at Bonito	Oct.	7, 8
Winsboro, at Winsboro		14, 12
Oak Ridge, at Mer Rouge		21, 22
Rayville, at Union		28, 26
Oakley, at Jourdin Chapel		28, 29
Calhoun, at Mt. Ariel	Nov.	4, 5
Harrisonburg, at Island		11, 12
Lanius, at Frantoms C.		18, 19
Lake Providence		25, 26
Waterproof	Dec.	2, 3
Delhi		7
Floyd		9, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Abbeville at P. G.	Oct.	7, 8
Franklin and Jeanerette		14, 12
Indian Bayou		21, 22
Plaquemine Brulee		22, 26
Patterson and Morgan City	Nov.	4, 2
Lake Charles—B. Street		11, 12
Jansson Street and W. Lake		16, 18
Grand Chenier		18, 18
Sulphur Mine		25, 26
Lake Arthur	Dec.	2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

Missionary Enterprise.

So many little boys write to your paper, I thought you might let me ask them if they would like to buy some of my cinnamon vine potatoes. My little brother Wailes and I have saved so many we are trying to sell them to make some missionary money. The florists sell them for five cents apiece; but we sell three for five cents and one two-cent stamp. We have almost a thousand; and if we can sell all of them, mama says it will be a big help for two little boys. We will be so glad if we can sell them. My brother is six years old, and I am seven. Address

MARION AND WAILES GORTON.

Waterproof, La.

A final settlement of the dispute between France and Siam was arrived at on Oct. 1 by the acceptance upon the part of the Siamese government of the drafts of a new treaty presented by M. De Villers, the special envoy of France to the government of Siam.

ITCHING HUMORS

Torturing, disfiguring eczemas, and every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp diseases, with dry, thin, and falling hair, are relieved in most cases by a single application, and speedily and economically cured by the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies, when the best physicians fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every humor, eruption, and disease from pimples to scrofula. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston. "How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

FREE FROM RHEUMATISM.

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. The first and only pain-killing strengthening plaster.

UNIVERSITY PREPARATORY SCHOOL,

73 COLISEUM STREET.

T. W. DYER, - - - Principal.

The Eleventh Session begins Oct. 2 with full corps of teachers. The location is perfect. The surroundings are attractive. The grounds are large (quarter of a square), with separate yard and accommodations for smaller boys. A few boarding pupils can be accommodated. References: The clergy of New Orleans and the faculty of Tulane University.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Pain. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Next Session opens September 20th.

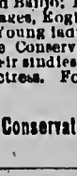
Full graduate as well as under graduate courses. Ten Fellowships for college graduates. Seven Departments—Academic, Engineering, Biblical, Law, Pharmaceutical, Dental, Medical. Fully equipped laboratories and museums.

WILS WILLIAMS, Secretary.

FAT PEOPLE

To reduce your weight SURELY use Willard's Obesity Pills and lose 15 pounds a month. No injury to the health. No interference with business or pleasure. NO STARVING. They build up and improve the general health, beautify the complexion and leave NO WRINKLES. Lucy Anderson, 61 Auburn St., Cambridge, Mass., writes: Three bottles of your Obesity Pills reduced my weight from 225 pounds to 190 and I never felt better in all my life. I am much pleased with the result and shall do all I can to help you. Our patrons include Physicians, Bankers, Lawyers and leaders of Society. Our goods are not sold in drug stores; all orders are supplied direct from our office. Price per package $2.00 or three packages for $5.00 by mail prepaid. Particulars (sealed) 4cts. ALL CORRESPONDENCE CONFIDENTIAL.

WILLARD REMEDY CO., BOSTON, MASS.



FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, misses and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

MY WIFE SAYS SHE CANNOT SEW ON YOU DO IT FOR THIS $12 Buys a $65.00 Improved Oak Sewing Machine; perfect working, stylish, finely finished, adapted to light or heavy work, with a complete set of the latest improved attachments free. Each machine guaranteed for 10 years. Buy direct from our factory and save dealers and agents profit. Send for FREE CATALOGUE. IMPROVED MFG. COMPANY, DEPT. T-2, CHICAGO, ILL.

XMAS DIALOGUES, Pieces to Speak and how to get up Fascinating Public and Sunday School Entertainment—all in SKIDMORE & CO., 89 John St., N. Y.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in conspicuous places along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 15 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

EMORY COLLEGE

OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta. Location Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons!

57th Session opens Sept. 30th, 1893; closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $125. For full information, address

W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 41. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1938.

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OUR PREROGATIVE.

"Lord, what a change within us one short hour
Spent in thy presence will prevail to make,
What heavy burdens from our bosoms take,
What parched ground refreshed, as with a shower;
We kneel when all around us seems to lower;
We rise and all, the distant and the near,
Stands forth in sunny outline, brave and clear;
We kneel, how weak; we rise, how full of power.
Why, therefore, Lord, should we do ourselves this wrong,
Or others, that we are not always strong;
That we are ever overborne with care;
That we should ever weak or heartless be,
Anxious or troubled, when with us is prayer,
And joy, and strength, and courage, are with thee?"

—Selected.

The "Unrighteous Mammon."

BY BISHOP J. C. KEENER.

The wealth of man consists of his various powers and faculties as a person, subject to the law of his life, that is, to respect the equal rights of others.

The right of property is ethical, the recognition of the social organism, the law of which is also ethical, and is essential to the wealth of man's own personality. A thief may possess himself of my horse, but he would have no property in it, no title which the public authority would protect. The right to private property is conditioned by the duty which one owes to the community in which he lives and exercises this right. For grave offenses the whole of one's property, or a part of it, may be confiscated. So, too, for public needs, it is proportionably taxed. In fact, it is held subject to the supreme claims of the State.

"We have been suffering," Prof. Foxwell remarks, "for a century from an acute attack of individualism, unchecked by the old restraints, and invested with almost a religious sanction by a certain soulless school of writers."—London Quarterly, p. 429, '93.

"It is," as that admirable article characterizes it, "the outcome of the Smithian Gospel of enlightened self-interest as the one sufficient rule of economics. But the reasonable aspiration of the working classes after a better order of things than that in which they now exist can only be satisfied by a just doctrine of political economy, which insists upon the moral element that should dominate the science, which, while reckoning with the forces of those personal interests that ever must be strong motive powers in human society, reckons also with the forces of public duties and private benevolence—which, in a word, regards the individual as an ethical person in an ethical organism."—Page 431.

Has not the time come when the people of this country should calmly look into the ethical conditions and obligations of property—of those vast masses of wealth of which our fathers had not the slightest thought or the feeblest conception? Sums which have accrued in the hands of individuals, through the protection extended by the General Government to railroads, to scientific discoveries, and also as the inevitable consequences of war, have aggregated in the hands of a few persons the wealth of empires.

All capital is merely stored labor. It may be as the locomotive, the representative of a thousand minds that at various periods have, by little and little, brought it to its present unfold perfection for producing wealth. But the rights of stored labor are simply those of labor—it may be of day labor. The two are mutual, indeed, identical. The respect demanded from the day laborer for the welfare and the property of others is equally required from all corporations, unions, stock companies, trusts, guilds and organizations of capital, working under the protection of the State.

The breadth of the operations of Chambers of Commerce, or the enormous speculation of mercantile firms, can not in the slightest degree change their essentially ethical character. Millions can no more be permitted to threaten the well-being of the State's population than should a foreign power. If the basis of the mercantile policy of banks, commission houses, exchanges in New Orleans, New York, and Chicago, be essentially unsound, it must sooner or later be felt throughout the whole country and by every citizen in it.

The fact we would bring out in connection with this general statement of the laws of business economy is that the mercantile world in the South and West has been and is now controlled by the wholesale gambling and massive frauds of cotton futures—that the centers of New York, Liverpool, and New Orleans have yielded to this colossal scheme of hazard until the production of the Southern staple has no effect upon its market value.

Eight millions of bales certainly do and must have a fixed relation to the consumption and demand for cotton in the factories of Great Britain and of the Northern States. Such relation should primarily determine its price in the markets of the world; but it does not. This was clearly seen in the reduced figures at which the last crop was sold by the planter. If the agriculturist can not have the benefit of the enhanced worth of a universally short crop, he is at sea in all his calculations. The positive yield of cereals and fibers, of herds and flocks, are the certain reliance of the whole country in all its trading, both foreign and domestic. It constitutes a basis, next to the value of land, which should regulate all the financial movements of the year. The seasons must determine the annual wealth of a people. The yield of the harvest as compared with its cost must enrich or impoverish the farmer. This is the natural and legitimate process of producing values available, whether for present or future use.

But during the past three months there have been sold in New York and elsewhere 56,000,000 of bales of cotton, or seven times the actual product of the entire crop for the year 1892. This would be equal to the average yield of twenty-eight crops in one year. All which, beyond the 8,000,000 of bales, is purely an imaginary value, with which the agriculturist has nothing to do. The counting-house produced this amazing harvest while the farmer was simply asleep. The actual cotton of this past year's crop would yield $280,000,000; but the ideal cotton would yield, at the same rate, $7,840,000,000. This is the figuring against which the cotton planter has to make headway. That the Congress of the United States should hesitate to adopt some measure of relief, immediate and stringent, for the benefit of the whole country, against this colossal fraud, which is steadily undermining the national credit and destroying mercantile confidence in all departments of industry, should be a matter of alarm to all sober citizens. It is one of those disasters which, like a tornado, can not be measured until its work of ruin shall have been accomplished.

If honesty and the substance of wealth constitute a healthy, universal basis of confidence, need we be surprised that a dropsy which swells $280,000,000 to more than $7,000,000,000 should prove fatal to the mercantile solvency of the entire country? The recent failure of firms and banks in Milwaukee, Denver, Kansas City, Memphis, Louisville, Nashville, in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, and throughout the far West, can in not a few instances be traced directly to dealing in Futures. Surely "corners" in rib-sides, mess-pork, in lard, wheat, oil, eggs, and grain, indicate the widespread character of this national disease which is steadily destroying the value of all values, and calls for national relief. For many of those even who are outside this charmed circle of hazard, from the mutual relations of trade and industry, must go down in such a general wreck of credit.

Futures, so-called, are not really a question of time; but of substance. One thousand bushels of potatoes, if they have been planted, hoed, gathered, barreled, hauled, and put upon the market, represent that much labor, and are worth money at any reasonable time which may be imagined, near or far; but a thousand "barrels" of "potatoes," so-called, marginal, spectral potatoes, more ethereal than ether, are worthless to-day, yesterday, and forever. They are a fraud put upon the market for the purpose of gambling in "potatoes" rather than with cards or dice. The mercantile sobriety with which these potato futures are quoted and sold can not hide the essential character of a transaction which differs in no sense from the chances of a faro table.

All the gambling dens in this country and in the Baden Badens of Europe are child's play as compared with this huge monster that quietly envelopes in its coils the fortunes, and even the lives, of myriads; which is educating every honest workman, every youth, every tradesman, to be impatient of nature's slow production, and to stake all upon the show of a card or the bulletin of a "bucket shop." The Louisiana Lottery curse was a small thing when put alongside this Fraudulent Creation. Nor is this all; in ordinary games of chance there is some chance; but in this deeply-planned scheme there is absolutely no chance. A clique, composed of a few individuals or firms, located at convenient centers, wield all cotton futures. They seem to be independent of each other, but at bottom they constitute a conspiracy of gamblers. The transactions between themselves seem to be real, but they are not all sales and purchases, but merely bogus trades for swindling purposes. Yet they rule the price of cotton. Now, as a matter of course, if these could be fully, fairly detected, they would be treated as Russia has treated the Jews—expelled the country. They doubtless have many agents who are true to them, but dream not that they are parties to anything beyond the accidents and uncertainties of chance in "future" quotations. But the facts are as stated, and will eventually come to light. Meanwhile they spread the net in sight of the bird, and the silly bird walks into it. The whole South is victimized by this quadrilateral of gamblers. Millions of gold are being raked in annually by this deal that ought never to have left the plow-worn hands of the Southern farmer. Here is no small cause for our present financial distress. Credit is invalidated by the speculations of the mercantile world. The ethical quality of all wealth must not be overlooked. Unless the business of the counter be honest in respect to all who deal over it, there can be no permanent prosperity in the country; but ruin, endless ruin, forever waits upon the "unrighteous mammon."—Nashville Advocate.

The Religious and Secular Newspaper United.

Is there less compatibility between a religious and a secular newspaper than there is between the soul and the body? While we are in the body we have to do secular business, as well as perform spiritual duties. The church establishes and carries on schools to instruct and train the young in secular as well as religious knowledge and practice; why should it not also establish and carry on newspapers to instruct and guide the people in secular affairs as well as in spiritual life? If the church only collects the children for a short time in her schools to teach them, and then turns them out into the world to be demoralized by the secular newspapers that flood the country and reek with corruption, will it not be like a shepherd that collects the lambs in the fold to mark them simply, and then turns them out to be devoured by the dogs and wolves?

The women of New Orleans have done a wise and laudable thing in establishing and carrying on a temperance eating-house. They knew that the demon of intemperance was "going to and fro in the earth, and walking up and down in it," so that nobody could get a lunch in New Orleans without having the temptation to drink intoxicating liquors set before him, and they went to work to obviate that dreadful evil—at least, to give the hungry a chance to get something to eat without being tempted to get drunk. God bless the women anyhow! While the men were going into the only eating-houses there were in New Orleans to get a lunch, and then taking a drink, and talking about the evils of such things, they (the women) went to work to remedy them. Will the good men of the church not profit by the noble example of the good women of New Orleans, and establish and conduct a clean and good newspaper there, which people can read without having their moral sensibilities shocked and their hearts sickened with such vulgar and corrupting reading matter, while the unwary are being led astray and the country ruined by them?

And why not build up such a paper upon the foundation of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE? It is struggling to exist as an exclusively religious paper. The people think they must, and they will, have a secular newspaper; but the most of them then omit to take a religious one. And so, while the poison is rankling among the people, the antidote hardly exists—circulates but little among them to counteract the baneful influences of the overshadowing seculars. And what is the consequence? The teaching the church gives in her few schools, and papers read by but very few people, is neutralized by the numerous mammoth seculars. And while corrupt and unscrupulous men, and bad and ruinous measures are advocated and urged upon the people, good men and moral and beneficial measures have no chance of being brought before the people, and advocated and sustained. Corruption, vice and crime hold high carnival everywhere almost without a voice being heard by the most of people who most need to hear it against such.

Why not build up in New Orleans, the metropolis of the South, a secular and religious newspaper united, at the present price of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, to advocate the right and defend the good against the bad and the wrong, that threaten to ruin everything? If the church don't do it, it will not be done, and things will go on from bad to worse. The ADVOCATE is reaching very few, and the classes that need it most are not reached at all by it. And it is extremely doubtful that any other kind of paper will ever supply the desideratum but a secular and religious newspaper united. The people will have a secular paper, and if the church supplies them with that combined with a religious department, it may thus reach them and save them.

There is a whisper in the air that Jackson, Miss., thinks the ADVOCATE ought to be there. And that would not look very unfair if the paper is to remain exclusively religious, for they have two out of three over there. But in that event, it would not take a far-seeing prophet to foretell the future. There would likely be two Advocates dying in the territory where one now badly lives. And then, as David cried, "O my son Absalom! my son, my son Absalom! would God I had died for thee!" so will the three now patronizing Conferences lament the decease of their ADVOCATE. But if the ADVOCATE is to have a secular department which alone can save its life, it seems), then New Orleans is the place for it, by all means. There, and with an ably edited secular department, the church can make a grand success of it, and accomplish much widespread good with it.

It is a well-known and lamentable fact that the secular papers generally contain such a mass of stuff—much of it utterly worthless, and much of it worse than worthless—that too much valuable time is worse than wasted, is misspent in wading through it, by some hunting for something worth reading, and by others to gratify a taste already depraved by it or some other vitiating evil. What a relief it would be to the busy world, and what a salvation to the innocent and unwary, if a secular paper could be furnished them containing nothing but suitable, wholesome and beneficial reading prepared carefully, with the laudable object in view of edifying and bettering the people, and promoting the prosperity and happiness of society! As the seculars are now made up, it seems that either they themselves have very perverted tastes, or think the people have, and it is none of their business to correct them; but to make money by catering to them seems to be their dominating principle. And they do by supplying their readers with such corrupting reading matter that the young are demoralized and the others are corrupted deeper. Then what is to become of society if the church don't interpose better newspapers, in conjunction with the religious, to counteract and remedy this flood of demoralization? Talk about the rum and opium the devil sends out in the same ships in which the church sends out missionaries, by which the good of the one is more than counteracted by the evil of the other! That is bad enough, but that is hardly as a drop in the ocean compared to the evil done by secular newspapers that flood the country at home, and counteract the preaching, etc. The exclusively religious papers don't, and never will, reach the masses that need better reading than that alone they get in the seculars. Only a small proportion of the church members can take the religious papers; but if a suitable secular department was added to them, then, thus united, they would reach and revolutionize the people. And even the seculars would have to change, or "Othello would lose his occupation."

D. W. FOSTER.

Plaisance, La.

Missionary Debt—Mississippi Conference.

Dear brethren, please read the following letter received by me last night:

Dear Brother: Enclosed find $2 on missionary debt from myself and wife. We would like to send more, and will, perhaps, do so later on. I have received only $52 this year on my salary, and I have given, or paid, or advanced about $125 to the support of the [work]; but we feel like we must do something to help pay the missionary debt.

The name of the writer is withheld because neither he nor his good wife would like to see their names appended in print to the letter. God knows who they are, and they are precious in his sight. His Spirit abides with them and blesses them, not only in their labors, but also in their own hearts, and is leading them onward and upward. May "the everlasting arms" be over underneath and about them!

T. L. MELLEN,
Sol. for Miss. Conf.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. Geo. H. Thompson, Rose Hill, Miss., Sept. 23: "Our protracted meetings have all been held. God has graciously blessed us. The meetings have resulted in about one hundred conversions and reclamations; forty-three have joined the church—only one by letter. Continually I hear of souls being converted during the still hours of night, or in the fields, or in the woods. God's Spirit is in our midst."

Rev. Henry E. Partridge, St. Tammany Camp Ground, Sept. 25: "A glorious meeting. Holiness has the right of way. The power of the Holy Ghost is marked and wonderful. A number of bright conversions and some sky-blue sanctifications. Many seekers for pardon and heart purity. The work goes on. The New Orleans contingent in the thick of the fight with shouts of glory. Salvation's rolling on."

Rev. N. M. Clark, Binnsville, Miss., Sept. 14: "We closed a meeting at this place (Binnsville) last night, which resulted in much good. Twenty-five professed conversion, thirteen were added to our church, a number of backsliders were reclaimed, and many of the members were quickened. Two prayer meetings organized—one for young men and one for ladies. Good Service rendered by the church. To God be all the glory."

Rev. I. T. Reames, Girard, La., Aug. 27: "We have just closed a ten-days' meeting at Little Creek, about ten miles from this place. We were assisted by Rev. C. F. Staples, who rendered very earnest and efficient service. Results about as follows: Nine professed the blessing of conversion, six united with the church, and the membership was graciously revived. Truly 'it was good to be there.' We hope in the near future to send in similar reports from other appointments on our circuit. Brethren, pray for us."

Rev. C. M. Crossley, Brookhaven circuit, Mississippi Conference, Sept. 20: "We have just closed our protracted meetings for this year. Have had thirty-three accessions up to date, with some very bright conversions; many reclamations. Our work is in a very good condition, spiritually. We hope to be able to make a fair report at Conference. Can not see the end as yet; will do the best we can. Bros. T. A. Luster, H. P. and B. W. Lewis, C. D. Cecil and R. Havers have our thanks for their untiring zeal and faithful preaching. To God be the glory."

Rev. Robt. P. Howell, Haynesville, La., Sept. 12: "We have held six protracted meetings on the Haynesville circuit. Bro. M. C. Manly assisted me in five of them, preaching to the edification of all. Results: Twenty-five or thirty conversions and reclamations, one clear sanctification (with many more seeking the experience), sixteen accessions, ten or twelve family altars erected, church generally revived, some new prayer meetings started, Sunday-schools revived, finances well up, considering the stringency of money. The ADVOCATE is in favor with our people. I have not heard a word against the 'late present management' in my circuit."

Rev. W. T. Griffin, P. C., Terry circuit, Mississippi Conference, Sept. 23: "During the Summer we have held meetings on our work at Spring Ridge, Forest Hill and Byram. The Holy Ghost came down at each place, and many were converted; the churches greatly revived. The preaching was plain and practical, and accompanied with power. Many were made to rejoice. The greatest revivals held here for years. Thirty-five accessions, making fifty-seven since July 1. One Sunday-school and two prayer meetings organized, making four of each on the circuit. We are indebted to Drs. Bethea and West and W. W. Morse for much-appreciated help."

Rev. N. B. Harmon, Long Beach, Miss., Sept. 25: "A wonderful revival is sweeping over this town. Sunday, Sept 17, at 11 A. M., while the pastor was preaching from Matt. xi, 23, the Holy Spirit fell on the preacher and people, and eight glorious conversions was the result. The Lord having indicated that it was time, we protracted the services, with my father, Rev. J. W. Harmon, to assist. Results: Up to present writing twenty-four secessions and twenty conversions. Not a dry-eyed conversion; penitential tears accompanied conviction. The meeting continues. Two Roman Catholics converted and joined the Methodist Church. Praise the Lord!"

Rev. J. G. Cammack, Summit charge, Sept. 13: "We have had two gracious meetings in this charge recently. The third Sunday in August we commenced a meeting at Bogue Chitto, which lasted a week. Had Bro. A. F. Watkins, of Jackson, with us three days. We had a meeting of great power. Results: One secession and, I think, several conversions. We had an unconverted church membership there—only one family altar, and none to pray in public. We had a baptism of the Holy Ghost to come down on the church, and before the meeting closed there were thirty-two that would talk or pray in public, and several family altars erected; a young men's prayer meeting organized, also a ladies' prayer meeting. We held another meeting at Johnson Station, Sept. 3-10. We were assisted here by Rev. W. T. Griffin, of the Mississippi Conference; H. A. Gallin, a student of Millsaps College, and R. C. Bethea, of the local ranks. Our meeting here was accompanied with the most wonderful power and presence of the Holy Ghost I ever witnessed. Results: The membership of the church wonderfully quickened, many conversions, and fourteen secessions. One or two nights nearly everybody stayed till after eleven o'clock praising God. We are moving onward."

Rev. Samuel S. Bogan, P. C., Cane River circuit, Sept. 20: "Our meeting at Provencal closed Thursday night, Sept. 7, after ten days' services. Bro. Whatley was with me throughout the meeting, and his preaching was with power, to the edification and comfort of believers, and mighty in the pulling down of the strongholds of Satan. The town was certainly shaken up, and the work done, I think, will last. The visible results are as follows: Church revived and put to work, organized a good Sunday-school, a weekly prayer meeting put in operation, several children baptized, and two accessions to the church. It is with pleasure that we inform the ADVOCATE and our many friends that the First M. E. Church of Provencal is now nicely finished, all but paint and bell, and it is a time of rejoicing with us, in that we no longer have to worship in a schoolhouse and dancing-hall. Our good brother, J. T. Carson, deserves a great deal of credit for his energy and push-ahead in this good work. May the Lord richly bless him in that which is good in this life, and give him the reward of the righteous in the life to come! I closed my meeting at Melrose last Friday night. Results good; one accession, and a weekly prayer meeting and Sunday-school put in operation. There has been a union Sunday-school organized at Marvin's Chapel. They have decided to use the International literature. Bros. Murphy and Gaskins assisted me at Melrose. The Lord has greatly blessed us. To him be all the praise. Blessed be his holy name!"

Continued on Second Page.

BETTER THINGS.

BY GEORGE MACDONALD.

Better to smell the violet cool
Than to sip the glowing wine;
Better to hark a hidden brook
Than watch a diamond shine.

Better the love of a gentle heart
Than beauty's favors proud;
Better the rose's living seed
Than roses in a crowd.

Better to love in loneliness
Than bask in love all day;
Better the fountain in the heart
Than the fountain by the way.

Better sit at a master's feet
Than thrill a listening state;
Better suspect that thou art proud
Than be sure that thou art great.

Better to walk the realm unseen
Than watch the hour's event;
Better the "Well done" at the last
Than the air with shoutings rent.

Brookhaven District.

Three new churches are rapidly approaching completion in the bounds of this district. The one at Hazlehurst only wants a few finishing touches to have it ready for dedication, which will take place on Oct 23, by Bishop Galloway. I am authorized to extend a cordial invitation to the ministry, especially to ex-pastors, to be present. It is in most elegant taste, beautiful, substantial and modern in its architectural construction; an edifice of which the pastor, congregation and citizens feel a laudable pride. Dr. Cooper deserves, and his people accord to him, all praise for the indefatigable zeal with which he devoted himself to its erection. The parsonage, which is one of the very best in the Conference, has been newly painted, so that everything will be in apple-pie order for the Annual Conference, which is to meet there in December.

Strange to say, Tylertown, though long known as the educational center of that section of country, never had a church-building in it until this year. All denominations worshiped in the school-building. But now we have a neat and comfortable house of worship—all complete, except the warming apparatus, which will, we think, soon be in place. It is beautiful for situation, being located on a commanding eminence overlooking the entire town. It is the delight of the whole community, especially the Methodists. We only need now a good parsonage at Tylertown to make China Grove one of our most desirable circuits.

Terry Methodism also is rejoicing in the privilege of worshiping in a church that they can call their own. Bro. W. T. Griffin, the young pastor, has won for himself the highest esteem and gratitude of his people by the indomitable energy, tact and gentle suavity through which he projected the plans, collected the materials and erected this house of the Lord under difficulties that seemed insurmountable. The edifice is a gem of beauty, embowered in a little forest of superb oaks. It is located in the center of town. The lot is large, having ample room left for a parsonage, which is to follow. Terry is the most important center between Jackson and Crystal Springs. We rejoice in the large increase of the membership and the establishment given to the church in that place.

Bro. J. G. Cammack, the industrious pastor in Summit, is busily arranging to begin work on their church. And we are agitating the subject of building a new church also in Magnolia, that will meet the demands of the growing congregation, and that will be in keeping with their advance movements in other respects.

The spiritual state of the district is far in advance of the two years past. There have been revivals in almost every charge, and most of them have been attended with unusual power and a large increase of membership. Rev. L. J. Jones, of Pleasant Grove circuit, reported eighty-four accessions for the third quarter, Terry near sixty; Adams, Gallman, Caseyville, China Grove and Brookhaven circuits have had large ingatherings; Magnolia, Summit, Bowerton and Beauregard have had fine meetings; Holmesville and Topisaw have been quickened and built up in the membership, but few accessions; Lebanon is growing. The stations, Crystal Springs, Hazlehurst, Brookhaven and McComb, are growing stronger every year; Wesson, depressed for awhile, is now enjoying a gracious harvest of souls and a general warming up of the membership; Johnson and Bogue Chitto have been greatly refreshed; Providence has had her troubles, and the pastor, Bro. F. M. Williams, received painful and, it was feared, serious injuries by a fall from his horse in August, but he is up and at work again. I met him, last Sabbath, at Georgetown, and was happy to see him cheerful and full of the Spirit. What a delightful country and people we have at Georgetown!

Finances, I suppose, are fully up with other districts of similar grade. We have felt the stringency of the times sorely, yet the supplies furnished our pastors from the barns and larders of the people, where money could not be commanded, have helped to modify the financial pressure, so that no preacher's family have suffered for the necessities of life. Really, there are few among the industrious farmers of this country who are not living comfortably. Corn, potatoes, peas, molasses and vegetables are plentiful in the country, and many are raising their own meat. Very nearly all farmers are turning their attention more to stock raising than formerly.

Whitworth College has opened well, despite the cry of hard times. There are between sixty and seventy boarders in the college, besides the local patronage, with the prospect of an increase that will bring it up to the standard of last year. We know of no college for young ladies that affords superior advantages to Whitworth. The location, with its splendid health record, is all that could be desired. The grounds are shaded by a choice variety of trees, and well sodded in grass, giving to the campus a delightful view. The buildings are commodious, well planned, substantially built, and every way adapted to the demands of a first-class college. The faculty is up to the highest standard. The elegant buildings, the beautiful grounds, with the highly cultured and experienced faculty, give an atmosphere of refined attractiveness that can not fail to inspire the young lady who has any appreciation of the superior advantages of education.

R. S. WOODWARD.

Notes from Vanderbilt.

In spite of the widespread financial stringency, which has pressed so heavily upon our people recently, Vanderbilt reopened under very propitious circumstances on Sept. 20. There has been but little falling off among the Academic, while the rolls of the Biblical and University Schools have increased somewhat. It seems to be the general opinion among students, faculties and friends that this session begins a new era in the life of our institution. Up to this time twenty years have been spent in laying the foundations, deep and broad, of a great educational centre; this work has been accomplished, and accomplished in such a way as to confer undying honor upon the noble minds that conceived the plan, and the brave hands that wrought its execution in the well-equipped buildings and beautiful grounds which make our campus the admiration of all visitors. The men who nursed the infant University, and guided it with their wise counsels in the days of its tender growth, will ever be revered as fathers, and the day shall never come when their names will fail to excite the deepest gratitude. But the child has attained its majority; the foundation is worthy of a noble superstructure; new builders must take up and carry forward with accelerated momentum the work so auspiciously begun. Self-centering concentration must now give place to expansive development. Vanderbilt has been growing slowly, but surely; now the period of manhood has come and the weaknesses and fears of youth must be thrown off; the arena of life, vigorous, hearty, real university life, must be entered. The opportunity—golden in its value, most inviting in its prospects—of becoming the intellectual and moral Mecca of the South presents itself to Vanderbilt to-day.

But, as the new chancellor said in his inaugural address, it will take gold to realize the splendid possibilities that are before our Southern Methodist University. Vanderbilt, with an income of but little more than sixty thousand dollars per annum, is forced to compete with universities that have as their yearly stipend sums varying from one hundred to eight and nine hundred thousand. What the outcome of the race will be, unless some steps are taken to increase the endowment, anyone that knows the power of money may readily imagine. Fortunate it is that there is a man at the head of the University upon whom all look with expectant hope. By his enthusiastic labors so far he has thoroughly vindicated the wisdom of the Board in choosing him for the high office of the chancellorship. Dr. Kirkland has gone to work with a determination that will surely inspire others to do all in their power for the advancement of the cause he represents. He has issued a stirring call to the citizens of Nashville for the sum of fifty thousand dollars to found a professorship, and pledges two others from outside sources if this sum is raised.

When we look at the history of Vanderbilt, it is pitiful to see that, though it has boasted to be the property of the Southern Methodists, very little substantial backing has been given by them to this boast. Aside from individual gifts in the form of scholarships and aids to the loan fund, very little support has been received from any other source other than the benefactions of the Vanderbilts. It is time that our church, as a church, should awake to the obligation that rests upon her and the supreme opportunities that are before her. Southern Methodism, as a body, accepted the gift of this University, and when she did so she was put in possession of a trust for whose faithful keeping and promoting she is to be brought into judgment. Why not have a general revival of our church conscience in this particular? There is enough money among our membership to put all our Conference colleges on a firm financial basis, and yet spare sufficient to give Vanderbilt an endowment large enough to make it the peer of any institution in the land. It is not a question of where is the fund, but how shall it be secured, that disturbs educational projectors to-day. The best appeal in a collection of any kind is that which comes throbbing with the personal enthusiasm of one who is thoroughly persuaded of the worthfulness of his object. We know that our new chancellor, in the calls that he is going to make upon the church and the friends of higher education in the South, will supply the zeal and exhibit most eloquently the grounds upon which it rests. We trust those who hear the call will respond with as much earnestness and willingness as it deserves.

Aside from the inaugural address of Dr. Kirkland, which was replete with interesting facts, and brilliant with glowing prospects for Vanderbilt, the exercises of this year's opening were made the more interesting and profitable by the presence of Dr. Moses D. Hoge, of Richmond, Va., who preached the sermon for the occasion. His discourse was wonderfully charming in its simplicity; nothing ornate, nothing extravagant; yet there was neither coldness nor stiffness; it was the gospel spoken from a heart that felt the power and peace of the Christ-life. To hear this veteran of nearly a half-century of arduous service talking with such ease and force concerning the great theme of the personal Christ was a powerful object-lesson to some of us younger preachers, who strive so hard after "effect." The sermon of this great Presbyterian and the delightfully instructive talk he gave the following day will long remain fresh in the mind and hearts of the boys of Wesley Hall.

TEECEE.

The Conscious Experience.

Mental science teaches that all proof rests ultimately in consciousness. This must be the basis of all evidence, the judgment hall whence the final verdict is rendered. Take, for example and illustration, the well-known geometrical axiom, "Things that are equal to the same thing are equal to one another." Here is an universally received fact. Any mind capable of apprehending it must receive it. It can not be false. It must be true. Consciousness, the knowing faculty, so decides, and from its decision there can be no appeal. Its diction is final. But some man possessed of ordinary intelligence, with the light of reason in his countenance, and a look of pity in his eyes, tells us this axiom is all wrong, but maintains very sturdily, "That things equal to the same thing are equal to more than one another." Now, the question is not as to what we shall receive—consciousness has already settled it for us, but as to how we shall receive this latter statement. I maintain it can not be done by a well-ordered mind. This seems to be ground sufficiently strong upon which to rest any doctrine of the church. But we have another witness, and these two agree in one. We have the Holy Scriptures "as the only rule and sufficient rule of our faith and practice." These are infallible, nothing can be received as true among us not contained therein. Speaking of a certain doctrine, a young minister said, "I can not find it in the Bible, but my father has the experience." I ask in all due deference, Does the Holy Spirit indite one doctrine to the consciousness of man, and another in the written Word? Or does the human soul have an experience not found in the Word of God?

I want every doctrine taught in the Bible preached and taught among us, and no matter how pure a man's life may be, or what may he the fruits of his teaching in mere numbers, is the doctrine he teaches of God, or does it rest alone in his experience?

S. J. DAVIES.

"Holiness of Heart."

I wish to say that I am much pleased with some things said in last issue of ADVOCATE by Bro. M. D. Fly. If he had left out that "june hug," etc., I would endorse the whole of his article. Bro. Fly asks this question: "Why all this fuss about holiness or perfect love?" It is not because we do not endorse the doctrine of entire sanctification, but we do not endorse the definition of the term as given by some; nor that it necessarily comes in a second blessing distinct from that of regeneration. We believe that if one submits his will fully to the divine will, that God will accept that individual for Christ's sake, and so change him that he will be enabled to love God with all the heart, and, thus loving God, he will love his neighbor as himself. And to my mind this covers the whole ground of entire sanctification. I am aware of the exhortation, "Go on unto perfection," nor am I unmindful of Peter's "Grow in grace;" but these are not inconsistent with perfect love, for the growing Christian, the sanctified man or woman, loves God to-day with the whole heart, and on to-morrow loves him more and serves him better. Why? Answer—Because he has "grown in grace."

I was much impressed with a letter shown me, the other day, by one of our preachers. The letter was from one of his former parishioners. The brother professed to have obtained the "second blessing." He was exultant; seemed to be dwelling in the immediate presence of the Master; said: "I am happy all the time." "We have family prayers morning and night." "We have a regular cottage prayer meeting." "Sometimes only a few of us present, but God is always with us," etc. I asked the preacher of this man's Christian life prior to his obtaining what he called the second blessing. Was he converted? Answer—"I have heard him often say he would never deny his conversion." Did he seem to enjoy religion? Answer—"No." Was he zealous? Answer—"No." Did he have a family altar? Answer—"No." Said I: "That explains the whole thing. He has now put on the harness and has gone to work in the Master's vineyard, and God is blessing him while in discharge of duty." And no man who will thus put God to the test will go away empty; and, on the other hand, no one failing to discharge his Christian duty need expect the blessing of perfect love.

Another thing many of us object to is this: The spirit of intolerance often shown, and the extravagances of speech sometimes indulged in by so-called "evangelists" of that persuasion. Something like eight years ago I happened to attend service in Wood Street Methodist Church, Water Valley, Miss. The pastor had one of these holding a meeting for him. He would swagger from side to side of the rostrum, and in his sermon he said (among a great many things that I did not endorse), "If all the religion in the membership of this church was boiled down to a concentrated extract, you might inject it through a mosquito's leg into a gnat's eye, and it would not make him blink his eye." I involuntarily said to myself: "Shades of John Wesley and Fletcher, what are we coming to?"

In conclusion, I would say I think, with Bro. Fly, we should all strive for the blessing of entire sanctification; and it makes but little difference as to how we obtain it, so we are in possession of it.

B. F. PHILLIPS.

Booneville, Miss., Sept. 11.

Seashore Camp Ground Sunday-School.

On Sept. 24, 1893, we held the closing session of our Summer Sunday-school. We have been carrying on this work every Summer, since the establishment of the camp ground in 1873. The credit of organizing this work belongs to the late indefatigable Sunday-school worker, Hon. W. H. Foster, who, as president of the grounds, saw the possibility of gathering the children together during their Summer sojourn, and keeping them interested in the course of International Bible Lesson Study, so that on their return home they would still be acquainted with the truths taught during their absence, and ready for the quarterly review. The favorable results from year to year have fully demonstrated his wise forethought, and that the leading hand of God was in it all.

In addition to a careful study of the International Bible Lesson, we have annually raised various amounts for the foreign missionary work among the children in China, Japan, Mexico, and Brazil. In this way we have instructed them in methods for raising money for missions, and imparted to them a knowledge of all our missionary fields.

From the very many evidences obtained up to this writing, we feel grateful to God that our labor has not been in vain. During the past four seasons we have been raising money for carrying on Sunday-school work among the children in Brazil, and under the care of Miss S. M. Phillips, in the college in Piracicaba.

This Summer our offerings amount to forty-five dollars, after deducting the cost of literature and other requisites. We opened the school on June 11 with an attendance of twenty. During July and August it averaged 112. Associated with us in the work this Summer were many consecrated and experienced Sunday-school teachers. The following brethren rendered the bulk of the service: Rev. D. L. Mitchel, of the Adult Bible Class; Miss Minnie Bleker, of the Lambs of the Fold, and as organist; Mrs. F. G. Hoouit, of the Pearl Seekers; Mrs. C. Keener, of the Lilies of the Valley; Miss Mary Werlein, of the Children of Faith, and as organist; Miss Maggie Bancroft, of the Gleaners; Miss Addie Mitchel, of the Bow of Promise; Mr. J. H. Lakin, of the Crown Jewels; Mrs. E. Price Williams, of the Always Ready; Mrs. J. A. Grace, of the Soldiers of the Cross; Mrs. J. H. Campman, of the Followers of Jesus; Mr. A. S. Daniels, of the Standard Bearers; Mrs. Jas. Bothick, of the Pillars of the Temple.

Miss Mamie Bleke, of the Lilies of the Valley, was awarded the first prize as the banner scholar for missionary offerings. Miss Bettie Werlein, of the Bow of Promise, received the second prize.

The offerings from the various classes are as follows:

Adult Bible Class	$ 7 00
Lambs of the Fold	6 29
Lilies of the Valley	5 20
Soldiers of the Cross	3 73
Pearl Seekers	3 05
Followers of Jesus	2 85
Standard Bearers	2 60
Crown Jewels	2 50
Children of Faith	1 75
Bow of Promise	1 62
Always Ready	1 36
Gleaners	1 35
Pillars of the Temple	60
Bible Readers	40
Total	$40 30
Individual subscriptions	16 70
Grand total	$57 00

For what has been done we give God the glory, and pray his blessing upon the work of our hands.

E. P. MACKIE, Supt.

Louisiana Holiness Association

For the promotion of scriptural holiness, as taught in Mr. Wesley's "Plain Account of Christian Perfection," will be held in Gibbsland, La., commencing Thursday, Dec. 7, 1893. All our brethren and sisters will find a cordial welcome.

Homes will be provided for those who can come by writing to Rev. R. Parvin, Gibbsland, La. Let prayer be made for this meeting, and that all who attend may go out with the divine baptism to "spread scriptural holiness over these lands."

T. B. WHITE, Pres.

Arcadia, La., Sept. 30.

In dreamy contemplation sat
A melancholy owl;
He had a most impressive blink
And awe-inspiring scowl.

Some honest wisdom had the bird
And, like some men to-day,
He showed his greatest cleverness
By what he didn't say.

FROM THE WORK.

Continued from First Page.

Rev. J. F. Wynn, Pineville, La., Sept. 23: "Have just closed a week's meeting at Slash Bayou. Conversions and sanctifications; ten received into the church; about thirty penitents at the altar last night of the meeting. Bro. Walker has labored successfully with me in four meetings."

Rev. J. H. Evans, Williamsburg, Miss., Sept. 18: "I have held four protracted meetings with good results. First was Bethel Church, assisted by Bros. Brown and Tylor. Local results: Twelve accessions to the church and several conversions, and the membership revived, and set out for better work. My next meeting was Williamsburg Church, Bro. Brown, local, and Bro. White, of the Mt. Carmel circuit, and Bro. Stewart, of the Baptist Church. The Spirit was with us in great power, and a gracious revival was the result; twenty accessions to the church and many converted. Next was Oakohay Church, with Bro. Partridge, our efficient presiding elder, to do the most of the preaching. Good revival under the circumstances; some trouble in the church. Eight accessions and several conversions. The next was at Good Hope, with Bro. White, of Mt. Carmel, to do the preaching; but he did it and did it well. The result was twenty-two accessions to the church and a gracious revival; everybody happy. I was taken sick on Sunday; left the meeting with Bro. White Monday night, and am just able to write you this. I pronounce my blessing upon all the good brothers that helped me preach; also the laymen. May God bless them in all their work! Pray for us! We have received into the church this year up to date sixty-three members, baptized thirty-four adults and twelve children."

Rev. H. P. Lewis, Caseyville, Miss., Sept. 20: "When I reported last we were in the midst of a meeting at New Hope, Brookhaven circuit, C. M. Crossley in charge. Results: Twenty-one added to the church; several conversions. On the third Sunday in August we began a meeting at Sweet Water, Caseyville charge, which resulted in thirty or more conversions and reclamations, ten additions to the church, and one of the best meetings ever held at that place. Bros. Breland, of Wesson; Luster, of Holmesville; Crossley, of Brookhaven circuit; B. W. Lewis, of Lebanon, did most of the preaching, and our people say they never had better preaching at a protracted meeting. It was all plain, practicable, pointed, earnest. God bless these young brethren. On Tuesday, Aug. 29, I started to Waterholes, China Grove charge, to help Bro. Miller. There I first saw light nearly fifty-eight years ago, and near there I was born again over thirty-eight years ago. What changes have taken place around the old, old homestead during the last fifty years! A new generation of people have grown up. Old Uncle Milton Jones is the only old resident left, and he, poor man, has quit the church. We had a good meeting. It was pleasant to be there. Bro. Miller is in favor with his people. I went from Waterholes to Holmesville, where Bro. Luster is holding the fort. There we had a good meeting. Bro. Luster is doing well. This has been one of the happiest Summers of my life. I have been eight weeks holding and helping in protracted meetings. Nearly all our meetings have been crowned with signal success."

Rev. R. A. Burroughs: "Water Valley in a great stir. A great revival began in this place on Sept. 10, and at the time of this writing (Sept. 23) the good work goes on. Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of Alabama, has been here all the while doing the preaching; and truly we can say that it was done in demonstration of the Spirit and of power. The old people say that this is the greatest revival ever held in Water Valley. It was wonderful indeed to see the interest as it began with the very first service, and continued to grow every day, until every body in town and for miles in the surrounding country came under the influence of the Spirit to a greater or less degree. The merchants on their own motion closed their houses of business at the morning and evening services—a thing never known before in Water Valley. All the railroad men and the people working in the different factories were greatly moved. The great preacher held special service in the work-shops and factory for the special benefit of the people there. There were, at least, a thousand people waiting on the ministry of the Word at each service. I have seen as many as 75 persons at the altar for prayers at one time, and from 1 to 35 conversions at a single service. Up to date there have been more than 200 conversions and, at least, one hundred have given their hand for church membership and still the work goes on; will continue until Sunday night. The preacher (Rev. W. M. McIntosh) is indeed a great man. Many have been the supposed reasons of his wonderful success. Some say that it is his earnestness; others say he is so plain that the smallest child can understand him and others say he is so gentle; but I say his power lies in the fact that he spends all his time when not in the service on his knees in earnest prayer. His power comes from God in answer to prayer. This is the fourth meeting he has held in my district, and now I am fully prepared to say that I had rather have him than any evangelist I ever saw. His stay in my home has been a great blessing to my family. May God bless him in his work!"

Rev. A. J. Foster, P. C., Pittsboro, Miss., Sept. 21: "We have just closed the greatest meeting at Pittsboro, Miss. I ever attended. Joe Jones came on Monday, the eleventh instant, and left us the twentieth instant, preaching in all twenty-five sermons; and they were sermons in power and demonstration of the Spirit. They were not thumb-paper talks, but sermons preached about one hour each. There was never such a meeting held in this country. There have been already, and will be together, at least 200 accessions to the church. Some of these are among the oldest men of this country. Many, many backslidden members of the church were reclaimed. Those who were live and active members were strengthened and built up in the faith of the gospel. He put dynamite under whisky, dancing, gluttony, laziness, self-indulgence, and all kindred vices and blew them up root and branch. Education, supporting the ministry, paying debts, being true to God, the church, their families, their country and to themselves—all received their portion in due season. We laughed and cried and shouted. I didn't do anything but laugh and shout and cry during the last days of the meeting. Some got mad, but they would come back to hear Bro. Jones preach the next time, or soon thereafter. But I noticed that the pure, the good, never got mad at him; only those who were hit. My wife and little son hear nearly every sermon, and she now says she would not recall a word he said. To the vulgar he is vulgar, to the pure he is pure, just like the Bible is. I never heard that blessed old Book expounded as he expounded it. He showed me the deep and blessed things of God as no other man ever did. I write this after having heard Sam Jones a number of times. The greatest preachers on earth, I would write it; and now abideth Sam Jones, Talmage, and Joe Jones, but the greatest of these is Joe Jones. He preaches three times a day, never making a failure, preaching his greatest sermons at the last. Most men can preach once a day. If they preach oftener they make failures. Joe Jones can preach three times a day, eat heartily as often, and lie down at night and fall asleep in fifteen minutes, and snore so loud no one can sleep in the room where he is."

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON.—Oct. 15, 1893.

PREPARED BY REV. A. F. WATKINS.

Justification by Faith.

(Romans v, 1-11.)

GOLDEN TEXT.—"While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans v, 8.)

TOPICAL OUTLINE.—I. The Fruits of Justification (vs. 1-5). II. The Source of Justification (vs. 6-8). III. Inferences from Justification (vs. 9-11).

CENTRAL THOUGHT.—Reconciliation by Christ.

INTRODUCTORY.

The apostle having shown the need of justification, the impossibility of its being accomplished by the works of the law, and the gracious provision for its accomplishment by faith, proceeds in our present lesson to discuss this justification by faith apart from the deeds of the law, in reference to its source and results, and to draw the inferences of greater blessings which will follow to those who are thus reconciled to God by the death of his Son. Justification by faith, so glorious as an end, opens the door for the free gift of all things.

EXPLANATORY.

I.—THE FRUITS OF JUSTIFICATION.

Ver. 1. The word "therefore" refers either to the twenty-fifth verse of the fourth chapter, or to the whole preceding argument contained in the fourth chapter, in which it is shown that justification by faith does not make void the law, but that the Old Testament witnessed to the same great truth in the justification of Abraham by faith. In the Revised Version the words "we have" are changed to "let us have," and many of the best manuscripts are said to favor this reading; but the internal argument seems sufficient to overcome the slight advantage from the manuscripts in favor of the exhortation of the Revised Version, and so decide the matter in favor of the declaration of the Authorized Version. Following the reconciliation with God by the death of his Son, we feel that there is peace between the soul and God, the soul and God's law, and within the soul itself.

Ver. 2. By him, through whom we have peace with God, we have introduction, by faith, into the gracious relation in which we stand, and we rejoice in the hope of entering into the glory which is God's and which his disciples shall share. Whether this glory be the splendor of heaven or the glory of the divine nature, participation therein is the authorized object of filial hope and a promised blessing to believers.

Ver. 3. That men should rejoice or glory in the blessed hope of being partakers of divine glory is not strange, but that they should rejoice in adversity, sorrow, peril, or any other evil, is more difficult of understanding. But the apostle proceeds to explain that tribulation may and often does result in increased spiritual strength, and that the possession of many Christian virtues depends upon the patient endurance of evil and the successful resistance of temptation. Just as the bearing of burdens develops the strength of the body, so the overcoming of evil is promotive of spiritual good.

Ver. 4. The power of steadfast endurance leads to an experimental knowledge of the truth of God's promises, and proves that we are undergoing the helpful changes of a wise spiritual progress, while this in turn confirms in us the hope of finally sharing in the promised glories and blessings that God has promised to his children. So that the very evils to which we are subjected lead us, disciplined and confirmed, to the hope in which we rejoice, as one of the fruits of justification by faith.

Ver. 5. That this hope is not a vain one—one that mocks us—one that will disappoint us—is evident from the fact that the love of God—the foretaste of the joys of heaven and the divine demonstrator of God's truth—is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost, which is given unto us. The conscious experience of a supernatural gift—the inwrought consciousness of God's love for me, is a witness that our joyous hope is well founded and every promise of God to me will be fulfilled.

II.—THE SOURCE OF JUSTIFICATION.

Ver. 6. The confirmation of our hope in the fulfillment of God's promises is found in conscious experience of the love of God for us, shed abroad in our hearts. This love is not only felt in our hearts, but seen in the sacrifice of his Son for us, and to this historical fact Paul now appeals. When we were helpless and ungodly, when neither merit commended nor power compelled, in due time—in the fullness of time—in the hour that divine wisdom and goodness approved—Christ died for us, and his sacrificial death gives outward proof of that love, the inward consciousness of which we have by the Holy Ghost given unto us.

Ver. 7. This verse seems to have been written to answer the possible question of whether or not the death of Christ is an evidence of God's love. Will a man readily die for his fellowman? Would it not be a proof of love to do so? Possibly for a just, a righteous man, one could be found who would lay down his life, or it may be that a good man would have so impressed himself upon his friend that he would be willing to die for him. A man might die for his friend; the world has heard of such devoted action. Always it has been for an exalted character, and always, in men's eyes, the most touching expression of love.

Ver. 8. If death for the best of men is the highest expressive of unselfish love, what shall we say of the love of God for us? God has proved, beyond a doubt or cavil, his love for us, in that while we were sinners—not his friends, but his enemies; not righteous, but deplorably wicked—Christ died for us. Thus the love of God, felt in our hearts and seen in the death of Christ, confirms the hope in which we rejoice.

III.—INFERENCES FROM JUSTIFICATION.

Ver. 9. This two-fold proof of God's love justifies us in the confident belief that other blessings will follow the reconciliation wrought out by the blood of Christ and received by faith on the part of those for whom Christ died. Now, having been accounted righteous by faith in the blood of Christ, how much more confidently we may expect the remission of the penalty for sin and salvation from the wrath of God through him!

Ver. 10. This verse confirms in words of remarkable force and vigor the truths of verse 9. Notice the strength given to the verse by the three antithetical expressions: We were enemies, who have been reconciled by his death; now we are reconciled subjects, who shall be saved by his life. If while we were enemies to God, the death of his Son served to reconcile us to him, how much more now, having thus become reconciled, we shall be gloriously saved through the infinite powers of his endless life! His death reconciled his enemies; his life shall gloriously save his sons.

Ver. 11. Not only are we thus reconciled to God by the death of his Son, and, being saved from the guilt and dominion of sin now, rest in the hope of a glorious salvation in heaven; but through him by whom we receive the atonement we rejoice in God whose love is thus revealed to us. "The kingdom of heaven is righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost."

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.

Jackson, Miss.

If you want a reliable dye that will color an even brown or black, and will please and satisfy you every time, use Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.

Advice to Workingmen.

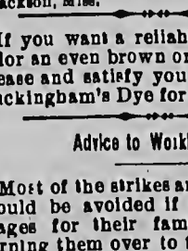
Most of the strikes and labor troubles would be avoided if men used their wages for their families instead of turning them over to the dram-sellers. When fathers drink beer, children cry for bread.

T. V. Powderly speaks thus to his fellow-workmen:

"Had I 10,000,000 tongues and a throat for each tongue, I would say to every man, woman and child here to-night: Throw strong drink aside as you would an ounce of liquid hell. It sears the conscience, it destroys everything it touches. It reaches into the family circle and takes the wife you had sworn to protect and drags her down from her purity into that house from which no decent woman ever goes alive. It induces the father to take the furniture from his house, exchange it for money at the pawn-shop, and spend the proceeds in rum. It damns everything it touches. I have seen it in every city east of the Mississippi River, and I know that the most damning curse to the laborer is that which gurgles from the neck of the bottle. I had rather be at the head of an organization having 100,000 temperate, honest, earnest men, than at the head of an organization of 12,000,000 drinkers, whether moderate or any other kind. Every dime spent in the rum-shop furnishes a paving stone for hell. In one Pennsylvania county in a single year, $17,000,000 was spent for liquor, and it was estimated that $11,000,000 of the amount came from workingmen."

A bushel of corn makes four gallons of whisky, which retails for $16. Out of this the government gets $3, the railroads $1, the manufacturer $4, the vendor $7, the farmer forty cents, and the drinker gets the delirium tremens.

A Veteran's Story



Jos. Hemmerich.

Mr. Joseph Hemmerich, an old soldier, 520 E. 148th St., N. Y. City, writes voluntarily. In 1852, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a struggle of several years in hospitals, was discharged as incurable with Consumption. Doctors said both lungs were affected and he could not live long, but a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get loose, the choking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. He is now in good health and cordially recommends as a blood purifier and tonic medicine, especially to comrades in the G. A. R.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Try a box. 25c.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says it Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	3 102 grains
Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	785-108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.631
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30 476
Magnesia	26 372
Potash	2.322
Soda	6 045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	213.775
Aluminum and Potassio Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80 516
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 083
Silica	6 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

WALL PAPER.

The Spring patterns of Wall Paper are handsomer than ever before, and we are able to offer them to you at prices which are within the reach of all. We believe that anyone buying cheap paper will do better to invest 10, 12½ or 15 cents and buy a gilt paper or a fine blank for the small difference than to invest 5 cents in a cheap blank; but if you want the 5-cents paper, we have it and will be glad to sell it.

MATTINGS,

In novel and dainty designs, which can not be had elsewhere, as we control our own private patterns. Prices from $5 per roll of 40 yards, and up

LACE CURTAINS,

Rugs, Screens, Easels, Oil Cloth, Window Shades and Upholstering Goods.

ESTIMATES

Given for papering in the country under the direction of our foreman and with our own experienced corps of men.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp Street, New Orleans.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,

184 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

WANTED.

An A. M. graduate, having twenty years' successful experience in managing large institutions of learning, wants to lease desirable school or college property. Parties interested please address

"COLLEGE PRESIDENT,"

Care of ADVOCATE.

Advertising in England, European Continent, Etc.

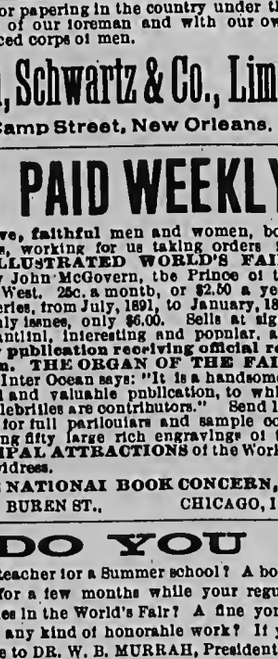
SELL'S

ADVERTISING AGENCY, Limited.

Capital, $250,000. Henry Sell, Manager (editor and founder of "Sell's World's Press").

Full particulars regarding British or European Advertising, sample papers, rates, etc., at the London Office, 167-168 Fleet street, or at New York Office, 21 Park Row, Ground Floor.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

$525

Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2 Bond St., New York City.

CANCER

PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger.....6:55 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00p.m
Chic. limited...8:40 p.m	Chic. limited 12 01 n'n
Sunday ex.....8:30 p.m	Sunday ex.....7:35a m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex..7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex. 8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 8:20 p.m
Local.....10:05 a.m	Local.....3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and T'kt Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p.m	8:35 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	7:55 a.m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p.m	10:00 a.m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

FAT PEOPLE

To reduce your weight SURELY use Willard's Obesity Pills and lose 15 pounds a month. No injury to the health. No interference with business or pleasure. NO STARVING. They build up and improve the general health, beautify the complexion and leave NO WRINKLES. Lucy Anderson, 54 Auburn St., Cambridge, Mass., writes: Three bottles of your Obesity Pills reduced my weight from 235 pounds to 190 and I never felt better in all my life. I am much pleased with the result, and shall do all I can to help you. Our patrons include Physicians, Bankers, Lawyers, and leaders of Society. Our goods are not sold in drug stores; all orders are supplied direct from our office. Price per package $2.00 or three packages for $5.00 by mail prepaid. Particulars (sealed) 4cts. ALL CORRESPONDENCE CONFIDENTIAL.

WILLARD REMEDY CO., BOSTON, MASS.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

"A" Grade, $37.50. "A" Grade, $45.

"A" Grade, $150.

QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

The only Harmony book ever written, that can be readily understood by the average student.

GOODRICH'S Analytical Harmony.

(A new Theory of Composition, from the Composer's standpoint.)

Clearer and more helpful than anything I have seen ARTHUR FOOTE.

A welcome relief from our present difficulties. WM. H. SHERWOOD.

Invaluable to teachers and pupils. EMIL LIEBLING.

It will be eminently successful. CLARENCE EDDY.

Goodrich has solved the great problem. B. MOLLENHAUER.

Delightfully clear. HARRISON WILD.

Plainly expressed and easily understood. JOS. H. GITTINGS.

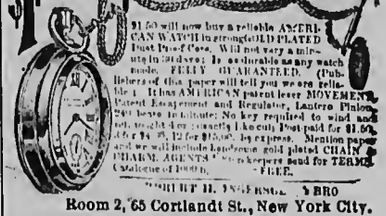
A COMPANION VOLUME TO "MUSICAL ANALYSIS."

—PRICE, $2.00.—

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

Cincinnati—New York—Chicago.

$150 AMERICAN WATCH



$1.50 will now buy a reliable AMERICAN WATCH in nickel-silver PLATED Dust Proof Case. Will not vary a minute in 30 days; is as durable as any watch made. FULLY GUARANTEED. (Publishers of this paper will tell you we are reliable.) It has AMERICAN patent lever MOVEMENT, Patent Escapement and Regulator, Lantern Pinion, 24 hours in latitude; No key required to wind and set, as it is set exactly like our $150 Watch. Sent by express for $1.50, 6 for $8, 12 for $15.00, by express. Mention paper and we will include handsome gold plated CHAIN. To PHARM. AGENTS: Or as keepers send for TERMS. Catalogue of 1000 Articles FREE.

ARTHUR H. SWEETSER & BRO.

Room 2, 65 Cortlandt St., New York City.

A NEW

UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Chart of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address postal to him and receive circulars free.

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D. Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED

Guaranteed in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pages. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

B. & S. BUSINESS COLLEGE,

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Superior advantages. Send postal for circulars.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL,

Petersburg, Va.

The twenty-ninth annual session of this school for boys begins MONDAY, October 2nd. Thorough preparation for University of Virginia, Yale, Harvard, United States military and naval academies, and all the best technical schools. Full staff. For catalogue, address W. Gordon McCabe, Head Master.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

55th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $236.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight Paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM.

The only practicable way to reach

CATARRH

thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail.

DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA.

SKIN DISEASES

Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion, Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N.Y.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING

CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Improved Church BELLS. PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free.

Christian Advocate

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorised Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. J. M. Beard, CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, October 12, 1893.

The Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE will hold its annual meeting at 112 Camp St., Oct. 25, at 10:30 A. M.

In the Independent, of Oct. 5, there is a lengthy symposium including such writers as D. L. Moody, T. L. Cuyler, Lucy Stone, Galusha Grow, and H. L. Dawes, on the ever-new old subject, "Is the world growing better?" Without exception, they testify in the affirmative, and, more astonishing still, in a sort of appendix to the subject. Rev. A. D. Mayo, A. M., of Boston, Mass., gravely assures us that the South is growing better, and furnishes many startling proofs in support of this view. If the former may be regarded as optimistic for New England, what shall be said of the latter?

We like Bro. W. B. Lewis' article in another column. It has the right ring about it, and is a solemn warning to the fanatical opposers of entire sanctification. Methodists, and especially Methodist theologians, can not afford even to seem to advocate compromise of this great doctrine. There is not among us a man of learning and versed in church history who, if asked what more than all other things both distinguished the rise of Methodism and gave complexion to its doctrinal teaching, would not be compelled to reply, the second blessing or Pentecost theory of entire sanctification. It may not, it need not, be our shibboleth, but it is our distinguishing badge, and must be the motto displayed on our banners and our war cry, in this as in former ages. All the talk against this view is senseless logomachy.

Bishop Haygood, in the last Quarterly Review (which, by the way, is a bright number just from the press), has a strong article on "The Chief Characteristic of the Century," which he asserts is the mission impulse. In this he is undoubtedly correct; but he is much less a prophet than Wesley was when he asserted, "The world is my parish," in avowing that John Wesley had only twilight views of the great coming age. Wesley was a missionary in his own youth, and had founded prosperous missions on two continents before his death. But Wesley's mission movement was so great an improvement on the machine methods of his cotemporaries that they were to be pentecostal in character, and kindle from heart to heart, as well as from nation to nation. Coke, his friend and companion, was its true embodiment; and if he could have lived a score or more of years in conducting those flaming mission campaigns, which had already transformed the Western field through the populous countries of the East, the map of missions, as surveyed by us, would, no doubt, be totally changed in many of its aspects. Altogether, with this writer, we feel encouraged by the breadth of the mission work spread before our view, but we have many doubts when we contemplate its depths and apparent lack of the miracle-working element. Ezekiel's vision of the gospel sea represents its abundance as partaking of both the perpendicular and horizontal quality.

The ADVOCATE to subscribers and renewals from now until Jan. 1, 1895, for $2.

The Blessedness of Giving.

The Lord himself proceeds on the plan of action that he commends to the disciples in the words: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." This is seen in the constancy of his gifts. They are never intermitted, and as a great train of supplies loaded with necessities and luxuries, with blessings from above and from beneath, roll through the circling seasons to both nourish and refresh the spirits of men. And also in their beauty and richness, for he is a bestower of "good and perfect gifts." In contrast with our parsimony which spares the least, and the most despised, He imparts to us not only the precious things of his store, but the inestimable and divine. We give occasionally and grudgingly, lest our fullness should be wasted; He constantly and joyfully, as one in a rapture of bestowing both happiness and the sublime objects which create it. We give that which hangs loosely upon us, as pennies or outworn raiment; He not only the uttermost of his possessions, but the innermost of his heart-treasures. We are apt in our reflections upon the great act or fact of atonement to dwell much on the pain of sacrifice experienced by the Father in the gift of his Son, and not at all on the joy that cancelled it as entirely as a sunburst does the mists of morning. The grief came and looked on there, indeed!—but the joy of the great salvation mounted the throne of divine emotion for a reign of epicycles. In another phase of the same subject and nearer to our own plane the sorrow of the cross was brief as a sun eclipse, and that age-long rapture ensued so fondly dwelt upon by the seers of Scripture as the "joy of the Lord." The Apostle St. Paul experienced the same joy in his measure and commended it to others, saying to his beloved Philippians, "And I if I be offered upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, joy, and rejoice with you all. For the same cause also do ye joy, and rejoice with me."

The pain of sacrifice, both in giving and doing, the Savior taught by precept and example, is but the birth-throe to the age of blessing that follows. The agony of a moment, he said in explanation, is immediately forgotten for joy that a man is born. The item of sacrifice expresses life in its lowest form and degree, that of joy or triumph in its highest. The sorrow of the one experience, life bordering on mortality; the joy of the other, life flushed with the atmospheres of divinity. The early confessors knew the abiding sweetness of the cross, as well as its fleeting accident of sorrow, and were, therefore, ambitious to die in the flames. They wanted, like Mr. Holdfast, not only to plant their steps in the footprints of the Redeemer; but they coveted also to rest their heads on the same agony upon which he meekly laid his. And with one voice, and in a fire-wrapt procession reaching from the plain of Dura to that of Smithfield, and from the inquisition of Babylon to that of Rome, they passed out of the world testifying that Jesus and his consolations were with them in the hottest flame. We die to live. Life comes that way. And the joy is much more than the sorrow, as life is more than death. That spectacle of the cross reveals to us not the defeat, but the triumph of sacrifice. There on its rude timbers I think it must have been that Jesus, faint from loss of blood, murmured, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," and John, bending forward, caught the golden sentence, ready minted for the highest denomination of Christian currency, and passed it on from glowing heart to heart until it came to Paul, quick-witted to discover the needs of the great future age, and chosen to be our mentor. This text is one of two gospel appendices that were designed not only to strike the proud world with awe, but as scimetar blows to wound beyond hope of recovery the root of all evil; the other being the judgment upon Ananias and Sapphira. It is the golden rule put into negotiable form, and so adapted to the practical needs of the race that only a heathen man or an infidel could reject it. All Christians admit its force and beauty, and bind it to their hearts as a precious legacy of their dying and ascending Lord.

But if a man does not give his poor, pitiful possessions, only less perishable than the life of which they are the merest artificial supports, how shall he persuade himself in the teeth of that obstinate denial that he has given his life?

A Muddle.

The hardest-worked man in the community is the Methodist preacher. The poorest-paid is the same drudge. This results partly from unholy design and partly from want of system and inexcusable negligence. The number of people who would sneak out of a bargain if the chance presented itself, are not few even in the church, and, like the poor, the opportunity is always offering itself.

First, the member gets himself assessed low, if not the lowest; then he scales his assessment; and finally he defers payment until his other debts and obligations are met, when he has nothing to pay with. Or, in view of hard times, or the quality of service rendered, like a free American as he is, he repudiates altogether. He took a vow, it is true, and the whole philosophy of Christianity is founded upon individual liberality and personal self-sacrifice; but the Judas quality which is in the average Christian we fear, as well as man, constrains him to forget the latter, and the Ananias the former. Having the carnal nature, he is a dead-beat, of course, and undertakes the distinguished role of ascending to heaven through ranks of saints and martyrs on a free pass. We regret to say that he is the majority, too, and that there are not good men enough in the church to put him out. This is one phase of the trouble.

Another is that there is nobody either to remind Mr. Delinquent of neglected duty, or to present him a bill for arrearages or dues. The steward is a figure-head in nine cases out of ten, and very often in the tenth he is an unmitigated example of stinginess, or of snobbish devotion to popular rights and a free gospel. The writer of these lines has known ten good average stewards to the manor of Methodism born, and not one of them fit for any higher work than to serve tables, to deliberate a whole year upon the propriety of introducing some financial measure, the effect of which in successful operation might be to clear up the muggy sky of finances—that is to say, if providence and crops were favorable, and to conclude on the eve of Conference with a request to the man whose living had been wrecked by their mingled delay and stupidity to take up a collection for himself. They collect—the stewards, we mean—it is true; that is to say, the better class of them, but only to tell anecdotes and to administer on the poverty-stricken returns of the contribution plate. They visit, it is true, but only on social or funeral or festival occasions, when the money gatherer's theme would be the grossest anachronism. Like the Pope, their temporal prerogatives they conceive to be quite limited; but, unlike him, they are not seeking to extend them. Having never come ont on the Lord's side, how could they be expected to come out on the preacher's side. Money for the preacher—why they would as soon commit highway robbery as to ask a man for it, and, having it in possession, they not infrequently debate whether it can not be put to a better use. Just as Legislatures are sometimes the foils of the people's liberties, church boards are sometimes the destruction of church finances. Many a hungry preacher owes his want, we fear, to the man who was appointed to be his commissary with unbounded foraging resources.

The American Bible Society.

The American Bible Society is unsectarian and evangelical. Moreover, it is Protestant and Catholic, giving to the former its usual and to the latter its broad and generic signification. It protests against the exclusivism that sets up a protectorate over God's Holy Word, and says to the thirsty millions of Adam's race: "Thus far shalt thou come, and no farther;" and it commends the broadest catholicity in all things appertaining to the spread of scriptural information, as well as the widest diffusion of scriptural learning and holiness. It has shown itself the warm friend of all scriptural churches by joining both hands and arms with them in a great league against the powers of darkness, and, when not appearing itself in skirmish line, or volleyed rank rolling upon the foe, supplying arms and munitions of war to new recruits, and battering the enemy's lines with splendid artillery fire. Its armament is glorious beyond compare, and its resources apparently exhaustless, giving away Bibles in many languages, and at home and abroad, and through as many salaried agents, Christian and heathen, as it can summon to the work. It is a missionary of the still small voice reddening more dark horizons of heathendom with the pledges of coming day, perhaps, than all the evangelisms of the most Christian and liberty-loving race that gave it birth. Everywhere it is buying up the privilege of giving the gospel gratis to the heathen; of employing the constraint of splendid patrimony upon the nations that sit in darkness. Its magnificent enterprise contemplates sowing down the dark continent, that great Sahara of the gospel age, with the incorruptible seed of the Word of God, and converting the Orient of both mainland and archipelago into a gospel plantation that shall yield white harvests instead of black, and fruit into everlasting life instead of blasting and mildew.

It is on the shore and on the sea with its merchandise of truth, by car-load and ship-load, by mountain train and desert caravan, flooding the waste regions and placing the heathen under gospel bonds to forsake idols and serve the living God. Its field is the world, its weapon of conquest the two-edged sword of the Spirit, and its allies the Lord of hosts and all the Protestant Churches!

Let us pay as we pray, and help this society to send out the Lord's light and His truth into the great dark sphere of heathendom.

Is It I?

The covetous man is to be found in all professions. Like the sparrow, and with far less propriety, he has found a place for himself in the altars of the Lord's house. Yet he has business inscribed on every feature and movement. He stands behind the pulpit as though it were a money changer's counter, and cries his wares. So much for voice, manner, personnel, intellectual accomplishments, and even theological attainments. That he does not belong to the mendicant order of the called and sent, is quite evident from the metallic ring in his voice, if not from the Chesterfieldian curl of his sentences and curve of his gesticulating medium. He is a candidate for a raise we know by the bit of pathos launched at the aged mourner on the front seat, as well as by the light spray of flattery that drenches as with pleasant odors the drooping forms that line the rear wall. That exordium of platitudes tickled the crowd as completely as if it had been an auctioneer's introduction to the serious work of disposing of small wares for large remuneration.

Now he is in full swing, with masterly argument and speaking illustration, showing the worse to be the better cause in perfect harmony with his foreknowledge of the preconceived views and mental characteristics of the delighted hearer. On he proceeds in magnificent flight until diction wavers and metaphor crumbles under the weight of massive argument in ascending movement, and he has reached the very apex of climax and paused to wipe away the unbidden tear.

Anon he gently descends, availing himself of heavenly peroration, and the humid atmospheres with which he has unconsciously surrounded himself, until he once more reaches the sphere of specie payments and terra firma.

And on his native heath again he for one whole week has not an idea above common dirt. Plowing, horse trading, land speculating, agencying for small enterprises paying large per cents, lending and borrowing money, have ingulfed him. Like a noble bark after a stormy passage, and emerging from bergs and breakers, he is grounded in smooth seas at the entrance of the great bay harbor. In all the scope of his imaginative discourse he can never reach as pathetic a passage as is afforded by his own mournful shipwreck.

A Department of Journalism.

The University of Pennsylvania has amended its curriculum so as to include a course in journalism, and one, too, both extended and elaborate. Truly, the horizon is broadening when the man of all work and of all accomplishments can be gotten ready for his varied career by technique and training of specialist.

But, outside of that, the venture is a good move to keep down parvenuism in, perhaps, its most offensive form of development, as well as to seize upon and develop or repress the Bohemian function which is so common to the average American intellect with a bias for belles lettres. Again, one of its immediate effects will be, perhaps, to widen the distance between the devil of the press room and the god of the sanctum, but it will have many compensations for the former, and while adding greatly to the efficieney and dignity of the latter, its professorial department will be perfect meadow land for the broken-down editorial jade who has acquired any amount of valuable information to the trade by his own failures and those of his confreres.

The young editor, who has long been persuaded that the pencil is mightier than the fountain pen, if not than the type writer, will now learn to write in indelible characters, and to discard adjective and metaphor for the plain nouns and unadorned sentences of the mart and field. Think of an editorial mill in which the editor himself, and not his honorable cotemporary, is ground, and from which he comes out bright and new, and with authority of a great university to write D. E. after his name.

NOTES.

It is the great salvation.

***

Woe to them that are at ease in Zion!

***

Economy is a poor remedy for stinginess.

***

Restraining prayer, we cease to fight.

***

What is hard to pride is often love's favorite task.

***

Aim high, particularly if you are shooting skyward.

***

Uzzah stood well at David's court, but Obed-edom at heaven's.

***

Entire sanctification is the only thing that will cure a religious miser.

***

He builds too low who plants a heavenly fabric on an earthly foundation.

***

There are people in this age who do not believe in devil possession. But why?

***

Sam Jones says that he is optimistic and pessimistic by turns, and sometimes both at once.

***

In spite of possible revolution, new subscribers are the order of the day at the ADVOCATE office.

***

Our Lord raised Lazarus from the dead, but he had no power to slay the retreating form of the young man very rich.

***

Water has sometimes been caused to flow from the rock; but what wand of prophet ever brought pennies from the miser!

***

We have sympathy for the man who does not like to hear entire sanctification preached. We were once in that box ourselves.

***

Several hundred dollars were collected for the flood sufferers by the Methodist Churches of New Orleans, on Sunday last.

***

The temporal business of the church is like other business; only it should be conducted with more scrupulous regard for business proprieties.

***

Brother, when you have tried everything else on your dead church, do not neglect the heroic remedy, which is second-blessing sanctification.

***

The Lord of Sabaoth is a good collector, if not the best, and the cries of many that have reaped down rich fields without pay have entered into his ears.

***

The church, "rich and increased with goods," not unoften excuses itself for its meanness in the past, and its policy of parsimony for the future, with the plea of poverty.

***

It is difficult for a man who draws a salary of $10,000 from the United States Treasury in pleasant instalments to realize that times are hard, and money and bread scarce. Put yourself in his place.

***

We have heaps of contributions on many subjects, and many of them by the best writers; but we can not work miracles, and our friends must be patient and await their turn. It may happen yet that some of the last will be first, if not some of the lost found.

***

Bro. Hoss printed the famous article of Bishop Keener on silver entire from the NEW ORLEANS, where it first appeared as an original contribution without a syllable of credit. No silver was given in payment for this article, and none is demanded; but it is worth a great deal of credit.

***

The universities, colleges and academies who have advertised in the columns of the ADVOCATE, this season have uniformly had good openings. And to prove that this is not a mere coincidence, those who have advertised the most liberally, are securing in proportion the most liberal returns in patronage.

***

Sam Jones, in his letter to the Tennessee Methodist, relates that it was told on him that after one of his all-day services an old colored sister came forward, and said to him: "Bro. Jones, God bless you. You is the preacher for me. I understands every word you say. You preaches just like a nigger. You has a white skin; but, thank God, you has a black heart." And he added that a colored brother opened one of his meetings for him with this remarkable prayer: "Bless Bro. Jones, and help him to preach; and, O Lord, when he stands before thee, a wretch undone, have mercy upon him, and take his feet out of the mire, olay, and place them on the rock where hope nor mercy can never reach him." He adds: I esteem it a privilege to preach to the negroes, and have preached to hundreds of thousands of them.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The ADVOCATE for $2 until Jan. 1, 1895, to new subscribers.

Dr. B. Carradine had a royal send-off at the St. Louis Conferonoe, as was most fitting.

The Farmer's Journal and Farm News free to new subscribers and renewals when accompanied by the cash.

Dr. C. W. Carter leaves for Bro. Roy's work and the storm region tomorrow, carrying with him funds and supplies for the sufferers.

If you have any money for the ADVOCATE, ask yourself who needs it most, and send it along at our expense.

Dr. John Mathews returns to Centenary Church, St. Louis, and Rev. A. J. Jarrell, of Savannah, Ga., succeeds Dr. Carradine at First Church.

Dr. C. F. Evans, of Meridian, Miss., called at the ADVOCATE office one day last week. He was en route to West Monroe, where he is under engagement to help his son, W. G., in a protracted meeting.

Dr. S. H. Werlein has been promoted to the St. Louis district, the district itself having been enlarged to include the whole city. This is a deserved compliment to one of our ablest young men.

A note from Bro. J. R. Roy states that the new church and parsonage have suffered from the storm, having been blown from the foundations, and that many persons were killed in that neighborhood.

The American Farmer and Farm News, an illustrated monthly journal of sixteen pages, will be given free to every new subscriber, and every paid-up renewal to the ADVOCATE, when accompanied by the cash.

Rev. J. W. McLaurin, agent of the American Bible Society, smiled on us last week. He had just completed a tour of Northeast Mississippi, and goes this week to North Louisiana. He eats no idle bread.

The Alabama Christian Advocate, Rev. Thomas Armstrong, D. D., editor, is a well-conducted and sprightly organ. That the editor has a genius for journalism is most evident to the constant reader of his columns.

Dr. W. H. N. Magruder, of Baton Rouge, on business connected with the Institute for the Blind, that model training-school of which he is the model president, paid us a call last week. Blind youths of both sexes are educated at the above institution free of charge. Send to him for catalogue or circular.

Rev. H. T. Harris, a Mississippi veteran of many itinerant wars, called on the ADVOCATE last week. It was a real pleasure to meet him, and to continue an acquaintance, auspiciously begun through the columns of the ADVOCATE many years ago. The paper and its patrons would be glad to have him as a contributor again.

The ADVOCATE has received from the Manhattan Art Company, New York, a splendid photo-etching of the famous picture, Diana or Christ. It quite answers the many fervid descriptions that have been given of it, and is every way worthy to be a companion piece to Christ before Pilate. It can be had at a price ridiculously cheap by sending to the publisher.

The Century, for October, is a splendid number, the chief attractions being "Taking Napoleon to St. Helena," "Life Among German Tramps," Walt Whitman in 'War Times," "The Vanishing City," "The Pratt Institute," "Leaves from the Autobiography of Salvini," etc., by the most popular writers of the age, with a quantity of entertaining matter beside. It is a great and deservedly popular magazine. Four dollars a year, 35 cents a copy.

Dr. J. H. Kirkland, the new chancellor of Vanderbilt University, has been inaugurated at Nashville with great eclat, but yet of this truly historic occasion the Doctor's inaugural speech was easily the principal feature, as was meet. We regret that our space will not permit us to publish it entire. In its scope it is historical, doctrinal, and prophetical, and its discussion in each department gives promise of a brilliant administration of the affairs of the great university.

A private note from Dr. H. W. Key, president of the Memphis Conference Female Institute, says: "So far as heard from, we have had the largest opening of any school in this or neighboring States, which is remarkable when we consider the stringency in money matters and the change of administration. We have two hundred and forty-one names on our register, and over one hundred boarders." We are glad to see that this enterprising Georgian, in forsaking the country of "cinnamon seed and sandy bottom," has reached Bonanza land. Since the days of Davy Crockett the headwaters of Forked Deer has been noted both for its obliviousness to ordinary hard times and its hospitality to honorable strangers.

Our Little Men and Women, by D. Lothrop & Co., Boston; and St. Nicholas, for young folks, Century Company, are among the brightest visitors to the ADVOCATE in their line. The price of the former is $1 a year, and 10 cents a copy, and of St. Nicholas, $3 a year, and 25 cents a copy.

Christian Holiness.

MR. EDITOR: The subject of Christian holiness is attracting much attention now, and I believe good will come of this agitation of a great subject. But we are exposed to two dangers, or danger from two directions.

In the first place, the special advocates of what is called the "holiness movement" are in danger of going to extremes, for when we become specialists we are in danger of becoming eiromists also. This fact has been illustrated already in some cases.

In the second place, those who do not see the subject in the same light with its special advocates are in danger of going to the opposite extreme. This also is natural, and it has been illustrated already in some cases.

Now, let us strike for a happy medium, for the truth is generally to be found midway between the two opposite extremes on any subject.

As Methodists, we can not inveigh against the doctrine of entire sanctification without departing from a cardinal doctrine of our church, and, as we think, from the plain teachings of the Word of God. Methodism stands for a free salvation, a conscious salvation, and a full salvation; and that man is not a Methodist who denies either. He may be a member of the Methodist Church; he may be a minister of the Methodist Church: but he is not in full accord with the doctrinal teachings of the Methodist Church. Let us hold to the truth of God as clearly set forth in the Word and in our theology; but let us avoid extravagance in theory or statement, for thereby we obscure that which should be made plain and repel those whom we should draw to us. "Let your moderation be known unto all men." And let us not stand at the ford of the Jordan to stay all our brethren who can not frame to pronounce our "Shibboleth" aright. What if they do say, "Sibboleth," instead?—they mean the same thing, and they are our brethren in the Lord.

These remarks have been provoked by the following extract taken from "The Christian Alliance." It has the ring of pure gold about it.

W. B. LEWIS.

THE BEAUTY OF HOLINESS.

Much of the current teaching on the subject of holiness is rendered unattractive by the unfortunate way in which many people present it either in their testimony or in their lives. Why should it be necessary to mix up these precious teachings with all the eccentricities and angularities of our little phrases and hobbies? Why should we feel that we must compel everybody to see it just as we see it, and to receive it exactly as it came to us? Why should we construct phraseology as hard, as dogmatic, as exclusive, as one-sided as the dogmatism of the theological schools? Why should we perpetually fling our own shadows across the beautiful sunlight of Christ's truth and life? Are there not great central truths on which we can all unite? Is it not enough to take biblical expressions and biblical teachings, to take Christ's own person and his life as the foundation of our principles and our applications? What can be higher than a life united with Jesus himself, and lost in him, to all our own experience and attainments? If we have the true Christ-life, it will be as sweet and attractive as the Christ himself, whose holiness drew poor sinners to his presence, and made them feel a deeper longing to be like him. The Lord save us from stale, musty, eccentric and angular lives and teachings, and help us to be like the glorious ideal in the one hundred and tenth Psalm: "Thy people shall be a free-will offering in the day of his power, robed in the beauty of holiness, born of the womb of the morning and fresh with the dew of his youth."

[This is beautiful reading, but it seems to discount Christian zeal, and would have put such an embargo on the apostles as in all probability they would never have gotten beyond the boundaries of Judea. And what is meant by "great central truths?"—EDITOR.]

Notice.

Bishop Galloway has postponed the dedication of our new church from Oct. 15 (third Sabbath) to Oct. 22 (fourth Sabbath).

J. S. SEXTON,
Chairman Building Committee.
W. H. BROWN, Secretary.

Hazlehurst, Miss., Oct. 6.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

Topic for Oct. 15.

DAVID AND GOLIATH.
(I. Sam. xvii, 38-49.)

The Israelites and their hostile neighbors from the sea coast, the Philistines, were stationed on opposite mountains in battle array, the one against the other. The incident of the lesson was the outcome of a defiant challenge on the part of Goliath, the champion of the Philistines, that the Israelites send forth a man to engage in a personal encounter with him, the issue of which should determine to which army belonged the victory. Twice daily for forty days he presented himself near the army of Israel, and sounded his note of insolent defiance, with no result other than inspiring fear into their ranks; until finally the challenge was accepted by David, the ruddy youth from Bethlehem, the result being a complete victory for David, the circumstances of which need not be repeated, as they are familiar. From the passage it may be seen that the victory was not so much a triumph of man over man, or army over army, as a manifestation of the power of the God of Israel over the gods of Philistia. The Philistine pronounced his own sentence of defeat when he defied the God of Israel, and swore by his own gods; David had practically won the victory when he responded, "I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom thou hast defied; . . . the battle is the Lord's." The lesson here is that any person who invokes God's aid against the opposing forces of sin is certain of victory. David's simple, yet sublime faith in the God whom he served, should be an inspiration to the young Christian soldier before whom opposing forces rise like mountains.

The victory was an illustration of the Pauline principle, afterwards exemplified in the triumphs of the gospel (1. Cor. i, 27): "God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the mighty." There was not a trace of foolhardiness in David's action, but it was simply a signal exhibition of unwavering faith in God—the faith that afterwards found expression in the Book of Psalms.

How to Help the Pastor.

The Epworth League is for helping purposes. We give some rules, altered from a Church of England paper, about helping the preacher: 1. Pray for him, especially every Sunday morning and evening. 2. Be regular and punctual at church on Sundays and week days. 3 Help in the Sunday-schools, choir, Band of Hope, visiting, and other work. 4. Study your Bible. Ask your pastor to explain any difficulties. 5. Support your church, day, and Sunday-schools, and home and foreign missions. 6. Be regular and consistent communicants. 7. Be home missionaries; try to bring your non-church-going neighbors and friends to church with you. 8. Pray earnestly, work heartily, never despair, never give in. 9. Pray that utterance may be given to your pastor, that he may open his mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel.—Nashville Christian Advocate, March 16.

The Epworth League in the Land of Flowers.

On April 9, 1890, the pastor of the M. E. Church, South, of Kissimmee, Fla., Rev. R. L. Honiker, organized the first League in Southern Methodism. From that League, as a center, have come forty other Leagues in our Conference territory.—President of the Florida Conference League in Epworth Methodist.

There is a good article by Bishop Hendrix, in the September Review of Missions, on "The Relation of the Epworth League to Missions," and this extract is here given:

What distinctive work has the Epworth League to do in advancing this common cause of the whole church, and without which the church would long ago have ceased to exist? The more distinctive work of the League may be said to be its literary department. All its other work—its department of charity and help, and its devotional department—the church is already attempting—in different ways, but these receive new meaning from the noble examples which the history of the church affords. Christian biography gives fresh inspiration alike to Christian living and Christian work. Systematic study of the Bible in the League results in keeping before all the blessed fact that "the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel." The League thus naturally becomes one of the most efficient agencies for disseminating missionary information and creating a missionary conscience. Its course of reading should embrace from time to time the best literature, in connection with its other admirable selections.

The story of Livingstone, or of Morrison or of Brainerd, or of Duff; the example of Carey or of Martyn, of MacDonell or of Lambuth will never be forgotten, and may be reproduced in the lives of our future missionaries.

The M. E. Church reports Epworth Leagues in the Southern States as follows: Alabama, 24; Georgia, 30; Mississippi, 45; Tennessee, 113; with much larger numbers for the Border States. This shows that the young people's movement is not confined to the North, and is a much better showing than we make with our high vantage-ground in this sunny land.—Alabama Christian Advocate.

Relief Collection.

The following is the result of the collection taken Sunday, Oct. 8, for storm sufferers:

Carondelet, W. H. LaPrade	$ 80 00
Felicity, J. M. Beard	30 00
Louisiana Avenue, V. T. Sawyer	27 00
Rayne Memorial, F. N. Parker	25 40
Dryades, A. E. Clay	31 20
Algiers, H. S. Johns	30 00
Parker's Chapel, R. H. Wynn	10 05
Craps Street, H. H. Ahrens	21 00
Gretna, H. H. Ahrens	8 00
Carrollton, J. M. Henry	32 00
Total	$300 65

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

A large amount of clothing was also contributed.

Attention, Brethren.

A few days ago it was our pleasure to look in on Dr. Murrah and his work at Millsaps College. The Doctor looked to be in excellent health and good spirits to begin the new session. More than 130 students had matriculated, and others were coming in daily, some having come while I was in the Doctor's office.

While at the college I called upon the young ministers who are under the supervision of our Ministerial Aid Association. I found three present, and another was expected by every train. During the Summer these young men have been occupied, but the dullness of the season has been against them, and they have been able to make only enough to meet their current personal expenses, and are, therefore, dependent upon us for board. We were pleased at the report of Dr. Murrah concerning the spirit of these young men. Evidently they are applying themselves to their work. My heart was stirred within me when one of them declared his purpose to remain and finish his education if he should have to sell newspapers to get the money. Certainly the Methodists of South Mississippi will not suffer such a spirit as that to be trammeled in securing an education.

Brethren, help us by remembering these, our young ministers. Send your contributions to Dr. C. G. Andrews, Vicksburg, Miss. Unless we get the necessary help, this cause must suffer and these young men be forced to leave school.

T. B. HOLLOMAN,
Pres. Ass'n.

Meridian, Miss., Oct. 5, 1893.

P. S.—East Mississippi Female College has opened well; nearly one hundred having matriculated to date, with daily additions. T. B. H.

Centenary College.

Centenary College opened on Sept. 6, and the professors and students are setting in with a good resolution for a session of hard work. Our number is about the same that it was last year, and would, doubtless, have been considerably larger but for three successive overflows in Louisiana, the low price of cotton and the remarkable monetary suspension which has recently affected the business of the whole country. The health of the college has been remarkably good. The four college classes are well represented. We have five preachers, and others are studying for the ministry. The literary societies and the Y. M. C. A. are well maintained. Our Scripture lessons and morning and evening prayers seem to be means of edification to all. If those who are in arrears on their endowment notes will send us the interest due, they will greatly aid us in our work.

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

Jackson, La., Oct. 7, 1893.

For Indigestion
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.
If your dinner distresses you, try it. It aids digestion.

Notice.

Old religious newspapers, Bibles, Testaments and old clothing wanted for distribution in mission work by E. A. Vail, at Bible House, 163 Camp street.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *
Yours, most respectfully,
MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

East Mississippi Female College.

The 24th Session began September 6, 1893.

Situated in the City of Meridian, is easy of access from all points.

The health record is unsurpassed.

The buildings are commodious and comfortable.

The faculty has been chosen with reference to EXPERIENCE, THOROUGHNESS and EXCELLENCY OF CHARACTER.

Our terms are to suit the times.

For catalogue or further information apply to
REV. T. B. HOLLOMAN, A.M., Pres.,
1101 23rd Avenue, Meridian, Miss.

Are You Unemployed?

Will you work for $18 per week? Write to me at once. JOSEPH R. GAY, Pres. C. P. & L. Co., 95 FIFTH AVE., CHICAGO, ILL.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 10 days when satisfied. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

Established 1857.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT

Frink's Patent Reflectors for Gas, Oil, or Electric give the most powerful, softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. Now and elegant designs. Send size of room, get circular & estimate. A liberal discount to churches & the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.
I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

Queen & Crescent Route

"Finest Trains in the South."

Through Cars to Chicago without change, from New Orleans, Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Jacksonville, Fla., Atlanta, Macon, Lexington and Georgetown, Ky. Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville. Stop-overs allowed on all World's Fair tickets, at Chattanooga, Louisville, Indianapolis or Cincinnati.

For further information as to Rates, Car Service, Sleeping Car Reservations, etc., call on or address any agent of the Queen & Crescent Route or E. T. V. & G. Ry.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

THROUGH CARS TO CHICAGO.

Classical and Commercial Institute.

7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.

Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.

H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

GLASGO TWILLED LACE THREAD

A thread which all lovers of fancy work —FOR— appreciate at once. The twilly appearance, which is peculiar to itself, makes it superior to any other thread for every sort of fancy work, from bed spreads to tatting and point lace. It is also equal to the very best threads made in the country for all sewing purposes, whether by hand or machine. Ask your dealer for it, or send 10c. for sample spool, 500 yards. Illustrated Crochet Books, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, 10c. each. 12 nice tidy patterns, 5c. each. 12 bed spread patterns, 5c. each. All postpaid. Either of above books sent free with an order for 6 patterns.

Crocheting, Knitting, Tatting.

GLASGO LACE THREAD CO., Glasgo, Conn.

EMORY COLLEGE

OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta—A Location Proverbially Healthy; No Saloons.

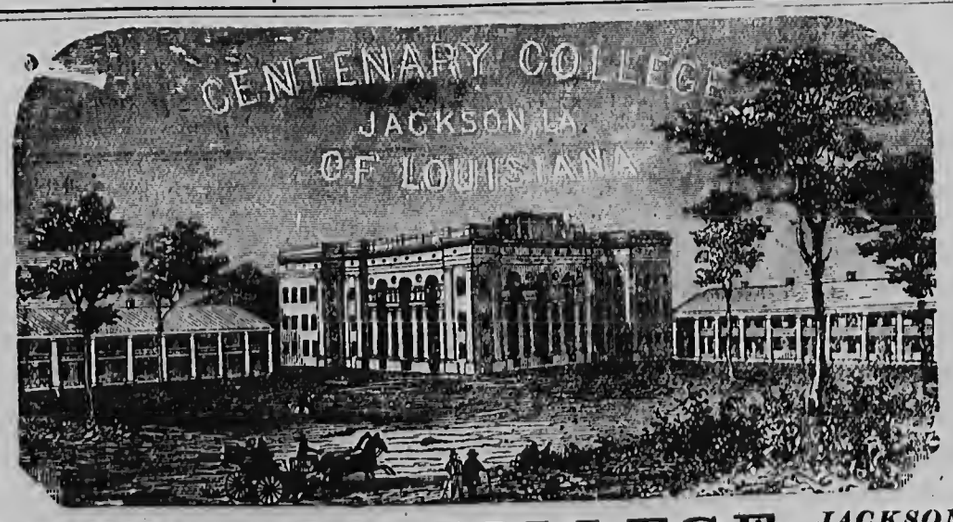
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $125. For full information, address

W. A. CANDLER, D. D. PRESIDENT

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE Opens Sept. 6th, 1893.

STAUNTON, VIRGINIA. Climate and surroundings exceptional. Handsome buildings, now being remodeled, thoroughly renovated, repainted inside and outside, and refurnished with new pianos, carpets, &c. Steam heat, gas light, bath rooms on every floor. New Laboratory thoroughly equipped. Excellent Faculty of Experienced Teachers. Advanced courses in English, Latin, German, French, &c. Special advantages in Art. Conservatory Course in Music. One hundred and forty-one boarding pupils from eighteen States. Terms moderate. For Catalogues of this celebrated old Virginia school, address

W. W. ROBERTSON, President, Staunton, Virginia.



CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

A BAD WRECK

—of the constitution may follow in the track of a disordered system, due to impure blood or inactive liver. Don't run the risk! The proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery take all the chances. They make a straightforward offer to return your money if their remedy fails to benefit or cure, in all disorders and affections due to impure blood or inactive liver. The germs of disease circulate through the blood; the liver is the filter which permits the germs to enter or not. The liver active, and the blood pure, and you escape disease.

When you're run down, debilitated, weak, and your weight below a healthy standard, you regain health, strength, and wholesome flesh, by using the "Discovery." It builds up the body faster than nauseating Cod liver oils or emulsions.

There wouldn't be any cases of Chronic Catarrh if everyone used Dr. Sage's Remedy. There's $500 reward for an incurable case.

Have patience. Alice, I will drive that Malaria from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. I will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. M. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GERMETUER

CURES FEVERS.

DR. J. W. NELMS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 14th, 1893.

For the past two years I have used King's Royal Germetuer in my practice with most satisfactory results. I have used it in Typhus, Typhoid and Bilious Fevers, and always with the speediest and best effects. It lowers the temperature and breaks up fevers of all kinds common to this latitude more expeditiously than any remedy within my knowledge. From my own experience in its use upon myself and others to whom I have recommended and administered it, I believe it would be a good remedy for Yellow Fever. It is a most excellent antiseptic, cures catarrh, insomnia, night sweats and eczema in all its forms. King's Royal Germetuer is emphatically a safe remedy, and leaves no injurious effects in the system.

JOHN W. NELMS, M. D.,
Mayor West End, Ga.

For Nervous Troubles, Teething Children and Summer Complaint, Germetuer has no equal. Try it; $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.
KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Germetuer Pills for constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D.W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.
Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FARLTEN, Director.
The Leading Conservatory of America.
In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar free.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE PATH OF GOLD.

BY CARRIE BLAKE MORGAN.

An Indian legend, beautiful and old,
Tells how a sinner sought the path of gold.

Cast by a midnight moon on waters deep,
And there lay down to his eternal sleep,

With faith that, though the sea his bones should hold,
His deathless soul should mount the path of gold,

And steal, unchallenged, through the gates of heaven,
Its guilt forgotten, or, perchance, forgiven.

Oh, low-hung moon! Oh, quivering path of light!
The savage legend comes to me to-night.

At water's edge I stand, and at my feet
The sands of earth and heaven's gold do meet.

Would that I held the simple faith and hope
That bore the Indian's soul up yon bright slope!

But even as my prayer is cried aloud,
Thy face, O moon, is hidden with a cloud;

Thy light is gone; the waters, cold and gray,
Clutch at my feet and chill all hope away.

Oh, can it be that souls in sin grown old
Can never find the shining Path of Gold?

—Lippincott's.

Melons with Strawberries.

Jacob Smith, Lockport, Ill., has a novel method of caring for his strawberry plants during the first Summer. Thorough cultivation of the plants during the first season is practiced by successful fruit growers generally. Keeping them free from weeds and the soil loose requires frequent cultivation, and is quite an expense, for which, ordinarily, the next year's crop of berries is the compensation. As an experiment several years ago, Mr. Smith tried planting watermelon vines among the rows of one plot of strawberries, cultivating an adjoining plot in the usual way. He found that the plot with the melon vines did better than the other, both in this and subsequent trials, and the melons paid for the cultivation of the plot. After satisfying himself that watermelon vines did not injure the strawberries, or, as he declares, help by serving as a green mulch, he tried planting muskmelons among them and reports even better results from this practice, the vines making a thicker covering and better mulch. He has a nice field of strawberries growing this season with a good crop of muskmelons among them which are doing well, considering the dry weather. Small fruit growers should remember this plan and try it next season; for it is certainly a great waste not to grow melons among the strawberries the first year if it improves them and pays for cultivation.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Torchlights in the Ocean.

There is a species of fish living in the depths of the ocean which sailors call the "midshipman," because it is as profusely decorated with little shining disks as a midshipman is adorned with buttons. Each of these luminous disks is a complete bull's-eye lantern on a small scale, having a lens for concentrating the rays and a reflector behind it. The fish can extinguish these torches at will on the approach of an enemy, or he can brilliantly illuminate his immediate vicinity when searching for prey. The light comes from slime glands which, in deep water, are transformed into phosphorescent spots. In some species the slime keeps running continually down the sides of the fish, making the whole animal brilliant. Professor Langley, of the Smithsonian Institute, says that the light is similar to that of fireflies, which is the most economical and perfect of all known lights, giving the greatest illumination with the least waste and without perceptible heat. It would be of enormous value to mankind if the secret of this light which the fishes use for their torchlight processions under the ocean could be discovered.—Congregationalist.

Christ Working In Us.

He who made every power can use every power. Memory, judgment, imagination, quickness of apprehension or insight, specialties of musical, poetical, oratorical, or artistic faculty, special tastes for reasoning, philosophy, history, natural science, or natural history—all these may be dedicated to him, sanctioned by him, and used by him. Whatever he has given he will use, if we will let him. Don't you really believe that the Holy Spirit is just as able to draw a soul to Jesus, if he will, by your whisper of one word, "Come," as by an eloquent sermon an hour long? I do. At the same time, as it is evidently God's way to work through these intellects of ours, we have no more right to expect him to use a mind which we are willfully neglecting, and take no pains whatever to fit for his use, than I should have to expect you to write a beautiful inscription with my pen, if I would not take the trouble to wipe it and mend it.—Frances Ridley Havergal, in Methodist.

Unexpected Blessings.

We are often surprised by the good things which come to us unexpectedly. We have been sometimes astonished at the way occurrences which promised disaster became great blessings. At the siege of Sebastopol a cannon ball, missing its aim, struck in the side of a neighboring mountain, and from the fissure made by it gushed a stream of crystal water. The missile of death was made to become an instrument to open a life-sustaining fountain. Using this incident as an illustration, a minister said: "If in us abide the waters of eternal life, the thrusts of Satan will only open channels by which they may flow forth." If we sustain to God the relation of believers in Christ, without a shadow of doubt "all things work together for good."—Selected.

It is a very curious and interesting fact that the word "character," which comes over into our English speech directly and without change of sound from the Greek, signifies first the sharp tool with which a seal or a die is engraved, and then the inscription or the object which is cut in the seal or in the die. Our character, then, is the image and the subscription which we cut upon our life; I say which we cut, for, however much happens to us and bears upon us from outside causes beyond our control, it is true, in the last analysis, that we determine our own character. We hold the tools which cut the legends on our life, we grave the die, we incise the seal. What are the tools with which we cut character upon ourselves? The tools are thoughts. As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. The style and the subject of the engraved character depend on the choice of tools and on the manner of their use. The legend on the seal shows what was in the mind of the engraver as he cut with his tools. Here is a seal with a cross cut in it. That cross was the leading idea in the engraver's mind for that seal; and his busy tool translated that invisible thought of his mind into this fixed and visible sign. Character is invisible thought translated into visibility, and, fixed before the eye, cut on the life.—Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, D. D.

I say there is no happiness in having or in getting, but only in giving, and half the world is on the wrong scent in the pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting, and in being served by others. It consists in giving and in serving others.—Prof. Henry Drummond.

Without a Competitor.

Dr. Price's
Cream Baking Powder

Is so far beyond other brands of baking powders in its purity, wholesomeness and leavening power that it is practically without a competitor. Adulteration prevails to such an extent that the consumer in many sections is at the mercy of the venders of the ammonia and alum baking powders Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only powder prepared by a physician of high standing, and almost the only pure Cream of Tartar powder to be obtained.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

REMORSE.

BY S. CONANT FOSTER.

Once a sweet little boy sat and swung on a limb,
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee;
On the ground stood a sparrow-bird looking at him,
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee.
Now, the boy he was good, but the sparrow was bad;
So it shied a big stone at the head of the lad,
And it killed the poor boy, and the sparrow was glad.
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee.

Then the little boy's mother flew over the trees,
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee;
"Tell me where is my little boy, sparrow-bird, please,"
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee
"He is sale in my pocket," the sparrow-bird said,
And another stone shied at the lond mother's head,
And she fell at the feet of the wicked bird, dead,
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee.

You imagine, no doubt, that the tale I have mixed,
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee;
But it wasn't by me that the story was fixed,
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee.
'Twas a dream a boy had after killing a bird,
And he dreamed it so lond that I heard every word,
And I jotted it down as it really occurred.
Tweedledum, tweedledum, tweedledum dee.

—St. Nicholas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ostrich.

The division of labor between Mr. and Mrs. Ostrich is more nearly fair than among most birds. It is an understood thing that if she takes the trouble to lay the eggs he will attend to the hatching, which is very kind of him, considering that he is bigger, stronger, prettier, and worth more than she is. He furnishes a much finer grade of feathers for the support of his family than does his wife. When Mrs. Ostrich inclines that way she scoops out a dainty little nest (it is usually about five feet across) anywhere she happens to be, and calls that home. She is not particular about the locality, but she is very stubborn about giving it up when she has once chosen. One of the ostriches on a farm recently selected the middle of the road that runs through the paddock for her nest, and promptly began filling it with eggs. Herbert dug another nest for her in a more protected quarter of the pasture, but, instead of feeling grateful for his attentions, Mme. Ostrich quietly rolled the eggs, one by one, back to the original place of deposit. And while her husband went ahead with the hatching, she stood by to assist him in repelling any further impertinence. In this nest there were twenty-five eggs. She laid one every second or third day, and when the quota was complete she made her proud husband sit on them. As soon as she got over the fear of her work being disturbed, she left her helpmate and went off with the other birds; and he was compelled to watch her flirting from his station without a remonstrance. Once in a while she came back to give him a chance to eat and stretch himself; but these kindnesses were by no means frequent. Once when he, almost starved probably, left the nest, she came at him with all her feathers turned the wrong way and hustled him back to his business. That's the kind of a wife the ostrich makes.—Standard.

The Wonderful Moving Sidewalk at Chicago.

For those who come by the lake route, and for others who prefer to sail on land, there is the movable sidewalk, seating 40,000, and extending out on the great pier 2,000 feet into the lake. The view of the grounds from the end of the pier is superb, and as one can ride as long as the fancy dictates for one five-cent fare, it is deservedly popular. The construction of the moving sidewalk with its endless chain of seats was not alone for fun, but fact, and to demonstrate its wonderful possibilities for the transportation of great masses of people. The line, which is operated by electricity, has a capacity of 240,000 passengers per hour. There are three endless platforms, forming a loop at each end. The first is stationary, the second moves at three miles an hour, and upon it one steps in a natural walk, but without experiencing any jar or shock; from this he steps to the third platform, moving three miles faster than the second, or at a total of six miles per hour. The third platform is entirely filled with cross seats. The moving platforms are carried on ordinary railway wheels and track, and constitute one of the most interesting attractions on the grounds.—Review of Reviews.

Young Man, Don't Drift.

There is not a more melancholy spectacle than a young man, standing at the threshold of life, without any definite purpose before him. If he has had the advantage of a college education his plight is the more harrowing, for then he is like a ship well equipped, but without a captain or a pilot, and adrift on the sea. He is subject to be buffeted by every passing inclination, and is bound, sooner or later, to be wrecked in all the essentials of manhood. Under the pressure of present economic conditions the majority of young men are compelled to earn a livelihood, and must take the first opportunity that opens. That such should be the case is not to be deplored, but, in the interest of the young man, the reverse, for it is better to be engaged in any honorable occupation, no matter how unsuitable it may appear, than to drift helplessly, doing nothing. Occupation tends to stir the energies, to stimulate comparisons and promote ambitions. While devoting himself conscientiously and energetically to the work in hand he should remember that there is no law to compel him to remain in that occupation providing it is distasteful or unsuitable. In this age of specialism every occupation is but a technical training in some particular department. The demands of employment upon his energies will enable him to analyze his abilities and adaptabilities and discover in what direction his natural or educational bent lies. If he has chosen the vocation to which he is adapted, he will strive to excel; if not, he will speedily become aware of his natural bias and seek employment along that line. There are too many young men of good parts who "loaf" the best years of their lives doing nothing, or pursue some emergency employment in a slipshod manner, waiting for some merciful providence to show them what they are fitted for. They are predestined to disappointment. A man is not a puppet, but a responsible being, and has been endowed with the faculty of discretion, in order that he may use it properly, both to his own advantage and to that of his fellow-men.—Young Men's Era.

How It Was Named.

Everybody knows the pretty little forget-me-not, and likes the flower more perhaps because of its name than its beauty.

How was it so-called? The Germans account for it by quite a pathetic romance.

It seems that once upon a time a knight and lady were walking by the bank of the Danube, when the latter asked her "gallant gay" to pluck for her a tiny blue flower which he saw growing in the stream. No sooner said than done, but the knight, overbalancing, fell into the river, and owing to the slippery nature of the bank and the weight of his own armor was carried away by the current. As he threw the flower ashore to his lady he cried out with his last breath, "Vergis mein nicht!" ("Forget-me-not!") And ever since the flower has been looked on as the emblem of fidelity.—Philadelphia Times.

The True Wife.

Oftentimes I have seen a tall ship glide by against the tide as if drawn by some invisible bow-line, with a hundred strong arms pulling it. Her sails were unfilled, her streamers were drooping; she had neither side-wheel or stern-wheel—still she moved on stately, in serene triumph, as with her own life. But I knew that on the other side, hidden beneath the great hulk that swam so majestically, there was a little toilsome steam tug, with a heart of fire and arms of iron, that was tugging it bravely on, and I knew that if the little steam tug untwined her arms and left the ship, it would wallow and roll about, and drift hither and thither, and go off with the refluent tide, no man knows whither.—Selected.

Many Christian workers are too busy working to be religious. The excitement and absorbing engagements of doing give them no time to attend to themselves. Doing shuts out being, and they can not be good, because they are too busy doing good. They miss the fundamental idea of the gospel, that is, that what we do depends for its value and life on what we are. If we keep the fountain pure and full the stream will always flow. A good man will do good as truly and naturally as a good tree bears good fruit.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Your dealer in lamp-chimneys—what does he get for you?

You can't be an expert in chimneys; but this you can do. Insist on Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," whichever shape you require. They are right in all those ways; and they do not break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Be willing to pay a nickel more for them.
Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

HARD And brittle leather is soft and tough in a minute with Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

I KEEP COOL
Inside, outside, and all the way through, by drinking
HIRES' Root Beer
This great Temperance drink; is as healthful, as it is pleasant. Try it.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it, I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. M. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.
For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $630 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 878.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at per. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. Lown Mills Building, New York.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

MARRIAGES.

JOHNSON—WALKER.—At the residence of the bride's uncle, Col. and Rev. E. G. Cook, Haslehurst, Miss., Oct. 5, 1893, by Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, Mr. Thomas B. Johnson, of San Antonio, Texas, to Miss Mae E. Walker, of Haslehurst.

HENRY—LEE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Prairie Grere, La., Sept. 27, 1893, by Rev. E. T. Denson, Mr. S. B. Henry to Miss Lena J. Lee, all of Vermilion parish.

Should Sorrow lay her hand upon thy shoulder,
And walk with thee in silence on life's way,
While Joy, thy bright companion once, grown colder,
Becomes to thee more distant day by day,
Shrink not from the companionship of Sorrow,
She is the messenger of God to thee;
And thou wilt thank him in his great to-morrow—
For what thou knowest not now, thou then shalt see;
She is God's angel, clad in weeds of night,
With whom we walk by faith, and not by sight.
—E. A. Hamilton.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 800 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 800. Poetry excluded from this column.

McNEILL—Mrs. Sallie Isana McNeill was born June 31, 1862; was married to Mr. H. B. McNeill, May 23, 1873; died at Jackson, Miss., July 6, 1893, and her pure spirit winged its way to that beautiful city of light where loved ones meet to part no more.

She was one of nature's noble women, one of the Lord's jewels. Her life was full of sunshine. Being of that radiant disposition, she rapidly drew around her a concourse of friends. She was very thoughtful for the sick and distressed. Herein she received the fulfillment of a gracious promise, for during her long and painful sickness she had the sympathetic aid of a whole community. All was done which medical science or skill could do to restore her. Loving hands and generous friends administered to her wants and necessities, but to no avail. God took her to himself, where the weary are at rest. She met death bravely. One of the last days she said to her husband: "I know I am going to die. Let not your heart be troubled. I am not afraid to die. I hate to leave you and my little children, but I am ready." O death where is thy sting? We sorrow not as those who have no hope. Thank God for the sweet hope of the resurrection, for the sweet hope that we shall meet her again beyond the river.

She was a kind and affectionate wife, a loving mother and a good neighbor. She has left a devoted husband, three bright little children and many relatives and friends to mourn her loss. To the bereaved husband and children, so soon bereft of wife and mother, words from a human standpoint seem unavailable, yet there is a hand on high beckoning you over, so that if you will heed it you will some sweet day grasp her beautiful beckoning hand. Oh! how sad is such a separation; but how sweet the reunion will be beyond this world of sin and death.

Her body was consigned to its last resting-place in the grave-yard at Reaves Chapel Church, in hope of the resurrection and eternal life. Sleep on, dear one; sweetly sleep, till the trump of God shall wake your slumbering dust to life and everlasting bliss. A FRIEND.

COOK—Corinne Cook, wife of Dr. Thomas H. G. Cook, and daughter of Mr. A. H. and Edna Bush, of Macon, Miss., died at their home in Stone, Ala., Sept. 5, 1893. She was born in Noxubee county, Miss., May 18, 1870, and happily married to Dr. Cook, Oct. 21, 1890.

Sister Cook was a member of the Episcopal Church at Macon, Miss. A more consistent Christian we have not known. She was growing in grace daily, and one of the best Christian workers for our church here we had. Not only her husband and family feel bereaved, but we, as a community, feel keenly our loss. She was one of the few who let nothing escape her lips that would reflect against anyone; so kind to the poor and distressed—had a kind word for everyone.

A few days before her death she told her friends she had committed herself and little babe to the Lord, and whatever was his will was hers. The babe preceded her four days to the good world. The day before her death she deliberately made arrangements for her burial, and told her husband she wanted him to join in prayer with her one more time, which he did. Her patience, her loving words, her bright expression through her sickness of ten days to the very last we have never known surpassed. We followed, and held on to her, and saw her far out in the last river, when God took her from us. Surely, a bright home is made sad, for in a little more than eleven months the mother and the only two children have been taken. But with humble submission we bow to the will of him that doeth all things well. May her death be sanctified to the good of her loved ones and her many friends! D. W. BABB.

Stone, Ala.

GODBOLD—Bro. P. B. Godbold was born in Franklin county, Miss., April 4, 1829, and died in Summit, Miss., Aug. 14, 1893. Bro. Godbold joined the Methodist Church at Ebenezer, Franklin county, Miss., when eighteen years old, and was a consistent member as long as he lived. He was a man that everybody knew was a Christian. He was an all-in-all Christian—a disciple indeed and in truth.

About ten years before his death he lost eyesight; but in all these years he was uncomplaining, bright and cheerful. It was a real treat to be with him and hear him talk of God, of heaven. He was married to Miss Mary Ann Cloy, May 24, 1848, and was the father of seven children, three of which preceded him to the glory-world. He has left behind a wife, four children and a number of grandchildren. The country has lost a good citizen, the church a faithful member, and his family a precious husband and father. J. G. CAMMACK.

Summit, Miss.

GERMANNY—Willie Laura Germanny was born Jan. 31, 1891, and died Aug. 21, 1893, and Zebbie Lee Germanny was born July 20, 1889, and died Aug. 25, 1893. These were the children of Bro. and Sister William Germanny, of Johnson Station, Miss.

In the very picture of health these precious children were seized by a dreadful disease, and though everything that medicine and kind hands could do was done, death soon claimed them as his victims. These were two precious buds of only a few Summers that were rudely wrecked by the hand of death and transplanted to bloom in the bright beyond. No one can tell the desolation of heart and home the death of these little ones has caused; but we pray it may draw them closer to the Lord, and that the God of all comfort may sustain them in these hours of grief and sorrow.

J. G. CAMMACK.

GLADNEY—Dr. Evans Reid Gladney was born in South Carolina, Feb. 6, 1867; moved to Louisiana when less than two years old, and lived in Claiborne parish till his demise, which occurred on Aug. 16, 1893, from a stroke of paralysis, on account of which he was speechless and motionless for six days before his death.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church for several years. He joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1891 at Tulip, and was converted the following year. He graduated in medicine at Louisville, Ky., in the class of 1888 and '89. He then located at Tulip, La., where he built up a fine practice. By his gentlemanliness and success in the treatment of disease he had won the respect, love and confidence of all the county. He was by far the most popular young physician for many miles around.

I was his pastor last year, and loved to be at his house. We loved him as an own brother. Tulip neighborhood will never be the same to us on account of his absence; but, thank God, we have hopes of meeting him again in heaven, where we shall never say good-bye. He had married Miss Addie Baker, who survives him. May our all-wise heavenly Father comfort the bereaved father, mother, brother and devoted wife, and prepare all of us to meet him in glory! Amen. ROBT. P. HOWELL.

WALLACE—Died at his home, four miles west of Marietta, Prentiss county, Miss., July 17, 1893, Elias Wallace, aged sixty-five years. He was born in Moore county, N. C.; moved to this State when young, where he lived till death. He was a Confederate soldier in the war of '61. He died of heart trouble. He bore his sickness with a fortitude seldom equalled and never surpassed. He was a member of the M. E. Church, South. He died in full faith of heaven and rest. We feel that our loss is his eternal gain. The wife has lost a faithful husband, the children a loving father; neighbors, one of the best; the church, a bright light and witness for Jesus. Just as he used to grasp the flag of his country and hold it up that it might not fall, so he in his last days held the banner of Christ up before a sinking world, and said, "If God be for us, who can be against us?" Yes, high on the rock Christ he engraved his name, pleading with his children and friends to embrace the same.

Blessed sleep! Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints. PASTOR.

BROWN—Died, at his residence on Friday, Aug. 18, 1893, after eight months of suffering, Mr. Charles C. Brown, in Ascension parish, La., aged thirty-nine years seven months and sixteen days. In the calamities that have come upon us as a people we find the causes of the untimely departures of so many that we love.

Bro. Brown has been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for a number of years, and those who knew him best loved him most. He leaves a devoted wife and eight children, a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. In his last moments he gave positive evidence that the result of his departure would be a triumphant entree into the paradise of God.

Weep not for those who die in the Lord, for it is said: "And I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." (Rev. xiv, 13.) W. A. SIBLEY.

BEARD—Died at Henderson, East Carroll parish, La., Sept. 8, 1893, Mr. Bascom Braad, son of Isham B. and Catherine M. Beard, aged thirty-two years.

Bascom was a young man of many noble qualities. He had not connected himself with any church, but during one of my last conversations with him expressed an earnest desire to do so on the first opportunity. He died away from home, but had the kindest attention of physician and friends. His death was so sudden and unexpected that his nearest relatives had not learned of his illness. We laid his body to rest in the Henderson Cemetery, cherishing the hope that his end was peace and his future a blissful immortality. R. S. I.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

For the Advocate.

IN MEMORIAM.

REV. J. W. MEDLOCK.

BY REV. W. WIMBERLY.

Just over death's misty river,
Where the unseen sentinels stand,
The angels have borne our brother
To the shore of the summer land.

He has passed the shining portal,
Through the gate of the newly born,
Where his spirit lives immortal
In the light of the golden morn.

But a few more shadowy sunsets,
A few more clouds of care,
When our closest ties will sunder,
And we, too, shall be "over there,"

To join the countless millions
From the realm of distant spheres,
To meet and dwell with the loved ones
Through eternity's endless years.

Many people neglect a cold, thinking it will go as it came. Frequently with serious results, the cold of to-day may be the pneumonia of to-morrow. Nothing will cure a cough or cold so rapidly as Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Its reputation has been established for over fifty years as the best remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, all throat and lung troubles. For croup and whooping-cough it is invaluable. Mothers will be saved much anxiety and loss of children by having Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar always on hand. Consumption has been cured many times by its use. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

The Greatest Loss of All.

The following lines are to be found upon an old teapot in the Brighton Museum:

"The loss of gold is much,
The loss of health is more;
The loss of Christ is such a loss
That no man can restore."

How many a gossiping five o'clock tea would be hurriedly broken up if the teapot could speak and utter such lines as these!

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 37

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
Slate Hearths. Building Material.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies.
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON. LUCAS E. MOORE. C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

Cash Assets, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
Cash Assets, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
Cash Assets, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
Cash Assets, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
Cash Assets, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
Cash Assets, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, President.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.
The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893.
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address
Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up.
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining,
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.,
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

The Great Church LIGHT.
FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Gov. Foster has appointed Lieut.-Gov. Parlange to be a justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana.

Day after day the number of dead caused by last week's storm is increasing, and every newcomer brings reports of additional destruction and death. The suffering and death upon the Louisiana marshes which lay about thirty miles from Biloxi to the southward is terrible.

The Board of Trade of this city issued its appeal for aid for the storm sufferers to the commercial bodies of the country on Oct. 6. The contributions have begun to come in liberally, and it is a certainty that a large fund from this source will be secured to assist the unfortunate people.

The good people of New Orleans have set themselves nobly to the work of relief for the sufferers by the great storm. The Times-Democrat and the Picayune have relief boats making trips to the stricken regions. Thousands of dollars have been contributed, and provisions and clothing in great quantities are sent the survivers.

The Secretary of the Treasury, on Oct. 6, sent to the Senate a revised estimate of the cost of the deportation of the Chinese now in the United States, in accordance with the provisions of the Geary law. The statement is supplementary to that of Sept. 12, and increases the estimate of the total appropriation necessary from $6,000,000 to $10,335,000.

Rev. Armory H. Bradford, D.D., for twenty-three years minister of the First Congregational Church, Montclair, N. J., has received a call to the pastorate of Westminister Chapel, London, the largest Congregational meeting-house in the world. Dr. Bradford has been preaching there through August and September. He has not yet signified his intention concerning the call.

With the expiration of another week no marked change in the situation in the Senate is revealed, except the declaration on the part of the repeal leader, Mr. Voorhees, that an attempt to obtain a vote on the Repeal bill will be made next Wednesday. A quorum of the Senate can not be maintained long enough to tire out the opposition by a continuous session, as the more infirm of the repeal senators would not be able to stand the strain.

The African Methodist Episcopal Ministerial Association of Philadelphia, at a meeting the other day, organized a National Citizens' Equal Rights Association, and adopted resolutions to the effect that their action was caused by "the imperiled condition of their suffering kinsmen and countrymen in the South, where all processes of law are disregarded and constitutional rights overridden, where persecution is rife, and neither life nor property is secure."

The cyclone, last week, ranged along the entire coast, from the western limits of Terrebonne Bay, in Louisiana, to Appalachicola Bay, in Florida, an air line distance east and west of 350 miles, and a coast line of 500 miles. All along this region the business of taking fish and oysters for market was extensively carried on. The people engaged in these industries were terrible sufferers. Great numbers have been drowned, their vessels cast away, and their business destroyed.

FOREIGN.

According to all accounts Prince Bismarck thinks that he can get along without the Emperor better than the Emperor can get along without him, and he proposes to have an apology or something more before he allows himself to be placated.

The London Times says that the cotton crop of Egypt is in a serious condition. The river has failed to rise on time and is too low to inundate the valley as usual, and 10,000 acres are burning up. The cotton is a month late and is likely to be very short.

The Franco-Siamese trouble, which threatened at one time to disturb the peace of Europe, has at last been settled by the yielding of the Siamese government to all the demands of France. As a result of the dispute, France, while not securing the commercial supremacy in the trade of that portion of the world which was evidently coveted, has, nevertheless, obtained quite a good slice of valuable territory.

The struggle now in progress in Brazil promises to prove a much more protracted affair than was at first thought probable. Although Rio has been bombarded frequently, it still remains in the hands of President Peixoto, and although the government has lost ground it is still far from being subdued, and as long as the rebels confine their operations to the sea it is unlikely that a crisis in the dispute can be reached.

Admiral Mellos, commander-in-chief of the Brazilian revolutionary fleet, on Oct. 7, gave the members of the Peixoto government forty-eight hours in which to resign. Peixoto and colleagues refuse to resign. The popular feeling against the government is strong in Rio de Janeiro. The diplomatic corps threatens to land forces if the government fails to protect property. Peixoto has placed batteries of artillery close to private residences, thinking the fleet will not fire upon them in such a position. Bombarding has been resumed, and it is reported there has been great loss of life and property.

Notice.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet promptly at three o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 27, at the Methodist Church in Columbus. The committee will be there to conduct the examination in accordance with the directions of the Discipline, page 384, ¶185, and page 87, ¶138, concerning the course of study. Let applicants be well prepared on the subjects designated. The committee restrict the "Ordinary Branches of an English Education" in this examination to spelling, reading, composition, English grammar, geography and arithmetic.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, Chair'n.

An Unpleasant Duty.

A KINDLY WARNING TO "THE BRETHREN."

A fair-speaking youth, called Jimmie Cook—"the boy preacher"—is traveling through Mississippi and Louisiana, getting the use of our churches to present his claims as a candidate for aid in getting education at one of our colleges. Here he said "Millsaps" was his choice. He carries a license from the Quarterly Conference of Roanoke, Ala., and other overdrawn recommendations. But his attempted sermonizing is discreditable to any pulpit—both in matter and manner.

The poor child naturally excites the sympathy of humanity. He ought to be at home attending the Sunday-school and some good primary day school. The Quarterly Conference which licensed him, and those who recommend him as anything of a preacher, ought to be ashamed.

J. P. DRAKE.

Edwards, Miss., Oct. 6, 1893.

Shouts from the Tabernacles.

God is giving us victory in the "feast of tabernacles." Leaf River Camp Meeting was attended by large crowds, and the preaching was in demonstration and power of the Spirit. The main results were more in breaking up fallow ground and sowing seed. The harvest by and by! I never saw more steady and manifest power than at St. Tammany; sky-line conversions and clear-cut sanctifications. At Palmer the work was glorious, both of regeneration and entire sanctification. The King was with us in the camp. Glory to his name! Repentance, pardon, the new birth and heart purity were all stressed, and God honored the doctrine. New Prospect next. Pray for us.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Notice.

Inasmuch as the good people of Learned circuit, Mississippi Conference, have expressed their affection for their preacher and his family by frequent presents to me, I take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to them, with many prayers to our heavenly Father that he will of his abundance return to them manifold more in this world, and in the one to come life everlasting.

MRS. J. N. TUCKER.

Bewelcome, Miss., Oct. 3, 1893.

Indigestion! Miserable! Take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Day of Prayer.

The second Sunday in November is to be observed as a day of prayer, for God's blessing upon our Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Societies. May the Lord greatly bless this portion of his vineyard!

MARY WERLEIN, Conf. Sec.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

Bethel Camp Meeting—A Deferred Report.

I should have written this earlier, but press of work and indisposition to report writing have led me to neglect it.

Our camp meeting at old Bethel—the second under the renewed conditions—began July 28, and closed Aug 6. With our large new tabernacle and hotel and some thirteen other tents, we were well prepared for a beginning. This writer and family enjoyed a handsome little cottage, which was presented to him by the brethren of Bethel and Whittaker—a token of their brotherly love and appreciation.

Bros. J. J. Smylie, R. W. Tucker, and R. W. Bailey, pastors, respectively, of Bethel, Whitaker and Woodville, were in charge in the absence of the presiding elder, who, on account of sickness, was present but two days. Besides these, there were present Bros. H. R. Singleton, J. G. Galloway, W. W. Simmons, J. R. Whittington, Geo. D. Anders, J. S. Hodge, with a number of local preachers, and this writer—all of this district. In addition to those, we were gladdened and profited by the presence and preaching of those veterans, Bros. H. J. Harris and W. B. Hines, both of whom had toiled here in other days.

I have attended many camp meetings in California and Mississippi, but this was unquestionably the best I ever saw. More than a hundred professed conversion; I do not remember how many joined the church. Several Episcopalians professed conversion and joined our church. This occurs at every meeting held at this camp ground. Sufficient money to pay for all improvements already made, and add very largely thereto, was easily raised. We have no gate fees, and we keep out of debt, with money in the treasury. We do this by laying our need of money on the consciences of the people, and they readily respond. This, we think, is by far the better plan.

H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

A Note from the Presiding Elder of Seashore District.

Cut off from railroad communications by the storm, and plans disarranged from same cause, I can not this week give my round of quarterly meetings. Some I have already informed the preachers of, privately, and others I will let know. Will arrange it all by next week.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Louisiana Conference.

NOTICE TO PRESIDING ELDERS.

Send to me at Homer, La.:

1. Names of lay delegates.
2. Local preachers to be ordained.
3. Applicants for admission on trial.

Please attend to this, and save your friends trouble when they visit the seat of the Conference.

J. A. PARKER, P. C.

Homer, La.

Plans of Episcopal Visitation, 1893-94.

FIRST DISTRICT—BISHOP KEENER.

Tennessee Conference—At Lebanon, Tenn., Oct. 18.
Arkansas Conference—Clarksville, Ark., Nov. 22.
Little Rock Conference—At Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 6.
White River Conference—At Jonesboro, Ark., Dec. 13.

SECOND DISTRICT—BISHOP WILSON.

West Texas Conference—At Beeville, Tex. Nov. 1.
German Mission Conference—At Grassyville, Tex., Nov. 9.
Northwest Texas Conference—At Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15.
North Texas Conference—At Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 29.

THIRD DISTRICT—BISHOP GRANBERY

Virginia Conference—At Danville, Va., Nov. 22.
Baltimore Conference—At Fredericksburg, Va., March 22.

FOURTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HARGROVE.

Illinois Conference—At Nashville, Ill., Oct. 5.
North Mississippi Conference—At Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29.
South Carolina Conference—At Sumter, S. C., Dec. 6.
Alabama Conference—At Opelika, Ala., Dec. 13.

FIFTH DISTRICT—BISHOP DUNCAN.

Holston Conference—At Broad Street Church, Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 11.
North Alabama Conference—At Talladega, Ala., Nov. 15.
Western North Carolina Conference—At Tyron Street Church, Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 29.
North Carolina Conference—At Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 8.

SIXTH DISTRICT—BISHOP GALLOWAY.

Memphis Conference—At Central Church, Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 29.
South Georgia Conference—At Dawson, Ga., Dec. 13.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HENDRIX.

Northwest Mexican Conference—El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.
Central Mexico Conference—City of Mexico, Nov. 15.
Mexican Border Mission Conference—Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 23.
Texas Conference—Navasota, Tex., Nov. 30.
East Texas Conference—At Orange, Tex., Dec. 7.

EIGHTH DISTRICT—BISHOP KEY.

China Mission Conference—At Shanghai, Oct. 18.
Indian Mission Conference—At Vinita, I. T., Nov. 1.
Mississippi Conference—At Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 7.
Louisiana Conference—At Homer, La., Dec. 14.

NINTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HAYGOOD.

North Georgia Conference—At Gainesville Ga., Nov. 29.
Florida Conference—At Palatka, Fla., Jan. 8.

TENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP FITZGERALD.

Los Angeles Conference—At Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.
Pacific Conference—At Fresno, Cal., Oct. 11.

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies

—OR—

Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. BAKER & CO.'S

BreakfastCocoa

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Magnolia, at Magnolia	Oct.	18
Lebanon, at Lebanon		21, 22
Caseyville, at Bethel		23
McComb City		28, 22
Summit, at Summit		29, 30
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	Nov.	4, 5
Terry, at Spring Ridge		7
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel		10
Adams circuit, at Adams		11, 12
Holmesville and Topisaw, at H.		17
China Grove, at China Grove		18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman		23
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman		25, 26
Providence		30
Hazlehurst	(night)	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard	Dec.	2, 3
Wesson		2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Utica station	Oct.	14, 15
Martin, at Cane Ridge		21, 22
Learned, at Bear Creek		28, 22
Fayette, at Fayette	Nov.	4, 2
Sunflower, at Sunflower	(Wed.)	8
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	(Thu.)	9
Warren, at Oak Ridge		11, 12
Meadville, at Meadville		18, 13
Mayersville		25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	(Fri.)	Dec. 1
Hermanville		2, 3
Port Gibson	(Tues.)	3

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sharon, at Sharon	Oct.	14, 15
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet		21, 22
Lake City and Lodi, at L. C.	(Thurs.)	25
Silver Creek and B. Lake, at Hillsdale		28, 29
Yazoo circuit, at Fletcher Chapel	Nov.	1, 2
Madison, at Wesley Chapel	(Wed.)	8
Camden, at Shrock		11, 12
Bolton, at Bolton	(Wed.)	15
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas	(Sat.)	18
Jackson—First Church		18
Jackson—Capitol Street		19
Flora, at Flora	(Thurs.)	23
Benton, at Midway		28, 25
Tranquil		26, 27
Canton	Dec	2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Vossburgh circuit, at Central	Oct.	14, 15
Enentia circuit, at Fucntia		21, 22
E. and Stonewall, at Enterprise	(Tu.)	24
Meridian—East End	(Wed.)	25
Daleville cir., at Daleville	(Thurs.)	28
Linwood circuit, at Hopewell		28, 29
North Kemper cir., at Wellen	(Wed.)	Nov. 1
DeKalb circuit, at Pt. Ridge		4, 5
Binnsville, at Scooba	(Tues.)	7
Landerdale	(Thurs.)	9
Why Not circuit		11, 12
Chunky circuit	(Thurs.)	18
Marion circuit		18, 19
Meridian—West End		25, 26
Meridian—Central	(Sun. and Mon.)	Dec. 3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Ques 28. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Ques. 18. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up full collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Walnut Grove, at Rocky Point	Oct.	14, 15
Carthage and W. Grove, at Carthage		16
Hillsboro, at Oak Grove		17
Lake, at Lawrence		21, 22
Rose Hill, at Missionary		28, 29
Trenton, at Trenton	Nov.	2
Clarksburg, at Liberty		4, 5
Morton and Forest, at Morton		9
Fannin, at Fannin		10
Brandon station		11, 12
Montrose, at Montrose		18
Raleigh, at Raleigh		18, 12
Shiloh, at Cato		24
Marvin, at Wesleyana		25, 25
Westville, at Goshen		28
Homewood, at Zion Grove	Dec.	2, 3

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Vincent, at Manrepas	Oct.	14, 15
Live Oak, at Friendship		21, 22
North Wilkinson		28, 29
Wilkinson, at Bethel	Nov.	4, 5
Bayou Sara, at Star Hill		11, 12
St. Helena, at Center		18, 19
E. Feliciana, at Gilead		25, 25
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel		30
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Dec.	2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City		3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ethel circuit, at Tabernacle	Oct.	14, 15
Belzona circuit, at Hickory Grove		21, 22
Stewart circuit, at Stewart		28, 29
Sallis circuit, at Sallis		31
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	Nov.	4, 5
Rural Hill circuit, at Rural Hill		8, 6
Wier circuit, at Pisgah		10
Chester circuit, at Ackerman		11, 12
Kosciusko circuit, at Salem		18, 19
Eupora circuit, at Walthall		25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the allowances.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Starkville circuit	Oct.	14, 15
Brooksville		21, 22
Sturges		28, 29
Phœba	Nov.	4, 2
Sparta		11, 12
Mashulaville		17
Shuqualak		18, 12
Macon		18, 20
Hebron		22

T. C. WEBB, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Connersville, at Bethlehem	Oct.	14, 19
Olive Branch, at Millar		21, 22
Shelley Creek		28, 29
Red Banks circuit, at Wesley	Nov.	4, 5
Mt. Pleasant circuit, at New Salem		11, 12
Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia		18, 12
East Holly Springs, at Lamar		22, 23

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Oxford station	Oct.	14, 19
Tocopola		21, 22
Cherry Hill	(Tues.)	24
Atlanta		28, 23
Banner	(Tues.)	31
Chapel Hill	Nov.	4, 5
Pittsboro	(Tues.)	7
Abbeville		11, 12
Grenada circuit		18, 13
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.)	25
Water Valley station		25, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Nesbits	Oct.	14, 15
Mt. Vernon, at Free Springs		21, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg		28, 29
Arkabutla	(Tues.)	31
Morganville mission	Nov.	4, 5
Cockrum, at Green Leaf		11, 12
Wall Hill		19, 19
Panola		25, 25

If stewards and pastors will address themselves faithfully and constantly to their respective duties, salaries and connectional collections will be paid in full. Brethren, the Lord and the church expects everyone to do their duty.

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Aberdeen station	Oct.	14, 15
Saltillo		21, 22
Amory and Smithville		25
Pontotoc		28, 29
Tremont	Nov.	4, 5
Okolona circuit		8
Houston and Wesley		11, 12
Athens		18, 12
Buena Vista		25, 25

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

McNutt	Oct.	14, 15
Indianola		21, 22
Leherton		24
Sidon		28, 29
Black Hawk	Nov.	4, 5
Valden		11, 12
West		15
Carrollton circuit		18, 12
Winona circuit		25, 25

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Cleveland	Oct.	15
Bolivar		22
Shaw		29
Lyon	Nov.	5
Winterville		12
Friar's Point		19
Greenville		22

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine, at Donaldson	Nov.	13
Carrollton	(Tues.)	14
Gretna	(Thurs.)	18
Baton Rouge		19
Parker Chapel	(Tues.)	21
Moreau	(Thurs.)	23
Gross Tete, at Harmony		26
Dryades	(Tues.)	28
Lower Coast	(Thurs.)	30
Algiers	(Sun. morning)	Dec. 3
Crapé	(Sun. evening)	3
Louisiana Avenue	(Mon.)	4
Carondelet	(Tues.)	5
Felicity	(Thurs.)	7
Rayne Memorial	(Fri.)	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Evergreen, at Bunkie	Oct.	14, 15
Chicot, at Fairview		21, 22
Montgomery, at Montgomery		28, 29
Big Cane, at Mellville		28, 22
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Nov.	4, 5
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill		11, 12
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground		18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce		25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec.	2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville		9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards bestir themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Gansville, at Rochester	Oct.	14, 15
Sparta, at Bienville		21, 22
Downsville, at Downsville		28, 22
Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel	Nov.	4, 2
Vernon, at Oak Ridge		11, 12
Minden, at Minden		18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall		25, 26
Valley, at Sappe	Dec.	2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch		2, 10
Buston station		10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia		12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Wesley, at Wesley Chapel	Oct.	14, 15
Coushatta, at Coushatta		15, 12
North Bossier, at Huge's Spurr		21, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville		28, 28
Caddo, at Keachie	Nov.	4, 5
Shreveport station and mission		11, 12
Victoria mission, at Victoria		18, 13
Cane River, at Provencal		18, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh		21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove		23, 24
Many, at Many		25, 22
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup		28, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec.	2, 3
Mansfield station		2, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 28. (I include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamans, Midkiff, and Wood's Schoolhouse.)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge.

The District Sabbath-school Convention meets at Robeline, Oct. 26, at 10 A. M. Arrangements will be made for entertaining the delegates.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 9 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

The trustees of Pierce and Paine College property are requested to meet at Marthaville, Oct. 28.

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

629 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Winsboro, at Winsboro	Oct.	14, 13
Oak Ridge, at Mer Rouge		21, 22
Bayville, at Union		28, 29
Oakley, at Jourdin Chapel		28, 29
Calhoun, at Mt. Ariel	Nov.	4, 2
Harrisonburg, at Island		11, 12
Lapina, at Frantoma C.		18, 13
Lake Providence		25, 28
Waterproof	Dec.	2, 3
Delhi		7
Floyd		9, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Franklin and Jeanerette	Oct.	14, 13
Indian Bayou		21, 22
Plaquemine Brulee		28, 29
Patterson and Morgan City	Nov.	4, 5
Lake Charles—B. Street		11, 12
Jackson Street and W. Lake		12, 13
Grand Chenier		18, 19
Sulphur Mine		25, 26
Lake Arthur	Dec.	2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

What Do You Take

Medicine for? Because you are sick and want to get well, or because you wish to prevent illness. Then remember that Hood's Sarsaparilla CURES all diseases caused by impure blood.

Purely vegetable—Hood's Pills—25 cents.

HOW BABIES SUFFER

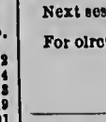
When their tender Skins are literally On Fire with Itching and Burning Eczemas and other Itching, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Diseases with Loss of Hair, none but mothers realize. To know that a single application of the

CUTICURA

Remedies will afford immediate relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy and economical cure, and not to use them, is to fail in your duty. Parents, save your children years of needless suffering from torturing and disfiguring eruptions. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.



PAINS AND WEAKNESSES

Relieved in one minute by that new, elegant, and infallible Antidote to Pain, Inflammation, and Weakness, the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, 25 cents.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

McTyeire :-: Institute

McKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50.

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination.

Next session begins August 31.

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin.,
McKenzie, Tenn.

Clinton Female Academy

(Chartered in 1832)

WILL OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 189

Course thorough. Charges lower than offered by any school of its grade in the South.

CHARGES PER MONTH.

Tuition per month	$2 00 to $3 00
Music " "	3 00
Use of Piano per Month	1 00
Painting in Oil " "	3 00
Drawing " "	1 00
Latin, French and Book-keeping, each per month	1 00
Incidental Expenses per Session	50

Board, Tuition, Washing, Fuel and Lights $12 per Month. $120 per the Session of Ten Months. For particulars address the Principal,

Mrs. S. E. MUNDAY, Clinton, La.

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, typewriters and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

HOPKINS'

PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 42. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1939.

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

NATURE'S POEM.

BY F. S. PALMER.

Dame Nature once, in godlike mood
Was with poetic fire imbued;
So calling to her aid each grace
That lived in secret woody place,
She robbed the roses of their hues,
She stole the freshness of the dews,
Their purity from lilies took,
Their perfumes from the violets shook;
And thus with her wild offspring's aid
Was nature's perfect poem made.

Such grace it had she could not bear
To see it lying lifeless there—
With glowing breath she made it human,
And called her fairest poem Woman.

—Cap and Gown.

Mississippi and Church Extension.

The cause of church extension has many attached friends and well-wishers in Mississippi who have shown their appreciation of its beneficent work by their contributions of money to its success. Measured by that rather misleading standard, the annual assessments on the Conferences, the two Mississippi Conferences taken together stand above the average, while in another interesting particular, which I shall mention presently, they have done far better than most of their sister Conferences.

In what I shall have to say as to the work done by these Conferences, I shall include, of course, that portion of the Mississippi Conference lying in Louisiana, and to that extent the title of this article is misleading.

THE ASSESSMENTS.

During the past ten years—the first decade of our church extension history—this record was made by the two Conferences: North Mississippi—Assessed, $25,344.50; paid, $15,356.64; say 61 per cent. of the assessments. Mississippi—Assessed, $22,702; paid, 15,422.48, or 68 per cent. of the assessments. The average payment of all the Conferences on the same account for the same period was 61⅛ per cent. Mississippi, therefore, is above the average, being about 64 per cent.

LOAN FUNDS.

The North Mississippi stands sixth among the Conferences in the amount of contributions to the loan funds, with $4,167.85 to its credit on the Robert Paine Fund, while the Mississippi Conference stands twelfth on the same account, with $1,644 to its credit, the two making up the sum total contributed to that fund, which is $5,811.85, constituting the Bishop Paine Loan Fund, the third in size of the named loan funds. This fund has earned $1,393.04 interest, which has been added to the principal, and the fund now aggregates $7,205 79—a very creditable showing for Mississippi. From this Paine Fund 19 churches have received aid in the way of loans to the amount of $10,135.

By the way: Of the subscriptions made to this fund in Mississippi, $1,426.75 remains unpaid. Gentle reader, is your name on the delinquent list? If all this were paid, and added to what has been paid and earned, Mississippi would occupy the proud position of having contributed about one-tenth in amount of the entire loan funds.

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS.

On special collections for designated objects the Northern Conference has contributed $376.75, and the Southern $102.70. The grand total contributed by the two Conferences, therefore, is: On assessments, $30,779.12; on Paine Loan Fund, $5,811.85; on specials, $479.45; total, $37,070.42. Graded by the total amounts contributed on all accounts, the North Mississippi stands twelfth, and the Mississippi stands sixteenth, among the Conferences.

THE WORK DONE.

Out of its moiety of the money collected on assessments, the North Mississippi Conference has aided 82 churches within its own boundaries, giving them $6,910 25, while the Mississippi Conference has aided 79 churches in Mississippi, giving them $6,896.40, and 11 in Louisiana, giving them $867.70, making, for the two Conferences, 172 churches aided with $14,674.35, down to the dates of their last annual reports to the General Board. This was an average of $85.31 to each church aided.

The General Board of Church Extension has aided 11 churches in Mississippi—7 in the Northern, giving them $3,650 and lending them $1,200, and 4 in the Southern Conference, giving $850 and lending $700. It has aided one church in the bounds of the Mississippi Conference in Louisiana, giving it $100.

MORE BLESSED.

Thus it will be seen that the Mississippians have given more than they have received, and so, it is to be hoped, have realized that higher degree of happiness that is promised to such as freely impart.

A THANKSGIVING LOAN FUND.

But how stands the case with those congregations that have been the beneficiaries of this bounty? What substantial token of appreciation have they given? An opportunity is presented them in the proposed Thankoffering Loan Fund, to do for others, equally as needy as they were, what has been done so generously for them. The plan, in brief, is this: Each church in Southern Methodism that has received church extension aid is earnestly solicited to contribute not less than five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, to this fund, in token of their gratitude to God and their brethren for the aid given them in their time of need. There are 174 of these churches, and if all would respond with even the minimum amount asked, it would increase materially the ability of the Board to respond helpfully to the many who are now crying as piteously for aid as did these from whom this acknowledgment is now asked. Brethren, is this appeal an unreasonable one? Is gratitude a lost virtue? Let us have a response from Mississippi—clear, strong, unanimous.

THE PRESENT DISTRESS.

A parting word of exhortation now as to the present distress. Owing to the almost unprecedented stringency in the financial world now prevailing, the calls upon the Church Extension Boards will be many and insistent. In order to meet the engagements already made, it will be necessary for us to collect, at least, as much as we received last year. But to provide for the many cases of distress unforeseen, of churches that were on the way without need of aid from us, but which now find themselves embarrassed and threatened with disaster through the embarrassment of their members, we should have not simply the customary percentage of contributions, but the assessments in full. Can we not have them? DAVID MORTON, Cor. Sec.

Louisville, Ky.

"Abstain from All Appearance of Evil."

This is most comprehensive. We are not only to abstain from all evil, but abstain from all appearance of evil. Some one will object that to do this will make us singular and peculiar. So it will; but this is the Divine purpose concerning us. Christ "gave himself for us that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people zealous of good works." A man zealous of good works will find so much to do, and so important to be done, that he will find little time and little disposition to spend his thoughts or his moments in considering what is good, or what has the appearance of being evil. There is so much of the positively and unquestionably good to do that it fully engrosses him.

There are, perhaps, a number of things that good men do that possibly may do them no personal harm, but there are those who would not regard them as indifferent or innocent acts; and if they did not, these acts would lower their idea of your conscientiousness, and that would weaken your influence and power to do them good. On another class your indulgence in the apparently evil might lead them to follow your example; but, having less caution and less self-control, may venture too far and fall into actual sin. We must look not only on our strength and power of self-denial, but consider the possible weakness and danger of others. The "appearance of evil" is often to others circumstantial evidence that we are doing evil. The chain of evidence to them seems complete, and they are satisfied we are doing evil. As professed Christians, we should carefully watch and guard against the "appearance of evil;" otherwise we shall, without at all wishing it, be stumbling-blocks over which some may fall and perish. We must not say, as we shall be tempted to do: "I am not going to have my liberty restricted by other people's narrow prejudices. I can't help their narrowness and want of sense." St. Paul knew it was ignorance that made men think it was a sin to eat meat sold in the market, a part of which had been offered to an idol. He knew and said an "idol was nothing in the world;" but it was reality to some, so he tenderly respected their ignorance and weak consciences, and said he would eat no more (such) meat forever. Our blessed Lord "pleased not himself;" he came to seek and save others.

All the real duties and privileges of our Christian calling are so plain that nobody hesitates. Nobody has ever asked me "if there was much or any harm in keeping the Ten Commandments, or to read the Bible, or go to prayer meeting, or to pray in secret." It is only about things that have the "appearance of evil" that people ask such questions. For example: If the means of grace as instituted by the church are promotive of spiritual growth and Christian fellowship, then the habitual neglect of them when it is in our power to avail of their benefits, has the "appearance" of a sin of omission. It looks as if we did not desire the communion of saints; did not enjoy the meeting for praise and prayer, nor feel glad when it is said unto us, "Let us go into the house of the Lord." If, by possibility, this should not hurt our personal piety, it will, beyond all question, hurt our reputation for zeal and earnestness in the service of God, and greatly curtail our influence for good.

If there are young people who can have no pleasures but card-playing, dancing and theatres, they are certainly to be pitied for being intellectually and socially so poorly furnished for the needs of life. These pleasures are frivolous, shallow and temporary. They are entirely inadequate to meet the profounder and greater needs of the soul. There will be hungerings and thirstings which these sensual and superficial amusements can never satisfy. Then, as professed Christians, we should remember these things have to many in the church, and many out of it, the "appearance of evil," and so we should abstain from them.

J. B. WALKER.

White Chapel.

Returning, on Oct. 5, from a good meeting at Morgan City, we left the next morning on the Southern Pacific railroad for Gold Dust, on the Chicot circuit, in charge of that live itinerant, Rev. James E. Denson. Our object was to dedicate the new church at that point, and to preach for a few days in a meeting. During our stay we had a delightful home with the family of Rev. Fred White, and received many kind attentions from the people on that part of Bayou Boeuff. Saturday night we had a profitable meeting and some conversions, and Sunday, Oct. 8, was one of the brightest days we have ever seen. The sky was cloudless, and the air balmy and delicious to breathe. The splendid weather, added to the general interest of the occasion, drew a congregation too large for the capacity of the building, many being compelled to remain outside during the service. The singing, led by Bro. Denson's choir, and participated in by the congregation, was of the first order, well rendered and hearty. After the sermon we asked the people for $500, to cover all indebtedness, and in a short while we had largely over that amount in cash and subscriptions, every dollar of which, it is said, will be paid. It was a pleasant thing to raise a collection from a congregation so ready, all giving promptly and cheerfully from the first fifty dollars to the mites in the hats at the close. Then came the dedication, doxology and benediction. The people of that neighborhood were very happy that day, and the amens and shouts were many. An elegant repast was served on the ground, and for several hours the brethren lingered in the church, singing the "incomparable songs of Zion" and talking over the auspicious event. White Chapel cost a rising of $1,500, and is a most beautiful church in architectural design and beauty of finish. Its graceful steeple can be seen for miles up and down the bayou, and, no doubt, its very comfortable pews will hold each Sabbath many devout worshipers. It has a seating capacity of 250 or 300, and at the dedication held very many more. The builders rendered honest work. The pulpit recess, roomy and every way suitable, with the pulpit stand of right height, and the church windows of tasteful shape and good size, and the walls and ceiling covered with paper of appropriate design and color, make it one of the handsomest auditoriums we have ever seen for a church of its size.

The Rev. Fred White is to be congratulated upon having such a gem of a church named after him, and the White Chapel neighborhood upon its erection there, and its being paid for in the scriptural way, without the aid of fairs, or suppers, and such like devices for raising money. The Building Committee did well.

We met many old friends, and among them Bros. Blacksher, Brewer, L. A. Kidd, President C. C. Wier, and Prof. John L. Scales. We preached eight sermons, and left a good meeting in progress. There had been many conversions, about one dozen additions, and the last service we held fully fifty were at the altar. Bro. Denson was looking for Bros. T. S. Randle, Ivy Hoffpauir and S. H. Cooper to help him and Bro. Fred White push the battle to decided and permanent success. JNO. T. SAWYER.

Oct. 12, 1893.

The Rayner Bible Work in Japan—No. 1.

When the Rayner plan for free distribution of the Bible was first discussed on the field, several objections were made; but those who understand it well, and especially those who have enjoyed the privilege of seeing its practical working, are thankful for the leader in it and the contributors to it. I had the pleasure, last week, of going with Mr. Rayner on his first regular distribution trip. He starts his work from Matsuyama, intending to go south from here as Winter comes on. But the trip to which I refer was at Tadotsu, where we stopped a day on the way from Kobe. In the morning we went up one of the principal streets taking in the situation, and, returning, we began the work, stopping at the doors of about ten homes and shops. Some of the keepers were backward about receiving, but only one refused, and the most received gladly and eagerly. At one carpenter shop the young man in charge was busy, and hesitated, not understanding; but he hailed a man passing the door, and asked if he ought to accept the book. That one replied, "O! course." This passer-by proved to be a Christian. He talked with us a little, and explained to us that the people were wondering why the books were given away. We went on, concluding, however, that it was best not to stop at every house, especially on account of the curious followers that were accumulating. We realized why the Master, in his work on individual hearts, sometimes wished the crowd away. One of the larger books was left at the headquarters of about twenty-five jinrikisha men, and as we returned to our rooms and thought of how, at that jinrikisha stand and other places, they eagerly gathered around the one reading, we knew that there needed be little fear lest the books given that morning would soon find their way to the second-hand book store, as had been objected by some, or lest Bibles given away would not be appreciated, as had been objected by others.

Upon Mr. Rayner's arrival in Japan several were so opposed to the work of absolutely giving away Bibles as to suggest plans for selling them at a nominal cost, or of carrying along with the gift books others to be offered for sale. Mr. Rayner kindly listened to all advisers, but wisely swerved not at all from the plan which he proposed while in Mississippi and Arkansas securing subscribers for the books.

In the afternoon of the stay at Tadotsu we took train for the neighboring Kompira, one of the greatest Shinto shrines in the empire. The shrine is situated up the side of Kotohira Mountain. The town of Kompira ascends the mountain and merges into the shrine, the final building of which is reached by 639 heavy and broad stone steps. The views from this point are very fine, and curious things are to be seen all along the ascent. Many frequent the shrine for their light devotions; many more to recreate and see the sights. The question, "How long shall the emptiness of Shintoism claim the right to give sufficient direction to the souls of men in things eternal?" we trust to have done a mite towards answering by giving Bibles to some occupants of the temple and visiting natives. Only one refused, and as we were leaving the town a mob of small boys gathered around begging for books. We gave them all the cheaper ones left. Mr. Rayner sang them a song, and we went back through the village-dotted plain.

H. G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Japan, Sept. 10, 1893.

Notice.

Bishop Galloway has postponed the dedication of our new church from Oct. 15 (third Sabbath) to Oct. 22 (fourth Sabbath).

J. S. SEXTON,
Chairman Building Committee.
W. H. BROWN, Secretary.

Hazlehurst, Miss., Oct. 6.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. J. M. Cowan, Lake City, Miss., Sept. 21: "On the night of the seventh we closed a most delightful meeting at this place. Results: Twenty-one accessions to the church, all of which professed conversion. The church greatly awakened. Bros. J. D. Crymes and H. M. Ellis were with us, and did the preaching."

Rev. J. A. Bowen, Aberdeen, Miss.: "We are in a good meeting here. The church is being revived and sinners convicted. We are looking for a time of refreshing. Bro. M. L. Blanton, of Nashville, Tenn., is delighting our people with his powerful preaching. We all love him. We are winding up well for Conference."

Rev. Ben. P. Jaco, P. C., Panola circuit, Sept. 26: "We have just closed our last meeting on this work. Had a thorough revival. The church was quickened and led to a higher life. There were many conversions and reclamations, twenty-two accessions, and many family altars established. Home religion has increased on this work this year at least a hundred per cent. We are praising God for victories, pushing on to greater achievements, and expecting continued manifestations of the Holy Spirit."

Rev. Thos. J. Martin, Ringgold circuit, Sept. 21: "I commenced a meeting at Rocky Mount Church on Sunday evening, Aug. 27, and continued two services a day for one week; also preached the three following nights with splendid results. The church revived throughout as it has not been for some years, with ten accessions. This church was almost spiritually dead. We covenanted together to fast and pray for God's divine help, and he signally answered our prayers. Souls were converted at almost every service. To God be all the praise."

Mamie Bell Harrison, Bear Creek, Miss.: "Will you publish a little letter for me? I want to tell Mr. C. McDonald I have just finished reading the three books in the Bible he asked the little children to read some time ago, and I hope he will do as he said. I would have written to him, but did not know his postoffice. Bro. J. N. Tucker is our pastor this year, and we like him ever so much. But, oh! how we do miss our beloved Bro. N. J. Roberts! It was so hard to give him up. I know St. Helena circuit will be blessed this year, for we think they have the best pastor in the Conference. I never did miss anybody like I do Bro. Roberts, and I hope ere long he will be our pastor again."

Rev. E. T. Breland, Wesson: "Have just closed an eighteen days' meeting at this place. Bros. Burton, Boone, Cooper and Griffin were with me, and did earnest, faithful preaching. God's saving power was manifested at every service—sinners rushing to the altar crying out for mercy, backsliders returning, and Christians groaning for a higher life. Other denominations joined in with us, and all the town seems to have been touched. Have received up to date fifty-six members—forty-three on profession of faith and thirteen by certificate. Mills have started a few more looms, and, we trust, will soon be in full operation. No man ever served a more appreciative people than the people of Wesson. Pray for us."

Rev. W. H. Sanders, P. C., Hill House and Dunoan charge, North Mississippi Conference, Sept. 22: "Allow me to say through the ADVOCATE that the Lord has been with us this year. Since I came here, last December, there have been forty-two accessions to the church, and there are still others to join. The Sunday-school work has improved much. There were only two men who prayed in public at the start, and now there are ten. There was only one family altar, and now there are seven. The moral tone of the country is much improved, and good is being done. The Sabbath is more observed and respected, and the cause of Christ is gaining fast. The Lord must and will have this rich Delta for the right, and we must take it in his name. Temperance and prohibition are gaining fast. The sheriff of our county (Coahoma) worked up the prohibition election, and led the election through to victory, and now says he will make the blind tigers howl if he catches them. What will Bro. Sam Jones have to say of this sheriff?"

Rev. D. W. Babb, Hebron circuit, North Mississippi Conference: "We have had two very encouraging revivals. First at Memphis, Ala. Ten additions, church generally revived, several new family altars erected, and both the men's and women's prayer meetings revived. Our second revival was at Center Point, Miss., which resulted in sixteen additions, church very much revived; also a prayer meeting promised, and some new family altars erected. We are indebted to Bro. D. L. Cogdell, of Brooksville circuit, for efficient services rendered during our last meeting. May the Lord reward him! Our finances are far behind, but we hope for a better future. This has been a year of sadness to many on our work. We have laid to rest many of their loved ones. We are induced to believe a state of more seriousness prevails on this work than for years gone by, which, we trust, will result in the breaking up of the habits of sin for which this charge has been so notorious. May God's plans not be thwarted, and may his will be done!"

Rev. P. H. Howse, P. C., Meadville, Miss., Sept. 25: "I have held four protracted meetings on my charge to date. First, at Meadville in July; preaching all done by Bro. G. A. Guice, which was in power and demonstration of the Spirit. His old home associates and his relatives were delighted with his preaching. Results: Two accessions, church revived. Our second meeting at Nebo, in August; preaching by Bros. W. H. Lewis and W. T. Griffin, which was spiritual and strong. Nine accessions on profession of faith; grand revival, family altars erected. Third meeting at New Providence, Aug. 19 to 22; preaching done by presiding elder and preacher in charge. One accession; two babies baptized; some deep impressions made. Our fourth meeting was at Oak Grove. At this point I had no ministerial help save Bro. Jim Griffing, L. P., who preached one sermon; but the Lord was graciously present. A glorious revival, with 14 accessions; one infant baptized; great many difficulties settled; about 20 or 30 conversions; some family altars erected, and young men promised to hold family prayer in the absence or sickness of their fathers, and a Wednesday night prayer meeting organized. We hope to bring up a full report."

Rev. J. V. Penn, Waynesboro, Miss., Sept. 18: "On Thursday, Aug. 31, I closed a grand meeting at 'Goldwood' Church, five miles west of Waynesboro. We had 24 accessions, many happy conversions, and organized a society of 32 members. I have never seen a more remarkable work of grace than the organizing and building of this church. We began operations here last year in a school-house with a Sunday-school and an afternoon appointment monthly. Finding a disposition to build, I secured a committee, consisting of Bros. H. C. Cochran, R. W. Fagan and Wm. Norton, and the people, regardless of creed, went to work cheerfully. A beautiful site of two acres was given by Bro. John A. Walker, and soon a neat structure, 26x40, complete, except painting, and worth five hundred dollars, crowned it. The cash outlay was about one hundred dollars; but the people gave materials, labor and time freely. Much credit is due Maj. H. C. Cochran, the energetic chairman. He laid the foundations in prayers, and God blest the work at every step. This is the home of Rev. John Jay Golden, our young preacher, who is now at Millsaps College. He did valiant service. The church is named for him and Bro. John W. Woodward, who gave all the rough lumber. May God prosper this enterprise!"

THE MOTHERS OF MEN

BY JOAQUIN MILLER.

The bravest battle that ever was fought,
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the map of the world you'll find it not—
'Twas fought by the mothers of men.

Nay, not with cannon or battle shot,
With sword or nobler pen;
Nay, not with words of eloquence fraught
From the mouths of wonderful men;

But deep in the walled-up mother's heart,
A mother that will not yield,
But patiently, quietly bears her part—
To them in this battlefield.

No marshalled troops, nor bivouac song,
No banners that gleam or wave;
But, oh, those battles they last so long—
From babyhood to the grave!

Another Chapter in the Experience and Observation of a New Presiding Elder.

BY T. L. MELLEN.

The adjective "new" is still used, as the novelty has not yet worn off. Indeed, I feel not only new, but decidedly fresh, green, and cheap.

Bro. J. S. Parker, after the Conference held two years ago, overheard a "drummer" talking over the various appointments and appointees, and the commercial traveler was so complimentary to my labors and to me that I had become just a little bit puffed up, especially as Dr. Lambuth and Dr. Steele just would put "D. D." after my name, and the Choctaws called me Mellen Ubanumpuli-Chito, and our Japanese brother Masao more than intimated that I was worthy of being called Shin Gaku Hakushi.

But, alas! alas! "pride goeth before a fall," and now I am in dust and ashes. Recently I met a member of the M. E. Church, South, who lives within twenty miles of Meridian, who had never heard my name, and asked me if Bro. Norsworthy was not presiding elder of the Meridian district and if Dr. Black was not still in charge of the church in Meridian! And the third quarter of my fourth year gone, and Dr. Black had been away from Meridian a year before Bishop Galloway surprised so many others, as well as myself, by making me a "dividing elder," as the colored brethren are wont to call their sub-Bishop.

Well, this has been a year of many trials, some troubles, some sorrows, many disappointments, much labor, but much peace and joy in the Holy Ghost. I have heard the cry of "hard times" in almost every key in which the human voice can be pitched. I have seen the paths of six tornadoes, and the wide swath swept by a hurricane, in this district this year, and I have witnessed some of the desolation wrought, and heard of much more. And yet I have seen the blessings of God poured out upon his people as never before—blessings in basket and in store, and rich spiritual blessings innumerable and unmeasurable. Surely God has been good to his people. And some of them have been honoring God in their afflictions and disasters and poverty.

At least ten new churches and one very neat, comfortable new parsonage will be reported at Conference. There have been hundreds of conversions and accessions to the church, and the net increase in the membership will be nearly as it was last year. It only remains for preachers and stewards to cordially co-operate with each other in order to bring up all salaries and assessments in full. An advance in the price of cotton would facilitate this work, but it can be done even if there be no advance in the value of cotton. Such crops of corn, and even of wheat; such crops of oats and rye, potatoes, sorghum and Louisiana cane; such abundance of vegetables; such fat cattle, and, in the greater part of the district, such fat hogs, and so many of them, that the people ought to be asking, and many of them will ask, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits?" And many will bring their tithes and offerings into the storehouse of the Lord, and prove him therewith.

I have only been caught in one drenching rain this year, and that was one Sunday afternoon in August, while Bro. John W. Toles and I were on the way from his hospitable home to Talla-Chniak Church, where Bro. W. W. Cammack had made an appointment for me to preach to the Choctaws. However much discomfort the rain might have caused us, it was all forgotten as the voices of the Choctaws were heard singing of Jesus and his love. What a privilege it was to preach to them of the cross as the measure of God's love, man's worth, and man's needs! What attentive listeners they were! Then came the baptism of two Choctaw babies—Wiley Warren Cammack, son of Bro. Nicholas Brokeshoulder, and Charley Monk, son of Wallace Willis. Then it was my privilege to baptize Lydia Jane Johnson, a bright little Choctaw girl, whom Bro. Cammack received into full fellowship. (How she does love to sing! Her face glows and her eyes sparkle with rapturous delight as she sings the sweet old hymns of our Methodist Zion.) After the baptismal sacrament the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered, and every church member present partook thereof. My heart was wonderfully stirred by the tears and sobs of the dusky sons of the forest, whom we have so shamefully and sinfully neglected for so many years. I know that our good brothers, John A. Vance and A. D. Miller, would have shouted had they been present. Bro. Charles B. Tinsley's heart did quietly overflow. Bro. Cammack and his faithful, efficient wife (who is a daughter of Bro. W. W. Simmons, of the Mississippi Conference) are doing a grand work among these Choctaws. Bro. Cammack and Bro. A. D. Miller, on their own responsibility, have purchased 160 acres of land as the beginning of a movement looking to the establishment of a colony of Choctaws, where the missionary can have general superintendence over them and their schools, and protect them from the grasping greed and oppression of unrighteous white men. This is essential to the success of the mission. Bro. Cammack and Bro. Miller will need assistance in paying for this land and other lands lying near by. I commend the enterprise most cordially. Bro. Cammack is discreet, and possesses the love and confidence of the Choctaws.

At Chapel Hill, on the Binnsville circuit, Sunday, Sept. 24, the babies were out in sufficient force to make more noise than the presiding elder. It has certainly been a good year for babies in that neighborhood. To me was accorded the pleasant duty of baptizing five of the precious little fellows, making thirty-two infants whom I have baptized this year—among the number being the baby boy of Rev. R. A. Breland and wife, to whom they have given my name. May blessings abide on all the little folks, and their parents all have wisdom to bring them up for God!

Most of the preachers have been laboring faithfully and zealously. Some have manifested a disposition to become wandering stars, and stray off in evangelistic labors to the neglect of their own vineyards. (Those metaphors are about as well jumbled as my sermon, last Sunday, under the influence of the babies; but I will let the sentence be.) The only question smacking of heresy, however, was in the case of a young preacher who could not tell the difference between fried chicken and fried fish! Why not? The discipline has been faithfully administered by several of the preachers, and good has resulted to the church and to some of the offenders, and, doubtless, to all of them eventually. Like proceedings are needed at other points, and, it is to be hoped, will be had. This should be done always according to Gal. vi, 1; but if the restoration can not be had, then the unfruitful, dead branch must be lopped off.

Two men have been licensed to exhort and one to preach, and, no doubt, several more will be licensed on the fourth round.

Another chapter, it is hoped, will complete my experience and observation as a presiding elder, for although wherever I have gone the good people have done the very best they could do for me, and their kindnesses will always be held in grateful remembrance, the four years of "variegated" existence are enough to satisfy. And my eyes are not on any particular pastoral charge, although my ax needs grinding.

About Shibboleths.

I enjoyed so much the article by Bro. Partridge in your issue of Sept. 28. There was such a broad, liberal, genuinely Christian spirit pervading it. We need many more of that sort, and far fewer of the narrow contracted sort which demands that all others must pronounce their Shibboleth or they can not pass. Now, Mr. Editor, I do not know a Methodist preacher who does not believe in and preach the doctrine of sanctification as he honestly believes the Scriptures teach it. There are differences as to theory on the subject. The principal difference is in what a small minority call the second-blessing theory. The number holding and teaching this theory is comparatively very small. In the North Mississippi Conference, for instance, only two of the traveling preachers, so far as I know, hold and teach this theory. Than these two, I presume, we have no better men, but they seem to stand alone. Some of the advocates of this theory have appropriated the word "sanctification" to their theory of it, and thus put all others down as opposed to sanctification. For instance, you, Mr. Editor, express pleasure at learning that Dr. Hoss held and preached this doctrine. Did you expect anything else? I presume the proportion of believers in the second-blessing theory of sanctification throughout the Southern Methodist Church is about as it is in the North Mississippi Conference. I know that majorities are not always right; but should not the fact that the advocates of this theory are in such a small minority lead them to great caution and liberality in expressing their views? But they say, Wesley held this theory. Yes; but others say he abandoned it before he died. Be this as it may, Wesley was only a man, and as far from claiming infallibility as any other man. With all due respect to the opinions of men, the question is, What does the Word of God teach on this subject? Barnes, in his notes on the New Testament, says, in substance, the Bible was given for the people, and not for the learned few, and that the most natural construction, as a rule, is the correct one. I have read Dr. Carradine's book on the second blessing, and a number of his articles in our papers, in which he quotes Scripture to prove his theory; and so I have read Dr. T. L. Boswell's proof-texts on the same, and then I read yours, Mr. Editor, in answer to Bro. T. W. Lewis' question; and, while I see in many of these the doctrine of sanctification, I utterly fail to see any proof of the second-blessing theory of it. According to my view, only a forced construction of Scripture can be made to sustain that theory—a reading into the Scriptures that which we wish to find there, instead of reading out of them that we do find in them; a system of eisegesis instead of exegesis. When I let God's work speak out its own sentiments, as I hear it, it says that God demands:

1. A complete change of heart. He says, "If any man be in Christ Jesus, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (II. Cor. v, 17.) If he is a new creature, old things having passed away and all things having become new, I confess I can see no foundation for the residue theory.

2. A thorough cleansing. He says, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (I. John i, 9.) I can see no ground here for a second cleansing without a repetition of sin.

3. That we be filled with the divine fullness. Paul writes to the Ephesians, "For this cause, I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ . . . that he would grant you according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God." (Eph. iii, 14-19.)

4. That we constantly grow in grace. Not grow into grace. That is an impossibility. Grace is a divine bestowment. We grow in grace as plants grow in soil. But we grow by receiving and using the grace. Peter says, "Grow in grace." (II. Pet. iv, 18.) "Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue, knowledge." (II. Pet. i, 5-7.)

5. That we go on unto perfection. "Therefore, leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection." (Heb. vi, 1.) "Having, therefore, these promises, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God." (II. Cor. vii, 1.)

6. Complete preservation from all sin. "And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." (Thes. v, 23.)

All this is the plain and simple teaching of the Word of God. I can conceive of no possible higher attainment in Christian character in this life. I know of no one who teaches any higher, and yet there is not an intimation of those distinctions and theories which are confusing the minds of our people, and dividing the ministry and church. Let us teach and urge upon our people the necessity for scriptural holiness, leaving off these, if not unwarranted, at least questionable human distinctions and theories. They are rending the church, and thus weakening the forces instituted by God for the salvation of the world.

J. D. CAMERON.

Senatobia, Miss.

About Evangelists.

This writer does not stand alone in the belief that unless our church takes charge of evangelists, evangelists will, in the near future, take charge of the church. This wild, irresponsible, self-made system of evangelism now operating in the church, and increasing at a rapid rate, is a contradiction of the very germ of Methodism. Look at it. Method: a uniform system. Methodist: one who does things in a uniform way. Methodism: according, or pertaining to, Methodists.

That there is no method about this present evangelism everyone knows, and if it has come into the Methodist Church to stay, it must be Methodized. The question needs legislation, and in all legislation on this subject four things must be kept in view, viz.:

1. The direction or control of the man.

2. The management and disbursement of the receipts.

3. The regular allotment of labor.

4. The proper definition of the evangelistic functions.

The first is necessary, because under the present unrecognized system men have thrust themselves out into this work whose example and influence are rather deplorable than a tonic. From a few such I have heard vulgarity and blackguardism, which I would be unwilling to write on this page. This, however, must go on because we have no law to correct or stop it.

The second requirement is necessary, because, at least, one of these evangelists boasts of getting more money than the President of the United States. As a general rule, forcing collections on an excited audience, brought together by the combined influence of an entire community, these evangelists carry away from each meeting held by them a sum equal to, if not larger, than that paid the pastor by that church, or community, for the whole year. So general has this state of things become that our best people have begun to doubt if after all it is not the money these men are after.

The third point must be guarded, because under the present system the destitute and poorer communities do not secure the labor of these evangelists. Atlanta, New Orleans, Nashville, St. Louis, Jackson, Meridian, and such other places as are strong in finances, or strong in Methodism! The "back-woods" and broken-down towns, where the people are poor and the church struggling for an existence, are points where they have not gone and will not go.

The proper guarding of the fourth point is essential for, at least, two reasons, viz.:

1. Some preachers who need an evangelist will not have one because of the irregular nature of the work.

2. Some preachers who want an evangelist can not get one because he can not offer sufficient pecuniary inducements. Still another, and a very good reason, exists in the fact that these evangelists frequently conciliate the rabble by crucifying the pastor—e. g., after denouncing some sin in terms more severe than God-like, seeing the dark cloud of disapprobation rising over the faces of that class of his hearers, he then pounces upon the preacher and scores him till the smile of approval begins to shine out these erstwhile sad faces.

Under our law there can be but one pastor. The evangelist must be subordinate, or superior. Let the law define this relation.

Again, it must be remembered that the law defines the duty of each and every class of preachers among us. What has made it possible for a man to pull out from all these well-defined responsibilities and on his own motion to become wholly irresponsible?

The reason why this question can not be promptly settled is the divided state of feeling regarding it. Some want evangelists and some do not. Some want their duties closely defined and some want them to go unrestricted. This writer has been "a party of the second part" above named. But it is now clear that this institution—evangelism—has come into the church to stay. It will do more harm to cast it out than to control it within.

In my next letter I will propose a plan for controlling it.

J. A. PARKER.

A Visit.

A reunion with old friends and loved ones to me is one of the most delightful episodes of my itinerant life. This I have enjoyed in the past two weeks. In compliance with a special invitation from my old pastoral charge, through Bro. R. M. Blocker, I attended the Mt. Zion Camp Meeting in Claiborne parish, six miles north of Homer, La. Among this people I had labored for twenty-three years. It was under my pastoral charge this camp ground was built twenty-two years ago, and a camp meeting has been held there every year since. The strongest attachments of my life are among this noble Christian people. I went there in 1863, when the war cloud overshadowed the whole country. I was called upon to preach the funeral of their fathers, husbands and brothers killed in battle, or who died in the army; buried their dead, officiated at the marriage of their children, baptized their children, waited at the bedside of their sick, prayed with and comforted their dying, received their children, and sometimes the parents, into the church, mingled in the shouts of praise to Israel's God, that gave victory to the church and success to the preached Word in the saving of sinners, and received from them Christian sympathy, prayer and kindness, such as I have never received in such measure from any people among whom I ever labored; yet I have always been kindly treated by all the people I have ever served for forty years in the itineracy.

It was on this camp ground, twenty-two years ago, that I passed through the severest trial of my life in the sudden death of my wife. And it was in this trial that these Christian friends endeared themselves to me in a bond never to be dissolved throughout eternity. Their sympathy was so substantial and helpful that its sincerity could not be doubted. It is here that the remains of my sainted wife rests to await the last trump, when God shall give us a grand reunion in the city of towers and mansions. Many of the old soldiers have received their discharge from the church militant; they have only gone before to give us a greeting above at the "beautiful gate."

The greeting of welcome which I received at Arcadia, Homer, and on the camp ground, forcibly reminded me of that other meeting "over there" by the river of life, when the last battle is fought and victory won. There will be this difference: The meeting here was mixed—joyous, yet sad; that other meeting will be unmixed—it will be all joy and bliss. As it was with the first and latter temple, so it was with this camp meeting; in external proportions the glory of other years far outshone the latter. But, like Israel of old, this community has suffered many reverses. Many have moved away and others have died; but the representatives left are of the old stamp in faith and good works, and their zeal for souls is unabated. We had a good meeting. Though the material in that community has been well worked up, we had several conversions, and the old familiar shout was heard in the camp and all hearts were made to rejoice.

All this country has materially suffered this year. In addition to the universal complaint of the pressure in finances, they have suffered from a destructive hail storm that almost devastated their crops, and now a seven or eight weeks' drought is upon them; but with it all they are cheerful and hopeful. And with their known pluck and enterprise, and a kind providence to smile upon and guide them, they will make it through.

Bro. Blocker has won the hearts of all his people on the Lisbon circuit, as he always does wherever he labors. He is doing a good work in that part of the Lord's vineyard. I greatly enjoyed the society of old, tried friends in Arcadia and Homer in passing, but my time was limited and I could not see as much of them as I wished to.

Homer is getting ready to entertain the Annual Conference, and I am sure they will do it right royally.

JNO. A. MILLER.

Lafayette, La., Oct. 3.

Montrose Circuit.

We held the last Quarterly Conference for the third round at Mt. Zion on the Montrose circuit last Saturday and Sunday. The attendance was large and the meeting spiritual. There were four accessions to the church. The collections were rather encouraging. On Sunday night I preached to a large congregation at Montrose in the new church, which is finished except the painting. We appointed a Parsonage Building Committee. Montrose circuit expects to have a new parsonage for the new preacher. Our district high school has had a good opening—the best in some years. Bro. Rawls is closing his fourth year here with increasing popularity and success. He will vacate one of the best interior charges in the district.

We have had gracious revivals throughout the district, a goodly number of accessions and a decided advance, spiritually.

C. MCDONALD.

Forest, Miss., Sept. 26, 1893.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: I want to change my proposition to the children, and will now offer to the boy or girl under sixteen years old, that will send me the largest amount of money for the Indian Mission, one Oxford Bible, to cost $3; the next highest amount, one Oxford Bible, to cost $2, and, third, one Bible, to cost $1.

Now, children, the money must be in my hands by the first day of December, when amounts will be summed up, and Bibles sent to proper owners.

Now, remember, amounts promised to me before is not to count, and I am anxious to have one, two, or more, in every neighborhood to go to work at once. If you get the premium, it will be nice, and if you do not, you will have been engaged in a great work.

I would be glad to have the name of every child that will engage in the work, and I will put them in my book, and then, when you send amounts, I will just credit it to your name. Send on as fast as you get enough; and we will call ourselves "The Children's Indian Mission Band."

Now, children, let your name come, join our band, and then send money when you can.

I will now offer to the lady over sixteen years old that will send me the largest amount by Dec. 1 for the mission, an Oxford Teachers' Bible, to cost $5, amounts to be raised after this notice is published.

Now, who will engage in this great work, and, at the same time, try to secure such a valuable present?—it being understood that amounts already promised are not to be counted. I would like to know who will engage under this proposition; please send on the names. Amounts must be in hand by Dec. 1. We will first pay salary of missionaries, and then buy land with the balance. I would like to have a lady, or more, in every community.

Dear sisters, please help me in this very important work, and also try for the valuable present. Send postoffice money order on Vicksburg, check on Vicksburg or Jackson, registered letter. Send to me at Oak Ridge, Warren county, Miss. A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss., Oct. 4, 1893.

Kosciusko District Preachers' Meeting.

The preachers of the Kosciusko district, North Mississippi Conference, met in Durant, Sept. 27, to organize a Pastoral and Theological Society. The organization was effected by the election of Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D. D., president, and Rev. R. G. Porter, secretary. Comparatively few of the preachers were present. The stringency of the times prevented some from coming, and some were otherwise engaged and some indifferent. A constitution was adopted and a permanent organization effected. The presiding elder of the district was made, ex-officio, president; R. G. Porter was elected vice-president; W. D. McCullough, secretary, and Rev. G. W. Bachman, treasurer.

The program, previously provided by the presiding elder, was taken up, and the several subjects were ably discussed. The three papers read—one on religious literature, by Rev. J. F. Evans; one on Sunday-schools, by Rev. G. W. Bachman; one on "How Can Our Ministry Be Made More Effective?"—were ordered to be sent to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE for publication. These papers will be sent to the editor by the writers. Some of them—one in particular—are long; perhaps, too long for your columns. The two first named are of sufficient merit to claim a place in your columns, and they are not too long for newspaper articles.

It is a great thing for the preachers to come together and to confer in regard to matters in which they are so deeply interested. Much and lasting good ought to come of these meetings. The preachers ought to attend them, and to come prepared to take a hearty and active interest in the Conference. There are great possibilities in associations of this kind. Rev. R. M. Davis, of the Winona district, showed his kindly face among us, and took a hearty interest in our work.

The good people of Durant gave bountiful and generous entertainment to those who were present. The next meeting will be held in Sallis.

It is to be hoped all the preachers, traveling and local, and all the exhorters will be present next year, together with such godly laymen as may be interested in our work.

GILDEROY.

Pickens, Miss., Sept. 28.

Water Valley Circuit, North Mississippi Conference.

We have just closed a meeting of wonderful power at old Pine Flat, with twenty-one bright professions of faith and nineteen accessions to the church—sixteen to our church, and three to the Baptist; others to follow. The entire membership was greatly revived, the most of whom praised God at the top of their voices. "It was the old-time religion." Old Father Hudgins, our local preacher, who is quite feeble and near the end, was with us two days, and though not able to be on his feet much, was heard to praise God at the top of his voice as he sat in his chair. Quite a number of family altars were erected, and the young people, together with those who did not erect family altars, promised to live by the day, having been convinced that daily lives, daily religion, was the only kind that would give any assurance of heaven and everlasting life, having been convinced that they could live without or above sin. At the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, administered by Rev. H. M. Courtney, our local preacher, there were sixty-five communicants.

This is the fifth meeting since our last report. The Lord has been with us at each appointment in great power; have had forty-six conversions up to date. We were ably assisted in our second meeting by Rev. J. C. Park, of Houston, Miss., with whom our people fell very much in love. We have one meeting to hold yet.

Our parsonage is well under way, having nearly all the framing up, and the rafters on, and the lumber with which to complete is forthcoming. We hope to drive the last nail before Conference. "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow."

W. A. BOWLIN, P. C.

Sept. 11, 1893.

Revival Notes from the Meridian District.

North Kemper circuit, Stonewall School-house, W. J. Ferguson, P. C., assisted by R. A. Breland: Ten accessions on profession of faith.

Marion circuit, Curtis Chapel, George Bancroft, P. C., assisted by J. C. Long, L. P., from Neshoba circuit, Brandon district: Fourteen accessions and believers much revived.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON.—Oct. 22, 1893.

PREPARED BY REV. A. F. WATKINS.

Christian Living.

(Romans xii, 1-15.)

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." (Romans xii, 21.)

TOPICAL OUTLINE.—I. The Principles of a Holy Life (vs. 1-5). II. The Duties of a Holy Life (vs 6-15).

CENTRAL THOUGHT.—Consecration.

INTRODUCTORY.

In the first eleven chapters of our Epistle, Paul has laid down the principles of the redemption of man through Christ. He has stated and argued the doctrines of the gospel, answered objections, and shown the blessedness which comes through the love of God in Christ Jesus. The section closes with his affectionate lament for the Jewish people—his brethren after the flesh—his vindication of God in their rejection, his abiding faith in their ultimate restoration, and his ascription of praise to the wisdom and knowledge of God. This ends what is called the doctrinal section of the Epistle. The practical section begins with the present lesson. In it the apostle seeks to apply the truths presented in the foregoing section, and to that end lays down certain principles by which a Christian life is to be regulated, presents specific instructions for godly living, and exhorts his readers to a practical exemplification of the new life made possible by the atonement. Without this specific application of the truth, the profound statement of the plan of salvation would lack much of its practical benefits to men, for men need not only the statement of great principles, but also the definite instruction by which those principles are to be applied, and the personal appeal by which a sense of personal obligation is to be aroused.

EXPLANATORY.

I.—THE PRINCIPLES OF A HOLY LIFE.

Ver. 1. The word, "therefore," indicates the closeness of the connection between this chapter and the foregoing, and generally between this section and that which precedes—a connection often weakened by the arbitrary division of the sacred text into chapters. The words are those of affectionate appeal. I entreat or exhort you, my brethren, in view of the compassion of God in making the gracious provision for human redemption, that you present, or lay upon God's altar, as the pious Jew would the sacrificial lamb, your bodies, the medium of your contact with the world and the instrument of your practical service to God, as a living sacrifice, in contrast to the dead offering of the Jew, holy, acceptable unto God, the service of a reasoning soul.

Ver. 2. And be not fashioned after the Christless world around you, whose only notion of service to God is the offering of fruits or flowers or the slaughtered victim; but suffer yourself to be changed by the renewing influence of God's Spirit upon the heart into the new life of faith, by which you may be able to know and practically to determine the will of God, and the condition of heart and the course of life that are good and acceptable and perfect.

Ver. 3. The principle laid down is that of entire consecration, the condition of which is humility. One of the most marked characteristics of the mind "fashioned according to this world" is pride, conceit, and undue self-importance. Only as a man thinks soberly of himself—not depreciating, not undervaluing himself—is he prepared to present his body a living sacrifice, a reasonable service to God. The expression, "through the grace given unto me," indicates at once Paul's humility and the authority by which he spoke. The words, "according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith," reveal God as the efficient cause and faith as the instrumentality, by which a wise self-measurement is rendered possible to us.

Vers. 4 and 5. This sober and just self-measurement is necessary not only in view of the relation we sustain to God, but also in view of that we sustain to our fellow-Christians. The Christian body, like the human body, is composed of many members, each one of which has a separate and important function to discharge. A wise estimate of our capacities will reveal our duties, and in view of the mutual dependence of the members upon each other, and their common subordination to the entire body, will inspire us to the humble and faithful consecration of our powers to the promotion of the common good.

II.—THE DUTIES OF A HOLY LIFE.

Let us consider Part II. under two heads: (1) Directions as to the exercise of special gifts (verses 6-8), and (2) General instructions applicable to all Christians (verses 9-15).

(1) DIRECTIONS AS TO SPECIAL GIFTS. (Verses 6-8.)

Ver. 6. The words, "gifts," "grace" and "faith" indicate clearly our dependence upon God, and as clearly the limitations of our responsibility. Whatever we possess is a gift of God's grace, and to murmur at their character or amount, or to envy others because of the bestowment upon them of seemingly superior gifts, is to question the wisdom and goodness of God. Our simple duty is to faithfully use the gifts bestowed. The prophet must declare the word of God, as by faith this word has been revealed unto him; his faith being the measure of his knowledge and his sufficiency.

Vers. 7 and 8. The words, "ministry" and "ministering," should not be understood as referring to the preaching of the Word, but to aptness for any special service to God and the church. This service may be that of stewards, trustees, Sunday-school superintendents, or any other by which we may serve the church and glorify God. To this service let us give ourselves. If we possess gifts for teaching, as in the Sunday-school, let us faithfully exercise these gifts. It may be that we have the gift of warm, impassioned, persuasive speech; to the cultivation and exercise of this let us devote ourselves. He that giveth let him do it with singleness of purpose—with no sinister motive, no selfish end; he that ruleth, with earnestness, promptness, thoroughness; he that showeth mercy, with readiness, willingness—a manner that indicates the pleasure with which the kindness is done.

(2) GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS AND EXHORTATIONS. (Verses 9-15.)

Ver. 9. Christians are under obligation to love all men. Let this love be sincere; for only such love can be helpful to men. But this injunction does not imply that men are to be loved without discrimination. Avoid the evil found in them and oppose it; seek the good and ally yourself with it.

Ver. 10. So much for men generally; as regards your brother in Christ, love him with the tender and unselfish devotion that you would give to a natural brother, being quick to give honor to others, rather than claim it for yourself. This is a strange principle to a worldly spirit.

Ver. 11. The acceptable service of the Lord requires diligence in all Christian zeal and duty, and a fervent, glowing, zealous spirit. No slothful, indolent, or indifferent spirit is consistent with the principle of consecration to the Lord.

Ver. 12. By earnest and persistent prayer—a holding on to God even when the promised blessing seems to delay its coming—the chastened spirit may abide in unmurmuring trust in the midst of tribulation, and from the depths of affliction to rejoice in its high calling's glorious hope. In speaking of the importance of constant, unceasing prayers, the Rev. Wm. Arthur once said to a body of theological students, "Keep the intercourse open."

Ver. 13. Cultivate a spirit of willingness to share whatever we possess with our brethren of the household of faith, and be not only willing to entertain those who may come into your home, but, remembering the sacred claims and never-failing blessings of hospitality, eager to exercise this grace.

Ver. 14. In nothing is the other worldliness of the Christian spirit more strikingly manifested than in the expulsion of the impulse to resentfulness and the enthronement of a temper that will bless when cursed and do good when despitefully used. The superstructure of an ideal character, that the apostle has built, is very high; but his foundation is broad and deep.

Ver. 15. So close is the connection between the members of the body of Christ that their sorrows and joys should be common. It is the spirit of brotherhood, the reflection of the spirit of Christ that we "laugh with the laughing and sorrow with the sorrowing."

PRACTICAL THOUGHTS.

1. The body consecrated to God becomes, by the sanctifying influences of the act of worship, holy unto the Lord. (Verse 1.)

2. Christians are not to follow the fashions, but to set them. (Verse 2.)

3. Only upon the humility of the child can be built the wisdom of the sage. (Verse 3.)

4. Not until we have learned the lesson of mutual dependence are we prepared to learn that of mutual helpfulness. (Verses 4 and 5.)

5. The faithful employment of his talent is all that God requires of any man. (Verses 6 to 8.)

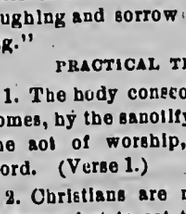
6. Mr. Beecher says that brotherly love is the mainspring of practical Christianity. (Verses 9 and 10.)

7. It is very hard for a lazy man to acceptably serve the Lord. (Verse 11.)

Doctrine without duty is a tree without fruits; duty without doctrine is a tree without roots.—Talbot W. Chambers, D. D.

That Tired Feeling

The great benefit which people overcome by That Tired Feeling derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." J. H. Emerton, a well known merchant of Auburn, Me., says: "About 5 years ago I began to suffer with very severe pain in my Stomach, gradually growing worse. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, being convinced that I was troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver and Kidney troubles. I improved at once and am very much better and feel more like working.



Mr. J. B. Emerton.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

always gives relief and great comfort. It is a God-send to any one suffering as I did."

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. Price 25c.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamor, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	8 102 grains

Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches

Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735 108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.822
Soda	6 045
Silicon	6 049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	213.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	20.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.018
Magnesium Sulphate	80 616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 083
Silica	6 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon. A. L. METZ, M. D.,

Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating: but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with fever. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

WALL PAPER.

The Spring patterns of Wall Paper are handsomer than ever before, and we are able to offer them to you at prices which are within the reach of all. We believe that anyone buying cheap paper will do better to invest 10, 12½ or 15 cents and buy a gilt paper or a fine blank for the small difference than to invest 5 cents in a cheap blank; but if you want the 5-cents paper, we have it and will be glad to sell it.

MATTINGS,

In novel and dainty designs, which can not be had elsewhere, as we control our own private patterns. Prices from $5 per roll of 40 yards, and up

LACE CURTAINS,

Rugs, Screens, Easels, Oil Cloth, Window Shades and Upholstering Goods.

ESTIMATES

Given for papering in the country under the direction of our foreman and with our own experienced corps of men.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., Lim.,

116 Camp Street, New Orleans.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,

124 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

WANTED.

An A. M. graduate, having twenty years' successful experience in managing large institutions of learning, wants to lease desirable school or college property. Parties interested please address

"COLLEGE PRESIDENT,"

Care of ADVOCATE.

Advertising in England, European Continent, Etc.

SELL'S

ADVERTISING AGENCY, Limited.

Capital, $250,000. Henry Sell, Manager (editor and founder of "Sell's World's Press").

Full particulars regarding British or European Advertising, sample papers, rates, etc., at the London Office, 167-168 Fleet street, or at New York Office, 21 Park Row, Ground Floor.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it, or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chichester & Son, 22 Bond St., New York City.

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO,

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger..... 6.55 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00p.m
Chic. limited...8:40 p.m	Chic. limited 12:01 p'm
Sunday ex.....8:30 p.m	Sunday ex.....7:35a m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 74, Cal. ex. 7:50 p.m	No. 78, Cal. ex 8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 8:20 p.m
Local.....10:35 a.m	Local.....3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley

RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:35 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:55 a. m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.,

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

FAT PEOPLE

To reduce your weight SURELY use Willard's Obesity Pills and lose 15 pounds a month. No injury to the health. No interference with business or pleasure. NO STARVING. They build up and improve the general health, beautify the complexion and leave NO WRINKLES. Lucy Anderson, 85 Auburn St., Cambridge, Mass., writes: Three bottles of your Obesity Pills reduced my weight from 185 pounds to 190 and I never felt better in all my life. I am much pleased with the result, and shall do all I can to help you. Our patrons include Physicians, Bankers, Lawyers, and leaders of Society. Our goods are not sold in drug stores; all orders are supplied direct from our office. Price per package $2.00 or three packages for $5.00 by mail prepaid. Particulars (sealed) free. ALL CORRESPONDENCE CONFIDENTIAL.

WILLARD REMEDY CO., BOSTON, MASS.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

"A" Grade, $67.50. "A" Grade, $45. QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

"A" Grade, $100. Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 200 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

McTyeire Institute,

MCKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination.

Next session begins August 31

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin.,

McKenzie, Tenn.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

The only Harmony book ever written, that can be readily understood by the average student.

GOODRICH'S Analytical Harmony.

(A new Theory of Composition, from the Composer's standpoint.)

Clearer and more helpful than anything I have seen. ARTHUR FOOTE.

A welcome relief from our present difficulties. WM. H. SHERWOOD.

Invaluable to teachers and pupils. EMIL LIEBLING.

It will be eminently successful. CLARENCE EDDY.

Goodrich has solved the great problem. B. MOLLENHAUER.

Delightfully clear. HARRISON WILD.

Plainly expressed and easily understood. JOS. H. GITTINGS.

A COMPANION VOLUME TO "MUSICAL ANALYSIS."

—PRICE, $2.00.—

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

Cincinnati—New York—Chicago.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Ch[art] of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D., of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address him and receive circulars free.

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D, Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guaranteed in Writing.

Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given to CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM of SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pages. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

55th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Courses degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and text-books, provided at rate of $265.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING

ELEVATED WOVEN WIRE

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Mention this paper. Cable. MCMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Block, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach CATARRH thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail

DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. CINCINNATI, OHIO. SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c. Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and terms FREE.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN). Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A., Best Improved Copper and Tin CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. J. M. Beard, CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. E. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, October 19, 1893.

The Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE will hold its annual meeting at 112 Camp St., Oct. 25, at 10:30 A. M.

The World's Congress of Religions at Chicago proved to be the fiasco that all thinking and pious men had adjudged it to be from the time that the managers of the Fair conceived it, and issued a call to the ambitious ecclesiastics of many lands. The difference between the world's conception of a religion and the Lord's, or between the true and the false, is that the measure of the former is to be taken horizontally, and that of the latter perpendicularly, or the difference between breadth and depth. World religions they were before they were mixed in that windiest hodge podge of the great windy, broad enough any of them to admit a Christian and heathen side by side, and world religions they will continue to be. Nothing mixes so poorly as faith and doubt, unless it be Christianity and conceit.

"Youth," by Charles Wagner, is a great book by a popular author, and will, undoubtedly, be read by the million. The writer is a seer who makes current history yield him myriad facts that must have been forever hidden from the common observer, and these he crystallizes into keen moralizing for the benefit of the rising generation. From the standpoint of the French Republic, where the events of the great century of civilization hasten with almost electric speed, and everything is formative except the dead religion, upon whose remains a new order of things is taking shape, he gathers innumerable deductions expressed in an oracular way, that can not fail to be of benefit to the reading public. Many things in the book are dogmatic, and some few things heretical, but, in the main, it is mild dogmatism and harmless heresy. Get the book from Mr. Van Valkenburgh, 9 Chartres St., and obtain a thoughtful man's view of the disease of the age; its cause and cure.

We publish this week a call from Bishop Key to the presiding elders of the Mississippi and Lonisiana Conferences, to be held in December, and in an accompanying note liberty is given to the editor to exhort a little on that line. We do so the more readily because it seems to us to indicate a painstaking effort in the right quarter that can be made successful if properly and heartily seconded, and only thus. By all means let the presiding elders exert themselves to have the statistics of absentees ready for inspection, as some sort of faint compensation for the preacher's failure to attend. When we work a problem in mathematics there must be no lacking integer, for an accident of that sort will negative all our pains. Partial statistics are almost as good as none, because in ninety-nine cases of a hundred those that are lacking are the essential ones. That the presiding elders should meet the Bishop on the day before the session we regard as eminently fit, for reasons that we need not urge upon our intelligent bretbren. If we are not mistaken, it has always been the English custom, and we should be glad, in view of the growing extent and complexity of the interests to be considered at our great annual sessions, if all our Bishops would adopt it.

More about Shibboleths.

Some of the brethren who write on the other side of that lately much-mooted theme, whose occasional mention seems to excite as much and violent opposition as though it were high treason, are endeavoring to persuade us and themselves that the issue between the defenders of the Wesleyan view of sanctification and its opposers is but one of the dropping of h's. A man who speaks a good Jerusalem dialect in all other particulars ought to be allowed to suspend his aspirates even at the crossing of the Jordan, say they, if the object is so laudable a one as to get into Canaan, and the subject of blessing so universal in its address as the gospel to sinners.

To all that we reply that they greatly mistake the question at issue, if they suppose for a moment that it is one of words or genealogies or curious questions. Shibboleths quite fade out of the perspective when we come to contemplate Shekinahs. The right emphasis of one doctrine or two or three is as nothing to that clear shining of the light that is in itself praises, if not the very substance of the gloria in excelsis. We have nothing to do with pronunciations or pronunciamentos either; but it is most difficult for us to see how our brethren, not deficient in mental or scriptural enlightenment either, can confound the white light of divine demonstration both in Scripture and human experience with the mere dawnings of the same subject in doctrine or ethical statement. If we had no Scripture, or only few instead of many, to say that there is no meridian of experience or sensible progress towards it or conscious borning into it, would be to overstep the boundaries of reason and probability as well as to interdict Shibboleths. Let us be reasonable as well as liberal, and in our effort to justify our age-worn beliefs not limit the Holy One of Israel or charge God foolishly.

There must be divinity in experience if there was godhood in humanity; and if we are not to be partakers of the Divine nature, then our Lord conceded too much when he became partners with us. Now, we say that a man must consciously partake of the divine glory while he inhabits the flesh, and that no man can do so without entering a cloud as palpable and as sharply defined upon his moral horizon as that which received our Lord's body on the Mount of Ascension; and the brethren tell us that we are calling out Shibboleths, and uttering exclusion acts to the damage of our church. We wholly deny the statement, and assert that we have propounded no password that did not come to us from the lips of our Lord himself. If he announced a Shibboleth, it was his prerogative; and that he did so no one at all versed in Scripture will have the temerity to deny.

A Shibboleth, or one or more, of heavenly manufacture, is a lawful subject of currency, and we ought not to be blamed for circulating it. Dr. Cameron asserts that there are only two professors of entire sanctification in the North Mississippi Conference, which seems to us to be a somewhat extravagant statement; but, assuming it to be true, it is a sad commentary upon the kind of doctrine preached there, as well as reveals a woful lack of the Shibboleth element in standing for scriptural conditions. At least, our brother should not object to our shouting Shibboleths at a crowd like that. Speaking for himself, he declares that all the sanctification Scriptures in the Bible mean anything but sanctification, though, like all occupying the negative of the discussion, he claims to be a strong advocate of sanctification. But let us have peace, he says like the balance. Don't wake the sleepers nor excite with heated brands the animosity of the enemy of souls. A decent regard to orthodoxy and the presence of death ought to serve to suppress crankism if it can not rid the country of cranks. Above all, don't set the country astir with your ill-timed Shibboleths that murder sleep if they do not wake the dead. Let us have peace, if not apathy and stagnation. Don't rend the church with that axe of schism and separate very brethren, he continues, as though our Lord did not send it for that very purpose, and ordain its passage to victory through dismembered communities and sundered brotherhoods.

But, even admitting the remedy to be Cæsarean, and the issue suggestive of fatality, it can in any case prove only a bitter alternative, as the choice of a sudden or even violent taking off to the slow death of pulmonary disease, or the Vesuvius fires of dropsy. Who would not prefer the lightning path, especially if he could wrap himself in a wedding garment for a shroud.

The Storm.

The storm that swept our coasts a week ago was, perhaps, the most severe in a century. As tidings of the disaster have increased, its dimensions have grown upon the public mind until for days it has filled for many the whole perspective of contemplation. Two thousand souls swept out of being by a carnival of wind and waves that scarcely paused as it swept by on wings of night, represents one of the most appalling disasters of modern times. The cyclone that desolated Last Island, a few decades ago, though sufficiently destructive, is scarcely worthy to be mentioned in connection with it, whether we institute comparisons as to force or extent. Yet more than the loss of life was the loss of property, and more than either was the grief and heart-break occasioned by the disruption of community and family ties. Many widows and orphans are driven out into the great world penniless and forsaken, and many with only grief for a companion, and the wraith of that awful night of storm pursuing them even in dreams, are far more desolate than if they had been merely left alone in the world or deprived of ordinary companionships.

But while we mourn in sympathy with the common distress, let us not forget in such a presence the bright compensations that Heaven offers to human sorrow and bereavement. Even our little earthly philosophy teaches us that there is no period of storm so violent that the calm follows not after, and no night of grief so dark that its horizon is not star-sprinkled; and, standing upon the higher heights of inspiration, who need to be told at a time like this, that for nearly two thousand years suffering has of all things human been nearest akin to divinity, and that misfortune, so far from being an outcast as the world's wisdom would have it, is Heaven's favorite child. A Savior first to the ruined, and then a Comforter (orphanouz, literally a consoler of the orphanned) God has given to the sufferers; and although the gift is most palpable, so far do our thoughts customarily dwell from the grave subject, that it is often necessary for us to find suffering that we may find its blest sequel of comfort. That sky from which the desolating storm was emptied upon the quiet communities by the sea was big with mercy too, and the fairest face that the universe contained smiled through the hurricane upon the wrecked homes and hearts that lay beneath. Jesus was in the wildest agony of the enraged elements, loving his own to the last, pitying the self-destroyers, and rescuing the souls that shrieked for mercy as the dark waters gathered around them. With many of the dying we would fain believe it was but the crossing of a dark boundary to a brighter shore, and, with many others of the saved, it was but veering from the beaten track to the less accustomed ways, where the Son of man walks as both guide and companion to earth's benighted. Thus all God's children are sorrow-led through the region of storm into the realm of cloudless day.

The Southern Quarterly Review.

The Southern Quarterly Review, just out, is one of the best numbers. The first article, "Sin and Temptation," is by W. E. Edwards, and will be read with interest by persons who make a correct theodicy the basis of their religious beliefs. It rather leans to the position occupied by the higher critics, and what it makes up in this sort of spice it loses in orthodoxy.

"Short Poems of Trouble and Sorrow," by Paul Whitehead, is a gem, and contains with appropriate comments some of the most touching lyric productions on this subject that, perhaps, have ever fallen from the human pen. The writer exhibits rare poetical taste both in his selections and observations.

Dr. DuBose's article, on "Socrates and St. Paul," in which he figures out many biographical and thought-resemblances between these greatest men, is of uncommon merit. The coincidences noted, or the plan of treatment either, are hardly original with this writer; but he displays both ingenuity and learning in the curious disquisition which he builds on the well-known facts, and no one who reads the first sentence of his contribution will conclude without reading the whole.

Bishop Haygood, on "The Leading Characteristic of the Age," is, as usual, strong and scholarly, though sometimes loose in statement, and once or twice in this article a little distraught in his observations upon history. His statements, in the main, ought to prove both revelation and inspiration to many multitudes of our time and of our Christianity, too, who seem to have lost sight of the fact that the Son of man is moving swiftly to the subjugation of the races of the earth in the close of the great century.

An article reviewing Huxley, by A. C. M., is real dynamite to the unscholarly pangenesis of that boasting writer; and another, by E. Margeson, "Does Death End All?"—and singularly enough consisting in the main of a caustic review of the unscience of Prof. Tyndall—is quite worthy to be its companion-piece.

Miss Hattie E. Galloway, the talented daughter of our Bishop of that name, writes an interesting article on "What the Middle Sea Has Seen." Facts, figures and arguments are placed in recondite and tasteful array, and in many ways exhibit the youthful writer's excellence in a difficult field of composition. The classical allusions, which, are, of course, numerous, by the exigency of the theme, are singularly well chosen and correct. A mere blunder in figures, doubtless attributable to a lapsus pennæ could well have been spared a foot-note by the painstaking editor.

Other articles of exceptional merit are "Our Theology and our Science," by J. R. Brooks; "Reading Books," by J. A. Anderson, and concluding part of "An Adventure in Venice," by A. C. M.

Dr. Harrison's scholarship and mania for the curious learning of the past (and the genus bibliophile, for some unexplained reason, is getting scarcer as book-making increases) makes him an excellent Review editor. With an added flavor of what we might call religiousness, and which alone could have made it acceptable as a higher-class literary organ of the church in the first age of Methodism, it would, perhaps, fully meet the popular demand.

Two Baptisms.

John's baptism was with water, which had been the symbol of divine cleansing from the earliest ages. It set forth as a speaking ordinance or object-lesson, a thorough purgation of the people from their age-long iniquities, and, if it had been less than indicial of his great work, it would not have been worthy of so illustrious a preacher or of so momentous an era. John's baptism, we are persuaded, could have differed nothing from that which was administered by our Lord and his disciples prior to the crucifixion, being that from which indeed they derived their own credentials to perform the rite, and without which we have no reason to assume that they were regenerated persons themselves. It could have been said of our Lord equally with the twelve Ephesians, or the twelve apostles either, previous to Pentecost, that he knew no baptism but the baptism of John, and we may as reasonably contend that that baptism, being the exemplary sort, was as much connected with regeneration as its coetaneous symbol, as any that has existed in the whole history of the world. A chance expression in the Book of the Acts, coupled, perhaps, with a design of guilty persons to escape the whole penalty of sin, has been allowed to discount a great era of redemption, if not to divest of both doctrinal force and scriptural identity the solemn inauguration of that great rite which was in all ages, and we should suppose above all others, as the eldest, to stand for the new creation.

Either John's baptism implied regeneration as an accompanying phenomenon or it meant nothing. John baptized unto repentance, it was said; but so did our Lord, and the former was contrasted not with the latter's inferior rite of baptism with water, but his superior rite of baptism with fire. Genuine repentance does not stop short of regeneration, baptism itself being the culminative point, even as regeneration is often contemporaneous with sanctification. But John told his hearers distinctly that our Lord's baptism was to be something entirely different. You rejoice in my baptism, he would have said, but he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and fire. My baptism is by water, as a cleansing medium; his by fire, a more powerful detergent. Mine is earthly, and mixed with material things; his, divine, and effecting such lustrations upon the fabric of mortality as the hottest fire upon the hardest metals.

The two baptisms unmistakably represent the two doctrinal eras of human redemption, and are denominable by such terms as lower and higher. Not only do we see this in their substance, as defined in Scripture, but we see the latter unmistakably in its effects upon the disciples after the fire had descended upon them in successive Pentecosts.

The water rite is initiatory, the fire rite is confirmatory. John said, ye esteem my rite severe and my doctrine unbearable, but it is but as water that is quenched by flame to that which is to follow. If he had paused to explain the philosophy of the two-fold work, he would have said, It is easier for a man to die to sin, than for the same man freed from sin to die to self, and the last work is that crown of salvation without which no sinner can enter the presence of the Holy of Holies. It is not in minifying John's ministry, but in magnifying Christ's, that we are to strike the mean of infallible truth that shall put us in touch with divinity.

NOTES.

The easiest way out of a difficulty is usually not the best.

***

Bishop Key seems to cherish a reasonable degree of enthusiasm for statistics.

***

Some who did not get to see the great Fair have sweet anticipations of heaven.

***

Man made the town and God made the country, but God made the Christians of both localities, and as far as our observation goes they are about on a par.

***

Hard times seem to produce no visible effect upon the prices and sales of real estate, and the rapid progress of building interests in the greatest cotton and sugar metropolis of the world.

***

Before undertaking a more elaborate reply to our brethren of the Publishing Committee, who twit us about "Shibboleths," we shall wait to hear from the annual meeting, and ascertain whether they really meant us or themselves.

***

If there is anything that the average church, though self-conscious about ordinary matters, does not know better perhaps that all other things, it is who it needs for a pastoral overseer. In that matter "cast all your care upon the Lord."

***

The banking statistics of the country for last week showed that there was an abundance of money in the banks, particularly in New York, and the effect of the period of stringency, which is as great in financial circles as elsewhere, proves beyond a doubt that the bankers are leading the panic.

***

Dun's Review, for the week ending Oct. 7, states that "failures for the week are nearly as numerous as last week, and still much larger than for the corresponding week last year;" and adds that "this is likely to continue to be the case until the period of liquidation through which the commercial world is now passing has elapsed."

***

The Bishop who is to preside over the next sessions of the Mississippi and Louisiana Annual Conferences, it is said, once summarily dismissed the protest of two laymen against the return of their preacher when advised that they were not regular attendants on the prayer meeting. If that rule were faithfully worked in some quarters, there would be few changes.

***

Entire sanctification quite destroyed the place-seeking spirit in the disciples. Before Pentecost they wanted to be one on Christ's right hand, and one on his left, when sitting upon the throne of his kingdom. After that event they were anxious of crucifixion honors, and rejoiced that they were "counted worthy to suffer shame for the name of Jesus."

***

We have heard it intimated that a leading cause of the monetary distress is to be found in the fact that the great Republican manufacturers, shippers, and finance kings of all degrees and complexions are boycotting the Cleveland administration and its tariff policy. This may or may not be true, but those given to this sort of exercise should be warned that the boycott gun is a double back-action implement of death, that never misses the man who stands behind it.

***

The Giraffes are considerably shaken up at this writing, and while all are straining for the tallest poplar, it seems morally certain that some of them will have to content themselves with scrub-oak herbage. It has come to pass that Giraffes are more than high steeples, and the man who has for so many years been faithfully seeking to invent a new pleasure, can now, with the greatest propriety, be urged to turn his attention from air castles to cathedral building. Something ought to be done for the relief of suffering Giraffedom.

***

A note from Rev. T. K. Fannt LeRoy, Oct. 8, says: "I have just finished my mission church down in the forest by the lake. Had a good time on yesterday evening; the Spirit of the Lord was with us. I think much good will come of it." And so do we. The gospel will be as great spell to that little forest community who, wanting it, lacked everything that can make life desirable. About twelve miles from Mansfield this devoted pastor found a large community of people hidden away among lakes and forests who had never so much as heard whether there was any Holy Ghost, and went to work with dispatch to provide them with the conditions of Divine blessing, with the above result. There are a great many waste places of this kind in our moral heritage that ought to be caused to blossom, but which have received only elbowing and neglect from their rich neighbors. Let the "old wastes" be built, and the "former desolations" be made to utter praises.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Rev. T. J. Dunoan has joined the Giraffe procession, and paced away off to Los Angeles on the Pacific border.

The Farmer's Journal and Farm News free to new subscribers and renewals when accompanied by the cash.

The Moreau Street Church was struck by lightning one day last week, and damaged to the extent of fifty dollars or more.

Bishop Keener, looking rested and strong, left on Thursday last for Lebanon, Tenn., the seat of the approaching Tennessee Conference.

Mr. H. B. Thomasson is an authorized agent of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE to take advertisements and subscriptions, and receipt for moneys due.

The many friends and admirers of Dr. J. B. Walker will be glad to know that he is enjoying the best of health, and that his gospel bow abides in wonted strength.

Rev. H. C. Morrison, the great evangelist, is engaged to preach and assist the pastor in a revival meeting at Felicity Street Church, this city, about the middle of November.

The ADVOCATE has received ten dollars from a friend in Mississippi, whose name it is not privileged to disclose, for the benefit of the storm sufferers. The amount has been turned over to the Relief Committee.

A note from Nashville informs us that Dr. Hoss had authority from Bishop Keener to publish the article on silver; but still, knowing its history, ought he not to have given credit to the paper in which it first appeared?

We regret to note the death, last week, of Prof. C. A. Grote, of the Southern University, at Greenshoro, Ala. He was brother-in-law to Dr. W. H. LaPrade, and our information is that he was an amiable and scholarly man.

He who ruleth the raging of the storm cared for the Seashore Camp Ground and the valuable interests there during the late cyclone, not a shingle being disturbed. This notwithstanding great damage to property at both Biloxi and Mississippi City.

The editor of the ADVOCATE has received the sum of fifteen dollars from the Methodist Church, at Wharton, Texas, through its pastor, Rev. D. H. Holchkiss, to be turned over to the Relief Committee for the benefit of the storm sufferers. In the name of the beneficiaries, we return thanks to these distant friends.

Messrs. W. A. Wilde & Co., Boston, have just issued "Peloubet's Select Notes" for 1894. It is Dr. Peloubet's 30th annual commentary on the International Sunday-school Lessons, and, like its predecessors, presents the Scripture truths in an attractive, comprehensive, and convincing manner, from both spiritual and practical standpoints.

Dr. Peterson's death in Virginia has created a profound sensation throughout the church. He was an able man, in counsel, and in the pulpit, and on the platform. He was, perhaps, our most thorough parliamentarian and statistician, and made a stately figure at the General Conference sessions. But, above all, he was a Christian pastor, embodying in his ministry the noblest qualities of head and heart, and beloved of all to whom he sustained the pastoral relation. Few men could he so ill spared from our itinerant ranks.

Our good friend and brother, Dr. J. D. Cameron, totally misunderstands us if he supposes that we propose any other definition of entire sanctification than he gives in his last five propositions. Our difference is not at all about terms, but what they represent. Grace, he says, is a divine bestowment. Only let it be so, we reply. If anybody even pretends to have grown into sanctification or perfection in the enlightened region which he represents, we will thank our brother for the name and address. A text that all opposers of sanctification as a pentecostal gift are fond of quoting, and which has a prominent place in the communication of our brother—not ignorant of the Greek—should, as he must know, be rendered, "Let us be borne on to perfection." In that form it suggests, as it certainly was intended to do, the prophet's metaphor of "mount up as on eagles' wings," and "borne as on eagles' wings."

Southern Amateur Athletic Union.

The Queen and Crescent Route and Louisville Southern Railroad will sell tickets at a greatly reduced rate, for the round trip, to New Orleans, La., on account of meeting of the Southern Amateur Athletic Union, New Orleans, La., Oct. 28, 1893.

Tickets on sale Oct. 26 and 27, from all points on Q. and C. and L. S. R. R., with return limit Oct. 29, 1893, inclusive.

Solid vestibuled trains, Cincinnati to New Orleans. Ninety-four miles shortest line. Only 26½ hours.

Call on agents for full particulars.

W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

The ADVOCATE to subscribers and renewals from now until Jan. 1, 1895, for $2.

To the Presiding Elders of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

I have two requests of importance:

1. Meet me on the day before your Annual Conference sessions at 9 o'clock A. M. at Hazlehurst, Dec. 6, and at Homer, Dec. 13,

2. Bring with you the statistical reports of each pastor in your districts; the reports he intends to present to Conference. If you can not secure them soon enough to bring yourself, have the brethren mail them to you at the seat of the Conference, so you may receive them by the above dates. I want them for my own special private study.

3. I request the secretaries of the two Conferences to send me as soon as convenient copies of Annual Conference Minutes for the last five Conference years. I wish these for study and comparison. Fraternally,

JOSEPH S. KEY.

Sherman, Texas, Oct. 10, 1893.

No other sarsaparilla has the merit to hold the confidence of entire communities year after year, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla. It possesses curative power peculiar to itself.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25c.

In Memoriam.

Died at his residence, Gallman, Miss., Dec. 4, 1892, Dr. J. F. Alford, in the forty-ninth year of his age.

This Christian teacher, eminent physician and intelligent agriculturist passed from this life with the old year, and Copiah to-day mourns the loss of one of the noblest of her sons.

Born of old Scotch Presbyterian ancestry, he came of a royal race of honest men, and inherited from them those psychical materials that go to make a noble character. With these materials parents and son builded wisely and well. Affliction laid early her blighting hand upon the youth; but he was undaunted by difficulties, and by misfortunes was undismayed. Of a studious disposition, and possessed of an inflexible purpose, he soon outstripped his fellows in the race for learning. When in '62 the drum-beat sounded the call to arms, and he was unable to obey its summons, the neighborhood turned to J. F. Alford as the worthiest instructor of its youth.

While a young man he was converted in a meeting at Bethesda, and became a faithful and consistent member of the M. E. Church. The Christian precept, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them," he accepted as the maxim of his life, and, living this maxim, he lived at peace with all men, and thus taught lessons of equity and charity that will outlast time and go with some of us into eternity.

Among the medical fraternity his rank was high. At all times a welcome guest and medical adviser in the homes of the wealthy, the inmates of the cabin remember with tearful gratitude the loving deeds and tender charities of Dr. Johnnie.

March 7, 1818, he married Miss Fannie Sanders. Six children were born of this union, one girl and five boys, the youngest an infant, and all of them too young to realize the loss of a father; but God in taking that father has left to these children the greatest earthly blessing, a wise Christian mother. The oldest boy preceded him nine years.

A painful illness of several weeks was borne with much fortitude, the spirit growing stronger as the body grew weaker, until the night of Dec. 4, 1892, surrounded by relatives and friends, he quietly passed away.

The following evening his body was laid to rest in the family burial ground, there to await the resurrection; and there in the name of the pupils of the old New Era School we would place this humble tribute of affection upon his grave, for we all loved him living and we love him still. M. E. M.

To retain an abundant head of hair of a natural color to a good old age, the hygiene of the scalp must be observed. Apply Hall's Hair Renewer.

Day of Prayer.

The second Sunday in November is to be observed as a day of prayer for God's blessing upon our Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Societies. May the Lord greatly bless this portion of his vineyard!

MARY WERLEIN, Conf. Sec.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Bramhles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

Letter from Bay St. Louis.

"God smiled his sweetest smile when he made Bay St. Louis," was the remark of an enthusiastic lover of the Bay on my arrival here. It is certainly a charming little city. Nature seems to have lavished every gift at her command to make this the loveliest spot in this beautiful gulf-coast country. Balmy atmosphere, salt waves, glorious sunshine, luxuriant foliage, towering, moss-covered, ancient oaks, sweet flowers, varied Southern winged songsters, and sky the bluest of the blue, all combine to make it a most charming Summer resort. And so it is. If you are seeking the Summer crowds, you'll find them at Bay St. Louis. But, like all fashionable watering-places, where the people are out for a vacation, their religion is also given a vacation.

How many backslidings will result from this Summer's outings only eternity will reveal. However, I utter no complaint against the New Orleans Methodists. While here they did not "forsake the assembling of themselves together." Some were negligent; but there are negligent sheep in folds other than the New Orleans fold. Oftentimes we forget the one faithful in mourning over the nine sinful; sometimes we forget the nine faithful in mourning over the one sinful.

God is honoring and prospering Methodism on the gulf coast. Where she is not gaining ground she is holding her own. Here at Bay St. Louis a monument to the zeal, devotion and love of the women of the Methodist Church has just been completed. It is a beautiful parsonage—one of the loveliest for its size in the Mississippi Conference. It represents the toil and self-sacrifice of a small band of as consecrated women as can be found in the bounds of Methodism. Under difficulties many and tolls abundant the work has been accomplished. An appropriate name—the "Sunbonnet Parsonage"—has been suggested. In this semi-tropical climate sunbonnets are indispensable, and our good women were brave enough to engage in this industry, which has been the main source of their revenue. When the hammer of the carpenter ceased, and the painter's brush quickly followed, and the last finishing touch was given, a consecrated little woman heaved a sigh of relief, and said: "Now, since our preacher has a home, I can get a new dress and a new bonnet."

O ye women of Methodism, charmed, crazed by that pagan show, "The World's Fair," spending a hundred dollars and more to gratify a morbid curiosity, while your preacher has no home, perhaps scarcely bread enough, let this be a rebuke to your selfishness!

True heroism has not yet died out in the Methodist Church. Some of these godly women practiced stringent self-denial in order to build a home for the servant of God. The cost of the building is over a thousand dollars. One hundred and ninety-one dollars and twenty-five cents came from the General Parsonage and Home Mission Society. A garden plot lying between the parsonage and the church, and fourteen orange trees in the yard, some of them bearing, will furnish the parsonage table carboniferous food abundant. Well may it be said: Other parsonage societies have done excellently; but Bay St. Louis has excelled them all.

When Bay St. Louis gets the new church-building contemplated, a Methodist Giraffe need not be ashamed of the appointment. If we can hold Dr. Morton's attention to the gulf-coast awhile longer, we'll succeed in the enterprise. This year Biloxi received $750 out of $1,000 asked; last year the parsonage at Ocean Springs received $300. Now $1,000 for Bay St. Louis, and then we'll hold up our hands and say, Enough for a while! I say for a time! Because Pass Christian and Mississippi City will need attention before many years.

I can not close this letter without expressing myself as vehemently opposed to the practice of attacking the character of ministers through the church organs. Scarcely a newspaper in which some brother is not gibbeted upon the point of a Spencerian pen, and generally the gibbeting is the result of mere rumors. The General Rules (¶ 28) of the Methodist M. E. Church, South, contains the following: "Must avoid fighting, quarreling, brawling, brother going to law with brother, returning evil for evil, or railing for railing; the using many words in buying or selling." If Mr. Wesley were living to-day, I think he would formulate a rule somewhat like this: Must avoid attacking ministers with newspaper articles, charging and counter-charging, innuendoes and counter-innuendoes; brother going to newspaper against brother; returning carping criticism for carping criticism, or innuendo for innuendo; the using many rumors in writing down a brother in the newspapers. When Mr. Whitefield appealed to the bar of public opinion against Mr. Wesley in harsh and unjust charges, Mr. Wesley's quiet, Christ-like reply was: "You may read Whitefield against Wesley, but you will never read Wesley against Whitefield." N. B. HARMON.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

Why the Epworth League Was Organized.

The Epworth League of the M. E. Church, South, was organized, as a kind of experiment, to meet what was recognized as a pressing need of the church. There was scarcely any question of the fact that we had need of some further provision for our young people—something to promote their personal piety, to direct their spiritual energies into channels of usefulness, and to promote loyalty to Methodism with its treasure of doctrine, and its truly evangelistic methods. It was seen by those with eyes open to the situation that without some move of this kind, certain lamentable results were imminent, and that the causes operating to produce these results were likely to increase in force unless there should be set in motion something to offset their power.

One of the distinctive features of Methodism, in its purity, is its separateness from the world, and yet it is clearly manifest that the world has made serious inroads upon us. Now, this is a danger to which the young are very liable, and which is certain to seduce them from consecrated devotion to Christ, unless mighty influences be exerted in the opposite direction. If this generation of our young people should be overcome by the incoming tide of worldliness, the result to the spiritual life of our church in the future would be fatal. It was this problem of "The World in the Church," then, that was one of the determining causes that led to the formation of the Epworth League; the hope being that, through it, spiritual forces might be set in operation among our young people that would assist in the solution of the problem.

Thus it happens that the chief element of the League is the spiritual element, and I venture the assertion that the League has been successful in the past, and will be successful in the future, just in proportion as this fact has been borne in mind. The Epworth League, that magnifies the social feature unduly, can not, in the nature of things, prove successful—i. e., if the standard of success be the attainment of the principal end for which the League was organized. The only way to dissipate the growing spirit of worldliness is to create a love for those things that exclude love of the world; it can not be effected by a yielding to the oft-heard plea, that the young people must be amused. The attempt to provide amusement, solely, for the young people will be regarded by the young people themselves as an expression of lack of faith in the power of Christian experience and Christian effort to give satisfaction and pleasure; and the so-called pleasures afforded them they will regard as a poor substitute for the pleasures of the world. It is a great mistake to suppose that the young people can only be interested in spiritual things by providing, at the same time, something to contribute solely to their bodily or mental pleasure, without any reference in itself, direct or indirect, to spiritual ends.

(To be continued.)

Rev. J. J. Ransom, in the Tennessee Methodist, does some hopeful prophesying in regard to the Leagues and the future, as follows: "History is philosophy of the past and prophecy of the future. The training in intellectual culture and loyalty to Methodism and to Christ, practical deeds of mercy and love, in experimental and evidence-bearing worship, these are the ends of the Epworth League. The day will come when men will wonder how the ministry could ever have failed to stand for and to stand with the Epworth Leagues. We shall yet see, perhaps before the close of this century, a half million young Southern Methodists in our Junior and Senior Leagues. We shall yet see a Southern Methodist League literature, exuberant and buoyant with the spirit of modern Christian life, expelling the literary fossils upon which we have fancied we could create an intellectual revolution among our young people. We shall see provision made for the Junior League, wisely adjusted to the tender years of our children. We shall see the whole League movement liberated from its hybrid union with the Sunday-school Board, and wisely adjusted in perfect articulation to the other great departments of church life! God speed the day!"—Nashville Christian Advocate, June 5.

The Union Epworth League of New Orleans held its second regular meeting, Thursday evening, Oct. 12, at Moreau Street Church. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with flowers, and in many other ways did the League of that church cause others to feel welcome. The meeting was well attended, and there was a general feeling of enthusiasm and hope with reference to the outcome of the Union movement in the city. The Leagues now belonging to the Union are Carondelet, Felicity, Louisiana Avenue, Moreau, and Parker's Chapel.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 A. M.

HESLEP R. TUCKER,
G. W. GORDON,
E. H. CAGY,
Committee.

Attention, Arcadia District.

Let those appointed to do so collect and forward to Capt. James Brice, Arcadia, the amount assessed their charges for the completion of the district parsonage. The condition of the house demands immediate attention.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

Notice.

Our new church at Lawrence, Miss., will be dedicated on the fourth Sunday in October (the twenty-second) as before stated. Everybody is invited to attend. R. F. WITT, P. C.

Lake, Miss.

FOR RENT.

IN NORTH JACKSON, MISS.

(The Healthiest and Most Desirable Residence Portion of the City.)

One TWO-STORY FRAME HOUSE, just finished, of nine rooms, including kitchen.

In walking distance of railroad depot, public school, postoffice, telegraph office, churches, Millsaps College, Commercial College, and the new college to be established for girls, and near street car line.

On certain conditions (easily fulfilled) a Christian family can secure this property, for one year, low. Address

Mrs. ELLEN E. HEBRON,
No. 400 North Street, Jackson, Miss.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1890.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,
MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

WE WANT AT ONCE RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 15 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

SAMANTHA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

BY JOSIAH ALLEN'S WIFE.

Agents WANTED | Agents WANTED

500,000 COPIES WILL BE SOLD

Over One Hundred Illustrations, by C. De Grimm.

"Josiah Allen's Wife is a privileged character. In fact there are few writers that are so sure of a generous and enthusiastic reception."—Northern Christian Advocate. "One does not tire of her writing."—Christian at Work, N. Y. "She is now witty, now pathetic, yet ever strikingly original."—New York Herald. "Her works are full of wit and humor, and yet are among the most logical, eloquent, pathetic, and instructive productions of our time."—Sen. Henry W. Blair. "The author displays a vivid imagination and a full acquaintance with human nature in its various aspects."—St. Louis Christian Advocate. "The keen sarcasm, cheerful wit, and cogent arguments of her books have convinced thousands of the folly of their ways, for wit can pierce where grave counsel fails."—Woman's Journal, Boston.

Nearly 600 pages, Large 8vo. Price, by Mail or Agent, Cloth, $2.50; Half Russia, $4.00.

AGENTS CAN COIN MONEY WITH IT.

Apply to FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY, Publishers, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York.

Queen & Crescent Route

"Finest Trains in the South."

Through Cars to Chicago without change, from New Orleans, Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Jacksonville, Fla., Atlanta, Macon, Lexington and Georgetown, Ky. Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville. Stop-overs allowed on all World's Fair tickets, at Chattanooga, Louisville, Indianapolis or Cincinnati.

For further information as to Rates, Car Service, Sleeping Car Reservations, etc., call on or address any agent of the Queen & Crescent Route or E. T. V. & G. Ry.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

THROUGH CARS TO CHICAGO.

Classical and Commercial Institute.

7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.

Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.

H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

WM. HILLSMAN,

Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining.

NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.

Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.

Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

W. W. CARRÉ

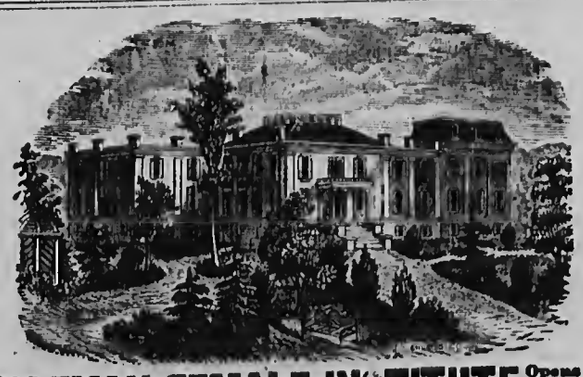
LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

EMORY COLLEGE;

OXFORD, GA., forty miles East of Atlanta. 64th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893; closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses will not exceed $150. For full information, address

W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRES'T.



WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE

Opens Sept. 6th, 1893.

STAUNTON, VIRGINIA. Climate and surroundings exceptional. Handsome buildings, now being remodeled, thoroughly renovated, repainted inside and outside, and refurnished with new pianos, carpets, &c. Steam heat, gas light, bath rooms on every floor. New Laboratory thoroughly equipped. Excellent Faculty of Experienced Teachers. Advanced courses in English, Latin, German, French, &c. Special advantages in Art. Conservatory Course in Music. One hundred and forty-one boarding pupils from eighteen States. Terms moderate. For Catalogues of this celebrated old Virginia school, address

W. W. ROBERTSON, President, Staunton, Virginia.

WELL BALANCED—the mind of the woman who knows the best medicine for her aches, pains and weakness, is to be found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a remedy which corrects and cures the distressing derangements and diseases peculiar to woman, builds up and strengthens her system when she's weak, run-down and overworked. For an invigorating, restorative tonic, especially adapted to woman's needs—the "Favorite Prescription" is so positive in its effect that it is guaranteed. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, in cases for which it's advised, you have your money back.

What else can be "just as good" for you?

For bearing-down sensations, ulceration, inflammation, everything known as "female complaint," this is a remedy that's safe, certain, and proved.

Have patience, Alice. I will drive that Malaria from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.

Chas. H. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GERMETUER

CURES FEVERS.

DR. J. W. NELMS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 14th, 1893.

For the past two years I have used King's Royal Germetuer in my practice with most satisfactory results. I have used it in Typhus, Typhoid and Billous Fevers, and always with the speediest and best effects. It lowers the temperature and breaks up fevers of all kinds common to this latitude more expeditiously than any remedy within my knowledge. From my own experience in its use upon myself and others to whom I have recommended and administered it, I believe it would be a good remedy for Yellow Fever. It is a most excellent antiseptic, cures catarrh, insomnia, night sweats and eczema in all its forms. King's Royal Germetuer is emphatically a safe remedy, and leaves no injurious effects in the system.

JOHN W. NELMS, M. D.,
Mayor West End, Ga.

For Nervous Troubles, Teething Children and Summer Complaint, Germetuer has no equal. Try it; $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.

KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Germetuer Pills for constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FARLTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT

Prink's Patent Reflectors for Gas, Oil or Electric, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular & estimate. A liberal discount to churches & the trade. Prink's Lamps for sale by dealers.

L. P. PRINK, 541 Pearl St., N. Y.

HOME CIRCLE.

DAY AND NIGHT.

BY LOUISA H. BRUCE.

Day is the Father stern, who say to his children, "Up!
Up and be doing with might the work that has to be done.
There must be food, ye know, in the plate and drink in the cup.
Stir, ye sluggards, and haste, for even the weary must run;
Fetch and carry and build and reap and brew and bake.
Till every muscle and sinew and bone in your bodies shall ache,
No use to cry for rest from your labors, for vain is the plea—
I know what is best for you all, there shall none of you idlers be."

Night is the tender Mother who calls the children home,
Calls them in from their labor, calls them in to their rest;
Folds her arms about them, as weary and sad they come,
Pillows their aching heads on her soft maternal breast,
Lets them weep a little if the work has been too hard,
Whispers a word of comfort about the work's reward,
Tells them the wonderful fairy tales which we call dreams,
Spreads her mantle of sleep to ward off the first day-beams.

Newport News, Va.

Adam Clarke on Christian Perfection.

Dr. Clarke was a man of profound biblical learning. He had studied the subject of holiness as few men of his time had done—studied it from the biblical standpoint. The following on the subject of Christian perfection are his words:

"When St. Paul says he 'warns every man, and teaches every man in all wisdom, that he may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus,' he must mean something. What, then, is this something? It must mean 'that holiness without which none shall see the Lord.' Call it by what name we please, it must imply the pardon of all transgression and the removal of the whole body of sin and death; for this must take place before we can be like him and see him as he is in the effulgence of his own glory.

"This fitness, then, to appear before God, and thorough preparation for eternal glory, is what I pray for, plead for and heartily recommend to all true believers under the name of Christian perfection. Had I a better name, one more energetic, one with a greater plenitude of meaning, one more worthy of the efficacy of the blood that bought our peace and cleanseth from all unrighteousness, I would gladly adopt and use it. Even the word 'perfection' has, in some relations, so many qualifications and abatements that can not comport with that full and glorious salvation recommended in the gospel, and bought and sealed by the blood of the cross, that I would gladly lay it by and employ a word more positive and unequivocal in its meaning, and more worthy of the merit of the infinite atonement of Christ and of the energy of his almighty Spirit; but there is none in our language, which I deplore as an inconvenience and a loss."

The chief objection to the term referred to by Dr. Clarke is that it includes too much. Some term meaning less than perfection would better describe the state. But Dr. Clarke deplores the fact that he has not some inspired term less "equivocal in its meaning, and more worthy of the merit of the infinite atonement of Christ and of the energy of his almighty Spirit." Instead of this term being too strong, in Dr. Clarke's judgment, it is not strong enough.

All men who have clear conceptions of the truth and a clear experience in holiness find no objection to this term. Dr. Thomas C. Upham, professor in Bowden College for forty-three years, was a clear writer and a glorious witness of this experience. Of his experience he says:

"I was never able before this time to say, with sincerity and confidence, that I loved my heavenly Father with all my strength. But, aided by divine grace, I have been enabled to use this language, which involves, as I understand it, the true idea of Christian perfection, of holiness, both then and ever since."

Dr. Upham found no difficulty with the term Christian perfection after he had tasted of the fullness of Jesus' love. The experience will settle all doubt. Let the experience of Christian perfection drop out of the hearts of the ministry, and in fifty years the doctrine will have been eliminated from the theology of the church. Our church is passing through this change at present. The blessing of perfect holiness has largely dropped out of the experience of our ministry, and the doctrine is being modified to suit this state of experience. Why can not our church see this fact clearly and rally to the support of Christian perfection by securing a clear experience of heart-purity.—The Christian Witness.

Second Blessing.

Mr. Wesley is responsible for the introduction and use of the term, "second blessing." It is found frequently in his writings.

In a letter addressed to Mrs. Jane Barton, in 1774, he says, "It is exceedingly certain that God did give you the second blessing, properly so called. He delivered you from the root of bitterness, from inbred as well as from actual sin."

Here the term is applied to deliverance from the root of bitterness, and that it is properly so used.

Addressing Rev. Joseph Benson, the Commentator, in 1770, he says, "With all zeal and diligence confirm the brethren: 1. In holding fast that whereto they have attained; namely, the remission of all their sins, by faith in a bleeding Lord. 2. In expecting a 'second change,' whereby they shall be saved from all sin, and perfected in love."

Here he calls it a second change, which is "perfection in love."

Writing of the work of God at Barnard Castle, June 12, 1763, he says, "This morning, one found peace, and one the second blessing."

To one of his members he writes in 1761, as follows: "I believe within five weeks, six in one class have received remission of sins, and five in one band received the 'second blessing.'"—Way of Life.

The Salvation Army.

This great religious movement for the uplifting of the masses began about twenty-eight years ago in the city of London. The man, Rev. Wm. Booth, a Wesleyan minister who inaugurated the work, still lives to oversee and direct. It has had a hard fight, and is still fighting hard, but its achievements are equaled only in the annals of history by the conquests of the primitive church and the great Methodist movement in the last century. The following statistics from a reliable source will give the reader some idea of the magnitude of the army's work:

"The latest statistics of the Salvation Army show that their work is established in twenty-three countries, in twenty-one different languages, has forty newspapers with an annual circulation of 43,000,000 copies; they also report 3,070 stations, 10,816 officers, and estimate that they reach not less than 7,000,000 persons every week."

Emptying and Filling.

"What is the relation between entire consecration and the filling of the Holy Spirit?" Entire consecration is the emptying and the filling of the Spirit, is the coming of God into the empty place. It is not enough for an evil spirit to go out of a man and go abroad, seeking rest and finding none. If he comes back and finds that his home is still empty, he will take with him seven other spirits, and the last state of that man will be worse than the first. When you have turned everything out of your heart, the filling of the Spirit is the conscious appropriation of God by an act of faith, believing that God takes the place of what used to be there, and that he fills you with the Holy Spirit.—B. Fay Mills.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

A PROBLEM IN THREES.

If three little houses stood in a row
With never a fence to divide,
And if each little house had three little maids
At play in the garden wide,
And if each little maid had three cats
(Three times three times three),
And if each little cat had three little kits,
How many kits would there be?

And if each little maid had three little friends
With whom she loved to play,
And if each little friend had three little dolls
In dresses and ribbons gay,
And if friends and dolls, and cats and kits,
Where all invited to tea,
And if none of them should send regrets,
How many guests would there be?

—Our Boys and Girls.

World's and National W. C. T. U. Conventions.

Art Palace, Chicago, beginning Oct. 16. Special features of the program:

The Annual Address of the president, Miss Frances E. Willard, will be given Oct. 18, at 11 A. M.

Lady Henry Somerset will deliver the Annual Sermon, Sunday, Oct. 22.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore will respond to the Address of Welcome.

Miss Jessie Ackermann, president of Australia Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. Ella F. Williams, of the Dominion of Canada, and prominent White-ribboners of other countries, will be in attendance.

Dr. Kate Bushnell and Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler Andrew, world's missionaries, just returned after three years' heroic work in other lands, will address the Convention.

Overflow meetings, in charge of Rev. Anna Shaw, will be addressed by the most brainy and brilliant women speakers of the day, among them Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop, Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, Mrs. S. S. Fessenden, and Mrs. Mary H. Hunt.

Memorial services, in honor of Miss Mary Allen West, Miss Jennie Casseday, and others, who have fallen in the past year, will be conducted by Mrs. L. S. Rounds.

The Children's Fountain will be presented to the city of Chicago with appropriate ceremonies.

The dedication of the Temple is expected to take place, Lady Henry Somerset making the dedicatory address.

A Truth-Loving Girl.

In Lossing's history of the life of Martha Washington, we find this incident regarding Nellie Custis' love of truth: "She was young and romantic, and was fond of wandering alone in the woods of Mount Vernon by moonlight. Her grandmama thought it wrong and unsafe, and scolded and coaxed her into a promise that she would not wander into the woods again unaccompanied. But the young lady was missing one evening, and was finally brought home from the interdicted woods to the drawing-room, where the General was walking up and down with his hands behind him, according to his wont. Mrs. Washington, seated in her great arm chair, opened a severe reproof. Poor Miss Nellie was reminded of her promise, and taxed with her delinquency. She admitted her fault, but essayed no excuse, and when there was a slight pause, moved to retire from the room. She was just shutting the door, when she overheard the General attempting, in a low voice, to intercede in her behalf. 'My dear,' he was remarking, 'I would say no more. Perhaps she was not alone.' His intercession stopped Miss Nellie in her retreat. She reopened the door, and advanced to the General with a firm step. 'Sir,' said she, 'you brought me up to tell the truth, and when I told grandmama I was alone, I hope you believe I was alone.' The General made one of his most courtly bows. 'My child,' he replied, 'I beg your pardon.'"

Look on the Bright Side.

A man met a little fellow on the road carrying a basket of blackberries, and said to him, "Sammy, where did you get such nice berries?"

"Over there, sir, in the briars."

"Won't your mother be glad to see you come home with a basket of such nice ripe fruit?"

"Yes, sir," said Sammy, "she alway seems glad when I hold up the berries, and I don't tell her anything about the briars in my feet."

The man rode on. Sammy's remark had given him a lesson, and he resolved that henceforth he would try to hold up the berries and say nothing about the briars.—Domestic Journal.

Wooden Money.

The boys who keep tally will be interested in knowing the origin of the word in the following fact:

It seems almost incredible that wooden money was current in England prior to the establishment of the Bank of England, in 1694.

Tallies was the name given to the notched sticks formerly used in England for keeping the accounts in the Exchequer. They were square rods of hazel or willow inscribed on one side with notches indicating the sum for which the tally was an acknowledgement, and on two other sides with the same sum in Roman characters.

When the transaction was completed, the tally recording it was split lengthwise, so that each section contained a half of each notch and one of the written sides. One half, called the tally or check, was given to the person for whose service it was intended; the other half, called the counter tally, was retained in the Exchequer until its corresponding tally should be brought in by the person who had last given value for it.

It thus became a current token representing cash. After the establishment of the Bank of England government payments were made through its agency. The use of tallies in the Exchequer was abolished by Statute 23, George III. The old tallies were, by the Acts 4 and 5, William IV., ordered to be destroyed, and it was burning them that caused the conflagration by which the old Houses of Parliament were demolished.

Kitty and Her Tame Fly.

Little Kitty is six years old, a bright and beautiful child. One day she ran around among the hotel guests with a large-sized fly upon her finger. The fly was tame, and was not frightened when the child softly stroked its back with her finger.

"What is that?" inquired a lady.

"That is my fly," said Kitty; "it comes to see me every morning."

When the lady attempted to touch it, the fly flew away, but came back again and alighted on Kitty's shoulder or hand. On inquiry, the child's mother said that one morning, at the breakfast table, she noticed that Kitty was playing with a fly. The next morning she noticed that Kitty was again playing with a fly, and trying to touch it by moving her hand softly toward it. The fly was not very shy. The third morning Kitty was again playing with the fly, and had induced it to rest upon her finger. The mother now became satisfied that this was the same fly that Kitty had played with the previous mornings.

After that, the fly came every morning, and lighted on Kitty's shoulder or hand, and the child could touch it, but no other person could. Who ever imagined that a fly was intelligent enough to become attached to a little girl, and to know that the child would not hurt it?—Exchange.

Barbee & Smith had a magnificent copy of the Bible made for exhibition at the Exposition. The cost is said to have been $1,500. The text is printed in gold, and the tinted border is of twelve colors. The Sunday Herald, of Chicago (Aug. 27), has a letter from W. F. Douglas on the subject of "Printing at the Fair." From this letter we take the following paragraph:

"The finest piece of work seen in any of the displays made here is a copy of the Bible executed by Barbee & Smith, of Nashville, Tenn., agents of the M. E. Church, South, Publishing House. The size of the Book is 17x23 inches, closed, contains 836 pages, and weighs sixty pounds. It was made expressly for exhibition at the Fair, but is of a very substantial character."

The talkative Chauncey Depew has been urging everybody in the land to see the World's Fair. He even advises that a man go into debt rather than miss the wonderful sights. A struggling country minister in the South took him at his word and wrote thus: "As it comes from such a high authority, I have no choice but to believe what you say. I have been laboring hard in the Lord's vineyard in the South for twenty-two years, and have never had a holiday. I was always afraid to go in debt, but as your advice is general, I thought I would ask you to loan me two hundred dollars." Information as to the response is not at hand.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys do not break from heat, not one in a hundred.

They are made of tough clear glass, clear as crystal.

They fit the lamps they are made for. Shape controls the draft. Draft contributes to proper combustion; that makes light; that improve the light of a lamp.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

WHAT Leatherl Vacuum Leather Oil in it; 25 and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Whether quaffed from a vessel of tin, glass or gold; There's nothing so good for the young or the old—as

Hires' Root Beer

A delicious, health-giving, thirst-satisfying beverage. A temperance drink for temperance people.

A 25c. package makes 5 gallons.

Sold and Enjoyed Everywhere.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. H. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $630 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 276.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. Lowe, Mills Building, New York.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

MARRIAGES.

RICHARDS—STEWART.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Stonewall, Miss., Sept 20, 1892, by Rev. J. L. Jorden, Mr. V. E. Richards and Miss Letitia Stewart.

TROTT—COOK.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. W. Cook, near Ringgold, La., Sept. 24, 1893, by Rev. T. J. Martin, Prof. W. J. Trott to Miss Lula L. Cook, all of Bienville parish, La.

HARPER—GREEN.—At the Felicity Street church, New Orleans, Oct. 11, 1893, by Rev. J. M. Beard, Mr. Charles W. Harper and Mrs. Mittie B. Green.

SUMMER—HAWKINS.—At Mr. George Patrick's, brother-in-law to the bride, Rankin county, Miss., Sept. 21, 1893, by Rev. R. A. Sibley, Mr. A. F. Summer, of Polkville, Smith county, Miss., to Miss Ida Bell Hawkins, of Hinds county, Miss.

MERCIER—SPIKES.—At the residence of Mr. J. J. Lockhart, the bride's uncle, Westville, Miss., by Rev. R. H. Barr, Mr. W. B. Mercier, of Baton Rouge, La., and Miss Cora Spikes, of Westville, Miss.

LATIMER—WHERRY.—In the Presbyterian church, Durant, Miss., Sept. 5, 1893, by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Mr. D. C. Latimer and Miss Norma Wherry, all of Durant.

CUNINGHAM—ABERNATHY.—At the home of Mr. Lauderdale, Aberdeen, Miss., Oct. 4, 1893, by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Mr. A. J. Cuningham, of Meridian, and Miss A. E. Abernathy, of Shannon.

Still on the lips of all we question,
The finger of God's silence lies.
Shall the lost hands in ours be folded?
Will the shut eyelids ever rise?
O friends, no proof beyond this yearning.
This outreach of our souls we need;
God will not mock the hope he giveth;
No love he prompts shall vainly plead.
—John G. Whittier.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over two. Poetry excluded from this column.

RENCHER—Dr. WILLIAM EDWARD RENCHER, son of Dr. C. R. and Mrs. V. E. Rencher, was chronicled among the dead on the morning of Sept. 13, 1893, being in his twenty-first year. He was born at Enterprise, Miss., Feb. 24, 1873. His school advantages were good. In 1887 (April 7) he joined the M. E. Church, South, in which he remained until his death.

Having decided to follow the profession of dentistry, he attended the Dental College at Atlanta, Ga., last Winter. After his return home, in March of 1893, he soon located at Hattiesburg, where he began to practice his profession. About the twelfth of August he was taken sick, and after an elapse of a few days of indisposition, and knowing there was no decided improvement for the better, he returned to his parents at Enterprise, where, by the continued encroachment of his illness, he was forced to take his bed. Soon after this his illness lapsed into a most rigid type of typhoid fever, from which he never recovered. He was confined to his bed just three weeks, during which time his sufferings were quite intense. From the afternoon before he took his bed, he said more than once to his sisters that he never expected to get well. Much of the time of his prostration was spent in prayer, and the last words that he uttered were, "I trust in Jesus." May God richly bless and sustain his grief-stricken parents and sisters, and finally give them all an abundant entrance into the rest that remains to the people of God. "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." (John xiii. 7.) ISAAC L. PEEBLES.

Enterprise, Miss.

HAYES—BASCOM HAYES, the only son of Thomas Hayes, was born and raised in Plaquemine Brulee, La., and died at his quiet home in the same community, on July 31, 1893, at the age of thirty-five years two months and nineteen days. Bro. Hayes has since early in life been a faithful member of the Methodist Church at Plaquemine Brulee. Bascom Hayes was married with a happy union (in marriage) with Miss Liora Lyons. Perhaps no couple were dearer to each other. They were faithful in their ministrations to the inmates of the parsonage home, which was situated near their house, and no friends could have been kinder to God's servants than "Bascom and Laura." But God saw proper to call our dear friend to a land where no pain nor sorrow is felt.

The writer and his family loved Bro. Hayes, and sympathised with him in his suffering. For several years his death was expected at almost any time. We noted with much pleasure that he did not complain and charge God foolishly, but lived so humble, devout life, awaiting his call to glory. We pray God's comforting grace to cheer the heart of his dear old father and mother, loving wife, who are left to weep over their dear Bascom's grave. Be faithful a little longer, and God will give you a home with the loved one in heaven. May our blessed Lord keep you all in his love! R. M. BLOCKER.

Lisbon, La.

TACKETT—O. H. P. TACKETT—His birthplace, Huntsville, Ala.; time, Aug. 14, 1813. His father moved to Lawrence county, Ala., and near a spring on his place build a house of worship," and here he and nearly all of his own family became Methodists, among them the subject of this notice, who in the early days settled in Richland, Miss. He was for many years one of the strong supports of the church there, serving faithfully as church steward until disqualified by the infirmities of age. I was associated with him four years as pastor, and a truer friend I have never found. He was tender, loving as a father; respected upon by his church as a leader; as a Christian, conscientious, quiet, humble, always trying to do right.

His good influence will long abide, and his memory be cherished in that community.

He thought much about his prospective contest with death during his last long sickness. Sister," writes his daughter, "as I sat with him during the long dreary hours he would say, 'How will it be at the last?'" But on Saturday, Sept. 23, 1893, just as the sun arose, with a gentle sigh the last faint breath passed his lips, and as 'o'er the gale when storms are o'er," so went dear "Uncle Perry" Tackett to his reward. T. CAMERON.

CHILDS—NELLIE B., daughter of Julia and W. Childs, was born July 22, 1888, and departed this life Aug. 25, 1893.

She was a sweet child of five Summers, and was the center of much love, and upon her life based many fond hopes. But, like the rose plucked before it unfolds its beauties and sheds its fragrance, so she has been taken, not to beautify heaven only, but to attract the ties of earth heavenward. We commend the bereaved to Him who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

W. J. POSTER, P. C.

DUNN—Died, in the gathering shadows of the evening of life, four miles from Montgomery, on Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1893, of consumption, Mrs. BEATRICE DUNN, in the forty-sixth year of her age. Well and favorably known to the people of this vicinity, among whom she had resided all her life, the news was received with an expression of regret from all who knew her. Mrs. Dunn has for some time been in failing health, and her demise was not unexpected by her friends. Few suffered more than she did, and yet with Christian fortitude she bore it uncomplainingly, and was wont to murmur, "Thy will be done," having lived a consistent Christian life, and was a devoted member of the Methodist Church for twenty-nine years, firm in the faith that upheld her in life and sustained her in death.

We grieve and sorrow for our loss—and yet we should not, for she has reached the heavens, where the skies are clear, leaving for us an example as pure as the light. She rests in peace, she sleeps with the honorable, the just and the beloved. The remains were interred in the Mt. Zion Cemetery, Thursday evening, and were followed to their last resting-place by a large concourse of friends. She leaves a husband, five daughters and two sons to mourn, and to them our heartfelt sympathies are extended, and will say, Live godly, and you will meet your dear wife and mother in the sweet by-and-by. W. H. L.

RUNDELL—Mrs. MARY RUNDELL was born Dec. 15, 1827; died Aug. 18, 1893, at her home in Claiborne county, Miss. Mrs. Rundell joined the M. E. Church, South, in her sixteenth year, and remained a consistent member and a devout Christian to the day of her death.

It was the privilege of the writer to know her and to hear some of her blessed experience. She said: "I have never had cause to regret the day I united myself with the church, nor have I ever given the church cause to regret the union. I have had many trials, hardships and difficulties in life; but in every emergency God has been with me, and given me the grace that was needed to bear up and go on rejoicing." For more than twelve years of her life she was blind, and yet she never murmured, but was meekly submissive to the Master's will. She always attended church when it was possible for her to do so, and was never happier than while in the house of God.

A saint has indeed gone home to glory. She leaves a large family and many friends to mourn her loss, and the prayer of the writer is that her life may be a beacon light on the pathway of peace, that will guide her loved ones to that home where there will be no more parting, and where those sightless eyes may again behold the faces of those she loved so dearly! G. A. GUICE.

LOVE—ROBERT QUIN LOVE was born at Sharon, Miss., July 21, 1879. In the Summer of '88 he gave his bright, young life to God and joined the M. E. Church at Canton, Miss., under the ministry of T. B. Holloman. On Sept. 10, '93, he passed peacefully from this world-life of flesh to the heaven-life of soul.

Robert was in character almost a man, though but a boy in years. In the discharge of his duties he displayed tact and manliness. About the house he was the stay of his mother and sisters, and on the farm he was no little help to his father. His disposition was mild and pleasant, his temper even and smooth. He was ardent in his love for the church and ministers. "I love the preachers, mother," said he, "because they are better to me than are other people." He was charitable to the poor, very often giving them all of his own earnings. In the Sunday-school his place was rarely vacant. He loved the Christ-man, the friend of children, and his religion was hopeful and earnest.

Good-by, Robert, we all miss you much; but we will try to watch and pray till reunion day comes. May God bless the bereaved family, and help them to meet their darling boy beyond the "setting of the sun!"

L. M. BROYLES.

WOOD—Sister M. E. WOOD (nee Eggleston) was born in Hanover, Va., Jan. 31, 1817; joined the M. E. Church, South, when thirteen years old; lived a devoted member thereof for sixty-three years, and departed this life at the residence of her daughter, M. Wood, in Columbus, Miss., Sept. 7, 1893.

Sister Wood often expressed herself as just waiting her Lord's call. She has gone to that land of rest for which she often sighed.

K. M. H.

COOK—Mrs. JOHN W. COOK, of Lisbon, died on Sept. 22, at five A. M. Sister Cook was a devout member of the Methodist Church at this place. She was converted and received into the church under the ministry of Rev. Thos. J. Upton—while a Miss Eliza Kilgore—in 1870. Only a little over a month ago they lost their dear son Willie. Now that the mother is gone, the home is quite sad. May God comfort the sorrowing ones! R. M. BLOCKER, Pastor.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

One Spirit—His
Who wore the plaited thorn with bleeding brows
Rules universal nature. Not a flower
But shows some touch, in freckle, streak or strain,
Of his unrivaled pencil. He inspires
Their balmy odors, and imparts their hues,
And bathes their eyes with nectar. Happy
Who walks with him!
—Cowper.

I, A. C. Haffelfinger, do say consumption can be cured by Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. My mother, years ago, contracting a terrible cough soon became unable to attend to her household duties. Prominent physicians pronounced it incurable consumption. We knew of Dr. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and commenced giving it to her. Before two bottles had been taken an improvement was noticed, and by the time one dozen bottles had been consumed she was well, and has never been troubled since. We have recommended it to many and always have it in the house. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma, bronchitis, it is without a rival. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

Maker and High Priest,
I ask thee not my joys to multiply—
Only make me worthier of the least.
—Mrs. Browning.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teacher's Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by
B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 27

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.

The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address
Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3 236 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429 729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF E. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - - $400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - - $413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - - $459,389.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - - $510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - - $551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891, - - - - - $600,414.81
Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, F. B. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.

Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.
For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.
Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

There were forty-two new cases of yellow fever in Brunswick, Ga., on Oct. 13, and two deaths.

The barns of the Chicago City Railroad Company burned on Oct. 12. Nearly 600 horses were destroyed.

The relief boat of the Times-Democrat brought to the city, on Oct. 12, forty-one refugees from the stricken coast.

A terrible storm raged on the Florida and Georgia coasts on Oct. 11. Towns were submerged and loss of life has ensued.

Ten thousand dollars were donated on Oct. 13 for the rebuilding of homes in the three parishes which suffered from the storm.

The Italians in Chicago celebrated the discovery of America at the World's Fair on Oct. 12. Over 300,000 paid attendants were at the Fair that day.

The storm on the great lakes, last week, caused much destruction. A large vessel and eighteen lives were lost. Six men lost their lives in Lake Michigan.

The local option election of Leflore county, Miss., passed off quietly on Oct. 14. The returns from all the beats but one gave the victory to the prohibitionists by about twenty-five majority.

Defective air brakes caused a disastrous wreck of World's Fair excursion trains on Oct. 18. Two sections on the Delaware, Lackawana and Western railroad came together in the Michigan Central yard at Jackson, and twelve people were killed in the crash, and many were wounded.

During the week ending Saturday night, Oct. 14, 2,121,796 people paid to see the Fair. It was the banner week of the Exposition thus far, and far exceeded the attendance for a like period of any international fair ever held. Of this number Chicago Day contributed over 700,000, a greater crowd, perhaps, than ever congregated within an inclosure.

The famous battlefield of Chickamauga will in time be more thoroughly mapped out than that at Gettysburg, in that the positions of individual organizations of both armies will be shown, giving a much better idea of the conflict on those two dreadful September days, a score and ten years ago. Several commissions appointed from Northern States have already visited the national park, of which Chickamauga is the center, with Mission Ridge and Lookout Mountain as annexes.

The provisions and clothing and donations for the storm sufferers have placed thousands beyond temporary want. The Relief Committee, while thanking the people for their liberal assistance, have appealed to the public for renewed efforts in order to place the sufferers in a condition to resume their trades and avocations. They say: "To carry out our aims in this direction the donations received under the primary impulses of this great calamity are not adequate. Not for days, but for months, these poor people need our assistance and care, and only by systematic and concentrated effort we shall be able to rescue thousands of our people from despondence and pauperism."

FOREIGN.

The President of Guatemala, on Oct. 12, declared himself dictator and assumed the control of the government. He dismissed the extra session of Congress and ordered a new election.

The Archbishops of York and London each receive a salary as high as that paid to the President of the United States, and the Archbishop of Canterbury gets half as much again—$75,000 a year.

The Russian fleet arrived at Toulon, France, on Oct. 13, and was enthusiastically greeted. The mayor, in his address of welcome to the Russian admiral, said: "Your visit cements the friendship between the two nations, and proves the affinity existing between the two races."

The Brazilian army, which has hitherto been loyal to Peixoto's government, is likely to join the naval insurgents. Two battalions of national guard have revolted and declared for the rebels. It is believed that the disaffection will spread rapidly and that more of Peixoto's troops will soon declare their adherence to Admiral Mello's cause. The rebel squadron in front of Rio de Janeiro is inactive, owing to the lack of ammunition.

The visit of the Russian fleet to France has been the all-absorbing event in European affairs during the week just closed. The arrival of the squadron Saturday was made the occasion for an imposing and enthusiastic demonstration, and while the Russians were somewhat guarded in their display of feeling, the French took little pains to conceal their desire to make the occasion and event of political significance.

Very alarming reports come from Persia of dangers threatening the American missionaries there. Letters have been received by persons in the United States, saying that the Moslems have petitioned their high priest to proclaim holy war, after the old-time fashion of the Moslem faith. Murders have already begun, one Christian merchant having been hacked to pieces, after nails had been driven into his body. Christians have petitioned the Shah to allow them to surrender their property and leave for America.

A Pithy Report.

Robert Burdette gives to the National Baptist the following account of his World's Fair experiences:

"Am going to school again. Ambition of life gratified. Am in university. Student in President Harper's school. Domiciled in middle divinity hall. Sleep there. Great many men go through college same way. Remain in same condition through life. Go to preaching. Still asleep. Condition contagious. Congregation catches it. Church dies. No change. No funeral. Nobody knows thing is dead. Man in pulpit doesn't know it either. Keeps preaching. Church doesn't know it. Reports to association annually—'Are holding our own.' Keep on holding it, with rigid, grim, unyielding grasp of death. No need to hold so tight. Great waste of power. Nobody wants it.

"Got much better room in university than asked for. Characteristic of university. Knows better what people want than people do. Got about ten times as much of everything as asked for. Except things that should have wanted. Got none of them. University rooms very popular. Close to Plaisance. Walk right into Fair. Hear Arabs sing every night. Must be fine 'snap' to teach singing in Arabia. Only one tune in whole country. Fits all songs poets can grind out words for. Sing anything, sacred or 'circular,' so poem is long enough. Makes no difference where stops. Stop anywhere in tune, right in middle of note. Sounds all right.

"Few weeks ago, heard $6,000 choir in $80,000 church, sing $100 anthem, Sunday morning. Sounded just like song Arab sings about falling off two-story camel. Only louder. Wild Arab, weaned on free winds of desert, used to screeching all his life, can't be heard when gifted soprano gets up to 100 degrees in shade and holds on until rest of quartette can't sing any longer. Shows benefit of culture."

For Mental Exhaustion

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. THOS. J. RIDDLE, Richmond, Va., says: "I have had occasion to prescribe it in conjunction with other treatment, in a number of nervous troubles, such as mental exhaustion and impaired vitality, and have met with satisfactory results."

Notice.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet promptly at three o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 27, at the Methodist Church in Columbus. The committee will be there to conduct the examination in accordance with the directions of the Discipline, page 384, ¶485, and page 87, ¶138, concerning the course of study. Let applicants be well prepared on the subjects designated. The committee restrict the "Ordinary Branches of an English Education" in this examination to spelling, reading, composition, English grammar, geography and arithmetic.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, Chair'n.

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.

Jackson, Miss.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Warlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

Thirty Reasons for the Prohibition of the Traffic in Intoxicating Liquors.

1. They deprive men of their reason for the time being.
2. They destroy men of the greatest intellectual strength.
3. They foster and encourage every species of immorality.
4. They bar the progress of civilization and religion.
5. They ruin the peace and happiness of tens of thousands of families.
5. They reduce many virtuous wives and children to beggary.
7. They cause many thousands of murders.
8. They prevent all reformation of character.
9. They render abortive the strongest resolutions.
10. The millions of property expended in them is lost.
11. They cause the majority of cases of insanity.
12. They destroy both the body and soul.
13. They burden sober people with millions for the support of paupers.
14. They cost immense sums to prevent crime.
15. They cost sober people immense sums in charity.
16. They burden the country with enormous taxes.
17. Because moderate drinkers want temptation removed.
18. Drunkards want the opportunity removed.
19. Sober people want the nuisance removed.
20. Tax-payers want the burden removed.
21. Prohibition would save thousands now falling.
22. The sale exposes our families to suffering.
23. The sale exposes our persons to insult.
24. The sale upholds the vicious and idle at the expense of the industrious and virtuous.
25. The sale subjects the poor to great oppression.
26. It takes the sober man's earnings to support the drunkard.
27. It subjects numberless wives to untold suffering.
28. It is contrary to the Bible.
29. It is contrary to common sense.
30. We have a right to rid ourselves of the burden.—W. H. Evans, in The Whisky Devil.

Louisiana Conference.

NOTICE TO PRESIDING ELDERS.

Send to me at Homer, La.:

1. Names of lay delegates.
2. Local preachers to be ordained.
3. Applicants for admission on trial.

Please attend to this, and save your friends trouble when they visit the seat of the Conference.

J. A. PARKER, P. C.

Homer, La.

Plans of Episcopal Visitation, 1893-94.

FIRST DISTRICT—BISHOP KEENER.

Tennessee Conference—At Lebanon, Tenn., Oct. 18.
Arkansas Conference—Clarksville, Ark., Nov. 22.
Little Rock Conference—At Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 6.
White River Conference—At Jonesboro, Ark., Dec. 13.

SECOND DISTRICT—BISHOP WILSON.

West Texas Conference—At Beeville, Tex. Nov. 1.
German Mission Conference—At Grassyville, Tex., Nov. 9.
Northwest Texas Conference—At Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15.
North Texas Conference—At Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 29.

THIRD DISTRICT—BISHOP GRANBERY

Virginia Conference—At Danville, Va., Nov. 22.
Baltimore Conference—At Fredericksburg, Va., March 22.

FOURTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HARGROVE.

Illinois Conference—At Nashville, Ill., Oct. 5.
North Mississippi Conference—At Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29.
South Carolina Conference—At Sumter, S. C., Dec. 6.
Alabama Conference—At Opelika, Ala., Dec. 13.

FIFTH DISTRICT—BISHOP DUNCAN.

Holston Conference—At Broad Street Church, Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 11.
North Alabama Conference—At Talladega, Ala., Nov. 15.
Western North Carolina Conference—At Tyron Street Church, Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 29.
North Carolina Conference—At Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 6.

SIXTH DISTRICT—BISHOP GALLOWAY.

Memphis Conference—At Central Church, Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 29.
South Georgia Conference—At Dawson, Ga., Dec. 13.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HENDRIX.

Northwest Mexican Conference—El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.
Central Mexico Conference—City of Mexico, Nov. 15.
Mexican Border Mission Conference—Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 23.
Texas Conference—Navasota, Tex., Nov. 30.
East Texas Conference—At Orange, Tex., Dec. 7.

EIGHTH DISTRICT—BISHOP KEY.

China Mission Conference—At Shanghai, Oct. 18.
Indian Mission Conference—At Vinita, I. T., Nov. 1.
Mississippi Conference—At Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 7.
Louisiana Conference—At Homer, La., Dec. 14.

NINTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HAYGOOD.

North Georgia Conference—At Gainesville Ga., Nov. 29.
Florida Conference—At Palatka, Fla., Jan. 8.

TENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP FITZGERALD.

Los Angeles Conference—At Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.
Pacific Conference—At Fresno, Cal., Oct. 11.

"Why Is He So Irritable?"

This question is often heard and nearly as often unanswered.

It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill-temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the person affected. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood and liver troubles yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective tranquilizer, a peaceful messenger, and a preventive of domestic quarrels.

Low Rates to Chicago.

VIA QUEEN AND CRESCENT ROUTE.

Round-trip tickets, New Orleans to Chicago and return, on sale Oct. 15th to 31st inclusive, good to return until Nov. 15th, at rate of $18.40. Your last chance! Don't fail to take advantage of it.

R. H. GARRATT, D. P. A.,
34 St. Charles St., New Orleans.
W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A.,
Cincinnati, O.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Vancleave, at New Prospect C. G.	Oct. 19-22
Moss Point...(Tu. and Wed., 7 P. M.)..	24, 25
Biloxi.....(Thur., 7 P. M.)..	29
Ocean S., at O. S.(F. 1., 8 and 7 P. M.)..	27
Pearlington, at Pearlington	29, 29
Bay St. Louis, at B. St. Louis	Nov. 4, 5
Augusta, at Augusta*	4, 5
Columbia, at Columbia	11, 12
Mt. Carmel....(Mon. night and Tu.)..	13, 14
Williamsburg, at Williamsburg(Wed.).	15
Covington, at C.(Fri. and Sun. P. M.)..	17, 18
Talisheak, at Fitzgerald....(morn.)..	19, 19
Purvis, at Purvis....(Mon., 7 P. M.)..	20
Ellisville, at Ellisville..(Wed. P. M.)..	22
Heidelberg, at Liberty*	24, 25
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie	26, 27
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg...(Tu.)..	28
E. Pearl, at Byrd's Chapel*	18, 19

At charges marked (*) I will try to secure help for the Sunday appointment. As in God's sight, let all do their duty in winding up the work of the year. The burden of a deficit will be more easily borne by several hundred than by a few.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lebanon, at Lebanon	Oct. 21, 22
Caseyville, at Bethel	29
McComb City	28, 25
Summit, at Summit	29, 30
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	Nov. 4, 5
Terry, at Spring Ridge	7
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	11
Adams circuit, at Adams	12, 13
Holmesville and Topisaw, at H.	17
China Grove, at China Grove	18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman	22
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman	25, 26
Providence	30
Hazlehurst (night)..	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard	Dec. 2, 3
Wesson	2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Martin, at Cane Ridge	Oct. 21, 22
Learned, at Bear Creek	28, 29
Fayette, at Fayette	Nov. 4, 5
Sunflower, at Sunflower (Wed.)..	8
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork (Thu.).	9
Warren, at Oak Ridge	11, 12
Meadville, at Meadville	18, 19
Mayersville	25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga (Fri.)..	Dec. 1
Hermanville	2, 3
Port Gibson (Tues.)....	5

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet	Oct. 21, 22
Lake City and Lodi, at L. C.(Thurs.)..	26
Silver Creek and B. Lake, at Hillsdale.	28, 29
Yazoo circuit, at Fletcher Chapel	Nov. 4, 5
Madison, at Wesley Chapel.(Wed.)..	8
Camden, at Shrock	11, 12
Bolton, at Bolton (Wed.)..	15
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas (Sat.)..	18
Jackson—First Church	19
Jackson—Capitol Street	19
Flora (Wed.)..	22
Benton, at Midway	25, 26
Tranquil, at Zeigler ville	26, 27
Canton	Dec 2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOUBTH ROUND.

Enentta circuit, at Enentta	Oct. 21, 22
E. and Stonewall, at Enterprise.(Tu.).	24
Meridian—East End (Wed.)..	25
Daleville cir., at Daleville..(Thurs.)..	26
Linwood circuit, at Hopewell	28, 29
North Kemper cir., at Mellen.(Wed.).	Nov. 1
DeKalb circuit, at Pt. Ridge	4, 5
Binnsville, at Scooba (Tues.)..	7
Landerdale (Thurs.)..	9
Why Not circuit	11, 12
Chunky circuit (Thurs.)..	19
Marion circuit	18, 19
Meridian—West End	25, 26
Meridian—Central..(Sun. and Mon.)..	Dec. 3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Ques 28. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Ques. 15. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up full collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOUBTH ROUND.

Lake, at Lawrence	Oct. 21, 22
Rose Hill, at Missionary	28, 29
Trenton, at Trenton	Nov. 3
Clarksburg, at Liberty	4, 5
Morton and Forest, at Morton	8
Fannin, at Fannin	10
Brandon station	11, 12
Montrose, at Montrose	14
Raleigh, at Raleigh	15, 16
Shiloh, at Cato	24
Marvin, at Wesleyana	25, 26
Westville, at Goshen	28
Homewood, at Zion Grove	Dec. 2, 3

C. McDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOUBTH ROUND.

Live Oak, at Friendship	Oct. 21, 22
North Wilkinson	28, 29
Wilkinson, at Bethel	Nov. 4, 5
Bayou Sara, at Star Hill	11, 12
St. Helena, at Center	18, 19
E. Feliciana, at Gilead	25, 26
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel	30
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Dec. 2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City	3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Belzona circuit, at Hickory Grove	Oct. 21, 22
Stewart circuit, at Stewart	28, 29
Sallis circuit, at Sallis	31
Louisville circuit, at Louisville	Nov. 4, 5
Rural Hill circuit, at Rural Hill	5, 6
Wier circuit, at Pisgah	10
Chester circuit, at Ackerman	11, 12
Kosciusko circuit, at Salem	18, 19
Eupora circuit, at Walthall	25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the allowances.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Brooksville	Oct. 21, 22
Sturges	28, 29
Pheba	Nov. 4, 5
Sparta	11, 12
Mashulaville	17
Ahuquatak	18, 19
Macon	19, 20
Hebron	22

T. C. WEIR, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Olive Branch, at Miller	Oct. 21, 22
Shelley Creek	28, 29
Red Banks circuit, at Wesley	Nov. 4, 5
Mt. Pleasant circuit, at New Salem	11, 12
Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia	18, 18
East Holly Springs, at Lamar	25, 26

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Toccopola	Oct. 21, 22
Cherry Hill (Tues.)..	24
Atlanta	28, 29
Banner (Tues.)..	31
Chapel Hill	Nov. 4, 5
Pittsboro (Tues.)..	7
Abbeville	11, 12
Grenada circuit	18, 19
Water Valley circuit (Sat.)..	25
Water Valley station	26, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Mt. Vernon, at Free Springs	Oct. 21, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg	28, 29
Arkabutla (Tues.)..	31
Morgansville mission	Nov. 4, 5
Cockrum, at Green Leaf	11, 12
Wall Hill	18, 18
Panola	25, 26

If stewards and pastors will address themselves faithfully and constantly to their respective duties, salaries and connectional collections will be paid in full. Brethren, the Lord and the church expects everyone to do their duty.

H. C. MORRHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Saltillo	Oct. 21, 22
Amory and Smithville	25
Pontotoc	28, 29
Tremont	Nov. 4, 5
Okolona circuit	8
Houston and Wesley	11, 12
Athens	18, 19
Baena Vista	25, 26

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Indianola	Oct. 21, 22
Leherton	24
Sidon	28, 29
Black Hawk	Nov. 4, 5
Valden	11, 12
West	16
Carrollton circuit	18, 19
Winona circuit	25, 26

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bolivar	Oct. 22
Shaw	29
Lyon	Nov. 5
Winterville	12
Friar's Point	19
Greenville	26

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine, at Donaldson	Nov. 12
Carrollton (Tues.)..	14
Gretna (Thurs.)..	16
Baton Rouge	19
Parker Chapel (Tues.)..	21
Moreau (Thurs.)..	26
Gross Tete, at Harmony	26
Dryades (Tues.)..	28
Lower Coast (Thurs.)..	30
Algiers (Sun. morning.)..	Dec. 3
Craps (Sun. evening)..	3
Louisiana Avenue (Mon.)..	4
Carondelet (Tues.)..	5
Felicity (Thurs.)..	7
Rayne Memorial (Fri.)..	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Chicot, at Fairview	Oct. 21, 22
Montgomery, at Montgomery	28, 29
Big Cane, at Mellville	28, 29
Lecompte, at Lecompte	Nov. 4, 5
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill	11, 12
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground	18, 19
Boyce and Coltax, at Boyce	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec. 2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville	9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards bestir themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sparta, at Bienville	Oct. 21, 22
Downsville, at Downsville	28, 29
Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel	Nov. 4, 5
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	11, 12
Minden, at Minden	18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps	Dec. 2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	9, 10
Ruston station	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia	12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

North Bossier, at Huge's Spurr	Oct. 21, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville	28, 29
Caddo, at Keachie	Nov. 4, 5
Shreveport station and mission	11, 12
Victoria mission, at Victoria	18, 19
Cane River, at Provencal	19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh	21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove	29, 24
Many, at Many	25, 26
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	26, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec. 2, 3
Mansfield station	9, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 28. (I include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamans, Midkiff, and Wood's Schoolhouse.)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge.

The District Sabbath-school Convention meets at Robeline, Oct. 26, at 10 A. M. Arrangements will be made for entertaining the delegates.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 9 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

The trustees of Pierce and Paine College property are requested to meet at Marthaville, Oct. 26.

ROBT. J. HAAS, P. E.

829 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Oak Ridge, at Mer Rouge	Oct. 21, 22
Bayville, at Union	28, 29
Oakley, at Jourdin Chapel	28, 29
Calhoun, at Mt. Ariel	Nov. 4, 5
Harrisonburg, at Island	11, 12
Lapins, at Frantoms C.	18, 18
Lake Providence	25, 19
Waterproof	Dec. 2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd	9, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Indian Bayou	Oct. 21, 22
Plaquemine Brulee	28, 29
Patterson and Morgan City	Nov. 4, 5
Lake Charles—E. Street	11, 12
Jackson Street and W. Lake	12, 19
Grand Chenier	19, 19
Sulphur Mine	25, 26
Lake Arthur	Dec. 2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—With the greatest interest and earnestness the World's Congress of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union opened at the Art Palace. No such crowd has assembled since the meeting of the religious congresses. Washington Hall was filled and many were standing.

In the absence of the president, Miss Willard, who is ill in England, Lady Henry Somerset, the vice-president at large, called the session to order and was received with the Chautauqua salute and a round of hand-clapping.

Archbishop Ireland, Anthony Comstock and Bishop McGillick, of Duluth, were called upon to address the women, and each offered hearty remarks, congratulating and encouraging the congress. Miss De Broen, of Paris, and others addressed the afternoon meeting. The congress will continue the session the remainder of the week.—Times-Democrat.

SKINS ON FIRE

With agonizing Eczemas and other Itching, Burning, Bleeding, Scaly, Blotchy, and Pimply Skin and Scalp Diseases are instantly relieved and speedily cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure,

CUTICURA

SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies. This is strong language, but every word is true, as proved by thousands of grateful testimonials. CUTICURA REMEDIES are beyond all doubt, the greatest SKIN Cures, Blood Purifiers, and Humor Remedies of modern times. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped, and oily skin cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

WEAK, PAINFUL KIDNEYS,

With their weary, dull, aching, lifeless, all-gone sensation, relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing strengthening plaster. 25 cents.

XMAS DIALOGUES, Pieces to Speak and how to get up Fascinating Sunday School Entertainment—all for 15c. SKIDMORE & CO., 85 John St., N. Y.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence, Cincinnati, O.

Clinton Female Academy

(Chartered in 1832)

WILL OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 189

Course thorough. Charges lower than offered by any school of its grade in the South.

CHARGES PER MONTH.

Tuition per month	$2 00 to $3
Music " "	3
Use of Piano per Month	1
Painting in Oil " "	3
Drawing " "	1
Latin, French and Book-keeping, each per month	1
Incidental Expenses per Session

Board, Tuition, Washing, Fuel and Light $12 per Month. $120 per the Session of Ten Months. For particulars address the Principal

Mrs. S. E. MUNDAY, Clinton, La.

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, typewriters and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
1. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Best of this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teachers' Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these last by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the pages are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teachers' Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLES we have the very BEST line of Teachers' Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 43. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1940.

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE SOUL'S ANCHORAGE.

BY JOHANN A. ROTHE.

(Translated by J. Wesley.)

Now I have found the ground wherein
Sure my soul's anchor may remain;
The wounds of Jesus, for my sin
Before the world's foundation slain;
Whose mercy shall unshaken stay,
When heaven and earth are fled away.

Father, thine everlasting grace
Our scanty thought surpasses far;
Thy heart still melts with tenderness;
Thine arms of love still open are Returning sinners to receive,
That mercy they may taste, and live.

O Love, thou bottomless abyss,
My sins are swallowed up in thee!
Covered is my unrighteousness,
Nor spot nor guilt remains on me,
While Jesus' blood, through earth and skies,
Mercy, free, boundless mercy, cries.

By faith I plunge me in this sea;
Here is my hope, my joy, my rest;
Hither, when hell assails, I flee;
I look into my Savior's breast;
Away, sad doubt and anxious fear!
Mercy is all that's written here.

Mrs. Nannie B. Fant.

OBITUARY BY MRS. CARRIE W. SMITH.

Verily, the Father is calling home his children. On Friday, just as the dark curtains of night were slowly parting, giving us faint glimpses of the perfect day behind, God's sweetest messenger to the heart hungry stood at the bedside of Nannie B. Fant. Ere the many who loved her realized his presence, he had gone, carrying the bright, beautiful spirit so dear to our hearts. Throughout Holly Springs there is sorrow, and memory is busy in its homes recalling to aching hearts her cheery presence, her helpful words. A voice that thrilled with loving messages from the Father is silent. A soul burning with zeal, filled with love, glad over every battle won for him, grieved over every rebellious act or thought towards him, is at rest. She has wakened into life many a sleeping soul, kindled into flame many a smouldering aspiration. What shall we do without her? How fill her place in the church, where she was always ready to do; in the prayer meeting, where as often she could be heard in appeal to and in praise of the Master; in the missionary society, where her never-flagging zeal forced into activity our slumbering forces; in the Epworth League, where, in loving sympathy, she encouraged every timid effort put forth for the Elder Brother; in the homes of the poor, where her bright smile brought the warmth of June in the ice-clad days of January? Everywhere we hear the query, How can we do without her? In our selfishness we would call her back out of the Done into the Doing, forgetting her wonderful gain.

Her strong intellect won our respect; her brave, steady pursuit of higher things, reaching ever for newer heights, our admiration; her Christian charity our love; but her beautiful life of unceasing movement in his cause aroused in us always fresh effort in the hidden life. In all work for our blessed Lord she brought enthusiasm; but in the cause of foreign missions this enthusiasm kindled into love akin to the Divine. The message, "Go carry my gospel into the uttermost ends of the earth," has often been heard proclaimed by her lips, and her life was an embodiment of her heed of it—a Christianity not of self, but of saving power to others.

In one of our galleries hangs a picture of a woman, who has just been saved from drowning by clasping the beam of a rock-hewn cross with both hands—nay, one alone; the other is reaching down to save a poor creature from the fate that threatened her. A beautiful representation of Sister Nannie's own life.

In 1880 the Woman's Missionary Society of this church was organized. Among the first names enrolled was that of Nannie B. Fant. She was the first delegate to the annual convention. In 1881 she was elected president of our local society, which office she held till 1888, when she was appointed district secretary. Many societies scattered throughout this district stand as living, active monuments to her conscientious discharge of its duties. Always grateful for an opportunity of broadening her field of activity, she gladly lay down this office in June, at Water Valley, to take up the more onerous one of president of the North Mississippi Missionary Conference. She returned with her brain actively at work formulating new plans for the future, but the Father said: "Not so; you have won rest; enter into the joys prepared for you from the foundation of the world," and to-day a church mourns her loss.

No man or woman who loved Nannie Fant can forget the Sabbath of this week. "A perfect day it was, shot to the core with sunshine." A hushed, solemn silence reigned everywhere, save for the soft music of moving leaves as the wind played gently through the branches of the trees. The grey old church that had lovingly sheltered her so many years stood with open doors to welcome its children, but never again her, while the low, sad requiem, "Never again," sounded forth into the golden, pulsating air. Into the coolness of its shade we enter. Near by, the door of her class-room stands open. Within, with sad faces and bowed heads, sit "her boys," the class so loved, so prayed for. Everywhere grieved looks, tear-dimmed eyes, soul touching soul in one common grief, while under all one can see an undercurrent of gathering energies, growing resolutions of new efforts to be put forth in the cause of Him whom she loved. The dark, silent church, its sad-faced congregation and an empty pew, speaks eloquently of her who has fallen asleep.

A little gust of wind, a slight swinging ajar of a blind, and the radiance of a sunbeam steals across the draped chancel, carrying our thoughts outward, Fatherward, beyond the soft blueness of skies, beyond the golden light of stars, beyond the effulgent radiance of the sun, into the supernal beauty of the eternal. A touch of its own peace fills our souls, and for a moment we are with her in the congregation of the righteous, catching glimpses of beautiful faces with God's own sweetness on them, and then the earthy settled down and it was gone. We tried to keep the vision, to hold the glorious experience in heart, in soul, but the mortal was too strong. However, after even so contracted a view of Sister Nannie's surroundings, we realized that we see through a glass darkly, but, thank God, she face to face.

For her eternal peace, eternal rest, eternal happiness. For us the toil, the strife, the turmoil of living; but if we faint not, some sweet day the joys that are now hers will be ours.—Copied from the Nannie B. Fant Memorial Services.

Tribute from Bishop Galloway.

The following testimonial was read by the Rev. W. A. Waterfield:

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 18, 1893.

Judge Jas. T. Fant:

MY DEAR BROTHER—I have just seen in the telegrams notice of your sister-in-law's death, and can not refrain from expressing my sincerest condolence and sense of personal bereavement. A character so beautiful, a life so useful, a faith so hopeful, and a heroism so wonderful, were an inspiration to all who knew her, and will be a helpful memory and ministry through all their histories. Her sun goes down at midday. We can not fathom the mystery, but will not question the wisdom. His thoughts are above our thoughts.

I count it one of life's blessings to have known your sister, and everybody's friend. May our Father's wing of love shelter the orphans and comfort all the bereaved!

Truly and fraternally,

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

—From the Nannie B. Fant Memorial Services.

Minutes of Japan Conference.

Rev. H. G. Hawkins, who went from East Mississippi as a missionary to Japan, served as the secretary of the second session of the Japan Mission Conference, held in Hiroshima, Japan, July 13-18, 1893. He placed me under obligations by forwarding to me a copy of the printed Minutes. A few days later I received a copy of the same from the Mission Rooms in Nashville. The Minutes are interesting reading, and furnish matter of gratified thought to lovers of missions. They have set up housekeeping for themselves over there, and manage things just like the old folks at home. It is refreshing to note that Methodist usages and Methodist terminology have crossed the seas and have made a place for themselves on the opposite side of the globe.

Religious fervor pervaded the sessions. After reading an appropriate Scripture lesson at the opening, "three earnest prayers were made, and the Conference joined in singing spiritual songs."

There were reported sixteen foreign preachers and teachers, six native preachers and two lay members. Decided progress in all departments was shown by the reports of the various committees. There are fifteen academic schools, with five hundred and eleven students; nine Bible classes, with sixty-three students; forty-two Sunday-schools, with one hundred officers and teachers, and an attendance of 1,297. The whole number of members, including local preachers and probationers, is five hundred and ninety-nine. This, as compared with the report made to the General Board of Missions in 1892, shows an increase of membership of 3⅓ per cent. The increase of membership in the Mississippi Conference for last year was 1½ per cent. Think of this, ye who are skeptical of missionary movements! Here is a mission Conference, just two years old, which shows a yearly percentage of increase nearly three times as much as that of a Conference seventy-nine years of age right in the heart of Christendom.

Japan paid for Bishops last year $21.50; for church extension, $209 80; for foreign missions, $317 21. This amount of $548.51 goes into the general treasury of the M. E. Church, South. The Japanese Christians are actually helping us to support our Bishops, to build churches in destitute localities, and to send the gospel to the regions beyond.

The Japan Minutes show that the amount of money paid for all Conference purposes for last year was $4.38 per member. The Mississippi Conference Minutes for 1892, now before me, show only 52 1-9 cents paid per member for all Conference purposes.

The Savior said of the centurion: "I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel." Would he not be justified in saying to us, Go learn faith and zeal and liberality from the Japan Mission?

C. G. ANDREWS.

The Rayner Bible Work in Japan—No. 2.

Looking at a map, we may count within a radius of ten miles from Matsuyama a hundred towns, each with a population of more than a thousand. We may safely say that in the city itself, these hundred towns, and the remaining villages, there are, at least, five hundred heathen temples. The whole number of Christians within the same radius is less than five hundred; and so it is all over the empire, the very temples of heathendom outnumbering the followers of Christ. For breaking down these walls, and overcoming the powers of darkness, the reliance must be upon the native Christians and the permanent missionaries; but so great is the struggle, and so important the conquest, that anyone who will come from any country for any length of time, with the sword of truth bright in his hand, can find a place in the battle array; and if he should not be regularly enrolled in the army, let him bring his sling along and choose a few round stones from the brook.

Not only was Mr. Rayner's method of securing the Bibles unique, but the means he uses on the field are, in a sense, new, and the work he does would not otherwise be done. Besides, it greatly encourages the Christians to see the unconverted, and those who had not heard before, receiving and reading the Bible.

Near Matsuyama is an island called Gogoshima, about ten miles in circumference, holding eight towns and villages. The natives live by fishing and fruit growing. A week ago and they had never heard the gospel, except at one small village, where they exhibited a book left there by a missionary who had stopped an hour once and sung them a Christian song. But now Bibles have been distributed, and the Word spoken all around the island, Mr. Rayner having just finished the two days' work of compassing it. The inhabitants are very rude in their dress and manner of life, and the most of them can not read. Their look is intelligent, however, and they received well, considering their ignorance and superstitious fear. At one point, however, a visit was made to the village schoolhouse, the teachers of which refused books, and entrenched themselves behind the old idea that a teacher should be without religion, so as to give impartial instruction. And as the little Christian band left that town, they heard a temple drum beating, and the announcement made that the Buddhist priest would lecture that night.

Last night a clerk came after a book for the Matsuyama post office; requests are in for one man who is in prison for five years, and another who is in for ten years; and four little girls who have been attending a Sunday-school in a town where the powers of darkness are very strong, have dared to ask for books. Farmers, merchants, smiths, priests, and many others who would not otherwise have been reached, are reading the Word of God. No book is given away except where the desire for it is manifested; but sometimes this desire has to be produced.

Neighboring towns yet untouched are to be visited.

H. G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Japan, Sept. 10, 1893.

THE END.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. Wilson Moore, Ada, La., Oct. 6: "Just closed a meeting, which resulted in four accessions, including two by letter; one conversion, and two sanctifications. Rev. R. M. Walker was with us doing efficient service."

Rev. B. F. Lewis: "We are in the midst of a gracious revival at East End. There has been no outburst, but the work is deep and thorough. Souls are under deep conviction, and some have already been converted. The church is moving almost as one man in the work. I am alone this week. May the Lord continue his blessings!"

Rev. A. C. Burt, Augusta, Miss., Oct. 11: "Please announce through the ADVOCATE that Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of the North Alabama Conference, will assist me in a revival meeting at Augusta, beginning Saturday, Nov. 4, and continuing, perhaps, ten days. Bro. McIntosh is a very successful revivalist, and we would be glad to have any of the brethren. Come and be with us; take back at Hattiesburg."

Rev. W. W. Hopper, Meridian, Miss., Sept. 28: "Last night closed ten days' meeting with Bro. W. T. Browning, at Lauderdale, Miss. Eighteen entered the experience of entire sanctification, about two or three dozen conversions and reclamations, many family altars erected, the whole community stirred, and a great many seeking after holiness, and the people enquiring after the old paths of Methodism. To God be all the glory. Amen."

Rev. M. L. White, Mt. Carmel, Miss., Sept. 28: "Bro. Barr and myself held a protracted meeting at Oakvale Schoolhouse, between his circuit and mine. Lasted four days. Results: Thirteen members for Mt. Carmel circuit, nine for Westville circuit, and three for Williamsburg circuit. The whole community revived. A committee of three appointed to look after the building of a Methodist Church. This will be made a regular appointment, and put on some circuit."

Rev. C. F. Staples, Winnsboro, La., Sept. 27: "We have just closed a meeting at this place, which lasted ten days. Bro. J. S. Sanders was with us from the beginning, and preached with great power. We had many bright conversions and thirty accessions; the church graciously revived. Raised $100 on Conference collections. We have had over sixty accessions up to date, and more to follow, and many enquiring after perfect love, or holiness. Glory be to God for victory!"

Rev. K. M. Harrison, P. C., Columbia circuit, North Mississippi Conference: "I have just closed my round of meetings of my own, and aided three of the brethren in nine successive weeks. I have in this time preached sixty-one times; witnessed the conversion of seventy-five or eighty souls. Fifty-five have joined the Methodist Church; thirty-seven my own charge. Church raised to a higher life and better living. Collections well anhaorihed, but poorly collected; yet God be praised. Success to our noble ADVOCATE."

Rev. L. T. Sargent, P. C., Nettleton and Fulton circuit, Aberdeen district, North Mississippi Conference, Sept. 25: "On the third Sunday in September we began our protracted meeting at Andrew Chapel, which continued six days, resulting in seven accessions and quite a revival in the church. Rev. M. H. Honnoll, of New Albany circuit, did most of the preaching, to the satisfaction of all who attended. The protracted meeting season for this country is almost past, and up to date on this charge we have had about seventy who claim conversion, thirty accessions, and the church greatly revived. Praise the Lord!"

Rev. W. D. McCullough, P. C., Sallis, Miss., Oct. 17: "We are pressing forward toward the mark of the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Good revival on all this charge except at Sallis. Quite a number of accessions, and church wonderfully quickened. Collections not up yet. Grazing short, but we are 'joyful in hope, serving the Lord.' Success to the ADVOCATE We will protract at Sallis on the third Sunday in November. Dr. Price will be with us. Pray for us."

Rev. W. M. Williams, Decatur, Miss., Sept. 27: "Have finished my round of protracted meetings. The last two I have not reported. Our meeting at Good Hope was good from the beginning. I never saw such manifestation of the Holy Ghost. Several conversions, two accessions. At Conehatta we had a fine meeting from the first service. Received ten; don't know how many conversions. Bro. Irvin Miller did the preaching at Conehatta, and Bro. T. H. Rivers assisted at Good Hope. Our people are getting on a higher plane of Christian life. All our Conference collections will be in full."

Rev. R. M. Blooker, Lisbon, La., Sept. 29: "The camp meeting at Mt. Zion was somewhat better attended this year than last. The neighborhood has been growing less for several years, and consequently the camp ground is going down. We tried to make a special rally this year, and the Lord was with us. We had a good work in the church; ten or twelve conversions, and three accessions to the church. Bros. Parvin and John A. Miller were with me from the beginning, and did good preaching. It was a gracious treat to have these old veterans of the cross. The weather is very dry in this country—short crops and scarce money; but the Lord is with us."

Rev. J. D Cameron, Senatobia, Miss., Oct. 5: "On Aug. 24 the Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of the North Alabama Conference, came to assist in a meeting at this place, and for ten days he continued, preaching twice, sometimes three times a day, with great unction and power. I did not count the conversions. I never do, for only God can do that; but twenty-five joined our church and some other churches. It was a meeting of great benefit to the church and community, as is manifest everywhere. This is the second revival in our church bore this year, and by the two there has been a net increase in membership of over twenty-five per cent. Bro. McIntosh won all hearts."

Rev. M. D. Fly, Jonestown, Miss., Oct. 7: "This is a glad day. The last saloon in our town closes to-day. We are running a meeting at this time. Bro. A. J. Jones has been with me for several days. We are having some interest. Bro. Jones is doing some fine preaching. Hope he may do much good here. I don't know when our meeting will close. I want to endorse Bishop Keener in his strictures on the finance question. I do love to see our great men in the church speak out on these subjects. It is as much their duty to preach justice as it is to preach mercy. The church has been silent too long on the great questions of the day. Times are close, money scarce; the collections will be short, I fear. God only knows what the result will be. We are trying to be faithful, and leave the result with God."

Rev. R. H. Barr, P. C., Westville, Miss., Oct. 2: "My first meeting was held at Goshen in July (fourth Sabbath). I was assisted by Bro. R. A. Sibley, who, by his earnest preaching, stirred the church, which resulted in a forward move. Six were added to the church. Second at Westville, first Sabbath in September; assisted by Bro. L. Carley, who preached with power and clearness. Some good accomplished. We would have had a glorious meeting had it not been for circuit court, which convened in Westville at the time of our meeting. Our third meeting embraced the third Sabbath in September. I was assisted there by Bro. R. A. Sibley also. The meeting resulted in great good to the church; one accession. Our fourth meeting was held the fourth week in September. I was assisted by Bro. M. L. White, who did much to advance the cause of Christ and his kingdom in that community. It was one of the best meetings that I ever attended, I believe. There were twenty-five accessions. The church was stirred to its very depths, nine family altars erected, prayer meeting organized. To these brethren I feel indebted for their services. To God be all the glory."

REVIVAL AT CLEVELAND, MISS.

Cleveland is the "half-way" of the Memphis and Vicksburg division of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad; and is a town of some note from a railroad point of view, and otherwise. Our Methodism is to the front here, and I now send tidings of a revival which has materially strengthened our force. Ladies held prayer meeting for two weeks, interceding for the blessing, and Christian men were also thus engaged. The Lord heard and answered. We now report over fifty accessions to different churches; thirty-nine of that number come to us. Young converts are leading the prayer meetings. Every young lady in town in the church, and only a few young men outside. Will organize an Epworth League in a few days. Seventeen ladies pray in public. Meeting lasted nearly three weeks. Rev. W. S. Shipman preached four days, and Rev. H. P. Crowe a week. We are moving along nicely, climbing higher, and realize the light brighter, and the air purer, and our faith stronger, and God nearer; and forgetting the things which are behind, we press toward the prize. Hope to report "in full" at Conference. THOMAS B. CLIFFORD.

REVIVAL NOTES FROM MERIDIAN DISTRICT.

Lauderdale circuit, Lauderdale, W. T. Browning, L. P., supply, assisted by W. W. Hopper: 2 accessions, a number of conversions, and 18 professions of sanctification.

Meridian, East End, B. F. Lewis, P. C., assisted by Isaac L. Peebles and a number of devout women and brethren: 5 accessions, and the church wonderfully revived. God was with them.

Clarke circuit, Fleming's Cross-Roads, J. N. Ware, P. C., assisted by J. N. Broadway, L. P., and R. C. Gavin, L. D.: 18 accessions, and 12 infants baptized; 2 prayer meetings started, and a new church organized; a lot given, and part of lumber already delivered for a house of worship. This is the place where Bro. Broadway one day received 16 into the church on profession of faith.

Why Not circuit, Toomsuba, F. B. Ormond, P. C., assisted by J. W. Burton, L. P.: 1 accession, and 1 infant baptized; a lot secured for a building.

Binnsville circuit, Wahalak, N. M. Clark, P. C., assisted by Bro. Witherspoon, of the Presbyterian Church: 4 accessions; Binnsville, or Chapman Church, 12 accessions; and much good done otherwise.

Enterprise and Stonewall charge, Stonewall Church, Isaac L. Peebles, P. C.: 16 accessions, and the membership graciously and greatly revived.

Choctaw Mission, Talla-Chulak Church, W. W. Cammack, missionary, writes: "You ask the results of our two days' meeting at Talla-Chulak. There were no accessions, but I think several will join soon. We had about 45 Choctaws present at one time. All seemed to be deeply concerned. We had a most interesting meeting in many respects. . . . One very old Choctaw died during the meeting, and we buried him at the church according to our ritual. Just before he died he had consented to be baptized. The Choctaws were well pleased with our form of burial. A very large crowd of Choctaws and whites followed the body to the grave."

Oh, what listeners these Choctaws are to the preaching of the gospel! And how long and shamefully we neglected them!

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

Continued on Eighth Page.

GOD AND THE RIGHT.

BY THE REV. DR. NORMAN MACLEOD.

Courage, brother, do not stumble,
Though thy path is dark as night;
There's a star to guide the humble—
"Trust in God and do the right."

Let the road be long and dreary,
And its ending out of sight;
Foot it bravely, strong or weary,
"Trust in God and do the right."

Perish "policy" and cunning,
Perish all that fears the light;
Whether losing, whether winning,
"Trust in God and do the right."

Trust no forms of guilty passion,
Fiends can look like angels bright;
Trust no custom, school, or fashion—
"Trust in God and do the right."

Some will hate thee, some will love thee,
Some will flatter, some will slight;
Cease from man, and look above thee,
"Trust in God and do the right."

Simple rule and safest guiding,
Inward peace and inward light,
Star upon our path abiding—
"Trust in God and do the right."

Our Sunday-schools—Their Value, Defects and Hinderances.

This threefold topic is one of no little importance. It is in reference to a cause that is eliciting great concern throughout Christendom. In the interest of this work there are being held international, national, State, county and district conventions in which most of the evangelical churches take part in unity of spirit, prayer and counsel. We have in our church no interest that is receiving more attention than the Sunday-school work. It is a matter of earnest consecration in all of our Conferences from the least to the greatest.

For its promotion we have special Boards, agents, editors and literature. But while the machinery is running with much force and with gratifying success, we should not so take it for granted that it is perfect in all its parts or that it is fully accomplishing its mission as to be at ease concerning it. It is not the province of this paper to detail the history or to apologize for the existence of our Sunday-school work, but to consider our Sunday-schools as they are, in respect to their worth, their wants and their difficulties.

What is here said, under either head, may not apply in whole to any one school, but in part less or more to all.

I. The value of Sunday-schools to the country and the church is incalculable, and their influence upon individual, home and social life is inestimable. Where the Sunday-school is wisely and devoutly operated it proves to be a great agent in Christian civilization and a potent auxiliary in executing Christ's commission to evangelize the world. Sunday-school work often precedes and always supplements and strengthens gospel preaching and church organization. A Western preacher says: "Of all public religious institutions the Sunday-school is the pioneer of frontier civilization today. It is first the Sunday-school, then the church, then the public school." And we could enumerate cases of similar rotation within the bounds of our own Conference. The Sunday-school being the most social feature of our church work, and dealing, as it does, mostly with young minds and tender hearts, is well calculated to implant ideas of truth and principles of righteousness that shall result in great and lasting good.

"There are many legitimate objects of Sunday-school enterprise; but legitimate only as they are subordinate to achievement of the main purpose, which is, first, to bring souls to Christ, and, second, to build them up in Christ." "The sheaves gathered during seasons of revival in the church are largely the product of seed sown by faithful men and women in the Sunday-school." (Dr. Lyons, in Sunday-school and Its Methods).

II. The second specification in our topic is the "defects in our Sunday-schools," which will lead us to consider what may be wanting in organization, equipment or management. The ideal Sunday-school is well organized, fully equipped and conducted with the idea that it is a school for Bible teaching and religious training. Falling short in any of these particulars, it is defective and to that extent disqualified for its work.

The Sunday-school work of our church is governed by wholesome laws, and is, in the main, under intelligent and pious supervision. There is a great deal of order and effectiveness in its operations that is gratifying and commendable, but we do not claim for it perfection in system or service. There are observable some defects that evidently need to be remedied in order to greater efficiency. The first to be noted is want of proper organization. Officers and teachers are sometimes chosen for favoritism or social popularity rather than proper qualification. Men and women destitute of the requisite qualities of piety, intelligence and zeal are selected to manage and teach to the detriment or death of the cause. Men are needed for superintendents who will so burden themselves with the work that they will make it a business of daily prayer and study; who will avail themselves of all facilities and opportunities for information and improvement and keep themselves in constant touch with the spirit of the age in this great cause for Christ and souls. Teachers are needed who are qualified mentally and morally for their work, who will study to know what to teach and how to teach, and who will use every means to bring the character and life of their pupils under the influence of their teaching. The truth is to be so interpreted and illustrated as to impress, attract and edify. The one Book is to be so taught as to lead scholars to Christ and build them up in the knowledge, experience and practice of gospel truths. Much of the worship and teaching in our schools is too perfunctory and superficial. There is a lack of becoming decorum and reverence as well as of spirituality and energy in the exercises. The Sunday-school should be a place of instruction and training in attitudes of worship and church manners.

We would notice, in the next place, some of the needs of equipment for Sunday-school use. A want in not a few of our schools is an ample supply of Bibles, lesson helps and good miscellaneous reading matter. A teacher can not afford to be without the Sunday-School Magazine, Cruden's Complete Concordance and a good Bible Dictionary. Each scholar should have his or her quarterly or lesson paper and other helps according to their capacity and time for study. The Sunday-School Visitor should be taken, and a good library of appropriate and useful books should be in every school. Maps and charts should also be provided and used in the school-room.

The disuse of the Bible in the Sunday-school is a prevalent and deplorable evil. Many teachers and scholars acquire the habit of depending on the lesson papers rather than the Book itself; consequently they obtain but a fragmentary knowledge of God's Word. We would say nothing to discount or discourage the proper use of the lesson helps; they are so needful that we can ill afford to be without them, "and we are thankful that we have them as good, beautiful, cheap and abundant as the world affords." But they are to be used, not as substitutes for, but helps to the study of the Holy Scriptures. The best expositions of the Scripture can not fill the place in the mind that the Scripture text should occupy. We, therefore, urge the importance of using the Bible itself in the study and recitation of the lessons. The omission of our catechisms in the Sunday-schools we consider a defect that should be remedied. The doctrines and polity of the church should be systematically taught as they can only be in the catechetical style. Therefore, some plan should be adopted whereby our catechisms can be used in connection with the regular Bible lessons.

III. We come now to consider briefly the last item of our subject, viz.: The hinderances to our Sunday-school work. We live in an age and country of unprecedented opportunities and facilities for every form of church work, especially the one now under consideration. The fields are inviting; the outlook is auspicious; the helps and helpers are numerous; forces and means are being utilized, and the grand Sunday-school cause is advancing in glorious achievements as never before. But there are a few hinderances which are observable, and that impede progress and delay desired results. We mention under this head the practice of suspending the schools during the Winter season and protracted meetings. This not only breaks the lesson connections, but causes whatever of interest may have been generated to abate. We are glad to note, however, that this custom is growing less; and with proper vigilance by pastors and superintendents our schools may all soon be made evergreens.

The greatest impediment, and that which is really the root of all the others, is the too common indifference of the church membership, especially the older people and heads of families. Many manifest no concern whatever in the work by practical co-operation. They do not study the lessons themselves, nor even aid their children in the same; nor go with them to the school for their encouragement; nor give of their means to support the cause. And all this in the face of their solemn vow "to support the institutions of the church and attend upon its ordinances." This accounts for the many uncomfortable houses in which to hold the Sunday-schools, and for the oft-repeated complaint of incompetent and inefficient officers and teachers. If the spirit of devotion to this work pervaded the entire membership of the church as it should, we would not want for competent and influential workers, nor for comfortable houses to worship and work in.

We do not exempt our preachers altogether from this fault of indifference to the Sunday-school cause. Some of them are too negligent of the Sunday-schools in their charges. This is manifested in their not keeping in line with the lesson study and in their failure to be in their schools when they should.

The above-mentioned defects may be remedied and the hinderances removed by proper vigilance on the part of presiding elders and pastors, and wise and judicious supervision of the Quarterly and Church Conferences as provided for in the Discipline.

G. W. BACHMAN.

Scottsville Holiness Camp Meeting.

MR. EDITOR: At the request of Bro. Johns, of Algiers, I will try to write something of my visit to the Scottsville Holiness Camp Meeting.

The old tabernacle was found inadequate, and so a beautiful new one was erected this year; but it did not hold the crowd on Sunday. It was said there were between twenty-five hundred and three thousand persons present on Sabbath. One delightful feature was the absence of cooking on the Sabbath day. It was a real pleasure to eat cold food, and see the dusky faces of our colored friends as they sat around under the trees listening to the Word of God, who would otherwise have been toiling for us in the kitchens. These dear people need to make one more improvement, and that is to have only two meals every day. It would save them so much work. While feasting the soul at such a meeting, the body does not need so much food.

The hospitality of these dear people is unbounded. Their hearts seem full of love to everyone, and they do all in their power to make visitors feel at home and enjoy the meeting. Self seems to be sunken out of sight, and they do all to the glory of God.

Louisiana has a good large tent there, but it ought to be enlarged, as I do not think it will hold all the ladies who go from Louisiana. We want to build the house larger, and also add a kitchen and eating-house, so we will be prepared to take care of ourselves.

The Holy Spirit came at the beginning, and was manifest at every service. The preaching was powerful, earnest and plain, and God honored it to the saving of souls. There was not a single dull service. There were conversions and sanctifications at every altar service. The work went right along together. Souls would get converted at one service, and then go right back at the next one to seek the second blessing, and praise God. They got it, too. Some would come into the experience during the sermons, and would praise God aloud, and, amid tears and groans and shouts, the altar was filled with seekers after pardon and holiness. Conviction was deep and awful, and the cries for mercy and shouts of victory, mingled with the prayers and praises of the saints, made a scene never to be forgotten. Sometimes the tide of salvation rolled so high we could scarcely sing for the joy that welled up in our souls. The glad hallelujahs and amens would ring out between the lines.

Bro. Rinehart is a grand musical leader. His heart is so full of the glory of God the congregation can not help but catch some of his enthusiasm, and sing with the spirit and with the understanding.

The testimony meetings were red hot, and often six, or more, would be on their feet at once to witness for Jesus. You would have to stand till your time came, or you would not get an opportunity to speak. (How different from our dull, cold meetings, where the class meeting is attended by only a few or, worse still, neglected altogether.) The Bible was preached in all its purity and simplicity. I never heard so much Bible in one sermon as those preachers put into theirs. They would take up their subjects, and quote passage after passage in full, giving book, chapter and verse, showing how familiar they were with the Word of God.

Sabbath is usually the "cooling-off" day at meetings, when the butterfly element is out in full force; but it was not so at Scottsville. The Christians seemed to realize their need of greater watchfulness, and so they "doubled their diligence." Prayer, deeper and more earnest than ever, went up all over the grounds and at the tabernacle that God might be honored, and it was the great day of the feast. Immense congregations listened to the plain gospel sermons, and many shouted all over the tabernacle. The invitation was scarcely given before the altar was filled. The workers always went to the seekers with the open Bible, and placed the promises right before their eyes, on which they could rest their faith, and soon a shining face, or a ringing shout, would proclaim the victory, and that soul would go to work to bring somebody else to Jesus. Many workers came up to get their armor brightened, and go out afresh to their fields of labor, and I think none went away disappointed. If they did, it was their own fault, for the King's table was bountifully spread with the richest dainties, and all who would might feast their souls on fat things. One brother, who had never been to Scottsville before, when asked if it had been painted in too bright colors, replied, "The half had not been told." And, truly, it is so. One has to see for themselves before they can realize the great work that is done there. No one attempts to keep account of those saved and sanctified. The record is left with God.

Dr. Godbey's Bible readings on the Book of Revelation were a feast to all who heard him. What a privilege it was to sit at the feet of this saint of God and hear him read and expound the blessed Word!

A good work was done among the children. Miss Sallie Davis, of I. T., talked to them one day, and at the conclusion of this service about forty children went to the altar for prayer.

One service was given to the colored people. Bro. Sutherland, of Mexico, preached for them. This service was very interesting. Some witnessed very clearly to the experience of entire sanctification.

It was inspiring to look into the faces of our dear missionaries, hear them tell of their labors for the Master, and that if it was not for us at home, they could not stay at their loved employ. Oh, how humble it made us feel! And we resolved to be better home missionaries than ever before, and do all in our power to help them teach the gospel to those who are hungering and thirsting for the Bread of Life.

Oh, that we might have a Scottsville in Louisiana! So many are hungering and thirsting after righteousness, and only need a Joshua to lead them over into Canaan, while we who have entered in love to mingle with those who live close to God and hold sweet converse together.

Oh, this "wonderful salvation; it just suits me!" Glory! I feel the precious cleansing blood flowing over my soul while I write, and I praise God I am nothing, and Christ is all in all. Yours in Jesus,

MRS. EMMA FOSTER.

Opelousas, La.

About Evangelists—No. 2.

According to promise at the close of my letter last week, the following plan for the regulation of evangelists is submitted. I do not think the plan proposed is the only one which will work, but after an interview with a very high dignitary of the church it is thrown out rather as a base of operation than as a complete system. It is proper, however, to say that the plan proposed below is not the plan suggested by the officer above alluded to.

The office of evangelist is—if it is anything—germain to the missionary operations of the church, and it seems to me if it is to be made anything in the church, it should be made a part of the missionary plans. To do this will require a slight readjustment of our missionary methods—two Boards instead of one as at present.

The duties of the Board of Missions, as at present organized, would not be disturbed except in so far as the management of domestic missions is concerned.

The plan is simple. Eliminate from the Constitution of the Board of Missions everything relating to the local work of the Board, and call it "The Foreign Mission Board," or "Board of Foreign Missions." Thus, the relation of this Board to the Parent Board, which has jurisdiction of all the foreign missions in the Conference, would be undisturbed, and the responsibilities of the Auxiliary Board, which are not shared by the Parent Board would cease to exist. There is nothing complicated or revolutionary in this part of the plan.

(It may be worth remembering that all other great missionary churches have two Boards of Missions—one foreign and one domestic—and in proportion to members are outdoing us in their operations. Maybe we need this readjustment in order to greater success.)

The organization of a Domestic Mission Board is certainly not heroulean, nor would it be additionally expensive. The Parent Board has no authority over the domestic work of the Conference, nor does it, as such, attempt to exercise any control over such work. Hence, it seems strange that the same Board has all along had charge of the two branches of this service.

In submitting a plan which proposes to incorporate the evangelistic work in the operations of a Domestic Mission Board, it must be borne in mind that the matter must start from the General Conference. My plan is, for the General Conference to pass upon a provision something like this:

Each Annual Conference shall organize a Board of Missions for the foreign work, which Board shall be auxiliary to the Parent Board, and shall represent the said Parent Board in the said Conferences. Each Conference shall also organize a Mission Board, which shall have the charge of all the domestic missions in said Conference, and may provide for the employment of evangelists to travel through said Conference and collect money for domestic missionary work, which evangelist when so nominated by said Board may be appointed to said work by the Bishop presiding at said Conference, provided that no minister of the M. E. Church, South, shall be permitted to travel and collect money as an evangelist, except such as are appointed thereto as above provided.

Something like this will be entirely sufficient to give the enterprise a start in the Annual Conferences.

Now, let the Conference take the matter in hand and so arrange the Constitution of the Board as to guard against the Board incurring liability for salary or other expenses of an evangelist, and so direct his labors as that he shall visit the most needy points in the Conference, making monthly reports to the Board, and forwarding with his reports all money, pledges, bequests, etc., which he may have received during the preceding month, less the salary for said month as provided by the Board.

This plan seems more in keeping with the present machinery of the church, and less liable to complications than a chapter in our book of discipline on evangelists, and, at the same time, as effectually guards the church against the threatened hosts of these self-chosen evangelists who go out and come in with all their commercial gains, and with no responsibility to anybody.

If any has a better plan, let us have it.

J. A. PARKER.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: I have received since last report the following amounts on Indian Mission for all purposes:

A friend	$1 00
A friend	9 00
By Mrs. E. A. Harris and others	6 00
Rev. W. W. Hopper	5 00
Rev. H. W. Van Hook	5 00
Rev. D. G. W. Ellis	2 50
Bro. Davis (not paid)	1 00
Mrs. Rev. J. S. Parker and mother	2 00
W. G. Kearnes	1 00
Rev. W. W. Morse	2 00
Week of Prayer and Self-Denial:
Miss Helen Steward	50
Mrs. R. J. Cammack	1 75
Miss Ella Cammack	25
Miss Ida Cammack	25
Miss Clara Cammack	40

Many thanks for above amounts, and may God abundantly bless all the donors!

We asked some time ago for all that had promised amounts for the purpose of sending S. J. Tubby to Millsaps College, and were now willing, as he is not ready to go to college, to give amounts subscribed to help buy land for the purpose of building up a church and school and colonizing them, to let me hear from them, and I have two responses—Dr. J. M. Weems, of Brookhaven, and Bro. P. A. Johnston, presiding elder of Woodville district, each for $10. Now, who will speak out next?

Now, brethren and sisters, we need about, or nearly, one thousand dollars between now and Dec. 1 for Indian Mission, and I confidentially expected to get a considerable amount just following the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial; but just think of it!—two thousand heathen Indians and eighty thousand Methodists in Mississippi, and one month passed and only about $3 heard from! God pity us! Many living in luxury and pride and denying the poor heathen the Bread of Life. Lord, have mercy on us, for surely their blood will be required of us.

Brethren and sisters, we ought to hasten to give them the gospel, now that they have been neglected so long. If I were a man of wealth, I would gladly give the whole amount necessary to buy all the land needed. May God speedily open the heart of some man of wealth, that he may send me a large amount for this important work! Who will give me $100 to help buy land to settle these poor, destitute people on?

Brethren and sisters, may I not expect many responses to this urgent appeal? Let it come thick and fast; any amount from twenty-five cents up, and at once. Send, as before, postoffice money order on Vicksburg, draft or check on Vicksburg or Jackson, or registered letter, to Oak Ridge, Miss.; and if I do not acknowledge receipt in due time, please write me, so we may look after it.

Your brother for the salvation of the Indians,

A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss.

From Japan.

Bro. Mellen: I thank you for your last note, the receipt of which was acknowledged before I left Matsuyama.

The three couples of new missionaries arrived Tuesday. The plan is for them only to study the language for the first year. This is very advantageous to them. I knew Teague and Hager at Vanderbilt, and they all promise to be men of great usefulness.

Foreign missionary work is very difficult here at present. Bro. Hendry, of China, remarked to me yesterday that notwithstanding the fact two missionaries were recently killed in China, Japan was the more difficult field. In China it is a strong anti-foreign feeling; it is anti-foreign and anti-Christian, and an unwillingness on the part of native Christians to be controlled by the missionaries. In our own church this latter feeling has not shown itself so much as in the older missions. It appeared mostly at Matsuyama, where, just after Conference last year, half the membership withdrew, claiming that they were dissatisfied with the change of native pastors made. The church suffered from it all the year.

My Bible class of each night continued interesting until the end of the session; but only a few could I call for Christ. Many young men would come to my house and listen, but never go to church, except sometimes at night to the Congregationalist Church where they have only a native pastor.

Mitsugahama, though before considered awful, has not been bad in this respect during the past year as Matsuyama, and though there have been various difficulties, the work there promises well.

After we get back to Matsuyama shall formulate the plans of the year, I will write about the reading-room, etc. I pray that all may be well.

Your brother, H. G. HAWKINS.

Kobe, Japan, Aug. 25, 1893.

Grenada Collegiate Institute.

Grenada Collegiate Institute opened its twelfth session well for these depressed times. We have the daughters of three presiding elders of the North Mississippi Conference, and twelve pupils, the children of traveling preachers. These pupils receive their tuition free, and pay only ten dollars per scholastic month for board and other expenses. In eleven years the institute has gladly given in tuition and board $6,200 to the children of our preachers. We are always glad to see them and have them enter school.

With the little financial help the Conference has given, we will be able to turn over to the church this Fall property worth now $20,000, free of debt, and with a perfect title. The Institute is well officered, and is doing a most admirable work for Christian education. I have been a patron and close observer of the institute from the very beginning, and I am sure better work is not done in any of our schools. The faculty is always good; and the care taken of the pupils, and the food furnished them, as I see it, and know of it, is all that reasonable people could ask. Many people in our Conference and State are sending their daughters afar to other colleges and paying more than it would cost them in our own institute, and yet they get no better than is furnished to our pupils here.

R. P. LAKE.

Minden, La.

I love the dear ADVOCATE more and more. It brings sweet cheer and comfort to our home every week. I will say to the sister writing from Haughton, La., that I was glad to see so. sister give her views on full trust God. Oh, how it lightens our burdens and sorrows when we can cast them all to the good Lord, trusting the promises! I am a great believer in prayer. After my domestic duties are attended to, I spend from a half-hour to an hour reading the Scriptures and praying God to give me wisdom and grace to help me each day to live right and acceptably, which is but our reasonable service. I agree with our brother that sanctification is an instantaneous blessing. I long sought for it in a different way, but found it not. Thanks be unto him who gives us the victory. While I write I am happy, and I know that I am sanctified and cleansed through the blood of Jesus. Our church is in a backslidden condition, and we have quite a small membership. Pray for us that God may send us a pentecostal shower during our meeting, sinners may be converted, backsliders reclaimed, and our church built up in its most holy faith.

MRS. C. A. GRIGSBY.

Gone, But Not Forgotten.

Our brother and father in law, Rev. T. Y. Armstrong, is gone. The devouter man has served the church no better man has lived in our midst. In Alabama and Mississippi he toiled nearly fifty years in the service of the Master. He is gone, but not forgotten. To know him was to love him.

Now, friends, let us put a tombstone over Uncle Tom's grave—and put a good one, too—as an expression of our love. Let every friend of this good man send something. If you were converted under his preaching, be sure to send something. If we do not place the stone at his grave, his aged widow will do it out of her very scant purse. Send all contributions to me or Sister Armstrong at Rose Hill, Miss.

GEO. H. THOMPSON.

Sept. 28, 1893.

A Helpful Book.

The Four D's after Sanctification, by Rev. J. Stephan, is a timely little book of let of 90 pages, in cloth. Price, 25 cents. Order of L. L. Pickett, Columbia, S. C. Here is a most helpful treatise that ought to be in the hands of all the brethren who have experienced the sanctifying grace of God. It indicates the Duties, Difficulties, Dangers and Development connected with the blessed state of "perfect love, which casteth out all fear." Sanctification as a means, not an end of our lives, is emphasized, and it is shown that that gracious experience one is qualified for "every good word and work."

THOS. B. WHITE.

Arcadia, La.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

By Rev. Robert H. Wynn.

Topic for Oct. 29.

DOUBTS AND THEIR ANSWER.
(Matt. xi, 1-11.)

The complete reversal that had taken place in the circumstances of John the Baptist is sufficient to account for what almost seems, in this passage, to indicate a reversal of character in the man. There had been a change (1) from the inspiration of a great multitude to the entire removal of an audience; (2) from a life of unrestricted freedom to close confinement within the walls of a prison. Unable, therefore, either to deliver his message to the multitudes, or to enjoy the freedom of the wilderness, he could do nothing but ponder over his condition, and the possible fate of the cause of Christ, which was next his heart. About the time John was cast into prison, Jesus departed into Galilee, the scene of a large part of his public ministry; and there was little opportunity for a man imprisoned in a fortress in Perea to hear much about what was going on in Capernaum and the other cities of Galilee. All that came to him were vague, conflicting rumors. The result of it all was sadness, doubt, fear. He wondered if it could be possible that he had labored under a delusion that Jesus was that one who should come, and so "he sent two of his disciples" to inquire of Jesus, "Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another?" This view of the passage will not seem unnatural, if it simply be borne in mind that John the Baptist was a man. The lion-like courage that manifested itself in condemning the hierarchy, and in rebuking King Herod, did not preclude the possibility of doubt.

It may here be seen that anybody is liable to fall into a state of doubt; that it is not safe for us to sit down and speculate as to contingencies in the gospel plan—to wonder what might be, and what might have been.

John's action illustrates the course every honest doubter should pursue; he was distressed about his state of mind and determined to settle the matter by referring it to Christ. He did not surrender to despair, nor did he send for anybody to discuss the matter with him. Just as John sent through his disciples to Christ, so should every doubter go directly to Christ in the manner he has appointed.

The reply of Christ indicates clearly that its purpose was not to strengthen the faith of the disciples, but of John himself. Christ's works were the test which he referred John, and so they are still the test of his divinity. The best answer that can be given the honest doubter of to-day is that spiritual wonders are everywhere occurring; the spiritually blind see; those who have been spiritually lame through the infirmity of sin are now able to tread with a firm step the highway of holiness; lepers are being healed; the deaf are being made to hear, and the dead are raised up. Is your faith weak? Send a petition to Christ that he manifest himself to you in Holy Ghost power.

Why the Epworth League Was Organized.

(Continued.)

Another thing that helped to give birth to the Epworth League idea is the great need of persons among the laity, who are capable of intelligently taking part in public service, and of engaging in the several lines of Christian effort that the church may plan, from time to time. It may be noted that there is a tendency, among a large per cent. of our church membership, to regard their duty to the church as done when they have been hearers of the Word on the Sabbath, and have gone through with a few forms—in other words, they are not convicted of their duty to engage actively in Christian work of any kind; while, in many other instances, where there is the willingness, there is not the intelligence to render them capable of rendering very efficient service. Thus, the work of saving souls, on the part of the church, is often retarded by a shrinking back through fear on the one hand, and misdirected enthusiasm on the other. The obligation to provide, if possible, some means of training the young people along these lines was recognized when the General Conference organized the Epworth League; and the design, in this connection, was that the League should be the means of creating among the young people convictions as to their duty to the church, and should furnish them field for the exercise of their powers, thus enabling them to intelligently fulfill those duties which the church has a right to demand of them.

In order that this end may be attained, it is necessary that one of the chief ideas constantly kept in view by the pastor must be that of getting the League to understand as soon as possible, that while he will do all he can in the way of advising, nevertheless he must not be expected to run the League; and it should be the work of the president of the League to enlist the energies of all the individual members.

(To be continued.)

The Methodist Review of Missions.

The fourth number of our connectional missionary organ is fully equal to its predecessors. To those who have read the previous issues this is a sufficient recommendation to secure a careful reading of the latest. But there are many who are unacquainted with its merits; to such these words are addressed.

The scope of the Review is comprehensive, embracing the entire field of missionary intelligence, covering its varied departments and its now world-wide territory. It is a monthly compend of the progress of the kingdom of God among them that sit in darkness.

No preacher or layman can be an intelligent member of the church unless informed of its manifold operations and achievements, and our missionary status and enterprise is of commanding importance. An old and useful member of our Conference told me that he had no difficulty in getting his missionary collections where the people were informed on the subject. The Review is before the church as the organ of such information. A glance at the contents of the October number will indicate its general excellence.

The first article by Rev. D. F. Watkins, of Mexico, on Sostenes Juarez, is a sketch of that remarkable man, and gives an interesting account of the first movement of pure Christianity in that country. Bishop Hendrix contributes an article on the "Relation of the Epworth League to Missions." Bishop Haygood writes on "The Work of Missions and Business Sense." "The Work among the Wild Tribes," and "The Comanche Mission," have each a separate article by Revs. J. J. Methvin, of Indian Territory, and W. A. Brewer, of Oklahoma. Dr. Parker, of Suchow, China, writes on "The Geary Exclusion Act," a valuable contribution to this important question. Other articles are: "The Source of Supply," by Rev. H. C. Morrison, D. D., of Atlanta; "Japanese M. E. Missions of San Francisco," by Rev. M. C. Harris, D. D., of San Francisco; "Objectionable Features of Chinese Customs," by Rev. W. B. Bonnell, of Shanghai, China; "Home Missions in the United States and Canada," by Rev. A. Sutherland, D. D., of Toronto.

The editorial department is devoted to connectional matters of importance. The miscellaneous matter takes in news from our own missions; Medical Missions; Woman's Work; Epworth League and Sunday-school; Our Fellow-Laborers; From All Fields; Treasurer's Department, and our Missionary Directory.

There is not a page in the magazine which does not contain valuable information, just such information as will stimulate a sermon, or help lift a collection. If the brethren desire to solve the problem of missionary collections, let them try the effects of such information as the Review provides for its readers. They will not be disappointed. The price ($1 a year) puts it within the reach of all. F. N. P.

Southern Amateur Athletic Union.

The Queen and Crescent Route and Louisville Southern Railroad will sell tickets at a greatly reduced rate, for the round trip, to New Orleans, La., on account of meeting of the Southern Amateur Athletic Union, New Orleans, La., Oct. 28, 1893.

Tickets on sale Oct. 26 and 27, from all points on Q. and C. and L. S. R. R., with return limit Oct. 29, 1893, inclusive.

Solid vestibuled trains, Cincinnati to New Orleans. Ninety-four miles shortest line. Only 26½ hours.

Call on agents for full particulars.

W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.
Jackson, Miss.

A convert in the Shansi Mission was asked how the Lord had changed his heart. He said, "I can not tell how it was done, but I know that my heart is exceedingly not the same."

Large as a Dollar

Were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy. They were especially severe on his legs, back of his ears and on his head. His hair was so matted that combing was sometimes impossible. His legs were so bad that sometimes he could not sit down, and when he tried to walk his legs would crack open and the blood start. Physicians did not cure. I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two weeks the sores began to heal up; the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles of Jos. Ruby.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

he was entirely free from sores." HARRY K. RUBY, Box 356, Columbia, Penn.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache. 25c.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA,
New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamor, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER,
Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor, (when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	3 102 grains
Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.063 grains
Sulphuric Acid	785 108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.322
Soda	6 045
Silica	6 049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80 616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 063
Silica	6 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D.,
Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonsful in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was shot out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Botham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c., 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. PUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,
No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Books and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,
Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Advertising in England, European Continent, Etc.

SELL'S

ADVERTISING AGENCY, Limited.

Capital, $250,000. Henry Sell, Manager (editor and founder of "Sell's World's Press").

Full particulars regarding British or European Advertising, sample papers, rates, etc., at the London Office, 167-168 Fleet street, or at New York Office, 21 Park Row, Ground Floor.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.		Leave.
Passenger	6:55 p.m	Passenger	7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail	8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail	6:00p.m
Chic. limited	3:40 p.m	Chic. limited	12:01 n'n
Sunday ex	8:30 p.m	Sunday ex	7:35a m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,
NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,
NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,
NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.		Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex.	7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex.	8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	8:20 p.m
Local	10:05 a.m	Local	3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and T'kt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:35 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	7:55 a. m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

FAT PEOPLE

To reduce your weight SURELY use Willard's Obesity Pills and lose 15 pounds a month. No injury to the health. No interference with business or pleasure. NO STARVING. They build up and improve the general health, beautify the complexion and leave NO WRINKLES. Lucy Anderson, 84 Auburn St., Cambridge, Mass., writes: Three bottles of your Obesity Pills reduced my weight from 235 pounds to 190 and I never felt better in all my life. I am much pleased with the result, and shall do all I can to help you. Our patrons include Physicians, Bankers, Lawyers, and leaders of Society. Our goods are not sold in drug stores; all orders are supplied direct from our office. Price per package $2.00 or three packages for $5.00 by mail prepaid. Particulars (sealed) 4cts. ALL CORRESPONDENCE CONFIDENTIAL.

WILLARD REMEDY CO., BOSTON, MASS.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

"A" Grade, $67.50. "A" Grade, $48.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $3 and upward.

"A" Grade, $120.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

McTyeire Institute,

McKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50.

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination.

Next session begins August 31.

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin.,
McKenzie, Tenn.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING

The only Harmony book ever written, that can be readily understood by the average student.

GOODRICH'S Analytical Harmony.

(A new Theory of Composition, from the Composer's standpoint.)

Clearer and more helpful than anything I have seen ARTHUR FOOTE.

A welcome relief from our present difficulties. WM. H. SHARWOOD.

Invaluable to teachers and pupils. EMIL LIEBLING.

It will be eminently successful. CLARENCE EDDY.

Goodrich has solved the great problem. S. MOLLENHAUER.

Delightfully clear. HARRISON WILD.

Plainly expressed and easily understood. JOS. H. GITTINGS.

A COMPANION VOLUME TO "MUSICAL ANALYSIS."

—PRICE, $2.00.—

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,
Cincinnati—New York—Chicago.

A NEW

UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Character of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D., of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address as postal to him and receive circulars free.

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D, Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED

Guaranteed in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 64 pgs. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

66th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degree of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $36.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit.

New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIELDS, Superintendent.

FENCING

WOVEN WIRE

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE.

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Mention this paper. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., No. 8 Noel Block, for Catalogue.

B. & S. BUSINESS COLLEGE,

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Superior advantages. Send postal for circular.

SKIN DISEASES

Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. druggists. HISCOX & CO., N. Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. It has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Consumption, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion, Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N. Y.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. E. W. BELL & CO., Millsboro, O.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A.

Best Imported Copper and E. India Tin.

CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. J. M. Beard, CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Rev. J. M. BEARD, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, October 26, 1893.

How We Became Editor.

We had hoped to avoid a discussion of this delicate question, but rash and ignorant people have put it quite out of our power. Briefly, about the first of June, last, when Mr. Mitchel, without adequate warning, threw up his contract as publisher, it became necessary for the Publishing Committee to take charge of the ADVOCATE. Naturally without means or knowledge of the business, they were at a loss how to proceed, the editor, former publisher, or others concerned, offering no solution of the trouble and proposing no measure of relief. The Executive Committee, representing the three Conferences, and empowered to act in such emergencies, being itself a majority of the original Committee, were notified to assemble at New Orleans one week before the time of the meeting, and a majority of that Committee, formerly constituting the whole of it, viz., president, secretary and treasurer (which Committee of Three has from time immemorial elected the editor of the ADVOCATE) came together and entered upon a careful canvass of the situation. Before the Committee assembled the secretary, Rev. S. S. Keener, wrote to Dr. Carter, requesting him to take possession of the publishing department and run the paper at his own charges, and a little later made the same proposition to the present incumbent, though in both instances unsuccessfully. Various measures of escape from the difficulty were discussed before the Committee; Dr. Carter advocating a suspension of the paper during the Summer months, a measure which, perhaps, also at one time had the support of Dr. Ahrens and the writer. When after discussion it was resolved to continue through the Summer, Bros. Keener and Ahrens were both urged to take charge of the business, each declining in most positive terms, and when at length the same proposition was made to the writer, feeling most keenly, as one who had been connected with the Committee for years as its chairman, the odium of the failure, he remembers distinctly that he first partially yielded his resolution to have nothing to do with the subject with but the hope of securing from one or the other of these brethren a retraction of their avowal to assume no responsibility in the matter. In reply to their united request that we should take the whole business and run it, we offered to accept the responsibility, if either of them would share it with us; and failing of this proposition, we finally urged upon both (in whose defense it must be said that they had apparently conceived an extravagant and too partial view of the writer's abilities and resources) that the entire Committee take charge of the paper until the Fall meeting. Both of these requests were declined; Dr. Carter was firm, the Mississippi brethren were afar, and there was not, perhaps, a capable person in New Orleans who would have accepted the responsibility. In this emergency the writer yielded, and one of the Committee in session was dispatched to Dr. Carter, who had temporarily withdrawn from the room, to ascertain if he would be willing to continue as editor of the paper on the same terms as formerly, or to be paid when funds were available, as he had expressed a purpose to resign in the presence of the whole Committee. The messenger returned with the information that Dr. Carter would not continue without the prompt monthly adjustment of his salary, and that he in turn had no proposition to make to the Committee. This plainly left that body no alternative but to inquire further if he would be willing to resign the editorial management into other hands, in which proposition he seemed to cheerfully acquiesce, and the Committee concluded its session with the most pleasant and hearty interchange between its members and the retiring editor.

Thus we took charge of the paper almost entirely without a bank account and without the smallest pledge of financial support from any quarter. But what men lacked the Lord has abundantly supplied, and during the long and painful season the business has never wanted for a dollar, and while discharging many back claims that were urgent we have regularly paid every employee of the office, and every bill for current supplies. During this period the ADVOCATE has gained nearly a thousand subscribers, and has also extended its business in other directions. There was a steady loss to the subscription list when the present administration begun four months ago; there is a steady gain at present.

In conclusion, we beg pardon of the public for these statements and admissions, and in all candor insist that they should be credited to our pert and self-complaisant critics, in what measure they have not been prompted by the anxiety of partial friends.

Birth and Growth.

A HOMILY UPON CHRISTIAN RUDIMENTS.

Let us inquire into the meaning of the above terms. First, who is the agent in the transaction or transition called birth—the infant or she who sustains to it the relation of maternity? In the realm of science it is a well-known fact that the former has to the borning process no active relation whatever. "It is as wholly passive in its birth," we quote from a physician of eminence, "as the egg is in laying." Then what is meant by the term "birth," or the phrase "being born." Evidently it implies the being brought out of one state of existence into another, and not a procession by growth out of the one into the other. The infant grows before it is born; it grows after it is born; but between the two there is an obvious suspension of its powers, it can not grow out of the one sphere into the other. It is brought forth by the exclusive agency of another, after a definite time of growth in one state preparatory to being born into another, to grow in that also, and by a similar process. But the infant has no volitional part in changing its state of existence; it but grows in the state in which it is placed by other agency than its own.

What, then, did the Savior mean when he said to Nicodemus, "Ye must be born again"? Now, let the reader bear in mind what the passive verb phrase, "to be born," means, and this will enable him to grasp the exact meaning of the Great Teacher. He evidently speaks in this much-quoted text of a definite work to be wrought both for and upon the hearer, and as certainly does not either imply or express active growth by lapse out of one into another. The concept of change or translation was in the Speaker's mind, it is true, but only as effected by the instrumentality of another, and with the absolute passivity of the subject of birth or new creature implied.

In what state, let us inquire again, was Nicodemus when thus addressed by our Lord? Obviously that expressed by the term or phrase, "spiritual death," though a member of the Jewish Church and, like all his countrymen, trusting for salvation to the law of ceremonies. St. Paul, commenting on his own experience as one in the position thus defined, but delivered from it by a process of grace, says, "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." In this way, as a typical sinner, he was translated out of the one sphere into the other, and it was precisely such a change as this that our Lord horoscoped for another Jewish ruler, directing that he must not only be born again, but be born again of the Spirit. By attending to the former analogy we shall discover what are the leading characteristics of this change and how exclusively it is a divine work. As the whole change in the natural birth is performed in the office of maternity, as we have shown, so the whole effect of transition in the spiritual birth is performed by the Spirit in the discharge of his office work. The soul, yielded to him as clay in the hands of the potter, is changed in its character, sublimed in its powers, and constituted a child of God as well as an heir of salvation. This much we are quite sure is plain.

Again, what is growth? Literally, the thing that grows, appropriating to itself by elective affinity those of the elements within its reach which constitute suitable pabulum for it, or which will minister to its development. But the natural subject can develop by growth only that nature which it may possess. It can not change its nature by growth. A tree producing sour fruit can not by the growing process reach a state where it will bear sweet fruit. "An evil tree can not bring forth good fruit," nor can an evil nature of any kind, without a total revolution of its powers, produce that which is good. The tiger can not grow out of its characteristic of ferocity into the opposite trait of gentleness, or out of its condition of ferœ naturœ either into a state of domesticity and preference for human society. And so neither can the sinner grow out of his sinful state into one of righteousness; he must be born into it; he must be born of the Spirit; he must be changed from the one state to the other by a minister as all-powerful as the Third Person of the Holy Trinity. If he could grow out of one into the other, he could be saved by works or by the effect of law. But "by grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God. It is written, that no man shall be justified by the deeds of the law." A distinction that the advocates of growth seem never to make is that it affects quantity, and not quality. A saint is developed, but not sublimated by growth—by the one work of grace he becomes a child of Adam, and will develop in that sphere; by another he is made a partaker of the divine nature, and will revolve through ever-widening orbits of perfection in that.

Now, admitting all this, is it reasonable to suppose that one having been pardoned for actual sins can grow out of a surviving state of inherited depravity (and which constantly prompts to sin) into that of heart purity or perfection of nature? Can the phronema sarkos, which is emnity against God, by a process of growth or generation either—if we suppose it to be the agent in both—approach to God by the radical terms of love and likeness? Must not the soul be born out of that state of depravity if it ascends at all? Will it not require stronger wings than those of sense, or than even the budding pinions of the new creature, to lift it from those dark depths to the character and communion of the risen Lord? The difficulty that we suggest is not only reasonable; it is eminently scriptural. By all the analogies of the subject a double cure for sin is demanded.

To aid our meaning, let us employ a simple illustration: A man by imprudent exposure of his person to cold or wet, or the two combined, has brought on a violent attack of pneumonia. He calls in a physician who has skill and is treated for that disease and entirely cured of it; but at the same time there is a consumptive taint inherited from his ancestors generations ago, and which though far more deadly than the former, receives no attention whatever. The man gets well of the pneumonia to carry consumption with him to the grave, or is delivered from the superficial malady to linger in the embraces of that which is both constitutional in its extent and fatal in its effect. By the same great physician, by a treatment identical, and by a process of delivery in nothing differenced from the former, he could have had perfect purification of the entire system, as well as partial cleansing of certain diseased organs. The idea of growth, which is a very entertaining one to the average theological mind, is one that is wholly inadmissible when applied to diseased or dead organisms. First life and then growth is the divine order; but life subjected to growth, or even flourishing development, may be fearfully impeded if not utterly destroyed in a soil where weeds and briars abound; and indeed if that were not true, the continued existence of the most vigorous subjects can not be maintained for any considerable period in a realm of darkness and death. The residue theory of redemption from sin, which has been made a leading postulate in the concluding portions of this article, both harmonizes with Scripture teaching and human experience we need scarcely remind the devout reader. If this theory, or the doctrine of inbred sin, was much in vogue in Mr. Wesley's time, much more is it so in ours, the best scholarship of the world, including the German and English schools of theology, being thoroughly committed to the view. And that postulate conceded, there is no longer a donbt with disingenuous minds that there are two changes involved in the metamorphosis which grace produces upon human souls; as there can be none that the second work is, at least, as radical and powerful an exponent of the subject of salvation as the first. In the view of very many, to stop short of the former is to neglect the great salvation, if not to forfeit heaven.

Then "let us be carried on to perfection." Let us trust God to do that for us which confessedly we can not do for ourselves, though it should require Pentecost or other display of miracle-working power. In this sphere more truly than any other:

> "Be assured the higher we aim to,
> The higher we shall attain to.
> The less we content will rest with,
> The less we will be blessed with."

While James and Peter set up for oracles at Jerusalem, Paul took the Lord in for a consulting partner and pushed the triumphs of the gospel to the pillars of Hercules. Ere long he was issuing rations to the chief of the apostles and the Judean contingent.

The Root of All Evil.

The love of money is the root of all evil, as the love of God is the fountain of all blessing. The love of the creature contracts the soul; the love of the Creator expands it. A diamond or pearl, hard and diminutive, represents the compass of the soul's earthward desire; the whole horizon, not of ether and star cope, but of the seven heavens of Revelation and the Spirit who pervades them, its heavenward. Hardness and narrowness are terms that describe the miser's heart because it has taken the very substance and pattern from those things which constitute both its trust and possession; and, on the other hand, mercy and benevolence express the character of the man who has resolutely turned away from the dumb and dead horizons, and taken Him from whom all existences derive their being, and their virtue, too, for his portion. Nothing so dwarfs a man as to give free rein to the commercial instinct, living among bags and barter and counting the minutes by dollars. "Free among the dead," for there is no life in the things that he has chosen for society, he circulates until he, too, takes on the complexion of death. Moth or mummy, he is both refreshed and nourished by grave diet, and welcomes a dying existence if he can at the same time dwell apart from the ordinary amenities of being, and clothe himself with sepulchral magnificence.

There is no man who lives, so dead, if we may be allowed that form of expression, as the man who has prices current for breakfast, markets for dinner, and mining quotations and banking rates per cent. for dining-room and boudoir. It is a melancholy instance of the ruling passion strong in death, without even the intervention of the scythe bearer, or the slight ceremony of mourning crepe and funeral oration. But if that were all, the world or the race might survive it. Humanity might well be content to live under its shadow, even though it were blight and mildew, if its destructions ended there. Alas! the ruling passion is most peculiar, if not individualistic, in that it gluts itself upon the great preserve of society before it comes to try conclusions, whether in weakness or strength, with the pale monster. To lie, to cheat, to steal, to rob, to seduce, to debauch, to slay are all easily within its category of conquest. It is a great beast of prey whose hunger wastes provinces and spares neither sex nor age, nor even species. It has an appetite as keen of edge as jackal or hyena, and a voracity as blind and insatiable as tiger or vulture. It consumes Naboth's vineyard at a meal and swallows Naboth along with it for condiment. The covetous man, as far as it is in his power, wastes the land without inhabitant, as well as without vineyard or flock. What made Alexander great but the greed which fed on crime and could be satisfied with no other nourishment! He swallowed down many kingdoms to discover greater thirst, and died of grief on a summit of imperial gratification, whence he could view all the potentates of earth in groaning vassalage to him, and all its courtiership of fair and renowned weaving chaplets for him. Crowned criminal as well as bacchanal and conqueror, he perished from the effects of that wasting consumption known as covetousness, and which in every case results from a complication of physical surfeit with moral inanition. He sleeps in a wider grave than any other descendant of Adam, for none ever lusted as did he. Hell itself heaving in tumultuous expectancy of her prey never beheld a more magnificent wreck. As there was not a neck of mortal upon which this ideally covetous man had not planted his foot, so there was not a crime that he had not committed in his efforts to get possession of the whole patrimony of mankind. But, like all covetous, he died looking back, and so far exceeding Lot's wife in the transformation act as to turn to granite instead of salt. If he shed tears they were maudlin, the mere recurrence of grape juice to its original element.

NOTES.

"For Truth is like a glowing spark,
The brightest in the densest dark."

***

Cease from man.

***

Do right and fear not.

***

So stand fast in the Lord.

***

Keep yourselves in the love of God.

***

Good manners are less than skin deep.

***

The great need of the church is more Christians.

***

Stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ hath clothed you.

***

The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters.

***

Whisky fills our jails and empties our churches. No wonder, he is king.

***

If we will take care of the Lord, the Lord will take care of our enemies.

***

We often flatter ourselves that we are judging angels when we are on trial ourselves.

***

The difference between a mad man and a mad-man is the absence of a hyphen or a space.

***

There is no House of Lords between free Americans and home rule. Let us have it at every cost.

***

What a year of revival it has been in all our Southwest! Maybe the dawn of millennium is rushing on to our view.

***

Another good man gone right in spite of a strong temptation to go wrong. And Satan's grin has become chagrin.

***

If we consulted with the infallible Lord more and his fallible servants less, like Paul we should make more progress.

***

Methodists have nothing to oppose to the literalism that exalts baptism by water, but the pentecostal rite. Will they abandon it?

***

The choir that talks or giggles or smirks behind the man who holds forth the Word of Life, is worse than a nuisance and should be abated.

***

Chicago has swallowed up many millions of the people's currency, and there is a great dearth North, South, East and West. What cares whited Chicago!

***

Among Christ's true disciples it can never be a question of strifes or rivalries. That spectacle of the Son of man making himself of no reputation would alone be enough.

***

Two maxims of a celebrated woman who became a teacher of distinguished men: "If there is a work to be done, and nobody else takes it up, it is my work;" and, "The only thing in the universe that I am afraid of is, that I shall not have done my whole duty."

***

"If a man is good, it is either because he has to be or because he enjoys it. No man was ever good from a sense of duty," is a quaint way of putting an old truth by the Richmond Advocate. Not only must the old sinner have a new nature, but also a new heart.

***

Bro. Sam Jones, in Tennessee Methodist, moralizes on the United States Senate as follows: "I see some of the senators have gone home drunk. Some men can serve their country better dead drunk than when they are sober. If I had a pack of hounds that run a fox like the United States Senate chases legislation, I would lose interest in the fox and go dog hunting and go home dogless." Again: "A hundred hens cackling in the barnyard, and not an egg laid. I would eat hens and do without eggs the balance of the year." And again: "To whom little is given little will be expected."

***

As the king entered with much ceremony and seated himself on a throne a little less elevated than the pulpit, the preacher murmured to himself, "Latimer, Latimer, remember that you are to preach before the great King Henry the Eighth to-day;" and then pausing, and with sudden determination in his manner, he cried, "Latimer, Latimer, remember that you are to preach before the great King of kings to-day;" and the whole assembly of king, courtiers and commons thrilled with the consciousness that they were to hearken to the free gospel that day. Later he was burned on a London common for his testimony to the truth, and by his courageous dying, and that of his companions, kindled such a light in England as to constitute her both a lighthouse and beacon fire, to the nations that sit in darkness.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The Publishing Commiliee is holding its annual session as we go to press.

Dr. Walker, with the help of local brethren, was protracting servloes at Moreau Slreel last week.

The editor of the ADVOCATE acknowledges a pleasant oall from his kinsman, Mr. Henry Fant, of Friar's Point, Miss.

Dr. Carter returned from the lower coast last week, and reports thal damage to our ohnroh Interests there is less serious than was antiolpated.

Bro. H. T. Henry, al the Resoue Mission, will do your job printing as cheaply as elsewhere in the oity, and the profits will he devoted to the mission.

Rev. H. W. Rickey, temporarily serving the Pattersonville oharge, and promising applioant for admission to the Louisiana Conference, called at the ADVOCATE offioe last week.

Bro. Harry Brown, who has been shouting in the van of ocnqnering hosts ever since the camp meeting season set in, paid us an appreolative oall last week. May his tribe increase!

Bishop Haygood applies oanstic to some of the newspaper oritios of Georgia transfers to Missouri. "Highsleepleism," commented a paragraphist. "Lying," retorted the Episcopoi.

Bro. Wynn succeeds well with the Epworth oolnmn, is the general verdict. A oolnmn artiole from his pen, copied from the NEW ORLEANS, occurs in the Fort Worth Epworth Methodist, of last week.

The great meeting al Felioity Street Chnroh begins Nov. 15. Rev. H. C. Morrison, the famous evangelist, will be here; hut the Lord Jesus Christ, moving among the oandlesticks, will be the great attraction. Come and help and get helped.

Rev. A. F. Watkins, editor of the Sunday-school Lesson, prompt and reliable as well as able, writes that an urgent call into the interior of the State has compelled him to disappoint our readers and his, this week. Let everybody conoerned take oomfort in the ancient adage.

Send to the editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for Bishop Haygood's great hook, "Jack-knife and Bramhles." Prloe, $1, postage paid.

"By all odds the richest, rarest, raoiest book on the themes it discusses that has appeared in twenty years," Dr. C. G. Smith, in Texas Advooate.)

Rev. F. G. Hocutt, returning from the Fair with Sister Hocutt, gave us a pleasant oall on Saturday. He is enthusiastio in his aoconnts of both city and show. Among other wonders he visited the W. C. T. U. Tample, one of the most magnifioent huildings, and at this time a center of attraotion hy virtue of the World's Convenilon in session there.

The Reaoue Mission was never doing hetter work for Christ and the suhmerged olasses than just now. nmerous conversions of the outoast element heing reported; and was never in greater need of help. What are you going to do ahont it now—and when the King shall begin to say to those on his left hand, "Inasmnoh as ye did it not unto the least of these, ye did it not to me"?

Rev. W. W. Hopper writes from Meridian, Miss., Oct. 19: "Bro. Carradine is with me in the power of the Holy Ghost, and our meeting is sweeping on in a perfect blaze of glory and power. Fifty-seven have entered the experience of entire sanotifioation up to date. The effect of the meeting is felt all over the city, and some of the very best members in our three churches are seeking and entering into the experience of entire sanotification. Glory to God."

Bro. Roy, the indefatigable, is putting brick fonndation nnder the ohuroh and parsonage at Daisy this time, and has the work well on the way to oompletion. He desires to retnrn thanks throngh the ADVOCATE to the ohnrohes of New Orleans for their oontrihutions in cash, clothing, etc. And everyhody returns thanks to our heroic hrother for the hardness that he has endured in waging his skirmish-line hattle against the powers of darkness for the past two years. It is said that the ill wind blew him no end of good clothes, and that he will he the best-dressed preacher at Conference.

The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society met in exeoutive session at the residence of the Conference president, Mrs. Dr. J. J. Lyons, 1290 St. Charles Ave., on the twentieth instant. There was an excellent attendance from the city societies, and among other husiness of importance it was resolved to postpone the day of prayer and special offerings from November to February, in response to a suggestion from headquarters. We are glad to note fidelity and watchfulness upon the part of the State officers of this important hody, as well as many signs of revival in the work, at least, as far as it is confined to the ohnrohes of New Orleans.

The ADVOCATE has received a copy of the Minutes of the Second Session of the Japan Mission Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, held at Hiroshima, Japan, July 13, 1893 Rev. C. B. Mosely was president, and our correspondent, H. G. Hawkins, secretary. There were present eighteen clerical and four lay members. The reports showed remarkable progress in all fields of Conference labor.

"Daily Talks and Walks with God."

"Daily Talks and Walks with God. A Volume of Suggestive Topics and Impressive Texts for the Daily Use of Pastors, Christian Workers and the Religious Household," is the title of a splendid volume, for which there is a real, if not a crying, need in every home in the land, just out from the press, and prayerfully arranged hy an old pastor. The author and compiler will he recognized at once hy the portrait frontispiece as Rev. Joel T. Daves, renowned in several of our Southern Conferences, and now pastor of one of the churches in Atlanta, Ga. The above lengthy title gives the scope and design of the work with sufficient definiteness; hnt, perhaps, we ought to particularize that there are Scripture selections, a hymn or short poem and one or more comments in the way of moral observations upon the subject chosen for the lesson hy a popular divine, and that there are two lesson sections for every day in the year, and a subject npon some leading topic of Christian experience for every lesson. Our friend has performed his task well and sent forth a commentary npon the Holy Word in its own langnage that ought to be a great influence for good, and that can hardly fail to meet with a hearty reception hy the church. Good taste and literary skill abonnd on every page of the large and handsome volnme, and we conceive it to be a privilege to be one of the first to congratulate our hrother npon the signal success which has crowned his labors in his first effort at hook-making. The volume is profusely illustrated with Bible characters and scenes, and furnished with a fitting introduction hy Rev. J. W. Lee, D. D., whose portrait is also given.

It is sold hy subscription only. Bound in extra cloth, ink and gold sides and hack, $2 75. Bound in half Russia antique and gold sides and hack, marhled edges, $3.75.

A Correction.

MR. EDITOR: In your issue of the 19th instant you say: "Dr. Cameron asserts that there are only two professors of entire sanctification in the North Mississippi Conference, which seems to us to be a somewhat extravagant statement." How you could charge me with such a statement with my article before you is to me unaccountable. Look at my statement and then compare it with yours. I said: "There are differences as to theory on the subject. The principal difference is on what a small minority call the second-blessing theory. The number holding and teaching this theory is comparatively very small. In the North Mississippi Conference, for instance, only two of the traveling preachers, so far as I knew, hold and teach this theory." In any view of the case, such a mis-statement as yours is surprising. Please set me right, to say nothing of yourself, by publishing this in your next issue. Yours truly,

J. D. CAMERON.

Senatobia, Miss.

[When we wrote, "in the North Mississippi Conference," we, of course, meant members of the Annual Conference. But if even in that we have seemed to misrepresent Dr. Cameron, we are sorry.—EDITOR]

To the Presiding Elders of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

I have two requests of importance:

1. Meet me on the day before your Annual Conference sessions at 9 o'clock A. M. at Hazlehurst, Dec. 6, and at Homer, Dec. 13.

2. Bring with you the statistical reports of each pastor in your districts; the reports he intends to present to Conference. If you can not secure them soon enough to hring yourself, have the brethren mail them to you at the seat of the Conference, so you may receive them hy the above dates. I want them for my own special private study.

3. I request the secretaries of the two Conferences to send me as soon as convenient copies of Annual Conference Minutes for the last five Conference years. I wish these for study and comparison. Fraternally,

JOSEPH S. KEY.

Sherman, Texas, Oct. 10, 1893.

Do not put off taking a medicine. Numerous little ailments, if neglected, will soon hreak up the system. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now, to expel disease, give strength and appetite.

Hood's Pills cure constipation hy restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

The ADVOCATE to subscribers and renewals from now until Jan. 1, 1895, for $2.

A Curious Incident.

MR EDITOR: I offer you an incident which occurred in the pastoral life of Wm. Tennant, a contemporary of John and Charles Wesley, and a holy man.

One morning—early, a young man came to the parsonage and inquired for Mr. Tennant. The servant invited him in, and informed him that a man wished to see him. Mr. Tennant came in and found one of the most woe-be-gone looking young men he had even seen. "Well, friend; what can I do for you?"

The young man, addressing him, said:

"Mr. Tennant, I am in great distress, and called to ask your advice as to how I may extricate myself, if possible. I have heen a very dissipated young man—have lived in drunkenness a long time, and am miserable beyond description. I went home last night—late, and intoxicated. I went upstairs, to hed and to sleep. I dreamed that I had hoen drunk and went home and went up stairs to my room, and that just as I reached the top of the stairs, fell hack to the floor and hroke my neck, and went to hell. Hell seemed an immense place, full of people, and as I approached they seemed jolly and jocular, and were all ahont an immense table feasting. I was surprised, and said: 'Why, the old women and preachers on earth said hell was a had place; hut you all seem to he enjoying yourselves.' They had on cloaks and hats, and instantly turned their eyes npon me, as fire halls. The cloaks parted and revealed to my eyes their interior condition, as living furnaces of fire. The devil stood ahout ministering to them. I said to him: 'I can not stay here, it is too dreadful. I am frightened; I can not stay here; I must go.' He said: 'This is the last place, they do not go away from here. You can not go.' I hecame more excited, and said, 'I must go! I will go!' 'Well,' said he, 'on one condition I will let you go—i. e., if you will promise to come hack here this night twelve months.' I promised, and the relief excited me so that I awoke and found myself in my hed, where I had lain down. But I became as miserable as if still in hell, and arose and came here to ask your advice."

"Well, friend; you are out of hell now, and you need not go hack. My advice is, that you ahandon at once and forever your course of dissipation, and repent of your sins. Believe upon Christ and join yourself to, and with God's people, and him, and work for him. Ahandon your old association in sin, and pray God to help deliver you, and he will, and you need not go back."

The young man thanked Mr. Tennant, promising to take his advice, and departed. He entered npon the work of reformation, as advised, and, to the astonishment of all, hecame an exemplary and reformed young man for about seven or eight months. One day he suddenly met one of his old comrades in dissipation, who said to him:

"Why, hallo, Tom! I am so glad to see you! You are looking so well! Where have you heen all this time? We used to he good friends, and have good times—come, let us go and renew our old friendship hy taking a drink together at the saloon."

"No, I thank you, Sam; I have ahandoned all that, and have reformed and am doing better."

"What! Sold your liherty! Have the Methodists got you? Gone into a craze, or fanaticism? and turned slave. Come hack into your right mind—let us go and take a glass of whisky, and you will he all right."

"No, Sam; I must not; can not."

"O, but you must! Come along."

"Well, Sam; if just taking one glass is all, I can do that with impunity."

"Well, that's all, Tom; that will do."

They took the whisky, and were both soon in the ditch. So on they went for three or four months. Then another young man called on Mr. Tennant.

"Well, sir; what can I do for you?"

'We desire to have you attend a funeral at our house to-day."

"Who is dead?"

"Tom came home last night ahout two o'clock, drunk, and went upstairs, and on reaching the top fell hack and broke his neck, and he is dead."

Mr. Tennant turned to his diary, where he had recorded Tom's visit, and found that that morning, twelve months ago, it was made.

WM. B. HINES.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

Twelve Reasons Why No Rational Being Should Use Tobacco.

I. The habit is at war with temperance.

1. Tobacco is an intoxicant.
2. It is a part of the merchandise of dram-shops.
3. Is an incentive to drunkenness.
4. It could he retorted on those that use hy those that drink, "Physician, heal thyself."

II. The habit is a self-indulgence.

1. It is in conflict with the self-denying spirit of the divine Founder of Christianity.
2. It numbers among its slaves more than 150 millions of human beings.
3. It hinders moral reform.
4. It impedes progress.

III. The habit is essentially filthy.

1. Cleanliness is next to godliness.
2. Ladies of refinement involuntarily shrink from the man who chews, smokes or snuffs, unless custom has rendered them indifferent to those vile habits.

IV. The lips of the tobacco chewer or habitual smoker are swelled and saturated with a disgusting poison.

1. The gums are spongy and tender.
2. The whole mouth and throat are affected.

V. It is inconsistent with the character of a Christian gentleman. "St. Paul," Bishop Hooker tells us, "was emphatically a gentleman." Would he have poisoned the air with sickening smoke or defiled the floor with liquid filthiness? Never!

VI. The habit injures the voice.

1. The smoker articulates huskily.
2. The chewer often croaks.
3. The snuffer speaks through his nose.

VII. The habit is costly.

1. More is spent for tobacco than for bread; $350,000,000 for tobacco in its various forms, and $200,000,000 for flour, a difference of $150,000,000; and this per annum.
2. More for tobacco than the gospel in all its various forms hy $310,000,000 per annum.

VIII. The habit often lowers the self-respect of those who practice it. An illustration: A clergyman said: "I love my pipe, hut despise myself for using it."

IX. The habit disturbs the regular pulsations of the heart.

1. Tobacco users are in constant danger.
2. Many fall dead suddenly.

X. The habit weakens the mind.

1. It enfeebles the memory.
2. Paralyzes the will.
3. Produces morbid irritability.
4. Diseases the imagination.
5. Deadens the moral sensibilities.
6. And is an "assault and battery" on the nervous system, the intellect and the soul.

XI. The habit is a rebellion against conscience.

1. It is a waste of time, money, strength, and shortens life.
2. Tramples on the laws of nature, which are the laws of God; hence it is sin.

XII. The habit is as contagious as the cholera.

1. Every mature smoker or chewer infects dozens of our youths with a desire to follow his pernicious example.
2. Thus the evil spreads.—Way of Life.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

Makes Delicious Lemonade.

A teaspoonful added to a glass of hot or cold water, and sweetened to the taste, will he found refreshing and invigorating.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 A. M.

HESLEP R. TUCKER,
G. W. GORDON,
E. H. CAGY,
Committee.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * * Yours, most respectfully,

MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Wator is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This wator is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres. —Draughon's C. P. Bus. College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2 Bond St., New York City.

The Southern Mercantile Co.,

OF NEW ORLEANS,

235 CANAL STREET, - New Orleans, La.

We are doing this to advertise our goods. Sending you a $35 Watch, a full-jewelled Elgin, Waltham, or Standard Movement, in a Base-filled, 14 Kt., Gold Case, warranted for twenty years, without a cent of cost, to be examined and tried; and if you find it as we represent it, you may send us the special advertising price of $12 80, and keep it. We must get a trade established in every locality. Write to us for one to look at. It costs you nothing.

Queen & Crescent Route

"Finest Trains in the South."

Through Cars to Chicago without change, from New Orleans, Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Jacksonville, Fla., Atlanta, Macon, Lexington and Georgetown, Ky. Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville. Stop-overs allowed on all World's Fair tickets, at Chattanooga, Louisville, Indianapolis or Cincinnati.

For further information as to Rates, Car Service, Sleeping Car Reservations etc., call on or address any agent of the Queen & Crescent Route or E. T. V. & G. Ry.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

THROUGH CARS TO CHICAGO.

Classical and Commercial Institute.

7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.

Endorsed hy the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.

H. S. CHENEY, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE

Opens Sept. 6th, 1893.

STAUNTON, VIRGINIA. Climate and surroundings exceptional. Handsome buildings, now being remodeled, thoroughly renovated, repainted inside and outside, and refurnished with new pianos, carpets, &c. Steam heat, gas lights, bath rooms on every floor. New Laboratory thoroughly equipped. Excellent Faculty of experienced Teachers. Advanced courses in English, Latin, German, French, &c. Special advantages in Art. Conservatory Course in Music. One hundred and forty-one boarding pupils from eighteen States. Terms moderate. For Catalogues of this celebrated old Virginia school, address

W. W. ROBERTSON, President, Staunton, Virginia.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

BEAUTIFUL SLEEP — is an expression used for sound sleep. Nothing is so gratifying to the nerves, heart, and head, as perfect sleep—a companion of good digestion and a healthy liver. A tired digestion fails to assimilate, or take care of, the food we eat. Something bracing or invigorating is needed for the liver, stomach, and intestines.

This is where you will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do the most good. They are tiny, sugar-coated pills, scarcely larger than mustard seed, made of concentrated botanical extracts. These "Pellets" are easily dissolved in the stomach and absorbed into the blood, stimulating a flow of bile from the liver, and arousing to activity all the glandular secretions. Thus they act in nature's own way.

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded, in all Bilious Attacks, in Sick Headache, Constipation, Dizziness, and Indigestion.

When you have Catarrh, use the sure remedy—Dr. Sage's. $500 for an incurable case.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that Malaria from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.

Chas. H. Fash, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GERMETUER

CURES FEVERS.

DR. J. W. NELMS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 14th, 1893.

For the past two years I have used King's Royal Germetuer in my practice with most satisfactory results. I have used it in Typhus, Typhoid and Bilious Fevers, and always with the speediest and best effects. It lowers the temperature and breaks up fevers of all kinds common to this latitude more expeditiously than any remedy within my knowledge. From my own experience in its use upon myself and others to whom I have recommended and administered it, I believe it would be a good remedy for Yellow Fever. It is a most excellent antiseptic, cures catarrh, insomnia, night sweats and eczema in all its forms. King's Royal Germetuer is emphatically a safe remedy, and leaves no injurious effects in the system.

JOHN W. NELMS, M. D.,
Mayor West End, Ga.

For Nervous Troubles, Teething Children and Summer Complaint, Germetuer has no equal. Try it; $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.

KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Germetuer Pills for constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE EXCELLENT WOMAN.

BY WILLIAM WORDSWORTH.

She was a phantom of delight
When first she gleamed upon my sight;
A lovely apparition, sent
To be a moment's ornament;
Her eyes as stars of twilight fair,
Like twilight's, too, her dusky hair;
But all things else about her drawn
From May-time and the cheerful dawn;
A dancing shape, an image gay,
To haunt, to startle, and waylay.

I saw her upon nearer view,
A spirit, yet a woman too!
Her household motions light and free,
And steps of virgin liberty;
A countenance in which did meet
Sweet records, promises as sweet;
A creature not too bright or good
For human nature's daily food;
For transient sorrows, simple wiles,
Praise, blame, love, kisses, tears and smiles.

And now I see with eyes serene
The very pulse of the machine;
A being breathing thoughtful breath,
A traveler between life and death;
The reason firm, the temperate will,
Endurance, foresight, strength and skill,
A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort and command;
And yet a spirit still, and bright
With something of angelic light.

Little Janet.

"Yes, it was a terrible blow. We hadn't had a death in our family on either side since my mother died at a very advanced age, and never one in our immediate family. When mother died we mourned her, but she longed to go, and she was so old and feeble and suffered so much that we could but rejoice for her at the release.

"It was very different with little Janet. She was the eldest of our four, the leader in all their sports, and such a help to me in caring for them. I could always depend on her, so far as a child of ten could be depended on, to do the best thing when I was away to keep the rest harmonious and from getting into trouble. She was such a healthy child, too; how could we think she could be taken away so sudden? Sick only four days. And such a sickness! Of course, we had to send all the other children out of the house, diphtheria is so contagious. And not to be able to have our friends around us when she died and at the funeral, that was a sore trial. A great many of them joined the funeral procession at the gate, but they didn't dare to come into the house, even if they hadn't been forbidden to do so.

"At first I was stunned and dazed by the blow. But Janet was her father's idol, and he was just paralyzed with grief. I had to rouse myself to comfort him. Then when the three came back, I had to be cheerful or seem so for their sakes. And when it began to dawn on me that they were brother and sister to an angel, there grew up in me such an earnest desire to bring them up so they wouldn't be very far behind her. You don't know how gentle and considerate and tender that thought made me. I was reminded of something a lady once said with reference to a family, the mother of which was a very stern disciplinarian. She said it would be a good thing for that mother to lose one of her children. It would make her tenderer toward the rest.

"Poor little Janet suffered so much, and I used to lie awake at night and see all those dreadful days of her sickness painted on the darkness. But a thought of Zschokke cured me of that. He says: 'If your friend had got well, you would forget all about his sufferings while he was sick. He has got well better than he ever could have been in this world, and can never be sick again or suffer any pain.'

"Little by little the wound closed over. 'The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord.' But for all that it was an amputation, and it took a long time for the several nerves and blood vessels and the wounded tissues to heal. The loss has made the children tenderer toward each other. It has made her father and me more spiritual in our aspirations, and it has made us sympathize with those bereaved as we never could have done had we not passed through the deep waters of affliction ourselves."

Doing and Knowing.

In the story of Lady Somerset's life, as told by Mr. Stead in the Review of Reviews, is a striking illustration of Christ's words, "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine." Lady Somerset had been greatly troubled about religious questions. Through reading infidel works she had come finally to doubt the very existence of Christ. Yet still she could not rest in this state of uncertainty. She pondered and prayed and thought and read, but found no foothold for faith. Finally, one Summer evening she was walking, in deep thought, beneath the beautiful elms in her magnificent grounds, when, like Paul, like Augustine, like Luther, she heard a voice speaking to her. And the words she heard distinctly were these: "Act as if I were, and thou shalt know that I am." She repeated them over and over again. The more she thought upon them, the wiser seemed the message. And from that hour she began to do the will of God, to act in all her life as if Christ were; and she found that he was indeed helper and Savior and friend. It is yet true that obedience is the way to knowledge. If we live as though God were not, we shall not find him. But if we throw ourselves upon the assumed truth of his existence, we shall find beneath us the everlasting arms. If we are troubled with doubts and fears, the remedy is, as Prof. Franke said, to let Christ be really to us helper and friend, and in the experience of his presence and power, doubts and fears will flee away.

A Saint.

There is many a member of the church whose cheek would redden if he heard himself called a saint. Yet, if we had a church of saints! A single saint—a Keble or a McCheyne—can make a whole denomination venerable. Of all the signs that mark the followers of Christ, holiness is the most august. Even faith, even love itself, perhaps, yields to it. Like a light that twinkles out over the waste of waters and tells the shipwrecked mariner to hope, so a single holy life assures hearts made skeptical by the worldliness of an unspiritual society that there still exists on earth the power of God. A single saint will fill a whole parish with belief in religion, as a grain of musk fills a room with its fragrance. I express only my own opinion when I say that in my belief a saint, the humblest saint, is more precious to the church of God than ecclesiastic, orator, or scholar.—James Stalker, D. D., in Preacher's Magazine.

Alcoholic liquors are poisons. Their sale as beverages is clearly unconstitutional.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

THE DOOR TO THE HOUSE.

There were idle thoughts came in at the door,
And warmed their little toes,
And did more mischief about the house
Than anyone living knows.

They scratched the tables and broke the chairs,
And soiled the floor and wall;
For a motto was written above the door,
"There's a welcome here for all."

When the master saw the mischief done,
He closed it with hope and fear,
And he wrote above, "Let none
Save good thoughts enter here."

And the good little thoughts came trooping in
When he drove the others out;
They cleaned the walls and they swept the floor,
And sang as they moved about.

And last of all an angel came,
With wings and a shining face,
And above the door he wrote, "Here
Love has found a dwelling place."

—Selected.

A Stundist's Faith Honored.

The following incident has just reached the writer from an authentic source. Quite lately, a large number of Russian criminals were standing in the courtyard of their prison, chained together, and about starting for their long sad journey into Siberian wilds. Amongst them was one Christian man, a Stundist, sharing their banishment and punishment, simply because he had spoken to his fellow-workmen about the faith which made him count all things as dross for Christ's sake. His fellow-prisoners were jeering him about it, saying, "But you're no better off than we are. You are wearing the bracelets (handcuffs) as we do; if your God is of any use to you, why doesn't he knock off your chains, and set you free?"

The man replied reverently: "If the Lord will, he can set me free even now, and though my hands are chained, my heart is free!" At that moment a voice was heard calling him by name, and telling him that a paper had just been received granting him a full pardon. He was then told to stand aside, and his chains were struck off. At the same time the prison gates were thrown open, and all the rest of the convicts filed out, the Stundist alone remaining behind, with permission to return to his family and friends.

It is said that the prisoners were perfectly awestricken and solemnized with the impression of what they had witnessed. It transpired afterwards that a Christian lady in a high position, who took an interest in this poor laboring man, had asked and obtained his pardon. But how marvellously God was glorified in its arrival at such a moment; and who can tell what blessings may have been born for the spiritual emancipation of the poor criminals, whose chained bodies were trudging wearily to their exile home?—The Christian.

A Youthful Pessimist.

Jeremiah, who is twelve years old, is already a confirmed pessimist. Among the things which he continually grumbles about are his lead pencils, which never have points, and to sharpen which he always has to borrow a knife of some school-mate.

"Why don't you have a knife of your own, Jerry?" one of the boys asked.

"Got no pockets to keep it in," said Jerry.

"Then why don't you have a pocket?"

"'F I had one, 't'd have a hole in it."

"Well, even then you wouldn't be any worse off than you are now."

"H'm! Yes, I should. 'F I had a pocket, 'n' a hole in it, I never'd had anything to lose through it!"

Jerry sighed deeply, and went on whittling his pencil with the dull blade of the other boy's knife.

A Boy's Luck.

Some boys have a great deal of luck. Probably the luckiest boy the world ever knew was the little Maidstone (England) boy, who had a very narrow escape, while flying his kite, some five or six years ago. Not looking where he was going, he stepped backward and fell into a quarry forty feet deep, to the horror of some persons walking near. The string of the kite, however, being fastened around his wrist, the boy was lowered gently into the pit, the kite acting as a parachute, and instead of being dashed to pieces, he escape unhurt. Perhaps this means he is destined to make his mark in the world. The great Lord Clive, when a youth, tried three times to shoot himself, but the pistol missed fire each time. —Harper's Young People.

The Larch Tree.

A FAIRY TALE.

Once there grew a beautiful maple tree in the centre of a large park. All Summer it had stood there, covered with green leaves. Many people had stopped to rest beneath its shade.

But when Fall came a change took place. The leaves began to turn red and yellow. Then the people said: "How beautiful the maple is! In all the park there is not a tree whose leaves are so pretty and bright." The maple was so pleased to hear herself praised that she began to flutter her leaves and toss her head in a very proud, vain manner.

She spread out her boughs so far that a little larch close by was almost hidden from sight. But the maple said: "It does not matter if I do hide the larch, for no one cares to look at him, he is such a plain little tree. His leaves do not turn red and yellow, like mine!"

The larch heard the unkind words of the maple, but did not say anything. He only rustled his stiff little leaves and sighed.

The good fairy of the park passed by just then, and said: "Why did you sigh, little larch? Do you feel unhappy?" The larch replied: "I only sighed because the maple is so much more beautiful than I, and seems to please everyone."

The good fairy felt sorry for the poor little larch, for he did look plain and small by the bright maple. She touched him with her wand and said:

"Tree, tree, be cheering for me,
And you forever green shall be."

The little larch smiled brightly and rustled his leaves contentedly.

In a few days the bright maple leaves turned brown and fell to the earth and left the branches bare. The beauty of the maple was gone.

Then the snow came, and in all the park there was but one bright, cheerful spot. There the little larch bravely stood, his leaves as green as when they first came out.

All through the cold Winter he cheered the people who passed. So they said, "Let us call the larch an 'evergreen!'" And to this day the larch keeps green all the year round.—Exchange.

About Precious Stones.

The largest known diamond belongs to the crown of Portugal. It is a remarkable stone, weighing 1,680 carats (eleven ounces) in the rough, and is estimated at over $250 000 000. Thus far it has not been cut. The Kohinoor is remarkable from its history as well as its size. It formerly belonged to the Grand Mogul. In 1813 it came into the possession, after a victorious war, of the King of Lahore, and when the East India Company took his estates at his death the stone was presented to the Queen of England. It then weighed 186 carats, but was awkwardly shaped and badly polished. It has since been cut into the form of the regent diamond, during which operation it lost nearly one-third of its original value. It is a gem of the purest water, however, and is valued at £2,000,000, or $9,680,000 of our money.

The opal is the favorite stone of Queen Victoria, and she gives them to all her friends. It is evident that she ignores the popular superstition, so prevalent in the last century, that the opal brings bad luck, and holds to the old legend of the East that they "make beloved of God and man the one who wears it in faith and confidence." Opals are found in Australia, India, and Brazil. Fine opals are found in Mexico, and the Mexican opal is nowadays frequently used in rings and pins in place of the precious opal.

The cat's-eye is a peculiar stone, so called from the peculiar play of light in it, which makes it closely resemble the eye of a cat. It is a variety of sapphire, and is considered very valuable, perfect stones bringing hundreds, or even thousands, of dollars apiece. It is the favorite stone of the Prince of Wales, who wears one constantly, more than half believing in the old superstition that they have the power of enriching their owner. Considering that his debts now amount to over $2,000,000, one naturally wonders at his cherishing that ideal The blue sapphire was one of Henry Ward Beecher's favorites. "What is $325," he once wrote his dealer when ordering a coveted stone, "when compared with a section cut from the heavens?"

A Cry For Pure Food.

Alum and Ammonia Baking Powders Must Retire.

Honest Legislation to Protect the Consumer

Against Hurtful and Impure Food is Coming.

The Price Baking Powder Co.

intends keeping up the agitation against the use of Alum and Ammonia in Baking Powders.

Labeling Ammonia and Alum powders "Absolutely Pure" no longer deceives the people.

Neither will the use of purchased certificates by so-called Government chemists avail.

There is no such official as Government chemist.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

is a pure cream of tartar powder. Its purity has never been questioned.

You can buy a chimney to fit your lamp that will last till some accident happens to it.

Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass" is that chimney.

You can have it—your dealer will get it—if you insist on it. He may tell you it costs him three times as much as some others. That is true. He may say they are just as good. Don't you believe it—they may be better for him; he may like the breaking.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

ALL Leather is soft and strong with Vacuum Leather Oil in it; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Said the Owl

to himself, "If the moon I could get, whenever I'm dry my throat I could wet; The moon is a quarter—with a quarter I hear; you can purchase five gallons of

Hires' Root Beer."

A Delicious, Temperance, Thirst-quenching, Health-Giving Drink. Good for any time of year.

A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Be sure and get HIRES'.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. H. Fash, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

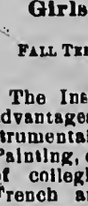
For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.



FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. H. LOWE, Mills Building, New York.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by Druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

MARRIAGES.

MURRAY—LEGGETT.—Near Trenton, Miss., Oct. 1, 1893, by Rev. R. S. Gale, Mr. J. M. Murray, of Rankin county, Miss., and Miss Nannie A. Leggett, of Copiah county, Miss.

LYNCH—CUNNINGHAM.—At the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. Gen. Tubberville, near Bunkie, La., Sept. 13, 1893, by Rev. T. L. Lallance, Mr. Geo. W. Lynch to Mrs. Eloise G. Cuningham.

MOORE—FORE.—At Magnolia Church, in Franklin parish, La., Oct. 15, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., by Rev. A. W. Moore, Mr. Alvin D. Moore and Miss Emma A. Fore.

HARPER DIAMOND.—At Magnolia Church, in Franklin parish, La., Oct. 15, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., by Rev. A. W. Moore, Mr. Douglas A. Harper and Miss Lizzie Diamond.

GOD'S TO-MORROW.

When a sudden sorrow
Comes like cloud and night,
Wait for God's to-morrow,
All will then be bright.
Only wait and trust him
Just a little while;
After evening teardrops
Shall come the morning smile.

—F. R. Havergal.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

FUDGE—Sister HETTIE A. FUDGE was born Nov. 15, 1849, and after great suffering and physical weakness, which she endured with great patience and Christian fortitude for the last twenty-five years of her earthly pilgrimage, she sweetly fell asleep in the arms of Christ, July 27, 1893.

She was the daughter of the Rev. J. E. Hudgins, an aged and honored local preacher in the North Mississippi Conference, and a sister of Mrs. R. A. Ellis, of the Northwest Texas Conference, and of Mrs. D. C. Foust, of the North Mississippi Conference. Sister Fudge professed religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in early life, in which she lived a consistent member till her last day. Her religion was a comfort and solace to her in her long and protracted illness. She not only professed faith in Christ, but she enjoyed the peace of God in her heart. She was a strong Methodist, and as long as she lived she did all she could to promote the interest of the church. Sister Fudge was always glad to see the preachers and talk on the subject of religion.

She died in great peace and full of faith and hope for a better world. She leaves an aged father and mother, a devoted brother and several sisters, a sorrow-stricken husband and two motherless little girls to mourn her death. May that blessed hand that guides the sparrow in its flight, that giveth bread to the hungry, and that cheers the drooping heart, bless and comfort the sorrowing ones, and bring them at last to a happy reunion with their departed loved one in the home of the blessed!

J. W. ANDERSON.

Abbeville, Miss.

HATCH—ELIZABETH HATCH was born in North Carolina, April 25, 1825; was married to Mr. R. West Hatch on April 26, 1843, and died at her home, in Richland parish, on Sept. 3, 1893, after a long and painful illness.

Sister Hatch united with the M. E. Church, South, about thirty years ago, and during this period of her membership she endeavored to keep inviolate the rules of this, the church of her choice. For many months she was deprived of the privileges of the earthly sanctuary and the communion of saints on earth, but seemed during her illness to have the presence of the "Great Comforter," the Holy Spirit, testifying that she was a child of God and an heir of heaven. About three months previous to her final departure I had the privilege of making her a pastoral visit, and after a short conversation with her concerning her physical condition the other members of the family were called in. I then read that portion of God's Word which tells of a place the Savior has prepared for the faithful; a prayer was offered, and when we arose from our knees I addressed her as follows: "Sister Hatch, I suppose if you should pass away before I come again, I'll know where to find you?" "Yes, you'll know where to find me," was her reply. I expect to meet her in the fair city, the gates of whose walls are pearls, and whose streets are paved with pure gold.

Dear relatives, strive to "follow her as she followed Christ," and may you meet her again where "weeping is no more!"

I. T. REAMES, Pastor.

LONDAY—SALLIE J. LONDAY, wife of J. A. Londay, died Sept. 12, 1893, aged twenty-four years six months and twenty-five days. I visited Sister Londay and prayed with her often the last two or three months of her sickness. Bro. W. A. Langley, of the North Mississippi Conference, administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper to Sister Londay about two weeks before her death, and from that time to her death she expressed herself often that the Lord was with her. We preached her funeral and buried her at Tranquil M. E. Church, South, Yazoo county, Miss., where she held her membership, in the presence of many friends and relatives, to await the resurrection of the just.

She leaves a husband, three children, mother, brothers and sisters to mourn their loss. We would say to the bereaved ones: Live so as to meet Sister Londay in the sweet by and by, on that beautiful shore, where parting will be no more.

R. T. NOLEN, L. P.

SHARP—Died, at Donaldsonville, La., July 22, 1893, at four o'clock P. M., ABSALOM B. SHARP. He was born in Clinton county, Ill. At the age of twenty-nine he came to Louisiana, where he has lived for forty years. He was sixty-nine years and six months old when he died. He joined the M. E. Church, South, when he was twelve years old at Gum Ridge Camp Ground, Ill. Later on he had a brighter evidence of his acceptance with God. He was a kind husband, a loving father, a true friend, a genial companion, a worthy citizen, an obliging neighbor.

He had lived a consistent Christian life. His home was the preacher's home. He loved his preacher and his church. His religion made him brave in death, for he trusted in One who had overcome death. He leaves a wife and two daughters to mourn their loss. Their desire should be, Let my last day be like his!

F. G. HOCUTT.

SAUNDERS—WILLIS WALTON SAUNDERS was born to Bro. James and Sister Cappie Saunders (nee Frierson), and remained with them thirteen months, when God took him home to himself. The parents accepted him as a gift from God, and cheerfully gave him back to him, and they are comforted that their little one is with Jesus, who is very precious to them in this, their time of need.

H. P. GIBBS, P. C.

SUMMER—MARTHA JANE BOYD was born in Newberry district, S. C., Jan. 27, 1828; was married to Mr. Alfred Summer, July 15, 1843; was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in September, 1843; came to Trenton, Smith county, Miss., in January, 1856; thence to Hinds county, Miss., in early part of 1876; returned to Polkville, Smith county, Miss., in 1880, where she resided until her death, which event occurred Sept. 8, 1893, in her sixty-fifth year. Born to this union were eight children—five sons and three daughters. The oldest son was killed in the second battle of Manassas, Va., and the youngest son died at home of fever. Three sons and three daughters are living, and all on the church line with the aged father and deceased mother.

Our first acquaintance dates as far back as December, 1856, when this writer was appointed to the (then) Strong River mission, now Trenton, and parts of Shiloh and Homewood circuits. From thence until her death I was often at old Bro. and Sister Summer's; always found a home and resting-place. The way-worn itinerant always found in her home a rest and refreshing welcome. Sister Summer lived and died in the Christian's faith. This scribe was the pastor of Sister Summer and family six years, first and last; hence knew her Christian character long and favorably. God bless her aged and bereft husband and children until we all awake in likeness of Christ!

R. A. SIBLEY.

Trenton, Miss.

MILLER—BENNIE PHILLIPS MILLER was born July 25, 1877, in Tallahatchie county, Miss.; was baptized by Rev. Ben Phillips when one year old; professed faith in Christ, August, 1890, and departed this life, Sept. 16, 1893, aged sixteen years one month and twenty-two days.

It has been the privilege of the writer to have been intimately associated with Bennie for the last four years, and have always found him to be a loving, devoted son to his parents and a true Christian, loved by all who knew him. About twelve months before his death, when his father was absent from his family altar, Bennie would take his Bible and call his mother and little brothers and sisters around the altar and pray. At the table he would ask the blessing of God.

The writer extends to the bereft father and mother his heart-felt sympathy, and points them to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world. May the blessings of God ever attend that home, and the vacant seat be filled with the love and mercies of God!

A true friend, JOHN J. BROX.

Lehrton, Miss.

WILLIAMSON—Mrs. C. M. J. WILLIAMSON was born in Warren county, Miss., Aug. 16, 1818, and died after a month's painful illness, Aug. 19, 1893. Sister Williamson was twice married. First to Dr. Jas. Pettway, and last to Mr. J. B. Williamson. She leaves three children and fifteen grandchildren to mourn her loss.

Sister Williamson joined the Methodist Church in 1847, and lived a consecrated Christian life. Early in her illness she realized that her earthly course was nearing its end, and she said that she had 'fought a good fight and kept the faith," and was not afraid to die, but she was willing and anxious to leave this world of sorrow and pain. This was her daily prayer, that she should be removed from earth to heaven.

Sister Williamson's Christian life is a goodly heritage which she leaves to her children and grandchildren. Loved ones, live godly, and you will not be long separated from your dear loved one.

J. W. SHARBROUGH.

Campbellsville, Miss.

HOLLOMAN—ELLEN SALINA HOLLOMAN, little daughter of our dear Bro. and Sister T. A. Holloman, of Phœnix, Miss., was born Jan. 14, 1889, and after very great suffering for a short while died of membraneous croup, Sept. 18, 1893, being at the time of her death four years seven months and twenty-nine days old.

She was a dear, sweet little girl, and, though afflicted with a throat trouble all her life, she was bright and full of life as she could be, and was the joy of the home. Little Lina was loved by all her acquaintances and very dearly by her parents. May God graciously sustain them in this sore bereavement, and help them to feel that though she can not come back to them, they can go to her, and that doubtless she will be at the beautiful gate waiting and watching for them and all the loved ones.

Farewell, dear little Lina, for a while. We know where to find you, and will see you again by and by. May God bless the loved ones!

Their pastor in Christ, A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Father! what hast thou grown to now?
A joy all joys above,
Something more sacred than a tear,
More tender than a love.
With gentle swiftness lead me on,
Dear God, to see thy face;
And meanwhile in my narrow heart
O make thyself more space!

—Faber.

Asthma can't be cured? Oh! yes it can. Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar will do it. I know it because it gave me relief. Every winter I was troubled with asthma, especially if the weather was damp, suffering severely. I took about six bottles of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and am completely cured. It is the remedy for asthma. CHAS. HEINES, 500½ Chippewa Street, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar is a sure and speedy cure for coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and consumption, and gives immediate relief in cases of croup and whooping-cough. Try it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c bottle.

Mark Guy Pearse has a homily upon the crossing of the Red Sea in a late number of the Preacher's Magazine, in which he says. "The Israelites had their baptism—'they were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea.' All—the infants as well as the adults; sprinkled by the spray and the rain. The Egyptians were immersed!"

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by D. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 27

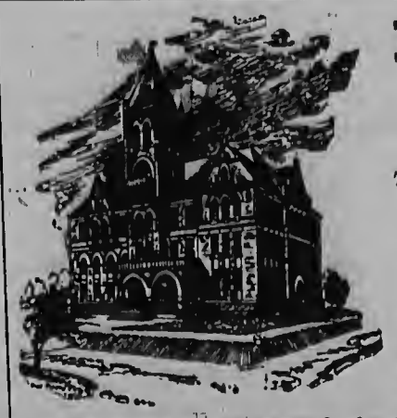
ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.

The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893.
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address
Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.



Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3 235 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. O. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY. JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE. J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE. W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TEN POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining,
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

EMORY COLLEGE
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta
Location Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons!
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D. PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The commission appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, Hon. Hillary A. Herbert, is here to survey and look over the ground for the establishment of a United States navy dock on a large and modern scale.

A disastrous collision occurred between two trains on the Grand Trunk railroad near Battle Creek, Mich., on Oct. 20. Twenty-six lives were lost and as many were injured. Twenty of the bodies were burned beyond recognition.

The relief work for the storm sufferers is still in progress. Blankets and shoes have been purchased for the needy. Wood has been distributed and expeditions started to reclaim luggers. The Board of Trade reported ten thousand dollars available.

The steamship Marseille, plying between Antwerp and New Orleans, encountered a hurricane, on Oct. 8, about 500 miles east of the Bahamas. She sprung aleak, and had to be abandoned. All the passengers and crew were transferred to the Palmas, except five, who were drowned.

The silver question will probably again occupy the attention of the Senate to the exclusion of every other subject, unless it be some minor matter like the confirmation of presidential appointments. Even though the compromise bill be brought in, there is little prospect of concluding the consideration of the question before the latter part of the week.

New York and Chicago clasped hands on Oct. 21, and the great sister cities of the land of Columbus united their efforts in making the Manhattan celebration at the World's Fair a triumphant success. Forty thousand New Yorkers had come 1,000 miles to join in the celebration, and they, with the Western throngs, made the day one that will be a feature in the annals of the Columbian Exposition.

A bill has been introduced into the House to discontinue the office of collector of customs at a number of ports of entry in the United States, where the income from customs does not suffice to pay the salaries of the officials. Among the condemned ports are Brashear, La., Natchez and Vicksburg, Miss., and Brownsville and Corpus Christi, Tex. In all the ports named for discontinuance the excess of expense over revenue is about $98,000. At Brownsville, Tex., the receipts are said to average about $1,000, while the expenses of the office are $33,000.

Senator Hill, of New York, has come to the front very prominently during the silver fight, and has made a decided impression by his bold and vigorous efforts to secure the adoption of a cloture rule. The New York senator is thoroughly practical and aggressive in his political methods, and he took hold of the cloture question with so strong a hand as to alarm the silver men and rally a numerous body of senators to his support. Mr. Voorhees is a convert to his policy, and offered Mr. Hill's cloture rule. Almost enough senators have signified their support of the resolution to secure its adoption if it should be pressed with the necessary vim and persistency.

FOREIGN.

Marshal MacMahon and Gounod, the great composer, died in France last week.

The enthusiasm in Paris over the Russian visitors is unbounded. Admiral Avelan and officers are hanqueted and feted daily.

The rebel troops in the state of Rio Grande do Sol, Brazil, met the government forces under Gen. Castilho, last week, and scored a great victory. The government forces were driven off the field of battle.

The German warships have brought about a marked change in the treatment of foreign steamships touching at Rio. The North German Lloyd steamers, it is said, are now enabled to discharge, reload and fill their water tanks.

The Montreal civic treasury is empty, and the city officers are at a loss where to raise the money to carry on works now in progress. The city has borrowed all the money it is authorized to, and no new loan can be obtained without the sanction of the Legislature, which does not meet until Nov. 9.

Amid all the pomp of peace and war, the remains of Marshal MacMahon, ex-President of France and Duke of Magenta, were conveyed on Oct. 22 from the Church of La Madelein across the river Seine, to the Hotel des Invalids, there to rest until the great revetile is sounded by the heavenly trumpeter.

The conduct of a supposed maniac has disturbed the peaceful programme of the Russian visit to Paris and has cast a damper over the festivities. On Oct. 21, as the Russians were returning to the Military Club, after a whole day of enjoyment, a man who was in the crowd watching the Russian officers enter the club suddenly drew a revolver and fired it into the thick throng of people assembled on the Place de L'Opera. The bullet went wide of its mark, and nobody was hurt. The man who fired the shot was captured by the citizens. When questioned as to his motive in shooting, he said that he suffered the utmost misery, and had become sick of seeing the huge sums squandered upon foreigners when many thousands of Frenchmen in Paris alone were suffering from the want of a loaf of bread to give to their starving families.

A veritable family medicine box, BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Notice.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet promptly at three o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 27, at the Methodist Church in Columbus. The committee will be there to conduct the examination in accordance with the directions of the Discipline, page 384, ¶485, and page 87, ¶138, concerning the course of study. Let applicants be well prepared on the subjects designated. The committee restrict the "Ordinary Branches of an English Education" in this examination to spelling, reading, composition, English grammar, geography and arithmetic.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, Chair'n.

To make the hair grow a natural color, prevent baldness, and keep the scalp healthy, Hall's Hair Renewer was invented, and has proved itself successful.

Louisiana Conference Rates, etc.

Messrs. W. B. Thomson and S. B. McCutchen have charge of transportation matters and will report in time.

Class of the fourth year will meet on Wednesday morning, at 9:30., Dec. 13.

All persons not members of the Conference who expect to attend, must give me timely notice of their coming.

J. A. PARKER.

Homer, La.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

Plans of Episcopal Visitation, 1893-94.

FIRST DISTRICT—BISHOP KEENER.

Tennessee Conference—At Lebanon, Tenn., Oct. 18.
Arkansas Conference—Clarksville, Ark., Nov. 22.
Little Rock Conference—At Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 6.
White River Conference—At Jonesboro, Ark., Dec. 13.

SECOND DISTRICT—BISHOP WILSON.

West Texas Conference—At Beeville, Tex. Nov. 1.
German Mission Conference—At Grayeville, Tex., Nov. 9.
Northwest Texas Conference—At Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15.
North Texas Conference—At Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 29.

THIRD DISTRICT—BISHOP GRANBERY.

Virginia Conference—At Danville, Va., Nov. 22.
Baltimore Conference—At Frederickshurg, Va., March 22.

FOURTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HARGROVE.

Illinois Conference—At Nashville, Ill., Oct. 5.
North Mississippi Conference—At Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29.
South Carolina Conference—At Sumter, S. C., Dec. 6.
Alabama Conference—At Opelika, Ala., Dec. 13.

FIFTH DISTRICT—BISHOP DUNCAN.

Holston Conference—At Broad Street Church, Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 11.
North Alabama Conference—At Talladega, Ala., Nov. 15.
Western North Carolina Conference—At Tyron Street Church, Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 29.
North Carolina Conference—At Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 6.

SIXTH DISTRICT—BISHOP GALLOWAY.

Memphis Conference—At Central Church, Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 29.
South Georgia Conference—At Dawson, Ga., Dec. 13.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HENDRIX.

Northwest Mexican Conference—El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.
Central Mexico Conference—City of Mexico, Nov. 15.
Mexican Border Mission Conference—Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 23.
Texas Conference—Navasota, Tex., Nov. 30.
East Texas Conference—At Orange, Tex., Dec. 7.

EIGHTH DISTRICT—BISHOP KEY.

China Mission Conference—At Shanghai, Oct. 18.
Indian Mission Conference—At Vinita, I. T., Nov. 1.
Mississippi Conference—At Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 7.
Louisiana Conference—At Homer, La., Dec. 14.

NINTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HAYGOOD.

North Georgia Conference—At Gainesville Ga., Nov. 29.
Florida Conference—At Palatka, Fla., Jan. 8.

TENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP FITZGERALD.

Los Angeles Conference—At Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.
Pacific Conference—At Fresno, Cal., Oct. 11.

FROM THE WORK.

Continued from First Page.

Rev. N. E. Joyner, P. C., Lake Arthur, Sept. 28: "On Sept. 19 I closed a very successful revival at Lacasine, La. Bro. Berwick, a local elder, was with me, and did excellent service. The church was greatly revived, and is in as good a condition, spiritually, as any church I have ever seen. I received ten new members during the meeting. Prospects are good for a new church at that place before the end of the year. The work of the Lord progresses."

W. W. B., Mt. Pleasant, Sabine circuit, Sept. 17: "Rev. W. A. Clark, P. C., has just closed a series of meetings of seven days at this place, assisted by Rev. S. H. Whatley and Rev. W. W. Browne. The Lord was with us. The church greatly revived. Seven joined the church; one professed faith and went to the Baptist. Still the work goes on; prayer meetings and family altars being established. All the praise be to our blessed Lord and Master."

Rev. Isaac L. Peebles, Enterprise, Miss., Oct. 3: "Our protracted meeting at Stonewall has closed. It embraced the third and fourth Sundays of the last month. To say that it resulted well does not fully express it, for we had the presence and power of the Holy Spirit with us from the beginning. Old personal troubles were settled, and the church was most graciously revived. The brethren say it was the best meeting that Stonewall ever had. Many were blessed, and twenty-one persons joined our church. We do not remember ever to have preached with greater liberty than during this meeting. Before the meeting came off the people of Stonewall sent a wagon-load of provisions to the parsonage, such as flour, meat, coffee, sugar, lard, rice, etc. Mr. Editor, please do not forget to pray for my work, family, and myself. 'Pray one for another.' (James v, 16.)"

Rev. S. L. Boyd, P. C., Tillatoba circuit, North Mississippi Conference, Oct. 4: "This circuit is evidently on rising ground. The number of working Christians is increasing; sin of all sorts decreasing and becoming very unpopular. Twenty have been added to the church—all good material—and a number of conversions besides. We held a meeting at Cascilla last week. Bro. W. J. O'Bryant did most of the preaching. Bro. Jas. Porter preached three sermons, and Bro. Burroughs, our efficient presiding elder, one. The preaching was all good. Results: A glorious revival and three additions to our church. Cascilla is a growing and prosperous town, blessed with a Christian population and an excellent school, which, under the splendid management of Profs. Montgomery and Lawrance, bids fair to take high rank among the educational institutions of the State. We will build a church at Cascilla right away. Hope to have the roof on it by Conference. Pray for our work."

Rev. W. J. Porter, P. C., Plaquemine Brulee circuit: "Closed a meeting of five days at Roberts Cove on the thirteenth instant, assisted by Bro. R. R. Randle, resulting in four conversions. Commenced an arbor meeting near Hundley's School-house on the sixteenth instant. The Spirit's power demonstrated, and by the close of the second day's service the altar was crowded, and six applied for membership. On the fourth day Bros. W. B. Mitchell, Ross, and Robert Randle, local, and C. R. Montgomery, of Washington circuit, came to my assistance. The interest continued to increase until the twenty-second instant, when I received into the church twenty-six, among whom was a man and wife of about sixty Winters, a lady past seventy, and four men near forty. All were termed hard cases, but they, like little children, kneeled and prayed for mercy. Don't know how many were converted. Bro. Montgomery did most of the preaching after his arrival, which was with power. Praise the Lord!"

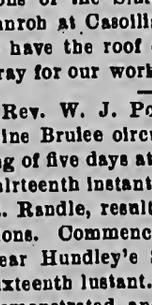
Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies
—OR—
Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. BAKER & CO.'S

Breakfast Cocoa



which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM.
The only practicable way to reach
CATARRH
thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail.
DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON GA.

Low Rates to Chicago.

VIA QUEEN AND CRESCENT ROUTE.

Round-trip tickets, New Orleans to Chicago and return, on sale Oct. 15th to 31st inclusive, good to return until Nov. 15th, at rate of $18 40. Your last chance! Don't fail to take advantage of it.

R. H. GARRATT, D. P. A.,
84 St. Charles St., New Orleans.
W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A.,
Cincinnati, O.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Biloxi.....(7 hrs., 7 P. M.)..Oct.	28
Ocean S., at O. S.(F. 1., 3 and 7 P. M.)..	27
Pearlington, at Pearlington.....	28, 29
Bay St. Louis, at B. St. Louis.....Nov.	4, 5
Augusta, at Augusta*.....	4, 5
Columbia, at Columbia.....	11, 12
Mt. Carmel....(Mon. night and Tu.)..	13, 14
Williamsburg, at Williamsburg(Wed.).	15
Covington, at C.(Fri. and Sun. P. M.)..	17, 19
Talisheek, at Fitzgerald....(morn.)..	18, 19
Purvis, at Purvis....(Mon., 7 P. M.)..	20
Ellisville, at Ellisville..(Wed. P. M.)..	22
Heidelberg, at Liberty*.....	24, 25
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie.....	26, 27
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg..(Tu.)..	28
E. Pearl, at Byrd's Chapel*.....	18, 19

At charges marked (*) I will try to secure help for the Sunday appointment. As in God's sight, let all do their duty in winding up the work of the year. The burden of a deficit will be more easily borne by several hundred than by a few.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

McComb City.....Oct.	28, 29
Summit, at Summit.....	29, 30
Bowerton, at Rehoboth.....Nov.	4, 5
Terry, at Spring Ridge.....	7
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel.....	11
Adams circuit, at Adams.....	12, 13
Holmesville and Topisaw, at H.....	17
China Grove, at China Grove.....	18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman.....	28
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman.....	25, 26
Providence.....	30
Hazlehurst.....(night)..	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard.....Dec.	2, 3
Wesson	2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Learned, at Bear Creek.....Oct.	28, 29
Fayette, at Fayette.....Nov.	4, 5
Sunflower, at Sunflower.....(Wed.)..	8
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork..(Thu.).	9
Warren, at Oak Ridge.....	11, 12
Meadville, at Meadville.....	13, 19
Mayersville.....	25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga.....(Fri.)..Dec.	1
Hermanville	2, 3
Port Gibson.....(Tues.).....	5

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lake City and Lodi, at L. C.(Thurs.)..Oct.	26
Silver Creek and B. Lake, at Hillsdale.	28, 29
Yazoo circuit, at Fletcher Chapel....Nov.	4, 5
Madison, at Wesley Chapel.(Wed.)..	8
Camden, at Shrock.....	11, 12
Bolton, at Bolton .....(Wed.)..	15
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas.....(Sat.)..	18
Jackson—First Church.....	18
Jackson—Capitol Street.....	19
Flora .....(Wed.)..	22
Benton, at Midway.....	25, 26
Tranquil, at Zeigleville.....	26, 27
Canton .....Dec	2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Daleville cir., at Daleville..(Thurs.)..Oct.	26
Linwood circuit, at Hopewell.....	28, 29
North Kemper cir., at Wellen.(Wed.).Nov.	1
DeKalb circuit, at Pi. Ridge.....	4, 5
Binnsville, at Scooba.....(Tues.)..	7
Lauderdale .....(Thurs.)..	9
Why Not circuit.....	11, 12
Chunky circuit.....(Thurs.)..	16
Marion circuit.....	18, 19
Meridian—West End.....	25, 26
Meridian—Central..(Sun. and Mon.)..Dec.	3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Ques 28. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Ques. 16. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up all collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Rose Hill, at Missionary.....Oct.	28, 29
Trenton, at Trenton.....Nov.	2
Clarksburg, at Liberty.....	4, 5
Morton and Forest, at Morton.....	8
Fannin, at Fannin.....	10
Brandon station.....	11, 12
Montrose, at Montrose.....	15
Raleigh, at Raleigh.....	18, 19
Shiloh, at Cato.....	24
Marvin, at Wesleyana.....	25, 26
Westville, at Goshen.....	28
Homewood, at Zion Grove.....Dec.	2, 3

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

North Wilkinson.....Oct.	28, 29
Wilkinson, at Bethel.....Nov.	4, 5
Bayou Sara, at Star Hill.....	11, 12
St. Helena, at Center.....	18, 19
E. Feliciana, at Gilead.....	25, 26
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel.....	27
Franklinton, at Fisher's.....Dec.	2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City.....	3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Stewart circuit, at Stewart.....Oct.	28, 29
Sallis circuit, at Sallis.....	31
Louisville circuit, at Louisville.....Nov.	4, 5
Rural Hill circuit, at Rural Hill.....	5, 8
Wier circuit, at Pisgah.....	10
Chester circuit, at Ackerman.....	11, 12
Kosciusko circuit, at Salem.....	18, 19
Eupora circuit, at Walthall.....	25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the allowances.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sturges .....Oct.	28, 29
Pheba .....Nov.	4, 5
Sparta	11, 12
Mashulaville.....	17
Shuqualak	18, 19
Macon	19, 22
Hebron	23

T. C. WEBB, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shelley Creek.....Oct.	28, 29
Red Banks circuit, at Wesley.....Nov.	4, 5
Mt. Pleasant circuit, at New Salem...	11, 12
Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia.....	18, 19
East Holly Springs, at Lamar.....	25, 26

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Atlanta.....Oct.	28, 29
Banner.....(Tues.)..	31
Chapel Hill.....Nov.	4, 5
Pittsboro .....(Tues.)..	7
Abbeville.....	11, 12
Grenada circuit.....	18, 19
Water Valley circuit.....(Sat.)..	25
Water Valley station.....	26, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Hill, at Lewisburg.....Oct.	28, 29
Arkahutla.....(Tues.)..	31
Morgansville mission.....Nov.	4, 5
Cockrum, at Green Leaf.....	11, 12
Wall Hill	18, 19
Panola.....	25, 26

If stewards and pastors will address themselves faithfully and constantly to their respective duties, salaries and connectional collections will be paid in full. Brethren, the Lord and the church expects everyone to do their duty.

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pontotoc .....Oct.	28, 29
Tremont .....Nov.	4, 5
Okoloua circuit.....	8
Houston and Wesley.....A....	11, 12
Athens	18, 19
Buena Vista.....	25, 26

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Sidon .....Oct.	28, 29
Black Hawk..... .....Nov.	4, 5
Valden.....	11, 12
West.....	18
Carrollton circuit.....	18, 19
Winona circuit.....	25, 26

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Shaw .....Oct.	28
Lyon .....Nov.	5
Winterville.....	12
Friar's Point.....	19
Greenville.....	26

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine, at Donaldson.....Nov.	12
Carrollton.....(Tues.)..	14
Gretna.....(Thurs.)..	16
Baton Rouge.....	19
Parker Chapel.....(Tues.)..	21
Moreau.....(Thurs.)..	22
Gross Tete, at Harmony.....	23
Dryades .....(Tues.)..	28
Lower Coast.....(Thurs.)..	30
Algiers.....(Sun. morning.)..Dec.	3
Crapo.....(Sun. evening)..	3
Louisiana Avenue.....(Mon.)..	4
Carondelet.....(Tues.)..	5
Felicity.....(Thurs.)..	7
Rayne Memorial.....(Fri.)..	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Montgomery, at Montgomery.....Oct.	28, 29
Big Cane, at Mellville	29, 30
Lecompte, at Lecompte.....Nov.	4, 5
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill.....	11, 12
Spring Creek, at C. C. Camp Ground..	18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce.....	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport.....Dec.	2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville.....	9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards hestir themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

C. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Downsville, at Downsville.....Oct.	28, 29
Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel.....Nov.	4, 5
Vernon, at Oak Ridge.....	11, 12
Minden, at Minden.....	18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall.....	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps.....Dec.	2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	8, 10
Easton station.....	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia.....	12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Hill, at Marthaville.....Oct.	28, 29
Caddo, at Keachie.....Nov.	4, 5
Shreveport station and mission.....	11, 12
Victoria mission, at Victoria.....	18, 19
Cane River, at Provencal.....	19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh.....	21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove.....	23, 24
Many, at Many.....	25, 26
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup.....	26, 27
Natchitoches station.....Dec.	2, 3
Mansfield station.....	9, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 23. (I include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamans, Midkiff, and Wood's School-house.)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge.

The District Sabbath-school Convention meets at Robeline, Oct. 28, at 10 A. M. Arrangements will be made for entertaining the delegates.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 8 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

The trustees of Pierce and Paine College property are requested to meet at Marthaville, Oct. 28.

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

829 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Rayville, at Union.....Oct.	28, 29
Oakley, at Jonrdin Chapel.....	29, 28
Calhoun, at Mt. Ariel.....Nov.	4, 5
Harrisonburg, at Island.....	11, 12
Lapius, at Frantoms C.....	18, 19
Lake Providence.....	25, 26
Waterproof.....Dec.	2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd.....	8, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine Brulee.....Oct.	28, 29
Patterson and Morgan City.....Nov.	4, 5
Lake Charles—E. Street.....	11, 12
Jackson Street and W. Lake.....	12, 13
Grand Chenier.....	18, 19
Sulphur Mine.....	25, 26
Lake Arthur.....Dec.	2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

What Can Cuticura Do

Everything that is cleansing, purifying, and beautifying for the Skin, Scalp, and Hair of infants and children, the CUTICURA REMEDIES will do. They speedily cure itching and burning eczemas, and other painful and disfiguring skin and scalp diseases, cleanse the scalp of scaly humors, and restore the hair. Absolutely pure, agreeable, and unfailing, they appeal to mothers as the best skin purifiers and beautifiers in the world. Parents, think of this, save your children years of mental as well as physical suffering by reason of personal disfigurement added to bodily torture. Cures made in childhood are speedy, permanent, and economical. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston. "How" All about Skin, Scalp, and Hair" free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

ACHING SIDES AND BACK, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains and Weaknesses relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, the first and only pain-killing plaster.

WE WANT AT ONCE
RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 15 days when salaried. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

MY WIFE SAYS SHE CANNOT SEW NOR YOU DO IT FOR THE NOISE.
$12 Buys a $65.00 Improved Orb 4 Stage $14 Sewing Machine; perfect working, adjustable, finely finished, adapted to light or heavy work, with a complete set of the latest improved attachments free. Each machine guaranteed for 5 years. Buy direct from our factory, and save dealers and agents profit. Send for FREE CATALOGUE.
OXFORD MFG. COMPANY, DEPT. T 2, CHICAGO, ILL.

$1.50 AMERICAN WATCH

$1.50 will now buy a reliable AMERICAN WATCH in strong GOLD PLATED Dust Proof Case. Will not vary a minute in 30 days. Is as durable as any watch made. FULLY GUARANTEED. (Pub. lishers of this paper will tell you we are reliable.) It has AMERICAN patent lever MOVEMENT, Patent Escapement and Regulator, Lantern Pinion, 240 beats to minute. No key required to wind or set; weight 4 oz.; exactly like cut. Postpaid for $1.50; 3 for $4.00, 12 for $15.00, by express. Mention paper and we will include handsome gold plated CHAIN. CHARM AGENTS' Cyclopedia Book for TRADE. Catalogue of 1000 s. FREE.
ROBERT H. INGERSOLL & BRO.
Room 2, 65 Cortlandt St., New York City.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,
LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets, Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright. Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,
—BY—
ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,
Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 208 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,
MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Colnmbus, Miss.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $630 in six days. Another $37 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 178.

Do You Crochet ?

or knit, or do fancy work of any sort? If so you can fully appreciate the merits of Glasgo Twilled Lace Thread.

It has a twilly texture peculiar to itself that imparts the richest appearance and effect to lace and all other fancy work. It is more economical and far superior to linen thread in every way and for every purpose. It is also equal to the very best threads made in the country for all sewing purposes, whether by hand or machine. One spool will convince you. Ask your dealer for it, or send 10 cents for sample spool, 500 yards.

12 Illus. tidy patterns, 12 Illus. bed spread patterns, 5 cents each, by mail. Illus. Crochet Books, 1, 2, 3, 10 cents each.
GLASGO LACE THREAD CO., Glasgo, Conn.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 44. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1941.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

INDIRECTION.

BY RICHARD REALF.

Fair are the flowers, and the children, but their subtle suggestion is fairer;
Rare is the rose burst of dawn, but the secret that clasps it is rarer;
Sweet the exultance of song, but the strain that precedes it is sweeter;
And never was poem yet writ but the meaning outmastered the meter.

Never a daisy that grows but a mystery guideth
the growing;
Never a river that flows but a majesty sceptres
the flowing;
Never a Shakespeare that soared but a mightier
than he did enfold him;
Never a prophet foretells but a stronger seer hath foretold him.

Back of the canvas that throbs the painter is hinted and hidden;
Into the statue that breathes the soul of the sculptor is hidden;
Under the joy that is felt lie the infinite issues of feeling;
Crowning the glory revealed is the glory that crowns the revealing.

Great are the symbols of being, but that which is symboled is greater;
Vast the create and beheld, but vaster the inward creator;
Back of the sound broods the silence; back of the gift stands the giving;
Back of the hand that received thrill the sensitive nerves of receiving.

Deed is as nothing to spirit; the deed is ont-done by the doing;
The heart of the wooer is warm, but warmer
the heart of the wooing;
And up from the pits where these shiver, and up from the heights where those shine,
Twin voices and shadows swim starward, and the essence of life is divine.

More "About Evangelists."

I have usually read Bro. J. A. Park's articles in the ADVOCATE with inrest and pleasure; but I fear that in is last—"About Evangelists"—he has ne himself and his subject an injus-
ce. Let us see.

He says: "This wild, irresponsible, ll-made system of evangelism now reating in the church, and increasg at a rapid rate, is a contradiction the very germ of Methodism."

To say that they are irresponsible, d yet in the church, is a contradic-
n. If they have not been licensed preach, they are responsible to their stor and church as members, and if ey are not fit persons for this sacred ust, they should be promptly dealt th and, if necessary, expelled. If ey are licensed local preachers, they e responsible to some Quarterly Con-rence, and if members of an Annual nference, to that body are they ac-untable. Then the church is to ame if evangelists of improper charter or speech are among its members ministry, and if they are not of us, would be the height of absurdity to islate for their control.

The term "self-made" is unwarrant-
. We who are pastors have no more ht or reason to question the evan-list's call and commission than a mber has to question our call to ach. If we admit their call and mmission, we deny our capacity to iticise adversely the system, since, in or, we are bound to suppose that n, acknowledging and accepting the thority of God, must commit to him ir goings. But what is the system?
ing where faithful and intelligent lors declare there are many souls to
e. Do we not follow the same sys-
, on a limited scale, when engaged revival work?

The small body of Oxford students,
"germ of Methodism," who won themselves the nickname, Method-
, were seeking salvation by their thods of living—"going about to ablish their own righteousness."
e "righteousness of God," when at perienced, was a great innova-
, and wrought a thorough trans-mation of thought and action.
itefield and the two Wesleys, no ger content with mere methodical
, are soon speeding over the land aching the living gospel of faith in ist. What shall we call them?
ll, if they lived in this day, they uld, undoubtedly, be called evan-lists; yet here Methodism started.

Bro. Parker wants legislation to pro-e for: "1. The direction or control the man; 2. Management and dis-sement of receipts; 3. The regular tment of labor; 4. The proper defi-on of the evangelistic functions."
ow, this will all do admirably, prod the stipulations and requirets of church legislation agree ex-y with the divine commission. The islation of men can not alter the ngelist's duty to God and man. So, r all, it is not the evangelist who is e "Methodized," but the church is to be harmonized with God's present methods.

The reasons assigned by Bro. Parker for this legislation are questionable. The reason he gives for the first is, that men of improper character and speech assume the place, and he adds: "This, however, must go on because we have no law to correct or stop it."

Now, we have already seen that a Methodist is responsible to some Methodist authority, and (I want this emphasized) if improper conduct and indecent speech continue in our pulpits, it is simply and only because some one fails in his duty toward God, the church, and the world. It is not mercy that fails to present the proper charges when immortal interests are at stake; it is the coward's fear of trouble, expense, or criticism.

I presume no faithful man would object to the church controlling the general receipts, but honesty will require that whenever it does, that it shall become responsible for his salary when he fails to collect it. But I object most seriously to these words which are used: "So general has this state of things become that our best people have begun to doubt if, after all, it is not the money these men are after."

Our Bible gives us a rule for knowing a minister's character, but here is a preacher, an example of Christianity, publishing an acknowledged doubtful judgment covering an entire class of ministers whose labors have left monuments of their purity and usefulness wherever they have gone. "Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged." (Matt. vii, 1, 2.)

Again, he would allot them regular labor, because "the destitute and poorer communities do not secure the labor of these evangelists. Atlanta, New Orleans, Nashville, St. Louis, Jackson, Meridian, and such other places as are strong in finances, or strong in Methodism!"

I can not think Bro. Parker would intentionally mislead or deceive his reader. He is evidently scenting one man, forgetful of the host around. Here are some places that have been visited by evangelists—McComb City, Miss.; Amite City, [illegible] Wesson, Hazlehurst, Crystal Springs, Port Gibson, Utica and Benton—all small places, and some very small. He says: "The 'backwoods' and broken-down towns, where the people are poor and struggling for an existence, are points where they have not gone, and will not go;" and I say: "Amen! Sensible is the evangelist." Their commission must be vastly inferior to mine if they could preach as satisfactorily to the handful as to the houseful. If God sends them to save souls, it is their business to go where souls are to be saved; and, if when they are preaching to fifty or a hundred in the "backwoods" or the "broken-down town," they could be preaching to thousands in the crowded city, surely they would be inexcusable, at least, till the cities and towns have been visited. Some one has said: "Not only he who is unemployed, but he who could be better employed, is idle," and I presume that no one will deny that the question above all others with the evangelist should be, "Where can I do the most good?"

It is universally acknowledged that the large cities are the chief centers of iniquity. Here is the home of the saloon, the parent of sorrow and desolation, that breeder of fiendish hearts and hellish deeds; here crowd the basest of poor, needy wretches, from the polite confidence man to the brutal-visaged assassin; here the theater builds its temple and exhales its poisons; here the gay ball-room receives the homage of its votaries and levies its tribute of sacrifices; here fashionable society, with late hours, immodest dress, and fast manners, invades health, heart, and home; here, in the fascinating euchre party, father, mother and friends sow in the fertile soil of young hearts seed that must bring their harvest of ruin and blood; here abounds the gaudy home of the "strange woman," despoiling our men and boys of cash and manhood, while here, in fiendish plenty, lurks those damnable traps where the poor dove is stripped of her plumage and loosed a vulture on the race; here are conceived and born scores of other dangers to family, Church and State, foreign and unknown to country life, where those who will not read God's Word must read his works. If the gospel of Christ is for the needy, sin-sick soul, then it is pre-eminently for the city.

An old and honored evangelist, whose record is well worth study, and whose deeds and opinions are not unimportant, has laid himself liable to the same criticism; yet, who ever accused Paul of violating his duty when, instead of laboring in the obscure "backwoods and broken-down towns," he sought the populous cities and their multitudes of perishing souls? The great question of reaching the masses did not bother Paul. He carried the gospel to them, and the present evangelists follow no mean example.

H. M. ELLIS.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: Last Sunday I had the privilege, for the first time, of visiting the Indian Mission and preaching to them. We had several penitents, and accession by baptism. Would to God that all who have contributed to the Mission could have heard these people sing, pray, recite Sunday-school lessons, and could have seen with what intense eagerness they listened to the preaching of the Word. And if those who failed to contribute could attend one service and see and feel what I saw and felt last Sunday, I would have no trouble in getting all we need for this work. Out of a salary of $675 for the two missionaries promised, I have been able to pay only $125, leaving a balance due of $550, and the faithful missionary needing it very much.

I have said and done all I know how to say and do. Shall we give up in despair? That will never do. We need $550 to pay salary of missionaries, and about $500 to buy and pay for land already bought. But what is that among so many, if all would help? Please help us now. Send postoffice money order on Vicksburg, check on Vicksburg or Jackson, registered letter. Send to me at Oak Ridge, Warren county, Miss.

I will now report the following: Mrs. C. C. Stedman, $10; Miss Olive Newhaker, 25 cents; Mrs. Rev. J. F. Robinson, $3; Mrs. Etta Laird, $1.

Many thanks, and may God graciously bless them all!

A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss., Oct. 4, 1893.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: We are not able to report as many accessions to the church as we would like to do, yet our souls have been filled unutterably full of joy to see so many of these Choctaws praising the name of the Lord.

Twice this year Rev. T. L. Mellen has visited the Mission, preaching and administering the Lord's Supper to the faithful Choctaws. On his last visit he baptized two infants and one adult.

Bro. H. W. Van Hook is with us, and is of great comfort to us. He and Bro. W. J. Ferguson visited our school this Summer, and seemed much pleased to see how the children were progressing.

Rev. J. C. Long visited the Mission also, and preached. He received the first Indian into the church two or three years ago.

And last came Bro. A. D. Miller, whom we all recognize as the leader in this great work. When the Choctaws learned that he was the leader, it drew him very near them. One good old Choctaw sister said to the writer in her broken English: "I so glad Brudder Miller come. It look like I just want him to stay all time."

There are so many of these Indians yet in spiritual darkness scattered over so large a territory, and so poor that it seems to us that the best plan is to colonize and educate them. The children learn very fast when they have an opportunity, and it makes the parents delighted to see their children reading.

Brethren, sisters and children, withhold not your mites from this work, or you will miss a blessing which is in store for all who contribute.

I want to tell the children what the Indians called the preachers who visited their church this year. Mellen, Uoannmpuli Chito; Van Hook, Uhanumpuli Ushtololi; Long, Uoanumpuli Fallah, and Miller, Uoanumpuli Imiko.

MRS. MOLLIE J. CAMMACK.

Missionary Debt—Mississippi Conference.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT.

Sbuhuta, Mrs. Sally Weems.....	$3 00
Clarke circuit, Milton Bass.....	05
" " Birdie Bass.....	05

Brethren, do not forget this matter. We yet lack more than $1,000 of paying off our portion of the debt. Our Conference is near at hand. Whatever is done must be quickly done.

T. L. MELLEN,
Sol. for Miss. Conf.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. Wilson Moore, P. C., Ada circuit, Oct. 16: "Closed a meeting at Palestine last Friday night, which resulted in one, or more, conversions, and four accessions. Bro. R. M. Walker was with me, doing efficient service."

"A Believer," Eastabuchie, Miss.: "We are happy to state that we have had a grand meeting in our little town ending Friday night, Oct. 6. Rev. J. C. Long, of Philadelphia, Neshoba county, Miss., did the preaching. We have never had such a revival among us before. This was a meeting specially set apart for Bro. Long, and we are thankful to have had him with us. We had seven accessions to the church."

Rev. E. H. Moon, Tupelo, Miss., Oct. 16: "We have just closed a good meeting in Tupelo. Twenty-five were received into our church yesterday, and several have joined other churches. The town has been stirred as it has not been for a number of years. Our membership has been greatly revived, and we expect to gather more fruit from the meeting. The Lord has answered our prayers, for which we are devoutly thankful."

Rev. J. Wilson Brown, P. C., Woodville, Miss., Oct. 16: "We praise God for his goodness to us here. On Oct. 2 we closed a two weeks' protracted meeting at Percy's Creek of great interest and gracious power. Seven or eight pledges for family altars, and twenty-one accessions. Our presiding elder, Bro. P. A. Johnston, preached twice. Bro. W. B. Hines held eight services, preaching twice a day. The sword of the Spirit in his hands is still quick and powerful, though wielded for nearly half a century."

Rev. H. Armstrong, Lafayette, Oct. 25: "Have just closed a meeting of ten days in Rayne. Rev. C. R. Montgomery was present five days, and preached nine times. Bro. E. B. Foust and the writer worked and preached, but Montgomery drew people out who never hear anyone else. He denounced in unsparing terms drunkenness, the saloon keeper, gambling, the ball-room, and all the vices of the day; yet everyone, so far as we know, said he was right. There were some bright professions, and thirteen accessions to the church. A grandfather, son and a grandson all joined together. We give God the glory."

Rev. D. G. W. Ellis, Daleville, Miss.: "We closed a meeting at Daleville, Oct. 8, of six days' continuance; said to be, by some of the brethren, the best meeting ever held at this place. This is where the Cooper-Huddleston College is located. I was assisted by Rev. W. J. Ferguson, of the North Kemper circuit, Mississippi Conference, who did most of the preaching after his arrival, to the satisfaction and profit of the people. The meeting resulted in seven accessions to the Methodist Church, with more to follow. Five have signified their purpose of joining the Baptist Church, besides a number of conversions and a general advance on spiritual lines."

A. J. Fleming, Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 10: "As I see nothing of it in the ADVOCATE, I take the liberty of telling you of a meeting that was closed on the second week in September at Blackwater, in East Baton Rouge, Bro. Linfield's work. Bro. H. R. Singleton, from Jackson, La., did the preaching. A work of grace was started that will in many cases go on through all eternity. The whole community was stirred, and is being stirred more and more. There were twelve accessions and some conversions. Bros. Singleton and Linfield did effective work through the Spirit. May there be many returns of the occasion at old Blackwater, and the same brethren be with us!"

Rev. Wm. G. Evans, West Monroe, La., Oct. 26: "Our Fall meeting at West Monroe closed on the night of the nineteenth, and was what might be classed 'a good meeting.' There were five persons professed conversion, and five joined the church, one of whom comes by letter. The meeting closed with the altar full of penitents. I was assisted by my father, Dr. Evans, of Meridian, Miss. The congregations were large and serious. Could the meeting have gone on another week there would have been large results to have been reported; but it was ill-timed, and the help was only kept by much entreaty, as his desire was to be at his post. The year is closing very well. Conference claimants' collection in full. 'Praise God, from whom all blessings flow!'"

Rev. J. E. Buck: "Having finished my revival meetings, I send you report from Guntown circuit, North Mississippi Conference. Special services were held at every church (six in all), with the following results: Seventy-five additions to our church, and ten pledges to join other churches. Of this number (joining our church) sixty-five were received on profession of faith. Thirty-nine adults baptized and one infant; fourteen new family altars pledged by our members and eight by members of other denominations; two new prayer meetings organized and old ones quickened. For efficient help we are indebted to the following brethren: Revs. W. S. Lagrone, C. A. Barkley, C. H. Pittman and A. T. Buck (traveling), and Rev. McClain (local). We are building one church, which will be a credit to Methodism in this country."

Rev. J. C. Ellis, P. C., Laurel Hill, Miss.: "We are thankful to our heavenly Father that we may make favorable report since our last. Assisted at Piney Grove by Rev. J. R. Hays, L. P. The small membership greatly revived. At Rocky Point also assisted by Bro. Hays, where we had a glorious meeting, the members being spiritually revived, and twelve or fifteen taking up family prayer, besides several conversions and seven additions to the church. At Liberty the meeting went beyond the expectation of the preacher. We still hope for better times on the work. At Scotland Chapel assisted by Rev. W. M. Williams. Indeed, here we had another good meeting. Some family altars erected, three joined the church, two children baptized, and a prayer meeting organized; also the young men have a prayer meeting, there being five young men praying in the first meeting. The interest in the prayer meetings is increasing. We have three other prayer meetings at other churches. As heretofore, the finance is in the arrear, but prospects some better. Brethren, pray for us."

Rev. H. R. Singleton, Jackson, La., Oct. 24: "I am still without help; this is the eleventh day, and, excepting four great sermons from Dr. Featherstun and one effective one from Prof. Roberts, I have been without ministerial aid. They could not come. Congregations remain large and interest profound. Penitents crowd forward; conversions and accessions each service. We do not attempt to count the former. In the church, in their homes, at the college they are baptized by the Spirit into the family of God. Only a few—two or three—college boys remain unconverted, and these are seeking to be. That noble man, Willis, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Mississippi and Alabama, did much good in the few days of his stay with us. A willing, able, useful worker, and we owe him a heavy debt of gratitude. He said this is the best meeting he has seen; so quiet, yet in interest so profound. Such is the opinion of all, and especially so of the number rejoicing in their first love. The church is greatly revived and hard at work. One college graduate will enter the ministry. The decks are cleared. Salary will be paid in full. Amen!"

Rev. E. H. Rook, Chapel Hill circuit: "This is my second year on this work. In the two years we have built four new churches worth two thousand dollars, and one parsonage worth two hundred and fifty dollars. Two of these churches and the parsonage this year. I have six churches on this circuit, and have held protracted meetings at each of them. I had preaching help at two of these churches. Bro. Fountain Townsend, a local preacher on the Winona circuit, helped me at Mars Hill. Bro. J. W. Pittman, another local preacher on this circuit, was prevented by bad health from helping me, except with one sermon. I commenced at Chapel Hill, and each meeting increased in interest. At Spring Hill the meeting had gone on from Sunday until Wednesday night with increasing interest, when Joe J. Jones, the evangelist, arrived, and preached six sermons of great power. In these meetings we have had a great many conversions, and thirty additions to the church. To God be all the praise."

ENTERPRISE AND STONEWALL CHARGE.

Our fourth Quarterly Conference was held last night, Oct. 24, and we are thankful to say that we were enabled to report some of our assessments paid up in full (among which our presiding elder's), and also that the assessments that are now in arrears will be paid in full, for we have the arrearage all in good solid subscription. Bro. T. L. Mellon, our presiding elder, has held his last Quarterly Conference for us, for a season anyhow, since his four years' term expires with this Conference year. We can truly say of him that he is full of Methodism of the right type. As respects "sanctification," he is anxious for all the brethren to have it, whether in the form of conversion, growth, or the "second blessing," just so they have that kind that will make them love God supremely, and every human being as God has commanded, and work zealously and untiringly for God and the good of men.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Quarterly Conference:

Whereas, This, the last Quarterly Conference for this Conference year, is the last Conference our beloved presiding elder, Bro. T. L. Mellen, shall hold for us, his four years' term of holding Quarterly Conferences for us being ended; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we gladly testify that his term of service among us has been characterized by great zeal, aggressiveness, loyalty and success.

Resolved, That wherever God may see proper to cast his lot hereafter, we do most earnestly pray that His richest blessings may rest upon him and his precious family, and that He may make him and them mightier agents still in moving His kingdom forward.

ISAAC L. PEEBLES.

THE REVIVAL ON PLEASANT GROVE CIRCUIT, SARDIS DISTRICT, NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Nearly two years ago seed was sown here by the preaching of entire sanctification, which awakened a great and widespread interest in the study of God's Word, which has resulted in a deep and thorough revival in each one of our churches, and is reaching the regions beyond. Few souls were saved last year—less than any year since we have been in the ministry—but it was a time of plowing and sowing, with some reaping. People have been getting saved all this year. I think we had three conversions during first quarter in pastoral visiting, and all the work of the church took on new life.

The last of April the North Mississippi Holiness Convention met with us, in which fifty souls were sanctified, and that many converted and reclaimed. This meeting was equal to a revival in four of our churches, and from this till the beginning of our protracted meetings people were saved in almost every service, and also in their homes, as many as six being converted and ten sanctified.

In our regular meetings (six in number) 160 souls have been converted and sanctified—about an equal number of each; a great many have been reclaimed, and the churches greatly strengthened.

At some of our morning services we did not get to preach at all; the testimonies of the saints were sufficient to bring penitents and seekers to the altar.

Four young men have been called to preach—that is, two who were previously called have yielded, and two others called.

The revival has reached every department of church work. Sunday-schools from twenty-five to fifty per cent. larger than ever before; class meetings regularly; prayer meetings all over the work; nine missionary societies, one Parsonage and Home Mission Society; Epworth League to be organized this week. Finances in a better condition than any previous year at this time.

Established a camp ground right in the center of circuit for the conversion of sinners and sanctification of believers; a shed on it 60x60, out of debt, under which 100 souls professed conversion or sanctification this year.

We have been very much helped and encouraged by a noble band of local preachers and official Board.

PASTOR.

Continued on Eighth Page.

A PRAYER.

BY OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

Our Father, while our hearts unlearn
The creeds that wrong thy name,
Still let our hallowed altars burn
With faith's undying flame.

Not by the lightning gleams of wrath
Our souls thy face shall see;
The star of love must light the path
That leads to heaven and thee.

Help us to read our Master's will
Through every darkening stain
That clouds his sacred image still,
And see him once again—

The brother man, the pitying friend,
Who weeps for human woes,
Whose pleading words of pardon blend
With cries of raging foes.

'Mid the lowering forms of doubt,
Our hearts grow faint and cold,
The strength we can not live without,
Thy love will not withhold.

Our prayers accept, our sins forgive,
Our youthful zeal renew;
Shape for us holier lives to live,
And nobler work to do

Heredity.

Our caption is a word, which is to the consciousness of thousands the synonym of accursedness. A poor being is afflicted with what the physician in his kindness calls "scrofula," "or a scrofulous taint in the blood," and gives up all hope for relief from the terrible blight, or what is supposed to be the misfortune of some well-meaning antecedent, when, in fact, the only unfortunate person is the one who is forced to reap the sowing of the accursed devil of an ancestor. Sowing to the flesh gives a harvest of physical damnation and corruption to a helpless and harmless offspring, whose very existence, so far as this earth is concerned, is a misfortune to themselves, and future generations are wrecked upon the awful shore of the great sea of heredity, to writhe among the breakers and rot under the laws of an inexorable justice, "visiting the iniquities of fathers upon the children, even to the fourth generation."

Heredity has been the theme of many a fine essay, and many good things have been said in the books of "techniques," while little has been said in the volumes handed down to the laity, who are the sufferers. Why don't our physicians tell the plain, unvarnished truth when called to treat one of these poor unfortunates, whose curse is to be the offspring of a brutish ancestor as vile as the hell to which that ancestor must inevitably go, but for the amazing grace and boundless love of a God who, despite the great crime even of sending forth into this world a long line of progeny to suffer and to accurse others with pain, will have mercy and not sacrifice, and all mankind rejoices to know "there is mercy with the Lord?" Why don't the doctors define "scrofulous taint" in plain terms, that even the most ignorant may know the truth? It can't hurt anything, unless it created a necessity for another species of lying, and places another responsibility on the sufferers, and they, instead of ignorantly telling people it is scrofula, would say, "I don't know the disease." But people would soon learn to quit quizzing too closely when they learn the true nature of scrofula to be the "reaping of corruption" which is sure to follow "sowing to the flesh," by being told that "it is the shame of our ancestors and yours which we are forced to bear." "Our fathers eat sour grapes, and our teeth are set on edge."

Physicians are the keepers of future generations, and should guard well the trust which God has seen fit to lay to their charge by doing two things: By telling their patients the plain truth, and by enforcing any practicable measures for the prevention of the transmission of disease from generation, ever securing legislation disqualifying from marriage any person in whose blood is found this so-called "taint of scrofula." Let them do these things, and let the pulpit aid by declaiming against social impurity, and the people, being educated against it, will soon have wiped out much of the misery to which this world is heir.

We have confined our remarks to one class of hereditary afflictions because of their obviously evil source, and because that source still abides, injecting its deadly venom into future generations. And it is a source that could be obviated. These hereditary troubles are diverse; their "name is legion." Consumption, cancer, drunkenness and suicide—all are classed in the category of heredity, the awful harvest of ancestral seed-time, and proceed from the same hydra-headed monster parent—inst. Those purple lines about the eyes, that pallid face and pinched nose and brow are but the pencilings of an invisible hand of an incorrigible justice writing its curse upon the generations of the wicked—the dire vengeance of laws whose integrity is a priceless jewel in the diadem of universal peace; and if the all-wise Ruler of that universe should wink at the abominations of our ancestors, the interest and welfare of his dominion would be jeopardized by the awful moral contagion, and would rebel.

All these affections are immoral, and must come under the laws of eternal justice. Their result is a curse upon millions, and are accursed in return. Their processes are to the laity inscrutable, but powerful and sure. Revelation in one instance gives us an inspired view of this accursed process: "So went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord, and smote Job with sore boils from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head;" and thousands of moral imbecilies, despite this startling revelation of the diabolical source of these sore boils, are submitting themselves to Satan, that he may heap up for them suffering against the day of suffering for themselves and their offspring.

Let parents take knowledge of this awful monster as it walks amidst the silken folds of the seraglio, into whose lustful shades of death—moral, spiritual, and physical—their children may be led, and warn them of their dangerous and delusive charms, that they avoid their influence. "That is a delicate task." Yes, we know it is; but, parents, if you don't teach your child the way to escape, some one else may teach it the habit of treading those ante-chambers of hell, and once within the coils of that old serpent, your child may never be delivered till future generations shall, by the writhings of tortures, composed of the sorrows of death and the pains of hell, expiate your crime in the throes of a just recompense of reward.

W. WIMBERLY.

How to Regulate Evangelists.

Chapter XI, Section 1, ¶ 165, establishes the Parent Board of Missions. Change the title from "Board of Missions" to "Board of Foreign Missions." Make the same change in lines 1 and 2 in Article I; then read without further change to Article XII, which change, so as to read as follows, viz.:

"Each Annual Conference shall organize a Board of Foreign Missions and a Board of Domestic Missions.

"The Board of Foreign Missions shall take charge of all the foreign missionary interests of the church in the bounds of the Conference, subject to the regulations of the Parent Board.

"The Board of Domestic Missions shall take absolute charge of all domestic missions in the Conference, subject to the counsel of the Bishop and the approval of the Conference.

"Each Board shall elect its own officers, and regulate its own affairs, as hereinafter provided."

In Article XIII strike out "the Conference Board," and insert "the said Boards shall," etc., down to line 11. There strike out "General Board and the Annual Conference Mission Board," and insert "the said Boards of Missions," so as to read: "The said Boards of Missions shall arrange, etc.; . . . shall hold an anniversary, etc.; . . . divided equally between the said Boards of Missions." In lines 13 and 17 strike out "its," and insert "their." Article XIII would then read: "The said Boards of Missions shall arrange for holding anniversary meetings within the several presiding elders' districts of the Conference in the interest of missions, and by such other means as it may choose, shall disseminate missionary intelligence among the people; hold an anniversary meeting at each session of the Conference, the proceeds of which shall be equally divided between the said Boards; shall publish a full report of their operations every year in the Minutes of the Conference; and annually estimate the amount that may be necessary for the support of their own missions, and apportion the same to the presiding elders' districts for collection."

In Article XIV add to the words "Conference Board" the words "of foreign missions." At the end of Article XIV add: "The Board of Domestic Missions shall, by and with the advice of the Bishop, determine the amount necessary for the missionary operations of the Conference, and apportion the same among the several presiding elders' districts of the Conference, which amounts so apportioned shall be collected from the several congregations of said districts."

Strike out from Article XVI the words "Conference and General Boards," and insert the words "Domestic and Foreign Boards."

Article XVII, strike out "Conference Board," and insert "Foreign Board."

From Article XVIII, last line, strike out the words "General Board" and the words "Conference Board," and insert, respectively, the words "Foreign Board" and "Domestic Board."

To this Section, as revised, add the following Articles, viz.:

Article XIX. When in the judgment of the Domestic Board the interests of the church require it, the said Board shall nominate a suitable person, whom the Bishop may appoint to labor as Conference evangelist. Said evangelist, when so appointed, shall be under the direction of the Board of Domestic Missions, which Board shall fix his compensation, and determine the time and manner of paying the same. Said evangelist shall report all collections of every kind to the Board, and shall account for the same annually.

Article XX. All collections taken as contemplated in Article XIX shall be credited to the charge in which said collections are taken, in payment of the amount apportioned to said charge by the Board. Provided that no preacher or layman of our church shall be permitted to travel among us as an evangelist, nor take collections as such, except as provided in Article XIX. And provided further that in the operations of said Board of Domestic Missions neither the Conference nor the church shall be made liable for any debt or sum of money.

In order to adopt the episcopal annotations to the requirements of this revised section of our code, turn to Chapter III, Section 2, and Ans. 2 to Ques. 3, and add at the end of said answer, "and such evangelists as may be recommended by the Boards of Domestic Missions."

It will be seen that the changes are very slight, and do not in the least change the law or the status of the Boards of Missions now existing in our several Annual Conferences. No change is suggested as to our present Boards. The change proposed is in the method of administering the affairs of our domestic missions. This change is made by the addition of three Articles to the Constitution of the Board of Missions, and a few verbal changes in the body of that instrument, by which the phraseology is adapted to the new condition of things.

The change as to domestic missions introduces evangelists into our machinery, but not as an order—simply as an office. It will be observed that the terms of the three new articles make the employment of evangelists optional with the Board of Domestic Missions and the Bishop, and prevents unauthorized persons from engaging in this kind of work.

Look at the plan and tell us how you like, or dislike, it, and give us a better plan, if you know of one.

J. A. PARKER.

"Natural Law in the Spiritual World."

It may be safely said that no book of its class in modern times has received the attention and popular favor that Mr. Drummond's work has, unless it be Dr. Lee's "Making of a Man." Until now, except for a few vague hints as to the impropriety of following in Mr. Drummond's lead, the public has received no intimation of the danger (?) incurred by accepting his position—at least, so far as the writer knows.

Mr. R. A. Watson in a book entitled, "The Gospels of Yesterday," has breasted the current of public opinion and made a wholesale arraignment of Drummond, his motives, theory, argument, and conclusions. He says, in substance, that Mr. Drummond is a religious mystic; that he is intellectually dishonest; that he caters to the demand made by some for a show of secular learning to give countenance to their faith; that his theory is nonsense; that in support of this theory he has ransacked the domain of an infidel science for proof, and, not content with this, has even placed an arbitrary construction upon its utterances; that he has garbled Scripture; that his main conclusions, instead of being a welcome addition to Christian thought, are subversive of Christianity and impulsive to infidelity; that from his teaching the conclusion is inevitable that human responsibility is an illusion, and that God is but an "Almighty Cæsar;" that he is an evolutionist of the Darwinian stripe; and, in fact, that his work is based on a falsity, is false in all of its particulars, is rotten to the core. He shows, or attempts to show, by a detailed criticism of the positions held by Mr. Drummond, that these statements are true. His self-styled "criticism" could more aptly be termed hypercriticism, for its severity is such that were it not for a disclaimer we might believe that some personal feeling was involved. But this is irrelevant. These accusations have been made, and they are either true or false. Which? How much or how little can we accept as true in "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." In view of its wide-spread influence on the pew, and especially the pulpit of our church—for some of our most prominent men and Bishops have felt its touch—it behooves us to answer this question. The intent of this article is rather to initiate a discussion than to reach a decision. That there are errors in this book we admit; but of what book may not this be said? While there are some of another nature, they are due chiefly to the zeal, and, I might say, haste with which he prosecutes his work. The scope of a newspaper article will not allow a detailed defense of his positions; but there is an error of the sort mentioned above of which his critic has made much, that we wish to discuss and rectify.

The effort Mr. Drummond makes is to close the breach between science and religion, and he proposes to do so upon the hypothesis that the natural laws obtain in the spiritual world. With this position his whole system stands or falls. If this stand is correct, then we certainly have a right to expect a law of such universal prevalence as gravitation, in the material world, to be found also in the spiritual. But here at this "crucial point" in the argument he fails. Shows haste. He meets the issue weakly and concludes that "it is not gravitation that ceases, but matter." The trouble here is not with the theory, but in the fact that he looks upon a particular phase of the law as the general law. A body dropped from an altitude will fall to the earth, and this is a mode of action according to the law of gravitation; but a comprehensive statement of the law can not be found in this: a body will fall to the earth—for the earth is held a compact mass, as also in her orbit around the sun, according to the same law. Mr. Drummond thinks that he labors under the necessity of in some way making the spirit fall to the earth in order to the tracing of gravitation in the spiritual world. (Nat. Law, Page 48). The law may not hold, but the fact that the spirit is able "to rise superior to gravity" does not prove it.

In substance from Webster and the Encyclopædia Britannica, we get the definition of gravitation—it is that law by which every atom of matter attracts and is attracted by every other atom of matter in the universe. Resulting therefrom we have the mighty cosmical harmony and a scheme of reciprocity so colossal that the mind is staggered beneath its weight. Now, what is the conduct of the atoms under this law? No single atom encroaches upon the province of any other single atom, and, more than this, every atom helps every other atom to hold its place. The conduct is both negative and positive. They not only do not encroach upon each other, but they actually sustain each other's rights. With this understanding of the law, let us find it in the spiritual world! The spiritual world is not some ghostly planet wandering upon the outskirts of creation, but it is the aggregate of spiritual beings—God, the angels and some men. To be good is spiritual life, or, as Christ is the concrete embodiment of goodness, "he that hath the Son hath life." Good men, Christ-like men, form this world to which we have special reference. Suppose we substitute in our definition of gravitation, "Christ-like man" for "atom of matter," and "loves" for the word "attracts," and what have we? Every Christ-like man loves and is loved by every Christ-like man in the world, which is a restatement of the law of gravitation in the terms of the spiritual world. Gravitation in the material is love in the spiritual world. From its prevalence there results the same sublime harmony among men as is seen among the atoms and the worlds of matter. Each man loving his fellow as himself contributes from his resources to the good of the whole, for "love finds its blessedness in blessing." Under this law there is a total elimination of sin, for if a man loves God with all his heart he will keep his commandments, and if he loves his neighbor as himself he will not lie to him, steal from him, murder him, or hurt him in any way.

If it were possible that the law of gravitation could be broken by some of the heavenly bodies, the result would be chaos indescribable. Worlds would go whistling through space and crash against worlds, suns against suns, stars against stars, shattering each other to pieces, and in a moment the grandeur of the firmament would be scattered in a chaotic mass along the shores of oblivion. The law of love is broken, and there results the chaos of sin. Lying, stealing, adultery, murder are rampant on the earth. The world is transmuted into a bloody arena where man fights and groans and dies in the struggle for self. The harmony of the heavens is a silent, yet magnificent appeal to man for the adoption of the law of love.

From what we have seen we find that these laws are the same in their salient characteristics, their products, and in the results that follow their neglect, and we are forced to conclude that they are identical, and that in this case, at least, we find "natural law in the spiritual world." If we are wrong, we would gladly be set right. Let us hear from the brethren!

LOUISIANA.

North Mississippi Conference Woman's Missionary Society.

It was indeed with sad hearts that the Executive Committee of the North Mississippi Conference Woman's Missionary Society, in answer to the call of Vice-President Mrs. M. E. Thames, met in Winona, Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1893.

Our loved president, Mrs. Nannie B. Fant, of Holly Springs, had been called to her reward. We fully realized that "she had only gone on before" where "He giveth his beloved sleep;" yet our hearts were sore as we thought on the grievous loss we had sustained in being deprived of such a zealous, devoted, Christian worker, and one who was so deeply interested in, and had labored so earnestly for the glorious cause of missions. We knew God's work must go on, we felt that he would raise up other laborers to enter the fields now ripe unto the harvest, others would reap where she had so bountifully sown; but, oh! how we would miss her loving, tender service, ever so eager to do some work for the Master! No one could take her place, yet we must move forward; it devolved upon us to fill the vacant office, a president must be elected.

The committee was called to order at nine A. M. by Vice-President Mrs. Thames, with Mrs. M. L. Hargrove, corresponding secretary, and Miss C. E. Gillespie, recording secretary, present. The meeting was opened with Scripture lesson, I. James 1, 12, read by Mrs. Thames, followed by prayer from each member of committee. Mrs. Thames read a letter from our auditor, Mrs. Evans, saying she regretted her inability to be with us. The business of first importance, election of a president, was taken up and fully discussed. After due consideration, nominations being in order, Mrs. M. L. Hargrove nominated Mrs. H. A. Dean, of Iuka. On taking the ballot she was duly elected, and the secretary was instructed to telegraph Mrs. Dean, announcing her election as president of Conference Woman's Missionary Society, and asking that she name her successor as secretary of Corinth district. Mrs. Hartwell's appointment as secretary of Grenada district was approved. She succeeds Mrs. Ball, who has long been one of our most faithful workers, but lately removed from our Conference.

We next took up the subject of our scholarship in the Scarritt Bible Training-school, which is now vacant, Miss Anna Belle Wilson having returned home much benefitted, though on account of a defect in her hearing it was not thought advisable to fit her for foreign mission work. Miss Belle Morgan, who made application, found she would be unable to go at present. Two applications were received—one from Miss Emma Deaton to go as home worker, the other from Miss Viola Blackburn to prepare for work in Mexico.

On motion Miss Blackburn was recommended as an applicant for work in Mexico, to spend one year at the training-school. In the evening session our numbers were increased by arrival of our treasurer, Miss Mollie Clark. In answer to our telegram Mrs. Dean nominated Mrs. John Bell, of Ripley, as secretary of Corinth district. She was duly elected. On motion the treasurer was instructed to send Miss Viola Blackburn $25 to cover her traveling expenses to, and cost of books at training-school; this amount to be drawn from the pledge money. Upon receiving report of treasurer we found that our funds for publishing minutes had run short, so we were compelled to borrow $40 to finish paying the publishers. Minutes were read and approved. There being no further business, on motion we adjourned.

CARRIE E. GILLESPIE,
Recording Secretary.

Letter from Rev. H. J. Harris.

MR. EDITOR: Your kindly mention of a brief call I made at the ADVOCATE office one day last week, prompts this. Since last Friday (the day I called upon you), and met at the same time my beloved brethren, S. S. Keener and Dr. Ahrons, I have passed through an ordeal unprecedented in all my Christian experience of more than fifty-four years. Even when I was an itinerant preacher actively engaged in the work, I felt always at home in the hands of my brethren. But compelled, as I have been now for some time, to retire from active service and engage in secular calling of some sort for a livelihood, I have felt the need of rest for wearied nature amid daily toil. God in his goodness has vouchsafed me this.

Last night I was left by devouring flames of all I had that might be considered property—a newspaper outfit with which I had thus far supported wife and myself. Our ill-fated town has suffered much from three or four destructive fires involving a loss of, perhaps, not less than $50,000 to $75,000 within the past six months. I have lost all I had, except some household goods and my library. Never in all my life before have I been so perfectly resigned to the order of providence under peculiar trial. Never realized so fully the comforting grace of God. While I sing in my heart,

"Not one foot of land do I possess, Nor cottage in this wilderness," still I feel in my heart that same kind hand that fed me once can feed me still, and while I have strength to toil for bread "toil is pleasure," while in his arms I lie down and feel that God is good. I ask the prayers of my brethren in this hour of trial, and exhort my younger brethren especially to the utmost fidelity in the work that God has committed to their hands—the office and duties of the pastorate.

If I am spared, I want to resume and complete the work begun years ago, and furnish for the ADVOCATE "reminiscenses" of long ago. Looking back over fifty-four years, I realize with trembling that I am the only remaining link in the chain that connects the pioneers of Methodism in this Southern country with the present generation. Winans, Drake, Lane, Campbell, Marshall, J. G. Jones, Booth, Strickland, Berj. Jones, and Langford, of my own Conference, are gone. Godfrey, Montgomery and Watkins, beloved and honored brethren, have reached their home in heaven. God help us all to "meet together there."

H. J. HARRIS.

Church Extension Notice.

Dear Brethren: Appeals for aid, urgent and numerous, will be made upon the Board of Church Extension at its next session. Quite a number of applications are already in the hands of the secretary. Let me urge you to bring up collections in full. Every cent will be needed and more too. One priest-ridden community appeals for aid to build; they must be helped.

I heartily endorse Dr. Morton's "Thanksgiving Loan Fund" proposition, which is as follows: "Each church in Southern Methodism that has received church extension aid is earnestly solicited to contribute not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred to this fund in token of their gratitude to God and their brethren for aid given them in their time of need." Let the churches aided in the Mississippi Conference respond to this appeal.

N. B. HARMON,
Secretary Miss. Conf. Board Church Ex.

Lower Coast Mission.

To the Brethren and Sisters of New Orleans Methodism:

We beg leave to return our gratitude for your liberality in the way of money and clothing. It indeed proves a Christian's love; a friend in need is a friend indeed. While we suffered greatly from the late storm of Oct. 1, the good people of New Orleans and other places came to our rescue and supplied our needs. I wish to state that while our church and parsonage were blown from the pillars, that I now have the parsonage raised on wooden blocks ready to put brick pillows under it, which is absolutely necessary owing to the low marshy land. If the Lord will, I will have our church raised and to its proper place ready for the brick in two days. I now have it about twenty inches from the ground. It will necessarily cost more to do the work and get the material than some of the brethren thought; perhaps it is because they have never done such work. Dear brethren, I assure you that I will not spend a dollar that is not actually necessary. I am a carpenter and brick mason, and can do work as economical as any man, and will do it; but to do the work right I must have the material needed, and I have it on hand. By Conference or before I will have both church and parsonage in good condition again if the brethren do not tie my hands. If they do, I can not do the work. Pray for us.

J. R. ROY, P. C.

Daisy, La.

Shiloh Camp Meeting.

The Shiloh Camp Meeting began the night of the fifth of October and closed the night of the eleventh. The attendance from first to last was good. Every available tent was occupied. There were twenty persons received into the church in one class. There were two others as applicants. Eight children were baptised. There were thirty or forty conversions and reclamations. It was a very spiritual meeting. We had present with us Dr. J. M. Weems, J. W. Chambers, B. S. Rayner, R. A. Sibley, R. S. Gale, H. B. Vandenburg, P. D. Hardin, L. Carley and J. G. Sibley (the P. C.) of the itinerant ranks, and J. F. Robinson, W. H. Lane, Louis Kendall, Allen Kendall and T. J. Miller, local. There are improvements projected for next year. There is a tendency to concentrate the forces in the district on this and Lake Camp Ground. The weather was pleasant. This camp ground was first established about sixty years ago. For some years during and after the late war no meetings were held. Since the camp was revived I attended eleven out of the thirteen, and have seen only two light rains on the grounds. Besides Summer clothing has been comfortable, except two years. A camp meeting could not be held in a more pleasant time of the year. There were two services to hold after I left the meeting, and there may be results that should be added to the above figures. We need not say the preaching was good. The few, not the many, did the preaching. We think this plan brings better results. We like, however, to have a good corps of preachers present. They are useful to scotch around.

C. MCDONALD.

Tennyson is said to have advised a young man to learn one verse of the Bible and one of Shakespeare every day. The former would teach him how to address God and the latter how to address his fellow-man.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON.—Nov. 5, 1893.

PREPARED BY REV. J. SPENCER.

The Resurrection.

(I. Cor. xv, 12-26.)

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." (I. Cor. xv, 57.)

TOPICAL OUTLINE.—I. Christ Was Truly Raised Up (vs. 12-19). II. We Also Shall Be Raised (vs. 20-26).

INTRODUCTORY.

TIME.—First Corinthians was written early in 57 A. D.

PLACE.—Ephesus. Paul learned from Corinth that doubts and perplexities had arisen in the church concerning the resurrection. This was liable to lead to serious error. Some said there was only a spiritual resurrection; some, that there was no soul to rise again—it died with the body, as the flame of a candle is blown out; some, that the soul was absorbed into God, as a drop of water in the ocean; some, that the soul lived, but the body was a clog and evil, and immortality meant the getting rid of the body; some felt that the resurrection was an impossible mystery. Since the resurrection of Christ is the foundation of the Christian's hope of eternal life, Paul speaks very fully of this convincing proof that there will be a resurrection. To fully understand this, we must read carefully the whole chapter from which our lesson is taken. Paul first points out that the resurrection had been foretold in the Old Testament, then enumerates the list of witnesses who testify to having seen the risen Christ.

EXPLANATORY.

I.—CHRIST WAS TRULY RAISED UP.

12. Now, if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how, say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

With what question of surprise does the lesson begin? Ans.—That if Jesus had been raised from the dead, how was it that any would deny the resurrection of other dead. "The resurrection of Christ was a fundamental point in Christianity, and upon it great stress was laid by early Christian preachers." For the views held by the false teachers, the "some" referred to by Paul, see introduction.

13. But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen.

14. And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.

What assertion does Paul make? Ans.—That if there is to be no resurrection of the dead, "then is Christ not risen." On the supposition that this assertion is true, what two inferences are drawn? Ans.—1. That if Christ is not risen from the dead, and if there is to be no resurrection of the dead, "our preaching is vain." "The great doctrines of Christianity are closely bound together. One can not accept some and not all, for casting off one makes the other soon appear utterly false and untenable. A second consequence of denying the resurrection, is that this would prove the whole gospel false. It were vain to preach a Christ who could help men, if that Christ is not now alive." 2. "Your faith is also vain"—i. e., empty. The meaning is, that if there is no resurrection, the very foundation of their faith was gone. If Jesus is not risen from the dead, then we have no Savior, and no salvation.

15. Yea, and we are found false witnesses of God; because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ; whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not.

What also is the fact, in that event, as to the apostles, and why so? Ans.—If it be true that Christ was not risen, then Paul had preached a falsehood, for his preaching everywhere was "Jesus and the resurrection." "Those named in verses 5-9, had testified that they had seen the risen Christ, touched him, talked with him and eaten with him. They were the basest of men if they invented this great lie."

16. For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised:

17. And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins.

What is the condition of all believers if there is to be no resurrection? Ans.—"Ye are yet in your sins." "Another most terrible consequence of denying the resurrection, is that it denies our salvation. Christ died for our sins, and his resurrection was necessary for our justification (Rom. iv, 25). If he did not rise, God can not forgive our sin; we must suffer for it eternally."

Why are they yet in their sins? Ans.—Because, if Christ did not die and rise from the dead, we have no Redeemer, and without faith in the risen Christ, there is no remission of sins.

18. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished.

What, likewise, is the doom of those that have "fallen asleep in Christ"—i. e., Christians who died in the Christian faith? Ans.—They are perished. They lost their life and being together. —Wesley.

19. If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.

Why, on the same supposition, are Christians of all men the most miserable? Ans.—"At the time of Paul, the Christian life was not one which anyone would choose for its earthly delights. Christians were sorely persecuted, and, if the story of the resurrection is false, they, and we, are doomed to bitter disappointment on leaving this world. The Christian's present, as well as future happiness, depends upon fellowship with Jesus, and if he is not a living Savior we must be most miserable now." In such an event we would be without hope."

II.—WE ALSO SHALL BE RAISED.

20. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.

In contradiction of all such vain supposition, what triumphant declaration does the apostle make? Ans.—That Jesus is risen, and these sad consequences can not be admitted, and our preaching and faith are not in vain. —Binney.

In what sense is Jesus "the first fruits of them that sleep?" Ans.—His was the first real resurrection. Others had been raised from the dead, but had afterwards died the second time. Not so with Jesus.

21. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

What divine arrangement and principle is here set forth? Ans.—That the resurrection should come by the same agency that introduced death into the world—i. e., by man.

22. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

What do we lose in Adam? Ans.—Life.

What do we gain in Christ? Ans.—Life.

Mr. Binney says on this verse: "Both Adam and Christ are representative characters; we all die by means of Adam, because we are in Adam, and we are raised again to life by means of Christ, because we are in Christ; in both cases it is a representative union and includes the whole race.

23. But every man in his own order: Christ the first fruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming.

What are the successive steps in the great process of the resurrection? Ans.—Christ first, and then his followers or disciples—i. e., all Christians.

What "coming" is here referred to? Ans.—His final coming to judge the world. See I. Thess. iii, 13; iv, 14-17.

24. Then cometh the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all rule, and all authority and power.

What will occur at the "end?" Ans.—Christ will deliver up the kingdom to God, after he completes his mediatorial work. We insert the following notes on this verse: "'The end.' The end of all things temporal. 'Delivered up the kingdom.' The kingdom which Christ, as the Son of God, the Mediator, holds during his work of bringing men to God. He, being himself God, will have, according to the many Scripture promises, an everlasting kingdom, to which there shall be no end. 'Put down all rule.' He will have completely subdued all hostile powers of demons and of men."

25. For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet.

What must occur before this event (v. 24) can take place? Ans.—All Christ's enemies must be subdued.

26. The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death.

What is the last enemy? Ans.—Death, which sin brought into the world (Rom. v, 12). Death will reign till Christ shall abolish it by the general resurrection.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

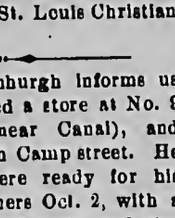
JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.

Jackson, Miss.

WHENEVER I see Hood's Sarsaparilla now I want to bow and say

'Thank You'

I was badly affected with Eczema and Scrofula Sores, almost covering one side of my face, nearly to the top of my head.



Mrs. Paisley.

Running sores discharged from both ears. My eyes were very bad, the eyelids so sore it was painful opening or closing them. For nearly a year I was deaf. I went to the hospital and had an operation performed for the removal of a cataract from one eye. One day my sister brought me which I took, and gradually began to feel better and stronger, and slowly the sores on my eyes and in my ears healed. I can now hear and see as well as ever." MRS. AMANDA PAISLEY, 176 Lander St., Newburgh, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache. Try a box

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says it Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	8 102 grains
	Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.063 grains
Sulphuric Acid	785.108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	834.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.822
Soda	6 045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

	Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	213.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.018
Magnesium Sulphate	80 616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 063
Silica	6 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 585 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2? Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger.....6:55 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30 a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00 p.m
Chic. limited...8:40 p.m	Chic. limited. 12:01 n'n
Sunday ex.....8:30 p.m	Sunday ex.....7:35 a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex..7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex. 8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex..6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 8:20 p.m
Local.....10:05 a.m	Local.....8:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and T'kt Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	6:00 p. m	8:35 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	7:55 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,

134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

QUALITY AND PRICE

"A" Grade, $37.50. "A" Grade, $45. IS WHAT TALKS.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $3 and upward.

"A" Grade, $150.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

McTyeire Institute,

MCKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination

Next session begins August 31.

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin., McKenzie, Tenn.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING

The only Harmony book ever written, that can be readily understood by the average student.

GOODRICH'S Analytical Harmony.

(A new Theory of Composition, from the Composer's standpoint.)

Clearer and more helpful than anything I have seen ARTHUR FOOTE.

A welcome relief from our present difficulties. WM. H. SHERWOOD.

Invaluable to teachers and pupils. EMIL LIEBLING.

It will be eminently successful. CLARENCE EDDY.

Goodrich has solved the great problem. B. MOLLENHAUER.

Delightfully clear. HARRISON WILD.

Plainly expressed and easily understood. JOS. H. GITTINGS.

A COMPANION VOLUME TO "MUSICAL ANALYSIS."

—PRICE, $2.00.—

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

Cincinnati—New York—Chicago.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Chart of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D., of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address him and receive circulars free.

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D., Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guaranteed in Writing

Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER

Shorthand in a Vest Pocket

DR. LAFFERTY, the stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given to CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM of SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks, each Illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pages. Price 50 cents. Address Mrs. Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

55th Year. State Military, Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $136.50 per month, as no average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING

WOVEN WIRE

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

McMULLEN

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Blk, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 101½ Whitehall St.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp disease & hair falling. 50c. and $1 at Druggists.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. CINCINNATI, OHIO. SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS FOR CHURCH SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c. Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and terms FREE.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Improved Church and School Bells. Peals and Chimes. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. J. M. Beard, CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, November 2, 1893.

Dr. Black Writes to Editor Pro Tem.

Dear Brother: My son telegraphs me that you have consented to get out the next issue of the ADVOCATE. I am under many obligations to you for your kindness. Please say to the readers of the paper that I hope to be on hand in time to get out the issue of the second week in November.

Yours, W. C. BLACK.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 26.

The Lay Delegate and the Annual Conference.

First, let it be borne in mind that the lay delegate is a member of the Annual Conference—a very important and influential member he may be if by careful study of that part of the Discipline relating to Annual Conferences he will fit himself for service. Upon him the District Conference has laid the obligation of attendance and faithful discharge of all the duties of membership.

The lay delegate does not go as the agent, or representative, of any particular congregation. He is not sent to interview the presiding Bishop concerning appointments, nor to secure light assessments on his particular district; but to take intelligent interest in all the proceedings of the body; to give the benefit of his judgment upon all pending questions (save the one excepted by law); to serve on such Boards and Committees as he may be made a member of; and to see that, when occasion offers, laymen of strong character, large views, loyalty to the church and deep piety are sent to represent the church in the General Conference. He should be at the opening of the Conference and remain until its close. Remembering that he is attending to the Lord's work, by special appointment, he should be "not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord."

As the representative of the property-holding membership of the church, the lay delegate should encourage the Conference "to devise liberal things." He should make himself familiar with the missionary and educational work of the church and, in particular, of his Annual Conference, and be prepared to lead his district in earnest and practical work along these lines.

Finally, and most important of all, the lay delegate, as also his clerical brother, should go, and be, in the spirit of prayer, invoking constantly the presence and power of the Great Head of the church, that the Conference may do its appointed work in "the spirit of love and of a sound mind," to the glory of God in the advancement of the kingdom of Christ.

God bless the lay delegate. His opportunity is large; his responsibility is great; his position is honorable. Let this son of Judah stand hard by the son of Levi on the hill-top, holding up the heavy hands that "Israel may prevail."

Annual Address.

The doctors met, felt the pulse and looked at the tongue of the supposed invalid, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE; but after a thorough diagnosis of the case they came to the conclusion, that "bread pills" will suffice to ensure normal conditions. In other words, the supposed invalid is not sick. The paper is built on the rock-bed of popular confidence (McTyeire, Keener, Parker, Galloway, Carter, architects), is strong in the good-will of preachers and people, is accomplishing vast good, will continue to fulfill its mission to the satisfaction and even admiration of the Methodists in the three patronizing Conferences.

Fully represented, the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE was pleased to find the interests of the paper well conserved. Changing hands in June last had resulted favorably. The subscription list had increased. No accumulation of debt. The Committee felt constrained to pass a complimentary resolution appreciative of Dr. J. M. Beard's manifest and disinterested labor of love. Retiring from office, he carries the high esteem of the brethren with him.

The Publishing Committee deemed well permanently to unite the two offices of editor and publisher of the ADVOCATE. Thus the new editor will be at the same time publisher. This is well. It will ensure oneness of interest and design.

The election of a new editor and publisher was made a matter of prayerful consideration. A mistake would entail disaster. Assuredly, there is much talent in the church—a goodly number from whom the new man might be chosen. Besides, it is sadly true what Bishop Keener at one time remarked, that almost everybody deemed himself perfectly capable of running a saw-mill or editing a newspaper. But the exigencies of the present case led the members of the Committee to lean more than ever on the strong arm of the divine Guide.

The vote resulted in the election of Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., at present pastor of the famous Mulberry Street Church in Macon, Ga. Until a year ago he was an honored member of the Mississippi Annual Conference. Dr. Black is well known as a broad-minded and large-hearted Christian gentleman. His acumen and unobtrusive piety are apparent to all. He is a true Methodist, devoid of hobbies, and is ardently devoted to all the interests of Zion. Having been for successive terms a member of the General Conference, he is perfectly familiar with the polity of our church, as well as with the personnel of the leaders in our Israel. In short, I fully believe that he will be an honor to the office to which he has been elected.

Experience teaches that a church paper is dependent on the good-will of the preachers. Without this good-will the field becomes sterile and barren. Prosperity or lack of same rests with the preachers. They are the pastors of our people. They know what is best for them. They can not afford to have a family represented in their congregations unsupplied with the ADVOCATE. They feel assured that intelligent church membership is impossible without diligent perusal of the church paper.

The indicated dependence exposes the manager of a church organ to the great danger of making it a preachers' paper. Compliance is hurtful. It is a perversion against which the knowing ones, including two presiding elders who have written me on the subject, protest. The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE has been, should and will be the people's paper. It is to benefit our people; to inform, instruct, ecclesiastically to unify, consolidate, educate and lead them; to edify them spiritually. It warns them of threatening danger, and encourages to do right. Our people can no more be good Methodists without being constant readers of the church paper, than they can be good Protestants without the use of the Bible.

Brethren, fellow-preachers, we are Methodists. We love Methodism. We believe Methodism to be the best religious system of leading sinners to Christ. We want our people to become good Methodists. To bring about this desirable result, we must supply them with our church paper. First, and chiefly, with the official Conference organ; next, with the organ of the General Conference; next—well, yes, next supererogation should be generally in vogue. Let us rally around the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. It is our paper. Yes, stand up for Jesus, stand up for the church; but to do so you must stand up for your Conference organ.

The Annual Conferences will soon convene. The new editor and publisher will, doubtlessly, attend. You want to congratulate him. The best way to do this is to have in hand and pay over to him all arrearages, and to furnish him a long list of renewals and new subscribers.

J. B. A. AHRENS,
For the Publishing Committee.

Rev. W. C. Black, D. D.

Pro Tem. takes advantage of the absence of Dr. Black to publish the following clipping from the Times-Democrat, of Oct. 26:

The Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE met yesterday for the purpose of electing an editor of that paper. The Committee is composed of the following members:

Louisiana Conference: Rev. J. M. Beard, D. D., Rev. S. S. Keener, Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens, D. D. Mississippi Conference: Rev. J. W. Chambers, Rev. W. B. Lewis, Rev. R. J. Jones. North Mississippi Conference: Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D. D., Rev. J. D. Cameron, D. D., Rev. T. C. Wier.

The former editor was Dr. C. W. Carter. When he resigned in June last, Dr. J. M. Beard was elected as editor pro tem. by the Sub-Committee. At the regular annual meeting of the whole Committee yesterday Dr. W. C. Black was elected editor and publisher.

Dr. Black is a very erudite gentleman; was for the term of four years pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, in Jackson, Miss. During last year up to this time he was pastor of the famous Mulberry Church in Macon, Ga. He is a fine speaker. His platform efforts are generally first class; as pulpit orator he has but few superiors. It goes without saying that he is a good writer. He is both strong and clear, has no hobbies, and abhors specialism.

As a new departure the newly-elected editor was also made publisher of the paper. Heretofore these two offices were held by different men, but it appeared to the Committee that combining the same would insure greater success.

No Prize Fight in Louisiana.

The position taken by the leading secular papers of Louisiana, and in particular by the leading dailies of New Orleans, condemning the sporting fraternity for efforts to have Louisiana disgraced by another of those brutal affairs known as prize fights within her borders, is bold and in every sense manly, and is sustained by good citizens throughout the State. Brutal in themselves and degrading in influence, belonging to periods and places of barbarism, such exhibitions should be excluded from all civilized, to say nothing of Christian communities. In common with the secular press, the ADVOCATE calls upon the public, and upon our State authorities especially, to pronounce upon this attempt to outrage decency and to degrade society in terms so severe, and so unmistakably determined, as to close all discussion of the matter.

That the worse elements of our citizenship should, in so many particulars, and for so long a time, have controlled Louisiana is disgrace enough. As public sentiment, led by a few brave and able men, crushed the iniquitous Lottery business, so let it again assert itself at this juncture. Our Commonwealth must not be made the rallying point for criminal classes, nor the dumping-ground for the moral garbage of other communities.

We believe that Gov. Foster will do all in his power to prevent this desecration of our State, and we pledge him the approval and the assistance of the respectable public.

Gambling in Clubs.

The Grand Jury held a meeting yesterday which consumed several hours, and on coming into court presented the following report:

New Orleans, Oct. 25, 1893.

Hon. John H. Ferguson, Judge Criminal District Court, Section A, Parish of Orleans:

Sir: We have carefully examined the matter submitted to us in your special charge relative to gambling in social clubs in the city of New Orleans, and beg to report that though we find that gambling is permitted in nearly every one of said clubs, we have likewise failed to discover any law in the present statutes, as interpreted by our legal adviser, that has been violated thereby or upon which the members of the said club can be held amenable.

Respectfully submitted,
G. W. NOTT, Foreman.

—Times-Democrat.

It seems that a law passed in 1870 exempts gambling in social clubs—by far the worst type of gambling, excepting only pool-room gambling. The courts of Louisiana, it seems, are estopped from interfering with the work of these training-schools in iniquity. We are very far from condemning all the features of social clubs for men only, although we are confident that their general influence is largely destructive of home life and, therefore, of the best interests of society. But the drinking and gambling features, it goes without argument, are evil and only evil. If the law does not reach them, let the law be changed. Meanwhile let the better elements of society everywhere place the ban of stern censure upon these iniquities which, under cover of furnishing innocent recreation for business and professional men, really sow the seeds of vice in the younger members and develop evil in all.

In all the above let it be borne in mind that reference is had to those clubs only where gambling and drinking are permitted.

Concerning the Lynching of Negroes.

The recent meeting of prominent negroes of Georgia at Macon to discuss the question of lynchings, and of the foul crimes that usually lead to the lynching of negroes, encourages the hope that we are at the beginning of the end of these brutal and lawless killings. The convention alluded to, while it justly condemned all lynchings as subversive of law and utterly unproductive of any good whatever, recognized also that the crime of rape, so frequently committed by negro men, must cease, and pledged constant, earnest, persistent effort to put a stop to it.

Lynching is wrong in organized society, where there are courts of law to deal with criminals, and whatever the heinousness of the crime for which one may have been lynched, the lynching tends to produce more crime. Public executions are conducive of crime, even when the execution is legal; when it is illegal it is doubly harmful. The spirit of vengeance is developed; the thirst for blood gratified and so made stronger; lawlessness is made popular, and the participants in the lynching become, by law and in morals, criminal. Always, and unsparingly, this editorial page has condemned lynching, and we hail with delight the fact that at last the leading negroes are determined to free their race from the crime that most frequently provokes it.

Against the Liquor Traffic.

We note with great pleasure the action of the "Woman's Club," of this city, looking to earnest personal effort on the part of its members to create where it does not exist, and to strengthen everywhere, sentiment against that crying shame, the liquor traffic. Pulpit, press, workingmen's organizations, School Boards, trades' unions representing legitimate branches—all influences in short, organized or unorganized, that look to the general well-being of business or society—should cooperate against that enemy of prosperity and of virtue.

From the present city administration we can hope for nothing good, but we can start influences that will tell in the near future. The campaign should be conducted on moral and financial, rather than on political lines. Members of all political parties, and people of all races, moved by common desire for public well-being, should be encouraged to unite in this movement.

We do not know the full scope and purpose of the "Woman's Club," but this special action we most heartily commend.

A New Editor for the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE met in regular annual session Wednesday, and concluded its session yesterday by electing the Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., of Mississippi, as editor. Dr. Black also acts as publisher. It will be remembered that in June last the publisher of the paper, Mr. D. L. Mitchel, failed, and Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., retired from the editorship.

The Executive Committee, composed of Revs. S. S. Keener, of Baton Rouge; J. B. A. Ahrens, D. D., editor of the Family Friend, a German religious paper, and J. M. Beard, D. D., pastor of the Felicity Street M. E. Church, South, were called together to devise means to continue the paper. The result was that Dr. J. M. Beard was placed in entire control of the journal. He succeeded well, considering the financial depression of the Summer months. He made an appeal to the paper's constituency, the three Conferences—Louisiana, Mississippi and the North Mississippi—with the result that new subscriptions and renewals poured in and the subscription lists grew, in the face of the dull times, nearly 1,000.

Dr. Beard was not a candidate for re-election, as he is the pastor of a large and influential church here in New Orleans, so the Rev. Dr. Black, of Mississippi, was chosen. Dr. Black is well known to the Methodists throughout Mississippi and Louisiana, and his election will be hailed with joy by his numerous friends. He will take charge next Tuesday.

The full Committee were Rev. Drs. S. S. Keener, of Baton Rouge; J. B. A. Ahrens, J. M. Beard, of New Orleans, representing the Louisiana Conference; Revs. J. W. Chambers, of Jackson, Miss.; W. B. Lewis, of Natchez, Miss.; R. J. Jones, Yazoo City, Miss., representing the Mississippi Conference; Revs. W. T. J. Sullivan, D. D., of Durant, Miss.; Rev. J. D. Cameron, D. D., of Senatobia, Miss.; and Rev. T. C. Wier, of Starkville, Miss., representing the North Mississippi Conference.

Dr. Beard was covered with resolutions of praise for his services to the church in saving the paper from the literal destruction in one of the worst gales it has ever encountered, though it was founded in 1850. The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, published at 112 Camp St., has quite a record, in that four out of six of its editors have become Bishops. This is remarkable when it is considered that the M. E. Church, South, does not maintain more than ten Bishops at a time, theirs not being a diocesan episcopacy, but a general superintendency. Consequently a Bishop is not needed in each State.—New Orleans Picayune.

NOTES.

The sentiment in Louisiana against the liquor traffic is stronger and more general than many suppose; but it needs concentration and direction. The Louisiana Prohibitionist, published at Morgan City, is seeking to do this necessary work, and wisely, we think, has not committed itself to party politics. It stands for prohibition of the liquor trade by all wise and legitimate means, and deserves the support of good people throughout the State.

***

The recent death of Philip Schaff, D. D., long time professor at Union Seminary, New York, removes from the circle of writers on church history and theology, one of its most learned and industrious members. Dr. Schaff was Swiss by birth, German by education and mental type, American by adoption and Presbyterian in faith. Among Americans he will be remembered principally as the chairman of the American Committee for revision of the Bible, and as the American editor of Lange's Commentaries. He was seventy-five years of age at his death.

***

Perverted use is abuse. Temper is a good endowment and those without it are almost worthless; but when it is left to natural impulses, it is a wild engine in perpetual danger of a collision. Keep it in check and it will make a beautiful and smooth run to heaven. Desire and love are admirable moving forces when controlled by the helm of faith and the compass of Scripture, but left to nature they will drive us to hell.—Florida Advocate.

Dr. Anderson always writes with strength and wisdom. One can safely commend his editorial utterances without first examining them. The above clipping is good for mental pigeon-hole or for scrap-book. Forces of all sorts are heavy responsibilities; misdirected, they issue in ruin proportionate to their extent and importance. Angelic endowment, misused, made a devil.

***

(Bishop Keener, at Tennessee Conference.)

In his first battle Frederick the Great, then a youth, ran away and hid himself in a haymow; and many a man who falters in the beginning afterward makes a glorious itinerant.

It is often the case that when a religious fanatic has unsettled your faith, he will hold out his patent nostrum, and say: "Take this, and see if you do not feel better."

Preachers are more likely to locate from having too much property than from having too little.

Love never has any consciousness of degrees. You can not divide it by an equation.

No man can windlass himself up into the divine life.—Nashville Advocate.

***

One of the first things done was to appoint a committee to whom should be referred all causes coming before the Conference for a collection. It was claimed that this was intended to protect the Conference from the many collections that come before it annually, and to save the preachers who have this year been poorly paid.—From the Nashville Advocate's report of Tennessee Conference.

Probably other Conferences will be requested to follow the example of our Tennessee brethren. Let this matter have careful consideration before action is taken. Much can be said on both sides. Certainly there should be a limit to collections at Conference, both as to number and as to objects; but we would regret action on the part of our patronizing Conferences that would shut off all collections. A collection wisely managed is a positive religious benefit to the Conference. It stirs enthusiasm, broadens views, intensifies the esprit de corps, is a forcible expression of praise to God. It is also an example to the church at large, serving to stir the laity to liberality and zeal. Let us be careful how we rule out this time-honored and, in many regards, excellent custom.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Bishop Galloway will dedicate the new Methodist Church in Gloster the first Sunday in November.

Dr. Scrugge, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, has been transferred to the South Georgia Conference, where we bespeak for him a hearty welcome. He deserves one.

Prof. Black, of Millsaps College, was in the ADVOCATE office last week. He reports a prosperous term at the college, and growing interest in its welfare in both the Mississippi Conferences.

As we go to press the following telegram comes:

Meridian, Miss., Oct. 30, 1893.

One hundred and twenty-six sanctifications; over hundred reclaimed and converted. W. W. HOPPER.

The revival services at Moreau Church have been unusually well attended, and the membership of the church has been heartily co-operating with Dr. Walker, the pastor. Much, very much, good has been done to church and community.

Dr. H. C. Morrison, who is to hold a series of services at Felicity Street Church, in this city, concluded successful meetings at McKendree Church, Nashville, and First Church, St. Louis. He is said to be a man of rare intellectual gifts, and deeply spiritual.

The success of our friend and brother, Rev. Robert Harry, as business manager of the large music house of Philip Werlein, is subject of gratification to his many friends, as well as the additional one that he preaches with great acceptability to the various city congregations, assisting his brethren.

Rev. Hubert Knickerbocker, just back from Woodville and Bastrop, where he assisted in successful revival meetings, called at the ADVOCATE office. He is now visiting parents and friends, and in a few days will start for the West Texas Conference, whither he transferred from the Los Angeles Conference. Our West Texas brethren will find him good itinerant material and a first-rate preacher.

Mr. F. J. W. Pfing, the intelligent and skillful foreman of the ADVOCATE office, who reads proofs, edits the news columns, prepares the mail list, etc., has been with the paper for the past thirteen years, and if former editors have been as much indebted to him as the present one, he has quite an estate in good-will. He has witnessed many editors come and go, and contends that they all have their peculiarities and eccentricities.

"L. W.," who is supposed to be Dr. Walker Lewis, pastor of our Trinity Church in Atlanta, Ga., writes as follows in the St. Louis Advocate concerning the two Georgia transfers to St. Louis:

Both of the Conferences in this State have been weakened by the demand of the Bishops for men. You have gotten treasures in this draft. Jarrell goes from Savannah, where he has served Trinity for three years with distinguished fidelity. As a man, he is true as steel; as a preacher, zealous and pointed; as a pastor, he is the unsurpassed. He will serve the church with untiring industry, and, I believe, with marked success.

Of Lee I know more. He is my friend, and I may see him through the medium of friendship. But I do not think that fact magnifies my estimate of him. He is a really wonderful man in several respects. At one bound he went to the front of our thinking and literary men in his first venture, "The Making of a Man." He is true, manly, resourceful; a many-sided man. There is in him, unsuspected by himself, the largest storage of power and thought. He is a strong, magnetic preacher, and without effort he draws to himself the young and the old. The church is to be congratulated upon gaining a man so well read in all the phases of modern thought and so forceful in displacing error with good. Test him as you will, the ring of true metal responds to your challenge. Tried anywhere, he will be found equal to the occasion. He is in great demand in Georgia, and unless you treat him handsomely we serve notice of a speedy demand for his return.

Church Dedicated.

The new Methodist Church at Hazlehurst, Miss., was dedicated on Sunday, Oct. 22. Bishop Galloway preached the dedication sermon and conducted the dedicatory exercises. About five hundred people were accommodated in the house, the aisles being filled with chairs. The sermon of the Bishop was instructive and eloquent in the extreme, and was listened to with rapt attention.

The church dedicated is one of the handsomest in the State, both the architecture and furnishings being on the modern order throughout. Before the church was dedicated a collection of above $1,000 was taken up, which finished paying for the building of the church. The work done reflects much credit on the membership, but most especially on the indefatigable pastor, Rev. Dr. Cooper, whose deserved popularity with the whole people of the town, joined with his unceasing effort, crowned the undertaking with such signal success.—Clarion-Ledger.

The tortures of dyspepsia, the sufferings of scrofula, the agonizing itch and pain of salt rheum, the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh, are removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

To the Women of the North Mississippi Conference.

Our Conference year is drawing to a close, and with it another quarter of the year's work of our Parsonage and Home Mission Society. Sisters, have you heard the call that came from our church to you to come, in the Master's name, to the help of his homeless ministers? If you could realize the need of this work, not merely in the Border Conferences, but in our own North Mississippi; if you could know how the Lord is permitting us to see the fruit of our labors; above all, if you could feel the blessing it holds for your own soul, I am sure you would feel it a privilege to give your influence and money to this noble cause.

For you, dear sisters, who are already members of this organization, I have nothing but praise. You have done nobly in the past, and I am confident you will not go backward. Last year we made wonderful progress, and there is no reason why we should not continue to advance. In spite of all obstacles, the Parsonage and Home Mission Society continues to grow. I would urge you to keep yourselves posted about the work; read the literature that is sent you every quarter; study our church papers; watch the advance movement of our M. E. Church, South, all along the line, and you will see that our work is moving as the church leads.

You will remember that our Committee on Applications reported five applications considered, and recommended one parsonage for immediate help and another as next in order. This second parsonage has now fulfilled the conditions, and it becomes our duty to redeem our promise. To this end let treasurers of auxiliaries collect all back dues, as well as amounts falling due at the end of this quarter, and remit promptly to Conference treasurer (Mrs. Rowan Thayer, Greenwood, Miss.) by the first of December. Let district secretaries request all Ladies' Aid Societies that have become auxiliary by the payment of a specified sum to remit that sum, of whatever amount (or a quarterly instalment of same) to Conference treasurer by the same date. Let presidents of auxiliaries endeavor to secure new members and honorary members, and let each woman in the society feel her personal responsibility and do what she can for the carrying on of the work.

Some districts are suffering from the lack of a secretary. I find that several of the district secretaries elected at the annual meeting have declined to serve. These vacancies I have been trying to fill, but it is necessarily slow work. The list of district secretaries at this date stands as follows:

Winona District—Mrs. Ellen K. Shivers, Black Hawk. Columbus District—Mrs. C. E. Cogdell, Brooksville. Aberdeen District—Miss Mattie Brown, Aberdeen. Greenville District, Mrs. Robert Somerville, Greenville. Sardis, Grenada, Kosciusko, Corinth and Holly Springs districts still to be supplied.

Miss Viola Blackburn has resigned her office of superintendent of juvenile work to enter the Scarritt Bible and Training-school. This office will remain vacant until the next annual meeting. In the meantime district secretaries are earnestly requested to look after the juvenile work in their respective districts, and to organize the children wherever it is possible. The juvenile literature will hereafter be sent to them for distribution.

We have had a few applications for aid in furnishing parsonages. As you are aware, we have no fund for this purpose; but a wise presiding elder suggests that second-hand furniture in good condition will be acceptable in many parsonages and add greatly to the comfort of the preachers' families. Recently a member of the Greenville Auxiliary donated a set of furniture, which was sent by our society to a parsonage in the Kosciusko district, where it was both needed and appreciated; but to accomplish much in this line it must be done systematically. Any of you who have articles of furniture that you can spare should notify your district secretary, who is supposed to be familiar with the wants of all the needy parsonages in her district, and to know where such donations will do the most good.

MRS. H. W. FOOTE,
Pres. P. and H. M. Society.

Mississippi Conference.

To the Pastors and Superintendents of the Mississippi Conference—

Brethren: The Publishing House at Nashville, Tenn., has by contract turned the entire business of our Conference over to the Mississippi Conference Depository, and request that all orders for Sunday-school literature and books be sent to Laird & Dominick, at 220 Capitol St., Jackson, Miss.

Please make up your orders for Sunday-school supplies for 1894, and send in immediately, at least by Dec. 14, 1893. W. D. DOMINICK,
General Colporter for Miss. Conf.

Doctors? Pshaw? Take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

Topic for Nov. 5.

THE FORBIDDEN WORLD.

(I. John ii, 15-17.)

In verse 15 there is given us a command and a reason for it. It may be seen that the principle underlying the command here given us by John, and the principle that necessitates the separation of the church from the world, is that love for the world and love for the Father can not coexist in the same heart. Love to God is an important element in all religious experience, and is the determining motive in all religious work; so that if love of the world excludes love of the Father—and this the passage clearly states—the world must have no place in the Christian's affection. It is important that young Christians base their opposition to worldly amusements on this high principle, and not simply on the ground that they are forbidden by the rules of the church, or are said to be wrong by man's authority.

(Verse 16.) All objects in connection with the world, that steal away man's affection through the threefold channel of approach to his heart—"the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life"—may be ranked as part of "the forbidden world," since they have no possible connection with the Father. John's triple classification seems to be a complete one. Notice how it corresponds to the three-fold desire that being awakened led our first parents into sin (Gen. iii, 6); and how its corresponds to the three-fold desire which the tempter tried, but failed to awaken in Christ. (Matt. iv, 1-11.)

(Verse 17.) Here is given us a strong reason, on the one hand, for refusal to love the world, and that is because of the transitoriness both of the object of love and of the love itself; and a strong reason, on the other hand, for loving God and doing his will, and that is because it results in eternal life.

***

Dr. W. G. E. Cunnyngham, in the St. Louis Christian Advocate, has this to say concerning the Epworth League:

The last General Conference ordered the General Sunday-school Committee to furnish constitution and by-laws for the Epworth Leagues of our church. This labor, of course, required much time and attention, and increased very largely the care and responsibility of the Sunday-school editor and his assistants. We have done the best we could. The constitution and by-laws, with "an address to the pastors of the church," known as "Epworth Tract No. 1;" "Tract No. 2," containing suggestions as to organization of League work, etc.; "Topics for League Prayer Meetings," "Membership Cards," "Course of Reading for Epworth Leagues" (this course includes biblical, historical and biographical studies), have been prepared; also "Epworth League Badges;" "Epworth League Record Book," and "Epworth League Stationery," etc. We have now on record the names of about 700 Leagues, with an aggregate membership of probably 25,000. We have reason to believe that many Leagues have been organized that have not reported to the office at Nashville. The Sunday-school Department, with its present working force and heavy labors, can give only a very general supervision to the Epworth League work. The Leagues are doing well, increasing in numbers and in working efficiency. The next General Conference will doubtless organize the Epworth League into a connectional Department, with the necessary officers and facilities for its successful management.

***

In the M. E. Church the junior movement in the Epworth League has taken a complete hold. There are more than twelve hundred Junior Leagues in the States of Illinois, New York, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kansas and Massachusetts.

***

Why the Epworth League Was Organized.

(Continued.)

There was noted, among the young people, a lamentable ignorance regarding the facts of the Bible, the thrilling events of church history, the events leading to the organization and progress of Methodism, and even the great missionary movements of the present, which Bishop Haygood chooses to term "the chief characteristic of our century." It was seen, too, that there was great ignorance as to the vital doctrines that Methodism has very largely preserved for the church of God. A more thorough grounding in these great themes and doctrines was seen to be necessary to preserve our integrity as a church. The young people need to cultivate a personal acquaintance with the Wesleys, Fletcher, and other such men of God; and, more important still, they need to know intimately Paul, Peter, John, and the other apostles whose acts and words are recorded for us; and, what is of supreme importance, they need personal knowledge of the words and works of Christ, in order that he may live in them and work through them.

All of this was distinctly in view when the Epworth League was organized, and when the Department of Literary Work was planned.

(To be continued.)

To the Presiding Elders of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

I have two requests of importance:

1. Meet me on the day before your Annual Conference sessions at 9 o'clock A. M. at Hazlehurst, Dec. 6, and at Homer, Dec. 13.

2. Bring with you the statistical reports of each pastor in your districts; the reports he intends to present to Conference. If you can not secure them soon enough to bring yourself, have the brethren mail them to you at the seat of the Conference, so you may receive them by the above dates. I want them for my own special private study.

3. I request the secretaries of the two Conferences to send me as soon as convenient copies of Annual Conference Minutes for the last five Conference years. I wish these for study and comparison. Fraternally,

JOSEPH S. KEY.

Sherman, Texas, Oct. 10, 1893.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 A. M. HESLEP R. TUCKER,
G. W. GORDON,
E. H. CAGY,
Committee.

The class of the third year will please meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Nov. 27, 1893, at eight P. M.

T. Y. RAMSEY,
R. M. DAVIS,
H. C. MOREHEAD,
Committee.

Louisiana Conference.

The class of the first year will meet at Methodist Church, Homer, La., at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 13.

WM. H. LAPRADE.

The class of the third year will please meet committee for examination in Homer, La., Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at seven o'clock, at such place as the pastor may designate, and oblige

THOS. B. WHITE,
For Committee.

Arcadia, La.

Notice.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet promptly at three o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 27, at the Methodist Church in Columbus. The committee will be there to conduct the examination in accordance with the directions of the Discipline, page 384, ¶485, and page 87, ¶138, concerning the course of study. Let applicants be well prepared on the subjects designated. The committee restrict the "Ordinary Branches of an English Education" in this examination to spelling, reading, composition, English grammar, geography and arithmetic.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, Chair'n.

Attention.

Members of the Louisiana Conference living below Alexandria who expect to go to Homer, via Monroe, will please notify me at their earliest convenience that I may provide stopping-places for them while waiting for the "Houston Central" train in this place.

THOS. J. UPTON.

Alexandria, La.

Kosciusko District.

NOTICE.

Our Annual Conference is upon us. Let all who have subscribed to our Educational Loan Fund Association forward the money to me at once. And others disposed to help in the education of our young men may make us glad by sending us their names and contributions.

Money sent by postoffice money order or registered letter will reach me safely and be receipted.

Friend, do not neglect this.

[redacted] W. D. McCULLOUGH,
[redacted] Sec. and Treas.

Sallis, Miss.

THE Southern Mercantile Com'y,
OF NEW ORLEANS.
235 CANAL STREET, - NEW ORLEANS, LA.

We are doing this to advertise our goods. Sending you a $35 Watch, a full-jewelled Elgin, Waltham, or Standard Movement, in a Bassfilled, 14 Kt., Gold Case, warranted for twenty years, without a cent of cost, to be examined and tried; and if you find it as we represent it, you may send us the special advertising price of $12 80, and keep it. We must get a trade established in every locality. Write to us for one to look at. It costs you nothing.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,
MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Queen & Crescent Route

"Finest Trains in the South."

Through Cars to Chicago without change, from New Orleans, Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Jacksonville, Fla., Atlanta, Macon, Lexington and Georgetown, Ky. Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville. Stop-overs allowed on all World's Fair tickets, at Chattanooga, Louisville, Indianapolis or Cincinnati.

For further information as to Rates, Car Service, Sleeping Car Reservations, etc., call on or address any agent of the Queen & Crescent Route or E. T. V. & G. Ry.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

THROUGH CARS TO CHICAGO.

Metal Tipped. EVER READY DRESS STAY Will Not Cut Through.
See Name "EVER READY" on Back of Each Stay.

Acknowledged the BEST DRESS STAY On the Market

Made with Gutta Percha on both sides of steel and warranted water-proof. All other stays are made differently and will rust. Beware of Imitations. Take none but the "Ever Ready."

Manufactured by the YPSILANTI DRESS STAY MFG. CO., Ypsilanti, Mich.

FOR SALE BY ALL JOBBERS AND RETAILERS.

SPECIAL DEPOTS. { MODEL DRESS STEEL CO., 74 Grand St., New York. BROWN & METZNER, 535 Market Street, San Francisco.

Classical and Commercial Institute
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.

Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.

G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't.

H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.

Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.

For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.

Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

The Great Church LIGHT.
FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to

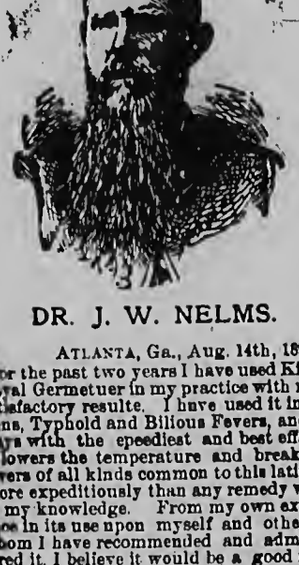
W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

CHILDREN WHO SUFFER from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't benefit or cure in every case, the money is returned.

GERMETUER

CURES FEVERS.



DR. J. W. NELMS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 14th, 1893.

For the past two years I have used King's Royal Germetuer in my practice with most satisfactory results. I have used it in Typhus, Typhoid and Bilious Fevers, and always with the speediest and best effects. It lowers the temperature and breaks up fevers of all kinds common to this latitude more expeditiously than any remedy within my knowledge. From my own experience in its use upon myself and others to whom I have recommended and administered it, I believe it would be a good remedy for Yellow Fever. It is a most excellent antiseptic, cures catarrh, insomnia, night sweats and eczema in all its forms. King's Royal Germetuer is emphatically a safe remedy, and leaves no injurious effects in the system.

JOHN W. NELMS, M. D.,
Mayor West End, Ga.

For Nervous Troubles, Teething Children and Summer Complaint, Germetuer has no equal. Try it; $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.

KING'S ROYAL GERMETUER CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Germetuer Pills for constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss.

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE DEATH OF SUMMER.

BY MARY LOWE DICKINSON.

The radiant greenness of the distant hills
Has paled, as if souls, wandering penitent,
Had scattered ashes on their sunny brows;
The nearer forest hides its flags, hall-furled,
Bright crimson banners, 'neath its mantle green,
Ready to welcome Autumn to his throne;
While birches lift their white arms, bathed in gold,
And wreathe a halo for the fair dead queen.
The long low line of willows by the brook
Trail their pale fringes in the silent stream,
And droop, and grieve, until from pool to pool
Creep faint, sad thrills, "The Summer time is dead!"
The sad sky tells it to the willow tree,
The willow to the brook, the brook to sea;
The sea's mist shrond creeps upward to the hills,
The whole green earth a nameless shadow fills,
We doubt no more, "The Summer time is dead."

—Silver Cross.

The Cost of Pride.

Not long ago a clergyman was visiting a sick lady who was an active member of his church. She was known to be very proud of her descent from an old and renewned family, and her own character had been irreproachable.

Her end was evidently approaching, and her pastor spoke to her about the coming change. He was startled by the way in which she responded to his remarks. He felt convinced that she was not trusting in Christ as her Savior. She would talk about church affairs, but not about Jesus. Returning from visiting her one day, the minister entered his study and prayed for wisdom; then rising from his knees he said, "I will use the lancet to-day; I will ask her the straight question." He called again and began to speak of some of the flagrant sinners of the Bible, of Manasseh, the dying thief, and Mary Magdelene; then coming nearer home, he spoke of some of the flagrant sinners of their own little town; then summing up, he said, "But all alike are sinners, and all must be saved in exactly the same way." The dying lady raised herself up on her elbow and looking her pastor in the face, asked, "Have I to be saved in the same way as those characters?" "Yes; there is no other way." "Then," she said, "I would prefer to be lost," And she would not listen to another word the minister had to say. Men and women who live moral lives and have never been open, flagrant sinners, often can not understand that they must come to Christ just the same as the worst of sinners.—Church Index.

Dr. Coke at His First American Conference.

Coke continued to preach to great throngs, on the peninsula, till near the date of the Conference. His congregations were sometimes so large that he was compelled to address them from the chapel doors. Methodist families flocked from all directions to receive the sacraments from his hands. Thomas Ware, who was in this region, says: "Never did I see any person who seemed to enjoy himself better than he did, while thousands pressed to him to have their children dedicated to the Lord in baptism, and to receive themselves the Holy Supper at his hands. Daily accessions were made to the church."

At the famous Conference which opened in Baltimore, Dec. 24 (the eve of Christmas), 1784, the season was a jubilee to the Methodists of Baltimere and its vicinity. Coke preached every day at noon, two of his discourses being especially on the ministerial office, and afterward published; there was preaching, by other members of the body, every morning and evening; Otterbein's Church and the Methodist chapels in the town and at the Point were occupied by them.

Coke's sermon at the episcopal consecration of Asbury produced a wonderful impression, and presents some eloquent passages. After describing the true Bishop, it thus concludes: "O thou Lover of souls, who willest not the death of a sinner, have pity on the world. Remember Calvary. Hear the pleading Intercessor, and raise up men after thine own heart, full of the Holy Ghost, full of love, and full of zeal. Guide them by thy Spirit, accompany them with thine omnipotence, that they may tread the kingdom of Satan under their feet, and build up thy glorious church. You may now perceive the dreadful effects of raising immoral or unconverted men to the government of the church. The baneful influence of their example is so extensive that the skill and cruelty of devils can hardly fabricate a greater curse than an irreligious Bishop. But thou, O man of God, follow after righteousness, godliness, patience, and meekness. Be an example to the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity. Keep that which is committed to thy trust. Be not ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, but a partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God. Endure hardships as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. Do the work of an evangelist, and make full proof of thy ministry, and thy God will open to thee a wide door, which all thy enemies shall not be able to shut. He will carry his gospel by thee from sea to sea, and from one end of the continent to another. O thou, who art the Holy One and the true, consecrate this thy servant with the fire of divine love; separate him for thy glorious purpose; make him a star in thine own right hand; and fulfill in him and by him the good pleasure of thy goodness."—N. Y. Advocate.

Praise Your Wife.

A sunshiny husband makes a merry, beautiful home, worth having, worth working for. If a man is breezy, cheery, considerate and sympathetic, his wife sings in her heart over her puddings, and her mending basket, counts the hours till he returns at night, and renews her youth in the security she feels of his appreciation and admiration You may think it weak or childish if you please, but it is the admired wife, who hears words of praise and receives smiles of commendation, who is capable, discreet and executive. I have seen a timid, meek, self-distrusting little body fairly bloom into strong, self-reliant womanhood, under the tonic and the cordial of companionship with a husband who really went out of his way to find occasion for showing her how fully he trusted her judgment, and how tenderly he deferred to her opinion. In home life there should be no jar, no striving for place, no insisting on prerogatives, or division of interest. The husband and the wife are each the complement of the other. And it is just as much his duty to be cheerful as it is hers to be patient; his right to bring joy into the door as it is hers to garnish the pleasant interior. A family where the daily walk of the father makes life a festival is filled with something like heavenly benediction.—Selected.

A Parisian Photographer.

When a lady is sitting to a Parisian photographer for a portrait the operator does not, in a perfunctory manner, coldly request her to "Look pleasant now, if you please!" He says to her, in the most natural and graceful manner in the world: "It is quite unnecessary to ask madam to look pleasant—she could not look otherwise." The lady, of course, acknowledges the compliment with her most gracious and highbred smile. "Click!" goes the camera and the picture is obtained, revealing the sitter to the greatest advantage.

A clever paper appeared in our last week's issue on "Delegates to the General Conference," signed "Jacob," wherein the writer advocated the election of old men only to that body. It is now suggested as a pertinent inquiry to be addressed to our contributor, "Jacob, how old art thou?"—Pacific Methodist.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.

in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

IF I WERE A GIRL

BY LINNIE HAWLEY DRAKE.

If I were a girl, a true-hearted girl,
Just budding to fair womanhood,
There's many a thing that I would not do,
And numberless more that I would.
I never would frown, with my mouth drawn down,
For the creases will come there and stay;
But sing like the lark, should the day be dark—
Keep a glow in my heart anyway!

If I were a girl, a bright, winsome girl,
Just leaving my childhood behind,
I would be so neat, from my head to my feet,
That never a fault could one find.
So helpful to mother, so gentle to brother,
I'd have things so cheery and sweet,
That the streets and their glare could never compare
With the charms of the home so replete.

If I were a girl, a fond, loving girl,
With father o'erburdened with care,
I would walk at his side with sweet, tender pride,
With ever a kiss and a prayer.
Not a secret I'd keep that could lead to deceit,
Not a thought I should blush to share;
Not a friend my parents would disapprove—
I would trust such a girl anywhere!

Growing Old Together.

The Boston Commonwealth gives these beautiful pictures of those who have made the journey together, until the hair has become white, and the steps feeble:

"Audubon, our great naturalist, married a good, sweet woman, and when she began to find him out, she found he would wander off a thousand miles in quest of a bird. She said 'Amen!' and went with him, and camped in the woods.

"When the children began to come to them, he had to wander off alone, but he could not go into a valley so deep, or valley so distant, that the light would not shine on him out of their window. He knew exactly where he would find her, and how she would look, for while, as Ruskin reminds us, the clouds are never twice alike, the sunshine is always familiar, and it was sunshine he saw when he looked homeward. So, if you have read his notes, you will remember how his heart broke forth in singing in all sorts of unexpected places, as he thinks of the wife and children waiting his return; and in that way they lived their life until they dropped into the lap of God, like mellow fruit."—Christian Observer.

An Arctic House.

Lieut. Peary has gone north to explore the pole. He proposes to build a home whence to make expeditions from that as a center. Advices from the party, with which Mrs. Peary is, say that work on the house is progressing favorably. When finished it will be 33 by 17. It is built of the very best material. The uprights are two-inch planks, outside of which is placed tar paper, two-ply; then a sheathing of matched boards, on top of which is another layer of three-ply tar paper. The entire house, when finished, is to be painted with tar. Inside comes another layer of the paper. Then more sheathing, which, by the way, is put on at an angle of forty-five degrees, and runs opposite on the opposite sides of the house, in order to more securely brace it. Inside of all this is thick red flannel. On the roof is a glass dome, as we call it. It is shaped like a hot-house, and is made of hot-house sashes. Very thick glass is used. This dome is twenty-five feet long by six wide. Under this dome and even with its ceiling is another glass layer, making it perfectly windproof and comfortable, however cold it may be outside.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

The Mississippi was the last of a long series of names proposed for our great river. De Soto called it "The River of the Holy Spirit," and the Portuguese who wrote an account of De Soto's wanderings called it the Rio Grande. In an effort to settle on a name for it the Spaniards called it Rio de la Palisada, Rio de la Eulata, Rio de la Soto, Rio Chucaga, Rio de la Escondido, the Lost river and other names. Marquette gave it the name La Riviere de la Conception, Hennepin denominated it the Colbert, and other French explorers called it the St. Louis and Grande riviere. The French finally settled on Meate-chassippi, an Indian designation, and this name, with slight change, became universally accepted.—Philadelphia Record.

"And there is that other evil," said Bishop Bowman, in a recent sermon, "'filthy euchre.' No, that doesn't seem exactly like the name. What is it? O yes, 'progressive euchre.' Well, filthy euchre is not a very bad name for it, anyway."

"Heaps o' Trouble."

Brunk Davis was a barefooted boy who lived down in Scott county, Ill. His smaller brother, Fletcher, was his constant companion, not only in the old swimming hole and the rabbit chase, but in his mental excursions as well; for twelve-year-old boys have imaginations as vivid as those of any frenzied poet.

One hot Summer day, Brunk and Fletch were walking the dusty lane that led from Winchester to their country home. They were playing "wishing," a juvenile exercise that has never died since the days of Aladdin's lamp. Brunk had wished for several things that had almost overpowered Fletch, they were so astonishingly great.

At last, with a heroic effort, Fletch himself launched out into the sea of imaginary wants, and exclaimed: "I wish I could find a six-blade knife right down here in the road!"

Brunk was at first amazed at the audacity of his little brother, but, rallying, he assumed the role so frequently taken by elder brothers, and exclaimed: "Well, if you did, I'd take it away from you."

Fletch thereupon began to cry, and his grief was of such a cumulative sort that by the time they had reached home his heart was almost broken, and his sobs were all tangled up with, "You're always taking my things away from me."

No one could question the reality of his grief, though the knife was purely imaginary. I have met many "grown-ups" whose "heaps o' trouble" were of the same character.—Christian Observer.

Little Mabel's Faith.

It was Sunday afternoon, and mama had been reading to Ruth and Mabel.

"Who is Jesus, Mabel?"

"He is my friend," a soft little voice answered.

"How is he your friend?"

"He is my very best friend," said Mabel.

"Why is he your friend?"

"Because he is Jesus," she whispered.

"Do you think he loves a little girl like you?"

Mabel's eyes shone as she said, "He loves the little ones best of all, for he took them up and cuddled them."

"Mabel," said seven-year-old Ruth, "you ought to give your heart to Jesus. At the children's meeting at camp meeting there were several children who gave their hearts to Jesus, and one little boy said he knew Jesus had taken his heart, for he felt so different in here," putting her hand on her heart, "since he had let Jesus have his sins."

Said Mabel quickly: "I have given my heart to Jesus, haven't I, mama?" with a troubled look in her eyes.

"Yes, dear. And now you want to always let him keep it. Never take it back again. As long as you want to do, and try to do, everything to please Jesus and not to please yourself, you let Jesus keep your heart."—Epworth Herald.

Moondays.

There is an old story, which is not fact and yet is a parable, concerning "the man in the moon," as children call the dim markings on the moon's disk, which a lively fancy may discern to be a human face or figure. The story runs that he was once a resident of our world, and went out to gather sticks on Sunday, when he ought to have rested. To one who rebuked him he replied: "Sunday here! Sunday there! Sunday or Monday makes no difference to me!" So to punish him he was transferred to the moon, where there are no Sundays, but only Meondays; and for the whole seven days of every week he goes on toiling at his stick-gathering, until his back is bowed under the weight of the burden, and, when it falls off, it is only to set him free for seven days more of toil. Men and nations can follow his example. When the day sacred to rest and the day fitted for work are all the same to them, they are indeed bowing their backs to the burden of seven days' crushing toil, which shall know no end while life lasts. The Sabbath aims to set us free to be men.—Sunday School Times.

According to Charles Darwin it takes a monkey thousands of years to make a man of himself, but a man can sometimes make a monkey of himself in a minute!

The plague of lamps is the breaking of chimneys; but that can be avoided. Get Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass."

The funnel-shaped tops are beaded or "pearled"—a trade mark.

Cylinder tops are etched in the glass "MACBETH & CO. PEARL GLASS."—another trade-mark.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

YOU Don't know what leather can be without Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c. and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Any Time is the right time for everybody to drink Hires' Root Beer

A temperance drink.
A home-made drink.
A health-giving drink.
A thirst-quenching drink.
A drink that is popular everywhere.
Delicious, Sparkling, Effervescent.

A 25 cent package makes 5 gallons of delicious beverage. Don't be deceived if a dealer for the sake of larger profit, tells you some other kind is "just as good"—'tis false. No imitation is as good as the genuine HIRES'.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it, I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. H. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that malaria from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. I will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. H. Fush, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the travelling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. LOWE, Mills Building, New York.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

MARRIAGES.

MONTGOMERY—NOBLIN.—At the Methodist Church, Edwards, Miss., Wednesday evening, Oct. 4, 1893, at half-past eight o'clock, by Rev. J. P. Drake, Mr. Patrick H. Montgomery to Miss Mallie Noblin.

WATKINS—HIGHTOWER.—At the residence of Dr. Atkinson, Arcadia, La., by Rev. T. B. White, Lynn K. Watkins, Esq., of Minden, La., and Miss Gussie Hightower, of Arcadia.
They left immediately for Chicago.

BOWERS-BURAS.—At the residence of Mr. Myer, No. 8 Villere St., Algiers, La., Oct. 19, 1893, by Rev. H. S. Johns, Mr. David Bowers to Miss Louisa Buras, all of Louisiana.

FIKES—GREEN.—At the residence of the bride, near Enterprise, Miss., Oct. 12, 1893, by Rev. Isaac L. Peebles, Mr. B. F. Fikes to Miss C. E. Green, both of Landordale county, Miss.

BUFFKIN—EVANS.—At the residence of Mr. Wm. Thompson, Jr., Marion county, Miss., Oct. 17, by Rev. M. H. Moore, Mr. N. J. Buffkin and Miss Cora Evans.

GREESON—TEDFORD.—In the Methodist Church, Brookhaven, Miss., Oct. 18, 1893, at 8 o'clock P. M., by Rev. J. M. Weems, Mr. M. W. Greeson, of Prescott, Ark., and Miss Carrie Tedford, of Brookhaven, Miss.

"Whether to live or die,
I know not which is best;
To live in thee is bliss to me,
To die is endless rest.

"Living or dying, Lord,
I ask but to be thine;
My life in thee, thy life in me,
Makes heaven forever mine."
—T. L. Cuyler.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

HOLYFIELD—N. HOLYFIELD was born Jan. 15, 1811, and died at his home in Rose Hill, Miss., Oct. 22, 1892. When small he moved with his parents to Mississippi. After the lapse of a few years he moved to Alabama, where he was happily married to Miss Catharine McNiel. Several years after marriage moved again to Mississippi, and chose Kemper county for his place of residence. There he united with the Presbyterian Church. He was a true man of God, holding at times official position in the church. Twenty-five years before death he united with the Methodist Church, there being no Presbyterian Church near him. In our church he was steward for twenty years, filling this place in great honor to God's cause.

His life was blessed with eight bright children, two of whom pillowed their heads on their Savior's breast in infancy. In March, 1867, he bowed in grief and laid his wife beneath the sod. In November, 1867, he was married again to Mrs. Crary Davis, who still survives him. After his second marriage two of his daughters died, each leaving children under the care of he and his wife. They did a noble deed in caring for these grandchildren, two of whom remained with him until his death and, with his devoted wife, administered to him in his last hours. Bro. Holyfield was confined to his room eleven long months of weariness and pain; yet as the end drew near he ripened like an unfolding flower for the celestial gardens of beauty and glory. As he calmly walked at the gates of day, every cloud was wafted away by the light from the countenance of the Son of God. Thus a sweet-spirited Christian man, caressed and tenderly cared for by his grandchildren and devoted wife, has passed through the gates into the city and stands in the presence of the King in his beauty.

Loved ones, it was not in cruelty, not in wrath, that the reaper came that day. It was an angel that visited the earth and took the dear one away. I know the cup seems bitter, and sometimes we are long draining it. But, oh! lift your tear-stained eyes heavenward that your souls may be absorbed in the beauty of godliness. Then even the grandeur of nature, the glory of art, all fade in the vision, and the magnificent Blandersian fountain loses its splendor; while the paradise of Milton, with its trees and its rivers, its fruits and its flowers, its hymns and its harps—a living landscape with its vernal diadem and voiced with melody—dwindles into sterility. Death is eternal gain. Until we die to share the ripened powers of immortality and heir the thrones of heaven, we can only say that interminable Spring shall bloom upon the scene and chase the Winter of affliction by its smile. Then, with sweet submission, let us say, "Not our will, but thine, be done." MRS. EMMA ROOKER WITT.
Lake, Miss.

GRIGGS—Died, Sept. 25, 1893, JAMES F. GRIGGS, son of Mrs. Elizabeth and the Rev. J. Miles Griggs, of Indian Village, La., aged twenty-six years six months and ten days.

Once more the Father calls, and from our midst is taken one of our brightest lights. James F. Griggs was born in Jackson parish, La.; was an obedient and affectionate son, a congenial companion, an honored citizen, and a Christian young man, who was justly the pride of the people. He was buried with all the honors of his beloved Masonic Fraternity, where much affection was clearly manifested. Those who knew him best loved him most. Few young men had brighter prospects for the future. He seemed destined to be a great factor in our country's intellectual development. Being a young man of more than ordinary intelligence, he was already distinguished as an educator of the youth, and had made great progress in preparation for his chosen profession. It is hard to see him go in the vigor of youth; but God needed him because he is worth something. So let us bow in resignation to the will of "him who doeth all things well." Jimmie is now another tie on that beautiful shore to beckon us on to the paradise of God.

We condole with his bereaved family, praying that they may continually remember that God is willing to bear our burdens and to give us joy and triumph in all our troubles and sorrows. Let us strive earnestly for the right, that we may soon meet him again where joys never cease and partings never come. J.

WEAVER—REBECCA LOUISA, infant daughter of G. W. and E. J. Weaver, was born July 5, 1891; died at her father's home, near Utica, Hinds county, Miss., Sept. 8, 1893, at 2:20 P. M.

The Lord Jesus when on earth took little children in his arms and blessed them, saying, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." Will he not much more now receive little children "unto himself, that where he is there they may be also?"

Let the sorrow-stricken parents rather rejoice that the little lamb taken from their home is safe in the bosom of the Great Shepherd, and that they may meet and greet her around the throne of God. CHAS. W. CRISLER.
Utica, Miss.

WILLIAMSON—Died near Campbellsville, Miss., at the home of her son-in-law, Capt. Hart, Mrs. C. M. J. WILLIAMSON, at the ripe old age of seventy-five. She was born Aug. 16, 1818, in Warren county, Miss., and spent a large portion of her life there. Some of the old-time associates of her childhood and youth are still "on this side," and they, scores of friends of later years, will grieve over the death of this dear one.

Since 1847 she has been a member of the church, and her influence was always for good. Gentle as the evening zephyr, yet never swerving from the truth. Her faith was a living one, and while she felt that to die was gain, yet she never murmured during the many long months of her suffering. When she realized that death was near she said it would be a happy release. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord," for so he giveth his beloved sleep.

Two sons, one daughter and many grandchildren are left to mourn the dear departed. May the God who soothed her dying pillow send consolation to their hearts!
ONE WHO LOVED HER.

Vicksburg and New York papers will please copy.

VAUGHN—GEORGE PARHAM VAUGHN, son of G. M. Vaughn and wife, was born March 5, 1866, and died Sept. 24, 1893, at his home in Lowndes county, Miss. George was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, when quite young, of which he died a consistent member. He was married in his twentieth year to Miss Carrie East. Sad to say, he was the subject of disease and suffering from his youth. For several years he had been secretary of his Sunday-school, and at his post when able. He died as he lived, and leaves his kind wife and three little ones to mourn his death.
K. M. HARRISON, P. C.

Whereas, It has pleased our Father which art in heaven to take from us, the Vaughn's Chapel Sabbath-school, our efficient secretary, George P. Vaughn; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in his death we have lost a devoted member and secretary; our superintendent, a dutiful son; his wife and children, a true and devoted father and husband; his church, a devoted member, and the community, a good citizen.

Resolved, That we, in the true spirit of Christianity, submit to the divine will in this dispensation of his providence.

Resolved, That the New Orleans Christian Advocate please publish these resolutions, and that a copy be presented the afflicted widow and one spread upon the minutes of his school.
JOHN LOFTIS, for Committee.

ABLE—JOHN WESLEY ABLE was born in Tuscumbia, Ala., Dec. 19, 1837, and died at his home, on Bayou Claire, Avoyelles parish, La., Aug. 2, 1893. On Dec. 27, 1867, he was married to Miss Mary L. Roy. Bro. Able was converted under the ministry of Bro. Walter Dunstan in January, 1838, and was a consistent member of the M. E. Church, South, until the day of his death. From the day of his conversion until his death his delight was "in the law of the Lord; and in his law" did "he meditate day and night." The book that he left behind is an evidence of the above, for one could tell at a glance that it had been used a great deal, and many comforting passages were marked with pencil. No wonder that his death was one of peace. Bro. Able was conscious to the end, and just a minute or two before his death called his dear wife to him, gave her his hand and held it until he was no more.

Bro. Able was a devoted husband and father. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his death. May the Lord sanctify this affliction to the salvation of his wife and children!
T. L. L.

MULLEN—MARY ONEA, the twelve-year-old child of Bro. M. M. Mullen, was taken from a life of suffering to one of eternal peace and blessing in March, 1893.

Her time on earth was short and "full of trouble," having been a sufferer all her life; yet she lived not in vain, for the patience and Christian fortitude with which she bore her afflictions made an indelible impression on the minds of all who knew her; and no less impressive was the warmth and intelligence which marked her conversation about religion, which was her favorite topic. She loved to talk about heaven, where she had a mother and some brothers and sisters, she being the eighth member of Bro. Mullen's family who has gone on before; but he has the blessed assurance that they are all waiting over the river and the sweet hope of meeting them there. Eight treasures in heaven, four religious children on earth. Oh, how rich!

CRISLER—THOS. J. CRISLER, son of S. J. and Ada B. Crisler, was born Aug. 8, 1876, and, after a long spell of fever, fell on sleep, Sept. 27, 1893. He was converted and joined the Methodist Church, at Flora, in the Summer of 1888. He was industrious in his habits, obedient to parents, and possessed a simple, child-like faith in God. J. D. CAYMES, P. C.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

David Livingstone made this resolve in early life: "I will place no value on anything I have or may possess, except in relation to the kingdom of Christ. If anything I have will advance the interests of that kingdom, it shall be given or kept, as by keeping or giving it I shall most promote the glory of him to whom I owe all my hopes both for time and eternity."

We, the undersigned, do testify that we have used Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar for years, for all throat and lung troubles, with the greatest benefit. For coughs and colds it never fails. When taken according to directions, it cures our children of croup and whooping-cough, and for serious lung troubles it always gives relief.
NEW ORLEANS, March 1, 1889.
C. A. Pfeffer, 201 Miro street; Emile A. Martin, 186 Johnson street; John Capdeville, Jr., 230 St. Phillip street; L. Y. Petit, Bayou St. John; William Noonan, Carrollton; A. M. Ruh, 205 Miro street. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

The applications to the Boston Associated Charities last year show that twenty-two per cent. of the causes for sickness were intemperance.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.
F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.
F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 17

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.

The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893.
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address
Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3,239,091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF E. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - $400,479.06
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - $413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - $459,389.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - $510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - $551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891, - - - - $600,414.81
Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY. JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE. J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE. W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1848. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining.
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.

EMORY COLLEGE
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta
Location Proverbially Healthy. No Saloons.
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D. PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Of the 200,000 persons who entered the Cherokee strip on Sept. 16 more than one-half have left it.

The mayor of Chicago, Carter H. Harrison, was murdered on Oct. 28 by a crazy man named Prendergast.

Mayor Fitzpatrick has gone to Chicago to attend the convention of mayors and principal officials of the various cities in the United States.

Leading members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in the House and those of the majority, especially, think that President Cleveland will send into Congress, immediately after the Silver bill is out of the way, his message and the correspondence on the Hawaiian matter.

The Confederate Comrades, a new association of veterans, was formed in the city on Oct. 28. The object of the Confederate Comrades is to promote the general welfare of the soldiers and to insist on the Legislature appropriating additional sums for the support of the disabled veterans.

The explosion of a barrel of whisky in the big warehouse of the Chautauqua Lake Ice Company in Pittsburg, Pa., on Oct. 27, caused the destruction of $500,000 worth of property, and serious injury to eight persons. Several of the injured, it is feared, will die. A score or more others sustained slight cuts and bruises.

The United States Senate, after one of the most remarkable and memorable parliamentary battles of a generation, passed the bill unconditionally repealing the purchase clause of the Sherman silver law, at 7:26 P. M., on Oct. 30, by a vote of 43 to 32. The end was reached after a continuous session of fourteen days, after sixty-one days of debate.

Officials of the marine hospital service are much gratified by the success which has attended the quarantine against cholera this year. With regard to yellow fever they say that the experience at Brunswick, Ga., demonstrates the practicability of confining the disease within certain limits by a quarantine cordon, and they are greatly encouraged by the results of the thorough system of sanitation which was enforced at that place.

The professors of the Boys' High School in this city are preparing to strike for higher salaries. It will not be a strike which will cause any interruption in the daily curriculum of the school work, but a formal call upon the School Board, and a manly, decided protest against the low rate of salaries paid the assistant professors in the Boys' High School as compared with the salaries of high school teachers in other cities, and the salaries paid the lady teachers in the high schools here.

It is reported from Washington that Prof. Hazen, of the United States Weather Service, will shortly make an attempt to cross the Atlantic in a balloon. He proposes to use a machine built of "gold-beater's skin," which is impervious to gas, and thus will obviate the principal impediment to prolonged aerial voyages. The balloon will not be very large, having a capacity of 100,000 feet of gas, will be charged with hydrogen, the lightest of known gases, and will be capable of lifting about 7,000 pounds.

Action looking toward a possible practical enforcement of the Monroe doctrine in the South Atlantic was taken by the administration on Oct. 28. Another war vessel will be sent to Rio de Janeiro. Two are already there. The government has given heed to rumors of the intention of certain foreign countries to take a hand in the settlement of the present Brazilian difficulties, and that if emergencies required it, it would be necessary to a successful demonstration of the government's wishes with respect to non-intervention that the country be represented by an additional number of ships at Rio.

FOREIGN.

President Carnot went to Toulon on Oct. 27 to return the visit which the Russian sailors made to Paris, and to be present at the launching of a new battleship at Seine, three miles from Toulon.

The foreign trade of the German Empire for the first nine months of the year shows a decided improvement on 1892. The imports diminished 111,000,000 marks, while the exports increased 166,000,000 marks.

The remains of Gounod, the great composer, were buried on Oct. 27 with full civic and military honors. Present at the funeral were all the celebrities in the arts and sciences who could possibly manage to come to Paris for the occasion.

The long and elaborate series of fetes, which have marked in bright letters upon the pages of France's history the visit of the Czar's sailors to that republic, are at an end, and the Russian fleet is preparing to weigh anchor for other waters.

The German press regarded Franco-Russian fetes with indifference. The North German Gazette declares that it affords Germany no ground for anxiety, as it has long been well known that Russia can rely upon the friendship and army of France, should a necessity for their aid arise.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

The Best Tonic Known, furnishing sustenance to both brain and body.

Bentonville Station.

Dr. B. Carradine has been with us ten days in a meeting. The Lord came in great power and saved sinners and sanctified more than a hundred believers. I never witnessed such a meeting in all my life. When the Doctor began preaching exclusively on sanctification as a second blessing, it was prophesied that he would split the church, but instead of splitting he united, by God's help. That word sanctification is no more a reproach in the Methodist Churches in Bentonville. Shout after shout rang in the walls of the old brick church, and one day I saw nearly all in the church shouting at once. My own precious wife got the blessing of entire sanctification and testified to the same. Our little daughter Pearl, just ten years old, was regenerated, and stood up and witnessed to same by saying in words like these: "I am not sanctified, but I am pardoned." A young lady who is staying with us at the parsonage went to the altar one night, got saved, and a few nights after went back and got perfect love.

The meeting reached some of the other churches in town—several in the Missionary Baptist and still more in Cumberland and M. E. Churches. One Free Will Baptist preacher and his wife got gloriously sanctified. Rev. Jas. A. Walden came from Ozark station, got this precious blessing and shouted in the old-fashioned way. The meeting reached the court-house, it is said, for the first time. The county judge and county clerk with their wives got the blessing of sanctification.

My precious Bro. Ketchen, pastor of the M. E. Church, stood by us in the meeting, testified to the blessing, and was rewarded by seeing his wife get the second blessing. One sweet girl prayed that she might get sanctified in capital letters. You will understand why she prayed so, when I tell you the fight now is over the word sanctify. One blind woman got saved most wonderfully; said she got the second blessing by sense of touch.

My people are drawn closer to me than ever. The meeting still goes on, and souls are getting justified and sanctified at every meeting since Dr. Carradine left.

And now, in conclusion, what shall I say of Dr. Carradine? He is perfectly dead to the world, and carries about him a spiritual atmosphere that makes one know he is a prophet of God. He is a polished diamond, as gentle as a dove and as meek as a lamb. He never used slang, did not say a harsh or hard word. He so preached and acted that the adversaries could find no fault except the doctrine which he preached. A very judicious man indeed. May God bless him always!—B. C. Matthews, in Arkansas Methodist.

Hall's Hair Renewer cures dandruff and scalp affections; also all cases of baldness where the glands which feed the roots of the hair are not closed up.

Plans of Episcopal Visitation, 1893-94.

FIRST DISTRICT—BISHOP KEENER.

Tennessee Conference—At Lebanon, Tenn., Oct. 18.
Arkansas Conference—Clarksville, Ark., Nov. 22.
Little Rock Conference—At Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 6.
White River Conference—At Jonesboro, Ark., Dec. 13.

SECOND DISTRICT—BISHOP WILSON.

West Texas Conference—At Beeville, Tex. Nov. 1.
German Mission Conference—At Grangeville, Tex., Nov. 9.
Northwest Texas Conference—At Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15.
North Texas Conference—At Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 29.

THIRD DISTRICT—BISHOP GRANBERY.

Virginia Conference—At Danville, Va., Nov. 22.
Baltimore Conference—At Fredericksburg, Va., March 22.

FOURTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HARGROVE.

Illinois Conference—At Nashville, Ill., Oct. 5.
North Mississippi Conference—At Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29.
South Carolina Conference—At Sumter, S. C., Dec. 6.
Alabama Conference—At Opelika, Ala., Dec. 13.

FIFTH DISTRICT—BISHOP DUNCAN.

Holston Conference—At Broad Street Church, Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 11.
North Alabama Conference—At Talladega, Ala., Nov. 15.
Western North Carolina Conference—At Tyron Street Church, Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 29.
North Carolina Conference—At Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 6.

SIXTH DISTRICT—BISHOP GALLOWAY.

Memphis Conference—At Central Church, Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 29.
South Georgia Conference—At Dawson, Ga., Dec. 13.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HENDRIX.

Northwest Mexican Conference—El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.
Central Mexico Conference—City of Mexico, Nov. 15.
Mexican Border Mission Conference—Monterey, Mexico, Nov. 22.
Texas Conference—Navasota, Tex., Nov. 30.
East Texas Conference—At Orange, Tex., Dec. 7.

EIGHTH DISTRICT—BISHOP KEY.

China Mission Conference—At Shanghai, Oct. 18.
Indian Mission Conference—At Vinita, I. T., Nov. 1.
Mississippi Conference—At Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 7.
Louisiana Conference—At Homer, La., Dec. 14.

NINTH DISTRICT—BISHOP HAYGOOD.

North Georgia Conference—At Gainesville Ga., Nov. 29.
Florida Conference—At Palatka, Fla., Jan. 3.

TENTH DISTRICT—BISHOP FITZGERALD.

Los Angeles Conference—At Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.
Pacific Conference—At Fresno, Cal., Oct. 11.

FROM THE WORK.

Continued from First Page.

Mrs. R. R. Parker, Fannin circuit, Mississippi Conference: "The protracted meeting at Andrew Chapel is over, in the human way of counting events, with four accessions to the church. Bro. Caldwell, the pastor, was ably assisted by Bros. Griffin, of Pelahatchie, and Paul Hardin, of Clarksburg. Not in years has such a revival swept over this church and community. Owing to sickness and harvesting of crops, the attendance each day was small, but at the night services the attendance was good, and seekers of religion crowded around the altar."

Rev. H. W. Knickerbocker, Bastrop, La., Oct. 24: "Closed an eight days' meeting here in Bastrop, Sunday night, with good results. Membership revived; about 35 professed conversion; 23 accessions to the churches (14 to Methodist, and 9 to Baptist), and prospect of more to follow. My brother was with me and did the preaching. Have received altogether 25 members this year. Have built and finished, except painting, a church in Mer Rouge according to Plan No. 102 of Church Extension Board. Auditorium 34x50 feet, and seating capacity of 250. Two lots in desirable locality were donated. Our title is perfect. Actual cost of church building will be about $1,700. Finances are at a very low ebb. God bless the work."

Rev. M. H. Moore: "We closed a ten days' meeting at Columbia, on Oct. 16; Revs. M. L. Burton and W. M. Sullivan, of the Mississippi Conference, assisting. The children's meetings were instructive and effective. The church was more revived than it has been in four years. Several new family altars erected. Fourteen were added to the church on profession of faith. Two others applied, but were not present to be received. We leave a neat little parsonage, moderately well furnished, for our successor. There has been steady and permanent growth all the while. Three neat new churches have been built. Finances have looked up some. The salary of the preacher has advanced from $350 to $600. Counting what we have in sight for this year, about $5,500 have been raised for all purposes in the four years. The membership has been steadily growing. Ninety-eight children have been baptized. One hundred and eighty-seven have been added to the church by profession and otherwise. Twelve years ago there was not and had never been a church in Columbia. There was only one Methodist Church within fifteen miles of this place. Now there are seven Methodist Churches in that distance of this place. I verily believe Methodism is in this country to stay. Whoever has this charge another year will have a kind people to serve."

NOTES BY A PRESIDING ELDER.

In holding the Newton and Hickory Quarterly Conference, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, we were pleased to see a circuit in such complete condition in its material work. Both church-houses renovated this year. At Hickory it was dedicated in the Spring by Bishop Galloway. At Newton the church now has a steeple and Gothic roof, and has a stylish and modern appearance, at a cost of about eight hundred dollars. The parsonage looks complete. The study in the parsonage yard has told a good tale for itself in the last three years. As a rule, a charge ought to have some enterprise on foot to prevent stagnation. Let there be great improvement, spiritually, and in the general enterprises of the church. Bro. Morse writes me to-day that his collections will all be full.

Decatur circuit is taking on new life. It embraces a good farming country, and is likely to be one of the most pleasant charges in the district. The parsonage has been paid for, except a small sum.

The fourth Quarterly Conference for Neshoba circuit was held at Mars Hill. I preached the sermon and dedicated the church here on the fifth instant. Bro. Mars was, as usual, happy in the Lord. The brethren say the parsonage must be paid for. The prospects are brightening on all lines. Bro. Foreman, the preacher in charge, is, to all appearances, here for the four years' term.

We have held six Quarterly Conferences on the fourth round, and there is no one in sight for admission on trial in the itinerancy.

October 21 and 22 were spent at Lawrence holding the fourth quarterly meeting for Lake circuit. On Sabbath we dedicated the new church here. It is of modern style, costing $1,500, and is a thing of beauty. The collection at the dedicatory services footed up, in round numbers, $125. Bro. Wilt and his people are entitled to much credit for this church. I do not know that I ever saw a better result, considering the small number of members and the stringency in finances. They are justly proud of their new church. The circuit parsonage has been repaired and improved at a cost of two hundred dollars. The prospect is good that all of the assessments will be in full.

C. McDONALD.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

The Temps, of Paris, commenting upon President Cleveland's attitude upon the silver question, says that by resisting to the uttermost "Mr. Cleveland will render a great service to the business world, and at the same time be will help to modify the constitutional equilibrium of the United States by transforming the members of his Cabinet into quasi-parliamentary leaders. This is the most serious innovation involved in the financial crisis."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bay St. Louis, at B. St. Louis	Nov. 4, 5
Augusta, at Augusta*	4, 5
Columbia, at Columbia	11, 12
Mt. Carmel....(Mon. night and Tu.)	13, 14
Williamsburg, at Williamsburg (Wed.)	15
Covington, at C. (Fri. and Sun. P. M.)	17, 18
Tallahoek, at Fitzgerald....(morn.)	18, 19
Purvis, at Purvis....(Mon., 7 P. M.)	20
Ellisville, at Ellisville..(Wed. P. M.)	22
Heidelberg, at Liberty*	24, 25
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie	26, 27
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg..(Tu.)	28
E. Pearl, at Byrd's Chapel*	18, 19

At charges marked (*) I will try to secure help for the Sunday appointment. As in God's sight, let all do their duty in winding up the work of the year. The burden of a deficit will be more easily borne by several hundred than by a few.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.
Hattiesburg, Miss.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bowerton, at Rehoboth	Nov. 4, 5
Terry, at Spring Ridge	7
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	11
Adams circuit, at Adams	12, 13
Holmesville and Tupisaw, at H.	17
China Grove, at China Grove	18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman	21
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman	23, 26
Providence	30
Hazlehurst (night)	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard	Dec. 2, 3
Wesson	2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Fayette, at Fayette	Nov. 4, 5
Sunflower, at Sunflower (Wed.)	8
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork (Thu.)	9
Warren, at Oak Ridge	11, 12
Meadville, at Meadville	13, 13
Mayersville	25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga (Fri.)	Dec. 1
Hermanville	2, 3
Port Gibson (Tues.)	5

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Yazoo circuit, at Fletcher Chapel	Nov. 4, 5
Madison, at Wesley Chapel (Wed.)	8
Camden, at Shrock	11, 12
Bolton, at Bolton (Wed.)	15
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas (Sat.)	18
Jackson—First Church	18
Jackson—Capitol Street	19
Flora (Wed.)	22
Benton, at Midway	23, 26
Tranquil, at Zeiglerville	26, 27
Canton	Dec 2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

North Kemper cir., at Wellen. (Wed.)	Nov. 1
DeKalb circuit, at Pt. Ridge	4, 5
Binnsville, at Scooba (Tues.)	7
Lauderdale (Thurs.)	8
Why Not circuit	11, 12
Chunky circuit (Thurs.)	13
Marion circuit	18, 19
Meridian—West End	25, 26
Meridian—Central. (Sun. and Mon.)	Dec. 3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Qaes 23. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Qaes. 18. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up full collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Trenton, at Trenton	Nov. 2
Clarksburg, at Liberty	4, 5
Morton and Forest, at Morton	6
Fannin, at Fannin	10
Brandon station	11, 12
Montrose, at Montrose	13
Raleigh, at Raleigh	15, 13
Shiloh, at Cato	24
Marvin, at Westerana	25, 26
Westville, at Goshen	28
Homewood, at Zion Grove	Dec. 2, 3

C. McDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Wilkinson, at Bethel	Nov. 4, 5
Bayou Sara, at Star Hill	11, 12
St. Helena, at Center	13, 13
E. Feliciana, at Gilead	25, 26
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel	30
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Dec. 2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City	3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Louisville circuit, at Louisville	Nov. 4, 5
Rural Hill circuit, at Rural Hill	5, 6
Wier circuit, at Pisgah	10
Chester circuit, at Ackerman	11, 12
Kosciusko circuit, at Salem	13, 13
Eupora circuit, at Walthall	25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the allowances.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pheba	Nov. 4, 5
Sparta	11, 12
Mashulaville	17
Shuqualak	18, 19
Macon	18, 23
Hebron	23

T. C. WEBB, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Red Banks circuit, at Wesley	Nov. 4, 5
Mt. Pleasant circuit, at New Salem	11, 12
Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia	18, 19
East Holly Springs, at Lamar	25, 26

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Chapel Hill	Nov. 4, 5
Pittsboro (Tues.)	7
Abbeville	11, 12
Grenada circuit	18, 19
Water Valley circuit (Sat.)	25
Water Valley station	26, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Morgansville mission	Nov. 4, 5
Cockrum, at Green Leaf	11, 12
Wall Hill	18, 19
Panola	23, 25

If stewards and pastors will address themselves faithfully and constantly to their respective duties, salaries and connectional collections will be paid in full. Brethren, the Lord and the church expects everyone to do their duty.

H. O. MORRHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tremont	Nov. 4, 5
Okolona circuit	8
Houston and Wesley	11, 12
Athens	18, 19
Buena Vista	25, 26

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Black Hawk	Nov. 4, 5
Valden	11, 12
West	13
Carrollton circuit	18, 19
Winona circuit	25, 26

B. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lyon	Nov. 5
Winterville	12
Friar's Point	13
Greenville	26

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine, at Donaldson	Nov. 12
Carrollton (Tues.)	14
Gretna (Thurs.)	16
Baton Rouge	18
Parker Chapel (Tues.)	21
Morean (Thurs.)	23
Gross Tete, at Harmony	24
Dryades (Tues.)	28
Lower Coast (Thurs.)	30
Algiers (Sun. morning.)	Dec. 3
Craps (Sun. evening)	3
Louisiana Avenue (Mon.)	4
Carondelet (Tues.)	5
Felicity (Thurs.)	7
Rayne Memorial (Fri.)	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lecompte, at Lecompte	Nov. 4, 5
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill	11, 12
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground	13, 13
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec. 2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville	2, 13

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards hustle themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel	Nov. 4, 5
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	11, 12
Minden, at Minden	13, 13
Haynesville, at White Hall	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps	Dec. 2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	8, 10
Ruston station	13, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia	13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Caddo, at Keachie	Nov. 4, 5
Shreveport station and mission	11, 12
Victoria mission, at Victoria	13, 13
Cane River, at Provencal	18, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh	21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove	23, 24
Many, at Many	26, 28
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	29, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec. 2, 3
Mansfield station	8, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 23. (I include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamans, Midkiff, and Wood's Schoolhouse.)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge.

The District Sabbath-school Convention meets at Robeline, Oct. 26, at 10 A. M. Arrangements will be made for entertaining the delegates.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 9 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

The trustees of Pierce and Paine College property are requested to meet at Marthaville, Oct. 28.

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.
329 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Calhoun, at Mt. Ariel	Nov. 4, 5
Harrisonburg, at Isaac	11, 12
Lapius, at Frantoma C.	13, 13
Lake Providence	25, 26
Waterproof	Dec. 2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd	8, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Patterson and Morgan City	Nov. 4, 5
Lake Charles—E. Street	11, 12
Jackson Street and W. Lake	12, 13
Grand Chenier	13, 13
Sulphur Mine	25, 26
Lake Arthur	Dec. 2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

Louisiana Conference Rules, etc.

Messrs. W. B. Thomson and S. E. McCutcheon have charge of transportation matters and will report in time.

Class of the fourth year will meet on Wednesday morning, at 9:30., Dec. 13.

All persons not members of the Conference who expect to attend, must give me timely notice of their coming.

J. A. PARKER.
Homer, La.

In view of the sensational reports circulated persistently in regard to the health of Prince Bismarck, the London agent of the Associated Press has caused special inquiries to be made at Friedrichsruhe last week. The result is that the Associated Press is authorized to state that the alarming stories about Prince Bismarck and the bad condition of his health were unfounded. The Prince is in a good state of health, and is able to take daily walks.

Could the youth to whom the flavor of the first wine is delicious look upon my desolation; could he but feel the body of death with which I cry hourly, it were enough to make him dash the sparkling beverage to the earth in all the pride of its mantling temptation.—Charles Lamb.

MANLY PURITY

To cleanse the blood, skin, and scalp of every eruption, impurity, and disease, whether simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or ulcerative, no agency in the world is so speedy, economical, and unfailing as the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier and greatest of humor remedies. In a word, they are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, and may be used in the treatment of every humor and disease, from eczema to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unfailing success. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORP., Boston.
"How to Cure Blood Humors" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough hands and falling hair cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. Price, 25c.

XMAS DIALOGUES, Pieces to Speak and how to get up Fascinating Sunday School Entertainments—all in SKIDMORE & CO., 65 John St., N. Y.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in town or trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 10 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI O.

MY WIFE SAYS SHE CANNOT GET ALONG WITHOUT IT. WILL YOU DO IT FOR THE SAKE OF PEACE?

$12 Buys a $65.00 Improved Oak 4 Drawer Sewing Machine; perfect working, reliable, finely finished, adapted to light or heavy work, with a complete set of the latest improved attachments free. Each machine guaranteed for 5 years. Buy direct from our factory and save dealers and agents profit. Send for FREE CATALOGUE. OXFORD MFG. COMPANY, DEPT T-2, CHICAGO, ILL.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades,

Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets,

Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright. Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

WANTED.

By a young man, now in the West, employment in the South, as bookkeeper, salesman or at any honest, honorable work, either in town or country. Address, stating wages given and duties required,

MRS. ELLEN E. HEBRON,
No. 400 North Street, Jackson, Miss.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures.

WM. B. HINES.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 300 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $630 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

No Tobacco, NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach CATARRH thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. Dr. J. W. BLOOMER & CO., DALTON GA.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 45. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1942.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE SECRET OF A HAPPY DAY.

BY FRANCES RIDLEY HAVERGAL.

Just to let thy Father do
What he will;
Just to know that he is true
And he still.
Just to follow hour by hour
As he leadeth;
Just to draw the moment's power
As it needeth.
Just to trust him, that is all!
Then the day will surely be Peaceful, whatsoe'er befall,
Bright and blessed, calm and free.

Just to let him speak to thee
Through his Word,
Watching, that his voice may be
Clearly heard.
Just to tell him everything
As it rises,
And at once to him to bring
All surprises.
Just to listen, and to stay
Where you can not miss his voice.
That is all! and thus to-day,
Communing, you shall rejoice.

Just to trust, and yet to ask Guidance still;
Take the training or the task,
As he will.
Just to take the loss or gain,
As he sends it;
Just to take the joy or pain,
As he lends it.
He who formed thee for his praise
Will not miss the gracious aim;
So to-day and all thy days
Shall be moulded for the same.

Just to leave in his dear hand
Little things;
All we can not understand,
All that stings.
Just to let him take the care
Sorely pressing,
Finding all we let him bear
Changed to blessing.
This is all! and yet the way
Marked by him who loves the best;
Secret of a happy day,
Secret of his promised rest.

...s of Bishop Chas. B. Galloway at the ...eral of Rev. Dr. J. J. Wheat, at Sardis, ... Miss., Nov. 3, 1893.

...ave come to join with this vast ...regation, and the larger throng ...ghout the State of Mississippi to- ...wherever the news of his unex- ...d death has flown, in paying a ...fnl heart-tribute to a rarely gifted ...oly man. Great were his gifts, ...d was his outlnre, profound was ...holarship, noble was his oharac- ...nd triumphant was his death. He ...modestly, wrought righteously, ...lled gloriously. Our most elo- ... preacher has hushed his thrill- ...ice; our greatest Greek scholar ...acated his honored chair; our ...onnselor has closed his apostolio ...; onr friend and brother has ...d from onr grasp his nerveless

But the echoes of that eloquent ... will never cease; the pupils of ...wise teacher will perpetuate his ... the brethren of that fallen com- ...will emulate his evangelical la- ...nd reincarnate his noble spirit. ...me this death comes as a personal ...vement. For three years I sat at ...et as a student, and during the ... period I attended his eloquent ...ry. But he was more to me than ...er and pastor—he was my gener- ...appreciative, helpful, life-long ... For the interest he manifested ... from young boyhood, for the in- ...e he exerted over me in the ...tive period of my life, and for ...indly, fatherly encouragement ... through all the subsequent, la- ...s years, I shall ever honor his ...ns memory and give ceaseless ... to the God whom he so nobly ..., and in whose grace he so ...ly triumphed.

...hout venturing upon the details ... long and laborious life, or trac- ...inutely the steps of his minis- ...career, or analyzing all the gifts ...istinguishing characteristics of ...eat soul, I shall barely mention a ...sons we may emulate, and a few ... we may imitate. Thus the hon- ...lead will loudly speak to us, and ...dly life will not go out, but for- ...o on.

Dr. Wheat was an example to ...g young manhood. Difficulties ...t daunt him—defeat did not de- ...m. Reared in the country, where ...ducational advantages were of- ... he determined, if possible, to ...ghly equip himself for the great ...f life. Inheriting an active and ...e mind from his unusually gift- ...ther, he had her warmest sym- ... in this laudable ambition. Out ...r modest income she sustained ...t college, while she encouraged ... noble aspiration, urged on every ...ous impulse, stimulated every ...g energy, and daily prayed for ...dviuely directed success of her ...nt boy. Nor was the expendi- ...ture of self-denial and motherly sym- pathy misapplied. He was eagerly ap- preciative of every opportunity, and rigidly employed every precious, fly- ing moment for the enrichment and usefulness of his later life and minis- try. By dint of tireless toil he became a scholar of vast attainments and a preacher of connectional fame. From a devout, but obscure, home came an accomplished and mighty prophet of God, whose name will ever shine con- spicuously in the annals of earth and the chronicles of the skies.

(2) Dr. Wheat had the tenderest sym- pathy with struggling young manhood. This was born of divine grace and his own vivid experience. Many a poor Mississippi boy has been encouraged to secure a collegiate education, and has been generously aided therein, by the noble man we bury to-day. He had a quick eye to discern the possi- bilities of a crude, uncultured youth— the prophetic brilliancy of a rough diamond—and he had a ready hand to assist in his training, in shaping the facets that were to flash with eternal splendor.

(3) He was, in a marked degree, a modest man. Though self-respecting, and not unmindful of the great gifts with which God had dowered, he was never obtrusive, or a seeker after con- spicuous place. He shrank from pub- licity, and never courted responsibil- ity. His was a meek and quiet spirit. He would have preferred a country chapel to a city cathedral. And often, when he declined urgent invitations to preach on great occasions, it was be- cause of an excessive modesty that al- most became timidity.

(4) Dr. Wheat had breadth of soul. Singularly free from narrow preju- dices, he never harbored revenges. If he had enemies, their characters were perfectly safe in his hands, and he had grace to discover and appreciate their virtues. Great is the man who can discern and applaud the good in an enemy! And to this generous charity and broad catholicity he united a large mental hospitality. He was, therefore, neither a bigot in religion, nor a dog- matist in thought, nor a partisan in politics. While subscribing heartily to the creed of his church, he was never a sectarian or a fanatic. He analyzed clearly and grasped great thoughts with a firm, unwavering hand, but was never intolerant in opinion or imperi- ous in their assertion. As a citizen, he was a patriot rather than a partisan, loving his whole country and proud of her wonderful history.

(5) Dr. Wheat was a great preacher. Without the graces of an elocutionist, he had all the elements of a great ora- tor—nervous energy, warm sympathy, a rich vocabulary, an oriental imagin- ation, power of striking statement, and a voice of finest tone and volume. When he was stirred with a great theme every splendid power seemed to be on fire, and his eloquence was sub- lime. Then his voice, musical as a flute, swept every sensibility of the soul, and his magnificent thoughts, expressed in peerless periods, waked every noble impulse and thrilled every manly purpose. The late Mr. Justice Lamar, who never missed an opportu- nity to attend his ministry, once said there was more eloquence in the tremor of Dr. Wheat's hand than in the voice of any other man he ever heard. His pathos was irresistible. Hard was the heart and insensible the nature that could not be moved to tears under his pathetic appeals.

His sermons were made on original models. He was no imitator of any pulpit master, and no repeater of oth- ers' sayings, however eloquent and brilliant. Out of his own vast treas- ures of learning and his own profound spiritual experience, he talked of the deep things of God, and swayed great congregations by the authority of his imperial eloquence. Traditions of his wonderful sermons to eager thousands on camp meeting and other occasions will linger for generations among us.

There was a strange charm in his abandon of manner, when his face was lit up with the glow of his thoughts and his whole frame was tremulous with the fervor and power of his mes- sage. Then his awkwardness became the perfection of grace, and his seem- ing indifference—his forgetfulness of self—was the soul of a burning zeal and transparent sincerity. He put honor upon the ministry by never bringing unbeaten oil into the sanctu- ary.

(6) Dr. Wheat was a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. He had sounded its awful depths and felt its fearful shadows. But these bitter ex- periences left no stain upon his gener- ous spirit, no cloud on his sunny heart, no eclipse of his radiant faith. Out of fire and tempest he came with an un- dimmed hope, and an unfaltering pur- pose, and an unclouded sky. No trouble or disappointment ever soured the sweetness of his spirit, or dried up the fountains of his unstinted benevo- lence. He loved everybody, and had hope for humanity. He preached a gospel of hope, and was himself an evangel of good-will to men.

Of our brother's praying spirit and habit, his daily and devout study of God's Word, his constant and close walking with his Lord, his rejoicing in the sublime verities of the Christian's faith, and the scenes connected with his triumph over death and his glori- ous translation, I must forbear to speak. For several years past he has read almost daily the seraphic writings of Thomas a Kempis. In private con- versation and in pulpit ministration he delighted to quote and commend his heaven-inspired words.

A great and good man has fallen on sleep—an "angel of the church" has gone to his higher throne. May we all meet and greet him in that home of the soul!

The Duty of Giving.

The Christian church of the present day has few more graceful pens than that of Canon Farrar. The following article written by him a few months since we commend to our readers:

This is a subject of grave impor- tance, of serious difficulty, of great distastefulness to most people. For that very reason it is one which we ought to face, and to face seriously as in the sight of God, since it is un- doubtedly one of the duties, and one of the too much neglected duties, of life. I am speaking to the poor as well as the rich, and I beg my poorer readers to bear in mind that the spirit and principle of every word that I say ap- ply quite as strongly to them as to their wealthier brethren. In point of fact, the highest eulogy which our blessed Lord proclaimed on any act of charity was given to that poor widow who did but cast in two mites, which make one farthing. It was, He said, a greater gift than that of the rich donors, for it was all that she had. Her gift left her no margin; their gifts still leave them a boundless superfluity. To all, then, rich and poor alike, the rule is "to do good, and to communi- cate, forget not;" to all the exhorta- tion, "Be merciful after thy power: if thou hast much, give plenteously: if thou hast little, give gladly of that lit- tle;" to all the assurance, "He that giveth to the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and, look, that which he layeth out He will pay him again;" to all the promise, "He that soweth plentifully shall reap plentifully;" to all the warn- ing, "There is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth only to poverty." We profess to reverence the Bible as our rule of life, but the Bible is full from end to end of the duty of giving back to God of that which is his, though for a brief space he has lent it to us. We profess to take Christ as our example, but Christ not only insisted again and again on this duty, but it lay at the very centre of his whole earthly sacrifice. The poor man, Christ Jesus, gave warning after warning to the rich, and con- demns the selfishness of poverty as distinctly as the luxury of wealth.

May I, then, ask everyone of us to take seriously to heart the duty of fac- ing this question for himself; of ask- ing himself, not perfunctorily or self- deceivingly, but with simplicity and sincerity, Am I, on any reasonable es- timate—am I, even with every allow- ance for family cares and duties, really free from that love of money which is a root of all kinds of evil? Am I too selfishly squandering on personal com- forts, or am I too eagerly hoarding for family ends? Am I in God's sight, who sees truly, among the mean, the greedy, the niggardly, like churlish Nabal, who refused to recognize even just claims; like luxurious Dives, too self-absorbed even to notice the misery which lay unpitied at his gate? Or am I, by God's grace, of the nobler few who are not unconscious of the neigh- borhood of misery, not swathed and surfeited in gross indulgence of self? Am I one of the liberal souls who de- vise liberal things; one of those who shall experience the beatitude of Him that considereth the poor, of those who have a bountiful eye, of those who remember the words of the Lord Jesus, "It is more blessed to give than to re- ceive?"

Irresponsible wealth! My friends, do not be deceived; there is no such thing. The owner of wealth is respon- sible absolutely and always. He may bury his talent in the earth, or in the consols, but he will have to give an ac- count of the uttermost farthing. How shall we give an account of this awful stewardship? The very word "stew- ard" is absolutely meaningless, if it does not mean that we have to render an account. To whom? Ask your- selves whether the thought that we are accountable to God, who can not be deceived, with whom excuses become speechless, to whom no shams can be palmed off, ought not, if indeed we have grace to be faithful, to be "a prevalent motive of almost incalcula- ble power, entering into the secrets and recesses of our lives."

What ought we to give? You know that Jacob, in his vow to God, said, "Of all that thou givest me, I will surely give back the tenth unto thee." That was the rule of Moses in the Jew- ish legislation. It is still kept by all faithful Jews, and kept so strictly that they do not regard this tenth as be- longing to themselves at all. Their charities begin where the tenth ends. Now, the gospel lays down no hard- and-fast rule. It only bids each man give "as God hath prospered him;" "according as he is disposed in his heart;" cheerfully, with a willing mind. But is Christianity meant to make us more free at the cost of mak- ing us more selfish? If the lower law has been annulled, it has been so only by "a more searching, constraining, peremptory law—a law which has its roots in nature, a law older than the Decalogue," the law of Christian char- ity and Christian generosity. And yet do we give as much as the ancient Jews?—or is most of our wealth coag- ulated in the slimy and stagnant pools of selfishness, from which no rill dri- bbles to fertilize the barren and misera- ble plains? Nothing is more certain than that as a nation—which means that in countless individual cases—we do not give adequately, and that the rich, and the very rich, who would feel it least, give, as a rule, least adequate- ly.

It is sad, it is humiliating, to think how much more fascinating to most of us is the love of gold than the love of God!—how very few of us are capable of the effort of honoring ourselves by honoring God!—how few of us will trust him with a loan, as though he were a creditor who, we fear, will not repay!—how few of us really believe in the promises which he has pro- nounced upon those sacrifices of the cheerful giver, with which he is well pleased! Read in the thirty-fifth chap- ter of Exodus how the desert Israelites poured forth their gifts for the taber- nacle; how the women took off and gave their brooches and ear rings and armlets; how every man that offered offered gold a free-will offering unto the Lord. Will ye see that ye abound in this grace also? Will you, like them, thank God that you have (as, indeed, you have) the means, and, what is better than the means, the will to offer willingly? Life is fleeting; opportunity is short; the needs are great; the Master presses. Then, while you have life, and health, and means, give to God that which is his.

Give, and it shall be given unto you. There is that scattereth and yet in- creaseth; there is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing; there is that withholdeth more than is meet, and it tendeth only to poverty.

The Soul Satisfied.

BY ALEXANDER MACLAREN.

No sorrow, nor anxiety, nor care, nor need for vigilance against danger ought to check the praise that may come, and should come, from a heart in touch with God and a soul satisfied in him. It is a hard lesson for some of us to learn, but it is a lesson the learn- ing of which will be full of blessedness. There is a bird common in our north- ern districts which people call the storm-cock, because his note always rings out cheeriest in tempestuous weather. That is the kind of music that the Christian's heart should make, responding, like an Æolian harp, to the tempest's breath by music, and filling the night with praise. It is pos- sible for us, even before sorrow and sighing have fled away, to be pilgrims on the road, "with everlasting joy upon our heads."

The soul that is satisfied ought to adhere with tenacity to the source that satisfies it. With such absorbed, all- sacrificing devotion and clinging te- nacity ought our souls to grapple and hold fast by God, as the ivy to the tree, as the limpet to its rock—clinging to him with will, affections, thought, and by the direction of the practical life, and the recognition of him as present in all our distracting work and cir- cumstances. From him, and from him only, comes the true satisfaction of our souls; and if thus our hearts are fed on God, will not the very blessedness of that fruition be such as to ensure our cleaving to him? There will be no temptation for a man to wander away from that source of all good. I have found all that I need. Why should I search any further? The dove folds its pinions when it reaches the ark, and needs no more to wing its weary way over sullen waters, vainly search- ing for a resting-place. Nomad tribes, when they find themselves in some rich valley, unload their camels and pitch their tents, and say, "Here will we dwell, for the land is good." And so we, if we have made experience, as we may, of God and his sweet suffi- ciency, and sufficient sweetness, should be delivered from temptation to go further and fare worse. And then this clinging resulting from satisfaction is accompanied with earnest seeking for still more of the infinite good. In other regions, and when directed to other objects, satisfaction is apt to pass into satiety in us, because the creature that satisfies us is limited. But when we turn ourselves to God there can be no satiety in us, because there can be no exhaustion of that which is in him. The cup that he gives us to drink when our souls thirst has nothing cloying in its sweetness, but rather a taste that stimulates to deeper draughts of the same. So the two opposing blessed- nesses—the blessedness of search that is sure of finding, and the blessedness of finding, which is calm repose—are united in the Christian experience. And we may, at every moment, have all we want given to us, and by the very gift our capacity, and, therefore, our longings, be increased. Thus, in wondrous alternation, satisfaction and thirst beget each other, and each pos- sesses some of the other's sweetness.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. Thomas B. Clifford, Cleveland, Miss., Oct. 28: "Two weeks after our revival here we organized an Epworth League with thirty-seven members, and already it has done good work."

Rev. E. P. Craddock, Elizey, Miss., Oct. 27: "We give, in condensed form, our work for Cherry Hill circuit up to date: Sermons preached, 144; pas- toral visits, 162; conversions, 146; joined our church, 102; our converts joined the Baptist, 30. Filled all my appointments up to date. Collections in sight."

Rev. H. R. Singleton, Jackson, La., Oct. 30: "Our meeting closed Friday last, with altar full of penitents. The church is greatly revived. Every boy at the college, save two or three, are converted, and nearly all belong now to the church. Y. M. C. A. is flourish- ing; Sunday-school largely attended; some twenty-odd joined the church. We know of about forty conversions. Thirty-five or forty joined during the year. It is the best meeting we have had here for years. Still the work moves on. Sunday was a red-letter day."

Rev. J. G. Sibley, P. C., Cato, Miss., Oct. 26: "Shiloh circuit, in Brandon district, Mississippi Conference, has had some fine revivals, both last year and this. Our late camp meeting on sacred old grounds of Shiloh was a decided success as a revival of pure re- ligion. The spiritual state of the charge is greatly improved. There has been much serious sickness among the people this year. We have lost by death two of our best and most useful men. George W. Warren, who was said to be the best steward on the cir- cuit, died in August, and Samuel J. Crook, one of the purest and most lov- able of men, died in September. Finances are badly behind, but we ex- pect to make, at least, as good report as we did last year, all things consid- ered."

Rev. H. R. Caldwell, P. C., Fannin circuit, Mississippi Conference: "We have closed our round of protracted meetings. Not many accessions, but a general forward move. We feel thank- ful for the presence and power of the Lord, and thankful for the presence and help of Bros. J. N. Tucker, C. C. Griffin, P. Hardin, and J. M. Morse. Finances are distressingly low."

Rev. H. M. Banks, Dry Creek charge, Louisiana Conference, Oct. 10: "Al- though my health has not been good and I have not been able to obtain any ministerial aid, we have held three meetings of interest since my last re- port, resulting in the baptism of nine children, five adults, and six received into the church on profession of faith, with a gracious influence in the church. Finances are low, owing to hard times, but we have been able to move twice since Conference, and are now domi- ciled in the new parsonage at Dry Creek in the midst of a kind and gen- erous people."

Rev. W. W. Morse, Gallman circuit, Miss., Nov. 2: "I have just closed a meeting at Fair Play School-house, as- sisted by Rev. J. W. McNeal, of the local ranks. We have no church or- ganization at this place, but being asked to preach a night or two for the benefit of some who could not get to church, we complied, and from the first service the Lord was with us in convicting, converting and sanctifying power. Twenty-one joined the church, and seven children baptized. Men came out to hear the Word who have not been to church for more than ten years. One man joined the church who is about sixty, another past forty; two men and their families, and all seeking a higher life. To God all praise."

Rev. W. B. Lewis, Natchez, Miss., Oct. 4: "We are in the midst of a great revival here in Natchez under the min- istry of Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of Ala- bama. Up to this time nineteen have applied for membership in the church, and more than twice that number have professed conversion. But the best work has been done in the church. Many of the members have sought a deeper consecration, and have been greatly blessed. Last night our large auditorium was crowded, and more than one hundred persons asked for prayers. We rejoice over the victory, and are pressing forward to yet greater achievements for our Lord. Dr. Price, of North Mississippi, is with us also, singing and praying and preaching with power."

Rev. W. T. Currie, P. C., Ponchatoula, La., Oct. 26: "The Conference year is drawing to a close. I will give an account of my work. Up to date I have received ninety into the church, baptized sixteen infants and thirty- four adults, three couples have mar- ried, and I have attended two funerals. Thursday after the fourth Sunday in September I closed a glorious meeting at Killian Chapel. Bro. N. J. Roberts assisted me. Six joined. The collec- tions put on that church will be paid in full; pastor's salary about $25 more. We have just closed a revival here in Ponchatoula. When I came on the work last January I found on the church register enrolled ten names, of which nine were ladies. Bro. Wood- ward succeeded in starting a church last year; so the good people went to work and finished it after I came. I have prayed God to especially assist me in my work here. I wrote to Bro. Joe Jones for help. He failed to come, but gave my letter to Bro. J. L. Mor- rill (evangelist), of Cartersville, Ga. On Saturday night before the third Sunday in this month Rev. Morrill and his chorister, Bro. L. R. Gilreath, ar- rived here and began a meeting. The Lord was with us from the first. Bro. Morrill is a power in God's hands for saving souls. The whole town was stirred from center to circumference. Fifty have joined up to date. My eyes never beheld such a sight as I saw last Wednesday. About ninety-five per- sons partook of the sacrament—all of the new converts. I never saw, in all of my life before, as many men and women profess sanctification. Bro. Morrill led the people out of Egypt into Canaan. Thanks to God for send- ing us such men as Bros. Morrill and Gilreath. I will say, if any of the brethren want men after God's own heart to help them in their work, get them. Glory be to God."

THE DIVINE ORDER.

BY HORATIUS BONAR.

'Tis first the true, and then the beautiful—
Not first the beautiful, and then the true;
First the wild moor, with rock and reed and pool,
Then the fair garden, rich in scent and hue.

'Tis first the good, and then the beautiful—
Not first the beautiful, and then the good;
First the rough seed, sown in the rougher soil,
Then the flower blossom or the branching wood.

Not first the glad, and then the sorrowful,
But first the sorrowful, and then the glad;
Tears for a day—for earth of tears is full;
Then we forget that we were ever sad.

Not first the bright, and after that the dark,
But first the dark, and after that the bright;
First the thick cloud, and then the rainbow's arc,
First the dark grave, then resurrection light.

'Tis first the night—stern night of storm and war—
Long nights of heavy clouds and veiled skies:
Then the clear sparkle of the Morning Star,
That bids the saints awake, and dawn arise.

Saved Men God's Agents.

BY BISHOP WILSON, D. D.

"God be merciful unto us and bless us, and cause his face to shine upon us, that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."—Psalms lxvii, 1, 2.

The Psalms constituted the liturgy of the children of Israel. They were the household words of Israel years ago, and they sum up the whole thought of the people in its religious aspect. The Psalms contain no supplication for blessing to descend upon the children of Israel alone, but upon all the earth as well. There is no effort made in the Bible to enlist to God's service any others but those who have known his mercy. God uses others, but in an indirect way. In the great movements of history the progress of God's nations has been brought about by men who have been unconsciously the instruments of God; but in the higher sphere—that of spiritual work—God enlists men who have ever known his mercy. It is a fault of our times to rely upon civilizing and educating influences for the regeneration of mankind. We think we have only to wait till education has had its result for the elevation of the race. This is not the wisdom of God, but the foolishness of men. God's plan is to take men to whom he has chosen to reveal himself, to make known his power and to be his agents. That was Paul's conception of it. It is not an obsolete principle, neither is it a new idea, but it has been wrought from the beginning of time.

Whatever work is to be done in the world for God is not to be accomplished by processes of education, social refinement and culture, but by the power of men whom God has made the recipients of his mercy and to whom he has revealed himself.

When a man is touched by the Holy Spirit and wakes up to a sense of his baseness and degredation, he begins to understand that mercy is not alone for him, but for the whole world. God never chose a man for himself alone, but as a minister of reconciliation. God has no use for a man who can not be employed in the ministry of reconciliation. What God intends is that a man who has freely received must freely give. A man can not live to himself alone. God has established channels of communication along spiritual lines we know nothing of. If you can not make up your mind that God can use you, there is no need of praying. If you intend to hide your light under a bushel and not use your faculties to further spread the light, your prayer will never reach the throne of grace. When you make up your mind to offer up your whole life to the service of God, then your prayers will stir the very fountains of grace. Men sometimes call us bigoted and narrow, but there is nothing contracted in the Scriptures. We stand on the mountain peaks and look out upon endless ages of activity for God. Our whole study is of what God is to do for humanity.

If a church is simply a social circle, where congenial spirits meet to enjoy the luxuries of refinement, it will die of blight; but if its hand reaches out to the multitude that knows not God, then his face will shine upon it and it will be a living church. We are put in trust of the gospel, not as its owners, but to become the beneficiaries of it for all mankind, and we are bound to distribute it broadcast. God condemns nothing so bitterly as unfruitfulness.

"The Proper Observance of the Sabbath"

A paper read before the Pastoral Theological Society, Sardis district, North Mississippi Conference, published by request of the Society, with the request that it be read before every congregation in the district.

Perhaps there never was a time in our history when it was more necessary to recognize the supremacy of law than at the present time. Here we speak of State, national, ecclesiastical and the supreme law of God. The laws of our own Southland are being trampled under foot by White Caps and mobs; our legislative halls have been clogged for two months past by what has thus far proved a fruitless debate; the wheels of our Zion are clogged through lack of discipline, and the whole country at large is suffering for lack of a wholesome application of the law of God to heart and life. Our State laws are not sufficient to protect the Christian Sabbath from open desecration. They are impartial and unjust; they grant to corporations and companies liberties which they refuse to the individual. We have reference to the running of Sunday trains and steamboats. There is no law of reason, necessity, or of God, for this impartiality. We ask not this privilege for the individual, but ask that it be denied the corporation for its own good, the good of the individual and the whole country at large, and this question must be agitated until every car-wheel and steamboat whistle shall add to the stillness and solemnity of the Christian Sabbath. This can only be done by the demand of public sentiment, and public sentiment must be elevated to this point. We first ask for the help and influence of the Christian ministry. The Christian pulpit molds the religious and moral thought of the age. No moral question can stand or succeed without it; no moral question can fail that is backed by it. Our utterances on this or other questions will amount to nothing unless backed up by our lives; we preach louder and longer this way. If our Bishops and connectional officers patronize Sunday trains, little preachers will follow. If we, as pastors, ride on Sunday trains, our flock will naturally follow. We can not accept the idea here that duty demands it. Duty never conflicts with duty; neither can duty conflict with the law of God. We are reminded here of the trainman's request to the preacher riding on the Sunday train on his way to Conference: "If you love our souls, do something to stop these Sunday trains." The Sunday train is a flood-gate for all kinds of iniquity and Sabbath desecration. It makes the Sunday mail possible with all its demoralizing influences.

First. There is the Sunday newspapers. The average secular paper of to-day is a disgrace to our civilization. We are glad to know of one man who will not admit them into the sacred precincts of his home; but the Sunday paper, from all reports, is simply a dump-cart for all the filth that has accumulated during the week; it should not be admitted into Christian homes. It renders one's mind unfit, if not impossible, to worship God; it makes man unfit for Christian companionship with wife and family; it is the cause of many vacant seats at church and is a great demoralizer of the Christian Sabbath. With the Sunday paper also comes business letters, which are opened and read, and these sometimes demand an immediate answer, and thus the holy Sabbath day is made a day of business. The Sunday mail also makes Sunday to many people a day of letter-writing generally. We speak here from past experience, and now take the position that no letter should be written on the Sabbath except of a distinctively religious character. We call upon everyone who names the name of Jesus to stand right out against these two great enemies of the Sabbath—Sunday trains and Sunday mail.

Another danger that confronts the Sabbath is one that meets us at every point in the Christian life—that is, losing sight of the spiritual in the supposed interest of the material. The demands of the body are looked after to the neglect of the soul, and the advocates of this idea quote Scripture to the effect that the "Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." We accept the Scripture, but not the conclusion drawn therefrom. This idea turns the Sabbath into a day of recreation and worldly pleasure. This idea lies right at the bottom of every game of baseball on the Sabbath, every picnic, every open theatre, every Sunday visit—in fact, everything that ministers unto the carnal man. It is a mistake; it is making the body everything, the soul nothing; it is causing man to become so engrossed in the things of time as to lose sight of the things of eternity. The soul is the true man; that which is for man's highest good is good for his soul; neither is there any conflict here. That which is for man's highest good is good for him in every respect. We in the country are not in much danger of the evils mentioned, but in others of a similar character prompted by the same desire. The person who lies in bed on the Sabbath until it is too late for family worship or Sunday-school, ministers unto exactly the same desire as the patron of the baseball; they both kill time. He who absents himself from service morning or evening, unless providentially hindered, loses sight of the true end of the Sabbath and walks after the flesh instead of after the spirit. It would be hard, very hard to distinguish the difference in motives of the one who attends the theatre and the other who spends Sunday as a day of social visiting. Neither is the Sabbath to be spent as a day of feasting. We believe that the people of God should prepare for the Sabbath on Saturday as God taught the children of Israel by the gathering of manna, and the housekeepers who keep their servants employed on the Sabbath violate the Sabbath as much as the company who compels their employees to run the train. We believe that from the head of the family down to the domestic there should be a preparation beforehand for the proper observance of the Sabbath and the cultivation of a devotional spirit with which to worship God.

The Christian Sabbath should be guarded as we would guard our lives, or the sacredness of our homes. It lies right at the very foundation of our Christian civilization. Deprive us of the Sabbath day, and the worship of God must stop in the public congregation. Those who are deprived of the Sabbath are already deprived of this privilege. Deprive us of the Christian Sabbath, and you stop all the different enterprises of the church. Those who are deprived of this are already only nominally connected with all the work of the church. Deprive us of the Christian Sabbath, and we will lose all claims to being a Christian nation. In view of the importance of this question to ourselves and the coming generations, let us faithfully carry out the spirit and the letter of the Fourth Commandment by observing Isaiah lviii, 13, 14: "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight honorable; and shalt honor him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words, then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." Then shall our Sabbaths be foretastes of that eternal Sabbath which awaits all the people of God.

H. P. GIBBS.

P. S.—Memphis Christian Advocate please copy. By order of society.

"Getting Their Preaching on a Credit."

At a Quarterly Conference where the quarterage receipts were extremely meager, I gave the stewards and audience present an earnest talk on their duty to their pastor, urging them to a prompt and more liberal payment toward his support. In answer to the question, "How do you expect your preacher to maintain his family and be prepared to render efficient services to the church on the small pittance he is receiving at your hands?" one of the stewards said, "Let him get his supplies on a credit, as we have to do."

My decision was, the farmer can afford, with his growing crop and stock around him, to make his purchases thus, and assure his merchant of his money in the Fall, and the merchant can trust him, knowing that the crop has back of it real estate and a permanent citizen. But what has the preacher to offer as a pledge of payment to the merchant? Nothing but his salary, which is meager in its estimate and uncertain in its payment. He can not afford to hazard his reputation and the sacred character of the church by promising the payment of money on such uncertainties. A young lady who was present said to me after: "They are getting their preaching on a credit as well as their supplies. They will pay their merchant, for, under the mortgage he holds, he will compel them to do it; but they will not pay their preacher exceeding sixty per cent. of the small amount promised."

Is that honest? Do we treat any of the numerous classes with whom we have any business relations in that way, and would they tamely submit to such an arbitrary settlement? Or would it be just for the steward to say to the delinquent member, "Cancel forty per cent. of your assessment," and then deliberately allow the preacher to lose that amount? Yet such is being done every year in many of our charges.

Much is expected of the preacher. His faults are quickly observed, his derelictions severely censured, and his weaknesses magnified. Preachers are but men, and have the infirmities common to men; yet they are expected to be saints, preach like angels, pray without ceasing, abound in every good word and work, visit everybody, please the whole community, build up the church generally—all at any sacrifice to their personal comfort or that of their family, without murmuring or complaining! But where such great things are expected correspondingly great helps should be given. A meager support, fault finding, censures and harsh criticisms are poor helps to a high standard of ministerial usefulness. If your pastor ministers to you in spiritual things, you should share with him your temporal things. "Even so hath God ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel." "Let him that is taught in the Word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things." Such is the apostle's instruction to the churches.

From this it is clear that both common equity and the command of God make it the imperative duty of those who sit under the gospel to give a comfortable subsistence to him who gives his time, talents and very life to the preaching of the Word. It is ungrateful not to do it, and I will venture the assertion that the man who willfully neglects his duty in this respect will suffer loss in his own soul. He can not feed upon the Word of Life, however well preached, while he withholds from the preacher his rightful support.

I heard a brother say this morning: "We have a good preacher, and he is doing all he can for us; but I confess I do not enjoy his sermons, from the fact that we have not paid him; and I don't see how he can feel free and hearty in giving us his services when his family is without the necessary comforts of life, which we ought and could supply, but do not."

God himself denounces this withholding from the support of the ministry as robbery, saying, "Ye have robbed me—in tithes and offerings," and, "You are cursed with a curse." Drouth, mildew, the caterpillar, etc., were in the land because of the cry that went up from the empty larders of the priesthood. God's blessings were withheld until they should "bring all the tithes into the storehouse," etc.

You will find no system of church finance in the Bible that provides for "credit," delinquents or deficits. The Old Testament tithing system required the first-fruits of the harvest; not the surplus, not that after other claims were met; God's claims were first. In the New Testament, "Upon the first day of the week let everyone of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." If the church would follow these teachings, what an endless amount of friction and trouble would be saved the preacher, the stewards and the membership! It can be done, and we will never measure up to our duty until it is done. The ministry will never reach the extent of their powers, nor the people enjoy the fullness of a gospel ministry, until it is done.

The Conference year is nearing its close, and unless stewards and people bestir themselves, many faithful men of God will go up to our annual convocation with old clothes and sad hearts, and having left still sadder evidences of an unpaid salary in the countenance of the faithful, self-denying wife, whose pent-up tears are restrained until husband is gone. She "tarries by the stuff," and weeps alone. True, there is not much to tarry by, but it is their all, and, with ceaseless care and fidelity, she watches and waits, with patience, her husband's return with orders for another year's campaign.

The Lord open the hearts of his people to care for his servants!

R. S. WOODWARD.

Brookhaven, Miss.

Letter from "Gilderoy."

MR. EDITOR: And so you are on the tripod of the ADVOCATE. Success and good luck to you. I hail you welcome. What a stimulus you have to do your utmost best in that chair! What mighty men and great editors have gone before you! Bishop Keener, strong, massive and eloquent, who crushed a foe when he fell upon him. Bishop McTyeire, trenchant, pithy and pointed, who, in his day, wielded the most powerful pen of any man in Southern Methodism. Bishop Parker, polished, finished and spiritual, who had an Addisonian roll in all he wrote and said. Bishop Galloway, young, strong, apt and fully abreast of the times, who caught the cue of current events and was foremost in getting them before the church. Dr. C. W. Carter, solid, sound as a dollar, true to the doctrines and polity of our Methodism, who wrote less than any of the editors, but wrote more notes that were copied and commended in other papers than any man who has been in the editorial chair since I was old enough to note such things.

Verily, you are surrounded by a cloud of witnesses—some here and some, too, over on the other side. All these have gone before you in the place you now fill, and they have set you a fine pattern, and each of them, whether in the flesh or out of it, will have his eyes upon you to see how you do your work. What an incentive this—human incentive—to do your level best! You have preached to hundreds and thousands, and now you will write for thousands and tens of thousands. What a motive this to do your best with scissors and pen! Never before have you had so large an opportunity to do so much good for so many souls. Never before have you needed more help from the Holy Ghost. God is willing to give you the grace and help of his Spirit according to your needs and in proportion to the dignity and importance of the work before you.

I will not advise you, but I will pray for you. In a few weeks you will have your work in hand and then you will sit easily in your chair.

May the good Lord bless you and guide you in all your work!

GILDEROY.

Woman's Missionary Society, North Mississippi Conference.

REPORT OF TREASURER FOR QUARTER ENDING SEPT. 30, 1893.

WINONA DISTRICT.

Winona	$ 1 00
Sunny Side	1 00
Shell Mound	1 00
Indianola	1 05
Carrollton	1 00
Greenwood	3 00
Aoona	3 20
Moorehead Juveniles	3 00
Aoona Juveniles	3 80
Black Hawk	5 00
Juveniles of Black Hawk	90
	$ 23 95

COLUMBUS DISTRICT.

Columbus	$11 40
Juveniles of Columbus	27 00
Ear'l Workers, Columbus	1 00
Crawford	4 10
Artesia	50
Starkville	11 20
Mayhew	9 03
Brooksville	2 10
Juveniles of Crawford	3 70
Macon Juveniles	3 05
West Point	2 80
Macon	2 00
	$ 77 88

ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

Aberdeen	$ 7 65
Tupelo	6 45
Juveniles of Tupelo	2 00
Okolona	1 80
Houston	1 65
Juveniles of Houston	1 85
Pontotoc	5 65
Prairie	17 45
McCondy	2 20
Verona	6 45
Juveniles of Verona	85
	$ 53 50

SARDIS DISTRICT.

Sardis	$10 05
Juveniles of Sardis	3 20
Pleasant Grove	6 00
Senatobia	9 20
Seer Chapel	2 15
Coldwater	3 50
Hernando	2 20
Longtown	2 00
Batesville	2 50
Mastodon	2 30
Juv. of Pleasant Grove	1 40
Juveniles of Senatobia	12 20
Juveniles of Seer Chapel	2 27
	$ 58 97

CORINTH DISTRICT.

Corinth	$ 5 00
Inka	9 90
Guntown	5 00
Juveniles of Iuka	4 03
Ripley	8 01
Rienzi	7 15
	$ 39 09

GRENADA DISTRICT.

Grenada	$ 6 95
Water Valley	61 21
Duck Hill	1 00
Spring Hill	2 25
Charleston	5 25
Oxford Juveniles	6 48
Spring Hill	1 75
Oxford	5 05
	$ 92 94

GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

Greenville	$ 1 00
Gunnison	33 85
Clarksdale	2 70
Friar's Point	4 80
Arcola	4 50
	$ 36 85

HOLLY SPRINGS DISTRICT.

Holly Springs	$10 35
Lochie Rankin Band	6 65
Pleasant Grove	4 15
Early Grove	5 95
Salem	13 35
Juveniles of Salem	2 30
Byhalia W. W.	80
Byhalia	1 85
Pleasant Grove	3 75
Juveniles of Early Grove	2 70
Oak Grove	3 40
Juveniles of Byhalia	1 15
	$ 56 40

KOSCIUSKO DISTRICT.

Kosciusko	$ 1 05
Juveniles of Kosciusko	1 00
Sallis	1 00
Pickens	1 00
Juveniles of Sallis	1 00
Pickens	5 70
	$ 10 75

Total amount received this quarter $450 33

MOLLIE A. CLARK, Treasurer.

Pickens, Miss., Oct. 30, 1893.

In Japan—The Language.

Last month the three new missionaries, C. A. Teague, Samuel Hager and J. T. Myers, with their wives, arrived on the field. Nominal appointments were assigned to them by the president of the Annual Conference at its recent session, but with the understanding that they devote themselves during the year to learning the language. This is greatly to their advantage, since it is so important that a missionary have the language of those to whom he is sent. Heretofore our missionaries in Japan have had the responsibility of heavy charges thrust upon them at once. Of necessity, they began to talk through interpreters, and this so often, that they had little time for studying Japanese, and came to rely upon the interpreters altogether to the neglect of their own ears and tongues. Besides, several at first supported themselves by teaching English in government schools. This was a great hindrance to learning Japanese, because such teachers are expected to use only English in speaking to students and teachers.

I wrote last year that Bro. Moseley was the only one who preached in Japanese. This is not the case now, however. A book written by Gouin, a Frenchman, on learning to speak a language, is proving very helpful to many missionaries here; and if any of the young readers of this should at any time go to labor in any of our mission fields already opened, or to Africa, the future field, such an one should procure and read this book.

The member of the mission who is making greatest progress in getting the language is Wirt Waters, a — year old half-Mississippian; for, though he was born here, his mother was a Lipscomb from Columbus, Miss. Much of the time he trots around with the good old Japanese woman who is his nurse, and he hears his parents talk Japanese a great deal, so that he understands it better than English. During the Conference in Hiroshima those who stopped in his home were often and much amused by his talk and Japanese bow. Perhaps he applies Gouin's system without knowing it.

There are in Japanese two sets of forty-seven characters each, omitting modifications; and one goes only a very short way into literature until he must begin to master difficult Chinese characters. Besides, the written and spoken language greatly differ, and in the spoken language honorifics, which are not necessary in addressing those of lower rank, must be used in addressing those of higher rank. Thus: "It is my first time to meet you," is in polite Japanese, "For the first time hang upon your honorable eyes;" and in referring to another's wife the word is quite different from that employed to denote one's own wife, or that "low wife of mine." H. G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Sept. 20, 1893.

Malone College.

At Holly Springs, Miss., is located a school for the higher education of girls and young ladies. Rev. J. W. Heinoil is president, and his wife has charge of the boarding department. Thirty boarders are now domiciled in the college building, who, together with five lady teachers who board in the college, the president and his family, and the servants, make a family of about fifty. Ninety-four pupils have been enrolled to date, and more are coming in from abroad and from the town. When we consider the financial depression of the times, and the fact that we are surrounded by schools on every hand, this is a remarkable showing. The president expects to have more than thirty boarders by Christmas.

To the loving parent who is seeking a good school, where the intellectual and religious wants of his daughter will be supplied, I especially commend Malone College. The student-body is an orderly and dignified body of girls whose graceful bearing is already showing the evidences of proper culture. The teachers are all devout Christians; all are Methodists, except Miss Paine, the art teacher, who is a Presbyterian. She spends only a part of her time at the college. She is a woman of rare qualifications for her work as art teacher. Possessing both taste and culture, she is fully prepared to give the most efficient instruction in her department.

Mrs. Fort, the principal, is a fine character every way. She presides over the study-hall with ease and grace, and is equally at home in teaching philosophy, or in giving lessons in good manners and religion. The president has been singularly fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Fort.

Miss Christine Burns has charge of the classes in the languages and mathematics. She possesses a wonderful tact in inspiring her pupils with a love for study, and the high grade of her work may be seen in the thoroughness of knowledge which her pupils possess when they have finished the course. Miss Burns was for some time a student under Bishop Granbery.

Miss Maggie Ford has charge of the preparatory department. She is thoroughly qualified for her work, and peculiarly adapted for the work of teaching both by natural aptitude and careful training. She exercises great care to give her pupils a correct idea of the basic principles of knowledge.

The primary department of the college is under the management of a superior woman, Mrs. Carrie Wade Smith. A peep into her room will show among the pleasant surprises that will be in store for the visitors at the college on last Friday afternoon. She has the superior tact to manage the little ones. On the blackboard were seen the work of very small children. Some who could not know their letters one month ago are advancing rapidly now in primary arithmetic. Send your daughters to Malone College. T. W. LEWIS.

Three Things Saved Him.

I once met a thoughtful scholar who told me that for years he had read every book he could which assailed the religion of Jesus Christ, and he said he should have become an infidel but for three things:

First. I am a man. I am going somewhere. To-night I am a day nearer the grave than I was last night. I have read all such books can tell me. They shed not one solitary ray of hope or light upon the darkness. They shall not take away the only guide and leave me stone blind.

Second. I had a mother. I saw her go down into the dark valley where I am going, and she leaned upon the unseen arm as calmly as a child goes to sleep on the breast of its mother. I know that was not a dream.

Third. I have three motherless daughters (and he said it with tears in his eyes). They have no protector but myself. I would rather kill them than leave them in this sinful world with all the leaches that you blot out from it all the teachings of the gospel.—Bishop Whipple.

To Our Young Countrymen of the South.

THE HOUR AND THE MAN.

[Extract from an address delivered at Boston University by the Rev. Dr. J. R. Day.]

We live in a choice part of this globe, and in the grandest age since creation. No man ever stepped into a nobler arena than that which awaits the young men to-day. I believe that this hour is the greatest the world has ever known; that men never were more capable of self-government, more universally thoughtful, more industrious, more hopeful, more blessed in all that is noblest and best than now; that there never has been more conscience, more inquiry for truth, more heroism, more purity, in any hour of the world's history.

Other periods of human history are more like the earlier formation of the earth; ours resemble the later upheavals and intersections. All ages have been thrown up into the nineteenth century, and we are living in the universal times, met in every department of life by the facts, forms and fancies of other continents, peoples and times.

AN INTENSE AGE.

We have been impressed, also, with the intensity of the hour. Our age burns with an unquenchable fire. The very air we breathe vibrates with uplift force. Never before have men lived so fast. We are impatient with space and time. It is said that not long since a man rushed into a telegraph office in this city and inquired how long it would take to send a dispatch to San Francisco. "Ten minutes," was the reply. "I can't wait," he said, and hurried off. This incident illustrates this feature of the hour—life, comfort, morals, are often sacrificed to speed.

This intense passion is both fortunate and unfortunate. It is grand and inspiring to see man conquer time and space, and drive down the ages on the wheels of the lightnings, but the effects are visible also in shattered minds, wrecked bodies, business ruin, and moral lapses. And to the mad rush of the hour is due, perhaps, much of the mushroom, porous, and pulpy growths in our schools and professions. We do not take the time to do patient, plodding work. We are too eager for the strife. Rare indeed is the instance of a man giving himself to one thought for a lifetime. Our thinkers seem more inclined to be superficial with many things than profound in one. We won't let men alone long enough to be great in philosophy, theology, science or art. The age tends to make smatterers. Our authors, instead of one imperishable work, are sending down their volumes like the leaves of the deciduous trees, and they last about as long. Their creations lack the giant strength of the slow-going German's exhaustive and carefully-matured book, and the thoroughness of the old essayist's productions. We sparkle like wine. We lack the deep, broad channel of the patient river. Push and eagerness have made many of our school curricula Summer-day pastimes, and hurried our students out of their novitiate into spheres of active life before the Spring flower of knowledge had fairly budded, before it could be determined whether that blossom would bear fruit of strong character and usefulness or bitterly blight under the mildew of conceit and vanity.

MAN MUST FIT THE HOUR.

This age demands a different kind of man than many other ages have been well pleased with. The times or different. The man must fit them. Much that constituted the man once is of no value now. That which in time past gave him influence with men, and increased his powers of usefulness, is now looked upon as useless trappings. We care nothing for the inherited position, and feel little "awe of the divinity that doth hedge royalty about." As one has said, 'We are not yet far enough away from our grandfathers, who wore leather aprons, to paint coats of arms upon our ooach door." These marvelous and multifarious times call for men of mind, of thought-power. This makes position, influence, power. Without a mind, without thought-power, a man is a lump of clay for all of everything. Young man, if you make any impression upon the hour, and accomplish anything grand and permanent, it will be by developing that inner self, the mind. Therefore, build deep and strong, and seek the open sea. Beware of the flats, where not a few lie breaking up and rotting down after the tides of youthful enthusiasm and fervor have ceased to float them. Think, think, eternally think! Men win now less by the throat, and more by the brain on fire.

THOUGHT-POWER.

The great question of our time is "Has he a soul?" "Can he think?" It is the thinker the country has sought in all times of peril and perplexity, and if he came from the log-huts of Kentucky, or the tanneries of Illinois, or the canals of Ohio, she has prized him none the less for his low station, but confidently placed her destinies into his hands because he was a thinker. Man without a soul, without thought-power, is a manikin.

The hour calls for practical men. Theorists are listened to as their theories promise practical results. Men are expected to think practical thoughts, to write practical books, to do practical acts. The bookish man must know the mind of a practical world, otherwise he is as nothing for the hour as Cleopatra's needle is for a modern printing press.

TOIL-POWER.

The hour requires men of toil. These days are too serious for the dilettante, for the intellectual, and moral amateur. The hour calls for men of great and vigorous moral strength and manly heart and eager spirit—men whose ambition is to have a hand in the strife of life. The busy man, whether in the pulpit, legislative hall, the professor's chair, in medicine, on the sea, or the quiet farm or in the hurried marts of trade—these men are the glory and promise of the hour.

Then thank God for genius, if you have it, and take courage from all the helps afforded, but know this, that the only royal road to greatness and usefulness is over the hot and dusty hills of earnest, sweating toil.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has restored gray hair to its original color and prevented baldness in thousands of cases. It will do so to you.

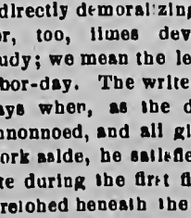
Profitable Study.

Occupation goes far as a means of safety. Add every day something to your store of knowledge. Study alternately books, and men, and things. Mere book-reading is not enough, without reflection and observation. Again, mere observation is not enough, if you do not enlarge your resources by the treasures which books contain. Both are best. You have many opportunities. You need not at any time be in want of a useful book. From experience we are able to say that a book perused intelligently, and with appetite in youth, will retain its hold better than information acquired at a later day. The few books to which we had access when we were young are fresh in our memory still, both the good and the bad. The "Pilgrim's Progress" was greedily devoured, and indelibly impressed; but so also were other books in which a like genius glowed, without a like baptism of holiness. The young of this generation may always have a book to read, and may choose a book that is worthy. Never let the machinery of your mind become rusty. The way to keep it sweet is to keep it going.

We have two opposite experiences to look back upon. In our retrospect are times of intellectual idleness, and times of intellectual diligence. We remember precious hours spent by a circle of youthful companions in silly, useless conversation—a sort of slang which was directly vulgarizing, and indirectly demoralizing. We remember, too, times devoted to useful study; we mean the leisure hours of a labor-day. The writer remembers the days when, as the dinner-hour was announced, and all gladly threw their work aside, he satisfied a fresh appetite during the first five minutes, and, stretched beneath the shade of a tree, occupied the remaining fifty-five reading the wars of Cæsar, and the songs of Virgil, in the language of ancient Rome. It made his afternoon's toil lighter. It made his neighbors respect him; and, what is more, young men, it made him respect himself. In virtue of that employment, the enticers did not so frequently assail him, and he was supplied with an auxiliary means of defense. There are many branches of useful knowledge, easily accessible, from which you may choose each according to his taste. We earnestly counsel young men to scour up, and keep in use all the powers of understanding and memory which God has given them. It will sweeten your labor. It will be something softer to lean on between your flesh and the iron instruments of toil. How great the privileges of youth in this country, and at the present day! How great is the waste if the museums, libraries and public reading-rooms be not turned to good account!—Arnot.

Scrofula in the Neck

The following is from Mrs. J. W. Tillbrook, wife of the Mayor of McKeesport, Penn.:



Willie Tillbrook.

"My little boy Willie, now 6 years old, two years ago had a bunch under one ear which the doctor said was Scrofula. He finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving Willie Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until the sore healed up. Last winter it broke out again, followed by Erysipelas. We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with excellent results and he has had no more trouble. His cure is due to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

He has never been very robust, but now seems healthy and daily growing stronger."

HOOD'S PILLS do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says it Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	8 102 grains

Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches

Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735 108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334 480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	38 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.822
Soda	6 045
Silica	6 049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S gallon of 231 cub. inches

Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836 700
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29 900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.018
Magnesium Sulphate	80 616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 083
Silica	8 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonfuls every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with letter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c. 50c. and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 538 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

158 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Books and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

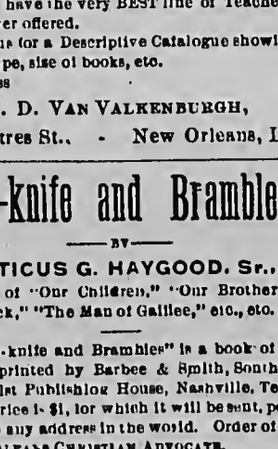
Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C P Bus College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chichester & Son, 2 Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Pain. DR. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger....6:55 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 8:00p.m
Chic. limited...8:40 p.m	Chic. limited 12 01 n'n
Sunday ex....8:30 p.m	Sunday ex....7:35a m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex. 7 00 p.m	No. 73, Cal. ex. 8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St Louis ex 6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 8:20 p.m
Local....10:55 a.m	Local....3.50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESCLIER Gen'l Pass. and Tkt. Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	Leaves. 5:00 p.m	Arrives 8:35 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	7:55 a.m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p.m	10:00 a.m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,

134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

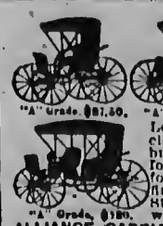
40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.



QUALITY AND PRICE

"A" Grade, $37.50. "A" Grade, $45. "A" Grade, $180.

IS WHAT TALKS. Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 150 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

McTyeire Institute,

MCKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination

Next session begins August 31.

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin.,

McKenzie, Tenn.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING

The only Harmony book ever written, that can be readily understood by the average student.

GOODRICH'S Analytical Harmony.

(A new Theory of Composition, from the Composer's standpoint.)

Clearer and more helpful than anything I have seen. ARTHUR FOOTE.

A welcome relief from our present difficulties. WM. H. SHERWOOD.

Invaluable to teachers and pupils. EMIL LIEBLING.

It will be eminently successful. CLARENCE EDDY.

Goodrich has solved the great problem. B. MOLLENHAUER.

Delightfully clear. HARRISON WILD.

Plainly expressed and easily understood. JOS. H. GITTINGS.

A COMPANION VOLUME TO "MUSICAL ANALYSIS"

—PRICE, $2.00.—

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

Cincinnati—New York—Chicago.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D., at Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address him and receive circulars free. REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

B. & S. BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY. Superior advantages. Send postal for circular.

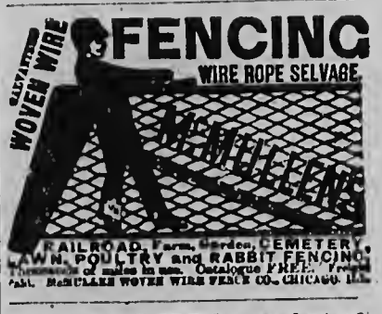
Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pages. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE, LEXINGTON, VA.

56th Year. State Military Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Degrees or diploma of graduates in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and instruction, provided at rate of $135.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 12th. GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING WIRE ROPE SELVAGE



RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Prices. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by BEVE'S OINTMENT 50c Druggists. HIBBS & CO., N. Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Spitting Blood, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion, Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & Co., N. Y.

BELLS Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A. Best Improvements. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. B. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, November 9, 1893.

Two Views of Death.

Nowhere do Christianity and Paganism contrast more strikingly than in their views of death. In order to realize how true it is that Jesus Christ has "brought life and immortality to light" we only need to explore the realms of Pagan literature. Let us take Anacreon as a representative of Greek thought on this subject for the age that ushered in the Persian wars.

Here is what he says of death when contemplating it as a thing personal to him in the near future:

"Alas, my youth, my joys have fled,
The snows of age have bleached my head;
Tedious, toothless, trembling age,
Must now alone my thoughts engage.
Adieu, ye joys which once I knew,
To Life, to Love, to All, adieu.
Henceforth, unhappy, doomed to know
Tormenting fears of future woe.
Oh, how my soul with terror shrinks,
Whene'er my startled fancy thinks
Of Pluto's dark and gloomy cave,
The chill, the cheerless, gaping grave!
When death's cold hand hath closed these eyes,
And stifled life's last struggling sighs,
In darkness and in dust must I,
Alas! forever—ever lie."

Compare with this doleful effusion the following bright, joyful lines expressive of Christian sentiment:

"Over the river they beckon to me,
Loved ones who've crossed to the farther side;
The gleam of their snowy robes I see,
But their voices are lost in the dashing tide.
And I sit and think, when the sunset's gold
Is flushing river and hill and shore,
I shall one day stand by the water cold,
And list for the sound of the boatman's oar;
I shall watch for a gleam of the glistening sail,
I shall hear the boat as it gains the strand,
I shall pass from sight with the boatman pale,
To the better shore of the spirit land.
I shall know the loved who have gone before,
And joyfully sweet will the meeting be,
When over the river, the peaceful river,
The angel of death shall carry me."

Was ever contrast more striking? And yet there are those who would have us go back to the creed of Paganism, who would have us substitute for the joyful hymns which Christianity has inspired Anacreon's dismal wail,

"In darkness and in dust must I,
Alas! forever—ever lie."

"Father, forgive them; they know not what they do."

A Good Example.

It is said of one of the leading educators of Southern Methodism that it is his habit to repeat the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians every morning in his closet, at the same time praying that he may be enabled during the day to live up to the standard it presents. What an immense gain to vital godliness there would be, if all who name the name of Christ would "go and do likewise."

We are exceedingly pained to learn of the death of Rev. J. J. Wheat, D. D., of the North Mississippi Conference, which occurred at his home in Grenada, on Tuesday, Oct. 31. He was buried on Thursday at Sardis, Miss., the following ministers participating in the service: Bishop C. B. Galloway, Dr. J. D. Cameron, Revs. Newell, Hargrove, Wyatt, Malone, and Rev. Mr. Snell, an Episcopal clergyman of Grenada. A great man in Israel has fallen. A suitable memoir will appear in due time. On our first page will be found the funeral address delivered by Bishop Galloway.

To the Readers of the Advocate.

It is with a due sense of the obligations involved that I assume editorial control of these columns. The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE has had a long and honorable history. Its editorial chair has been filled by men whose native endowments, intellectual culture and spiritual attainments constituted them princes in Israel. With the single exception of the central organ at Nashville, perhaps, no member of the numerous ADVOCATE family has wielded a more potent influence upon the life and polity of the church. It is the official organ of three Annual Conferences, representing a church membership of more than a hundred thousand.

The editorship of such a paper is a position that involves grave responsibilities. I shall use my best efforts to meet the obligations assumed. One qualification for editorial responsibilities I am sure I possess, viz.: a prodigious capacity for hard work, together with a willingness to exercise that capacity. However numerous my besetting sins may be, laziness is not one of them. The patrons of the paper may rest assured that neither time nor labor will be spared to make it approximate, as nearly as the resources at my command will allow, my ideal of what a paper of its class ought to be.

It will be my aim to make the paper thoroughly Methodistic. While I have a most brotherly regard for the saints of other folds, I believe that the doctrines and polity of Methodism are more nearly in accord with the teachings of the Word of God than are those of any other ecclesiastical organization. This belief will dominate the policy of the paper.

I shall also make the paper thoroughly connectional in its spirit. While a paper of its class has of necessity local interests to subserve, yet those local interests should ever be subordinate to the good of Methodism as a whole. I shall, therefore, seek to make the paper promote as far as practicable every interest of the general church.

My ideal of what a religious paper ought to be is a lofty one. Next to the pulpit, I regard the press as the church's most effective instrumentality for the evangelization of the world. I bespeak an interest in the prayers of God's elect that I may be enabled so to use the agency which has fallen into my hands as to make it minister to the spread of truth and righteousness and the upbuilding of every interest of the Redeemer's kingdom.

W. C. BLACK.

New Orleans, Nov. 3, 1893.

From Macon, Ga., to New Orleans.

I left Macon on Monday morning, Oct. 30, at seven o'clock, via the Central railroad. I reached Columbus at eleven o'clock and remained four hours before going on to Birmingham. As this was my first visit to Columbus, I was glad of an opportunity to take it in. I found it considerably larger than I had supposed it to be. Including all its suburbs, I judge that it has a population of, at least, twenty-five thousand. Like several other Georgia cities, it is quite a pretty place, being regularly laid out, with wide streets abundantly shaded. Methodism is quite strong in Columbus, though not relatively so strong as in Macon. If I mistake not, it has six Methodist Churches, while Macon has nine. The pleasure of my stay in Columbus was enhanced by kind attentions from Rev. Geo. McDonnell, presiding elder of the Columbus district, and his excellent wife, in whose hospitable home I had a most delightful sojourn. I had a dreary "lay-over" of three hours at Birmingham in the middle of the night, leaving there a little after one o'clock. When I awoke in the morning and looked out of my sleeper window, I found myself just leaving Meridian. How glad I would have been to stop off for a day or more in this city in which I had a most delightful pastorate of four years.

I reached Jackson at ten o'clock on Tuesday, and spent the remainder of the day. I, of course, met many old friends; but a part of my time being taken up with business affairs, I was obliged to forego the pleasure of exchanging greetings with many others whom it would have been a delight to see. I enjoyed the hospitalities of Bishop Galloway and Dr. Murrah and their families. I, of course, took in Millsaps College. Notwithstanding my entire familiarity with everything pertaining to the college, I was exceedingly glad of an opportunity to visit it. I was more impressed than ever before with the beauty of the site. I think it would be difficult to find in the State of Mississippi a more eligible site. I was very much impressed with the growth of the library. The shelves from floor to ceiling are almost full, although only a little over a year has passed since the library had an existence. The college has an enrollment already of a hundred and thirty-six, with a prospect of a large increase before the close of the year. Dr. Murrah is demonstrating more and more, as time rolls on, the wisdom of the Board of Trustees in electing him to this important position. Prof. Patillo has been sick for some time, but the work of his department has been most efficiently carried on by Prof. R. K. Jayne, of Jackson, a man of admirable character, fine scholastic attainments and large experience in the schoolroom. What a future Millsaps has before it! One thing saddened me as I contemplated this noble institution, viz.: the fact that the endowment is not yet completed. Methodists of Mississippi, how much longer shall we allow the bagatelle of a thousand or two dollars to deprive the institution of the last twenty-five thousand donated by Major Millsaps? It should be a humiliation to us that we have been so long in raising this paltry sum, for paltry it is when we think of the resources of Methodism in Mississippi. Let us all, preachers and people, resolve that not another Annual Conference shall pass with this deficiency still staring us in the face.

While at Jackson I, of course, looked into the parsonage. I was sorry to miss seeing the genial pastor, Rev. A. F. Watkins. I had the pleasure, however, of exchanging greetings with Mrs. Watkins, Miss Ollie, and the itinerant that is to be, Master James Gunning Watkins. I was delighted to meet the efficient presiding elder of the district, Rev. E. H. Mounger.

Leaving Jackson about midnight, I reached New Orleans early next morning, and proceeded at once to the ADVOCATE office and took charge.

W. C. BLACK.

Resolutions of Mulberry Street Church.

The Board of Stewards of Mulberry Street Church, Macon, Ga., at a called meeting, held Oct. 26, appointed a committee to prepare resolutions expressive of the feelings of the Board concerning the departure of their pastor. Below we present the resolutions with the names of the committemen:

Whereas, The Board of Stewards of Mulberry Street Church have learned with deep regret that Dr. W. C. Black, our beloved pastor, has been transferred to the Mississippi Conference to accept the position of editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, thereby necessitating the sundering of the ties which bind him to us in the relations of pastor and people; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we hereby express the profound regret of the Board of Stewards and of all the members of the church in parting with one who as preacher, pastor and friend has endeared himself to our entire membership. Although he has been with us less than a year, yet he has filled the pulpit so acceptably and met so fully the obligations resting upon him in the pastorate that we regard his removal from our midst as a personal loss to all of us, and his change of residence is a loss to Methodism in Georgia.

Resolved, That our best wishes and prayers will follow him and his family into their new sphere of life and labor. And, while deeply lamenting the removal of our pastor, we yet rejoice that he has been called by the authorities of his church to a position of so great honor and usefulness, and we well know that the intellectual endowments and Christian consecration which have rendered his preaching so attractive and instructive to us will enable him to do a great and good work for that thousandfold larger audience whom he will reach in his editorial field.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in our church papers and in the local press.

WALTER B. HILL,
DUPONT GUERRY,
G. R. GLENN,
For Committee.

It was with great regret that I severed the ties that bound me to old Mulberry, the mother of churches. Going to the charge an entire stranger, I was given a most cordial reception. During the ten months of my pastorate my relations to the entire flock were of the most pleasant character. I went with the full expectation of remaining four years. I had many plans laid for future work—plans which I hoped would result in great good. So, doubtless, it will be when the summons comes to join the innnmerable caravan that moves to that mysterious bourne whence no traveler returns; there will still be work unfinished—plans reaching far out into the future.

Calling Out the Reserves.

We were thinking of writing something on this subject when we came upon the following from the pen of the gifted Spurgeon. We at once resolved to substitute it for what we intended to write. We commend it to all who name the name of Christ:

"There should be no reserve forces in the army of the Lord; but, alas! through the lukewarm condition of many, the reserves form a numerous part of our membership, and need a great many calls from their officers before they will obey. Perhaps, if they felt that the King himself ordered that they should be forthwith called out for permanent service, the love of Christ would constrain them, and we should see them marching forth to war. 'I pray thee have me excused' has been upon their lips for a long time. The word of Moses to the children of Gad and Reuben is exceedingly needed by many at this time: 'Shall your brethren go to war, and shall ye sit still?' The reserved forces are so terribly numerous, as compared with the active army of our great King, that our holy war is sadly hindered and the Canaanites are not subdued. Many are altogether idle, and allow their armor and weapons to rust. Many are busy here and there about inferior things, but forget their allegiance to their Lord. Very much time, talent and opportunity are held in reserve for various reasons, which ought at once to be brought forth and consecrated actively to the Lord. Nor is it in men alone that a sinful reserve is made, but great treasures of gold and silver are laid by to canker, while the Lord hath need of them. Men talk of loving Jesus so as to give him all, and yet the financial reserve of the church of God is probably a hundred times as great as that which is expended in the Lord's service. The funds in the hands of professed believers are immense, and yet we hear daily appeals for money, until one might conclude that all professors of the Christian faith are as poor as Lazarus.

"There is a great deal of reserve time, and reserve talent, and reserve energy and fire, and we would in the name of Jesus call it out. Why, some men when engaged in the service of God seem to be only the tenth part of men compared with their zeal in their business pursuits. It would take nine of some of our church members to make one real praying man, and twice that number of some of our preachers to make one downright earnest minister of the gospel. Oh, if men would only be aroused, if all their manhood were truly engaged, how differently they would act; and if they sought strength from on high, what grand results would follow! I long to see the Holy Spirit filling us all with ardor, and causing every man and woman among us to become thoroughly consecrated to the Lord.

"Once get the reserve forces of the church called out, get all her members to working, praying, teaching and giving, and the enemy would soon know that there is a God in Israel. There is too much of playing at religion nowadays, and too little of intense enthusiastic work. A part of the church is all alive, but a far larger part is as a body of death, by which the life of the church is held in bondage. Once find the whole body tingling with life from head to foot, from heart to finger tips, and then you shall prevail with God, and have power over the adversary. Zion travailing is the sign by which those who know the times will be able to prophesy concerning Zion triumphant. O for the universal agony, the inward throes of deep compassion and consuming zeal; for when these are felt by the whole body, the joyous hour is come."

Our First Sabbath on the Tripod.

It was our privilege to worship last Sabbath at Carondelet Street Church, where we heard a good sermon by the presiding elder, Dr. C. W. Carter, after which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. This church has a good choir, but the choir does not do all the singing; it simply leads the congregation in song. We know of no large city church, unless it be Centenary at St. Louis, in which the people so generally join in the singing. A part of the service consisted in the reception of members by the pastor. The pastor's method of receiving members we regard as worthy of special mention. Although the candidate had been instructed and catechized in private, the pastor administered some wholesome instruction and propounded some pointed interrogatories in the presence of the congregation. When he came to the question, "Will you be subject to the discipline of the church, attend upon its ordinances, and support its institutions?" he enlarged upon the significance of each item in the question. He explained what is meant by being subject to the discipline of the church. He showed that those who take upon them this vow promise not only to abstain from the grosser sins, but also pledge themselves to abstain from dancing, card playing and theatre going, wine drinking, etc. After this explanation, given with emphasis, he propounded the question, "Will you be subject to the discipline of the church?" This being answered in the affirmative, he explained the next item, "Will you attend upon its ordinances," etc., and after due explanation, propounded this question separately. Receiving another affirmative answer, he then passed to the last item, "Will you support its institutions?" He showed this to be a solemn, heaven-registered vow on the part of the church member not only to contribute to the current expenses of the local church, but also to pay according to ability for the furtherance of all the enterprises of the general church, missions, church extension, etc. These several questions having been answered satisfactorily, the candidate was formally received. In this way he sees to it that each person coming into the church has a thorough knowledge of the obligations which church membership imposes. Moreover, no candidate for membership is brought before the church for formal reception until he has given the pastor in private an assurance of his willingness to take these vows with a full knowledge of their import. Those who plead for more liberty are simply kept on probation indefinitely.

At night we again attended Carondelet and heard an excellent sermon by the pastor, Dr. W. H. LaPrade. In the congregation we were glad to see General Conference acquaintance from far-off California, Rev. R. Parker, now transferred to Western North Carolina.

New Orleans Preachers' Meeting.

It was our privilege to attend the New Orleans Preachers' Meeting on Monday morning. The pastors were nearly all present. The chief feature was an essay by Dr. Ahrens on Ministerial Etiquette. As was to be expected, the subject was treated in a very able and scholarly way.

The evangelistic meetings conducted by Mr. Moody during the whole period of the World's Fair have resulted in incalculable good. Hundreds of thousands have heard the pure gospel, not the poor stuff so often in these days substituted for the gospel, but the genuine, old-fashioned doctrines of an inerrant Bible, a divine Redeemer, his atoning death upon the cross, regeneration by the Holy Ghost, salvation by grace, separation from the world, and the hope of our Lord's return.—The Truth.

NOTES.

The readers of the ADVOCATE, as well as the editor, are under many obligations to Rev. W. H. LaPrade, D. D., for his kindness in getting out the issue of last week.

***

The report having gained currency that Prof. M. M. Black, of Millsaps College, is to take charge of the publishing department of the ADVOCATE, we hereby make a correction. Prof. Black has no connection with the paper whatever. He will remain at Millsaps College at least during the present session.

***

We have received so many letters of congratulation that we can not undertake at present to answer them all. We wish to say to our numerous friends who have written us that the kind words and expressions of esteem and confidence are duly appreciated. These voluntary testimonials make more than ever determined to do what lies in our power to make the ADVOCATE a blessing to every home into which it enters.

***

We send copies of this issue to many persons who are not subscribers. We hope all such persons will read the paper carefully and then ask themselves if they do not think it worth four cents. If so, send us two dollars and you will receive fifty-two numbers in the next twelve months. Let it be remembered, too, that this issue is not a sample of what the paper will be. Very soon we shall have more time to give to editorial work. The usual discount will be given to preachers.

***

Having an accumulation of business connected with the publishing department on our hands, we are unable to do a large amount of writing for the paper this week, and we will probably find ourselves in the same condition for the next two or three issues. We are not sure, however, that this is a loss to the patrons of the paper. Editors sometimes confer a favor on their readers when they use the scissors instead of the pen. We give our readers this week some selections which we think are good to the use edifying.

The Collection for Education.

After heartiest greetings to the new editor, I crave a word in behalf of the educational collection in the two Mississippi Conferences. It is to be hoped that during the closing weeks of the ecclesiastical year special attention will be given to this most important interest. Plans have been projected in view of this assessment for the education of young men, which may be embarrassed if it is neglected. Let earnest and hopeful effort be made. I am grateful to God that we have reached that period in our history when the cause of Christian education is placed on equal footing with the other great enterprises of the church. Now we must magnify it by increasing collections and wise appropriations.

In this connection it gives me pleasure to say that we have a large number of young men at Millsaps College who are to share the benefits of this fund. They are worthy of their honored parentage, and will be an honor to the church and nation if thoroughly equipped for the work of life. Our college has already grandly vindicated the wisdom and timeliness of its planting. Now let us fulfill the larger prophecies of the future. This we can do by collecting the assessment for education and in every way increasing our resources. I very much hope that each pastor will report a good offering for this sacred fund. CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 3, 1893.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The new church at Ponchatoula, La.—Rev. W. T. Currie, pastor—will be dedicated on Dec. 3 by Rev. J. M. Beard.

The revival services, already announced for Felicity Street Church, will begin Sunday, Nov. 12, Rev. H. C. Morrison, of Kentucky, the popular evangelist, occupying the pulpit. There will be two services daily—10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Seats are free, and the public is cordially invited.

Rev. Henry Kendall, of Darlington, England, brother of Rev. Amos Kendall, of West Point, Miss., is now on a visit to his brother. Until a few days ago they had not seen each other in forty-two years. Rev. Henry Kendall was licensed to preach before he was twelve years old. The two sermons he has preached in West Point are pronounced by competent judges to be scholarly, logical and scriptural.

At a recent meeting of the management of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, the place temporarily and worthily occupied by Rev. Dr. Beard, one of our Methodist city pastors, has been permanently filled by the election of Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., late of Macon, Ga. We congratulate our esteemed neighbor that the acceptance of the call has placed a skilled and strong hand upon the helm. Personally, as well as officially, we give the new editor a hearty welcome.—Southwestern Presbyterian.

A friend of all classical students, readers of history and theology, died a few days ago, William L. Smith, LL.D., the most prolific compiler of dictionaries and histories. He was eighty years old, originally intended for the bar, but abandoned the law for the study of classical literature. Fifty-one years ago his Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities appeared, and is still a standard. Thirty-six years ago his Dictionary of Greek and Roman Biography was published. He was the author of a school History of Greece, Latin-English Dictionary, Dictionary of Christian Antiquities, and the great Dictionary of the Bible. For thirteen years he was classical examiner in the University of London, for many years editor of The Quarterly Review, a recipient of many degrees from all sorts of learned institutions, a man pre-eminently useful in his field and time.—New York Advocate.

Nuggets of Gold.

(Selected.)

The best fighting is against yourself.

⁂

The workman is known by his work.

⁂

Out of one quarrel come a hundred sins.

⁂

Only a fool falls twice in the same hole.

⁂

Every day in thy life is a page in thy history.

⁂

Pray to God, but continue to row to the shore.

⁂

He that would eat the kernel must crack the nut.

⁂

He who lacks the capacity to blush is a demon in embryo.

⁂

Tell me the company you keep, and I'll tell you who you are.

⁂

The very law that moulds a tear,
And makes it trickle from its source,
That law preserves the earth a sphere,
And guides the planets in their course.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

The Women's Protest against Grog Shops.

Yesterday afternoon one of the most important gatherings of women ever assembled in New Orleans was held at Tulane Hall to protest against the broadest and unlimited sowing of bar rooms through the city.

At this meeting all the women's organizations were represented by their most prominent members, and many leading ladies were present on their own account. A full report of the exercises is given elsewhere. After an extended and ringing debate, the following resolutions, formulating an appeal to the Mayor and City Council, were adopted:

"Recognizing the existing danger in the public morals, as well as the depreciation of private property, resulting from the present and proposed system of licensing bar rooms, and feeling the pressing need of restrictive legislation, we, assembled here in mass meeting, do protest against said system of licensing bar rooms.

"Resolved, That we respectfully urge the honorable Mayor and City Council to repeal the existing ordinance, and further enact an ordinance which, while protecting the interests of the property holders and residents, will insure the peace and welfare of the community and conduce to elevate the general moral standard; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the honorable Mayor and City Council.

"Resolved, That the sense of every citizen, father and mother, is outraged by the violation of the law which forbids the selling of liquors to minors."

These resolutions will be presented to the city government. This is an attack on the wholesale and reckless licensing of bar rooms that will end in stirring up this entire city against the evil which has already grown unbearable. Every woman exercises influence over at least one man, and the women will never cease in this work until the men are aroused to vigorous and decisive action. The opening of bar rooms in every part of the residence districts, and in close proximity to churches and schools, has startled the community with the flagrant disregard of decency and morality exhibited by the Council, while the presence, not only of minors, but of small children, in groggeries has come to be one of the commonest sights to be met with. Since it has come out that the politicians are filling the town with drinking places, in order to carry on their own political campaigns, it is plain that they will stop at nothing. The rebuke administered by the women will start a movement that must call down maledictions on these grog-shop campaigners. The work should go on until they are all overthrown.—Picayune, Nov. 4.

This is a hopeful sign. When the women of a community, of all social grades and all political and religious creeds, band themselves together for the purpose of bringing about a great moral reform, they are sure to succeed in the end. In our opinion, this meeting is the first step in a great movement whose beneficent results will be felt by coming generations. We invoke heaven's blessings upon these good women in their noble work.

Notice.

EDUCATIONAL LOAN FUND ASSOCIATION, NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Let each secretary and treasurer of the several district auxiliaries of the Educational Loan Fund Association, North Mississippi Conference, please send me answers to the following:

Number of members in auxiliary society paying per year, $1. 2. Number paying $2, $2 50 or $5. 3. Number paying any amount for any length of time. 4. Total amount collected.

Please report to me at once, so that I may be able to report, through the Board of Education, to the Annual Conference, as provided by the constitution. J. W. MALONE,

Sec. and Treas. Conf. Board of Managers.

Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

At an executive meeting of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference, held on Nov. 6, at Carondelet Street Church, it was resolved to hold the annual meeting, on Dec. 5, at Louisiana Avenue Church. Dr. Walter R. Lambuth will address the convention. Delegates from the different parishes will communicate with me at once. Entertainment will be furnished to all delegates.

MRS. FLORENCE E. RUSS,
918 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Take Notice.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Preachers and others knowing what books they will want to purchase at the session of the Conference, Nov. 29, will please notify me in due time that I may have them on hand. The under-graduates will please inform me at once of the books that they will need.

Those indebted to me for books or papers will confer a favor by remitting at once or by settling on the first day of the Conference.

G. W. BACHMAN,
Colporter and Sunday-School Agent.

Kosciusko, Miss.

For Debility and Wakefulness
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. G. G. BREWER, Baltimore, Md., says: "The best results I have seen from it, was in a young man debilitated from malarial fever. I am myself taking it at night to get sleep."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

Topic for Nov. 12.

THE LAW OF LIBERTY.

(James 1, 21-25.)

This passage defines the relation of man to the word of truth, which in verse 25 is spoken of as "the perfect law of liberty."

(Verse 21.) As a condition to the proper reception of the word, man must be willing to separate himself from every species of moral defilement, to put away or renounce "all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness." Having done this, he is prepared to receive the word in a spirit of meekness. He can not do this as long as out of his heart there proceed "evil thoughts, murders, etc....the things which defile a man." The word, if received, into the heart, the soil of which has been thus prepared for it, is able, like a graft in a tree, to regenerate—to save. "Receive with meekness the ingrafted word, which is able to save your souls."

(Verse 22.) Receiving the word is more than simply hearing it with the ear. It must come into a man's life as a law of action, so that he becomes "a doer of the word." Listening to sermons is not in itself receiving the word, but a means of receiving it; and, says James, the man who errs in this matter is a self-deceived man. The man who hears the principles of holiness and love proclaimed, and yet does not receive them to regulate his own life, hears in vain; and, too, the man who has all his life heard that Christ died for sinners, and yet has not told them of it, has heard in vain.

(Verses 23, 24.) The condition of the self-deceived man is strikingly illustrated here. He sees his natural sinful image reflected in the gospel mirror, "as a man beholding his natural face in a glass;" but deferring the matter of seeking spiritual healing for his soul, he goes away and forgets he is a sinner. After a while, he vainly imagines he is righteous, thus being grossly self-deceived. Compare our Lord's illustration (Matt. vii, 24-27).

(Verse 25.) The word of truth is to the Christian a "perfect law of liberty." All his words, thoughts and actions are regulated by it, and so it is to him a law. It is a law of liberty because it is a law of love. Love is the motive behind the action of the man who has submitted himself to the law of Christ; he who is prevented from serving the object of his love is a slave, but he who is able to comply with the wishes of one whom he loves enjoys perfect liberty. Christ's "yoke is easy, and his burden is light." To the natural man the expression "law of liberty" is contradictory; but to the spiritual man it is far otherwise.

The man who recognizes the word of truth as "the perfect law of liberty," applies himself to it (1) intensely ("looketh into"), (2) continuously (continueth therein), and (3) with the view of regulating his life (not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work), shall be supremely "blessed in his deed," or doing.

Grenada district, North Mississippi Conference, Rev. R. A. Burroughs, P. E., has six Epworth Leagues in active operation. Meridian district, Mississippi Conference, Rev. T. L. Mellen, P. E., has five Epworth Leagues doing successful work.

A league was recently organized at Cleveland, Miss., with forty members, and is doing well.

Why the Epworth League Was Organized.

(Continued.)

Increased loyalty to Methodism was seen to be needed, as well as the mere opening of some avenue for Christian effort; and this need was felt, not because of narrowness or sectarian bigotry, but because of the firm conviction that the doctrines and methods of our church are soul-saving [doctrines and methods, in full accord with the evangelistic spirit of the apostles and early church.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor furnishes field for spiritual exercise, and even requires that its members pledge loyalty to the church to which they belong, and thus far serves the purpose; but it is unable, from its nature, to furnish the drilling needed to make intelligent, and, consequently, loyal Methodists. The danger with Methodism is not that it will become too selfish, losing sight of the fact that all Christians are brethren; but the danger is in the other direction, that it will become so liberal, as to lose possession of its treasures, allowing some other organization to fall heir to them.

Mr. Clarke, founder of the Y. P. S. C. E., says that he has found the Methodists to be the slowest of all the denominations to take hold of the Endeavor movement. The wisdom of their course, in this particular, is now being vindicated in the fact that other denominations are already beginning in some places to give their Endeavor societies a denominational stamp, while Methodists have stood squarely by their position from the beginning, and with good results.

(To be continued.)

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the first year will meet at eight o'clock, Tuesday morning, Nov. 28, at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss. JNO. W. BELL,
For the Committee.

Ripley, Miss., Nov. 1, 1893.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 A. M. HESLEP R. TUCKER,
G. W. GORDON,
E. H. CACY,
Committee.

The class of the third year will please meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Nov. 27, 1893, at eight P. M.
T. Y. RAMSEY,
R. M. DAVIS,
H. C. MCREHEAD,
Committee.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission into the Louisiana Annual Conference will meet at the Methodist Church in Homer, La., on Wednesday, Dec. 13.
J. M. BEARD.

The class of the first year will meet at Methodist Church, Homer, La., at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 13.
WM. H. LA PRADE.

The class of the third year will please meet committee for examination in Homer, La., Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at seven o'clock, at such place as the pastor may designate, and oblige
THOS. B. WHITE,
For Committee.

Arcadia, La.

Notice.

Applicants for admission on trial into the North Mississippi Conference will please meet promptly at three o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 27, at the Methodist Church in Columbus. The committee will be there to conduct the examination in accordance with the directions of the Discipline, page 384, ¶485, and page 87, ¶138, concerning the course of study. Let applicants be well prepared on the subjects designated. The committee restrict the "Ordinary Branches of an English Education" in this examination to spelling, reading, composition, English grammar, geography and arithmetic.
W. T. J. SULLIVAN, Chair'n.

Notice.

The preachers of the Vicksburg district are requested to send me a copy of their statistical reports at the earliest time possible, in order to enable me to comply with the instructions of Bishop Key. I will leave for Conference on Dec. 5. D. A. LITTLE.

Positive and Negative.

The Race Question is still unsettled. But it is settled that Hood's Sarsaparilla leads all remedies.

Dyspepsia is a great foe of the human race. But Hood's Sarsaparilla puts it to flight.

Scrofula is one of the most terrible of diseases. But Hood's Sarsaparilla expels it from the system.

Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable disorders. But Hood's Sarsaparilla is sure to relieve and cure it.

Rheumatism racks the system like a thumb-screw. But it retreats before the power of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite leads to melancholia. But Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the plainest repast tickle the palate.

Life is short and time is fleeting, but Hood's Sarsaparilla will bless humanity as the ages roll on.

Attention.

Members of the Louisiana Conference living below Alexandria who expect to go to Homer, via Monroe, will please notify me at their earliest convenience that I may provide stopping-places for them while waiting for the "Houston Central" train in this place.
THOS. J. UPTON.

Alexandria, La.

Sick-headache yields to BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Skepticism and Superstition.

The man who has no faith in religion is often the man who has faith in a nightmare. Julius Cæsar publicly denounced a belief in a hereafter, and rejected the idea of a soul and a deity, yet muttered a charm when he entered a chariot, and did not cross the Rubicon until he had consulted the omens. Lord Herbert, of Cherbourg, writes a book against revelation, and asks a sign from heaven to tell him if his book is approved by his Maker. The man who can not believe in the miracles performed by the Savior, gravely tells us of a miracle vouchsafed to himself.—Christian Thought.

THE
Southern Mercantile Com'y,
OF NEW ORLEANS.
235 CANAL STREET, - NEW ORLEANS, LA.

We are doing this to advertise our goods. Sending you a $35 Watch, a full-jewelled Elgin, Waltham, or Standard Movement, in a Bassfilled, 14 Kt., Gold Case, warranted for twenty years, without a cent of cost, to be examined and tried; and if you find it as we represent it, you may send us the special advertising price of $12 80, and keep it. We must get a trade established in every locality. Write to us for one to look at. It costs you nothing.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,
MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.
Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.
Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,
MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.
LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.
E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

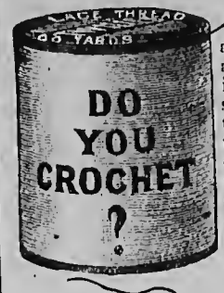
I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

Established 1857.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT
Frink's Patent Reflectors for Gas, Oil, or Electric, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular & estimate. A liberal discount to churches & the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.
I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.



GLASGO TWILLED LACE THREAD
A thread which all lovers of fancy work —FOR— appreciate at once. The twilly appearance, which is peculiar to itself, makes it superior to any other thread for every sort of fancy work, from bed spreads to tatting and point lace. It is also equal to the very best threads made in the country for all sewing purposes, whether by hand or machine. Ask your dealer for it, or send 10c. for sample spool, 500 yards. Illustrated Crochet Books, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, 10c. each. 12 nice tidy patterns, 5c. each. 12 bed spread patterns, 5c. each. All postpaid. Either of above books sent free with an order for 12 patterns.
Crocheting, Knitting, Tatting.
GLASGO LACE THREAD CO., Glasgo, Conn.

Queen & Crescent Route
"Finest Trains in the South."

Through Cars to Chicago without change, from New Orleans, Meridian, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Jacksonville, Fla., Atlanta, Macon, Lexington and Georgetown, Ky. Choice of routes via Cincinnati or via Louisville. Stop-overs allowed on all World's Fair tickets, at Chattanooga, Louisville, Indianapolis or Cincinnati.
For further information as to Rates, Car Service, Sleeping Car Reservations, etc., call on or address any agent of the Queen & Crescent Route or E. T. V. & G. Ry.
W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

THROUGH CARS TO CHICAGO.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.
H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.
Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.
Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.
For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

HEALTHY EXERCISE—fresh air and proper food, help to keep a woman in good condition. It's magnificent for some, weakened or borne down as they are by the ailments and irregularities peculiar to their sex.

They're easily helped, though; there's a remedy in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—that will build up and cure every enfeebled woman. It's the prescription of a physician; has been tested in thousands of cases, and never found wanting.

The only risk that's taken is that of the manufacturers who promise to refund the money if no benefit is experienced.

This "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble. Dizziness, fainting spells, and nervous disorders, such as sleeplessness, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, depend upon the irregularities and displacements of the special structures—the "Favorite Prescription" cures by regulating and correcting these functions and organic changes.

Dr. Sage's Remedy positively cures Catarrh.

FOR CATARRH!
RHEUMATISM!
LA GRIPPE!
INDIGESTION!

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 3, 1893.
Some years ago I had an attack of grip, which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used King's Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure in my case. I had indigestion, and it cured that also. I have recommended it to several persons who were afflicted with different diseases, and always with the happiest results.
REV. J. W. HOWARD,
Baptist City Missionary.

BEAUFORT, N. C., June 7, 1893.
I was a sufferer from rheumatism for eight months, part of the time was so that I could not walk. I was entirely cured by King's Royal Germetuer. I have no symptoms of rheumatism now. I think it is a great medicine.
IVAN B. ABERNATHY.

What Rev. Sam Jones Says.
Rev. Sam Jones, the great evangelist, writes: "My wife, who was an invalid from nervous sick headache, has been entirely cured by Royal Germetuer. I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine. Two of my children were cured of nasal catarrh by it. It is truly a great medicine."

For Children, Nervous Troubles and Weak and Debilitated Females, Royal Germetuer is unequalled. Try it. $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.
King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Germetuer Pills for Constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,
Attorney-at-Law,
49 CAMP STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!
Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.
All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.
Feathers purged of all impurities.
44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.
Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.
The Leading Conservatory of America.
In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.
FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.
The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres.,
Grenada, Miss

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.
BUREAU OF EDUCATION.
Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.
Apply to MISS S. O. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

MY KINGDOM.

BY C. H. CRAWFORD.

"Not of this world," the Master said.
If so, then would my servants fight.
'Tis from above—the spirit realm—
My throne is set on hills of light.

"Not of this world"—my kingdom stands.
In vain its strongest foes assail.
'Tis built on Rock—eternal, sure;
Nor shall the gates of hell prevail.

"Not of this world," and yet it fills
All earth—thus spake the seer of old;
Cut out the mountain without hands,
As by prophetic lips foretold.

"Not of this world," yet fixed within Each heart that longs its growth to see.
"Lord Jesus, let thy kingdom come
With grace to all mankind and me."
—New York Observer.

Daily Reading of God's Word.

A professing Christian said not long ago that after a perusal of the quarterlies, magazines and other popular literature, he seldom found any time for reading the Scriptures. He seemed to have commenced reading backwards, leaving the most important matter until the last.

As the compass is the mariner's guide, so God's Word is the Christian's guide; without it he can not reasonably hope to gain the harbor. A certain man who carried on a large business, never through all his busy years failed in secret devotions, the reading of the Bible, or the offering of morning and evening prayer. The sky might indicate a storm or work be very urgent, yet there was no short chapter selected, nor were the fervent petitions shortened, although seven or eight hired men were in attendance at the family worship.

Was this man prospered? Indeed he was. His crops were luxuriant, his flocks and herds increased; God gave him good measure, pressed down, and running over.

There sometimes seems good reason to question the wisdom of the multiplying of books, magazines, and papers; they seem to draw away the mind from Bible reading. Yet God's children all know that God's Word contains the most precious jewels of all literature.

The Bible should not be read as other books are. A portion of each day should be set aside for the careful study of Scriptures. This should not be omitted. If one can only take a single text and spend a few moments over it, thinking it over while busied with other things, a good deal may be learned. How precious are these texts in hours of sorrow and temptation, like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land and a shelter in time of storm!—American Messenger.

Dots on Family Government.

At a great stock fair in Kentucky a certain deacon took "a gold medal for the finest horse, and for the finest bull, and one for the finest mule, and a silver medal for the finest hog, and one for the finest Merino buck." But alas! alas! his own worthless son was so drunk he had to be hauled from the fair ground in a dump cart. No doubt that deacon had given more time and labor to improving his horses and cows and mules and sheep and hogs than to raising his own son. Are there not some such deacons and fathers in Texas? How will such parents meet their neglected, ruined sons before that Judge who has commanded, "Train up a child in the way he should go;" bring up your children "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord?"—The Guardian.

The Lake Dwellers.

In Switzerland one Winter when it was very cold, the rivers were frozen and the lakes were very shallow. The people who lived on the border of one of the lakes determined to make their gardens larger by running their side walls out into the lake and building a wall across to shut out the lake. Then they were going to fill in the space thus enclosed with mud taken from the lake bed. When they commenced to dredge they came upon a quantity of spiles and ivory and stone and bronze tools. Investigations proved that above this lake, and, indeed, above others in Switzerland, had once risen the homes of a people who lived in dwellings built high above the water on spiles of logs driven into the bed of the lake. One lake having been drained, two settlements were found in it, one at each end. The part of the eastern settlement which used to stand above the water had been destroyed by fire, and the charred remains could still be seen. Nobody had ever dreamed of the existence of such peoples. They are now known as the "Lake Dwellers."—Exchange.

Christ's Ownership.

No man can belong to Christ who does not "let his light shine before men." We owe him time, talents, money, toil and sacrifice of self to his service. Not the cheese parings or the candle-ends are to be turned over to him. He has a sovereign right to the best. And if we are ready to acknowledge that, if we gladly consecrate to him our energy, influence, purse and hearts, O how he will take us into the closest, sweetest, tenderest intimacy of his love! Not servants merely will we be, but confidential friends. Living thus on him, with him, and for him, we shall be able to say, with stout old Bradwardine: "Thyself, my Lord, I love above all things, and not for aught else will I ever seek with all my heart and strength, with continual labor and weeping. If thou givest me not thyself, thou givest me nothing. Then thou doest but torture me. Grant me, O precious Lord, that in the present life I may ever love thee for thyself, and in the future world may find thee and be forever with thee."—New York Evangelist.

Aim High.

This excellent advice the New York Observer gives its youthful readers:

Boys and girls, aim high. Do not say, "I will be pretty good," but endeavor to be perfect.

A great artist was once highly praised for a beautiful painting which he had just completed. "Ah, do not praise me," he said, sadly; "it may be very beautiful; but I aimed at perfection."

I once put the following question to a ragged little newsboy: "What are you going to be when you are a man?" The little fellow met my half quizzical glance with a look of determination in his bright eyes; then he replied, "President of the United States, sir." That lad may not become President, but he will not remain a newsboy.

George Eliot, in writing the last words of one of her most powerful novels, exclaims, "It is so much less than I hoped for, I am dissatisfied."

Bear this in mind; "If we aim at the ground, we shall never reach the sky."

Dr. Price's
Cream Baking Powder

Is the only Baking Powder free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulteration. Hence the only Wholesome One.

Baking Powders branded "Absolutely Pure"
Contain either Alum or Ammonia.

When high, flaky white biscuit, pastry of surpassing fineness, delicacy and flavor or
Cake that is light, sweet and retains its moisture is desired,

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

is indispensable and incomparable.

Its higher leavening power makes it more economical than any other, and it never disappoints.

OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

THE CAUSE OF IT ALL.

BY H. C. DODGE.

What brings a man from station high
Down to the gutter—there to lie
With fellow tramps and meanly die?
Whisky.

What takes his self-respect away
And makes him poorer day by day
And causes health to soon decay?
Whisky.

What wrecks his happy home so sweet
And turns his family on the street
To hog and starve in woe complete?
Whisky.

What makes his loving wife to moan
And weep heart-broken and alone,
To pray for one who strikes her prone?
Whisky.

What makes him lose all friendship dear
While strangers shun his presence drear
And children from him fly in fear?
Whisky.

What makes him carry on his nose
The horrid sign a drunkard shows,
And wear old, dirty, ragged clothes?
Whisky.

What makes him in the poor house dwell,
Or fill a prison's lonesome cell,
Or on the gallows hear his knell?
Whisky.

And what should everybody seek
To rid the world of, so the weak
May not be crushed by tempters sleek?
Whisky.

Boys, Read This.

Chauncey Depew, against whom no one would think of charging a Puritanic spirit, speaks as follows on the temperance question: "Twenty-five years ago I knew every man, woman and child in Peekskill. And it has been a study with me to mark boys who started in every grade of life with myself, to see what has become of them. I was up last Fall and began to count them over, and it was an instructive exhibit. Some of them became clerks, merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, doctors. It is remarkable that every one of those who drank is dead; not one living of my age. Barring a few who were taken off by sickness, every one who proved a wreck and wrecked his family did it from rum, and no other cause. Of those who were church-going people, who were steady, industrious and hard-working men, who were frugal and thrifty, every single one of them, without an exception, owns the house in which he lives and has something laid by, the interest of which, with his house, would carry him through many a rainy day. When a man becomes debased with gambling, rum or drink, he does not care; all his finer feelings are crowded out. The poor women at home are the ones who suffer—suffer in their tenderest emotions, suffer in their affections for those whom they love better than life."—Exchange.

The Gentleman's Psalm.

Very few people would agree exactly in giving a definition of a gentleman. Some have the idea that he is a man who lives on the income of his property and does no work; others have other ideas on the subject. Here is one that was once given by a Christian lady. She was the widow of an officer in the army, and was at a review with her young son when several officers who had known her late husband came to talk to her, and the conversation ran on former common friends. At last she asked about a certain captain who had risen from the ranks by distinguished service.

"Oh," said one of the officers, "I don't know anything about him; he's a snob."

"A snob!" answered the lady, fired with indignation; "I tell you he was the truest gentleman in the regiment."

"Indeed!" said her companion, with a sneer; "then, as you seem to be so conversant with the matter, perhaps you will kindly tell us what is a gentleman."

Quietly, and without a moment's hesitation, the lady, looking straight in his face, repeated the fifteenth Psalm.

"That is my definition of a gentleman," said she.

Her little boy, a mere child of eight or ten, was by. A day or two afterwards she happened to find in his pocket a piece of paper, on which was written out, in his childish hand, the whole of this Psalm, and at the beginning it was headed, "The Gentleman's Psalm."—Christian Herald.

Prince Bismarck says that when we read a medical book we are apt to conclude we have all the maladies it describes. But when we read a book on morals, we seem to think it is our neighbor has all the maladies it describes.

Worth Winning.

There was a boy who "lived out," named John. Every week he wrote home to his mother, who lived on a small farm way up in the hills. One day John picked up an old envelope from the kitchen wood box, and saw that the postage stamp on it was not touched by the postmaster's stamp to show that it had done its duty, and henceforth was useless.

"The postmaster missed his aim then," said John, "and left the stamp as good as new. I'll use it myself."

He moistened it at the nose of the tea-kettle, and very carefully pulled the stamp off.

"No," said John's conscience, "for that would be cheating. The stamp has been on one letter. It ought not to carry another."

"It can carry another," said John, "because you see, there's no mark to prove it worthless. The postoffice will not know."

"But you know," said conscience, "and that is enough. It is not honest to use it a second time. It is a little matter to be sure, but it is cheating. God looks for principle. It is the quality of every action that he judges by."

"But no one will know it," said John, faintly.

"No one?" cried conscience. "God will know it, and that is enough; and he, you know, desires the truth in the inward parts."

"Yes," cried all the best part of John's character; "yes, it is cheating to use the postage stamp a second time, and I will not do it."

John tore it in two and gave it to the winds. And so John won a victory. Wasn't it worth winning?—Good Words.

"I Grabbed Quick."

Johnny one night climbed up into his mother's lap, and laying his head on her shoulder, said in a low, sorry tone:

"I took that glass marble, mama."

"Took it from whom?" asked his mother.

"Took it from the ground?" said Johnny.

"Did it belong to the ground?" asked his mother. "Did the ground go to the shop and buy it?"

Johnny tried to laugh at such a funny thought, but he could not.

"I saw it on the ground," said he.

"What little boy had it before?"

"Asa May's it is, I guess," whispered Johnny.

"When you put out your hand to take it, did you forget, 'Thou God seest me?'" asked his mother. "Did you not hear a voice saying, 'Don't Johnny! don't, Johnny!'"

"I didn't hear it," said the boy, sobbing. "I grabbed quick?"

Johnny is not the only one who has "grabbed quick" at some forbidden thing—too quick to hear the still small voice within. It is better not to grab too quick; to take time for thought and prayer; to watch and pray; to resist temptation; and to avoid the stings of guilty conscience, and the sorrows and stains that sin will bring upon the soul.—Selected.

Loss of the World.

"Demas hath forsaken me." (II. Tim. iv, 10.) Little did this faithless man know that the Bible was to be his gibbet, and that everywhere men would learn, to the end of time, the name of the man who might have been like Luke, revered, for his steadfastness, instead of becoming notorious for want of loyalty.

Love of the world was this man's curse. It is still the cause of thousands of Christians falling from steadfastness. It may have been money he cared for, or pleasure, or something else opposed to the will of God. These things are not to be loved, they are to be used, but not put in the place of the things which abide for ever. If we find that our hearts are becoming set on them, let us cast them far from us, as the sailors did in Jonah's time, the wares of the ship.—The Truth.

If men would use the same painstaking care in all their affairs that they do when cleaning the snow off their sidewalk, to see that they don't encroach upon their neighbor's property, success would only be a question of time.—Exchange.

You would like the lamp-chimneys that do not amuse themselves by popping at inconvenient times, wouldn't you?

A chimney ought not to break any more than a tumbler. A tumbler breaks when it tumbles.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass"—they don't break from heat, not one in a hundred; a chimney lasts for years sometimes.
Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

PERFECT Leather with Vacuum Leather Oil in it; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.
Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

ALL THE COMFORTS
OF HOME
includes the great temperance drink
Hires' Root Beer
It gives New Life to the Old Folks,
Pleasure to the Parents,
Health to the Children.
Good for All—Good All the Time.
A 25 cent package makes Five gallons. Be sure and get Hires.'

ATHENS, GA.
I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.
Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.
—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. H. Funk, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that malaria from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. I will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.
PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. H. Funk, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.
For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,
No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.
I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the travelling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.
WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. H. Lown, Mills Building, New York.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

MARRIAGES.

WELLS—BLACK.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Bolton, Miss., Oct. 11, 1893, by Rev. J. A. B. Jones, Mr. Will S. Wells and Miss Lillie Black, daughter of James M. Black and niece of Rev. W. C. Black, D. D.

BARR—SHACKELFORD.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Anding, Miss., Oct. 26, 1893, by Rev. T. H. King, Mr. S. S. Barr and Miss Sallie A. Shackelford, all of Yazoo county.

BRIDGES-BURT.—At the residence of the bride's father, Oct. 22, by Rev. W. W. Morse, Mr. J. E. Bridges and Miss Georgie Burt, all of Copiah county, Miss.

PORTER-BAREFIELD.—At the Central Church, near Barnett, Clark county, Miss., Oct. 26, 1893, by Rev. R. Bradley, Mr. I. D. Porter to Miss Lizzie Barefield.

O friend! no proof beyond this yearning,
This outreach of our hearts we need:
God will not mock the hope he giveth,
No love he prompts shall vainly plead.

Then let us stretch our hands in darkness,
And call our loved ones o'er and o'er;
Some day their arms shall close about us,
And the old voices speak once more.

No dreary splendors wait our coming
Where rapt ghost sits from ghost apart;
Homeward we go to heaven's thanksgiving,
The harvest-gathering of the heart.

—Selected.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

McCALLUM—Mrs. EVELINE BELZONIA McCALLUM departed this life Sept. 25, 1893. She was the daughter of Rev. B. A. and Sister Eveline Beason. She was born March 12, 1870, and joined the M. E. Church, South, at Pleasant Grove, 1883. She was married to Dr. B. A. McCallum, April 20, 1893.

Mrs. McCallum was one of the sweetest spirited ladies we ever knew. Her example was such that the old and young at home and at church considered her not only a true Christian, but a correct leader for good. She was always ready to pray when called upon, and that was frequently the case. She was able in prayer. At home she was obedient to papa and mama in all things. Her brothers and sisters who have homes of their own loved her dearly. They all had something good to say for Miss Bell. When her remains reached the church that she first joined and loved so dearly until her death there were many sad hearts to receive them; some fainting and many tears shed while Bro. J. M. Weems was preaching her funeral. Just before she died she told her mama where she wished to be buried. Her remains now sleep by her brother Jeff's, who died a few years ago. At the time of his death he was one of the best of stewards in the M. E. Church. I would say to Miss Emma, the youngest sister of Mrs. McCallum, to grieve not. That voice which sang so sweetly with you in the church on earth has joined the choir above. Husband, papa, mama, brothers and sisters, grieve not. Sister McCallum is in heaven, waiting for us beyond the river. I would say to the children of this community: Take the advice that Miss Bell gave in the prayer meeting and Sabbath-school, and as you place your little bouquets upon her grave remember she still loves you. L. J. JONES, P. C.

JONES—Mrs. MARY, wife of Joseph Jones, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Johnson, was born in Wentworth county, Ont., Aug. 3, 1854, and was married Dec. 18, 1872. Though brought up a Presbyterian, soon after her marriage she, with her husband, was confirmed in the Church of England by the venerable Bishop Fuller, and remained a consistent and esteemed communicant of this church until she moved, with her husband and daughter, to Brookhaven, Miss., in 1889, when she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Sister Jones came among us in search of health, and for quite a time the hope was strong that her life would be prolonged to bless the church of her adoption. But her hope was soon changed to glad fruition, her faith to sight, and her prayer to praise. On the morning of Sept 26, 1891, she sweetly fell on sleep, with her heart staid on him who said, "I am the resurrection and the life." She was a sweet-spirited, refined Christian woman, and soon drew around her a large circle of true friends in our church and community who loved and honored her, and devoted their time and skill to efforts to prolong her precious life; and when the will of God prevailed a large concourse followed her sleeping dust to the church and the grave, sadly bereaved.

J. M. WEEMS.

GANNON—KATIE GANNON, daughter of Mr. William and Elisabeth Williams, both of Plaquemines parish, La. Sister Gannon was born May 5, 1843, and was married to W. M. Gannon, Jan. 2, 1867. Sister Gannon was not a member of any church or made any profession of religion at the time of her wedlock; but she was a good woman, a kind neighbor. She was loved by those who knew her. In 1891 I was admitted into the Louisiana Conference, and appointed to the Lower Coast Mission for 1892, where I formed the acquaintance of Sister Gannon. In April, 1892 she and her husband, W. M. Gannon, professed a faith in Christ and joined the M. E. Church. It was my privilege to visit Bro. and Sister Gannon often. Sister Gannon has been a sufferer for three years. She lost her only child (a son) at Covington, La., three years ago. Grief for her son, doubtless, was the cause of her long suffering. Notwithstanding her suffering she was made strong by her faith in Christ. I often talked with Sister Gannon in reference to her hope in Christ. She always said she was ready to go when the blessed Master called for her. I found her consistent in her short Christian life. On Sept 20, 1893, the angel of death came for her to call her home to the Father of Lights. Blessed are they that die in Christ! May God comfort her husband and friends!

J. R. ROY, P. C.

Daisy, La

McFARLAND—MARY E. McFARLAND was born in Georgia, March 3, 1831; died in Coushatta, La., Sept. 20, 1893. Sister McFarland was twice married. First to J. B. Watts, somewhere about 1850. There were five children from this union. She was again married to J. P. McFarland about 1865, Watts having died during the war. J. P. McFarland was licensed to preach in 1876, about one year before his wife joined the M. E. Church, South. The writer was well acquainted with Sister McFarland, there being only a fence between the parsonage and where she lived, and we can safely say she died in the faith. She bore her last illness patiently. She was confined to her bed for more that two weeks before she died. She leaves husband, children and many friends to mourn her departure, but she is with the Lord. W. H. HILL, P. C.

GRANT—In Covington, Tenn., Aug. 15, 1893, Mrs. JULIA M. GRANT, born Aug 15, 1846, on the plantation of her father, Dr. W. D. Anderson. Nov. 8, 1871, she became the wife of Rev. W. T. Grant. She was converted when only eight years old, and her consistent life through all its years was sufficient evidence of its genuineness. In the village in which she lived no stronger argument for early conversion and the admission of little children to full church membership was needed than this gentle woman's walk and conversation. As wife, mother, daughter, friend, all took knowledge she had been with Jesus. Modest as the lowly violet one had to search for the flower whose sweetness so attracted. As the days pass by her church will more fully appreciate the simple dignity of her character. Surrounded by pastor and friends, her spirit took its flight heavenward. We could imagine its entrance, welcomed with her Lord's benediction. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

OSTEEN—Sister ELIZABETH OSTEEN departed this life Aug 26, 1893. She was a consistent member of the M. E. Church, South, twenty-nine years. In the year 1865 she was married to Bro. John Osteen. During the twenty-eight years that they lived together there were many pleasant hours spent. She loved her church so dearly that her home was always a home to itinerant preachers, all of which her husband sanctioned, which made home pleasant.

Sister Osteen at the time of her death was living in Wellman, Miss. She had charge of a class in the Sunday-school. She was beloved by all who knew her. She was sick five weeks. During the time she talked of her church and Sunday-school. She had much to say about how happy she felt during her sickness. While we miss her here we can think of her eternal gain, and the grand meeting of Sister Osteen, son and daughter in heaven, and the hope that the husband and remaining part of the family have of joining them in that sweet by-and-by.

L. J. JONES, P. C.

WELLS—The subject of this obituary, Mrs. NANCY JANE WELLS (nee Brice) departed this life July 11, 1893. She was twice married: first, to J. D. Bridger in 1829 who died in 1840, leaving her with six children; second, to S. J. Wells in 1845, who also preceded her to his eternal abode, leaving her with ten children, of which eight survive to mourn her departure. She is mother of 10 children, 51 grandchildren and 43 great-grandchildren. Grandma was a good mother, a faithful wife, a good neighbor, a consistent member of the church, and, we hope, a true Christian. Her children and all who ever knew her can say they never heard her speak evil of anyone; she was always such a quiet, peaceful woman. It is hard to think that we shall never see her bright face on this earth again; but God knows best.

May God bless the bereaved, and help them to meet her in the sweet by-and-by!

HER DEAR GRANDDAUGHTER.

McCOMB—EMMA SHELBY McCOMB, daughter of Mr. and Mrs E. S. McComb, was born April 6, 1891, and died at Rolling Fork, Miss., Oct. 1, 1893.

She was a bright and beautiful child, and it seems sad that the death angel should come and tear the precious little one from the loving embrace of her fond parents. Yet we know that the "Lord doeth all things well." "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away." Little Emma is now at home with Jesus, awaiting the coming of mama and papa. She has simply crossed over the river of death a little in advance of those left behind. May God comfort the bereaved parents, and enable them to live true and faithful until death

W. H. LEWIS.

McGRAW—JOHN WESLEY, little son of Silas and Lizzie McGraw, departed this life Sept. 25, 1893, aged three years and eight months.

Johnnie was a bright little Christian, called the preachers brother, and was the pet of the home and a great favorite with the neighbors. He seemed to enjoy family devotion, and would sometimes repeat along his father's words in prayer. A short while before he passed away he tried to sing "Sweet by and by," and "Savior, wash me in the blood." The fond parents are sadly bereaved, but are comforted with the hope of meeting this dear little boy again. J. F. WYNN, P. C.

Pineville, La.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Dr. Lansing, a missionary in Egypt, states that a native deacon at Stuft, sixty miles south of Cairo, suspended ten of his members for such doings as bad dispositions, vanity, stinginess, and not allowing their wives to go to weekly prayer meetings. Whereupon the Lutheran Observer is moved to say: "What a thinning out there would be if such things were permitted to have weight in the United States!"

We will mail free, on receipt of two cents in stamps, a sample box of Dr. Davis' Liver Pills. They will cure costiveness, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, piles, and all disorders that arise from a diseased liver and impure blood.

JOHN H. COLLINS & CO.,
208 Market St., Phila., Pa.
For sale by all druggists at 25c. per box.

The man who is climbing the Alps has not to follow his guide and set his foot in the right spot before him. Tois is the way you and I most let Christ lead. Dr. Cuyler.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH.
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Divine knowledge is not as the light of the moon, to sleep by; but as the light of the sun, to work by.—The Rev. Wm. Secker.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a teacher's Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating. "Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents. Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds. SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.

The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893.
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address
Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,428,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies.
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SOMA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.06
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.62
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, F. R. BICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining.
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

EMORY COLLEGE
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta
Location Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons.
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Gen. Leon Jastremski, of Louisiana, was appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, on Nov. 2, as consul at Callao, Peru.

Owing to the death of Mayor Carter H. Harrison, the council of Chicago met on Nov. 4 to elect his successor, and, after a disgraceful row in the council chamber, George B. Swift, a Republican, was elected by a majority of one.

Congress will have plenty of business to begin work upon when it assembles in December. The committees have not been idle during the extra session, and have placed upon the calendars of both Senate and House a number of bills, which will be called at an early day. In the House there will be the pending business, the bankruptcy bill.

The McCreedy Chinese bill, which passed the Senate on Nov. 2, in the House bill unamended. It extends for six months the time under which Chinese can register under the Geary law and for the deportation after this time of any Chinese laborer found in the United States without a certificate of registration. It provides that the word "laborer" shall be construed to mean skilled and unskilled laborers, while a Chinese merchant shall be a Chinaman devoted exclusively to mercantile pursuits and not engaged as a laborer at all.

Congress adjourned on Nov. 3. The session of the Senate will be long memorable for the contest over the repeal of the purchasing clause of the silver purchasing act of 1890, known as the Sherman law. The extraordinary session was called for the purpose of accomplishing this repeal, and the other work accomplished was merely incidental. That bill reached the Senate after its passage by the House on Aug. 28, and was not passed by the Senate until Oct. 30. The bill provides in effect for the cessation of the purchase and coinage of silver, and may be said to mark a revolution in the financial history of the country.

Fast express train No. 51 on the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, known as the cannon ball, due at Little Rock, Ark., at 2:10 A. M., was held up and robbed by seven masked men at Oliphant, Ark., seven miles north of Newport, at 10 o'clock on Nov. 3. Passenger Conductor J. P. McNally was shot and killed while trying to protect his train. The robbers then entered the express car, overpowered the messenger and looted the car. Leaving two men to guard the trainmen, the other robbers proceeded to rob the passengers. They entered the coaches and sleepers, and at the point of revolvers relieved all the passengers of their valuables.

It appears that the World's Fair is to leave a permanent memorial in Chicago in the shape of a grand public museum. It is intended to locate it in the most beautiful building at Jackson Park, the Art Palace. A board of trustees has been chosen, and the wealthy men of the city are putting up goodly sums of money to make the project a success. Marshall Field says that he will give $1,000,000 towards it, provided another $500 000 can be raised, and that $2 000 000 stock of the exposition be assigned to the trustees of the museum. George M. Pullman says that he will give $100 000 of the desired $500,000, and it seems reasonably certain that the rest will readily be secured.

FOREIGN.

The House of Commons reassembled in London on Nov. 2.

The Spanish warships on Nov. 2 bombarded all the Arab villages and houses on the Riff coast, and will continue to do so as long as the tribes are hostile. The Arabs gamely replied, and a number of their shots struck the ships.

The insurgent warship Republic ran into and sank the transport Rio de Janeiro, which was on her way from Rio Grande do Sul to Rio de Janeiro with troops for President Peixoto. Thirteen hundred of the troops were aboard, and of these 500 were drowned.

The British vessels at Rio de Janeiro landed a party of seamen, near the powder magazines of the government, in order to procure sand for stoning the decks. Being mistaken for rebels by Peixoto's soldiers, a magazine was fired, which resulted in the death of two seamen and two lieutenants and the wounding of five men.

A steamer while alongside of the wharf at Santander, Spain, last week, laden with iron ore and 500 cases of dynamite, caught fire and exploded, wrecking the port and destroying hundreds of lives. Thousands of people had been attracted by the fire, and had crowded the wharf to look upon the burning ship. The shower of iron from the dynamite-laden steamer thrown into the air by the explosion fell upon nearly all parts of the town and injured buildings at a remarkable distance from the place where the steamer actually exploded. The anchor of the vessel was blown up in the air by the force of dynamite and fell into a street 800 yards away from where the explosion took place.

The earlier symptoms of dyspepsia, such as distress after eating, heartburn, and occasional headaches, should not be neglected. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless, reliable, sure.

Holiness Revival in West End, Meridian, Miss.

Hundreds of people in this city are praising God for this great revival of "old-time religion." The meeting began Oct. 8, Rev. W. T. Browning helping—a man full of faith and the Holy Ghost. The power of God fell on the people the first service, and there was not a dull service during the whole twenty-two days of the meeting. And twenty were sanctified the first week of the meeting. Rev. Dr. B. Carradine, the flaming evangelist, began with us on the fifteenth, and remained ten days. This man of God is surely called and endowed of the Holy Ghost to "do the work of an evangelist." And under his preaching the Holy Spirit melted and swayed the multitude. Two services a day were held, lasting from three to three and a half hours each, and yet the people did not get weary. The church was packed every night, and sometimes hundreds turned away who could not gain admittance, and the doors had to be shut and guarded to keep the people out.

To say we had a delightful meeting is to express it tamely; rather it was a grand old-time Methodist hallelujah holiness meeting. Voluntary prayers, songs, testimonies and shouts swept like flaming fire over the audience at every service. Christians say that there never has been such a glorious meeting in this city.

As to visible results, I would say that by actual count one hundred and twenty-six have professed sanctification, and they were of the clear, sky-blue, get-up-and-tell-it kind, and, perhaps, many more we do not know of received it; then at the lowest estimate one hundred more, and, perhaps, two hundred were reclaimed and converted. Again, the work and experience of entire sanctification has been firmly planted in every Methodist Church in Meridian, and this means much when I say that the majority of the very best and influential members of these churches are rejoicing in the experience of entire sanctification as a second definite work of the Holy Spirit. Glory to God our Methodism is on fire in Meridian!

The presiding elder and two of our resident pastors are rejoicing in the experience; also three preachers' wives.

I will mention a few incidents of the meeting. I know of two sisters who prayed all night, and on one of the days of special fasting and prayer several were on their knees at the church for six hours. Again, among those sanctified were four preachers of our Conference. Again, an old woman over seventy years of age walked twelve and a half miles to the railroad to come to the meeting, that she might get sanctified—and she received the experience in great power.

W. W. HOPPER.

Oct. 30, 1893.

There has been in progress for some time past, in the recently opened district of Mashonaland, in British South Africa, a border war, which at one time threatened to repeat on a small scale some of the stirring incidents of the campaigns against the Zulus. Mashonaland is governed by the British East Africa Company, which has undertaken the settlement and pacifying of the district.

The Campania, which left New York on Oct. 28, clearing the bar at Sandy Hook at 3:25 A. M., arrived at Brow-head at 11:05 P. M., on Nov. 2, making the passage in 5 days, 9 hours and 30 minutes. This beats all previous records.

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies

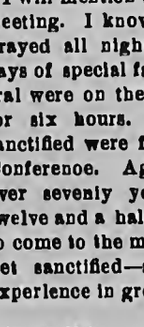
—OR—

Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. BAKER & CO.'S

Breakfast Cocoa



which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, Only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

Filial Love a Blossom of Beauty.

"For they shall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck." (Prov. i, 9.)

All the graces of the Spirit are lovely; but here the foremost of relative duties, a child's reverential regard for a parent, is recommended as an ornament of surpassing beauty. Young men and young women, put that ornament on your heads—twine that chain of gold around your necks! These jewels from heaven, set deep within your souls, and glancing at every turn through the transparency of an unaffected life, will do more to make your persons attractive than all the diamonds that ever decked a queen.

Put on now, O son! daughter! put on these beautiful garments; love, obey, cherish, reverence your parents. These are in God's sight of great price. They are valued not only by the spiritually-minded disciples of Jesus, but even by every man of sense around you. They are thought becoming by all but fools. These ornaments will not be out of date when time has run its course. They will be worn on the golden streets of the New Jerusalem, when the fashion of this world shall have passed away.

Over against this beaming beauty, of similar shape and size, a dark shadow stands. Whithersoever that comely body turns, this ghastly spectre follows it. It is a daughter emerging into womanhood, with ruddy cheek and sparkling eye—with beads on her neck and bracelets on her arms—who has so crushed a mother's heart by constantly trampling down its desires, that the disconsolate mother never utters now the reproof which she knows would be despised. Personal beauty, aided by costly ornaments, can not make that creature gainly. The deformity within will make itself felt through all the finery. The evil spirit that possesses the heart will glance from the eye and tinkle on the tongue, in spite of every effort to act the angel. Every mind that retains in any measure a healthful moral tone will, in close contact with such a character, infallibly be sensible of a discord. The disobedient daughter will gravitate down to the companionship of those who, having no sense of harmony, recoil not from a spirit out of tune. She is miserable, and knows not what ails her. She has broken that commandment which holds a promise in its hand, and been thrown over on the barbs of the counterpart curse. Those who see her impaled alive there, should learn that the moral laws of God have avenging sanctions, even in the powers of nature. Godliness is profitable unto all things. The first commandment is fruitful, even in this life; and the second is like it—like it in its heavenly origin—like it in its holy character—like it in its glad results. Honor thy father and thy mother; this is an ornament of solid gold. Unlike the gilding of superficial accomplishments, the more rudely it is rubbed the more brightly it glows.—Arnot.

Lowering the Flag.

There has never been a more shameful surrender of the claims and crown rights of our Lord Jesus Christ than that witnessed during the Parliament of Religions in Chicago. Baptists and Buddhists, Congregationalists and Confucianists, Episcopalians and Encyclopedists, Methodists and Mohammedans, Presbyterians and Pagans, Christians and Jews, children of God and devil-worshipers, atheists, believers, deists, free-thinkers, materialists, pantheists, rationalists, skeptics, socialists, theosophists, Unitarians, Universalists, all met on terms of perfect equality, extended to each other the hand of fraternal greeting, walked in fellowship, and shouted in tones more or less harmonious for the universal brotherhood of man. Christians who took part in the proceedings agreed to place our Lord in the Pantheon, as the best they could do for him.

The Parliament declares in effect that all religions are equally good, or if the Americans assert that Christianity is superior to the others, it is only a question of degree in excellence. But if Jesus Christ is not infinitely above and apart from every founder of a religion, he is no Savior at all. If the Bible is not the only revelation from God, it is no revelation. Both the Savior and the Scriptures have been unspeakably lowered and degraded by this wretched assemblage; and as Mr. Gilmore, a devoted missionary in Burmah, well says, "It will be used to persuade inquiring Buddhists that they had better not change from Buddhism to Christianity after all. And every missionary who lends his support to the Parliament is unwittingly helping to forge a weapon which will ultimately be turned against his own work."—The Truth.

Socialists broke loose in Vienna on Nov. 3, and took possession of the streets of the city. The police, while endeavoring to restore order, met with a rough reception, the commanding inspector being knocked down and trampled on. Both sides fought savagely, and the result was many bloody heads among the mob from the saber cuts of the police, while all the police were bruised and beaten and their uniforms torn.

Louisiana Conference Rates, etc.

Messrs. W. B. Thomson and S. B. McCutchen have charge of transportation matters and will report in time.

Class of the fourth year will meet on Wednesday morning, at 9:30., Dec. 13.

All persons not members of the Conference who expect to attend, must give me timely notice of their coming.

J. A. PARKER.

Homer, La.

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.

Jackson, Miss.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bay St. Louis, at B. St. Louis	Nov. 4, 5
Augusta, at Augusta*	4, 5
Columbia, at Columbia	11, 12
Mt. Carmel....(Mon. night and Tu.)..	13, 14
Williamsburg, at Williamsburg (Wed.).	15
Covington, at C. (Fri. and Sun. P. M.)..	17, 19
Talleheek, at Fitzgerald....(morn.)..	18, 19
Purvis, at Purvis....(Mon., 7 P. M.)..	20
Ellisville, at Ellisville..(Wed. P. M.)..	22
Heidelberg, at Liberty*	24, 25
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie	26, 27
Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg..(Tu.)..	28
E. Pearl, at Byrd's Chapel*	18, 19

At charges marked (*) I will try to secure help for the Sunday appointment. As in God's sight, let all do their duty in winding up the work of the year. The burden of a deficit will be more easily borne by several hundred than by a few.

HENRY E. PARTHRIDGE, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bowerton, at Rehoboth	Nov. 4, 5
Terry, at Spring Ridge	7
Brookhaven circuit, at Bethel	11
Adams circuit, at Adams	12, 13
Holmesville and Topisaw, at H.	17
China Grove, at China Grove	18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman	21
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman	23, 26
Providence	30
Hazleburst (night)	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard	Dec. 2, 3
Wesson	2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Fayette, at Fayette	Nov. 4, 5
Sunflower, at Sunflower	(Wed.).. 8
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	(Thu.). 9
Warren, at Oak Ridge	11, 12
Meadville, at Meadville	18, 19
Mayersville	25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	(Fri.).. Dec. 1
Hermanville	3, 3
Port Gibson	(Tues.).... 3

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Yazoo circuit, at Fletcher Chapel	Nov. 4, 5
Madison, at Wesley Chapel	(Wed.).. 6
Camden, at Shrock	11, 12
Bolton, at Bolton	(Wed.).. 15
Pocahontas, at Pocahontas	(Sat.).. 16
Jackson—First Church	18
Jackson—Capitol Street	19
Flora	(Wed.).. 23
Benton, at Midway	25, 26
Tranquil, at Zeigler ville	26, 27
Canton	Dec 3, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

North Kemper cir., at Wellen.	(Wed.). Nov. 1
DeKalb circuit, at Pt. Ridge	4, 5
Binnsville, at Scooba	(Tues.).. 7
Lauderdale	(Thurs.).. 8
Why Not circuit	11, 12
Chunky circuit	(Thurs.).. 13
Marion circuit	18, 19
Meridian—West End	25, 26
Meridian—Central	(Sun. and Mon.).. Dec. 3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Ques 33. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Ques. 18. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up full collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Trenton, at Trenton	Nov. 2
Clarksburg, at Liberty	4, 5
Morton and Forest, at Morton	9
Fannin, at Fannin	10
Brandon station	11, 12
Montrose, at Montrose	13
Raleigh, at Raleigh	16, 16
Shiloh, at Cato	24
Marvin, at Wesleyana	25, 26
Westville, at Goshen	28
Homewood, at Zion Grove	Dec. 2, 3

O. MCDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Wilkinson, at Bethel	Nov. 4, 5
Bayou Sara, at Star Hill	11, 12
St. Helena, at Cauter	13, 13
E. Feliciana, at Gilead	25, 26
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel	30
Franklinton, at Fisher's	Dec. 2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City	3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Louisville circuit, at Louisville	Nov. 4, 5
Rural Hill circuit, at Rural Hill	5, 6
Wier circuit, at Pisgah	10
Chester circuit, at Ackerman	11, 12
Kosciusko circuit, at Salem	18, 19
Eupora circuit, at Walthall	25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the allowances.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Phebe	Nov. 4, 5
Sparta	11, 12
Mashulaville	17
Shuqualak	18, 18
Macon	18, 26
Hebron	27

T. C. WIER, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Red Banks circuit, at Westey	Nov. 4, 5
Mt Pleasant circuit, at New Salem	11, 12
Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia	18, 19
East Holly Springs, at Lamar	25, 26

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Chapel Hill	Nov. 4, 5
Pittsboro	(Tues.).. 7
Abberville	11, 12
Grenada circuit	18, 19
Water Valley circuit	(Sat.).. 25
Water Valley station	26, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Morgansville mission	Nov. 4, 5
Cockrum, at Green Leaf	11, 12
Wall Hill	19, 19
Panola	25, 26

If stewards and pastors will address themselves faithfully and constantly to their respective duties, salaries and connectional collections will be paid in full. Brethren, the Lord and the church expects everyone to do their duty.

H. O. MORRHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Tremont	Nov. 4, 5
Okolona circuit	8
Houston and Wesley	11, 12
Atheus	18, 19
Buena Vista	25, 26

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Black Hawk	Nov. 4, 5
Valden	11, 12
West	16
Carrollton circuit	18, 19
Winona circuit	25, 26

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lyon	Nov. 5
Winterville	12
Friar's Point	19
Greenville	26

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Plaquemine, at Donaldson	Nov. 13
Carrollton	(Tues.).. 14
Gretna	(Thurs.).. 16
Baton Rouge	19
Parker Chapel	(Tues.).. 21
Moreau	(Thurs.).. 23
Gross Tete, at Harmony	26
Dryades	(Tues.).. 28
Lower Coast	(Thurs.).. 30
Algiers	(Sun. morning).. Dec. 3
Crans	(Sun. evening).. 3
Louisiana Avenue	(Mon.).. 4
Carondelet	(Tues.).. 5
Felicity	(Thurs.).. 7
Rayne Memorial	(Fri.).. 8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lecompte, at Lecompte	Nov. 4, 5
Dry Creek, at Spring Hill	11, 12
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground	18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec. 2, 3
Plueville, at Plueville	3, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards best fix themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Ruggold, at Andrew Chapel	Nov. 4, 5
Vernon, at Oak Ridge	11, 12
Minden, at Minden	18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps	Dec. 2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	3, 10
Ruston station	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia	13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Caddo, at Keachie	Nov. 4, 5
Shreveport station and mission	11, 12
Victoria mission, at Victoria	18, 19
Cane River, at Provencal	19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh	31, 23
Anacoco, at Holly Grove	33, 34
Many, at Many	25, 26
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	26, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec. 2, 3
Mansfield station	3, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 23. (I include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamans, Midkiff, and Wood's Schoolhouse.)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 3 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

629 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Calhoun, at Mt. Ariel	Nov. 4, 5
Harrisonburg, at Island	11, 12
Lapius, at Frantoms C.	18, 19
Lake Providence	25, 26
Waterproof	Dec. 2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd	8, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Patterson and Morgan City	Nov. 4, 5
Lake Charles—B. Street	11, 12
Jackson Street and W. Lake	12, 13
Grand Cheuier	18, 19
Sulphur Mine	25, 26
Lake Arthur	Dec. 2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

Hires' Rootbeer at the Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30, 1893.—The Chas. E. Hires Company, of Philadelphia, have been awarded the Highest Prize Medal for Rootbeer by the World's Fair Commission.

BABY'S BLOOD AND SKIN

Cleansed and purified of every humor, eruption, and disease by the celebrated

CUTICURA REMEDIES

These great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies afford immediate relief in the most torturing of Itching and Burning Eczemas and other Itching, scaly, crusted, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Thousands of grateful testimonials attest their wonderful, unfailing, and incomparable efficacy. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston. "All About the Skin, Scalp, and Hair," mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

HOW MY SIDE ACHES!

Aching Sides and Back, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains, and Rheumatism relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing, strengthening plaster.

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS for 1893. Contains new songs and responsive readings. 16 pages. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

JESUS THE NAZARENE, by P. P. Campiglio. A fine Christmas Service of Song and Readings, for the Sunday-School. Price 5 cents a single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS SERVICES of the same nature are:—"The Gift of God," "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Noel," "Good Will to Men," "Peace on Earth," and "The Christ of Bethlehem." Price of each, 5 cents per single copy by mail.

SANTA CLAUS MISSION, by Wm. Rees, with additional songs by J. R. Murray. This is a beautiful new cantata that is sure to please the children of the Sunday-School. It is full of bright and pleasing music and is not at all difficult of preparation. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS CANTATAS are "A Jolly Christmas," "One Christmas Eve," "A Christmas Vision," "The New Santa Claus," "Santa Claus & Co.," "Judge Santa Claus," "Catching Kriss Kringle," "Santa Claus' Mistake," "The Waifs' Christmas." Price of each 30 cents per single copy by mail. "Under the Palms" and "The Choicest Gift" are also suitable for Christmas, though not designed especially for the purpose. Price 30 cents. All of the above cantatas are intended for children, but in the fine wreath entitled "Bethlehem" by Root & Weatherley, adults will find something worthy of their best efforts. Price 50 cents by mail.

A CHRISTMAS BAZAAR, by Mrs. S. Richey and R. Murray. This is a new and pleasing entertainment which is neither a cantata or exercise but has the characteristics of both. It is very entertaining and will no doubt meet with much favor. Price 10 cents per single copy.

A CHRISTMAS REVERIE, by W. L. Mason is another entertainment which has met with much success and approval. Price 10 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY, by Mary B. Brooks and G. F. Root gives the principal events of the life of our Lord while on earth, in beautiful verses, Scripture readings and expressive music. Price 20 cents per single copy by mail.

The December number of the "MUSICAL VISITOR" will contain anthems for Christmas and will be a very useful number in that direction. Price 15 cents per copy by mail.

Catalogue of Christmas Music furnished free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,
CINCINNATI—NEW YORK—CHICAGO.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 15 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

$150 AMERICAN WATCH

$1.50 will now buy a reliable AMERICAN WATCH in strong GOLD PLATED Dust Proof Case. Will not vary a minute in 30 days; is as durable as any watch made. FULLY GUARANTEED. (Publishers of this paper will tell you we are reliable.) It has AMERICAN patent lever MOVEMENT, Patent Escapement and Regulator, Lasting Pause, 240 beats to minute; No key required to wind and set; weight 4 oz.; exactly like cut; Post-paid for $1.50, 3 for $4.00, 12 for $15.00, by express. Mention paper and we will include handsome gold plated CHAIN & CHARM. AGENTS Clerkkeepers send for TERMS. Catalogue of 1000 n. FREE.

ROBERT H. INGERSOLL & BRO.
Room 2, 65 Cortlandt St., New York City.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades,

Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets,

Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright. Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

WANTED.

By a young man, now in the West, employment in the South, as bookkeeper, salesman or at any honest, honorable work, either in town or country. Address, stating wages given and duties required,

MISS. ELLEN E. HEBRON,
No. 400 North Street, Jackson, Miss.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 500 to 800 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $630 in six days. Another $38 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 275.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach CATARRH thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. Dr. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON, GA.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 46. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1943.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Edttor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

SMALL BEGINNINGS.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

A traveler through a dusty road strewed acorns on the lea;
And one took root and sprouted up, and grew into a tree.
Love sought its shade, at evening time, to breathe its early vows;
And age was pleased, in heats of noon, to bask beneath its boughs;
The dormouse loved its dangling twigs, the birds sweet music bore;
It stood a glory in its place, a blessing evermore.

A little spring had lost its way amid the grass and fern,
A passing stranger scooped a well where weary men might turn;
He walled it in, and hung with care a ladle at the brink;
He thought not of the deed he did, but judged that toil might drink.
He passed again, and lo! the well, by Summers never dried,
Had cooled ten thousand parching tongues and saved a life beside.

A dreamer dropped a random thought,
'Twas old and yet 'twas new;
A simple fancy of the brain, but strong in being true.
It shone upon a genial mind, and, lo! its light became
A lamp of life, a beacon ray, a monitory flame.
The thought was small; its issues great; a watchfire on a hill;
It shed its radiance far adown, and cheers the valley still!

A nameless man, amid a crowd that thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of Hope and Love unstudied from the heart;
A whisper on the tumult thrown—a transitory breath—
It raised a brother from the dust; it saved a soul from death.
O germ! O fount! O word of love! O thought at random cast!
Ye were but little at the first, but mighty at the last.

God's Call to Us.

BY RICHARD S. STORRS, D. D.

I suppose in our Christian experiences we have met many instances where we questioned and hesitated, consulted and argued concerning the question whether we were under obligations to accomplish a certain work or not, until the time for performing it had gone and we could not do it if we would. A thoughtful and sensitive Christian spirit will, therefore, desire intensely some certain test, some sure criterion, by which it may know whether God has appointed a work for it or not. And there are such. We do not see the visions in our sleep, we do not hear the articulating voice of the Spirit; but there are certain indications, when a work is appointed for us and it is our duty to take it up, which are as intelligible, which, to the thoughtful spirit, are as impressive as even a voice would be.

When a work comes to us which concerns God's glory in the earth through the conversion and sanctification of the human soul, it is properly connected with the plan of God, and the work addressed to us is probably the part of that plan which we are to accomplish. This does not mean that Christian duty is restricted to those efforts which aim directly at the religious instruction and conversion of men. Christian duty is never narrow; it is as wide as the interest of man; it concerns his physical well-being as well as his spiritual; it concerns his social and intellectual advancement. But it concerns these as identified with the spiritual plan of God to bring men into holiness, and happiness that springs from holiness. When any work contributes necessarily to this spiritual plan of God, we may be inwardly persuaded—unless there are unanswerable reasons for supposing that it is not specially binding on us—that it is a part of the work which God assigns to us.

The work, also, which has claims upon us must be possible to be accomplished by us, but possible to be accomplished with effort and self-denial on our part. God holds no man and no body of men responsible for that which they can not control; and if an angel were to come and say to me, "Create a new planet, create a new pebble, create a new grain of sand, and so show God's glory forth," I should know that he was no divine messenger. The errand on which he sends us is always a practicable errand, provided we have a sincere desire to accomplish it. And in proportion to the effort demanded, to the self-denial required, his authorship of the message concerning the work becomes more evident to the thoughtful Christian. We usually judge in exactly the opposite way. We say: "That is a good work, and I can do it in a minute; therefore, I will do it; that is God's errand for me. It is a good work, and I can help it by a little gift which I shall never miss. That is evidently God's plan for me." Thus we reason! Ah! but God's plan exactly reverses that. He makes the duty the more obligatory the more difficult it is, because he gives us the work at all for the sake of developing our Christian energy, generosity and patience. God does not need our help. Why, then, does he ask for it? Because thus he develops us. The world is his spiritual university. He applies not merely tests, but incitements, stimulants and means of instruction to whatever is best in us. The man who has given himself to his country loves it better; the man who has fought for his friend honors him more. The man who has wrought and planned and endured for the accomplishment of God's plan in the world sees the greatness of it, the divinity and glory of it, and is himself more perfectly assimilated to it.

Again, a work has a special claim on us when the call for it comes unexpectedly, not by pre-arrangement of ours, but by the development of agencies which are outside of ourselves altogether. We recognize God's intervention in our plans, in part, by the suddenness with which the event occurred, contrary to the expectation of those who had been looking for different result—as when a friend is restored from a dangerous and critical sickness when all our hope has faded; as when a path is suddenly opened to prosperity and usefulness, where everything seemed hedged up, and we, in our arrangements, could not contrive any way by which to reach the result. We say the suddenness of change indicates the providential force bringing that change to pass. We are right in saying it. We say the suddenness of the appearance of the angel to Abraham or Joshua, or to Peter in prison, was an evidence that it was not a human being who had walked up to the tent in company with others; or who in the night, with his sword in his hand, faced the captain of the host; or who, working his way stealthily with little noise, and yet with certain indications of his coming, which Peter might have heard, had passed one barrier, another barrier, crept through the gates, entered by the window, and at last had released Peter's limbs from the fetters. The suddenness was the signal of the angelic presence, and so, in every great work which God appoints in his church, the summons comes suddenly on the part of God with every work which he would have his disciples take up and do in his name and for his glory; and if it has not been pre-arranged and our plans laid out with reference to it before, it is an indication that it is from him.

Finally, when the impression is burned in upon the mind, day after day, week after week, an ever-deepening sense of duty concerning that work—that is God's voice, the voice of the Spirit to us. When the Spirit of God filled the Holy of Holies with its glory, there was no beat of drum as the radiance showed forth and filled the room; there was no clamor of song running along the wall. It was light and noiseless as light, and illuminating as light. When God's Spirit dwells a Shekinah in the human soul, there is no sound or rush of celestial beauty; there is light within, and that light is self-evident as coming from God. When that impression remains, deepening continually in you, becoming clearer and stronger, we must trust it as a discovery of God's mind to us concerning our duty. No man who has once learned to trust it will ever trust anything else in preference to it. In the great crises of life that is always the way. Hold the mind prayerfully in conference with God, unresistingly under the impression of his Spirit when it points in a certain direction. Then follow it into darkness or day; wherescever it leads, go, we are certain of success; go, nothing doubting.

When all these signs combine, then Peter may keep his vision and the voice of Zion which spoke in the air around him. I hear a voice within, and whosoever follows that voice follows God, and follows him into his glory.—Watchman.

"With the book on which it feeds, the mind
Is upwardly or downwardly inclined,
As with the water on which it lies,
The water-lily will decend or rise."
- Caldwell.

Does an Education Pay?

It is a popular supposition that when a man enters the neighborhood of Boston he is inquired of as to the social standing of his grandparents. Upon setting foot in New York he is made to give answer as to the length and breadth of his bank account. But it may be set down among those things already proved and settled, that go where he will in this wide land of ours, the question most frequently heard with regard to everything under the sun will be, "Does it pay?" Starting with the inquiry whether life itself is worth living, and having come to the conclusion that whether it is or not, the only way to answer the interrogatory is to live and ascertain, man passes through the world like Rasselas in search of happiness, asking of every opportunity and every undertaking, "Does it pay?" In selecting a calling for life, in an investment of money, in an expenditure of time, in employment of labor, a like question is almost invariably asked. Even in so religious an act as the calling of a pastor, the question of the power of the minister to fill both the church pews and the church treasury is carefully considered. Indeed, in almost every rank of life and in almost every avocation, the utilitarian, the dollars and cents considerations assume an altogether too great importance to the exclusion, too often, of higher motives and loftier aims.

Bishop Potter, in his recent address before the University of Michigan, well says: "On every side there are open doors of inquiry which lead into regions of the unknown. 'But what can you make by entering them?' This is the cry of the hour. 'These studies of yours in a dead language, these speculations in the domain of philosophic thought, these nightly star-gazings through the small end of a telescope—what is the good of them all? Tell us that astronomy has a distinct helpful relation to navigation, and we can understand that.' Make it plain to some rich man that by building an observatory he will ultimately make it safer for a ship loaded with hogs or shovels to sail to Liverpool or Calcutta, and he will put his hand in his pocket; but 'I am a practical man, and I want a university which shall give the youths who come to it a practical education.' This is the pompous and plethoric protest that one hears until he is almost ready to declare that of all detestable people a 'practical' man is the most odiously and thoroughly detestable." To be sure, in all this to which Bishop Potter refers, there is the grain of truth. No one wants an education that does not pay in some sense. It is then a fair question to ask, "Does it pay to get a liberal education?" Most emphatically, Yes!

To answer the question on the lowest plane first, it may be said that a liberal education pays in dollars and cents, for this is the motive that will appeal, perhaps, to the greatest number. The time has now happily passed when an uneducated man can successfully maintain himself in what have so long been called—but too often such only in name—the learned professions. Even in medicine, where there are so many opportunities to play on the credulity of humanity, the law has stepped in and says to the doctor, "Show your diploma, or take down your shingle." As the professional faith-healers and Christian science-ers for revenue only are not supposed to be under the law, it is fair to presume that they are not regarded as physicians. Whether journalism can be considered one of the learned professions, or not, we are not quite sure. This much is true, however, that no untrained young man whose only recommendation is smartness can obtain a first-class position to-day on a first-class newspaper. Time was when the college-trained journalist was the butt of office and "press-gang" alike. An accomplished young editor, himself a college graduate, and three times of recent years promoted in his profession, said, not a great while ago, that there were at one time twenty-eight college graduates on the staff of the New York Sun.

Of all employments, that of building yachts where speed is the great desideratum was supposed to be the work of the natural genius rather than of the trained workman. The "rule of thumb" was the science considered the most scientific. A blind man could actually command more orders than any draughtsman with two eyes, because natural ability raied higher than acquired skill. But this has all been blown to the winds of late by the phenomenal success of the craft built under the direction of Edward Burgess, the designer of the "Puritan," the "Mayflower," and the "Volunteer," which have made the annals of American yachting chronicles of a series of international victories. Here is a man, a graduate of Harvard College, who studied naval architecture, and especially yacht-designing, abroad, and who now makes for himself a reputation as wide as the world, and an income as great, doubtless, as it ever would have been as the son of a once prosperous Boston merchant. These instances, taken from occupations in which technical skill was thought to be unnecessary, may be regarded as evidence that not only are times changing, and the world progressing, but that an education pays a dividend in "spot cash."

A superior education pays, however, in another and higher sense than that which brings with it a betterment of condition. It pays the man himself in the satisfaction and daily pleasure coming on every hand to a mind well stored, in enlarged powers of observation, in added facilities for work, in the very pleasure of pursuing an intricate problem, or the successful delving into the mine of knowledge. Not only is a man more of a man by reason of a liberal education, but he knows that he is. Right here comes in play the ideas touched upon before. Suppose that an education did not better the material surroundings, even then we believe an education pays in that larger sense in which everything that tends to uplift manhood pays in a coin of greater value than the almighty dollar, although it does not pass current on Wall street.

Then, highest of all, a liberal education pays in what it does, not only to assist in solving the bread-and-butter problem, not alone in scholarly pleasures and mental stimulus and enlarged vision that may come to the individual; it pays in what it does for humanity in general, both for the individuals who have received its benefits, and for those who have never experienced its advantages, or knowingly been helped by its existence. An educated man in a community becomes a paying investment to every member of it. The man truly and thoroughly educated, the man whose education has touched his heart, his head and his hand, is willing, unrewarded and unappreciated, if needs be, to study and dig, and dig and study, if he may thereby improve the condition of his fellow-beings. Such examples of this labor for others by men of education and worth may be seen in the lives of Charles Kingsley, of Agassiz, of Jonathan Edwards, of Fresnel, the great inventor of lighthouse lenses, and of hundreds of others, to say nothing of those who to-day are at work silently, unheralded and alone, these "mute, inglorious Miltons," whose deeds never come—at least seldom come while they live—to the personal column of the Daily Trumpeteer, or whose names are not written in the "Encyclopædia of American Biography." These are the men whose education has paid in the highest and best meaning, and whose eternal glory shall be that they labored not for gold, not for applause, not for their own pleasure primarily, but they gave themselves to study, to invention, to research, that man might be elevated, that the cry of the children might be hushed, that the lives of the oppressed and the weary might be made more endurable and happy, that the burdens of the poor might be made lighter, the condition of mankind improved, because they had delved and studied and worked and found—and had been educated men. Yes, a liberal education pays, look at it in what light you will, provided there be aught in the man to educate.

Young men, you to whom it seems a vast expenditure of time in this hurrying, skurrying modern life, to use a decade or more in simply preparing for your work, remember that while the shallow-minded may applaud and flatter those rich and powerful in certain forms of wealth, remember that all is not gold that glitters, that there is something greater than trusts, and monopolies, and position in society. "The life is more than meat and the body than raiment." "That life is long which answers life's great end."—Standard.

Preparation for Public Worship.

There may be those who have no need of any special preparation for the worship of God in his house. Such people live in an atmosphere of holiness, by which they are kept continually fit for worship. Worship is their normal condition. We know a few, a very few, such men and women; but we know, too, that they are not a common product. Such people are usually old in years and service, for holiness is a plant of slow growth, the product of a long life. Most of us are painfully aware that we need to be ushered to our hours of real worship through a vestibule of greater or less length. Whether care is always taken to ensure this preparation is another matter.

Two or three things are not likely to advance our fitness for the services of the Lord's house. Sunday may be a day of rest, but the best rest will not usually be secured by such an indulgence in morning naps as to involve haste in the toilet and fear of being late at church. The state of mind thus induced is hardly worshipful.

Nor does the Sunday newspaper afford the best food for the morning hours, and this for more reasons than one. We need to get away from the cares and the pleasures of the week; and these papers are filled with the very things that we have been thinking and talking about for six days. The business man turns instinctively to the Price Current and the reports of the Stock Exchange; and the young men and boys are as naturally drawn to the sporting news, while their sisters find their first attraction in the items of society and the fashions.

One needs no surer evidence of what has been engaging the attention of any person during the week than is afforded by the part of the newspaper to which he is first attracted. While this by no means exhausts the counts against these papers, it is sufficient evidence of their unsuitedness to the Sabbath.

Nor is the making of an elaborate toilet the best way to prepare for church. Time spent in the adjustment of an 'Easter hat," or in the fastidious arrangement of a necktie, may be an excellent prelude for the critical examination of other hats and ties; but it can hardly be credited with lifting the soul to a more worshiping frame. Simple dress is best suited to the Lord's day and to his house for more reasons than one.

But beside the things to be left undone are those to be done. And any suggestions will be very defective that do not go a long way back of Sunday morning. The spirit of worship is not something to be put off and on at will. He to whom it has been foreign all the week will seek for it in vain on Sunday. No man can cheat his fellows six days and worship God on the seventh; and it is equally certain, though not always equally apparent, that we can not give ourselves to the service of mammon in any form through the week, and then turn to the service of God without being a little awkward in the unfamiliar duty. The service and worship of the Lord's day are to be a natural fruition of the work of the week instead of a plant of entirely different order. Psalm singing and praying are a poor substitute for doing justly, and loving mercy, and walking humbly. They may afford an outwardly beautiful and thoroughly orthodox and respectable piety, but they are not pure religion and undefiled in the sight of God. The good Sabbath must be preceded by the good week.

Given the week of reasonably good living, as good a week as most Christians attain, there is still needed on Sunday some additional preparation for public worship. Our business may have been thoroughly honest and respectable; it may have been conducted in a truly Christian spirit; still it has been business, involving more or less of earthly and sordid care and anxiety, and we need by some baptism to purify ourselves from the stains of it before entering the peculiar presence of the All Pure.

Obviously the true preparation for coming to God consists in coming to him. The expression may be a paradox, but the truth is straightforward. We come by more private and personal communion into a fit heart and mind for social worship. Studying the Bible is a great help to this, and study that has been carried through the week-days finds its natural completion in the devotional reading of Sunday morning. But, after all, private prayer is the one thing indispensable.

Many people have little time on this morning for retirement and quiet meditation. Mothers who must have the little ones ready for church and Sunday-school know how quickly the hours and minutes go by, and how hard it is to find any time for themselves. It is a good thing for these and all other burdened ones that prayer is not restricted to silence and retirement. God sometimes accepts labor as prayer, and answers these worked-out prayers very abundantly.

A prayerful heart will find the ear of the Father at any time; and yet, where it can be found, a little time spent in isolation and alone with him will be productive of the fullest results.

If all professing Christians who compose our congregations were really prepared for the exacting duty of divine worship, how much more seed would fall on good ground to spring up and bear fruit to everlasting life! How much less unreasoning criticism would there be of the preacher and his message; how many more churches and church members famed for usefulness and good works!—Evangelist.

The Misery of Unbelief.

Goethe has been named as a model of healthy skepticism. But hear him, near the close of life, say in his conversations with Eckermann: "Happiness is but a dream; misery only is real." "I have always been looked upon as a favorite of fortune; neither will I bemoan myself, or accuse my past course of life as unworthy. But yet, after all, it has been nothing but labor and trouble, and I may well say that in my seventy-fifth year I have not had four weeks during which I could enjoy life."

Hear Strauss confess to the awful condition of man, when the existence of God and providence is denied: "The giving up of faith in a divine providence is certainly one of the most sensitive losses that can befall man."

Hear Humboldt: "I despise humanity in all its strata. I foresee that our posterity will be far more unhappy than we are. . . . The whole of life is a great insanity."

Listen to Schopenhauer, the great German author and pessimist: "This world is the worst possible; the life of man is one of unbounded misery and wretchedness; existence is a blunder and crime, and 'not to be' is infinitely better than 'to be.'"—Christian Thought.

The Secret of Truth.

The creed of eighteen centuries is not about to fade away like an exhalation, nor are the new lights of science so exhilarating that serious persons can look with comfort to exchanging one for the other. Christianity has abler advocates than its professed defenders, in those many quiet and humble men and women who in the light of it and the strength of it live holy, beautiful, and self-denying lives. The God that answers by fire is the God whom mankind will acknowledge, and so long as the fruits of the spirit continue to be visible in charity, in self-sacrifice, in those graces which raise human creatures above themselves and invest them with the beauty of holiness which only religion confers, thoughtful persons will remain convinced that with them in some form or other is the secret of truth.—James Antony Froude.

Methodism Ahead.

Methodism stands head in the United States in the circulation of her religious literature, including her weekly newspapers. The religious paper in the North having the largest circulation is the Christian Advocate, New York, and the religious paper in the South with the largest circulation is the Christian Advocate, Nashville, Tenn. These are the Methodist papers, and the organs of the churches represented in the two sections. Further, the largest Publishing House in the North is the Methodist Book Concern in New York, and the largest Publishing House in the South is that of the M. E. Church, South, at Nashville, Tenn. These facts speak for themselves, and need no comment.—Central Methodist.

"Oh! the selling of grog is a good device,
To make a hell of paradise.
Where'er shall roll that fiery flood,
'Tis swollen with tears and stained with blood.'
—Anonymous.

If.

BY MRS. M. P. A. CROZIER.

If any little word of mine
May make a life the brighter,
If any little song of mine
May make a heart the lighter,
God help me speak the little word
And take my bit of singing,
And drop it in some lonely vale,
To set the echoes ringing.

If any little love of mine
May make a life the sweeter,
If any little care of mine
May make a friend's the fleeter—
If any lift of mine may ease
The burden of another,
God give me love, and care, and strength
To help my toiling brother.

—Morning Star.

Reminiscences

BY REV. H. J. HARRIS.

Some years ago, at the solicitation of brethren beloved, I wrote a series of articles for the ADVOCATE under the above heading. I began with my entrance upon the ministry, and brought down the record, I think, as far as the year 1848. By reference to the files of your excellent paper, Mr. Editor, you can see where I "left off," as some would express it.

I traveled for two years what was then called Bayou Pierre circuit—1848-9—embracing a large portion of Copiah and Claiborne counties, in Mississippi. The ancient bailiwick of the former was the old town of Gallatin, one of the oldest towns in the State, and was without a church up to the time of which I write. There was a schoolhouse about one and a half miles west of the town, on the road leading to Port Gibson, where an occasional sermon was preached; and the old frame court-house, centrally located, was utilized as a place of worship whenever an itinerant would make an appointment for the accommodation of two or three families who were inclined to attend upon religious services. The masses, though intelligent, and what the world calls refined, were worldly in their spirit, and "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." They were fond of gaiety and mirth. There was, if I remember rightly, but one brick house in the town—a hotel. They had a masonic lodge in the town, which was, as this sketch will show, the instrument in the hands of God of revolutionizing the town.

The wonderful power of our holy religion was displayed here to a degree that seldom marks the history of a community like that of old Gallatin. I have already said they were an intelligent community, far above ordinary. Gallatin furnished a governor for the State once. At one time, indeed, he was the most popular man in the State. I allude to Hon. A. G. Brown. He was first a legislator, then a prominent lawyer, a judge upon the bench, a representative in Congress, and became a United States senator. He resigned his place in Congress, organized a company, and entered the Confederate Army, and was a valiant soldier.

Buckner Harris, Stephen H. Johnson, Judge Willis, Wiley P. and Robt. E. Harris, all men of note, occupying high social and civic positions in their day, were once citizens of old Gallatin. (None of them related to me.) Besides these men of note I recall Judge E. G. Peyton, who was in his day the Chesterfield of the bar and bench of Mississippi; a model of good manners in all the relations of life. His son, E. G. Peyton, Jr., who was chancellor after the war by executive appointment, was a worthy pattern of his father.

Then there was Benj. King, first a leading merchant, kept the postoffice, became a distinguished lawyer, and was at one time a candidate for governor of the State. Among all these, however, there was only one professing Christian man when I first entered the old town of Gallatin as a "Methodist circuit rider," viz.: Judge Stephen H. Johnson. He had been for years probate judge of the county under the old regime. His house was the home for the preacher always. He was, indeed, a "sinner saved by grace." For the greater part of his life he had been the victim of strong drink; but was soundly converted at a Methodist camp meeting, thoroughly regenerated, and thenceforward was the exemplar of every virtue that adorned and embellished a truly Christian life.

To be brief as practicable, I revert to masonic influence as "instrumental in revolutionizing" old Gallatin, and laying the foundation for the moral upheaval of the entire community. Soon after I had entered upon my work it was ascertained that I was a Mason, and I was pressingly solicited to assist the fraternity in organizing a Royal Arch Chapter. There was a hall already built. The lower room was in an unfinished state; the upper was finished and well furnished. At length I consented to aid my masonic brethren in their enterprise upon one condition: that they would consent for the lower room to be fitted up and occupied as a church, where their wives and children might worship God and enjoy the benefits of the gospel. To this they consented. But for this arrangement possibly old Gallatin might have been without a church to this day. Methodism was the pioneer. Soon other churches followed, and the old town was soon provided with neat and comfortable houses of worship.

There was a model saloon keeper in the town, the only one that I ever knew to conform, in all respects, with the law. His name was Tom Reid. If he is living, he need not blush for the part he took in this great moral movement. He was a first-class carpenter. There were no planing-mill attachments to the saw-mills of that period. But the carpenter had to use his jack and smoothing-plane to dress his lumber. When the Masons consented to have the lower room of their hall fitted up for a church, Tom Reid told me to submit this proposition to my congregation (at the old court-house): "If the people of the town will furnish the lumber, put it on the ground, I will do the work." A subscription was started at once, the material was put upon the ground, and the saloon man went to work and fitted up the church handsomely, pulpit and all. The ladies presented us with a handsome pulpit Bible, and we occupied the new church. More to follow.

More about Evangelists.

Bro. Ellis' reply to my first paper, on the subject of evangelism in our church, is certainly a well-written and very elaborate review of the position assumed in the paper criticised. Indeed, it furnishes a very strong temptation to depart from the well-known rule governing in such cases, and to enter into the discussion of the details of his argument. Both the rules of debate and fear that the editorial scepter might fall before me forbid such indulgence.

I have carefully read Bro. Ellis' communication twice over, and all I can see in it is in the nature of a general denial. As for the criticism of a few phrases contained in my first article, as I claim no infallibility, I make no objection, and offer no special refutation. These involve questions of fact to be decided by the public—our jury.

I set up the pleas: That our present system of evangelism is self-made; that the evangelists are irresponsible; that there is no law in our church for controlling the evangelist. These are the questions. I did not propose to state the name of every town and city visited by evangelists, and in everyone of those places which Bro. Ellis adds to my list there was a regular pastor and a regularly organized church in good working shape. His comparison with St. Paul, is, therefore, of little or no force. Think of Paul building upon another man's foundation! Paul went to Corinth, to Ephesus, to Rome, and to other great centers, either as a pioneer, or as a general superintendent. He did not go to do Bro. Timothy's work, or to help Bro. Titus hold a protracted meeting. He went to plant the gospel, or to correct errors where it had already been planted. We have all learned that Paul was "an apostle of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ," but Bro. Ellis has found out that he was, after all, only an evangelist! If not, why the analogy?

The whole communication from Bro. Ellis bears the impress of sympathy for the present order of things, and, as he offers no remedy, the reasonable supposition is, that he would have us let the whole question alone. Either this, or he really thinks the present laws, if rigidly enforced, are adequate to the correction of the evils existing in the church.

There are four classes of appointments which itinerant preachers may receive from a Bishop, viz.: In the regular routine, under the question, "Where are the preachers stationed?" This is in the pastorate. Then, "Who are supernumerary?" Next, "Who are superannuated?" And lastly comes in indefinite list of appointments under a resolution of the Conference, asking the Bishop to appoint Bro. A. to such an "agency," or other "special work," which is sufficiently elastic to cover all the requirements of the would-be evangelist. Bro. Ellis does not tell us how to manage this case under the present law.

But suppose you hedge Bro. A. off at that point. He has a right to locate in order to get away from such restrictions. Then what? Why then, of course, he must become a member of some Quarterly Conference, and be in subjection to that body as far as the requirements of the law demand. None of these requirements cover the points which were raised in my first paper. (See Discipline, Sec. iv.) The subordination of the local preacher to the preacher in charge—Dis. ¶81—is defined by the condition of the local preacher expressed in the words "able" and "willing." If previous engagements render one unable, and his views of duty render him unwilling, what, in that event, will Bro. Ellis do with his man but to let him alone, as has been the case heretofore?

Bro. Ellis is unfortunate in his choice of analogies. It will be news to most of Mr. Wesley's followers to know that no higher inspiration moved them than a desire to be "going about to establish their own righteousness." He likens their work to this modern slip-shod, unauthorized evangelism about which we are writing. The question which he asks about them—"What shall we call them"—Mr. Wesley will answer after this fashion: "They were poor, penitent sinners, seeking the salvation of their own souls, and not running all over England after other people." The right of any set of men to get together for mutual development in their experiences of grace has not been called in question.

The question is this: Does the law of our church recognize the office, or order, of evangelists? I say it does not, and yet we have such things among us, which have not been made by law. I insist, if it has not been constituted by something else, it is, if it exists at all, "self-made," and no logic can overcome that fact. It does no good to appeal to conscience in the matter of evangelism. Our church has rules, and whatever is not according to those rules is out of order.

Bro. Ellis suggests that severe discipline be applied to a member who goes out preaching without license: "If they have not been licensed to preach, . . . if they are not fit persons for this sacred trust, . . . if necessary" they should be "expelled." Why? Certainly because they are not in conformity to our rules. Are these evangelists in conformity to our rules, and if so, what rules, and where were they enacted?

One of the strangest things in Bro. Ellis' letter is the hearty amen which he utters to the fact that the broken-down and out-of-the-way places are not visited by these evangelists. The idea of Eusebius, according to a translation in my possession, was very different from Bro. Ellis' idea. He says, "Men do the work of evangelists, leaving their homes to proclaim Christ and deliver the written gospels to those who are ignorant of the faith." (Italics are my own.) Yet Bro. Ellis wants them where the "written gospel" has already been delivered, and where the people are already instructed "in the faith!"

Bro. Ellis insists on the evangelist going to the cities because of sin. Bro. Ellis does not intend it; but does not this part of his letter impress the uninformed reader with the thought that gospel privileges are less adequate in our cities than elsewhere? Such is not the case. There is more gospel preaching to the square acre in our cities than anywhere else in all our country, and Bro. Ellis, had he thought of it, knew it quite as well as anybody.

If Bro. Ellis will refer us to some law of our church establishing the office of evangelist, I will recall the charge that the whole thing is self-constituted and irresponsible. Otherwise I am compelled to maintain my view of it, and appeal to the public and the church for a decision.

J. A. PARKER.

The Place Where the World Gets Into the Church.

Much is being said of late about the world in the church. I have read much of it, but not half that has been written. My observation has not been as extensive as that of some who have written, but I have traveled enough and have had charges enough in my life as a pastor, to see, as others have seen, that there is much of the world in the church. Some of these worldly features may be traced to the want of due administration of discipline. But my observation, with some experience, has led me to the conclusion that a large per cent. of this worldliness is let in through the very door and at the same time and place when we admit our members.

The six months' trial before receiving our candidates into full membership, together with a well-working system of class meeting, served a great purpose in training and spiritualizing our members before reception. This system had its day of profit and usefulness, but, under a change of circumstances, proved inefficient in its workings. I am sure the church came to suffer less under the strain of its workings. This was certainly seen and felt in many places. The first break from this old law was a provision to receive the children of Methodist families who had been baptized and trained in the doctrines and usages of the Methodist Church at once upon a profession of faith without the six months' trial. Then swiftly followed the doing away with the six months' trial altogether. This seemed in the minds of many of our preachers to mean the gathering them in in a very unrestricted sense of that word. Our law makers have wisely guarded against this suggestive method of gathering them in. Find this by turning to page 124 of Discipline. It reads thus: "When persons offer themselves for church membership, let the preacher in charge inquire into their spiritual condition, and receive them into the church when they have given satisfactory assurance of their desire to flee the wrath to come and to be saved from their sins, and also of the genuineness of their faith and their willingness to keep the rules of the church." Then page 125: 'When satisfied on these points, let the minister bring the candidates before the congregation whenever practicable, and receive them according to the prescribed form." That the preacher is to have a personal interview with these persons in order to satisfy himself on these points there can be no question. Is there any other way by which the preacher in charge can be satisfied without an answer from their own lips in response to his personal inquiries. Many young people and members of elderly ones, too, do not understand, do not comprehend what it is to flee the wrath to come and to be saved from their sins. They need to have it explained. Can he know of the genuineness of their faith without personal inquiry? Can the preacher know that the candidate knows just what he promises to do when he vows to be subject to the discipline of the church, until he has read to him the general rules, and, at least, explained the most practical parts. I have known persons to be made members in full connection, say in five minutes after they had presented themselves for membership, the preacher knowing nothing more of them than that they wished to join the church. I have known persons who had been members of the church for years without knowing it was their duty to partake of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and had never done so. Did not knew they had vowed to pray in secret, and had never prayed in secret. I knew one man, who never closed his grog shop, to take the vows of church membership, and continued to sell liquor after formally taking the vows, and is, perhaps, selling to-day, unless his license has expired since his county went dry. Against my remonstrances for receiving members without a conformity to the law of the discipline, as quoted above, one brother said, "I prefer receiving them my way," and so went on. I prefer following the book, enjoying the reflection that I kept the law and not "mended" it, and have maintained my self-respect as a Methodist preacher by being true to my ordination vows. Also I have had seasons of great religious enjoyment in these interviews.

J. D. NEWSOM.

Why Not Have a Pentecost?

Our Conference meets in Hazlehurst, Dec. 7, 1893. Our people have completed a beautiful church to welcome the Conference in, and are preparing to give each preacher and delegate a cordial reception. Why not have a pentecostal Conference? Our charges need the influence of a Conference of great spiritual manifestations. The pastors and delegates need such a blessing. Our Father is willing to give us such a blessing as we never had before. Irrespective of theories, let there go up a mighty cry to heaven for more power with God and man. Let us have more praying, more preaching, more of Christ in our conversations and associations than ever before. May this Conference be memorable for displays of divine grace!

We are sending each delegate and preacher to homes with a prayer that by their holy conversation and fellowship with Christ each inmate of the home may be attracted by the beauty of our religion, as illustrated in the lives of redeemed men. Beloved brethren, will you not join me in a prayer that the Son of God may be gloriously revealed in our hearts during our coming Conference.

I. W. COOPER.

Come to Church.

Too tired? The services are not work. They are restful, varied and animating. Among our most regular twice per Sunday attendants are some who work as hard as you, and they are rested in time for Monday.

Too sick? How sick? Let no slight indisposition keep you away, particularly one which would not hinder you from daily work. Many a headache and other pain has been charmed away by the sunshine and fresh air on the way to church and by the services which made the invalid forget his troubles.

Too busy? Drop all other business which can reasonably be delayed or omitted, for the services. Public worship is the most important and pressing duty at the appointed hour. God's claims are supreme. Seek first the kingdom of God. The first and great commandment is to love God, and public worship is an imperative expression of that love whenever possible.

Hindered by company? Would you allow company to keep you from an appointed interview with a king? Public worship is your appointed interview with the King of kings. Shall his transcendent claims be lightly set aside to please earthly friends, than to lend them to Jesus. To bring them to church with us, or kindly to excuse ourselves from the pleasure of their visit, because of the church, will impress them with the reality of religion. But if we set aside God's claim for theirs, they know our profession of Christianity is very superficial, if not a mere sham, and they will never be the better for our example in this respect.

No time but Sunday for a visit? Are you a slave then? We thought we had free labor in this country. If so, you can take week-day time for visits, or if not, and must visit on Sundays, we need not take the precise hours appointed for church services. There are other hours enough for such Sunday visiting as we feel absolutely unavoidable.

No Sunday clothes? Then come in week-day clothes. All will honor you for so doing. If you are clean in person and clothing, as all can be, the poverty of your appearance will not hurt you in church any more than on the sidewalk, the street car, or the postoffice. Come with such clothes as you have, and if some fool sneers at you or looks askance or give you a cold reception, pray that he may be forgiven. Pity him for his poverty of grace and keep up your church going regularly. You will then win the respect of any who seemed at first unfriendly, and the warm, helpful friendship of many fellow-worshipers. Said Mrs. N., a fashionably dressed church goer, "Last Sunday I saw Mrs. S. in church, kneeling, as I went in, and she had on a bonnet three years behind the fashions. And my heart went out to her in honor and admiration, for I fear that if I could not dress in fashion I would not have the courage to go to church." There! if you would be honored, come to church without waiting for better clothes. It is an entire mistake for one poorly clad to torment himself with the fancy that anyone whose regard is worth having despised the poor. The feeling the poor inspire in church is rather one of admiration and respect.

Better come barefoot, and without hat or coat and with patched clothing, than not to come at all.

"Rend your heart and not your garments." "The Lord looketh on the heart."

No money? Come and say to God, "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I to thee."

Give God yourself, with voice and heart, and the money question will take care of itself. In the free church all are welcome, with or without money. "We see you and not yours." Come to church! Come to church! Come to church!—Church Life.

Theology on Wheels.

A newspaper said recently of a certain State capital, that it was "on wheels." In the same condition are the minds of many preachers of the gospel of "the advanced school." There is no telling what they say, nor whereof they affirm. They believe nothing, and, therefore, they speak. Their creed is in a "formative state"—nebulous, cloudy. They know not what they believe; it is a question whether they believe anything at all. One of them informed us that he held his mind in a receptive condition, and revised his creed every week at the least—a human jelly-fish, or something more gelatinous still. We fear that even the main and fundamental points of the atonement of Christ and his divine person are unsettled with some of the broad school. Their capital is on a steamboat somewhere between Unitarianism and Pantheism. The sooner they fix its location, the better. It would probably be less injurious to those around them if they were to become down-right atheists than that they should remain in their present loose and skeptic-making condition. Their manifest indecision for truth is a clear gain to the side of unbelief.

These rolling stones in the road cause many to stumble who else would have held on their way. With their cloudy speculations they threw an air of uncertainty over the most settled truths. They cause faith to dwindle into mere opinion, and throw thousands into a condition of miserable suspense. Elijah would long ago have said to them: "How long halt ye between two opinions? If the God of Israel be the Lord, serve him;" and if "enlarged thought" is to manufacture a god of its own, finish the article, and let us know what it is like. One would think, from the talk of some men, that the premises of the gospel were made to doubt, and not to faith. Their sympathies are all with the infidel, whose doubt is decorated as "honest and thoughtful." The anathemas are reserved for the orthodox, who are always prejudiced, narrow-minded, and stunted. Their charity pours its oil upon all except those horrid beings who adhere to the creed of the Puritans. As for these fellows, they despise them with all the Cavalier's contempt for psalm-singing Round-heads. Nevertheless, we pray for all true brethren, that the God of all grace may establish and settle them; and we desire to be numbered with those who can say, "We believed, therefore have we spoken." "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you."—Spurgeon.

Louisiana Home at Scottsville Holiness Camp Ground.

Beloved Brethren and Sisters:

Capt. C. M. Guess, of New Iberia, La.; John A. McNeely, of Colfax, La., and Rev. Robt. Parvin, of Gibbsland, La., are the Executive Committee of our home. These are worthy and beloved brethren. Capt. Guess is a member of the Camp Ground Board.

Our Louisiana Home, built last year, affords shelter and sleeping apartments for, perhaps, a hundred or more persons. We greatly need double capacity for the coming multitudes to that Jerusalem of holiness. We need also a cook-room, stove and back porch, etc. Please, will all the friends of "holiness unto the Lord," and who wish to "spread Scriptural holiness over these lands," send remittances, small and great, to Capt. C. M. Guess, New Iberia, La., or to either of the other brethren named that we be ready to "bear our own burdens" as far as possible at the next "feast of tabernacles?" Do, brethren and sisters!

Dr. Wascom, Capt. Winston, Rip Scott, and others of those consecrated people, have been too heavily burdened these several years. Let us help them. Do! Capt. Guess can draw on me for $25 for this work as a starter. Now let us have $300 or $400 very soon.

THOMAS B. WHITE.

Arcadia, La.

Your Minister.

Respect your minister. He is devoting his life to your good. Few, if any men are in the pulpit for the loaves and fishes. The good man may have weaknesses. So have you. He may make mistakes. So do you. His voice may be cracked, and he may have eccentricities. What of that? Others have their peculiarities. He is God's servant. He has given up worldly prospects. He has assumed heavier burdens than you know. Respect him. He deserves it.

The time was in this country when the minister was loved and honored as he is not now. In the days of the three-cornered clerical hat, the vest of enormous length, the knee breeches and the silver buckles, the people took off their hats and bowed to him as he passed. To speak against him or his preaching was, at least, in New England, punished by fine, whipping, banishment, or cutting off of the ears. Rather severe treatment, no doubt. But it shows the regard in which the clergy were held.

We do not ask for fawning. We do not mean to imply that your minister wants superficial attention. But we say, respect this man of God, because he is living a holy life and is seeking the best he knows how to do good. Your criticisms may not hurt him. But they will injure his influence. They may keep some soul from being saved. Smother your unfavorable comments. If you do not like him, keep it to yourself. Hold up his hands while he stays. Pray for him when he is gone. One of the things which ought to be trampled under foot is the thousands of uncharitable and distasteful comments passed every day about "our minister."—Epworth Herald.

The Higher Christian Life.

Whatever differences of opinion may prevail respecting the nature of sanctification and the guidance of the Holy Spirit, two things are unquestionable. The Scriptures show it to be the privilege of the children of God to be fully sanctified to his service; and there have been among those who professed to be followers of Christ widely different types of Christians. There are many nominal Christians whose faith and zeal are feeble, and whose lives are marked by inconsistency and a worldly spirit. But there is a higher Christian life. There are Christians who give evidence of being fully consecrated to God, strong in faith, earnest in effort, and full of Christly sympathy for the erring and unsaved. Christians of the latter class have been effective and successful in working for Christ. They have been the great spiritual power in the church. Where the church has been largely made up of the former class, the world has prevailed against it. By whatever name it may be called, the kind of religion which was exemplified in the lives of Wesley, Rutherford, Summerfield, Oberlin, Moody and Collins is what the church of to-day needs to make it mighty for God. Nothing can make up for the want of this consecration and living communion with God. Without it we can not prevail and overthrow the powers of darkness.—Christian Guardian.

Tell Your Pastor.

Tell your pastor when his services have been a blessing to you. His words may have convicted you of sin, warned you in perplexity, comforted you in sorrow, elevated your grovelling desires, brought the very life of God to your soul. Whatever good his words may have conferred upon you, make it known to your pastor. The knowledge will comfort and encourage him. He has many discouragements in his work. Among these is the reticence of his people respecting their appreciation of his services, or of the blessings which, in whatever form, may have come through his words to their souls. There is no danger of pride being engendered in his heart by your cheering words, as it is imagined might be the case with superficial thinkers. Gratitude, praise, joy, are more likely to fill his heart and burst from his lips. Besides, you owe it to your pastor to tell him how you have been benefited by and through him. It is part of the reward allowed him by God for his work. It is only following in the footsteps of the good in all ages, and the example is given by God himself, who will say to each faithful servant, "Well done." Do not let your pastor, then, be discouraged through your failure to inform him of his agency in your spiritual good. Tell your pastor.—Anon.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. Perry O. Lowrey, supply P. C., Minden circuit, Louisiana Conference: "We closed a good meeting at Mt. Zion on Nov. 4. Nine accessions to the church, church revived and at work, and a promising Sunday-school organized. To the Lord be all the praise! We are indebted to Bro. Cornett for able assistance."

Rev. Thos. B. White, Aroadia, La., Nov. 6: "Protracted holiness meeting going on for about ten days at this place. Bro. McKnight, of Marshall, East Texas Conference (not an evangelist in the ordinary sense), has done most of the preaching. Bro. Uhlig, a local preacher, was quite helpful in the work. What a Bible preacher! Like a solid stone wall, square and plumb; without gap or chasm were his expositions of the Holy Scriptures, all teaching and exacting holiness of heart and life. No finely-spun theories of sanctification, but a blessing of the Holy Spirit additional and subsequent to regeneration. Many are convicted for sanctification, some have obtained the blessing, while many more accept it as a cardinal Bible doctrine, and to be desired above all things else. Ignorance and prejudice have been removed. Some have claimed conversion, some joined the church. Opposition has been stirred, of course, for 'the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness,' but (praise the Lord!) 'to them that believe, it is the power of God, and the wisdom of God.' O that the 'breath of the Almighty may breathe over the valley of dry bones' in the churches in our broad land, that 'they may live and rise up a mighty army of the living God!' Amen and amen!"

Rev. H. W. Day, supply preacher, Amite circuit, Mississippi Conference: "Have had protracted meetings at all of my appointments; first at Cedar Grove Church, which was said to be one of the best meetings they have had for several years. Will pay more this year than less for four years; also makes the preacher a present of half barrel of nice new molasses. Assisted in this meeting by Revs. J. B. Anders (L. P.), Will P. Jones, W. W. Simmons; myself doing the preaching for first two days. Second at Beulah Church, assisted by Rev. C. A. Hastings (L. P.), who preached in the spirit and with the understanding. One noted gambler and whisky man was made to see the error of his way, joined the church and was happily converted to God. Third held at Mt. Vernon Church, assisted by Revs. C. A. Hastings (L. P.), G. W. Huff, P. S. Petty; Bro. Hastings doing most of the preaching. Was said to be the best meeting they have had for several years. Both Baptist and Methodist were heard praising God. One man refused to get up off his knees from prayers until his own daughter and one more were happily converted. The older ones said it reminded them of old-time Methodism. Fourth meeting held at Homo Chito Chapel Church, assisted by Revs. J. B. Anders, C. A. Hastings; Bro. Hastings doing most of the preaching. The revival beyond the expectation of both preacher and people. Have had thirty-seven accessions to the churches and several bright conversions, and the church greatly revived. Finances behind; but the faithful stewards hard at work. These are a good and appreciative people. Pray for us."

Rev. J. M. Pugh, P. C., Ocean Springs, Miss.: "We have held a meeting here recently of nine days' continuance. Rev. C. H. Ellis, of New Iberia, La., was with us, and conducted the revival services. His sermons and expositions of Scripture were plain and practical, and good to edifying. Bro. Partridge called by and preached a good sermon. The meeting resulted in about ten conversions and two accessions to our church. Some were already members, and others will unite with other churches. The work has been generally among the young people. There is quite a religious interest among the children. Some of the older members were greatly revived and raised to a higher plane of Christian experience. It is difficult to reach the people on this coast. Romanism, in a great measure, has a hold upon the population; but there is perceptible progress in Protestantism. We need constant, persistent effort to beat back the tide of worldliness that sweeps this Gulf coast, and which has, to some extent, come into the church. The whisky traffic, and the desecration of the Sabbath by Sunday excursions and otherwise, presents the efficient causes of so much indifference to religious matters. The recent storm which visited this section demolished our church at Scranton. Though feeble in numbers and means, we will make an effort to rebuild. Your readers should give their prayers and their means to enable us to 'rise up and build.' A young man who joined the church during our meeting will enter the ministry, and two local preachers, Bro. Harvey Shannon and Prof. C. F. Emery, will apply for admission into the traveling connection. These brethren will make efficient workers in the itinerant field. Good for Ocean Springs!"

Rev. T. W. Adams, Moss Point, Miss., Nov. 2: "The fourth Quarterly Conference for this charge was held last week. Bro. Partridge presided well, and preached an excellent sermon. He is a capital presiding elder. It has been very pleasant and profitable to me to be associated with him so intimately during the year. The reports at the Quarterly Conference were gratifying. The financial claims for the year were reported met in full. It did not surprise me when I heard the stewards' report; for I knew that a board composed of such sensible and large-hearted men would not report a deficiency. A considerable sum has been expended upon the parsonage in repairs and in purchasing new and handsome furniture. I know of no parsonage in the Conference more comfortably furnished. The people, particularly the ladies, of this congregation give constant and very tender attention to the wants of the pastor's family. There has been some one sick in the parsonage almost every day during the year. My predecessor, Rev. Jno. A. Ellis, was very sick during his six weeks' incumbency, and had every attention that loving hearts could give. My family have been almost constantly sick since arriving here on the thirty-first day of March. Our good friend and skillful physician, Dr. Cowan, has made us about 150 visits. He and all the dear good people (God bless them all!) have been with us day and night, cheerfully ministering to every want. The world holds no better people than are here in Moss Point. Dr. W. T. Beall, one of the best local preachers in all our bounds, lives here, and is a willing and efficient helper of the pastor. It is a benediction to be associated with such a local preacher. Our membership has considerably increased during the year; and the prospects are good for successful work and decided advancement next year."

REVIVAL NOTES FROM THE MERIDIAN DISTRICT.

Besides the wonderful work of grace wrought by the Holy Spirit at West End, Meridian, through the preaching of Dr. Carradine and Bro. Hopper, and which has stirred Meridian as that city was never stirred before, Bro. Penn reports from State Line (where he was assisted by Bro. J. A. Bowen) eleven accessions and the church greatly revived, and plans made and lumber and lot secured for a new church at Pine Bluff, 24x40 feet, to be completed before Conference.

At least fifteen new churches will be reported in Meridian district this year.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

Indian Mission.

I offered a premium to the children and also to the lady that would collect and have in my hands by Dec. 1 the most money for the Indian Mission. I now want to extend the time to Dec. 15. I do this so that they can sent it by their pastor to Conference, to Hazlehurst or Columbus. And now, as the children and also the ladies will have half a month longer, I hope they will do all they possibly can, and send to me before or send to Conference all amounts raised. Will those that have subscribed or intend to help please do likewise. The time is short. Send check on Jackson or Vicksburg, or registered letter, or postoffice money order on Vicksburg. Please help now.

A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss.

Clifford Blackman

A Boston Boy's Eyesight Saved—Perhaps His Life

By Hood's Sarsaparilla—Blood Poisoned by Canker.

Read the following from a grateful mother: "My little boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, and it left him very weak and with blood poisoned with canker. His eyes became so inflamed that his sufferings were intense, and for seven weeks he

Could Not Open His Eyes

I took him twice during that time to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but their remedies failed to do him the faintest shadow of good. I commenced giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and it soon cured him. I have never doubted that it saved his sight, even if not his very life. You may use this testimonial in any way you choose. I am always ready to sound the praise of because of the wonderful good it did my son." ABBIE F. BLACKMAN, 2688 Washington St., Boston, Mass. Get HOOD'S.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are hand made, and are perfect in composition and proportion.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

MR. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor,	(when heated to 140° F.) Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	3.102 grains

Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches

Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	785.108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30.476
Magnesia	26.872
Potash	2.322
Soda	6.045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

	Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.018
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5.083
Silica	6.049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1.564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with fetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. RACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2 Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works — 120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.		Leave.
Passenger	0:55 p.m	Passenger	7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail	8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail	6:00p.m
Chic. limited	8:40 p.m	Chic. limited	12:01 n'n
Sunday ex	8:30 p.m	Sunday ex	7:35a m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST.

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.		Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex.	7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex.	8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	8:20 p.m
Local	10:05 a.m	Local	3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER Gen'l Pass. and Tkt Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:35 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex	7:55 a. m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE OREGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,

134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street,

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Broome, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

"A" Grade, $37.50. "A" Grade, $45.

"A" Grade, $150.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

McTyeire Institute,

MCKENZIE, TENN.

Prepares students for Vanderbilt and such institutions.

Expenses for five months, $72.50 to $82.50.

Students completing our course enter Vanderbilt without examination.

Next session begins August 31.

For circulars or information address

J. H. HARRISON, Prin.,

McKenzie, Tenn.

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS for 1893. Contains new songs and responsive readings. 16 pages. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

JESUS THE NAZARENE, by P. P. Campiglio. A fine Christmas Service of Song and Readings for the Sunday-School. Price 5 cents a single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS SERVICES

of the same nature are—"The Gift of God," "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Noel," "Good Will to Men," "Peace and Light," and "The Christ of Bethlehem." Price of each, 5 cents per single copy by mail.

SANTA CLAUS' MISSION, by Wm. Rose, with additional songs by J. R. Murray. This is a beautiful new cantata that is sure to please the children of the Sunday-School. It is full of bright and pleasing music, and is not at all difficult of preparation. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS CANTATAS

are "A Jolly Christmas," "The Christmas Fee," "A Christmas Vision," "The New Santa Claus," "Santa Claus & Co.," "Judge Santa Claus," "Catching Kriss Kringle," "Santa Claus' Mistake," "The Wild Christmas." Price of each, 5 cents per single copy by mail. "Under the Palms" and "The Crowned Gift" are also suitable for Christmas, though not designed especially for the purpose. Price 5 cents. All of these cantatas are intended for children, but in the one work entitled "Bethlehem" Mr. Rose & Mr. Whitney, adults will find something worthy of their best efforts. Price 5 cents each by mail.

A CHRISTMAS BAZAAR, by Mrs. N. Richey and J. R. Murray. A fresh new and pleasing entertainment which is neither vaudeville or ever before has the characteristics of both. It is very entertaining and will be found sweet with much favor. Price 5 cents per single copy.

A CHRISTMAS REVERIE, by W. L. Mason is another entertainment which has met with much success and approval. Price 5 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY, by Mary B. Brooks and G. F. Root gives the principal events of the life of our Lord while on earth, in beautiful verses, Scripture readings and expressive music. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

The December number of the "MUSICAL VISITOR" will contain anthem for Christmas, and will be a very useful number in that direction. Price 15 cents per copy by mail.

Catalogue of Christmas Music furnished free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

CINCINNATI — NEW YORK — CHICAGO.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT REFLECTORS FOR OIL, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT

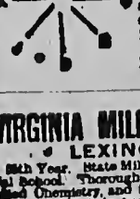
I. P. FRINK, 551 PEARL ST. N.Y.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Chart of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D., of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address as above, or to him and receive circulars free.

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D. Dayton, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.



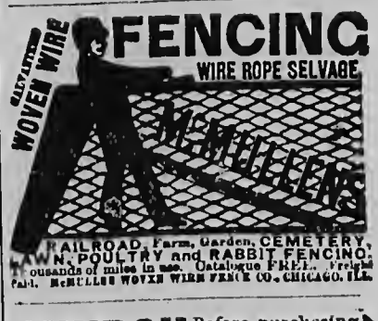
D. B. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 64 pages. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE, LEXINGTON, VA.

58th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $36.50 per month, an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit.

New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.



FENCING WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Block, Nashville, Tenn. — FOR Catalogue.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1 at Druggists.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. CINCINNATI, OHIO. SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS FOR CHURCH SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c. Catalogue with 2500 testimonials. Prices and terms FREE.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS In the World. PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue. McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Pure Copper and E. India Tin. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION - - $1 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, November 16, 1893.

The Prize Fight.

Why should the city of New Orleans be forever cursed with that hideous anachronism, that relic of a bygone barbaric age, the prize fight? We call ourselves a civilized nation, and talk about the barbarism of Spain and Mexico because they still tolerate the bull fight. A bull fight is quite a civilized, decent affair in comparison with a slugging match between two brutes in human shape. The moral effect of these exhibitions of brutality upon the rising generation is incalculably bad. Boys are very apt to imitate what they see and be influenced by what they read about. If we do not want our sons to grow up coarse, vulgar ruffians, destitute of the first principles of refinement and Christian gentleness, we ought to be up and doing in order to put an end to this brutality. We verily believe that the decent, civilized element in this city is sufficiently strong to accomplish this end by proper organized effort. But it will take effort—vigorous, persistent, organized effort. Should we not be willing to make the effort? How long will the good people of New Orleans tamely submit to have their city made the dumping ground for brutalities that are tolerated nowhere else? We believe the people here are ripe for action against this disgraceful evil. What is needed is organization and agitation. We hope to see a forward movement in the near future.

Gambling in Futures.

Louisiana has suppressed the Lottery, but she has another evil domiciled within her borders that is not a whit less demoralizing. We refer to that form of gambling known as dealing in futures. The pen of a Juvenal could not paint in its true colors the native hideousness of this matchless evil of our civilization. Our only hope of deliverance from this blighting curse lies in national legislation. Senator George, of Mississippi, and his coadjutors are entitled to the sympathy and support of every good citizen in their efforts for the suppression of this evil. So far as our observation has gone, they have not been supported as they should. We do not mean that they have not had the sympathy of the better element of society everywhere, but we mean that the people have not spoken out boldly in their behalf as they should have done. The clergy and the religious press have it in their power to do a mighty work for their country just at this point. If they will speak out in thunder tones on this subject, their voice will be heard in Washington. Of what avail is it that we suppress the Louisiana Lottery if we allow another evil to take its place which is even worse because more widely extended in its operations?

Religion in Little Things.

In any avocation success is, in a large measure, conditioned upon attention to little things. The lawyer who is so enamored of the great fundamental principles of jurisprudence that he can not give attention to minute points in the statements of witnesses and other little details pertaining to his profession, will fail to obtain a verdict. The physician who thinks it beneath his dignity to feel the pulse, scrutinize the tongue and keep an eye on all the minute symptoms of disease may feed the undertaker for a time, but he will soon find himself in the same category with Othello—his occupation gone.

It is not sledge-hammer blows, but exceedingly light and delicate strokes, that make the difference between the masterpiece of the sculptor and the failure of the bungler. The same principle obtains in the realm of religion. The man who talks about little sins as if it were a matter of no moment whether he commits them or not has a very erroneous conception of the nature of sin. Sin is rebellion against God; and rebellion may be evinced in little acts as well as great ones. The firing of a musket ball through the star-spangled banner is a little thing; it takes no life and destroys no property; and yet that insignificant act would be regarded by the United States Government as the very essence of rebellion. Similar in character are many of the little acts which men perform. According to human standards they are quite trivial offences; but they are a firing upon the banner of omnipotence. Fidelity in little things is the supreme test of religious character. Men may abstain from acts that are egregiously wicked from other than religious motives. Reputation may be at stake; social position may be forfeited; pecuniary interests may be involved. In the petty acts of every day life, however, these motives either do not come into play at all, or else they act with a greatly diminished force. Right action in these is, therefore, more likely to spring from a religious motive.

Obedience in little things is the surest evidence of loving loyalty to our heavenly Father. Who is regarded as a model son? He who obeys his father in a few great matters, but tramples upon his precepts in a thousand acts of petty disobedience, or he who seeks to anticipate his father's every wish in little things as well as great ones? Such a question is answered in the asking. Just so Christians, as sons of God, ought to render an implicit, loving obedience to their heavenly Father in all their acts, great and small. The man who administers an opiate to his conscience for some act of disobedience by saying, "It is only a little sin," is a veritable rebel at heart. He only needs strong temptation and the removal of restraining grace to make him an outbreaking sinner. Moreover, as there are little sins to be avoided, so there are, according to our human way of thinking, minor virtues and graces to be cultivated. The perfect man is not the one who cultivates only a few of the greater virtues, but he who seeks to develop into maturity all the Christian graces, great and small.

A Word to Correspondents.

When you write for the press observe the following directions:

1. Do not write with a lead pencil. Pencil writing often becomes badly blurred in transportation, so as to make it almost illegible. Of course, there are times when this rule can not be observed, as, for instance, when one is traveling. We simply suggest that you save the editor's eyes and time as much as possible by writing with a pen whenever it is at all practicable.

2. Write only on one side of your sheet of paper. Within two weeks from this date, we shall make this a condition of the acceptance of a manuscript. If you do not want the product of your brain to find its way into the omnivorous waste-basket, mind this rule.

3. Have some respect for the spelling book. Dictionaries are cheap; keep one on your desk and consult it whenever you are in doubt as to a question in orthography. A manuscript came to this office some weeks since (before our installment) which reminds us of the saying of a Jewish friend of ours a few years since. His partner had sold a bill on a credit to a customer, and was in doubt as to the orthography of the name. So he said, "Dave, how you schpell Schmidt?" Dave replied, "I dun no. Schust put it down widout schpellin' it." The correspondent we refer to seems to have acted upon the Hebrew's suggestion. He "schust put it down widout schpellin' it." This rule may work very well in book-keeping, but not in writing for the press.

The Preachers and the Collections.

It is the duty of a preacher in charge "to promote all the interests of the Missionary Boards of our church in such way as the Discipline or the Annual Conference may designate; and to report to the Conference the amount raised during the year within the bounds of his charge for these interests; also, the amount of contributions received by him for the American Bible Society." (Discipline, page 84, paragraph 131.)

The Discipline designates that "the apportionment to a Conference for the general work shall be divided by the Conference Board among the districts, and the preachers in charge shall take up collections in every congregation to meet the same." (Discipline, page 197, paragraph 339.)

The Discipline further designates that "it shall be the duty of the presiding elder to bring the subject of missions prominently before the Quarterly Conferences of each circuit and station, and to see to it that efficient and well-defined modes and plans be adopted for raising missionary funds, both for the General Board and also for the Conference Mission Board." (Discipline, page 199, paragraph 343.) So much now for the preachers and the missionary collections.

"The preachers shall take up a collection in every congregation annually for church extension." (Discipline, page 212, paragraph 371.)

"It shall be the duty of the presiding elders to bring the subject of church extension prominently before the District and Quarterly Conferences, and to see to it that the most efficient plans are adopted for raising the amounts apportioned to each charge." (Discipline, page 217, paragraph 381.)

The Quarterly Conference has never adopted a plan for raising missionary or church extension money where I have been. Some brother moves "that we leave all that matter in the hands of our beloved pastor." It is left to him to lift these collections, and to carry the blame if the apportionments are not raised. The only semblance of a plan I have ever seen was to apportion these assessments to the several churches in the charge. No matter what plan the preacher or the Quarterly Conference may adopt, the Church Conference has the reserved right of adopting its own method of paying its liabilities. "Each Annual Conference shall adopt its own method of raising money to pay those who, by the rules and usages of the church, have claims upon it: provided, that it does not interfere with the rights guaranteed to the Church Conference to adopt their own method of raising money to pay their liabilities." (Discipline, pages 188 and 189, paragraph 324.)

That this includes all the collections is manifest from the order of business in a Church Conference. (Discipline, page 68, paragraph 90.)

"Is the church here doing its duty for the cause of missions and other church enterprises, and for collections ordered by the Annual Conference?"

"The Annual Conferences shall be allowed to adopt their own plan for raising said amount, which shall be called the Bishop's Fund."

The North Mississippi Conference has adopted the plan of requiring the presiding elders to raise this money. This, like the other collections, is often left to the beloved preacher in charge. It is the duty of the recording steward of each pastoral charge "to report to the Joint Board of Finance of the Annual Conference a full account of the acts of his Board of Stewards the preceding year." (Discipline, page 118, paragraph 192.)

The idea has gone abroad in the land that the Discipline makes it the duty of the preacher to raise all the collections ordered by the Conference, and that if the money is not on hand he alone is to blame for it. There is no law for this—none whatever.

The statistics to be reported to the Annual Conference is a part of the business of the Quarterly Conference. Part of these items is to be reported by the preacher in charge, and part by the recording steward.

It is wrong to tax the preacher with taking all the collections. The members of the church ought to do most of this work. It would do them good, the cause good, and it would relieve the preachers of a great burden.

The administration, in the Annual and Quarterly Conferences for some years past, has tended to impress the preachers and the people with the idea that the Discipline makes the preacher the money collector of the church. The sooner we get rid of this false notion the better it will be for the ministry and the membership of the church.

All these collections ought to be laid on the heart and conscience of the church, and the members of the church ought to be set to work to raise them. The Church Conference ought to devise a plan for raising these moneys. The preacher ought to help the members do this work.

X.

We heartily endorse the views of our correspondent "X." We believe that the time has come when the preachers ought to be relieved in part, at least, of the ponderous burden of financial work that rests upon their shoulders. This can be done without invoking the aid of the General Conference. As our correspondent shows, the law does not make it the duty of the preacher to do this work, except in special cases. The requirements of the law would be met if the work were done by stewards, or by special standing committees. And the work is done in this way in a few charges. Why should it not be so done universally, or generally, at least? Is it meet now any more than in apostolic days that ministers commissioned from above to preach the gospel should turn aside to serve tables? There are many of our preachers who have no tact whatever for this sort of work, while on the other hand in almost every medium sized Board of Stewards there are men who have special adaptation to work of this character. To the steward this work would be a means of grace, while to the preacher, in many instances, it is a constant source of worry and vexation. It takes a great deal of time which ought to be spent in studying or pastoral visiting. Moreover, the constant, persistent effort which the preacher is obliged to make in order to raise all his collections oftentimes puts obstacles in his way as preacher and pastor. This may be denied by mere doctrinaires, but there are hundreds of preachers alll over the land who know it to be true. Why not, then, relegate this work for the most part to stewards or special committees appointed by the Quarterly Conference or Church Conference? To this we have heard only one objection, viz.: that the preachers being relieved of this burden, would no longer preach on the duty of giving to missions and other church enterprises. We do not believe that this would be the case. We served charges for twelve years in succession in which all financial work was done by the stewards, and yet we never failed to preach every year on missions. What we did other pastors have done and will do. Whenever a preacher has special adaptation to this work, and prefers to do it himself, let him do it. In all other cases, if the stewards or some special appointees will relieve the preacher of this burden, we verily believe they will soon see it to be the better way.

EDITOR.

The South is destined in the near future to become the seat of great wealth and a brilliant society. Whether that wealth and that society shall be at the disposal of a genuine refinement, wielded in the interest of a higher culture, or bring in a new era of demoralizing luxury, social pretension and political corruption, will depend largely on the outcome of the movement inaugurated in the foremost institutions for the training of Southern girls.

The above extract is from a pamphlet entitled, "Southern Women in the Recent Educational Movement in the South," by Rev. A. Mayo. Dr. Mayo, though a Northern man, is thoroughly fair in his treatment of all subjects pertaining to Southern life and character. Moreover, having been engaged in educational work in the South for the last twelve years, he is prepared to write knowingly on the subject. His suggestion in the above extract as to the grave responsibilities that rest upon those who control the educational affairs of the South is worthy of careful consideration. Let us educate our daughters, but let us see to it that their education is not that of the head alone. The education of the heart is of even greater importance than that of the head.

Why They Were Philistines.

A good story is told of a young preacher who attended a series of meetings conducted by a famous evangelist, and was much impressed with the size of the audiences and the apparent results of the meeting. Being of a philosophic turn of mind, he began to inquire after the secret of the evangelist's remarkable success. He noticed that the evangelist dealt very largely in vituperative speech, hurling at his audience such epithets as "skunks" "flop-eared hounds," etc., and jumped to the conclusion that here was the secret of the evangelist's power. He resolved that he would profit by what he had seen and heard. So the next Sabbath he turned himself loose in a violent philippic against his audience, especially the church members. He thought it safer, however, to restrict himself to biblical terminology; and so, instead of using the pet phrases of the evangelist, he denounced his flock as a set of "uncircumcised Philistines." When the service had closed, some one asked a waggish brother in the vestibule what he thought of this characterization. His reply was, "Why, Bro. A. is exactly right. We are Philistines, or at least we are just like the Philistines, for we have been assaulted with the jaw-bone of an ass." The remark reached the ear of Bro. A. before night; and now, if you don't want your physiognomy disfigured, you should be careful about using the word "Philistine" in Bro. A.'s presence.

NOTES.

The Brazilian civil war still continues. What the final result will be no one can foretell.

***

Some miscreant threw a rock at Gov. Foster a few days since as he sat in a train near Alexandria. The rock missed the governor, but hit the conductor.

***

Many people are silently wondering whether Gov. Altgeld will pardon Pendergrast, the murderer of Mayor Harrison. Why not pardon him as well as others?

***

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, pastor of Dryades Street Church, of this city, is doing a noble work in connection with a society for the prevention of cruelty to children. We shall have something to say about the operations of this society in a future issue.

***

Jacksonville, Fla., it seems, wants that which has been kicked out of almost every other city in the land—a prize fight. The thanks of all good citizens are due to some, at least, of the secular papers of this city for the bold stand taken in opposition to the prize-fight brutality.

***

Brunswick and Jessup are still in the grasp of the pestilence. There has been a considerable abatement, however; the number of new cases reported on Sunday being only five. The total number of cases in Brunswick up to Monday morning of this week is 960.

***

The "Rescue Mission" is the name of an institute recently established in this city for the reformation of fallen women. Comfortable lodging and wholesome food are furnished to all who are willing to give up their life of shame. When homes can be found for them, they are sent out to begin life anew.

***

The women of San Francisco are making vigorous, organized protest against the steady stream of nauseating filth which has been pouring into their parlors recently through the medium of the daily newspapers. From all accounts such a protest is sadly needed. The papers of that city have been serving up, spreading before their patrons a rich repast of moral carrion.

***

Men are like birds. Some are silly like the goose; some knowing like the parrot; some joyous like the lark; some gloomy like the owl; some timid like the dove; some daring like the eagle; some cleanly as a canary; some feed on filth like a vulture. That this last specimen is abundant in these days is evinced by the filth served up for them by the press. The newspaper supply of filth is not apt to exceed the demand for it.

***

At the recent session of the Lincoln county (Miss.) court about a hundred citizens appeared before the court and pleaded guilty to the charge of whitecapism, all of them having participated in the attempt to intimidate the court some months since. The presiding judge, J. B. Chrisman—the same who defied the mob with a hundred guns leveled at him—addressed the culprits in a speech in which he showed the enormity of their crime and the terrible consequences that must ensue from such outlawry, and then discharged them on condition of their paying the court costs. All things considered, we do not doubt that in this case it was wise thus to temper justice with mercy.

***

Last Sabbath we had the privilege of expounding the Word at Carondelet Street Church. At night we again attended Carondelet and heard a sermon from Rev. R. H. Parker, a transfer from the Los Angeles Conference to the Western North Carolina Conference, who is spending the interim until the session of his Conference with his father, Rev. J. D. Parker, of this city. From the text, "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God: believe also in me," he preached a sermon in which he showed the insufficiency of deism, or mere natural religion, to meet the wants of man's intellectual and spiritual nature. It was a very striking, thoughtful, logical discourse.

***

Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina, finds it difficult to enforce the new temperance law. A beer seller of the name of Meetz defied the whole executive authorities for a whole day at the State Fair at Columbia. He refused to stop selling even at the bidding of the governor himself and also declined to be arrested. The governor tried hard to have him arrested, but could find no constable, policeman, or military man that would obey his orders, as Meetz was well known to be a man of great courage. Meetz claimed that the governor had no right to have him arrested without a warrant. He stated from the beginning that he would submit to arrest when the proper legal papers should be served. This is a point for the courts to decide.

J. J. Wheat, D. D.

My benefactor is gone! The death of Dr. Wheat was announced last week in the St. Louis Daily Republic. It grieved me to hear that he had gone from us. Soon after the late war Dr. Wheat, at the time professor of Greek in the State University of Mississippi, at Oxford, wrote Rev. H. H. Montgomery, of the Mississippi Conference: "If you know of a young man studying for the ministry, and who is not able to pay his way at the university, send him to me." Bro. Montgomery recommended me. I went to Oxford and entered upon the preparatory course for the university, taking my meals with the family of Dr. Wheat and rooming in the dormitory. In March of 1867 my health failed. I made several attempts to go on with my course, but failed. I said to him one day, "Doctor, I can not accept your kind offer, for my health may never sufficiently recover to be successful. You may do for some one else what you are doing for me." He seemed to think that the best course. But he had awakened in me a thirst for a classical education. I wrote him at one time if he would not secure for me the place of bell-ringer for the university. In his reply he said, "You can get it." As I seemed to be somewhat discouraged, he wrote me a fatherly letter. Among the things he said were these: "Commit thy way unto the Lord, trust also in him and he will bring it to pass;" "The steps of the good man are ordered by the Lord;" "Them that honor me I will honor." I owe Dr. Wheat a debt of gratitude I will never be able to pay. I am glad, however, I wrote him more than once acknowledging this debt of gratitude.

He was my beau ideal of a preacher. I loved to hear him preach, not on account of his great scholarship, but because of the unction with which he proclaimed the Word of God. While pastor of our church at Oxford his habit was to spend the half-hour between Sunday-school and the time for morning service on his knees in secret prayer. No wonder his face beamed with joy when he entered the pulpit.

It is with melancholy pleasure I pay him this tribute of respect. I trust a double portion of the sweet spirit with which he was blessed may fall upon each of his children.

When I bade him good-by, on leaving the university, I said, "Doctor, I shall always be grateful to you for giving me a start." He said, "All I ask of you, if in life's journey you have an opportunity of doing for some one what I have done for you, do it." In the morning of the resurrection, among those I love best, will be my beloved benefactor, Dr. J. J. Wheat.

A. T. TIDWELL.

St. Louis, Mo.

To Preachers and People of the Seashore District, Mississippi Conference.

Dear Brethren: The reports in some places indicate a rather distressing deficiency in receipts on salary and collections. Some charges and churches will pay out; others will not except by a very earnest effort of the stewards and hearty aid by the people. A small deficiency on each church will amount to tens and hundreds from the district. Let everyone rally to remedy this difficulty—those who have not paid their share, doing so; those who have, straining a point if need be and giving more. This for Christ; not for self or men's sake! The preachers will please send in their statistical reports (duplicate) to me by Nov. 22. Observe changes in remainder of fourth round.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Notice.

Dr. J. J. Wheat, who died Oct. 31, 1893, was a member of the Ministers' Relief Association of the North Mississippi Conference. The members are hereby notified to send in their mortuary dues within the next sixty days.

THOS. J. NEWELL,
Sec. and Treas.

Grenada Miss., Nov. 18, 1893.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The University of Pennsylvania has gotten up something new under the sun. It has established a course in journalism. Ten students are already taking the course.

Train robberies are multiplying, two having occurred with the last week, one in Arkansas, and one on the I. C. R. R in Kentucky. In the latter case several thousand dollars of booty are said to have been secured.

The Christian Workers' Convention is one of the most notable gatherings ever held in the South, the estimated attendance being between eight and ten thousand. Atlanta's hotels and homes are all full.

Our editorial sanctum has been enlivened this week by the presence of the Rev. R. B. Downer, of the Mississippi Conference; Rev. J. F. Sourlock, of the Louisiana Conference, and President L. T. Fitzhugh, of Whitworth Female College. Prof. Fitzhugh reports the college prosperous.

Secretary Gresham has addressed President Cleveland a letter in which he takes the position that the United States Government can not righteously participate in the overthrow of royalty in the Sandwich Islands. We think it very likely that the deposed queen will soon be re-enthroned.

We had a pleasant call a few days since from Bishop Keener. The Bishop will leave in a few days for his round of Conferences in Arkansas. Time deals gently with our senior Bishop. But for the almanac he would be as young as he was twenty years ago. He is both vigorous and vivacious. He keeps abreast of the age and does not allow himself to grow old in spirit.

NOTICES.

To the Pastors of the Mississippi Conference:

Our silk quilt will be ready soon, and we expect each charge to pay, at least, one dollar for its square. Please send or bring the price of your square to Conference.

MRS. T. M. WARRELL,
Secretary Ladies' Aid Society.

Hazlehurst, Miss.

Will all the members and delegates to the Annual Conference who contemplate bringing their wives, please notify me at once, that arrangements may be made for their entertainment. Reduced rates have been secured on all the railroads in the bounds of the Conference. R. M. STANDIFER.

Columbus, Miss.

To the Preachers of the North Mississippi Conference—

Dear Brethren: Please take your Minute collection. Don't forget it. Let every preacher raise the amount assessed his charge, and if it is done, there will be none too much to meet the necessity. T. B. MALONE, Publisher Minutes.

Grenada, Miss.

Will the preachers of the Mississippi Conference please send me by post-office order on Vicksburg, or bank check on New Orleans or Vicksburg, their church extension money? I prefer making my deposits before Conference, as banking facilities at Hazlehurst may not be as desirable as we would wish. And to have it in hand is unsafe and burdensome. Please oblige me by Dec. 5.

THOS. A. HOLLOMAN, Treas.

Phœnix, Miss.

To the Members and Delegates of the Mississippi Conference:

Hon. J. S. Sexton has charge of transportation work of our committee, and no doubt usual rates will be given of which you will have due notice. Trains leave Jackson 2 A. M., 11:30 A. M., and 3 P. M. All trains stop at Hazlehurst. Members who expect to come by private conveyance will please notify us at once. Those who expect to bring their wives will also notify us. Should any pastor or delegate know of their inability to attend Conference notify the committee at once.

R. P. WILLING, Sr., Chair'n.
E. M. COOK, Sec.

To the Preachers and Members of Woodville District:

Conference is near. Let all make an honest effort to meet the demands upon us. Let the members of the church and its friends pay all assessed upon their respective charges to the support of their pastors and the Conference collections. Time is short, but with an earnest effort much can be done. It would be exceedingly gratifying to me, in spite of the "hard times," for the district to pay up everything. We can do it if we will. Just say so, and it shall be done. Please let the preachers send to my address, Hazlehurst, Miss., just before Conference, their statistical report, that I may comply with the Bishop's request. P. A. JOHNSTON.

For Over-Indulgence
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.
Think of your head in the morning after a night's hard labor, and take Horsford's Acid Phosphate for speedy relief.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

Topic for Nov. 19.

RESISTING TEMPTATION.

(Matt. iv, 1-11.)

One great reason why the temptation of Christ was a part of his qualification for the ministry, was that men might learn thereby how to resist temptation. We are given a practical exhibition of the certainty of putting the devil to flight, when the proper means of warfare is employed and we are not left in doubt as to what that means is.

In Paul's description of the Christian soldier's full armor, that part of it which has to do particularly with defensive warfare is "the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked." All the promises in the New Testament which guarantee the Christian help in the hour of temptation, and which thereby make it possible for him to exercise "the shield of faith," derive their value from the fact that Christ "was tempted in all points like as we are." That part of the Christian's armor particularly suited for offensive warfare against the devil is "the sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God." This Christ teaches us to employ by his own example in quoting Scripture in every case.

That we might successfully resist temptation is, therefore, the reason why Christ suffered himself to be led up into the wilderness. He looked far beyond the narrow circle of selfish aspirants around him. He saw that his mission was to help generations yet unborn—to help us by his blessed sympathy. Every heart-throb and every pain that man has experienced was felt by the Master during his sojourn on earth.

"The first temptation of Christ appealed to the animal appetites, the second to the mental tastes, and the third to the ambition. This is the very triple division referred to by St. John." —(Whedon.)

Why the Epworth League Was Organized.

(Continued.)

Increased loyalty to the Bible was also seen to be greatly needed, and for this the Epworth League makes ample provision. The future safety of the church depends largely upon the measure in which it plants itself squarely upon the Bible, and the stability of individual Christian character will depend upon stability of faith in the truth of the Bible. "Therefore," says Paul to the Corinthians, as a result of implicit faith in the truth of Christian doctrine, "be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." The devil has many forces, disguised under such high-sounding names as Higher Criticism, Rationalism, etc., that are directed against the life of the Sacred Book. The best way for the young to be secure against these dangers, which are liable to assail them unawares, is not so much by studying what other people say about the Bible, as by making a personal study of its contents, and learning to live thereby. All the help that the Epworth League can furnish in the way of method, and unity of effort in its study, will serve to make it an attractive book, and assist in bringing about what the church very much needs—a revival on the subject of searching the Scriptures.

In the Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, there are two Leagues, one at Ellisville, the other at Biloxi.

In the Aberdeen district, North Mississippi Conference, there are three Leagues, at the following places: Tupelo, Okolona, and Houston.

We are glad to note that a promising Epworth League has recently been organized by Rev. H. H. Ahrens at Craps Street Church. This swells the number of Leagues in New Orleans to six.

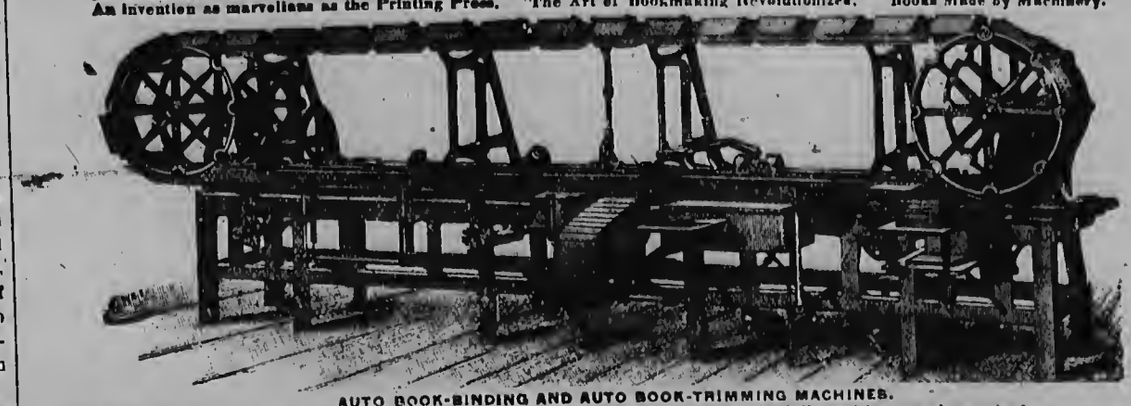
In the Shreveport district, Louisiana Conference, there are two Leagues—one at Natchitoches, the other at Shreveport Mission; in the Delhi district there are two—one at Waterproof, the other at Winnsboro; in the Opelousas district there is one at Lake Arthur, and possibly one at Lake Charles.

Will some pastor or Christian worker who has had success with the Epworth League in remote country places, write us something about his plans and methods?

The third regular meeting of the Union Epworth League of New Orleans met at Felicity Street Church, Thursday evening, Nov. 9. There was a large attendance, including a number of the city pastors, all of whom manifested great interest in the League movement.

Whiskers that are prematurely gray or faded should be colored to prevent the look of age, and Buckingham's Dye excels all others in coloring brown or black.

An investment that will yield from FIFTY to ONE HUNDRED per cent. per annum in CASH and DISCOUNT DIVIDENDS.
An invention as marvellous as the Printing Press. The Art of Bookmaking Revolutionized. Books Made by Machinery.



AUTO BOOK-BINDING AND AUTO BOOK-TRIMMING MACHINES.

Machines now running, turning out thousands of strongly and flexibly bound books daily, neither sewed nor wired.
Machines that will do for the literature of the ages what the perfected printing presses do for the news of the day.
Standard books, books for the library and popular works so cheapened that the choicest volumes shall be within easy reach of everyone. Stockholders entitled to the additional advantage of large, fixed and continuous discounts, and thus, at small expense, acquire handsome libraries of the best standard and popular authors.

The Auto Book Concern

CAPITAL STOCK, ORGANIZED UNDER THE LAWS OF NEW JERSEY . . . $1,000,000.
Divided into 100,000 Shares of $10 Each, Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

DIRECTORS:

MURAT HALSTEAD, Esq., New York, President.
Hon. J. F. PEIRCE, Superintendent of Insurance, State of New York, Vice-President
Hon. JOSEPH R. HAWLEY, U. S. Senator.
MARSHAL HALSTEAD, Esq., Vice-President Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.
CHARLES L. CARRICK, Esq.
Hon. J. J. INGALLS, Ex-U. S. Senator.
W. A. CROFFUT, Esq.
Hon. W. M. SPRINGER, Chairman Banking and Finance Committee, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.
Hon. BENTON McMILLEN, Member of Congress.
B. F. GREEN, Esq., New York, Secretary.
WINTHROP POND, Esq., New York, Treasurer.

REGISTRARS OF STOCK:
FARMER'S LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, New York.

ATTORNEYS:
Messrs. CARTER, HUGHES & KELLOGG, New York.

Prospectus.

THE AUTO BOOK CONCERN has been organized.

First. To acquire and control the American and European patents of the AUTO BOOK BINDER, and the AUTO BOOK TRIMMER MACHINES, that, to the book-making art, mark an advance as important as the Steam Printing Press was to the Washington Hand Press fifty years ago; and to manufacture and operate said machines, at this and in foreign countries.

Second. To acquire the most complete set of stereotype and electrotype plates, in this country, of the standard popular authors. These are stored in fire proof vaults in the City of New York. They are perfect and cost over $1,000,000.

Third. To manufacture with the use of these Automatic Machines, all grades of books, including school and music books, and sell the same at greatly reduced prices, to its Stockholders and the trade.

The Company will not sell or lease any of its machines within the United States, but to the European book-making craft only.

THE AUTO BOOK BINDER and the AUTO BOOK TRIMMER are run at little expense. They are marvels of simplicity. The binder, with the assistance of two girls, picks up printed sheets and covers, and converts them into solidly and flexibly bound volumes, neither sewed nor wired. These machines perfectly perform their tasks, and are henceforth as indispensable in producing books, as the perfected presses are to the newspapers.

It is proposed to provide families, students and school teachers with libraries at trifling expense and the best current literature at prices heretofore unknown and school books for the children of the million, neater and cheaper than ever has been done.

Statement of Earnings.

The profits on the publication of the standard and popular works from the plates which the Company acquires have exceeded $100,000 yearly under the old processes of manufacture, assuring to the stockholders a profit of at least 10 per cent. per annum from this source alone. With the use of the Auto Machines these profits must necessarily be largely increased.

It is impossible to estimate the returns from the ownership of the patents and the sale of the Machines in Foreign Countries, but it is a well known fact that patents covering machinery that create a revolution in any important trade have proved enormously remunerative to the original owners, and soon repay the full amount of capital invested. Additional dividends will be declared from time to time as such profits are realized.

Stockholders' Postal Supply Bureau.

An important feature of the sale department of the Company is the STOCKHOLDERS' POSTAL SUPPLY BUREAU.

The Company acts as agent for each stockholder in the purchase of all books published, and secures for stockholders the greatest possible discount, varying from 25 to 50 per cent. Stockholders will also be supplied with catalogues containing the list of the Company's publications, with a confidential price list, giving the wholesale prices and a special additional discount, which will be given to stockholders alone. Such discounts to stockholders will amount to an immense sum on the yearly purchase of books, thus yielding large DISCOUNT DIVIDENDS, in addition to the Cash Dividends, on the investment.

The price to be paid by the Company for the American and Foreign patents of the Auto Book Binder, the Auto Book Trimmer and the stereotype and electrotype plates of the Standard Works is $1,000,000: $350,000 in cash and $650,000 in the stock of the Company; the vendors agreeing, however, to donate to the treasury of said Company 150,000 of the stock they receive in part consideration of the conveyance of the above property.

To meet said cash payment of $350,000 to said vendors and to supply the necessary working capital, 50,000 shares of the capital stock of this Company are now offered for public subscription at par ($10 per share). This stock is full paid and non-assessable. Purchasers incur no personal liability. The remaining stock is retained by the vendors, as it is expected to command a large premium when the machines are in universal use.

Subscriptions to stock can be paid for in full on application, or 20 per cent. can be paid on application, the balance in one and two months. Should the stock offered be over-subscribed, preference will be given to subscriptions accompanied by full payment. Early application is, therefore, recommended.

Applications for stock with remittances must be made to WINTHROP POND, Treasurer, THE AUTO BOOK CONCERN at the Company's office, 203 Broadway, New York.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat.

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.
LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.
E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

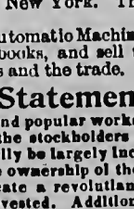
I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

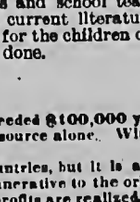
Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church. H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Pria. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.





Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.

For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.

Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the first year will meet at eight o'clock, Tuesday morning, Nov. 28, at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss. JNO. W. BELL,
For the Committee.

Ripley, Miss., Nov. 1, 1893.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 A. M. HESLEP R. TUCKER,
G. W. GORDON,
E. H. CAGY,
Committee.

The class of the third year will please meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Nov. 27, 1893, at eight P. M.
T. Y. RAMSEY,
R. M. DAVIS,
H. C. MOREHEAD,
Committee.

The class of the fourth year will please meet in the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8 o'clock A. M.
THOS. J. NEWELL, for Com.

Don't become constipated. Take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission into the Louisiana Annual Conference will meet at the Methodist Church in Homer, La., on Wednesday, Dec. 13.
J. M. BEARD.

The class of the first year will meet at Methodist Church, Homer, La., at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 13.
WM. H. LA PRADE.

The class of the second year will meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Homer, La., Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 9:30 A. M. COMMITTEE.

Lake Providence, La.

The class of the third year will please meet committee for examination in Homer, La., Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at seven o'clock, at such place as the pastor may designate, and oblige
THOS. B. WHITE,
For Committee.

Arcadia, La.

Notice.

Brethren who want any special books will confer a favor by letting us know at once, so that we may get them and have them on hand.
LAIRD & DOMINICK.

Mississippi Conference Notices.

The class of the second year will please meet the examining committee in the Methodist Church in Hazlehurst, Miss., on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, at half-past seven o'clock.
A. F. WATKINS,
For Committee.

The class of the third year will meet the examining committee at the Methodist Church, Hazlehurst, Miss., nine o'clock A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 6.
D. G. W. ELLIS,
H. W. FEATHERSTUN,
L. S. JONES,
Committee.

North Mississippi Conference.

NOTICE!

Ministers, delegates and visitors attending the North Mississippi Conference, at Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29, will pay full fare over the various railroads, taking certificates from agents to that effect. These, when signed by the secretary of the Conference, will secure a return rate of one cent a mile. A certificate must be taken for each ticket purchased. J. S. OAKLEY,
Sec. of the Conference.

THE SMALLEST IS THE BEST.

There are a dozen well-known liver pills, but only one so effective that it can be guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money be refunded. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are smaller, but better than the huge, old-fashioned pill, the medicinal agents are refined and concentrated.

Every one suffers, at some time or other, from Constipation, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Biliousness, Bilious and Sick Headaches. You're cured of these troubles, relieved and if you take "P. P. P." Pellets are easy to take, and effect in a natural way without shocking the system. They're easy to carry, because they are put up in little glass vials. They're the cheapest, because guaranteed to give satisfaction. Remember, that Dr. Pierce's Pellets are pleasant to take, pleasant in action, perfect in effect. Keep this in mind and you solve the problem of good health and good living.

FOR CATARRH!
RHEUMATISM!
LA GRIPPE!
INDIGESTION!

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 3, 1893.
Some years ago I had an attack of grip, which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used King's Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure in my case. I had indigestion, and it cured that also. I have recommended it to several persons who were afflicted with different diseases, and always with the happiest results.
REV. J. W. HOWARD,
Baptist City Missionary.

BEAUFORT, N. C., June 7, 1893.
I was a sufferer from rheumatism for eight months, part of the time was so that I could not walk. I was entirely cured by King's Royal Gemetuor. I have no symptoms of rheumatism now. I think it is a great medicine.
IVAN B. ABERNATHY.

What Rev. Sam Jones Says.
Rev. Sam Jones, the great evangelist, writes: "My wife, who was an invalid from nervous sick headache, has been entirely cured by Royal Germetuer. I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine. Two of my children were cured of nasal catarrh by it. It is truly a great medicine."

For Children, Nervous Troubles and Weak and Debilitated Females, Royal Germetuer is unequalled. Try it. $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.
King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.
Germetuer Pills for Constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,
Attorney-at-Law,
49 CAMP STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!
Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.
All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.
Feathers purged of all impurities.
44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.
Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FARLTEN, Director.
The Leading Conservatory of America.
In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.
FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.
The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss

Mississippi
Industrial Institute and College.
BUREAU OF EDUCATION.
Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.
Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

HOME'S NOT MERELY FOUR SQUARE WALLS.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

Home's not merely four square walls,
Though with pictures hung and gilded;
Home is where affection calls—
Filled with shrines the heart hath builded.
Home!—go, watch the faithful dove,
Sailing 'neath the heaven above us;
Home is where there's one to love,
Home is where there's one to love us.

Home's not merely roof and room,
Needs it something to endear it;
Home is where the heart can bloom;
Where there's some kind lip to cheer it.
What is home with none to meet?
None to welcome—none to greet us?
Home is sweet—and only sweet—
Where there's one we love to meet us.

A Hint to Mothers.

Very much has been done for a child when it has been taught to love books. No one has such an opportunity to develop in the mind of the child a love of reading as the mother. The mother should see to it that the household is supplied with books and papers that are attractive to the mind of childhood. She should place this literature in the hands of her children, calling their attention specially to anything that she thinks would interest them.

We have known children who had a real love for books long before they could read. This was brought about by the mother's habit of reading to them in a judicious way.

It shall be our aim to make the ADVOCATE helpful to mothers in this direction. We shall put into its columns from time to time something for the children, even the little ones who can not read.

Mothers should remember, however, that children, ever busy with their sports, may not find that which has been prepared for them, unless guided by an older head. Let the mother search through the family department of the ADVOCATE for the children's morsel and place it before them. Let her read the contents of the children's corner to the wee ones who have not yet learned to read. Moreover, if the mother will procure a scrap book and present it to her children, we will promise to have in the ADVOCATE almost every week something worthy of a place in that scrap book. Mothers, don't forget this suggestion.

A Kiss is Better Than a Blow.

One day my dear little daughter Emma got up cross and spoke in a cross way, and finally I said to her:

"Emma, if you speak in that way again, I shall have to punish you."

Now, it was not because I didn't love her; it was because I did love her, and if I had to correct her, it was for the good of the little child. One morning she got up cross again. I said nothing, but when she was getting ready to go to school she came up to me and said:

"Papa, kiss me."

I said, "Emma, I can not kiss you this morning."

"Why, father?"

"Because you have been cross again this morning. I can not kiss you."

"Why, papa," said Emma, "you never refused to kiss me before."

"Well, you have been naughty this morning."

"Why don't you kiss me?" she said again.

"Because you have been naughty. You will have to go to school without your kiss."

She went into the other room, where her mother was, and said: "Mama, papa don't love me. He won't kiss me. I wish you would go and get him to kiss me."

"You know, Emma," said her mother, "that your father loves you, but you have been naughty."

So she couldn't be kissed, and she went down stairs crying as if her heart would break, and I loved her so well that the tears came into my eyes. I could not help crying, and when I heard her go down stairs, I could not keep down my tears. I think I loved her then better than I ever did, and when I heard the door close I went to the window and saw her going down the street weeping. I didn't feel good all that day. I believe I felt a good deal worse than the child did, and I was anxious for her to come home. How long that day seemed to me. And when she came home at night and came to me and asked me to forgive her, and told me how sorry she felt, how gladly I took her up and kissed her, and how happy she went up stairs to bed! It is just so with God. He loves you, and when he chastises you, it is for your own good. If you will only come to him and tell him how sorry you are, how gladly he will receive you, and how happy you will make him, and, oh! how happy you will be yourself!—Moody.

Suppose It Had Been You.

Hundreds of Cornish miners were killed, and their corpses lay at the mouth of the coal mine for recognition. Wives were ringing their hands, and children were crying, and a wail of desolation filled the air.

Sitting at the mouth by a pale corpse was a young wife. She looked at her husband, but uttered no cry; her eyes were dry. She rocked herself to and fro, her face white with anguish.

"Oh, that I had spoke fair to him at the end!" she moaned. "Oh, that he will come to life one minute, that I could say, Jimmy, forgive me; but nothing can help me now. Oh, I could hear it all if I'd only spoke fair to him at the end!"

And then, at last, the story came. They had been married a year, she and Jim; they both had tempers; but Jim was always first to make up. And this very morning they had had trouble.

It began because breakfast was not ready, and the fire wouldn't burn; and they had said hard words, both of them. But at the very last, though breakfast had not been fit to eat, Jim had turned round at the door and said:

"Gie me a kiss, lass. You know you love me, and we won't part in ill-blood."

"No, Jimmy, I don't love you!" I said, petulantly.

"Gie me one kiss, lass," pleaded Jimmy.

"No, not one! and now"—and then the tears rushed to her eyes. With awful sobs she flung her arms around the corpse.

"Dear Jimmy! Darling Jimmy, speak to me now," she moaned; "say you forgive me!"

"Do not grieve so hopelessly," I said; "perhaps Jimmy knows what you feel now."

But the mourner's ears were deaf to all comfort, and the wailing cry came again and again:

"Oh, if I had only spoke to him fair at the last!"

It is not an uncommon story, this. We quarrel with those we love, and part, and meet, and make up again; and death is merciful, and waits till we are at peace, yet how possible is just such an experience to anyone of us, who parts with some dear one in anger, or lets the sun go down upon our wrath!

But it is always the noblest nature, the most loyal heart, which is the first to cry, "I was wrong; forgive me."—Landon.

Do not look forward to the changes and chances of this life in fear; rather look to them with full hope that, as they arise, God, whose you are, will deliver you out of them. He has kept you hitherto—do you but hold fast to his dear hand, and he will lead you safely through all things; and, when you can not stand, he will bear you in his arms. Do not look forward to what may happen to-morrow; the same everlasting Father who cares for you to-day will take care of you to-morrow and every day. Either he will shield you from suffering, or he will give you unfailing strength to bear it. Be at peace, then, and put aside all anxious thoughts and imaginations.—Francis de Sales.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

OUR CHILDREN.

MOTHER.

Nobody knows the work it takes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the steps it makes;
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody listens to childish woes
Which kisses only smother;
Nobody's pained by naughty blows;
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the sleepless care
Bestowed on baby brother;
Nobody knows of the tender prayer;
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the lesson taught
Of loving one another;
Nobody knows of the patience sought;
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the anxious fears
Lest darlings may not weather
The storms of life in after years;
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody kneels to the throne above
To thank the heavenly Father
For that sweetest gift, a mother's love;
Nobody can—but mother.
—Detroit Free Press.

The Discontented Dove.

I met with a pretty story lately, which I shall relate.

The daughter of a poor, but good and sensible mother, was complaining to her that, when she mixed with girls of her own age, she felt ashamed of her plain attire. The mother, instead of remonstrating with her daughter, read to her the following fable:

The dove appealed to its guardian genius to bestow upon it a gayer external.

"Why is it," said she, "that I have only these plain feathers, this unadorned plumage? while the peacock and the parrot shine in such fine and glittering apparel?"

"Thou shalt have what thou desirest, gentle dove," said the genius; "but remember, if thou wouldst shine like either the peacock or the parrot, thou must become like them in all other respects. Art thou, then, willing to resign thy own character? Wouldst thou no longer be my timid, tender, loving dove, that thou mightst become vain and noisy as the peacock—chattering and idle as the parrot?"

"No!" said the dove; "oh! no! kind genius; I will not give up the characteristics which render me thy care, and contribute so much to my happiness."

The daughter looked up into her mother's face.

"And I, too," said she, "will remain thy dove, dear mother, and be satisfied with the gifts with which my heavenly Father has endowed me."—Anonymous.

The Church-Going Habit.

Habits, good or bad, cling to us. It was a blustering Winter morning, when Allen resolutely buttoned his overcoat up to his chin and drew on his fleecy gloves. "You are not going to church such a morning as this, Allen?" said a brother student. "To be sure I am," said the other decidedly. "I was brought up to attend church, and I should as soon think of going without my breakfast as of staying at home." It is one of the best habits a youth can form, and a great safeguard amid the temptations of a city, to attend the house of God.—Selected.

God gives everybody, I think, a cross, when he enters upon a Christian life. When it comes into his hands, what is it? It is the rude oak, foursquare, full of splinters and slivers, and rudely tacked together. . . . I see some men carrying their cross just as rude as it was at the first. Others, I perceive, begin to wind about it faith and hope and patience; . . . and at last their cross has been so covered with holy affections that it does not seem any more to be a cross. They carry it so easily, and are so much more strengthened than burdened by it, that men almost forget that it is a cross, by the triumph with which they carry it. Carry your cross in such a way that there shall be victory in it.—Henry Ward Beecher.

It has often been remarked that times of financial panic are followed by great revivals of religion. Surely there is need enough of revival. It will prove the large and lasting gain of the American people if this unsettlement of values, and the overthrow of earthly fortunes, should lead to widespread and eager quest of the true riches. If the church proves faithful to the opportunity, this measureless blessing may be confidently expected. Do we recognize the voice of Providence calling us to prayer, the deepening of our own piety, and new zeal for the salvation of men?—Exchange.

The Penitent Scholar.

School is out. The last lesson has been recited and the evening hymn sung, and now the shouts of merry voices are heard on the green. Their spirits overflow like long pent-up waters. But one of their number is still imprisoned. All is quiet now in the school-room. There sits the teacher at her desk, with a sad and troubled face. At one of the desks before her sits a boy, whose flushed countenance and flashing eye tell of a struggle within. His arms are proudly folded, as in defiance, and his lips are compressed. He will never say, "I am sorry; will you forgive me?" No! not he! His breath comes thick and fast, and the angry flush upon his cheek grows a deep crimson. The door stands invitingly open. A few quick steps, and he can be beyond the reach of the teacher. Involuntarily his hand snatches up his cap, as she says, "George, come to me." A moment more and he has darted out, and is away down the lane. The teacher's face grows more sad; her head sinks upon the desk, and the tears will come, as she thinks of the return he is making for all her love and care for him.

The clock strikes five, and slowly putting on her bonnet and shawl, she prepares to go, when, looking out at the door, she sees the boy coming towards the school-house, now taking rapid steps forward, as though fearful his resolution would fail him—then pausing, as if ashamed to be seen coming back. What has thus changed his purpose?

Breathless with haste, he has thrown himself down upon the green grass by the side of the brook, cooling his burning cheeks in the pure sweet water; and as, gradually, the flush faded away, so in his heart died away the anger he felt towards his teacher.

The soft south wind, as it stole by, lifting the hair from his brow, seemed to whisper in his ear, "This way, little boy; this way;" and voices within him murmured, "Go back, go back." He started to his feet. Should he heed those kind words—should he go back? Could he go back? Ah! here was the struggle. Could he be man enough to conquer his pride and anger, and in true humility retrace his steps, and say, "Forgive"? Could he go back? As he repeated the words, he said to himself, "I will go back;" and the victory was won. Soon, with downcast and throbbing heart, he stood before his teacher, acknowledging in broken accents his fault, and asking forgiveness. The sunbeams streamed in through the open window, filling the room with golden light; but the sunlight in those hearts was brighter yet. Ah, children, if you would always have the sunlight in your hearts, never let the clouds of anger rise to dim your sky.

He was a hero. He conquered himself; and Solomon says, "He that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city." At first he cowardly ran away; but his courage came again; he rallied his forces, and took the city. Brave is the boy that has courage to do right, when his proud heart says, "I will not."

A Sister's Influence.

A girl in the house, to my mind, can wield a wonderful influence. I can not conceive a more beautiful sight than the affection of a sister for her brother. A sister's love is one of the sweetest flowers planted by God in the heart of a girl. It is born of filial sympathy and confidence, and ripens into a spiritual love different from any other affection.

Powerful as is the influence of a mother, there have been innumerable cases where the presence of a sister's sweet and tender love or the memory of a sister's holy affection have been the saving grace of a brother's life. The sister's love in the home often formulates the brother's estimate of her sex. A sister can have a softening influence upon a brother where everything fails. She raises his opinion of a woman by her actions toward him.

A young man can be made pretty well what his sister chooses to make him. As he sees her in the home, so he judges the sisters of other brothers. She is often his standard whereby others are measured.—Lutheran Observer.

Keep your hearts warm by feeling for others, and your powers active by work done in earnest.—Hall.

The continual breaking of lamp-chimneys costs a good deal in the course of a year.

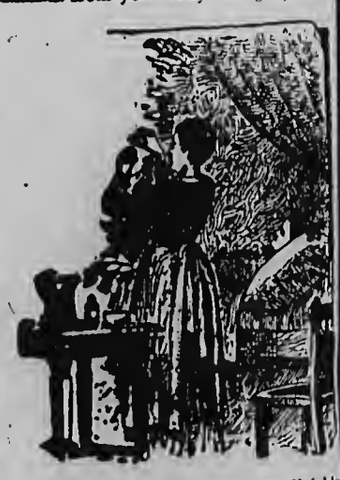
Get Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass." You will have no more trouble with breaking from heat. You will have clear glass instead of misty; fine instead of rough; right shape instead of wrong; and uniform, one the same as another.
Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

MAKE Leather soft and long-lived with Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.
Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.
Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

I KEEP COOL
inside, outside, and all the way through, by drinking
HIRES' Root Beer
This great Temperance drink; is as healthful, as it is pleasant. Try it.

ATHENS, GA.
I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.
Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.
—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. B. Pugh, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive the malaria from your body and get you well.



I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.
PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. B. Pugh, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.
TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.
For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,
No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.
I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.
WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. Lowe, Mills Building, New York.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS 25 CTS

MARRIAGES.

BECK—EMERICK.—At the residence of the bride's father, Cleburne county, Miss., Oct. 10, 1893, by Rev. G. A. Guice, Mr. R. S. Beck to Miss Lizzie R. Emerick.

WRIGHT—ROLLISON.—At Red Bone Church, near Warrenton, Miss., Oct. 22, 1893, by Rev. W. M. Stevens, Mr. Thomas C. Wright to Miss Ida Rollison, both of Warren county, Miss.

EADS—HOOKS.—At the residence of Mrs. Gaskell, Walnut Grove, Miss., Oct. 31, 1893, by Rev. Irvin Miller, Col. J. D. Eads, of Carthage, Miss., to Mrs. M. C. Hooks, of Meridian, Miss.

MOORE—MOORE.—At Bœuff Prairie Church, Franklin parish, La., Nov. 5, 1893 by Rev. A. W. Moore, Mr. Alonzo D. O. Moore and Mrs. Mary V. Moore, all of Franklin parish.

WOOLLARD—CUNNINGHAM.—At the Methodist Church, Corinth, Miss., Nov. 1, 1893, by Rev. T. Y. Ramsey and Rev. J. A. Randolph, Rev. W. W. Woollard, of the North Mississippi Conference, to Miss Mamie Cunningham, daughter of T. W. Cunningham, Esq., of Alcorn county, Miss.

SKOGLUND—COWART.—In the Methodist Church, Stonewall, Miss., Oct. 19, 1893, at 10 o'clock A. M., by Rev. G. W. Ferrer, Mr. N. N. Skoglund, of Whistler, Ala., and Miss Margie Cowart, of Stonewall, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column

JONES—Mrs. NANNIE E. JONES (nee Grant), daughter of Richard C. and A. A. Grant, was born in Warren county, Miss., Nov. 28, 1871. She was an obedient child. Her mother said of her, "I do not remember that she ever wilfully disobeyed me in her life." A friend that had known her from infancy said of her, "She was one of the purest specimens of Christian womanhood I ever saw." Her Sunday-school teacher, speaking of her, said, "I have known her since a child, and can say she was pure and good, that her character was spotless, and to know her was to love her." She possessed a self-sacrificing spirit. She endeavored always to make those around her happy, and was the life of the crowd in which she found herself, and seemed to forget self when the interest or welfare of another was at stake. During her last illness but a few hours before the summons came, "Come up higher," while suffering the paroxysms of disease, a little sister was sick in the house, and she called to her mother, and said, "Don't forget Mollie"—forgetting self and thinking of others. It may be said of her, She ran well to the end.

She was the mother of two children, both of which preceded her to the land of the blessed. She joined the M. E. Church, South, and professed religion under the ministry of Rev. R. Bradley at the age of seventeen, and remained a consistent member of the same to the day of her death. She was married to Mr. E. D. Jones, Jr., Sept. 10, 1890; was a devoted wife, untiring in her efforts to make home pleasant and her husband happy, never forgetting for one moment the welfare, comfort and happiness of her husband. She said nothing during her last illness about death; but during a previous spell, and not a great while before this, she expressed herself freely to the writer, saying she did not expect to live long, but was trusting alone in the Savior. August 2, 1893, while all nature seemed to hush for the occasion, she quietly passed over the river, where she is waiting for the loved ones she left behind. May the Holy Spirit conduct them home!

D. F. GUICE, P. C.

TAYLOR—JOHN P. TAYLOR was born Dec. 4, 1847; married Miss V. E. Pucket, daughter of Rev. B. G. Pucket, and died Sept. 11, 1893. He leaves a wife and nine children to mourn his loss, and a severe blow indeed it is to that bereft family. He went out in the morning early target shooting, with his little son, whom he was teaching rifle shooting. The child returned to the house for a few moments, the father sat down on a box, on store gallery, to await his return. Resting his gun between his knees, it slipped off the gallery, discharged and did its deadly work. The ball entered under the chin, crushing all the bones of the face, but came out before striking the brain. He lived for several hours, and was conscious to the last, and, although blind, he wrote several brief messages to his family, the last of which was, "God bless you all. Good-by."

He joined the M. E. Church, South, in early manhood, and lived for many years a member; but, moving away from his old home, he for several years drifted away and lost his membership. In August, 1892, he again joined the church, was happily converted, and from that time on remained a consistent member. May the father of mercies give comfort to the broken-hearted loved ones he leaves behind! is the prayer of the writer,

G. A. GUICE.

TUCKER—Little ROBERT WILSON, the son of T. G. and Nittie Tucker, was born Jan. 3, 1889, and died Aug. 14, 1893.

Bleeding hearts had been anxiously longing, tearful eyes had been keeping vigils, fervent prayers had ascended upward, the kind physician's skill had been exhausted, loving friends gathered in to give their services, and all that human power could do was done; but, alas! 'twas all in vain. God had decreed, and human power could not avail. At last the dread moment came. There was one final struggle, and all was over. The earthen casket was broken, and the guiltless soul confined within leaped forth as on wings of morning light and bounded away to its home beyond.

Fond parents, do not grieve for your loved one now. God will keep him till you come. Do not think of him as dead. Oh, no! he has gone to him who tenderly said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God." Heaven to you will be sweeter now. Oh, then, strive to meet your darling there.

HIS UNCLE.

Texas Christian Advocate please copy.

RICKS—Died, Sept. 15, 1893, near Cairo, Miss., HENRY KIRBY, little son of S. H. and S. S. Ricks, aged two years, three months and fifteen days. The sad messenger, death, has entered and taken from this happy circle one of its rarest flowers. Little Kirby was a sweet and promising child, loving and loved by all; he was, indeed, a lovely child, the light and joy of the home in which he was the one object of love and care. He was the best and most affectionate child I ever saw; he would often hug and kiss his loving parents in fond embrace. The sweet little bud was soon plucked from earth to heaven; for suddenly the hand of a dread disease was laid upon him, and after a few hours of suffering God took sweet little Kirby to live forever in heaven. His earthly pilgrimage was short, but he has been transplanted to a purer home. Little Kirby is missed at home, O, so much; but we hope to meet him in heaven. Weep not, dear parents; you can meet little Kirby by and by.

HIS AUNT.

FENN—A sweeter or fairer bud of promise was never translated from earth to bloom in heaven than our "Little Racro," as we all so fondly called her.

Little RAY was the daughter of Clarence and Faleta Fenn. She was born Nov. 25, 1889, and died Sept. 10, 1893. Her illness was brief and inexpressible. All the aid of a skillful physician and tender nursing of parents and other loved ones could not relieve her suffering; but God saw fit to take her to himself, where she is basking in the sunlight of everlasting bliss, where there is no more pain or parting with loved ones. It is hard to give her up, though we could not ask to have her back again, but only ask to be prepared to keep the vow we made as we laid our hand upon her little casket just before we laid her to rest in the cemetery at Adams. Ray has finished her work here on earth, and has plumed her little pinions, and has gone to him who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." She is greatly missed from the home circle, but heaven seems brighter since God has called the precious one home.

GRANDMAMA.

HUTCHINS—Friday morning, Sept. 29, between the hours of 12 and 1, the angel of death entered the home of our neighbor and bore away on the wings of love a little bud of innocence, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hutchins, leaving bereaved and saddened hearts that God alone can comfort. The body was placed in a beautiful casket of snowy whiteness, emblematic of the soul that had flown to its Maker, and, surrounded by flowers, was sweetness and beauty personified. With sorrow we closed for the last time the casket to be carried by the grief-stricken father to its last resting-place—Brookhaven Cemetery.

Weep not, dear mother, for thy darling that has gone before. God knows what is best, He saw fit to pluck a bud from earth's garden to bloom in heaven, sheltered from the chilling winds of trouble and feasts of temptations. The little one can never come back; but just beyond the pearly gates it is waiting and watching for you. May God enable the bereaved ones to bear this trial and to see the silvery lining of this cloud of affliction!

HEBGART H. ORR.

GOLLMER—JOHN SAMUEL GOLLMER was born July 11, 1881; died Oct. 15, 1893. A sad accident has brought to an end the bright young life of this dearly beloved child. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gollmer, who are members of the Louisiana Avenue M. E. Church, South, and they have the sympathy of all their friends in the bereavement that has come into their home. Little Johnnie was of a sweet and gentle nature, an earnest little Christian, devout and serious beyond his years. He was a regular attendant at Sabbath-school, where he was beloved by teachers and scholars. Death came in the midst of his happy childhood by an accident which adds its horror to the sense of loss and loneliness which his parents suffer. But theirs is a Christian home sanctified by the strengthening power of true religion, and they will learn to realize that their sorrow is the chastening hand of God, and will say, "He doeth all things well."

A FRIEND.

MCCAY—MARY ANNETTE daughter of R. C. and Annie McCay, was born April 6, 1891, and died Sept. 23, 1893. Brief indeed was that fair life, but long enough to twine itself around the hearts of all who knew her. A flower too bright for earth the Father's hand has taken, and transplanted it in his own bright home; and may the broken-hearted father and mother get very near to the side of the Master who doeth all things well, and draw comfort and consolation from his divine hand; and may the sweet life so soon cut off be a guiding star to the loved ones left behind, and bring them at last to that home where there will be no more parting and no more tears!

G. A. GUICE.

PATTERSON—At the session of the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Sunday-school, held Sunday, Oct. 8, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas God has seen fit, in his wise providence, to remove from our midst Miss MAUDE PATTERSON, a former teacher and member of this Sunday-school; And, whereas We among whom she labored remember her work of love for her Lord, her consistent Christian character, her gentle and sweet disposition

Resolved, That we, the members of the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school South, mourning her loss as we do, we shall ever hold her memory in sweet remembrance, and shall strive to emulate her life and good deeds, so that our end may be as sweet and as peaceful as hers.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to her loved ones in this their great affliction, and pray that God who giveth grace in time of need may uphold and comfort them in this trying moment.

Resolved, That a copy of this testimonial of our love and sympathy be sent to the loved ones, also to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

J. R. WESTFIELD,
For the School.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Modesty is to merit as shades to figures in a picture, giving it strength and beauty.—Bruyer.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has made a name and record in the past fifty years that is enviable. Thousands of people having tried it for coughs, colds, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis and consumption know its value, and would no be without it. Why? Because it cures where other remedies fail. We recommend it for children subject to croup and whooping cough. It will give relief and cause speedy cure. The medical profession recognize it, and physicians frequently prescribe it for lung troubles. These facts have pushed Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar to the front rank. It is the best remedy for coughs, colds, all throat and lung affections, and no family should be without it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teacher's Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating. "Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents. Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 27

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

MALONE COLLEGE
For Young Ladies.
HOLLY SPRINGS, MISSISSIPPI.

The Third Annual Session will begin Monday, Sept. 20, 1893.
Location, highest point in the State. Elevation, 613 feet.
Health unsurpassed in the Southwest.
Course thorough and comprehensive.
Each department under the charge of specialists.
Special advantages offered in music, art and elocution.
A HOME SCHOOL for pupils under Christian influences.
Terms moderate. For catalogues or further particulars address
Rev. J. W. HONNOLL, President.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429 729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF H. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - - $400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - - $413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - - $459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - - $510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - - $551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891, - - - - - $600,414.81
Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.
W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Paper Hanging, Glazing and Kalsomining.
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

EMORY COLLEGE
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta.
—Location Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons.—
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The first application of a woman to be a notary public in New Hampshire has been refused by the governor.

A young italian scientist, Finzi, now in Boston, has invented a kind of spectacles by which he expects to make the wearers to see in the dark.

The Illinois Central train was stopped at Mayfield Bridge, Ky., on Nov. 11, by train robbers, who entered the express car and got off with $7 000.

The elections in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Kansas gave the Republicans a large majority, and Republican Legislatures in each of the States.

The Ferris Wheel Company, which was at the World's Fair for five months, after paying $300,000 worth of bonds, and operating expenses and dividing with the Exposition, cleared over $150,000.

Rev. Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, is to conduct a series of revivals in Washington, D. C., this Winter, at the invitation of several ministers of the city, if sufficient funds can be raised to pay expenses.

For the twenty-eighth time the Young Men's Christian Association throughout the world will observe the second week of November as a season of special prayer and thanksgiving to God for the prosperity he has vouchsafed to them.

A number of commissioners of the Latin-American republics to the World's Fair arrived in this city on Nov. 9, and during their short stay in New Orleans the distinguished party were entertained and banquetted by the merchants.

It is said that the Secretary of the Treasury will omit from the estimates which he will submit to Congress the appropriation to pay the sugar bounty for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895. At the same time it is reasonably certain that he will be in favor of a duty on sugar for revenue.

The superintendent of the railway mail service has made his annual report to the Postmaster General. Upon this branch of the service depends the rapid transportation of mails. At the close of the fiscal year mails were being carried on 166 952 miles of railroad, for which 3 059 cars were used, with 6 417 railway clerks. There were handled during the year 10,236 314 915 pieces of mail matter. This is an increase over 1888 of 49.68 per cent., while the increase in the number of clerks is but 13.86 per cent.

FOREIGN.

The birthday of the Prince of Wales was celebrated on Nov. 9 at Sandringham.

Prince Bismarck is reported to be fairly well, though the effects of his recent illness are still apparent.

The intention of the United States government is to restore Queen Liliuokalani to her throne and kingdom of Hawaii.

A committee representing the press of Paris has decided to establish a fund for the relief of the sufferers by the explosion at Santander.

Emperor William will open the Reichstag in person on Nov. 16. The budget is sure to provoke a bitter discussion, and a stormy session is expected.

A torpedo boat belonging to the insurgents was sunk during the bombardment of Rio de Janeiro last week. Four rebel powder magazines were blown up in a week.

An uprising of Cubans in rebellion against Spanish rule occurred last week. The government troops soon put down the revolt and captured the leader, his followers fleeing to the mountains.

As a result of carelessness of chemists a disastrous explosion of ether occurred in a town in Russian Poland on Nov. 9. A house was blown to pieces and twenty persons killed and a large number wounded.

The government of Honduras does not sustain the firing upon the steamship flying the United States flag, which occurred last week, and has called the officer, under which it occurred, to an account.

The government of Honduras has promptly disavowed the conduct of its officers in firing upon the American mail steamer on Oct. 6, and expressed sincere regret for the occurrence. The apology is entirely satisfactory to the United States, and it is believed will end the incident.

Martial law has been proclaimed again in Rio de Janeiro by President Peixoto, extending to Nov. 30 (current). When this became known Admiral Mello, commanding the rebel fleet, warned all families living in the vicinity of the marine and war arsenals that he intended to bombard both sections of the city.

It is evident that the Manchester Ship Canal, which will open on Jan. 1, will obtain a large share of its business from cotton-carrying steamers. The managers of the canal say that several steamers have already engaged to bring cotton from New Orleans and Galveston to Manchester direct.

The importance of keeping the liver and kidneys in good condition can not be overestimated. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a great remedy for regulating and invigorating these organs.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectively, on the liver and bowels. 25 cents.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

The Treasury of Religious Thought, for the current month, maintains its usual high standard. It is one of the very best periodicals of its class.

Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney has taken up the pen again, and has written a series of familiar letters to American girls for publication in The Ladies' Home Journal during 1894.

A new and cheap Bible Dictionary, spoken of as extremely compact and rich in recent topographical and archæological information, has been added to the catalogue of Harper publications. The author is Rev. M. G. Easton, M. A., D. D. The attitude of the work towards matters in which the "higher criticism" is interested is characterized as strictly orthodox.

St. Nicholas, having swallowed up Wide Awake, comes out large and better than ever. Within the next twelve months it will present a number of articles of special interest, among them the following: a serial by Mark Twain, one on American Authors, Stories of India, papers on government, etc. It will continue to be as it ever has been a favorite with bright-minded youth.

The Christmas number of Harper's Magazine will be noteworthy even in the history of that periodical. It will be profusely illustrated. A sympathetic study of "The Old Dominion," by Thomas Nelson Page, and a contemporary view of "The House of Commons," by Thomas Power O'Connor, are among the attractions of the number. It will contain nine short stories.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett has been induced to revive "Little Lord Fauntleroy" in a series of articles just completed for The Ladies' Home Journal, in which she tells "How Fauntleroy Really Occurred," and traces the conception of the story, the development of the character as he lived under her own eyes, and describes Fauntleroy as he is to-day—her own son.

The Century comes out this month with its usual rich and varied table of contents. During the next twelve months it will present its readers with two thousand pages of reading matter and one thousand engravings. A number of able pens have been engaged for the current volume. This magazine will maintain its place in the front rank of American monthly magazines.

The current number of the Review of Reviews, like all its predecessors, serves up the cream of the world's news for the past month. It also contains a summary of the contents of the leading periodicals of the whole world for the month just ended. Besides these features it has several original articles on themes of popular interest. This periodical fills a place in the world's literature that no other publication attempts to fill. The immense circulation which it has attained shows that it meets a felt want.

We have received a copy of "The World in the Church, by Rev. John T. Sawyer, D. D., of the Louisiana Conference." The aim of the book is to show that the present status of the church is a deplorable one, because of the spirit of worldliness which has crept into it, and to suggest a remedy. In support of his position the author makes numerous and extensive quotations from the deliverances of Bishops, General Conferences, ecclesiastical editors and others in high position in the church. He also presents a strong array of facts concerning the ecclesiastical life of the present day which can not be disputed. Having thus skillfully arranged and strongly presented his facts and drawn his conclusion, the author casts about for a remedy. This he finds primarily in a strong, earnest, unctuous preaching of the great fundamental doctrines of the Bible—repentance, faith, the witness of the Spirit, etc., and, secondarily, in a judicious enforcement of discipline. It is an exceedingly timely publication, and is written in admirable English. We predict for it an extensive circulation. It is published by Barbee & Smith, and is for sale by them and also by Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh, and by the author.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

Jackson, La.

THE PEOPLE.

Now, at the close of the Conference year, when they have been tried and proven, I think it best to say a word or so of my people—my congregation—many of whom are not of my church. It is needless to say they are an intelligent people. How could it be otherwise? Do they not live at the Athens of the Conference, if not of the Southwest? Here old Centenary and two colleges for young women have through many years of good work made a noble record. The alma mater of the sons and daughters of the first families of our fair Southland. Being intelligent and cultured, they are, of course, a refined people. For this and many reasons it would be difficult to find a more suitable community for an institution of learning. They are a kind people, especially so to the inmates of the new parsonage, shown in their continuous memory of us in a substantial way. (Here I would give a long list of provisions, wood, cows, flowers, fruit, suits of clothing, etc., did it not require so much space—and that such detailed publication, in my opinion, shows a want of proper sense of propriety on the part of the writer and a want of a proper regard to refinement in the treatment of others.) They are kind, not merely on this wise, but in a big-hearted sympathy and good fellowship, extended in such a uniform and considerate way, as to make our stay a season of sunshine and joy, never to be forgotten. Their liberality is bounded only by ability.

When writing of this community I think I should know whereof I speak. Near by Jackson, just over the Feliciana river, I was reared. To Jackson I came at nine years of age to my first boarding-school. It was here, in a revival conducted by W. B. Lewis, I was converted and joined the church. Here I was licensed and here tried to preach my first sermons. It was here I married, entered into business and finally sold out my stock on three years' credit, and from this place rode off to my first circuit. And now, after an absence of more than twenty years, I return pastor among my old school-mates, boyhood associates, the community where the most important events of my youth occurred. Pastor of the church in which I was baptized, which I joined, and in which I was converted, in which I went to Sunday-school; where for years I was a member, and then licensed to preach. For the first time since I became a man I hear myself called by my given name. "How are you, Bro. Hiram?" And for miles around from the plantations of my kindred the negroes of the old homestead come from far and near to see "Buddy."

What an experience! How sweet memories revive as I move once more around the scenes of childhood and youth!

It is all very novel and pleasant, but I can not say with Goldsmith:

"As a hare, whom hounds and horns pursue,
Pants to the place from whence at first she flew;
I still had hopes, my long vexations past,
Here to return, and die at home at last."

No, here I will abide awhile, rest well amid friendship and love, then with renewed strength and hope begin my round again. H. R. SINGLETON.

Seek the Indwelling Spirit.

It is universally admitted that the Holy Spirit has not in the teaching of the church or the faith of believers that place of honor and power which becomes him as the revealer of the Father and the Son. Seek a deep conviction that without the Holy Spirit the clearest teaching on holiness, the most fervent desires, the most blessed experiences even, will only be temporary, will produce no permanent result, will bring no abiding rest.

The Holy Spirit dwells within and works within in the hidden deep of your nature. Seek, above everything, the clear and habitual assurance that he is within you doing his work. To this end deny self and its work in serving God. Your own power to think and pray and believe and strive, lay it all down expressly and distinctly in God's presence; claim, accept and believe in the hidden workings of his indwelling Spirit.

As the Son ever spake of the Father, so the Spirit ever points to Christ. The soul that yields itself to the Spirit will of him learn how Christ is our holiness, how we can always abide in Christ our sanctification. What a vain effort it has often been without the Spirit! "As the anointing taught you, ye abide in him."

In the temple of thy heart, beloved believer, there is a secret place within the veil where dwells often all unknown the Spirit of God. Do bow in deep reverence before the Father, and ask that he may work mightly. Expect the Spirit to do his work; he will make thy inner man a fit home, thy heart a throne for Jesus, and reveal him there.—Andrew Murray.

Missionary Debt—Mississippi Conference.

BRANDON DISTRICT.

Forest Church, B. S. Rayner, P. C. $ 6
Trenton circuit, H. B. Vandenburg, P. C. 10
Lake circuit, R. F. Witt, P. C. 5

Bro. Morse, the district solicitor, writes very hopefully, and if he is not miscalculating, the solicitors for the Meridian, Vicksburg and Brookhaven districts had better look to their laurels.

Press the collections, brethren.

T. L. MELLEN,
Sol. for Miss. Conf.

Louisiana Conference Rates, etc.

Messrs. W. B. Thomson and S. B. McCutchen have charge of transportation matters and will report in time.

Class of the fourth year will meet on Wednesday morning, at 9:30., Dec. 13.

All persons not members of the Conference who expect to attend, must give me timely notice of their coming.

J. A. PARKER.

Homer, La.

We have received a letter from Mr. Murat Halstead, calling attention to the Auto Book Concern, a corporation of which he has, after investigation and consideration, accepted the presidency, supported by a Board of Directors embracing names of the highest distinction, and whose prospectus will be found in our advertising columns. The foundation of the new company is the ownership of the patents of machines that are revolutionary in book manufacture, and a vast stock of plates of standard and popular works. The patented machines are binders and trimmers, whose automatic perfection names them and the company. The felicitous combination of the Auto Machines and the plates make confident promise of great results, giving cheap circulation for literature as the perfected presses have to news. This opens an immense and lucrative field of usefulness. Mr. Halstead informs us it is the intention of the company to issue libraries (to be known as A. B. C. Libraries) of the very best books for the masses at extremely low prices, as well as series of A. B. C. school books, that will equal in merit those now in use with a material reduction in prices.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Covington, at C.	(Fri. and Sun. night)..	Nov. 17, 19
Tallsheek, at Fitzgerald	(morn.)..	18, 19
E. Pearl, at Byrd's Chapel*		18, 19
Purvis, at Purvis.	(Mon., 4 and 7 P. M.)..	20
Hattiesburg	(Wed.)..	22
Augusta, at Isabella	(Thurs.)..	23
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie		25, 26
Heidelberg, at Liberty*		26, 27
Ellisville, Ellisville.	(Tu., 2 and 7 P. M.).	28

At charges marked (*) I will try to secure help for the Sunday appointment. As in God's sight, let all do their duty in winding up the work of the year. The burden of a deficit will be more easily borne by several hundred than by a few.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Holmesville and Topisaw, at H		Nov. 17
China Grove, at China Grove		18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman		23
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman		25, 26
Providence		30
Hazlehurst	(night)..	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard		Dec. 2, 3
Wesson		2, 3

R. S. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meadville, at Meadville		Nov. 18, 19
Mayersville		25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga	(Fri.)..	Dec. 1
Hermanville		2, 3
Port Gibson	(Tues.)..	5

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pocahontas, at Pocahontas	(Sat.)..	Nov. 18
Jackson—First Church		18
Jackson—Capitol Street		19
Flora	(Wed.)..	22
Benton, at Midway		25, 26
Tranquil, at Zeigler ville		26, 27
Canton		Dec. 2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Chunky circuit	(Thurs.)..	Nov. 18
Marion circuit		18, 19
Meridian—West End		25, 26
Meridian—Central.	(Sun. and Mon.)..	Dec. 3, 4

Church Registers and Records not presented at third Quarterly Conference will be called for. The attention of trustees and preachers is called to Ques 28. The preachers will please see that the written reports are presented. The attention of local preachers and exhorters is called to Ques. 15. Written reports will be looked for. Let preachers and stewards and all the members strive to bring up full collections as thank-offerings to God for his many mercies.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Montrose, at Montrose		Nov. 16
Raleigh, at Raleigh		18, 19
Shiloh, at Cato		24
Marvin, at Wesleyana		25, 26
Westville, at Goshen		28
Homewood, at Zion Grove		Dec. 2, 3

C. MCDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

St. Helena, at Center		Nov. 18 19
E. Feliciana, at Gilead		25, 26
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel		30
Franklinton, at Fisher's		Dec. 2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City		3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Kosciusko circuit, at Salem		Nov. 18, 19
Eupora circuit, at Walthall		25, 26

Let local preachers be present with written statements, and let trustees report what property, its title, and condition and value. Let stewards give diligent care to collect, and to urge our people to pay the allowances.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Mashulaville	Nov. 17
Shuqualak	18, 19
Macon	19, 20
Hebron	22

T. C. WEBB, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Byhalia circuit, at Byhalia	Nov. 18, 19
East Holly Springs, at Lamar	25, 26

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FOURTH ROUND.

Grenada circuit	Nov. 18, 19
Water Valley circuit.	(Sat.).. 25
Water Valley station	26, 27

Local preachers, please be ready with written report as Discipline directs. Also trustees of church property will please have written reports as they are required to do by law.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Friar's Point	Nov. 19
Greenville	25

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Gretna	(Thurs.)..	Nov. 18
Baton Rouge		19
Parker Chapel	(Tues.)..	21
Moreau	(Thurs.)..	23
Gross Tete, at Harmony		26
Dryades	(Tues.)..	28
Lower Coast	(Thurs.)..	30
Algiers	(Sun. morning.)..	Dec. 3
Crapa	(Sun. evening)..	3
Louisiana Avenue	(Mon.)..	4
Carondelet	(Tues.)..	5
Felicity	(Thurs.)..	7
Rayne Memorial	(Fri.)..	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground	Nov. 18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec. 2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville	9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards bestir themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Minden, at Minden	Nov. 18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps	Dec. 2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	9, 10
Ruston station	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia	12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Victoria mission, at Victoria	Nov. 18, 19
Cane River, at Provencal	19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh	21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove	23, 24
Many, at Many	25, 28
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	26, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec. 2, 3
Mansfield station	3, 10

The official members of South Vernon mission are requested to meet at Holly Grove, Nov. 23. (I include those representing Petersburg, Pine Ridge, Hamans, Midkiff, and Wood's Schoolhouse.)

Boards of Trustees are earnestly requested to be ready with carefully prepared reports of the condition and value of the property in their charge.

The Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College will meet at 9 A. M., Dec. 1, at the college.

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

529 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lapine, at Frantoma C	Nov. 18, 19
Lake Providence	25, 26
Waterproof	Dec. 2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd	8, 10

H. C. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Grand Chenier	Nov. 18, 19
Sulphur Mine	25, 26
Lake Arthur	Dec. 2, 3

JNO. A. MILLER, P. E.

PENSIONS.

BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNment Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is slow, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free.

Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailments in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for service rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address

THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY,
Box 187, Washington, D. C.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 3:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

TIME TO CINCINNATI, 26 HOURS.

TIME TO NEW YORK, 47 HOURS.

The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change. Time to New York via Washington only 45 hours.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

Depot: Corner Press street and Levee.

R. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent,
New Orleans, La.
D. MILLER, Traffic Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
Cincinnati.

BAD COMPLEXIONS

Pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin, rough hands with shapeless nails and painful itching, crude, dry, thin, and falling hair, and simple baby blemishes are prevented and cured by the celebrated

CUTICURA SOAP

Most effective skin-purifying and beautifying soap in the world, as well as purest and sweetest of toilet and nursery soaps. The only medicated Toilet soap, and the only preventive and cure of facial and baby blemishes, because the only preventive of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of minor affections of the skin, scalp, and hair. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps. Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"All about the Skin, Scalp, and Hair" free.

HOW MY BACK ACHES!

Back Ache, Kidney Pains, and Weakness, Soreness, Lameness, Strains and Pains relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, the only pain-killing strengthening plaster.

MY WIFE CANNOT SEE HOW YOU DO IT AND PAY FREIGHT.

$10.50 Buy the Oxford Improved SINGER Sewing Machine, with a complete set of attachments and guaranteed for 10 years, shipped anywhere on 30 days' trial. As many required as we sell (over 25,000) now in use. World's Fair Medal awarded. Buy from factory, save dealers' and agents' profits. Write to-day for our LARGE FREE CATALOGUE. Oxford Mfg. Co., 342 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FREE BEAUTIFUL PRESENTS YOUR NAME on 25 latest style imported Cards lovely Fish & German Designs in 12 colors with two handsome presents 10c.—1 Album World's Fair Ribbons, etc., 1 Forget-Me-Not Auto Album, 670 Assorted Verses &c., all 10c.—1 Stone Ring, 1 Bead Ring, 1 Locket and 4 Pocket Knives Complete, all 10c.—Each offer as above will be given with every order. Wayside Gleanings, 3 months for 10c. JOHN & CO., CLINTONVILLE, CONN.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC FREE
For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS
Address, The Echo Music Co., LaFayette, Ind.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in town on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 10 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,
LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets,

Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full.

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

HOPKINS'
PRINTING OFFICE
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $430 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 573.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM
The only practicable way to reach
CATARRH
thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. Dr. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON GA.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 47. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1944.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THINGS THAT NEVER DIE.

Kind words can never die,
Cherished and blest,
God knows how deep they lie,
Lodged in the breast;
Like childhood's simple rhymes,
Said o'er a thousand times,
Go thro' all years and climes,
The heart to cheer.

Childhood can never die,
Wrecks of the past
Float o'er the memory,
Bright to the last.
Many a happy thing,
Many a daisy spring,
Floats on time's ceaseless wing,
Far, far away.

Sweet thoughts can never die,
Though like the flowers,
Their brightest hues may fly
In wintry hours.
But when the gentle dew,
Gives them their charms anew,
With many an added hue,
They bloom again.

Our souls can never die,
Though in the tomb
We may all have to lie
Wrapt in its gloom.
What though the flesh decay,
Souls pass in peace away,
Live through eternal day,
With Christ above.

—Anonymous.

Growth in Grace.

The Second Epistle General of Peter is addressed "to them that have obtained like precious faith with us through the righteousness of God and our Savior Jesus Christ." It is stated that God "hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness," and that he "hath called us unto glory and virtue." There are "given unto us exceeding great and precious promises; that by these we might be partakers of the divine nature."

Now, this is a very high state in grace, but it is the privilege and the duty of every child of God to grow up to this measure. God has provided the means and laid down the law of growth. If we use these means and conform to this law, growth in grace is just as certain to follow as that twice two are four. We are to "give all diligence to add to our faith" all the Christian graces that beautify and adorn Christian character. We grow by addition.

It requires great diligence to grow in grace—diligence in the use of all the means of grace, reading the Word of God, attending the public worship of God, family and private prayer, self-examination, prayerful meditation, avoiding evil of every kind, and doing good of every possible sort, both to the bodies and to the souls of men. This will call for "all diligence." Comparatively few grow in grace rapidly, because they are not willing to give diligence to growth. They are not intent on "being perfect," on being made "partakers of the divine nature"—modeled after the divine pattern.

Faith in God—saving faith—is the basis, the fundamental principle, of the religious life. All the rest grows out of, or is added to, this. It is the germ, the tap-root, from which all the rest springs. We add this and that grace because we have faith in God, and desire to obey him and to be like him.

We are to "add to our faith virtue"—courage, true, genuine, moral and spiritual courage. This is essential—yea, absolutely indispensable—to Christian life and growth. The man who lacks courage can not be a good soldier in God's army. He must have courage enough to refuse and oppose the wrong, and to practice and commend the right.

We must "add knowledge"—knowledge of God and of ourselves. This knowledge is best gained by a diligent and prayerful study of God's Holy Word, and of our own deceitful and depraved hearts. It is indispensable to a rapid and permanent growth in grace. The religious life of individuals is in exact proportion to their growth in divine knowledge. God encourages us to know, to be certain, to be assured, to be "rooted and grounded in the knowledge and love of God." God nowhere offers a premium for ignorance. The "Holy Scriptures are able to make us wise unto salvation." We often err from "not knowing the Scriptures." Wilful ignorance of divine things is a sin. We may know if we want to know. The knowledge of eternal life is in the Word of God, and by searching we may find it.

We are to "add temperance"—moderation in everything, abstinence from whatever is hurtful. This implies a complete mastery and control of all our appetites and passions, bringing our bodies in subjection to the law of Christ—self-control. Intemperance in eating or drinking, in talking or playing, in fun or anger—in anything—is hurtful to the individual, and a hinderance to Christian growth. A complete mastery of one's self is a victory greater than taking a fortified city.

We must "add patience"—waiting, gentleness—a "meek and quiet spirit." An impatient, restive, fretful soul can not be happy in this cross and crooked world. "He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city broken down and without walls." An impatient man or woman is miserable, and they add to discomfort and misery of all about them. It is a good thing for one to grit his teeth and sit down and wait when things go awry. If the mind and heart be set upon it, one may learn how to "possess his soul in patience" under the most trying circumstances. Patience will not come of itself, unsought, uncultivated. It is not a spontaneous and indigenous growth. The more one needs it the more diligently he ought to cultivate it. If we "add patience," then we will grow in grace under the very trials where we, formerly, fell from grace. The conditions for failing afford an opportunity for rising and growing.

We must "add godliness"—a comprehensive and inclusive term, holy living, being like God. Such persons glorify God in their bodies and in their spirits. They are cities on a hill, lights on a candlestick, salt with the savor in it. They are living epistles of Christ, known and read of all men.

We must "add brotherly kindness"—kindness to the brethren for Christ's sake. This is a great grace. The company or congregation where it exists has great power with men, and is a beautiful sight for God. It leads Christians to bear each other's burdens, to supply each other's wants, to have a tender regard for each other's rights, feelings and characters. It unifies the church, and masses the people of God into a solid phalanx against the world and sin.

To brotherly kindness, and the real, we must "add charity"—a broad and general love of mankind. This is essentially the spirit of Christ—the Christian spirit. Our love must be as large and as broad as the race. If all who profess the religion of Christ were to add all these graces, the army of God would be invincible, and would soon bring the world to our Lord.

"If these things be in us and abound, we shall not be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge and love of God." If we "lack these things"—if we have not added them to our faith—"we are blind, and can not see afar off, and we—some of us—have forgotten that we were purged from our old sins."

We must grow—grow better or worse. We can not stand still. We go forward or backward, and grow more like God, or less like him. X.

The Pastor and His Work.

BY REV J. B PRICE.

Pastors supplement and extend the ministry of their great Master. He is in heaven. They represent him on earth. What an honor is this!

In the whole extent of his duty the pastor is the benefactor of his people, and is intended to be a living representative of Jesus Christ.

To be called and commissioned of God to represent our Lord, the great model pastor, in visiting and supplying the spiritual wants of his people, is an honor to every man thus called and sent, whether he be the pastor of the great Brooklyn Tabernacle, or an humble preacher on the most obscure mission. To be divinely commissioned to represent our Lord in any of his offices is a great honor to any son of Adam. Whatever your natural ability or acquired accomplishments, however intellectual and cultured you may be, never forget that God honored you greatly when he called you to represent his Son as the pastor of his people. I have heard some speak as though high heaven should feel honored in that they had condescended to accept a call as pastor of a flock of the Most High. The President of these United States may, as a man, exalt his position; the Prime Minister of England honor his office. Here "the man makes the office." But the office of pastor in the church of God reached its climax of dignity when filled by our Lord. From then until now no man ever filled it, however perfectly he did his work, who was not greatly honored thereby.

Now, as to "the work of the pastor." Jesus says, "I am the Good Shepherd, and know my sheep." To "know" in this place, I think, means more than to be formally acquainted with, in the modern sense of that word. I may have been formally introduced to a member of my flock, and still know nothing about him in the sense that Christ knew his sheep. He knew everyone, for he says, "He calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out."

The idea conveyed to my mind by the word "know" in this passage is that Christ knew the character and habits of every member of his flock. This is the ideal to which we must all approximate as nearly as possible. This makes the work of the pastor one of great importance. Then, as a pastor, if I am to follow the example of Christ, I must (not may nor might, but must), as far as possible, know the character and the habits of each member of my flock. But how to accomplish this is more easily said than done. In his visits to those who are religious, but whose surroundings do not accord exactly with his idea of things, he must bear in mind the fact that he is not there as a critic, but as a pastor in Christ's stead, to comfort and encourage them on their way to the better land. Your work is so to act and talk as to help your flock, and to win any unconverted members of the family to Christ. There are some reasons why you, as pastor, should not harshly criticise people who are thus surrounded.

One reason is: no gentleman will criticise the surroundings in the presence of the host at whose house he is freely entertained or sheltered. And every pastor, representing the work of our Lord, should show himself to be a real gentleman, at all times, and under all circumstances.

Another reason is, that people differ in their tastes about such things. I know of no two houses in the bounds of my work which are exactly alike in their structure or in furniture. Should I build, I might construct and furnish a little different from all the rest. But that is a matter of taste, and the pastor has no right to meddle with it.

Another reason is, that fearful, pressing inconvenience—poverty. The great mass of the poor in this world are surrounded with about as many comforts as their purses will allow. And of these, the preacher generally gets the best. To harshly criticise a poor man for his poverty is cruel, and no real Christian pastor will do so if he is wise in saving souls. That poor man who sent Rev. William Caples (that wonderful preacher) to an out-house, to sleep upon that rickety bed with the dogs, no doubt, did the best he could for his pastor. If so, he had enough to endure as the direct result of poverty, without being harshly criticised for what he could not help. We must never lose sight, in our pastoral work, of the great object for which all our labor is performed—the present and eternal salvation of those to whom we have been sent.

I visit a member, and see at a glance that he is not enjoying religion. I must do all I can to excite in him an interest in spiritual things. He is spiritually diseased, and the sick always need care and attention. A kind word and an earnest prayer for his restoration may be the best way to obtain the remedy—the Holy Spirit's healing power. Doctors who have the largest practice visit and prescribe for each patient separately, and the pastor will do much more for the spiritually diseased of his flock if he can visit and prescribe for each patient separately. But I am told of another member of my own dear flock who has wandered away out on the barren peaks of sin. For when a male member of my church gets drunk, plays cards, or habitually leads a sinful life, and when a female member goes to theatres and to public balls, and dances the round dances, I think he or she has wandered far from the fold of Christ, and is in danger from the wild beast of prey which inhabits those sinful mountains. Do not misunderstand me.

A member may go to these places, take part in all these unholy things, and be exposed to all this danger, but he is my sheep still. He has strayed off from my fold, but he is mine as much as though he were in my pen. The real value of that sheep may be equal to, and the possible outcome more than any other one I have in my flock; but he has gone astray, and is in danger of being lost to me, and of perishing in his sin. I believe that a pastor who loves his flock will go after that wandering sheep. I contend that a good shepherd would do all he could to restore such an one. Moreover, this stray one will give me more trouble at this time, perhaps, than all the rest of the flock. But he is my sheep, and is worth saving, because every soul that reaches heaven amply pays for all the trouble and labor required to save it. In the parable of the lost sheep (Luke xv) Christ would teach us that this stray member, who has wandered off in sin, folly and danger, needs more attention, at this time, than the ninety and nine who are safely folded, and that we ought to give it, though all the rest were neglected for the present.

I know this is not in harmony with the idea some entertain of giving every church a "general sifting" as soon as they are sent to their pastoral charges. But if it were so that we could become well acquainted with each member of our flocks, so as to know their real religious character and habits, and, as far as possible, would exert our influence as pastors who know the demands of our people, I do believe there would be less talk about a "general sifting." The object of Christ and his church is to save people. And the minister must have that in view as much while visiting as he does while preaching.

I close in the words of another: "Pastors watch for souls as they that must give account. They are in the direct employ of God—they act in the stead of Christ. They are his undershepherds. How great, then, their responsibility! 'Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel; therefore, hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me.' Warn them, and then whether they do good or evil, whether they live or die, thou hast delivered thy soul. Warn them not, and their blood shall be required at thy hand."—The Treasury.

Worry—The Bane of Our Modern Life.

BY J. L. LLOYD, D. D.

Without doubt, worry enters largely as a factor into the make-up of the trials of our modern lives. A great deal of this is brought about by artificial wants and reaching out for that which one's income and resources do not justify, and yet a great deal of it is disconnected with inordinate ambition or covetousness. To provide things honest in the sight of God and man is a problem for many Christian people to solve. To secure the welfare of a household is not a "charge of small import." To bear up life a man amid the disasters and disappointments of business life, to see one's brightest hopes tumble about him like "a pile of ruins," seem to be more than many good Christians are able to bear. And yet with all this it is well for us to pause long enough to think of the futility and foolishness of that over-anxiety in which so many of us indulge, and which keeps us in a constant worry.

We do right in taking the necessary to ward off evil, but at the same time we must not lose sight of the fact that many things are beyond our control, utterly, and we have no power to revolutionize them to our own mind. There is much that causes us annoyance that would be quite different had we been able to look into the future. Could we go back in life twenty or thirty years with the knowledge we have gained of our errors and miscalculations, we could, no doubt, put things in much better trim; but the past, however much we may profit from its teachings, can not be rectified. Or as an old hard-shell preacher put it: "If foresight was as good as hindsight, we needn't make so many gross mistakes." The past, like the waters that has passed the wheel, can not be brought back again.

PRECAUTIONS

But much of our worry comes from

ANTICIPATION.

We fear what the future may bring to us. We climb the hill before we get to it. We look too much on the dark side of the picture painted by our own gloomy imagination. We incline too much to take sombre views of things. If we are in good health, we think on the sickness we may have in the future. If our children are well, we think of the diseases they are yet to have. If we have food and raiment and every needed blessing for years and years, we are full of anxiety as to our remaining years.

But worry will not help anybody to fight

THE BATTLE OF LIFE,

nor open up opportunities for securing his well-being; nor will it procure divine interposition. The Almighty is not attracted to us on account of our complaining fears. Rather is he offended by such a course. Besides, it is out of harmony with divine teachings. God says to us, "Be not anxious for the morrow, for the morrow will take care of itself." Again he says, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Paul taught his brethren to be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and thanksgiving make their requests known unto God, and if they do this, he assures them that "the peace of God which passeth understanding shall keep their minds and hearts through Christ Jesus." And is not this what we need? Do we not need something to keep our minds and hearts in our earthly pilgrimage? Going with the tide in this ever-restless, on-rushing age, and sometimes on the very crest of the waves, we surely need something to steady us. Something to which we may look as a harbor; some open sea where we may find repose and contentment. O beloved, if only our hearts and minds are guarded by a divine peace, we shall be invincible to worry.

Beecher says, "Worry, and not work, kills men." Many people fret and think themselves into the madhouse. Many of the troubles of this life are found in our subjective states rather than in objective facts. In other words, there is more trouble inside of us than there is outside of us. Taking this thought as true, how important that we look ever to God, and always couple godliness with contentment which is great gain.

Finally, a great and good man has said there are two things about which people ought not to worry: things that they can help, and things they can not help; and that would eliminate about all the worry from the hearts of men. —Guardian.

Spurious Imitations.

Several papers contain an advertisement commencing as follows:

"Beware of Spurious Imitations."

This is very useful and necessary advice, and we can not do better than urge people of all ranks and ages to follow it.

Beware of spurious imitations of the gospel. There are several of them now on sale. One especially is much in vogue in these days, and secures a vast amount of patronage: it is the ritualistic gospel, in which Christ is displaced by the priest, and the work of the Spirit by sacramental efficacy. Instead of faith in the atoning blood, we are taught confidence in the parish priest; and instead of regeneration by the Holy Ghost, we are told of a new birth through the operation of water applied by a clergyman. In order to sell this article, it is done up in tasteful mediæval wrappers, and warranted to be the old original primitive mixture; but it is a base cheat. With half an eye you can see that it is not fine flour, but Roman cement, the old Popish mixture which has ruined such multitudes, and will certainly destroy all who place their confidence in it. Of all cheats, it is one of the most impudent, but the pretty wrappers entice buyers by the thousand.

Beware of spurious wisdom, for there is much abroad in the world of "science falsely so called." Hypotheses are invented, and facts are manufactured, or at least colored, to sustain them, and then for a season the learned world goes mad upon its new theory, and we are solemnly warned that we must not oppose ourselves to the spirit of the age, to scientific development, and to the astonishing results of modern culture. However, in a short time, a fresh hypothesis shoves the former one from its perch, and the wisdom of yesterday is turned into foolishness, to be used as a foil for the infallible wisdom of to-day, which also in its due time will be exploded, and go into the limbo of the ten thousand equally absurd infallibilities which have preceded it. We are ready to accept all that science teaches us when it has made up its mind what it is. We never despise knowledge, but, on the contrary, seek after it as for hidden treasure; but we do not want to be duped by conjectures and fooled by speculations. We are glad to receive all that the observation of intelligent minds can discover for us concerning the wonderful works of the Lord; but we must beware of spurious imitations. There are learned men—and learned men. One class of savans mistakes assertion for proof, and sneering for logic. From such we turn away. It is written of certain persons, "Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools," and we know the family is not extinct; therefore, we would look before we leap.

Beware of spurious imitations of the Christian graces, for they are very easily concocted, and are exceedingly plentiful. Hope may be counterfeited, for there is a false hope, and love may be mimicked, for there is such a thing as attachment to Christ for the sake of the loaves and fishes which he distributes to the multitude. Courage may be counterfeited by rashness, and patience by sullenness. We have known impudence to be mistaken for fidelity, and mere cant for holy unction. We fear that the solid silver plate of true grace is going out of fashion, and everything is German silver nowadays; a very thin deposit being quite sufficient to electro-plate the basest substance into the likeness of the genuine metal. We have lately read in the newspapers of violet powder which has poisoned little children by the arsenic mingled with it, and the parallel of this is to be met with every day. Who could have suspected death in the puff-box? It is where we least look for it that the greatest deception will be found. Therefore prove the spirits, whether they be of God, and beware of spurious imitations.

To close, let us beware of everything deceptive in religion. Let us not be among those who have the form of religion, but deny the power thereof. From these we are bidden to turn away. Let us not offer spurious worship like those of old, of whom the Lord wrote through Isaiah: "This people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honor me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men." Let us beware of spurious hearing, lest we be as those in Ezekiel's day, of whom the Lord complained: "They come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness." There are such things as spurious prayers, like those of the Pharisee, who praised himself under pretense of praying to God.

O for the abiding teaching of the Holy Spirit, that we may always be able to discern at once between the true and the false!—The Bible and the Newspaper.

The Habit of Giving.

In a certain church, whose name is withheld, the envelope system is used. A large number of the children of the members of the church take envelopes, and pledge themselves to give five, ten, or fifteen cents each Sunday, as the case may be. It is a curious fact that the pledges of these children are better kept than are the pledges of their parents. The reason may be because the sums are small, and because the parents furnish the money. Some of the children who know save what they contribute out of their spending money, and some earn it by performing little offices of usefulness in their homes. However they get the money, they are forming most excellent habits—the habit of giving, the habit of keeping their pledges, the habit of remembering when the plate is passed around that they must have something to put in it, the habit of feeling that they have a substantial interest in the solvency and prosperity of the church and its enterprises.

The large aggregates in the majority of churches are made up of small contributions. If every church member gave five cents a Sunday regularly, and if the children of every member gave a penny apiece regularly, our coffers would overflow, church debts would be extinguished, and pastors would be amply supported. What is more, the habit of giving thus fostered insures future prosperity of the church and its work in the world.—Exchange.

THE ANVIL OF GOD'S WORD.

Last eve I paused beside a blacksmith's door,
And heard the anvil ring the vesper chime;
Then looking in I saw upon the floor
Old hammers worn with beating years of time.

"How many anvils had you," said I,
"To wear and batter all these hammers so?"
"Just one," he answered; then with twinkling eye,
"The anvil wears the hammers out, you know."

And so, I thought, the anvil of God's Word
For ages skeptic blows have beat upon;
Yet, though the noise of falling blows was heard,
The anvil is unworn—the hammers gone.
—Anon.

Tangential Tips.

BY JOSEPH B. COTTRELL, D. D.

It is through the intuitive, the imaginative reason, each of us has access immediately, to the illumination requisite to the obedience of the knowledge of the truth. It is because "the Word is nigh us, in our mouths and in our hearts," that "the invisible things of God are clearly seen, being known by the things that are made, even his eternal power and godhead," leaving, as Paul declares, in Romans, the heathen without excuse for their unrighteousness. How it is, and has been, that this text from Paul has received so little emphasis from theologues, is matter of surprise—yea, of astonishment—to me. Let me repeat it: "The invisible things of him, from the foundation of the world are clearly seen, being known by the things that are made, even his eternal power and godhead, so that they (the Gentiles) are without excuse." Without excuse for what? Why, for the degradation and licentiousness the apostle depicts as characterizing them. They have not availed them of the revelation which would have sufficed for their discipline and culture, requisite to a reflection, in their character and in their conduct, socially, governmentally, commercially, and industrially—the charms and graces of the kingdom, catholic, which, according to Paul, were through the phenomena of nature as available to them, as through institutional forms and verbal articulation they were available to the Jew.

God, through such impartial ministration of the mystery of his marvelous benevolence, attests that he is actually, as well as really, "the same God over all!"—as affirmed by the apostle. The analogies of nature and of history and of human experiences were the steps of the stairway along which the feet of Lycurgus, Socrates, Plato, Diogenes, Xenophon, Homer, Virgil, and their like, trod to the highways of wisdom, and spoke back to the sons and daughters of God from above the clouds, and from among the stars, words that accord with what Moses and Solomon and David reported from out their heights. Olympus and Sinai reciprocally responsive!—"deep calling unto deep!"—and there come ringing down the corridors of time melodies and symphonies that have smitten ingenuous, natural souls that realize that life is religion, through increment of which escape is had from out religionistic, pietistic annoyances and conceits that travesty the kingdom which sunlight and starlight and transparency of the empyrean symbolize. Oh, the stench of the smoke of these "'doxical" lamps!—how it stifles and stupefies! What sneezings we have, in consequence, from nostrils that might so sweetly breathe the odors of the buds and blossoms of the garden of Paradise, were "'doxical" stenches destroyed! When a man's words smell of his "'doxie," if I'm reading, I hold my nose; if I'm listening, I endure with facial benignity of smile that is as blossom from fertilization of frown and scowl hid at the root of the stock of patience, organic with the hough that bears the beauty, for the apostle tells us to "be courteous." "The second blessing" sufficeth for invigoration of religionistic manhood, commensurate with this and other volitional forthputs through which we eclectic sons (and daughters!) of our Zion are "peculia'l"

"Says I to Miss Julia,
'You don't say so!'
'Yes! but I do, sir,
And you'd better go!'

"'I'll go,' says I, 'Julia;
But your behavior to me
Has been very peculia'.'"

I've never had the seven years' itch! Praise the Lord! Never mind, now, about demonstrations, gentle and modest and generous, on behalf of my "spiritnality!" It has sadly grieved me that my awkwardness in attempt at practice along the holinistic role has so often drawn up, by the roots, from the seat of the divinity of the sanctificated, groans that have passed off in sound of a grunt. "Original, or birth sin," is a fatal foil to success in—imitations?

And, now, here I've gotten off on a track that has occupied the space in which I had purposed to give some thoughts regarding the ministries and inspirations through the universal and the natural, coinciding with those divinely institutional, that would make the tip end of the theological toes of the brotherhood tingle; and it pains me to postpone penning them; but necessity knows nothing but law. F. M. Grace will remember with what zest Bonnell cracked that chestnut of mine with his teeth, when, in '59, at Tuscaloosa, it dropped fresh from the burr. (Some lips are like a chestnut burr!)

The policy of being brief, at least, in writing for newspapers, is one that it were well to honor. Explanations, the explanation of which is explained, lest the writer be misunderstood, are as an annoying a tax upon patience as is the tangle of one's tackle on a tree limb, or cockleburr hush upon the bank, when he has jerked, and failed to get a fish. Average commonplace of prosaic moralizing on themes that have worn thin and glossy, that the editor of an Advocate or a Methodist publishes under feeling of protest verging upon disgust, is "mighty good reading" for too many, not to be honored. What if our Zion had a paper whose every article should be impersonal (except as truly representative, historic characters are named and canvassed) and only what pulsed with inspiriting thought and quickening sentiment and refining potency of style, should find place? Obituaries, marriage notices, commendations of parties from policy, and the like, all tabooed! Is there sufficient hunger for such manna, and thirst for water that does not taste of the gourd? It is pure air that oxygenizes the blood and makes the glow of life a transport. So with the air personal in literature. Scientific, philosophic, poetic, inventional, æ thetic depths and heights!—these are where mind and spirit have their enrichment!

Cloverport, Ky., Nov. 8, 1893.

In Japan.

MY FOUR LITTLE GIRL FRIENDS.

If you read the article written about the Rayner Bible Work in Japan, you remember that mention was made of four little girls to whom Bibles had been given. These little girls live in Mitsugahama, a place so hardened that the gospel for ten years seemed to have had no effect. Their names are Yoshiyo, Shima, Masayo and Shigeyo, and their heroism in several ways for some months past shows that they are following in the wake of those women who were "last at the cross and first at the tomb." Their homes are close to the Mitsugahama chapel, near an important street corner. Yoshiyo's parents keep a shoe shop; Shima's parents, a fish shop; Masayo's, a rice shop, and Shigeyo's father is a member of a boat company. They bow very politely as the Christian workers pass their doors, and sometimes run around to the chapel to give greeting and cheer.

At first it seemed impossible to have a Sunday-school in Mitsugahama, the few children who seemed inclined to come being so much persecuted by the others. So we started a night school for the poor, thus gaining some influence over the children attending, and inducing them to come to the Sunday-school also. Among the first well-to-do children who joined the Sunday-school were these little girls. Their own playmates warned them that if they went to school with those poor children, they would play together no longer. But they continued to attend until their whole crowd of persecutors followed them, and since then the Sunday-school has been too large to conduct properly. Sometimes, unless the manager is on his guard, about twenty boys, in response to the call of some companion outside, will rise and make a stampede for the street. Their behavior is greatly improving, but still sometimes they may be heard around the corner singing: 'Yaso, wa kuni no koku zoku," "Jesus, the thief of our country," some enemies of the cause having tried to make them believe that the foreigners are scheming through religion to take the country. Last night there was preaching at the chapel, and in the afternoon, upon my arrival at their corner, my little friends came to me somewhat excited, and one of them, with a sweet expression in her face, that reminded me of my beautiful little friends in Mississippi, began to explain that some bad boys had taken the chapel sign-board down and put it into a hole of filthy water near the sea. And then, without stopping, the four hurried off, and were soon busily engaged in dragging the heavy sign-board back.

HENRY G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Sept. 20, 1893.

Sayings from Spurgeon.

It would do many an employer good to live for a week on the small wages he pays his men on Saturday.

When a man is going down, don't increase his trouble; when everybody is blaming him, do not swell the chorus of censure.

Answer all who slander you, and you will have a vocation for life. Prosecute every slanderer, and you will need a court to yourself.

There are no chance shots. An overruling Providence arranges even the hurly-hurly of battle. The arrow which pierces between the joints of the harness bears a message from God.—Exchange.

Union Epworth League.

Thursday, Nov. 9, 1893, 7:45 P. M., marked the occasion of the third regular monthly business meeting of the Union Epworth League of New Orleans.

The Felicity Street Church, in which leaguers assembled, had been very prettily decorated by sister leaguers of Felicity, and this, together with the general, warm handshaking, and the cheerful services of Miss Anna Stein as organist, caused us to feel and know that we were "welcomed" most cordially once, twice and thrice. We were inspired with new zeal when we beheld the countenances of four of our ministers of Christ—Revs. Dr. J. M. Beard, Dr. J. T. Sawyer, Roht. H. Wynn, and J. M. Henry; but, on the other hand, our hearts were saddened as we looked in vain for our new editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, Dr. W. C. Black. We hope to both see and hear him at our next meeting at the Carrollton Avenue Church, Thursday, Dec. 7, 1893, at 7:45 P. M.

Devotional service opened the meeting, Rev. J. M. Henry, chaplain, reading the Scripture lesson from Mark 1. This concluded, the reports from local leagues were received, which engagement proved the most important feature of the evening. As a result, we learn that the five leagues which constitute the union (Felicity, Louisiana Avenue, Parker Chapel, Morean, Carondelet) are each and every one fully awake to the responsibility resting upon it, having all branches of work outlined in active operation.

A very fine paper on "How to Conduct the Literary Department of the Epworth League," was prepared and read by Dr. R. L. Schroeder, of the Morean Street League. His theme was well handled, and all who heard it received instruction and shall not soon forget his words of wisdom. Reports from special committees were then received, all proving favorable.

In accordance with will of the house, an official agent, Bro. Wm. B. Van Valkenburgh, of the Parker Chapel League, was appointed to distribute among all local leagues as many copies of the "Epworth Book," by Bishop O. P. Fitzgerald, as possible, thus affording a source from which a vast amount of good can be derived. Hope every leaguer shall purchase a copy; so be prepared to invest when Bro. Van Valkenburgh pays you a visit. Several discussions gave considerable liveliness and tone to the meeting.

Last, but not least, and in perfect Methodistic style, a basket collection was taken.

Upon motion, it was decided to take special collection at next meeting (at Carrollton) for the defraying of printing expenses. Do not break the bills before leaving home in order that you may deposit them "in the hat" as it passes you.

We are greatly encouraged at our grand success, and feel like shouting, "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

ADDIE S. MCKNIGHT,
Secretary Union League.

New Orleans, Nov. 11.

Pertinent Questions.

Old Aunt Dinah was a colored woman, who had a remarkably strong voice, and would sing and cry "glory" with such vigor as to be heard above all the rest of the congregation, but she was of an unpleasantly "saving" disposition.

It was the custom at the missionary meetings of the church she attended, to take up a collection during the singing of the hymn, "Fly abroad, thou mighty gospel!" In the midst of which Aunt Dinah always threw back her head, closed her eyes, and sang away at the top of her lungs till the plate had passed her by.

The collector, who was a man of plain speech, observed this habit of the old woman's, and one evening when he came to her seat, he stopped short and surveying her rapt countenance, said bluntly:

"Look a-heah, yo' Aunt Dinah! What's de good oh yo' a-singin' an a-singin', 'Fly abroad, thou mighty gospel,' ef yo' doan gih nuffin to make her fly?"

Increasing the Attendance.

It should certainly be one part of every Christian's work to increase the attendance at the preaching of the Word. The size of the congregation depends more upon the people than upon the preacher. One important way of helping is to look carefully about, make a quiet canvass of the neighborhood, and take somebody else along, if possible, to the place of worship. Another thing that must on no account be omitted is the cordial handshake offered to all strangers. Let everybody who has a real interest in the church constitute himself a welcoming committee. Let him speak highly of the sermons, pay special attention to young men, and take pains to be agreeable. If this were done by any large proportion of the members of any church, there would be little complaint as to the great numbers of empty pews.—Zion's Herald.

The Louisiana Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

At the last monthly meeting, at 141 Ollo street, the following were present: President Clay and Mrs. Clay, Mrs. D. R. Graham, Howard C. Smith, Miss Minnie Lang, Col. David Zable, Mrs. Rosa Young, Lyman Q Widney, Prof. James H. Dillard, Miss Kate Nohlen, and Court H. Young, special agent.

In his report the president said: "The bare statement of the figures of this work is, to me, an astonishment. There have been 76 complaints made in the interest of 144 children. One child has been placed in the hospital, 1 in the House of Refuge, and 1 in the House of Good Shepherd. We have given private homes to 7 waif children. Three young babies have been furnished with foster mothers. No less than 30 children have been given homes or placed in asylums. The very best people in the State are opening their hearts and their homes to our young clients.

"One little cripple girl has been placed under the surgeon's treatment in the Charity Hospital. They hope in a few months to so improve her condition that she may be able to walk and care for herself.

"Three children have been sent to distant homes; placed in the Home for Homeless, 2; the society has found and restored 7 lost children; in Waifs' Home shelter, clothes and care have been given 11 unfortunate ones. The sick children are doing well.

"The past month's work has emphasized the necessity of legislation on the subject of non-support and abandonment of wives and children by husbands, and of husbands and children by wives. It will be seen that the evil is pretty evenly distributed between the parental sexes. Seven husbands have deserted their families, and six wives or mothers have left their little ones. In this way twenty-three children have been thrown upon the care of others. The lot of these deserted children is often worse than others. Asylums for orphans are most properly closed against them. They must, then, be separated from each other and scattered among strangers, probably never to meet each other again on earth. This evil is growing to such proportions that some other States have been compelled to make it a felony."

A New Feature in Journalism.

Mr. W. T. Stead proposes a new thing in journalism. In effect, it is a family daily published on a co-operative plan. Every subscriber becomes a stockholder, and, in addition to the paper, receives a coupon good for a share in the dividends; the subscriber has, however, no voice in the management, that being in the absolute control of the editor. Mr. Stead proposes to have this daily issue in magazine form of forty pages; thus he hopes to avoid "knocking over the salt at the breakfast table," and "punching your next neighbor in the ribs on the street cars" while trying to turn its leaves. Then he will also give women "a fair chance," which they have not had hitherto—he is "not going to have a man on the paper" unless he "can not find women to fill the places." Another feature of this enterprise is to be the special celerity displayed in printing the news, which is to appear "just as soon as it occurs," in which respect he proposes to outclass American journals, who "wait two or three days after a thing occurs before they print it." Whatever may come of the enterprise, there is, perhaps, no more proper person to undertake the experiment than Mr. Stead. He has ability, energy, experience, and a large army of admirers, who may be counted upon for active support.—Exchange.

Won by a Smile.

In conversation with a friend a few years ago Mr. Spurgeon related the following: "As I was walking down a street one day I saw a child at a window; it smiled, and I smiled, and we bowed. It was the same a second time; I bowed, she bowed. It was not long until before there was another child, and I had got in a habit of looking and bowing, and pretty soon the group grew, and at last, as I went by, a lady was with them. I didn't know what to do. I didn't want to bow to her, but I knew the children expected it, and so I bowed to them all. And the mother saw I was a minister, because I carried a Bible every Sunday morning. So the children followed me the next Sunday and found I was a minister. And they thought I was the greatest preacher, and their parents must hear me. A minister who is kind to a child and gives him a pat on the head, why, the children will think he is the greatest preacher in the world. Kindness goes a great way. And finally, the father and mother were converted, and are going to join our church next Sunday."

This is a valuable hint to preachers and Christian workers. The Danes have a proverb that runs thus: "He who takes the child by the hand will take the mother by the heart."

Fervent in Spirit.

There is no condition of my body or mind more certain to result in ruin than inactivity. The stagnant pool is sure to breed pestilence. Physical inaction results in physical imbecility. Intellectual inactivity is intellectual dwarfishness. From inattention to business comes financial ruin. In like manner a want of "fervency of spirit" in the religious life is sure to result in spiritual death. If a person expects to accomplish anything for this life or the next, he must put his whole soul into it.

To be "fervent in spirit" is to be fervent in mind, heart. The term "fervent" is generally applied to water or metals, when so heated as to bubble up or boil. It has the sense of glow. When used by the apostle, it means intense zeal. It implies that a Christian should be like a boiling caldron, or a furnace in full blast, a pot, bubbling up, boiling over.

In business and politics men are ready to turn the world upside down to accomplish their ends, but in religion they counsel the greatest moderation. Grave deacons and elders will stamp and clap, and shout themselves hoarse in a political gathering, while they would expel a man from the church for uttering an "amen" above a whisper. In business and politics they are up to a white heat, but in religion they are as cold as an iceberg, and as dead as a graveyard. Visit Wall street, or a political convention, where these grave, cultivated churchmen congregate, and an outsider, who did not know the object of the gathering, might well imagine that a lunatic asylum has been let loose. Enter a church where these men pretend to worship, and the theme with which they seem most pleased is, "Hush, my dear, lie still and slumber."

If the lack of fervency of spirit was manifest in business circles, and in political campaigns, who would expect success in either?

If Christians would put the same spiritual energy into their church life that they do into business and politics, our churches would soon be changed from moral graveyards into banqueting houses, and a profession of religion would not be considered as a sort of an open policy against risks, but it would mean a radical revolution of heart and life.

Shall we not manifest as much zeal in serving God as in getting gain? Is fervency necessary in the one case, and improper in the other?

We are aware those who do their whole duty in this regard will be complained of. They have ever been lampooned and cursed while they lived, but the next generation has almost invariably canonized them. They followed Wesley with every form of insult and abuse up to the day of his death. Bishops, priests and the rabble said he was mad, crazy, a hypocrite, a deceiver, a fanatic, a destroyer of churches, and a traducer of the clergy; but he had not been in his grave a hundred years ere they gave him a most conspicuous place in England's most sacred abbey, among kings, queens, commanders of armies, reformers, and the most honored of the ages.

Holiness should not be a fitful blaze, but a steady flame, like its Author, "yesterday, to-day, and forever," the same. Let the world and a cold church see that our motto is, "This one thing I do." We will be blamed while we live, and blessed when we are dead. Earth may withhold honors, but heaven will be lavish of its gifts. The conflict is for a day, the victory is forever. Let us remember the language of Jesus, "The zeal of thine house has eaten me up."—Christian Witness.

There is nothing so strong as love, and nothing so sweet; nothing so full of power and peace. Love lightens labor and sweetens service. It magnifies the smallest gift, and dignifies the most insignificant task. It is the universal conqueror and the universal cement. Who can count its victories, or number the armies it has slain? It is the secret of successful government in the home, the school, the church, the nation. The baptism of power is simply the baptism of love. Love is everything. Naught is of such consequence or such comprehensiveness. Love is God. Be it, then, our chief business to love more fully, more constantly, more widely, more deeply.—Zion's Herald.

Some pastors attempt to do all the work of the church themselves, and others organize their forces and set the people to work. The latter is by far the better plan—better for all concerned. The pastor can not attend to every part of the work, if he would; and if he attempts it, he will fail in part, and probably break himself down in the effort. If he sets "all hands" to work, it will save him, the work will be better done, and the working force of the church will be properly employed and developed. He is the wise pastor, therefore, who organizes his forces and sets all the people to work.—Exchange.

It is Curious Who Give.

"It's curious who give. There's Squire Wood, he's put down $2; his farm's worth $10,000, and he's money at interest. And there's Mrs. Brown, she's put down $5; and I don't believe she's had a new gown in two years, and her bonnet ain't none of the newest, and she's them three grandchildren to support since her son was killed in the army; and she's nothing but her pension to live on. Well, she'll have to scrimp on butter and tea for awhile; but she'll pay it. She just loves the cause; that's why she gives."

These were the utterances of Deacon Daniel after we got home from church the day pledges were taken for contributions to foreign missions. He was reading them off, and I was taking down the items, to find the aggregate. He went on:

"There's Maria Hill, she's put down $5; she teaches in the North District and don't have but $20 a month, and pays her board; and she has to help support her mother. But when she told her experience, the time she joined the church, I knew the Lord had done a work in her soul; and where he works you'll generally see the fruit in giving. And there's John Baker, he's put down $1, and he'll chew more than that worth of tobacco in a fortnight. Cyrus Dunning, $4. Well, he'll have to do some extra painting with that crippled hand; but he'll do it, and sing the Lord's song while he's at work."—Exchange.

Doing All She Can.

Twenty years ago, a German moved up the Ohio river, and had only seven hundred dollars and an interest in a superannuated saw mill. That man has been so blessed of God for his generous giving that to-day he is worth thirty millions of dollars. He has a beautiful young daughter, who is a graduate of the best woman's college in this country, a master of Latin, Greek, German, French, Italian, as well as being very proficient in music and art. What is she doing? Is she dawdling about in fashionable society or running from resort to resort, crossing the water every Summer to pick up some dude or some sickly, foreign count, or some pseudo prince, that she may bestow her fortune on him and share the disgrace of his name? Hear what she is doing. If her father should die to-day, her check would be worth, at least, ten millions of dollars. She is the unpaid missionary of the Presbyterian Church in the city of New York, down in the lowest and most neglected part—climbing up the stairs of tenement houses, three, four, five, six stories, to minister comfort and salvation to those who are in want and sickness and sin. She is searching there for jewels for her Master's crown. She is a lineal descendant of the Son of Man, who left his glorious home on high to come down on earth and win men to God.—Dr. W. A. Spencer.

A Matter of Habit.

It will surprise many persons to learn that being pleasant is merely a matter of habit. It must be cultivated like every other good habit. It has its root in an unselfish desire for the happiness of others, not excluding one's own family. It requires a great effort at first to check the hasty words, to forego the profitless arguments, to withhold the impertinent criticism, to speak the truth in love, but it is an effort that is well repaid by the results. Rudeness is never justifiable. It is sometimes necessary to reprove, to warn, to remonstrate, even to speak gravely and plainly of faults that should be corrected; all this can be done without encroaching in any way upon the courtesy that is due from one human being to another. Well-bred persons are never rude; the chivalrous man, the refined woman hesitate to hurt the feelings of anyone with whom they are brought in contact. They treat them with the respect which they exact for themselves. There is no surer sign of a flippant, ill-regulated, narrow mind than disregard for the rights of others. "Be courteous" is a divine command binding as "be pitiful."—The Congregationalist.

We Should Be Pure and Holy.

Albert Barnes has given the following forcible reasons why we should be holy: "A man who has been redeemed by the blood of the Son of God should be pure. He who is an heir of life should be holy. He who is attended by celestial beings, and who is soon, he knows not how soon—to be translated to heaven, should be holy. Are angels my attendants? Then I should walk worthy of my companionship. Am I so soon to go and dwell with angels? Then I should be pure. Are these feet so soon to tread the courts of heaven? Is this tongue soon to unite with heavenly beings in praising God? Are these eyes of mine so soon to look on the throne of eternal glory and on the ascended Redeemer? Then these feet and eyes and lips should be pure and holy, and I should be dead to the world and live for heaven."—Exchange.

HYGIENE.

The Poisons from Lungs and Skin.

We know that a close room is very offensive when many people are crowded into it; if we are at all observing, we know the unpleasantness of a bedroom in the morning before the air has freely entered it; we know how disagreeable the breath and the clothes of dirty people can be; we know that animals die when submitted to air that has been breathed, even when the carbonic acid has been removed; we know how necessary is the continuous flow of air in hospitals—we know that this much freer admission of air is rendered necessary for the antiseptic treatment of wounds; how, by treating men in the open air and in tents, recoveries have been made quicker and better than in hospitals; and how, in the case of the Austrian army, "the most severe maladies ran their course much more mildly" in the free air, while the recovery was quicker and more perfect. So, too, in cases of blood-poisoning, the best treatment is complete exposure to open air; also in typhus; and in a less degree in enteric fever, smallpox, and plague; even in children's diseases this is true. In Holland children with scarlet fever are sometimes carried to the seashore and kept for hours in the open air and sunshine, and to great advantage. Also in California, when the weather permits they are sometimes kept out of doors in the shade of trees, both day and night, and recover better there. We remember years ago Dr. Bostwick, whose child was given up to die, took it on a bed in an open carriage and drove out for hours in the fresh air daily. This saved it. This complete exposure of patients to air is the most important mode of treatment, before even diet and medicines. In the same way, the deaths of the Black Hole of Calcutta add their evidence, though it is evidence of an extreme kind. While out of the one hundred and forty-six persons shut up, one hundred and twenty-three died; of the remaining number, many afterwards died of putrid fever—that is, were poisoned, owing to an insufficiency of oxygen to neutralize the poisons breathed out on all sides of them, and rebreathed by themselves. A much simpler piece of evidence is presented to us daily by our own eyes. Who is not struck by the pasty, arsenic look of housed children, and of the large number of those who follow sedentary occupations, as contrasted with the looks of those who live in the country and are much in the open air? What is that pale look? It is the absence of red corpuscles from the blood. So also the effects of living in rooms in which sewer-gas has penetrated illustrate in their own stronger degree the results of living in unventilated rooms. The one is the lesser form, the other the more serious form of the same evil. In both, bacteria thrive and multiply, and in both, milk and meat rapidly taint. They are both full of organic matter, and the symptoms of headache and feverishness are common to both, though, of course, the case of sewer-gas is much the more acute. Again, we know the wonderfully restoring effect that pure air with its ozone has upon us after town life; showing how the poison has depressed all our functions, and how the pure air restores their energy. Dr. Lyman has just related to us how the splendid mountain air of Saranac, in the Adirondacks, restored him after the grip, and his mother after years of prostration. This air is like a tonic; its purity and high quality are most remarkable. Let us then supply ourselves with air enough to blow away the poison which constantly accumulates in our rooms from lungs and skin and which is quite as deadly as arsenic or strychnine.—Journal of Hygiene.

The Price They Pay.

How many boy readers of The Compasion have "beaten the record?" In what did they achieve the victory—in running, jumping, rowing, cricket, tennis, or foot-ball? Whatever it may have been, there can be no doubt that the victor enjoyed a keen triumph. The sun shone, the crown cheered, his team and college exulted, and ordinary mortals envied him as a hero.

The Companion does not grudge its congratulations to the triumphant athletes among its readers. It would only remind them that there is a price to pay for these victories. It is for them to decide whether the victories are cheap or dear. The reminder is the more necessary because the price is not paid at once, and therefore is apt to be left out of the account.

A certain amount of daily exercise is necessary to enable one to study with a healthy mind in a healthy body; but if a boy trains for a "crew" or "team" he must give up many hours that otherwise might be devoted to books.

And that is not all of the price.

The most eminent English and American physicians have declared that no boy under twenty-four is able to stand the enormous drafts made upon his vitality by excessive training or "spurts" in athletic sports without risk of impairing his strength for life.

A dispatch was recently brought from Chicago to New York by a bicycle-rider in a little over a hundred hours. Another cyclist rode for twenty-four consecutive hours, making sixteen miles each hour. These feats were applauded by all the cycling world.

The London Lancet asks, "At what cost were these useless feats accomplished? During the time of these extraordinary efforts the heart of the rider knew no rest from full activity; the elastic coat of every artery in his body was in full tension. The man was tearing away in a kind of trance, his higher nervous centres paralyzed, and his body held in life only by the heart and respiratory centre, both of which were taxed to the extremity of danger. The risk was dangerous to the verge of insanity."

The same risk is incurred in the great spurts made in rowing and running. The vitality of the man is permanently weakened.

It is worth while for a man to venture his life to carry a rope to a sinking ship, or to save a great cause, but to win a line in a college paper or the applause of a crowd—is such glory worth the price?—The Youth's Companion.

"Pull It Up by the Root."

"Father, here is a dock," said Thomas, as he was at work with his father in the garden, "shall I cut it off close to the root?"

"No," replied his father, "that will not do; I have cut it up myself many times, but it grows again stronger than ever. Pull it up by the root, for nothing else will kill it."

Thomas pulled again and again at the dock, but the root was very deep in the ground, and he could not stir it from its place; so he asked his father to come and help him, and his father went and soon pulled it up.

"This dock-root, Thomas," said his father, "which is an evil and fast-growing weed in a garden, puts me in mind of the evil things that grow so fast in the hearts of children. A bad passion even when found out, is hard to be removed; it is no use to trifle with it. There is no way to overcome and destroy it, but to pull it up by the root.

"You have often seen in our garden, that when the weeds are allowed to grow, they spoil all the plants and flowers that grow near them. So it is with evil passions in the heart of a child. If a little boy is ill-tempered, we must not expect to find in him good humor, cheerfulness, thankfulness, and desire to make others happy. And a little girl who is idle, we need not expect to be industrious, neat or cheerful. As weeds injure the flowers, so bad passions injure the good qualities. If a child is undutiful to his parents, and despises the commandments of God, we might as well look for a rose or a tulip in a bed of nettles, as hope to find in his heart those graces and good desires that we love to see growing there. Now this is quite a sufficient reason why all bad passions should be pulled up by the root.

"Every bad habit, every evil passion which troubles you, you should try with all your heart and mind to overcome; you should, if possible, tear it up. But you will find your own strength but weakness, and you must apply to that Almighty Friend who alone is able to strengthen and assist you."—Anon.

A colored philosopher is reported to have said, "Life, my breddern, am mos'ly made up of prayin' for rain and then wishin' it would cl'ar off."

Mr. David M. Jordan
of Edmeston, N. Y.

Colorless, Emaciated, Helpless

A Complete Cure by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is from Mr. D. M. Jordan, a retired farmer, and one of the most respected citizens of Otsego Co., N. Y.

"Fourteen years ago I had an attack of gravel, and have since been troubled with my

Liver and Kidneys

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I was so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I feel well and am well. All who know me marvel to see me so well." D. M. JORDAN.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamar, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Tarehinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	8.102 grains
Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735.108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30.476
Magnesia	26.872
Potash	2.322
Soda	6.045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	213.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5.083
Silica	6.049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1.564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D.,
Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonfuls every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with fetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was shot out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,
No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,
Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.
The Newest and Best Helps.
The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.
Bindings Unsurpassed.
Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

—BY—

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,
Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus. College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2? Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger.....9.30 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00p.m
Chic. limited...7:35 p.m	Chic. limited. 11:30a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,
NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,
NEW ORLEANS AND SAN FRANCISCO,
NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex..7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex 8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 8:20 p.m
Local.....10:05 a.m	Local.....3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	Leaves. 5:00 p.m	Arrives 8:45 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a.m	5:3 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	8:40 p.m	10:00 a.m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 3:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

TIME TO CINCINNATI, 26 HOURS.

TIME TO NEW YORK, 47 HOURS.

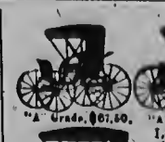
The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change. Time to New York via Washington only 45 hours.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

Depot: Corner Prese street and Leveo.

R. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent, New Orleans, La.
D. MILLER, Traffic Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS, Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $420 in six days. Another $83 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 878.



QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

"A" Grade, $67.50. "A" Grade, $65.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

"A" Grade, $150.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

K. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS (30 cents). Contains new songs and responsive readings 32 pages. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

JESUS THE NAZARENE, by P. F. Campiglio. A fine Christmas Service of Song and Readings for the Sunday-School. Price 5 cents a single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS SERVICES

of the same nature are: "The Gift of Gold," "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Eve Bells," "Noel," "Good Will to Men," "Peace on Earth," and "The Christ of Bethlehem." Price of each, 5 cents per single copy by mail.

SANTA CLAUS'S MISSION, by Wm. Rees, with additional songs by J. R. Murray. This is a charming new cantata that is sure to please the children in the Sunday-School. It is full of bright and pleasing music, and is not at all difficult of preparation. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS CANTATAS

are "A Jolly Christmas," "Our Christmas Eve," "A Christmas Vision," "The New Santa Claus," "Santa Claus & Co.," "Judge Santa Claus," "Finding Kriss Kringle," "Santa Claus' Mistake," "The Waifs' Christmas." Price of each 30 cents per single copy by mail. "Under the Palms" and "The Choicest Gift" are also suitable for Christmas, though not designed especially for the purpose. Price 40 cts. Any of the above cantatas mentioned for children, but in the four work entitled "Bethlehem" by Reed & Weatherley, adults will find something worthy of their best talent. Price 50 cents by mail.

A CHRISTMAS BAZAAR, by Mrs. S. Richey and J. R. Murray. This is a new and pleasing entertainment which is neither a cantata or exercise but has the characteristics of both. It is very entertaining and will no doubt meet with much favor. Price 30 cents per single copy.

A CHRISTMAS REVERIE, by W. L. Mason is another entertainment which has met with much success and approval. Price 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY, by Mary B. Brooks and G. F. Root gives the principal events of the life of our Lord while on earth, in beautiful verses, Scripture readings and expressive music. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

The December number of the "MUSICAL VISITOR" will contain anthems for Christmas and will be a very useful number in that direction. Price 15 cents per copy by mail.

Catalogue of Christmas Music furnished free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,
CINCINNATI—NEW YORK—CHICAGO.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Ch ar of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address him and receive circulars free. REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. Dayton, Ohio.

B.&S. BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY. Superior advantages. Send postal for circular.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGENIAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 64 pages. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,
LEXINGTON, VA.

58th Year. State Military, Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and instruction, provided at rate of $156.50 per month, an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

McMULLEN

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. H. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Pl'k, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $75 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 15 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N. Y.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N. Y.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PUREST BELL METAL, (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

Best Pure Copper and Tin Bells. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, November 23, 1893.

Dr. Winans to a Young Preacher.

I send the following extract from a letter written by Dr. Wm. Winans, March 10, 1823, and addressed to Rev. Wm. Alexander, then serving a trans-Mississippi Mission. In those days, when colleges were few, and young preachers were thrust out with meager preparation, the presiding elders served as professors of pastoral theology as well as overseers of the flock of Christ. And among them no man's counsel was more eagerly and generally sought, and no one's judgment so promptly and confidently accepted, as the gifted and great Dr. Wm. Winans. The extract here given may be helpful to other young men devoutly desiring to make full proof of their ministry:

You are of a social turn, my dear William, and so you should be to be extensively useful, but take care that your sociability does not degenerate into commonplace familiarity. This would compromise the dignity of your sacred official character, abridge your time for study, and enervate, vulgarize and dissipate your mind, and thereby unfit you for arduous and ardent exertion.

As far as practicable have a settled plan of work. So long in the morning read your Bible, or read so many chapters. I used to read twenty-one chapters—seven in the forepart of the Old Testament, six from the Psalms onward, seven in the New Testament, and one in Revelation. The rest of the forenoon read commentaries, sermons and other treatises on divinity. In the afternoon read history, ecclesiastical and ancient history especially, biography and geography. It would be well frequently to exercise yourself in language, both English and Latin, that you lose not what you have learned. Pay much attention to your style. It is too stiff and scholastic, a fault pardonable only in a young man just from his studies. Set apart one or two days in a week (the afternoons only I mean) for writing letters and aught else you may wish to write. And let me advise you to write much. Time spent in this exercise is more useful than reading, provided you write with care, attention and a firm purpose to improve. Write whatever you do write impromptu, and correct afterward. Take a copy of all your letters. This will afford you an opportunity for cool, calm criticism on your own performances after the heat of composition has passed off, and the bias which the mind took in dictation shall have relaxed or disappeared altogether. In writing be much more attentive to language and style than the mechanical part, and to sense than to them. Hardly anything looks so ridiculous as an elegant handwriting associated with bad orthography and bad style, or all these, good in their kind, employed to adorn nonsense.

The suggestions above are good for our time. Young preachers would do well to heed them.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

Jackson, Miss.

By a private letter from Bishop Haygood we learn that a glorious revival is in progress in Oxford, Ga. Emory College will, doubtless, participate in the beneficent results.

Ministerial Support.

If we accept the Bible as a revelation of the will of God, we must regard the Christian ministry as a divine institution. It is divine not only in the sense that it was divinely provided for in the beginning of the church's existence, but also in the sense that those who exercise its functions are divinely called.

This being the case, it necessarily follows that there is divine provision made for the support of the ministry. We are not at liberty to suppose that God would call men to give up their secular employment to engage in work for the extension of his kingdom without making provision somewhere and somehow for their maintenance.

God has a plan, and he has given that plan in his Holy Word. That plan is that those who are beneficiaries of the ministry shall contribute of their substance for its support. Under the Mosaic dispensation a definite percentage of income was prescribed. One-tenth of each one's earnings belonged to the Lord for the support of his ministers. Under the Christian dispensation there is no specific rate required; but the great principle that underlies the Mosaic legislation on this subject is authoritatively maintained. "They that preach the gospel shall live of the gospel." "Let him that is taught in the Word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things." These are samples of the teaching of Holy Writ on this subject.

It is as plain then as human speech can make it that God has a plan for the support of his ministers, and that that plan is that they shall be supported by the contributions of those whom they serve. This is conceded by a majority of the membership of the church; but there is a considerable minority of those who receive the benefits of ministerial labor who deny it. If they do not deny it in theory, they do in practice. Year after year they hear the preaching of the Word, and receive all the multifarious and incalculable benefits that accrue from the exercise of the ministry in their midst, and yet put not a cent into the coffers of the church.

We are not speaking of those who are unable to contribnte. God requires impossibilities of no man. There are persons who are so utterly impecunious that God does not require them to contribute. Such cases, however, are exceedingly very rare in our section. Many make this plea who have no right to make it. They have money to expend in luxurious, or semi-luxurious living, in needless personal adornment, and oftentimes in forbidden or, at least, questionable amusements; but they have none whatever for the sustenance of the church of God. How can such persons justify themselves to their own consciences, to say nothing of the bar of God? God's law on this subject is as clear and as authoritative as on any other.

What right has a professed Christian to pick out one of God's laws and say, "I will pay no attention to that?' Can such a one scrntinize his own conduct and the motive from which it springs without feelings of condemnation? Can he enjoy the favor of God while living in wilful neglect of a known duty, and that, too, under the influence of motives that belong wholly to the fleshly side of our nature? Honest, rigid self-examination just at this point, accompanied by earnest, submissive prayer, will bring about a mighty reformation in the lives of many who have a name to live while they are dead.

The election of Judge Gary in Illinois is also a triumph for the right. The anarchists, with Gov. Altgeld at their head, did all in their power to defeat him. The people of this country have no sympathy with anarchy.

John Wesley to Thomas Maxfield.

The following letter from John Wesley to Thomas Maxfield we publish by request. The principles it announces are as true and the counsels it gives are as wise to-day as they were when the letter was penned a hundred and thirty years ago.

"Without any preface or ceremony, which is useless between you and me, I will simply and plainly tell you what I dislike in your doctrine, spirit, or outward behavior.

"1. I like your doctrine of perfection, or pure love—love excluding sin; your insisting that it is merely by faith; that consequently it is instantaneous (though preceded and followed by a gradual work), and that it may be now, at this instant. But I dislike your saying that a man may be as perfect as an angel; that he can be absolutely perfect, that he can be infallible, or above being tempted; or that the moment he is pure in heart he can not fall from it.

"I dislike your directly or indirectly depreciating justification, saying a justified person is not in Christ, is not born of God, is not sanctified, not a temple of the Holy Ghost, or that he can not please God or can not grow in grace.

"I dislike your saying that one saved from sin needs nothing more than looking to Jesus, needs not to hear or think of anything else; believe, believe, is enough; that he needs no self-examination, no times of private prayer; needs not mind little or outward things; and that he can not be taught by any person who is not in the same state.

"I dislike your affirming that justified persons in general persecute them that are saved from sin, and that they have persecuted you on this account.

"2. As to your spirit, I like your confidence in God and your zeal for the salvation of souls.

"I dislike something which has the appearance of pride, of overvaluing yourselves and undervaluing others, particularly the preachers, thinking that not only are they blind, and that they are not sent of God, but even that they are dead—dead to God, and walking in the way to hell; that they are going one one way, you another; that they have no life in them; your speaking of yourselves as though you were the only men who knew and taught the gospel; and as if not only all clergy, but all the Methodists besides, were in utter darkness.

"I dislike something that has the appearance of enthusiasm; overvaluing feeling and inward impression; mistaking the mere work of imagination for the voice of the Spirit; expecting the end without the means, and undervaluing reason, knowledge, and wisdom in general.

"I dislike something that has the appearance of antinomianism; not magnifying the law and making it honorable; not enough valuing tenderness of conscience and exact watchfulness in order thereto; using faith rather as contradistinguished from holiness than as productive of it.

"But what I most of all dislike is your littleness of love to your brethren; your want of meekness, gentleness, long-suffering; your impatience of contradiction, counting every man your enemy that reproves or admonishes you in love; your bigotry and narrowness of spirit, loving, in a manner, only those that love you; your censoriousness, proneness to think hardly of all who do not earnestly agree with you; in one word, your divisive spirit. Indeed, I do not believe that any of you either desire or design a separation. But you do not enough fear, abhor and detest it, shuddering at the very thought. All the preceding tempers tend to it, and gradually prepare you for it.

"3. As to your outward behavior, I like the general tenor of your life, devoted to God and spent in doing good.

"I dislike your appointing such meetings as hinder others from attending either the public preaching, or their class, or band.

"I dislike your spending so much time in several meetings, as many that attend can ill spare from the other duties of their calling, unless they omit either the preaching, or their class or band. This naturally tends to dissolve our society by cutting the sinews of it.

"As to more public meetings, I like the praying fervently and largely for all the blessings of God. I know much good has been done hereby, and I hope much more will be done. But I dislike several things therein: The using improper expressions in prayer, sometimes too bold, if not irreverent; sometimes too pompous, and magnificent, extolling yourselves rather than God, and telling him what you are, not what you want. Your affirming people will be justified or sanctified just now. Your affirming they are, when they are not. The bidding them say, 'I believe.' The bitterly condemning any that oppose, calling them wolves, etc., and pronouncing them hypocrites or not justified.

"Read this calmly and impartially before the Lord in prayer. So shall the evil cease and the good remain. And you will then be more than ever united to "Your affectionate brother,

"J. WESLEY."

Canterbury, Nov. 2, 1762.

The Church Paper, and How to Circulate It.

My work on the above topic is cut out for me. The editor does not want any of my "theories," but my "experience." How does he know that I have no "theories" that are worthy of his paper? But cheerfully I give my experience on one of the most important collateral duties of the pastor. I did not dream when I was making the historic experience that I would so often hear of it, and be asked to give the repetition of it.

I did have large success in securing subscribers to the church papers within whose patronizing territory I was pastor for twenty-five years. I believe the church paper my best and most effective assistant pastor. I believe any other paper displacing the Herald or the Advocate (according to my locality) to be undermining of the Methodistic intelligence and loyalty of the members of my church. Hence to circulate the church papers became a conviction, a passion, a joy. I felt it a duty; a part of my legitimate pastoral work, as much as the conversion of souls and the building up of the saints in holy living. Yes, I conceive it to be a strong re-enforcement in effecting these results. Hence I threw my brains, soul, tact and enthusiasm into getting subscribers for the paper. I worked for it as I did for a revival, and on the same ground—that it was necessary to the highest success of my pastorate. And it was.

If you want it in a nutshell—I worked to get subscribers with all the tact and enthusiasm I could if I had owned the paper and received all the profits. There you have it. I was a partner in the concern. I received my dividends in a more intelligent and devoted membership. The modus operandi was as follows:

1. I took the paper into the pulpit. I opened it wide and showed it to the people. I expatiated upon its beauties, its benefits, its departments, its necessity to any member who would be an intelligent Methodist and know the current history of his church. I warmed with my theme and exhorted. I appealed to their loyalty. I excoriated the disloyalty that dropped the church papers and took outside papers, especially if they were cheap. I swept the whole keyboard of incentive to take the paper. Then, when the iron had been made hot by striking, I struck to weld it by taking subscribers on the spot! I got all I could on Sunday as a religious work. I used blank cards often in the pews. I nailed their ears to the paper with a pencil.

2. I followed up this bombardment from the pulpit by a renewed attack at closer range in the prayer meeting. I repeated this effort in the prayer meeting at intervals. I always gained some at the close of a warm prayer meeting.

3. I next put a clean copy of the paper in my pocket and started on my pastoral visitation each afternoon. By this time I had made a list of all who ought to take the paper, but had not subscribed. With this list and the paper in my pocket, I began sharp-shooting at close range. I went to the house, the store, the shop, the factory. I pulled out my paper and my list. I submitted the question. Most surrendered at once when thus individually appealed to. The few that hesitated I stayed with till they "saw a great light" and subscribed! Only here and there an obtuse or stingy soul escaped.

4. There were always a few poor people who could not afford to take the paper. On Christmas or New Year's I would state this fact to the public congregation and ask the well-to-do to send a Christmas or New Year's gift to these poor that would come every week in the year. This always met with a quick response.

5. At the close of the revival each year I appealed to all new converts to take a church paper. I explained the benefit, and urged on them the duty of taking a church paper, as they were now to be Methodists.

6. Finally, I attended to this work personally. I no more allowed some indigent woman or aged preacher to do this for me than I invited them to lead the revival for me. When I found such agent (appointed by a predecessor for the revenue he got out of it), I always relieved him or her and gave back the commissions quadrupled.

This is my "experience." It fills me with joy to recall it. Halleluja! It was good work for Christ. There is no patent on the experience. I ask no "royalty" on its use. It would be a good thing if the General Conference would pass a regulation that no person should be appointed a member of the Official Board who does not take a church paper.—Rev. J. O. Peck, D. D., in Zion's Herald.

Our Reception.

Our welcome to the tripod has far surpassed our most sanguine expectations. From almost all sections of our patronizing territory brethren have given us a most cordial greeting. The following extract from a letter from a beloved brother, prominent in his Conference, is a sample of the tone of many of the congratulatory letters we have received:

I heartily congratulate you on your promotion to the editorship of our grand old ADVOCATE. We have large expectations from you. You are expected to sustain the reputation of your illustrious predecessors, and even add lustre to the brilliant history made for our journalistic organ by them. You can do it. You have come to the tripod of the ADVOCATE at the most opportune time, both as to its history and your personal fitness for the work. You have an open field for the exercise of your God-given powers that few could have, and to an extent that you could not have had at any previous time. You will have the hearty co-operation of those whose pens and influence will contribute largely to your success.

While we are sure that these brethren overestimate our capacities, it is an inspiration to us to know that we have their sympathy and support.

One letter, received a few days since, touches us most deeply. Although it was written with no thought of publication, we take the liberty of publishing it, name and all. We are sure the good sister will condone the liberty we take.

Lumberton, Miss., Nov. 13.

Dear Brother: You will, no doubt, be surprised to receive this note of congratulation from a very old friend—a friend of your boyhood and young manhood—one whom you may have forgotten during the lapse of years, or suppose to have gone to her eternal home.

My husband, now in heaven, was your pastor when you were licensed to preach, and married you to your excellent wife. He guided your young footsteps when as a boy preacher you first entered upon the itinerant life. Through all the intervening years I have watched your career, feeling almost as if I had a sort of proprietorship in you. I have lived to see you an able and useful minister of the New Testament, and now to see your elevation to the tripod. My mind goes back to the time when I first knew you in your sainted mother's home, as the pious young Christian and the dutiful son, Warren. "From a child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures," which have made thee wise unto salvation, and I thank God for his abundant grace to you-ward.

Accept, my dear brother, my congratulations and my best wishes for your success in the new field to which God has called you. Your sister,

N. FINN.

This letter stirs precious memories. Rev. Wm. Finn, the husband of this mother in Israel, was our mother's pastor in a time that tried men's souls. He was a frequent guest at her house, as was also his wife, and their presence was ever a benediction. But for his counsels and influence we would certainly not have applied for license to preach at the time we did, and it is very possiole that we might never have done so. We served under him as junior preacher for some months, and during that time received from him many fatherly suggestions and wise counsels that have been helpful to us during all the intervening years. We expect to meet Bro. and Sister Finn in heaven.

Letter from Macon, Ga.

The following letter is from Col. Isaac Hardeman, president of the Board of Stewards of Mulberry Street Church, Macon, Ga.:

Dear Brother: You do not know how much you are missed by the good people of Macon, and especially by the congregation at Mulberry Street Church. Words can not express our sense of bereavement. We had hoped that the relation of pastor and people would have existed a long time between us, but the powers that be decreed otherwise. While we shall miss you sadly in your pulpit ministrations, this loss can be to a large extent supplied by weekly visits of your paper, of which I gladly avail myself by subscribing to your valuable ADVOCATE. I send you two dollars to pay for one year's subscription to your paper, which please send to me. Wishing you success and prosperity in your new field of labor, and praying God's blessing upon you, I am,

Sincerely and truly yours,
ISAAC HARDEMAN.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 16.

Multum in Parvo.

(Selected.)

Idleness is the key of poverty.

* * *

Water past will not turn the mill.

* * *

Who sings drives away many cares.

* * *

The wrong-doer is never without a pretext.

* * *

Though the speaker be a fool, let the hearer be wise.

* * *

In the garden more grows than the gardener sows.

* * *

He that will not when he can, can not when he will.

* * *

Associate with the good, and you will be one of them.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The great coal strike in England has come to an end.

The editor's family arrived from Macon last Friday. They are domiciled at 323 Second street, between Baronne and Carondelet.

Rev. H. M. Dubose, formerly of the Mississippi Conference, will represent the Los Angeles Annual Conference in the General Conference.

The lepers confined in the pest house near this city, it is said, are allowed to come to the city almost ad libitum. We doubt whether this is wise.

All Christians and patriots should rejoice at the overthrow of the gambling crowd in New Jersey, no matter what political party suffers thereby.

The Thanksgiving sermon before the united New Orleans Methodism will be preached in Louisiana Avenue Church, by Rev. Wm. H. LaPrade, D. D., at 11 A. M., Thursday, Nov. 30, 1893.

The delegates from the West Texas Conference to the General Conference are: Clerical—W. W. Pinson, J. T. Morris, B. Harris. M. A. Black. Lay—G. W. L. Fly, F. S. Jackson, J. E. Pritchett, J. C. Wilson.

Several brethren of the Mississippi Conference have called at the ADVOCATE office this week, viz., J. G. Cammark, J. W. Tinnin, H. C. Brown and J. W. Harmon. We are pained to learn that Sister Harmon is in very feeble health.

The preachers of the Virginia Conference are discussing the question of a change of the law in regard to the presiding eldership. Discussions of this sort occur quadrennially. We predict that the next General Conference will make no very marked change in the presiding eldership.

Notice.

Dear Brethren of the Mississippi Conference:

Just after sending to the ADVOCATE office, last week, an appeal for great diligence in raising our missionary collections, stressing the domestic side of the work, I received a letter from our Dr. W. R. Lambuth, urging the full collection of our assessment for foreign missions. He says that the financial stringency is threatening serious contraction of our work; that the Board is not looking this year to "specials," but to the "regular collections."

If our annual meeting finds us deficient, it will necessitate a collection on the spot. This ought to be avoided, by every token. It has come to be a recognized truth, that, on such occasions, the preachers have to make up the bulk of the collection. At this time it will be specially inappropriate for us to look to our kind hosts of Hazlehurst to help us out. They have had all they could do to greet us with an elegant new church-building. Anyhow, the only honorable and right thing in the premises is for each church to bring up what is asked of it, by the rightful authority. This will not be burdensome on any. For there is no doubt but the membership of each church in our bounds will consume more money during the month of December on tobacco, in its various forms, than is asked of them for missions. For shame, that the professed followers of a self-denying Christ should consume so much more on a vitiated appetite (which wrecks its thousands) than they give to spread his kingdom among the destitute and despairing millions of paganism! Oh, arm of the Lord, awake! Strike with the hammer of thy word and break such stony hearts! Then melt and transmute into hearts of flesh that can feel another's woe!

Brethren of the ministry, let us see to it that our example in self-denial and giving be worthy of imitation by the laity. Now is the most appropriate time you will ever have to quit all "useless self-indulgence."

After much earnest prayer let us go to our people, lay the matter before them plainly, and urge it, if need be, with tears. This emergency demands all urgency.

Yours in cordial earnest,

J. P. DRAKE.

Meridian District.

To the Preachers, Official Members and Others:

Dear Brethren: The time is short. Whatever is to be done before the Annual Conference must be quickly done. God has wonderfully blessed our people this year. His goodness has been shown in thousands of ways. The reports at the fourth Quarterly Conferences, with only two exceptions, have been most encouraging. It only requires a united effort on the part of preachers and official brethren to put our district into the first place in our Conference, where it of right belongs. A number of charges will meet every assessment in full. All might do so if there were only the willing mind and loving heart in proportion to God's goodness to his people. The future of our district is bright with promises and prophecies of great prosperity.

Yours faithfully,

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

Bishops, Giraffes, and Evangelists.

Judging from the writings of many, it would be hard to decide which class of preachers is doing the most harm—Bishops, Giraffes or evangelists. The evangelistic part of the year being about over, and the Bishop and "Giraffe" season having set in, it is thought that, perhaps, the evangelists may get a rest, at least, for a short while. However, I am sorry for the Bishops and "Giraffes" for the next few months till all the Annual Conferences will have been held. Brethren, you have my sympathy and prayers. The Bishops have never done anything special for me (that I have ever heard of) and, therefore, I do not feel under any special obligations to them, but I do not think we can exalt ourselves or help the church by writing so many unkind things about them.

If many preachers would study more, preach better, and complain less, they would feel more friendly towards the Bishops and would stand better chances to become "Giraffes" themselves. Try it, brethren. The Bishops are compelled to recognize the requests of these leading appointments. And if these strong churches are willing to leave the whole matter in the hands of the Bishops, then the Bishops ought to see to it that these places get the strongest men at their command—even though it may necessitate the exercising of the transfer power.

Not many of these "Giraffes" know anything about their transfer till the whole matter is settled—that is, if what the Bishops and "Giraffes" tell us be true. There have always been "Giraffes," and there always will be. In conclusion, let me refer you to Rom. xii. 10.

Many are opposed to evangelists, because they are "paid too much." I don't know any who have grown rich in the work—do you? And if there are any, they are very scarce. Some of these men would command big salaries anywhere. If you think it is such a "bonanza," suppose you try it for a while. I have known some strong men to begin the work and have to give it up because they did not get a support.

Many solutions have been offered by which the evangelistic problem might be solved. Many think the office of evangelist ought to be created in our church. I am afraid sometimes we have too many officers already. Very few men who can do this work successfully, and, therefore, the Bishops can provide for these few where the Conference thinks they are needed, by giving them a mere nominal appointment. I do not think there is any danger of the church being over-burdened with them, for as I have already written, very few succeed, and hence many are short-lived. These few are going to do the work if it has to be done under a tent, and, like the Salvation Army, independent of the church. "If it be of God, ye can not overthrow it."

Old Natchez is now ablaze with revival power. About sixty have committed themselves to join the church up to this stage of the meeting, and the end is not yet. Dr. Price (one of the "Giraffes" of North Mississippi Conference) is ably assisting us. He is a fine singer and a big preacher. Dr. Lewis is pastor of the Jefferson Street Church, where the meeting is being held. The Doctor is one of our leading pastors and is a fine man. I have not met a more lovable man in all my travels. But I have already written too much.

I think, Doctor, the people are to be congratulated on having for their editor one who is so well known to the church, and one who is so able as a writer. The people of the North Mississippi Conference seem to be delighted over your election as editor. May the Lord help you in running a paper for the glory of God and the good of the church.

W. M. MCINTOSH.

Natchez, Miss.

From the Joint Board of Finance, Mississippi Conference.

Brethren: I am sending out the claimant blanks to those ministers who have claimants living in their charges. Please fill them up and send to Rev. J. W. Chambers, Clinton, La., at your earliest convenience.

In the way of a reminder: Conference is here almost. Are you coming to it with your Conference collection in full? Or is it going to be short?

Don't come in and tell us "times are hard." We know it already. But, brother, it is the Lord's money, and the Lord has need of it. Don't disappoint him. Just a little more work, and a little more praying, both together, and the money will come, sure. Try it.

W. A. GUNNING,
Secretary of Joint Board.

Cross-Bearers' Missionary Reading Circle.

Rev. Z. M. Williams, secretary of the Cross-Bearers' Missionary Reading Circle, is now ready to issue the beautiful new diplomas promised to those who complete the course of study. These diplomas are a token of three years' study of the problem of missions in all lands. Further information may be obtained by enclosing six cents in stamps to the secretary's address, Gallatin, Mo.

M. L. GRAY.

Lineville, Iowa.

The Revival at Felicity Street Church

As many will be anxiously looking for news from this meeting, I send you a bulletin. We are in the midst of what will, doubtless, prove a great meeting. At the close of the first week twenty-five or more persons have been sanctified and a number converted, the work wrought in both being definite and powerful. Among the former, four preachers, three of them hailing from the Mississippi Conference, obtained the great blessing and went on their way rejoicing. Bro. Morrison's preaching attracts large crowds, and produces great effects.

J. M. BEARD.

Notice.

To the Members and Delegates of the Mississippi Conference:

The L. C. R. R. and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley R. R., with its branches, have granted the usual rates. No doubt we will hear favorably from the Q. and C. Route. Members and delegates will purchase ticket, paying full fare, and secure receipt of same from agent, and when receipt is signed by secretary of Conference return tickets will be sold at the rate of one cent per mile.

R. P. WILLING Sr., Chair'n.
E. M. COOK, Secretary.

Hazlehurst, Miss., Nov. 18, 1893.

Notice.

HO! FOR LOUISIANA CONFERENCE!

The Texas and Pacific and the Southern Pacific grant excursion rates for one fare going and one-third fare returning, on the certificate plan. Tickets on sale Dec. 11. Return tickets to be purchased within two days after Conference adjourns. The other roads have not yet been heard from.

C. W. CARTER.

Louisiana Conference Railroad Rates.

L. and N. W.—Gibbs to Homer. One fare for round trip. You pay $1.25, and get round-trip ticket.

V., S. and P.—Vicksburg and Shreveport to Gibbs. One and one-third fare on the certificate plan. Get a certificate when you buy your ticket, pay one fare, and on your return said certificate will enable you to buy a return ticket for one-third regular rate.

T. and P.—To be reported by Bro. W. B. Thomson, of New Orleans.

M. and Y. Valley Route.—To be reported by Bro. Thomson.

The L. and N. W. trains make direct connections with all trains on V., S. and P. at Gibbs, twenty miles from Homer.

TIME OF ARRIVAL AT HOMER.

From Shreveport, 8:30 A. M. From Vicksburg, 6:30 P. M.

Report at the church if not met at depot.

J. A. PARKER.

North Mississippi Conference.

NOTICE!

Ministers, delegates and visitors attending the North Mississippi Conference, at Columbus, Miss., Nov. 29, will pay full fare over the various railroads, taking certificates from agents to that effect. These, when signed by the secretary of the Conference, will secure a return rate of one cent a mile. A certificate must be taken for each ticket purchased.

J. S. OAKLEY,
Sec. of the Conference.

Missionary Debt—Mississippi Conference.

BRANDON DISTRICT.

Clarksburgh ct., P. D. Hardin, P. C. $3

T. L. MELLEN,
Sol. for Miss. Conf.

Mississippi Conference Notices.

Applicants for admission on trial will please meet the committee for examination in Hazlehurst, Miss., Tuesdays, Dec. 5, at 3 P. M. Report to Rev. I. W. Cooper, D. D., and he will designate the place for meeting. By reference to page 26 of the Minutes of our last Conference you will see what will be required in "the ordinary branches of an English education."

W. B. LEWIS.

Members of class of first year, Mississippi Conference, will meet committee of examination at Methodist Church in Hazlehurst, Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 o'clock P. M., for examination.

As was determined at last Conference, the examination will be in writing, and time is necessary to make it thorough and satisfactory.

R. J. JONES, Chair'n Com.

The class of the second year will please meet the examining committee in the Methodist Church in Hazlehurst, Miss., on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, at half-past seven o'clock.

A. F. WATKINS,
For Committee.

The class of the third year will meet the examining committee at the Methodist Church, Hazlehurst, Miss., nine o'clock A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 6.

D. G. W. ELLIS,
H. W. FEATHERSTUN,
L. S. JONES,
Committee.

Three Famous Boyhoods.

Shakespeare, the Boy, by his best modern interpreter, Prof. W. J. Rolfe;

Walter Scott, the Boy, by the keenest of English critics, Andrew Lang;

Milton, the Boy, by his great biographer, Prof. David Masson:—

Three unique articles giving new glimpses of our old favorites as they were at school, at play and at home, will appear next year in

The Youth's Companion.

The Programme next year is brighter than ever. "SWEET CHARITY," a beautiful picture of Celestial times, in colors, 14½ x 21 inches in size, presented to all New (or Renewing) Subscribers. All New Subscribers sending $1.75 now, get THE COMPANION FREE to Jan. 1, and a full year from that date. Sample copies free. Boston, Mass.

An investment that will yield from FIFTY to ONE HUNDRED per cent. per annum in CASH and DISCOUNT DIVIDENDS.
An invention as marvellous as the Printing Press. The Art of Bookmaking Revolutionized. Books Made by Machinery.

AUTO BOOK-BINDING AND AUTO BOOK-TRIMMING MACHINES.

Machines now running, turning out thousands of strongly and flexibly bound books daily, neither sewed nor wired.
Machines that will do for the literature of the ages what the perfected printing presses do for the news of the day.
Standard books, books for the library and popular works so cheapened that the choicest volumes shall be within easy reach of everyone. Stockholders entitled to the additional advantage of large, fixed and continuous discounts, and thus, at small expense, acquiring handsome libraries of the best standard and popular authors.

The Auto Book Concern

ORGANIZED UNDER THE LAWS OF NEW JERSEY.

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

Divided into 100,000 Shares of $10 Each, Full Paid and Non-Assessable.

DIRECTORS:

MURAT HALSTEAD, Esq., New York, President.
Hon. J. P. PEIRCE, Superintendent of Insurance, State of New York, Vice-President
Hon. JOSEPH R. HAWLEY, U. S. Senator.
MARSHAL HALSTEAD, Esq., Vice-President Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.
CHARLES L. CARRICK, Esq.
Hon. J. J. INGALLS, Ex-U. S. Senator.
W. A. CROFFUT, Esq.
Hon. W. M. SPRINGER, Chairman Banking and Finance Committee, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.
Hon. BENTON McMILLEN, Member of Congress.
B. F. GREEN, Esq., New York, Secretary.
WINTHROP POND, Esq., New York, Treasurer.

REGISTRARS OF STOCK:

FARMER'S LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, New York.

ATTORNEYS:

Messrs. CARTER, HUGHES & KELLOGG, New York.

Prospectus.

THE AUTO BOOK CONCERN has been organized.

First. To acquire and control the American and European patents of the AUTO BOOK BINDER, and the AUTO BOOK TRIMMER MACHINES, that, to the book-making art, mark an advance as important as the Steam Printing Press was to the Washington Hand Press fifty years ago; and to manufacture and operate said machines, in this and in foreign countries.

Second. To acquire the most complete set of stereotype and electrotype plates, in this country, of the standard popular authors. These are stored in fire proof vaults in the City of New York. They are perfect and cost over $1,000,000.

Third. To manufacture with the use of these Automatic Machines, all grades of books, including school and music books, and sell the same at greatly reduced prices, to its Stockholders and the trade.

The Company will not sell or lease any of its machines within the United States, but to the European book-making craft only.

THE AUTO BOOK BINDER and the AUTO BOOK TRIMMER are run at little expense. They are marvels of simplicity. The binder, with the assistance of two girls, picks up printed sheets and covers, and converts them into solidly and flexibly bound volumes, neither sewed nor wired. These machines perfectly perform their tasks, and are henceforth as indispensable in producing books, as the perfected presses are to the newspapers.

It is proposed to provide families, students and school teachers with libraries at trifling expense and the best current literature at prices heretofore unknown and school books for the children of a million, neater and cheaper than ever has been done.

Statement of Earnings.

The profits on the publication of the standard and popular works from the plates which the Company acquires have exceeded $100,000 yearly under the old processes of manufacture, assuring to the stockholders a profit of at least 10 per cent. per annum from this source alone. With the use of the Auto Machines these profits must necessarily be largely increased.

It is impossible to estimate the returns from the ownership of the patents and the sale of the Machines in Foreign Countries, but it is a well known fact that patents covering machinery that create a revolution in any important trade have proved enormously remunerative to the original owners, and soon repay the full amount of capital invested. Additional dividends will be declared from time to time as such profits are realized.

Stockholders' Postal Supply Bureau.

An important feature of the sale department of the Company is the STOCKHOLDERS' POSTAL SUPPLY BUREAU.

The Company acts as agent for each stockholder in the purchase of all books published, and secures for stockholders the greatest possible discount, varying from 25 to 50 per cent. Stockholders will also be supplied with catalogues containing the list of the Company's publications, with a confidential price list, giving the wholesale prices and a special additional discount, which will be given to stockholders alone. Such discounts to stockholders will amount to an immense sum on the yearly purchase of books, thus yielding large DISCOUNT DIVIDENDS, in addition to the Cash Dividends, on the investment.

The price to be paid by the Company for the American and Foreign patents of the Auto Book Binder, the Auto Book Trimmer and the stereotype and electrotype plates of the Standard Works is $1,000,000: $350,000 in cash and $650,000 in the stock of the Company; the vendors grecing, however, to donate to the treasury of said Company $100,000 of the stock they receive in part consideration of the conveyance of the above property.

To meet said cash payment of $350,000 to said vendors and to supply the necessary working capital, 50,000 shares of the capital stock of this Company are now offered for public subscription at par ($10 per share). This stock is full paid and non-assessable. Purchasers incur no personal liability. The remaining stock is retained by the vendors, as it is expected to command a large premium when the machines are in universal use.

Subscriptions to stock can be paid for in full on application, or 20 per cent. can be paid on application, the balance in one and two months. Should the stock offered be over-subscribed, preference will be given to subscriptions accompanied by full payment. Early application is therefore recommended.

Applications for stock with remittances must be made to WINTHROP POND, Treasurer, THE AUTO BOOK CONCERN at the Company's office, 203 Broadway, New York.

North Mississippi Conference.

The class of the first year will meet at eight o'clock, Tuesday morning, Nov. 28, at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss.

JNO. W. BELL,
For the Committee.

Ripley, Miss., Nov. 1, 1893.

The class of the second year will meet at the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 A. M.

HESLEP R. TUCKER,
G. W. GORDON,
E. H. CAGY,
Committee.

The class of the third year will please meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Nov. 27, 1893, at eight P. M.

T. Y. RAMSEY,
R. M. DAVIS,
H. C. MOREHEAD,
Committee.

The class of the fourth year will please meet in the Methodist Church, Columbus, Miss., Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8 o'clock A. M.

THOS. J. NEWELL, for Com.

To restore gray hair to its natural color, as in youth, cause it to grow abundant and strong, there is no better preparation than Hall's Hair Renewer.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission into the Louisiana Annual Conference will meet at the Methodist Church in Homer, La., on Wednesday, Dec. 13.

J. M. BEARD, Chairman.

The class of the first year will meet at Methodist Church, Homer, La., at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 13.

WM. H. LA PRADE.

The class of the second year will meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Homer, La., Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 9:30 A. M.

COMMITTEE.

Lake Providence, La.

The class of the third year will please meet committee for examination in Homer, La., Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at seven o'clock, at such place as the pastor may designate, and oblige

THOS B. WHITE,
For Committee.

Arcadia, La.

Notice.

Brethren who want any special books will confer a favor by letting us know at once, so that we may get them and have them on hand.

LAIRD & DOMINICK.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDAN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough, pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

LOSS OF POWER and vital force follow loss of flesh, or emaciation. These come from impoverished blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enriches the blood, stops the waste of strength and tissue, and builds up healthy flesh. Nasty Cod Liver Oils add fat, but not wholesome flesh. Thin, pale, puny and scrofulous children are made plump, rosy and robust by the "Discovery." They like it, too.

In recovering from "Grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

It has cured others of Catarrh—thousands of them. Why not you? Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is so positive, its makers offer $500 reward for an incurable case.

FOR CATARRH!
RHEUMATISM!
LA GRIPPE!
INDIGESTION!

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 8, 1893.
Some years ago I had an attack of grip, which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used King's Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure in my case. I had indigestion, and it cured that also. I have recommended it to several persons who were afflicted with different diseases, and always with the happiest results.
REV. J. W. HOWARD,
Baptist City Missionary.

BEAUFORT, N. C., June 7, 1893.
I was a sufferer from rheumatism for eight months, part of the time was so that I could not walk. I was entirely cured by King's Royal Germetuer. I have no symptoms of rheumatism now. I think it is a great medicine.
IVAN B. ABERNATHY.

What Rev. Sam Jones Says.

Rev. Sam Jones, the great evangelist, writes: "My wife, who was an invalid from nervous sick headache, has been entirely cured by Royal Germetuer. I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine. Two of my children were cured of nasal catarrh by it. It is truly a great medicine."

For Children, Nervous Troubles and Weak and Debilitated Females, Royal Germetuer is unequalled. Try it. $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.

King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Germetuer Pills for Constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,
Attorney-at-Law,
49 CAMP STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.
Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.
The Leading Conservatory of America.
In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss

Mississippi
Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work, as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

HAVE FAITH IN THE BOY.

Have faith in the boy, not believing
That he is the worst of his kind,
In league with the army of Satan,
And only to evil inclined;
But daily to guide and control him,
Your wisdom and patience employ,
And daily, despite disappointment
And sorrow, have faith in the boy.

Have faith to believe that some moment
In life's strangely checkered career,
Convicted, subdued and repentant
The prodigal son will appear;
The gold in his nature rejecting
The dark and debasing alloy;
Illuming your spirit with gladness,
Because you had faith in the boy.

Though now he is wayward and stubborn,
And keeps himself sadly aloof
From those who are anxious and fearful,
And ready with words of reproof;
Have faith that the prayers of a mother
His wandering feet will arrest,
And turn him away from his follies
To weep out his tears on her breast.

The brook that goes dashing and dancing
We may not divert from its course,
Until the wild, turbulent spirit
Has somewhat expended its force;
The brook is the life of the river,
And if we the future might scan,
We'll find that a boisterous boyhood
Gave vigor and life to the man.

Ah! many a boy has been driven
Away from home by the thought
That no one believed in his goodness,
Or dreamed of the battles he fought;
So if you would help him to conquer
The foes that are prone to annoy,
Encourage him often with kindness,
And show you have faith in the boy.

Have faith in his good resolutions,
Believe that at last he'll prevail.
Though now he's forgetful and heedless,
Though day after day he may fail.
Your doubts and suspicious misgivings,
His hope and his courage destroy,
So, if you'd secure a brave manhood,
'Tis well to have faith in the boy.

—Selected.

Speaking Slightingly of Women.

When a young man habitually speaks slightingly of women, one may feel reasonably sure that a moral blight rests upon his own character. A scathing rebuke was once conveyed to a man of this class, who, at a public dinner at which no ladies were present, was called upon to respond to the toast, "Woman." He dwelt almost entirely upon the frailties of the sex, claiming that the best among them are little better than the worst, the chief difference being in their surroundings. At the conclusion of his speech, one of the guests arose, and said: "I trust the gentleman, in the application of his remarks, refers to his own mother and sisters, not to ours." This young man, in his low estimate of women, unconsciously verified a sententious saying by the author of "Youths:" "The criterion of a man's character is not his creed, religious, intellectual, or moral; it is the degree of respect he has for women." As a contrast to the light and flippant tone in which too many young men of the present day speak of the other sex, is the noble tribute from an eminent clergyman, who says: "I am more grateful to God for the sense that came to me through my mother and sisters of the substantial integrity, purity, and nobility of womanhood than for almost anything else in this world."—Congregationalist.

People often sing, "Where is my wandering boy to-night?" but the truth is when the parents went to church or the temperance meeting this "wandering boy" also left home and joined his associates on the street corner. The parents are singing this song and shouting, "Down with the saloon," while they are giving their boy full liberty to do as he pleases. And he generally lives up to his privileges. This is one phase of a large subject, and it is a phase which should be looked squarely in the face. However ardent parents may be in supporting the cause of temperance, they may by their very neglect, by their shortcomings in home-training, help to foster the liquor traffic. Their plain and manifest duty is to nip the evil in the bud by wise and careful training of their boys in all that is excellent and lovely and of good report. In the work of temperance reform everyone must build over against his own house.—The Mid-Continent.

A Prize Essay on "How to Manage a Husband."

A few months since the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph offered a prize for the best essay on the above subject. The contest was continued for many weeks, as there was a large number of competitors. We present below the essay that won the prize. We commend it to the fair sex as worthy of their attention.

How to manage your husband: Well, Mr. Editor, you have selected a difficult subject, yet one would not think so, to see how the thousands of ladies enter into the business yearly. I have heard ladies so often say: "O, I know how to manage him," and have almost envied them; but I envied them no longer—later on. I saw how vain and foolish the remark was. As we launch out on the great sea of matrimony we find brave, tender husbands and noble, loving wives—men who would scorn to be managed by a good dinner or tame submission to all their views and opinions, and women that would scorn a man she could so manage. There is no better way of managing a husband, or anyone else with whom we are thrown in close contact, than by having a high line of right and justice marked out in your life, and living, acting, close up to it. If you are a Christian, and it is possible, always attend your church, whether he goes or not, and not as thousands of wives do, stay at home because they think it will please and humor their husbands. Do you suppose away down deep in a man's heart he will not cherish a deeper, holier love for a woman who goes bravely on living up to her highest standard of right and always doing her duty? Or do you think a man would be best managed by a wife who for the sake of pleasing him or giving him a good dinner would trample in the dust her church vows, or neglect the sick and the afflicted around her? A wife who has the greatest influence over her husband is the one who lives up to her highest conception of all that is right and noble, not only doing her duty to her husband and children, but also in every relation of life. Let duty be her watchword, and as the Bible says, "Her husband will safely trust in her." And he will consult and defer to her wishes and opinions as much, yea, even more, when her hair is turning gray and her eye is fast losing the lustre and brightness that first attracted him in manhood's early years. Yes, he will turn to her for help and counsel more and more as the years grow old, and in the evening of his life, as he calmly sits in the twilight, taking a retrospective view of the years over which he has come, he knows she has "managed" him away from many a sin and temptation, perhaps even from crime and pollution. And though she may have preceded him years to the better land, he feels and knows within his heart that she has been the instrument in the hands of Christ that will eventually "manage" him into the kingdom of God.

Led by a Child.

A few years since a man who had a family of children growing up around him professed religion and joined the church, and for a time was a consistent, earnest Christian. After a time he lost his first love, and, as one of the first results of his declension, gave up family worship. His daughter, a bright, sweet child of six Summers, said to him one day:

"Papa, is God dead?"

"No, my child," replied the father; "why do you ask such a question?"

"Because you don't talk to him like you used to do," was the naive reply.

These simple words were the means of the father's reclamation. "And a little child shall lead them."

Nothing so clearly discovers a spiritual man as his treatment of an erring brother, wishing to restore rather than to upbraid him.—Augustine.

OUR CHILDREN.

BABY'S WALK.

On a bright and a beautiful Summer's day,
Mr. Baby thought best to go walking away:
His little white sack he was well buttoned in;
And his shady hat was tied under his chin.

One hand was tight clasped in his nurse's own;
The other held fast a little white stone:
There hung by his side his new tin sword;
And thus he began his walks abroad.

He walked and he walked; and by and by
He came to the pen where the piggy wigs lie:
They rustled about in the straw in front;
And every piggy said, "Grunt, grunt, grunt."

So he walked and he walked; and what do you think?
He came to the trough where the horse was at drink:
He cried, "Go along, get up, old Spot,"
And the horse ran away with a trot, trot, trot.

So he walked and he walked; and he came at last
To the yard where the sheep were folded fast:
He cried through the crack of the fence, "Hurrah!"
And all the old sheep said, "Baa, baa, baa."

So he walked and he walked till he came to the pond,
Of which all the ducks and the ducklings are fond:
He saw them swim forward, and saw them swim back;
And all the ducks said was, "Quack, quack, quack."

So he walked and he walked; and it came to pass,
That he reached the field where the cows eat grass;
He said with a how, "Pray, how do you do?"
And all the cows answered, "Moo, moo, moo."

So he walked and he walked to the harvest ground;
And there a dozen of turkeys he found:
They were picking the grasshoppers out of the stubble;
And all the turkeys said, "Gobble, gobble, gobble."

So he walked and he walked to the snug little house
Where Towser were sleeping as still as a mouse:
Then the baby cried out, "Halloo, old Tow,"
And the dog waked up with a "Bow, wow, wow."

So he walked and he walked, till he came once more
To the sunshiny porch and the open door;
And mama looked out with a smile and said,
"It's time for my baby to go to bed."

So he drank his milk, and he ate his bread;
And he walked and he walked to his little bed;
And with sword at his side, and the stone in his hand,
He walked and he walked to the Sleepy Land.

If I Were a Girl.

BY MRS. JENNESS MILLER.

I would take care of my health by living out-doors as much as possible, and taking long walks in the sunshine. English girls understand how necessary this is for good complexions and cheerful spirits. Wear simple clothing, that you may climb mountains and breathe freely.

I would secure the best education. Go to college, by all means, if it is possible. Read good books, and thereby become intelligent.

I would cultivate cheerfulness. Discontent soon shows itself in the face. If you have some disappointments, so do others. If you are cramped for money, be thankful that your lot is no worse than it is. Learn to make the best of things. An unhappy woman is a perpetual cloud in a home. A fretful girl has few friends, and the number lessens year by year.

I would say kind things of others, especially of the girls. A girl who makes unkind remarks about other girls would better be avoided by young men. She will not make an agreeable companion for life.

I would learn how to be self-supporting. Especially in this country, where fortunes change, it is wise for a woman to be able to take care of herself. Helpless women are not a comfort to others, and usually are not to themselves.

I would try to be polite everywhere. True courtesy is more winsome than a pretty face or fine dress. Loud talk or loud dress does not betoken the lady. Be appreciative and sympathetic, and you have two keys which will unlock almost all hearts.

I would learn self-control. To know when to speak, and when to be silent; to have hateful things said about you, and be able to answer pleasantly; to have people confide in you, and be wise enough to keep it locked in your heart; to be in poverty, and not be soured by it; to meet temptation, and be strong before it; to be strong enough to perform any labor or duty which needs to be done—all this shows a noble mastery over self.

I would be punctual. Being late at meals, late at church, or late in meeting engagements, makes unnecessary friction in families. If we are willing to lose valuable time, we have no right to make others lose it. The Golden Rule, of doing unto others as we would that they should do unto us, is especially applicable here.—Selected.

God helps those that help themselves.

A Little Boy's Bravery.

I heard a good English clergyman preach not long ago, and he told an anecdote which may be useful to boys and girls in this country. He was urging young people, especially those who had professed Christ, to be true to their convictions of duty, and, among other things, never to forget or be ashamed in any company or under any circumstances, to kneel down and pray before going to their beds at night.

He said when he was a little fellow, ten years old, he was sent away to the great school of Eton, where there were six hundred boys. His mother talked to him very seriously before he left, and asked him to promise her never to neglect to say his prayers on his knees at night, no matter what the surroundings might be. And he gave her the promise.

The first night after his arrival at school he found himself in a great "dormitory" with thirty other boys, most of them older than himself, and some of them rough, coarse fellows. His heart died within him, and the tempter whispered in his ear, "You will have a hard time here if you try to pray on your knees; it will be just as well to say your prayers in bed." But he had given his promise to his mother, and he would not break it; so he knelt down by his little bed, and then the boys began to "guy" him. They threw books at his head, they gathered around him and jeered and shouted, and pulled him about, but they did not pull him off his knees.

A teacher hearing the uproar came in, and saw the little kneeling figure, and the tumultuous boys tormenting him. He reported the matter to the head master, and the next morning an order was issued that every boy must kneel in silence by his bed for five minutes every night. Whether these boys said their prayers or not, they were obliged thereafter to at least show outward respect to the religious convictions of another little boy, and to give any who knew their duty, but had not the courage to do it, the opportunity to say their prayers in peace. This is what one little boy's adherence to right and duty accomplished.—S. H. B.

"Advice" to a Boy.

In one of the large railroad offices in this country is a comparatively young man who is at the head of a large department. When he entered the service of the company, five years ago, he was green and awkward. He was given the poorest paid work in the department. The very first day of his employment by the company, a man who had been at work in the same room for six years approached him and gave him a little advice: "Young fellow, I want to put a few words in your ear that will help you. This company is a soulless corporation, that regards its employees as so many machines. It makes no difference how hard you work, or how well. So you want to do just as little as possible and retain your job. That's my advice. This is a slave pen, and the man who works overtime or does any specially fine work wastes his strength. Don't you do it."

The young man thought over the "advice," and after a quiet little struggle with himself he decided to do the best and the most he knew how, whether he received any more pay from the company or not. At the end of the year the company raised his wages, and advanced him to a more responsible position. In three years he was getting a third more salary than when he began, and in five years he was head clerk in the department; and the man who had condescended to give the greenhorn "advice" was working under him at the same figure that represented his salary eleven years before.

This is not a story of a good-goody little boy who died early, but of a live young man who exists to-day, and is ready to give "advice" to other young men just beginning to work their way into business. And here it is: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."—Youth's Companion.

The same influence that makes men good Christians will also make them good citizens.

The lowliest act of daily life becomes sublime when wrought for Christ.

From a closed door the devil turns away.

We buy lamp-chimneys by the dozen; they go on snapping and popping and flying in pieces; and we go on buying the very same chimneys year after year.

Our dealer is willing to sell us a chimney a week for every lamp we burn.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" do not break from heat; they are made of tough glass. Try them.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

STRANGE That you let new leather get old for want of Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Whether quaffed from a vessel of tin, glass or gold; There's nothing so good for the young or the old—as

Hires' Root Beer

A delicious, health-giving, thirst-satisfying beverage. A temperance drink for temperance people.

A 25c. package makes 5 gallons.

Sold and Enjoyed Everywhere.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it, I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. E. Pack, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that chill from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. I will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. E. Pack, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,
No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. Lown, Mills Building, New York.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

MARRIAGES.

WILSON–JOHNSON.—In New Zion Baptist Church, five miles west of Crystal Springs, Miss., Nov. 9, 1893, at 8 P. M., by Rev. R. D. Norsworthy, Mr. J. E. Wilson to Miss Addie Johnson.

HUDSON–EMERSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Nov. 8, 1893, by Rev. Nolan E. Harmon, Mr. Jackson L. Hudson, of Harrison county, Miss., to Miss Ada Emerson, of Long Beach, Miss.

BEAUFAIT–ANDERSON.—At the residence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Noblin, near Edwards, Miss., Nov. 7, 1893, at 7:30 A. M., by Rev. J. P. Drake, Mr. W. F. Beaufait to Miss Mattie E. Anderson.

COX–HART. In the Presbyterian Church, Rodney, Miss., Nov. 8, 1893, by Rev. John W. Crisler, of the Mississippi Conference, Mr. C. M. Cox, of McComb City, Miss., and Miss Linda Hart, of Rodney.

VEAZEY–BAILEY.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Coldwater, Miss., Nov. 9, 1893, by Rev. J. M. Huggin, Mr. E. T. Veazey and Miss Henri Bailey.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

WHITE—Dr. WILLIAM HENRY WHITE died at his residence, Brandon, Miss., Oct. 16, 1893. He was born of Hon. Thos. S. and Selina White, at Steen's Creek, Rankin county, Miss., Oct. 17, 1848.

These are the cold words of history; but neither these, the panegyrics of the press, the wail of universal sorrow of the neighbors and acquaintances, nor yet even the deep sorrow of his sore-bereft family can represent the heart throbs that his early death has caused.

A graduate of Tulane Medical College, he had brought the most active intelligence, the closest study and thorough investigation into the deep mysteries of his chosen profession, which he loved with the ardor of his strong nature, and although he had not by a half of a score of years reached the period of highest development, yet he had written his name among the very first of his State, and was the author of a number of theses that are invaluable helps to his colaborers.

Dr. White possessed pre-eminently the highest attributes of superior Christian culture and mental development; but his universal charity, the love of truth, and purity, and the magnetism of his exalted personality marked him above his fellows.

A member of the Methodist Church from childhood, loving his church, and being full of good works, strong in Christian zeal and faith, joyful in hope, cheerful and happy in life, his triumphant death has left an aroma to his church, a comfort to his family, and an object lesson to the community, the measure of whose influence will not cease or even be known until they are revealed before the great white throne.

I. V. ENOCHS.

Terry, Miss.

CHAPMAN—My darling ETTA is dead. She was the daughter of Wiley and Elizabeth Chapman; was born in Neshoba county, Miss., Jan. 9, 1875, and died at the home of her parents, near Madison station, Miss., Aug. 16, 1893, aged eighteen years five months and eleven days. She joined the Methodist Church at the age of thirteen; happily converted at the same time.

She suffered fifteen months with consumption. During her illness Bro. Norton, our pastor, visited her frequently. When asked by him, "Miss Etta, how are you enjoying religion?" she replied, "Very well." She also told him she was all right spiritually. Her sufferings were very great during the latter part of her illness; consequently she talked very little until Monday before her death, when she had the family called to her bedside, there asking all to meet her in heaven, and having a great deal more to say—especially pleading with her only and devoted brother to live a Christian life and meet her at "the beautiful gates above." Oh, what a great loss the loss of one we love so devotedly! She was an obedient daughter and affectionate sister. May God ever bless and comfort the bereaved ones!

ONE WHO LOVED HER.

Madison Station, Miss.

COKER—Mrs. SUSAN CAROLINA COKER (nee Hodge) was born in Madison county, Miss., Feb. 19, 1830; was married Jan. 26, 1859; joined the church in early life, and died in the home of her childhood Sept. 20, 1893.

The above dates describe a life of great usefulness and unselfishness. In the home, the social circle and the church her life was beautiful and fragrant. The virtues of Christian motherhood were illustrated in her life. She was the embodiment of gentleness, patience and unselfishness. Her children call her blessed, and when she left the old home the central light went out. The weary pastor delighted to rest in this Christian home and to receive words of encouragement and sympathy.

As a Christian she was consistent in daily life and helpful to the faith of others. Sister Coker leaves four children—two sons and two daughters—who are comforted with the precious thought of some sweet day overtaking mother and father in the eternal city. May the memory of the sweet mother life in the home quicken their steps toward the better land.

I. W. COOPER.

WRIGHT—Died, at his home near Ruston, Lincoln parish, La., J. C. WRIGHT, son of Thomas J. and Sallie Wright, aged nineteen years four months and thirteen days.

John had every prospect of a useful life. He had started out to serve God; he joined the church at Longstraw under Bro. Bass. In talking with his father, he told me he was satisfied John was changed. His sickness was of the worse type of typhoid fever. All was done that could be done; but God knew best—he called him home.

Weep not, dear father, mother, brother, sister, his pain is all over. Oh, how sad is such a separation, but how sweet the reunion! His body was consigned to its last resting-place in the Longstraw Cemetery in hope of the resurrection and eternal life. Sleep on, dear one, sweetly sleep, till the trump of God shall wake your slumbering dust to life and everlasting bliss.

MRS. M. A. HINTON.

CUPIT—Died, in Franklin county, Miss., on July 31, 1893, little HOUSA, son of Eli and Elisabeth A. Cupit, aged five years two months and nineteen days.

The deceased was an interesting and lovely little boy. Nothing was spared that could be done to stay the afflicting hand of a loving Providence, that doeth all things well. Weeping ones, mourn not for your departed idol. He is gone forever from this earth, but he is at home in heaven with parent, where pains and tortures will nevermore be felt. Dry your tearful eyes, and let the remembrance that our heavenly Father does all things for the best be your consolation. He who afflicts will heal your sorrows, though your loved in death is sleeping.

H. P. LEWIS.

Caseyville, Miss.

FLOYD—Died, Oct. 17, 1893, little ELLA, daughter of L. I. and M. J. Floyd, aged seven years.

Ella was a sweet child. None knew her but to love her, especially her schoolmates. She will be sadly missed in her class at Sunday-school. She joined the church last year. Her mother says she was always singing, and seemed to be as happy as a lark. Through eleven days of painful illness it was said by all who visited her that she was the most patient little sufferer and the best child to take medicine they ever saw. She wished, not long since, that she was an angel in heaven. She is one now standing at the beautiful gate waiting for papa, mama, sisters, little brothers, and her elder brother she loved so dearly. We laid her body in the churchyard, where so often her little feet had trod while in the very picture of health. Good-by, Ella, for awhile. We will meet you.

COUSIN ANA.

GOODRICH—Died, in East Baton Rouge parish, La., Aug. 29, 1893, MINTAR GOODRICH. He was the son of S. U. and M. L. Goodrich, and was born Oct. 22, 1875; joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1887. He was a patient, cross-bearing Christian for six years. He was a faithful member of the church; always could find him in the service of his Master, always cheerful and happy. Now he is missed in the prayer meeting and Sunday-school.

He died in the full triumph of faith; told all there was nothing between him and God. Could we all have the consolation of knowing we brought one to Christ, and be thanked as he thanked his dear grandfather for bringing him to Christ! His last words were: "Papa, mama, sister and friends, meet me in heaven." Then he crossed his hands and repeated as sweet a prayer as ever was heard. He died singing and praying.

A very devoted and sincere friend,

LIZZIE.

UNDERWOOD—The infant son of Mr. Walter and Mrs. Julia Underwood departed this life Oct. 9, 1893, in Patterson, La.

Farewell, sweet babe; thou art gone from us—a tender, clinging vine interwoven in fond hopes, a gentle spirit of life that flitted in and out like a sunbeam.

AUNT ANNIE U.

LILES—SANFORD E. LILES was born Jan. 4, 1892; departed this life June 10, 1893, aged one year six months and six days.

No one can tell the desolation of heart and home the death of this little one has caused.

MOTHER.

FANT—The following tribute and resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Winona Auxiliary Woman's Missionary Society to the memory of Mrs. NANNIE B. FANT, president of North Mississippi Conference W. M. Society:

We, as auxiliary to the Woman's Missionary Society, North Mississippi Conference, feel the deep loss we have sustained in the death of Sister Nannie B. Fant, our president, for though she had only just entered upon her duties as president of the society, she had not been an idle member. We see her in her home society, at our annual meetings, and for the past few years district secretary of her (Holly Springs) district, always striving to build up the missionary work. We notice, in looking over the minutes of our last annual meeting, in making her report as district secretary, these words: "I am glad to say that I have not done the work that I wanted to do, for if my zeal for the Master's glory, and my desire for the speedy coming of his kingdom did not reach higher than I, by my poor efforts, have been able to climb, I should be sorry indeed." Studying these words, we see why she, with hands already full of work, found time for this placing her desires high that she might be able to do at least a little for the spreading of Christ's kingdom. Feeling deeply the loss of such a member and sister-worker, we wish to offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That while we bow in reverence to the wise providence of him "who doeth all things well," we share with the entire Conference the loss of its president, Mrs. Nannie B. Fant.

Resolved, That we mourn with the Holly Springs Auxiliary in the loss of so valued a member.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved family our sincere condolence in their great sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication and one to family of the deceased

MRS. D. L. SWEATMAN, for Com.

BROGAN—Whereas, In the providence of God, our president, Mrs. M. L. BROGAN, has been removed from among us, and her labors on earth have ceased; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we do hereby express our sorrow in the loss of one who so faithfully labored with us for the cause of Christ.

Resolved, That our sympathy be extended to the family of our friend and sister, and our prayers shall be to the Father to comfort them in their deep affliction.

Resolved, That we appreciate the privilege of having been associated with our beloved president—one so worthy of our esteem—and may her example inspire each member of our society to labor more faithfully for the mission cause.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread on the record of our missionary society, and a copy be sent to the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the Woman's Missionary Advocate for publication.

MRS. J. F. HAMBLEN,
For Committee.

Vicksburg, Miss.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

"The charities that soothe and heal and bless,
Are scattered at the feet of men like flowers."
—Wadsworth.

Mr. P. D. D. Delacroix, Cypremort P. O., La., Nov. 30, 1888, says: "Three years ago an agent representing Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar came into my store. Being busy, was unable to give him any time. Before leaving he gave me a sample bottle of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, asking me to give it to anyone suffering with a cough or cold. Several days afterwards I caught a heavy cold. Remembering the sample, thought I would try it. Six teaspoonfuls cured me. Ordered a supply at once, and have sold it with satisfaction to all. It acts like magic on all my family, and I would not be without it. I take pleasure in recommending it at all times." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

The highest exercise of charity is charity towards the uncharitable.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH.
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teacher's Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by
D. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 37

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. Street Church.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't.
LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet
H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
PAPER HANGING, Glazing and Kalsomining.
(Estimates Given Free.)
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,426,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.06
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. R. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

The Great Church LIGHT.
FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.
A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

EMORY COLLEGE OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta. Localities Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons.
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The pen with which Grover Cleveland signed the repeal bill has been applied for by seven different commercial bodies in different parts of the country.

The first canal boat in the world to be propelled by electricity plowed through the waters of the Erie Canal on Nov. 18, and New York State added another victory to progress.

The railroad and express companies are moving upon Congress in earnest to secure legislation for their protection against train robbers, and will make strenuous efforts to secure some action in that direction at the approaching session. A bill looking to this end was introduced during the extra session, but owing to the press of other business it was not pushed.

The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee were in conference six hours, on Nov. 18, over the new tariff bill. The several sub-committees presented their reports on the various schedules which had been assigned to them, and the result showed that the tariff bill is now practically completed and only awaits the approval of the full Democratic membership.

It looks as though the Presbyterian Church in New York meant to push its war on Dr. Briggs to the bitter end. At the last meeting of the Presbytery of New York a resolution was introduced decoying to the graduates of Union Seminary the right accorded to the graduates of all theological seminaries recognized by the church, to apply for a license to preach without passing an examination before the Presbytery.

At the speed trial Saturday the new cruiser "Columbia" attained an average speed, over a course of 88 miles, of 22.81 knots per hour, and during a portion of the trial a speed as high as 25.31 knots was attained. The contract called for a speed of 22 knots, with a premium to the builders for every quarter knot in excess of that speed. It will, therefore, be seen that the "Columbia" not only fulfilled all the requirements of the contract, but has emitled her builders to a very liberal premium.

The Louisiana delegation in Congress is protesting emphatically against the apparent intention of the Ways and Means Committee to repeal the present sugar bounty, as the Louisiana members fear the repeal will be followed by the retention of sugar on the free list. Messrs. Blanchard, Boatner, and, indeed, the entire Louisiana delegation have been urging upon the Democratic members of the committee the necessity of affording protection to the sugar producers, and they openly declare they shall not support a tariff reform measure which repeals the bounty and places sugar on the free list.

FOREIGN.

Hundreds of lives have been lost during the storm in the northern part of France. Many bodies have been cast ashore in the eastern portion of France. The pier in Calais suffered badly. The lighthouse and part of the pier-head was washed away at Dieppe. At New Haven service is partly suspended.

The Brazilian revolutionists have ten first-class warships, twenty-two minor warships and 3 000 men in their fleet. They have provisions in abundance. The damage caused by the bombardment has already been enormous. Niotheroy is almost completely destroyed. The rebel fleet is anxiously awaiting Peixoto's new squadron, and is anxious to give them a battle.

Severe weather was reported from several parts of the English coast last week; the heavy storms, however, having seriously interfered with the telegraph wires, prevent full reports of the disasters from reaching shipping circles. Two hundred lives were lost, and vessels wrecked and damaged. Many houses in seaport towns were blown down and their occupants maimed or fatally injured.

The first defeat on a division which the present English ministry has sustained took place last week. It was on the amendment to the parish councils bills, moved by a prominent radical member of the House of Commons, giving women the right to vote who possess the qualifications which, if they were men, would entitle them to vote in parliamentary elections. Although the amendment was opposed by the government, it was carried with the aid of radical and Tory votes.

The strike in England has been declared off. Mr. Gladstone called a conference, in London, between the coal mine owners and the delegates of the different miners' associations, which met on Nov. 17 under the presidency of the Earl of Rosebery. It resulted in an amicable adjustment of the long-standing trouble. A board of conciliation will be established, consisting of an equal number of coal mine owners and coal miners, who shall have power to determine, from time to time, the rate of wages of the miners from February, 1894. It was also agreed that the men should resume work at the old wages until Feb. 1.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be persuaded to take any other. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which possesses peculiar curative power.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness, jaundice, indigestion, sick headache.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. J. N. Tucker, P. C., Learned, Miss., Nov. 3: "Our last Quarterly Conference was held at Bear Creek, Oct. 28 and 29. Our presiding elder, Bro. D. A. Little, was with us, and preached greatly to the edification of his hearers. Notwithstanding the financial stringency of the times, the writer was able to report every assessment ordered by the Annual Conference in full. I never served a more willing people to do their duty than these."

Rev. W. J Porter, P. C., Opelousas district, La., Oct. 28: "Closed a glorious meeting last week at old Plaquemine Brulee. There was not a penitent left at the altar. Ministerial aid: Bros. C. R Montgomery, of Washington; T. S. Randle and sons, Ross and Robert, of Opelousas; and W. W. Drake, of Crowley. Results: Twenty-three added to the church, thirty-five conversions, the church revived, and many seeking after perfect love. Praise the Lord!"

Rev. W. B. Lewis, Natchez, Miss., Nov. 14: "Our meeting at Jefferson Street Church, Natchez, Miss., closed Friday morning, Nov. 10. We were assisted by Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of Athens, Ala., and Dr. J. W. Price, of Water Valley, Miss. Bro. McIntosh did most of the preaching, and Dr. Price led the singing and did some of the preaching. Both these men of God left us Friday afternoon, and carried with them the confidence and love of our church and community. No tongue can tell the good that has been done among us by this meeting. The Lord gave us a great victory after a hard struggle with the adversary, and with the difficulties of his creation. The visible results may be approximated. In addition to a general and genuine revival of religion in the church, there were more than one hundred who professed to be converted. Over sixty signified their intention of joining the church of their choice. Twenty-nine of these were received by me last Sunday, together with three by letter, and nine applications are yet pending for my church."

REVIVAL NOTES FROM MERIDIAN DISTRICT.

Chunkey circuit, Sageville Church, L. P. Meador, P. C.: 1 accession, 5 conversions, 3 sanctifications.

Only three pastoral charges in this district have been without five revivals this year, and in two of these there have been good meetings, resulting in a few accessions.

A few charges will report a decrease in number, resulting from a revision of registers. But over the whole district there will be a decided increase.

On Linwood circuit, H. W. Van Hook, P. C., and on North Kemper, W. J. Ferguson, P. C., building committees were appointed at the fourth Quarterly Conference; and each of these young brethren expect to report three new houses of worship. Waynesboro and State Line, J. V. Penn, P. C., will report two new churches and a neat parsonage.

T. L. MELLEN, P. E.

For Dyspepsia and Nervousness
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. ANGELO FEATORAZZI, Mobile, Ala., says: "It affords me extreme pleasure to be able to announce to the public, that in my hands Horsford's Acid Phosphate brings about results that it claims. It is excellent to the taste, promotes digestion, quiets and restores to healthful vigor the nervous system in such a happy manner, that for dyspepsia, wakefulness and nervousness I know nothing that may be claimed its equal."

It is reported from Rio de Janeiro that Admiral de Mello, the chief of the insurgent forces now operating in the Bay of Rio de Janeiro, has proclaimed Prince Pedro di Alcantara, grandson of the late Emperor Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil. Prince Pedro is the eldest son of the Princess Isabella, heiress of Dom Pedro, and the Conde D'Eu, a prince of the Orleans family.

Indigestion. Dizziness. Take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Bro. Van Valkenburgh informs us that he has engaged a store at No. 9 Chartres street (near Canal), and straight across from Camp street. He expects to be there ready for his friends and customers Oct. 2, with a full supply of school books and stationery. Besides, his regular line of Bibles and good literature, generally, will be on hand.

Appalling Loss of Life.

The Brazilian rebels in the harbor of Rio Janeiro, who are using the navy against the loyal troops on shore, caused immense loss of life last week. Noting the approach of a steamer loaded with loyalist reinforcements, a rebel warship rammed the former and caused the death of several hundreds. Some place the dreadful figures at 1,000 or 1,300. It is the soldier's aim to disable his opponent, but such pitiless human destruction is enough to make even a warrior shudder. From Santander, on the Bay of Biscay, northern Spain, we hear of still more appalling death. A steamer arrived in that port laden with five hundred packages of dynamite. Her captain reported only twenty packages, intending to smuggle ashore the remaining 480. The steamer took fire during the government examination, and while crowds were idly observing the custom-house proceedings. The fire attracted still more spectators, and when the docks were crowded the dynamite exploded with terrible results. It is said that about one hundred vessels were wrecked, as many buildings were destroyed, and, at least, a thousand lives were lost. The offending steamer with two others was crushed into fragments, some of which were buried to the middle of Santander. The officers and crew of the smuggler were literally annihilated, not a trace of them being found. This fate is scarcely worse than their punishment would have been, since unrecorded dynamite is outlawed because of its use by anarchists. It will be remembered that an attempt was made recently by socialists to murder prominent Spanish officials, and that the conspirator was shot for his crime. The adrift of that vessel's captain was short to a horrible degree. This tragedy is, perhaps, more appalling than the one at Rio Janeiro since the loss of life was not in the presence of war. Some wholesale calamities stir the world more than formerly, for the reason that we receive more details of like butcheries in modern times. To add to the horror at Santander the city took fire, and was half consumed. If violation of law were always avenged as summarily, few offenders would be indulged by politicians who want the votes of criminals' friends.—Northwestern Advocate.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly. If you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

Forty-five cases of yellow fever were under treatment in Brunswick, Ga., on Nov 18.

THE JUDGES Of the WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION Have made the

HIGHEST AWARDS
(Medals and Diplomas) to
WALTER BAKER & CO.
On each of the following named articles:

BREAKFAST COCOA, ...
Premium No. 1, Chocolate, . .
Vanilla Chocolate, ...
German Sweet Chocolate, . .
Cocoa Butter. . . . .

For "purity of material," "excellent flavor," and "uniform even composition."

WALTER BAKER & CO., DORCHESTER, MASS.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
184 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

PENSIONS.

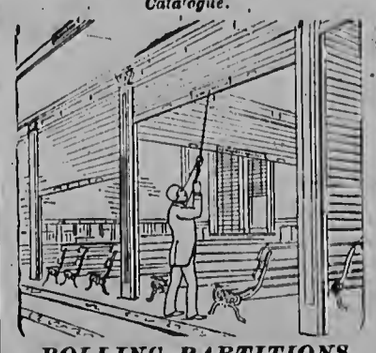
BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNment Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is slow, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free. Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailment in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for service rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address
THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY,
Box 167, Washington, D. C.

James G. Wilson,
Patentee and Manufacturer,
74 West 23d St., New York.
Send 3 two-cent stamps for Illustrated Catalogue.



ROLLING PARTITIONS
for dividing Churches and Schools. Sound-proof and air-tight. In various kinds of wood. 500 Churches of various denominations are using them.

Venetian Blinds in All Woods.

"Sweet Charity."

The programme of The Youth's Companion for 1894 is brighter than ever. In addition to the literary part offered, the publishers present to all new and renewing subscribers an exquisite picture in colors, reproduced from one of the American Academy of Design paintings. It is called "Sweet Charity," a charming young woman of colonial times on an errand of mercy. Its beauty must be seen to be appreciated.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Covington, at C. (Fri. and Sun. night)..	Nov. 17, 19
Tallebeck, at Fitzgerald.....(morn.)..	18, 19
E. Pearl, at Byrd's Chapel*.....	18, 19
Purvis, at Purvis (Mon., 4 and 7 P. M.)..	20
Hattiesburg.....(Wed.)..	22
Augusta, at Isabella.....(Thurs.)..	23
Eastabuchie, at Eastabuchie.....	25, 26
Heidelberg, at Liberty*.....	25, 27
Ellisville, Ellisville, (Tu., 2 and 7 P. M.).	28

At charges marked (*) I will try to secure help for the Sunday appointment. As in God's sight, let all do their duty in winding up the work of the year. The burden of a deficit will be more easily borne by several hundred than by a few.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Holmesville and Topisaw, at H.....Nov.	17
China Grove, at China Grove.....	18, 19
Gallman, at Gallman.....	25
Pleasant Grove, at Wellman.....	25, 26
Providence.....	30
Hazlehurst .....(night)..	30
Beauregard, at Beauregard.....Dec.	2, 3
Wesson	3, 5

R. A. WOODWARD, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meadville, at Meadville.....Nov.	18, 19
Mayersville.....	25, 26
Rocky Springs, at Cayuga.....(Fri.)..Dec.	1
Hermanville	2, 3
Port Gibson.....(Tues.).....	5

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pocahontas, at Pocahontas....(Sat.)..Nov.	18
Jackson—First Church.....	18
Jackson—Capitol Street.....	19
Flora .....(Wed.)..	22
Benton, at Midway.....	25, 26
Tranquil, at Zeigler'ville.....	26, 27
Canton .....Dec	2, 3

Trustees of church property will have their reports ready. Stewards are earnestly exhorted to diligence, that all financial obligations may be fully met.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Montrose, at Montrose.....Nov.	16
Raleigh, at Raleigh.....	18, 18
Shiloh, at Cato.....	24
Marvin, at Wesleyana.....	25, 26
Westville, at Goshen.....	28
Homewood, at Zion Grove.....Dec.	2, 3

C. McDONALD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

St. Helena, at Center.....Nov.	18 19
E Feliciana, at Gilead.....	25, 25
Springfield, at Wesley Chapel.....	26
Franklinton, at Fisher's.....Dec.	2, 3
Amite City, at Amite City.....	3, 4

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Greina.....(Thurs.)..Nov.	16
Baton Rouge.....	19
Parker Chapel.....(Tues.)..	21
Moreau.....(Thurs.)..	23
Grand Teche, at Harmony.....	26
Dryades .....(Tues.)..	28
Lower Coast.....(Thurs.)..	30
Algiers.....(Sun. morning)..Dec.	3
Crane.....(Sun. evening)..	3
Louisiana Avenue.....(Mon.)..	4
Carondelet.....(Tues.)..	5
Felicity.....(Thurs.)..	7
Rayne Memorial.....(Fri.)..	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground..Nov.	18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce.....	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport.....Dec.	2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville.....	9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards be stir themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Minden, at Minden.....Nov.	18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall.....	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps.....Dec.	2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	3, 10
Ruston station.....	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia.....	13

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Victoria mission, at Victoria.....Nov.	18, 18
Cane River, at Provencal.....	19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh.....	21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove.....	23, 24
Many, at many.....	25, 26
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup.....	26, 27
Natchitoches station.....Dec.	2, 3
Mansfield station.....	9, 10

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.

629 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lapine, at Frantoms C.....Nov.	18, 18
Lake Providence.....	25, 25
Waterproof.....Dec.	2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd.....	8, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. ROBERT H. WYNN.

Epworth League and Development of the Individual.

The scheme provides three departments, correlated, yet distinct, designed to "promote personal piety, works of grace and charity, and intelligent loyalty to our church."

The Department of Christian Effort has its goal in the obtainment of the image of God and all the mind that was in Jesus. The scope of this department is indicated by the meaning of salvation, beginning at conversion and ending at maturity in Christ. The design of this department is spiritual; its completed work is the perfect love of God, begotten and established in the soul.

The Department of Charity and Help, through works of grace and charity, brings one into fellowship with Christ in the work of redemption. It is the expression in social relations of that love for all the redeemed that is implanted in everyone born of the Redeemer. Its work is the relief of suffering, the binding up of the broken heart, the proclaiming liberty to the captive, the opening of the prison to them that are bound. As far as human need goes, as deep as human sympathy and help can reach into the abyss of sin and woe—so far does this band of charity and help reach.

The members of the Oxford Holy Club, visiting prisons and alms-houses, and giving all their goods to feed the poor, indicate the true direction of the social instincts and affections of redeemed and restored souls. True religion and undefiled is to visit the widow and the fatherless in their affliction.

When we exalt experience at the expense of doctrine we are in danger of becoming fanatical errorists, at the mercy of every delusion of the devil. When we exalt works of charity and help we run to the opposite extreme of pharisaic legalism. The mystic on the one hand, and the ascetic on the other, are the perverse products of any system that belittles intellectual culture. God reaches our hearts through our heads; and when he casts out the unclean spirit by the power of grace, the same unclean spirit, attempting to go back into his house whence he came out, knocks at the door of reason, where his best chance of entering lies, since the heart is renewed and purified. The delusions arising from ignorance are best provided against by our Department of Literary Work. Intellectual cultivation can no more safely be dispensed with than heart culture. Head truth and heart truth are the same thing differently conceived; in the one case thought, in the other felt. What a man believes counts enormously in what he does, feels, and finally is. What he believes depends largely upon what he knows. Knowing is first a matter of intellectual education. Rational life begins in ideas. Soul life is conditioned by ideas, as well as by moral sentiments; for it is rational life as well as affectional. An intelligent conception of truth commands all one's powers to the concrete realization of truth. A feeble grasp of truth may be accompanied by wonderings, questionings, aspirations, excellent desires, but never by vigor and eminent success in action.

A true and constant enthusiasm is dependent upon information. Without this food the strongest spirit languishes, without this fuel the most ardent zeal cools. One of the greatest needs of our church members is knowledge of what their church really is—to understand what are its distinctives and differences—to get into intelligent sympathy with its historical development—to feel the heart kindlings and to gain the inspiration of kinship with those lofty spirits that have made Methodist greatness—to make us look up for the falling mantle of our translated prophet, and seek a double portion of his spirit that it may be said: "The spirit of Wesley rests upon the Methodists." It is knowledge of what Methodism really is that we need to endue strength and homogeneity and perseverance among our converts.

While the less obvious needs less to be spoken of, and though one can not at any time, especially in a newspaper article, say all that admits of being said upon any subject, it would be a great error to leave it unsaid that systematic Bible study is the most important part of the work of this department. But this is already the main work of the Sunday-school, and needs in this day little advocacy among intelligent people. The Bible is the bread upon which we feed our souls. But God's Word comes to us as literature. To understand that Word should engage the best powers of every mind. The finest mental discipline—the school and gymnasium in which many of the giant minds of the early days were trained—is the effort of the human intellect to grasp, define, and formulate the truths taught in God's book. Thus the mind of man, in all its limitations, comes into touch with the infinite mind of the Holy Spirit.

The following scheme exhibits the full adaptation of the League departments to the full-orbed development of the individual:

Department.	Work.	Purpose.	Nature.
I. Christian Effort	Personal Piety	Christlikeness	Spiritual
II. Charity and Help	Fellowship with Christ	Beneficence	Social
III. Literary Work	Study, Meditation	Culture	Intellectual

The effective success of the League work will depend upon the faithful carrying out of the whole scheme. Its departments are necessary each to the others, and essential to the well-rounded development of the young people of the church, for whom it has been so wisely planned; so wisely, indeed, that we think we can discern clearly the guiding hand of One wiser than our wisest, and who knows what is in men.

FITZGERALD SALE PARKER.

ITCHING HUMORS

For rising, disfiguring eczemas, and every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp diseases, with dry, thin, and falling hair, are relieved in most cases by a single application, and speedily and economically cured by the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies, when the best physicians fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every humor, eruption, and disease from pimples to scrofula. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

FREE FROM RHEUMATISM.

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. The first and only pain-killing strengthening plaster.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. H. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO., CINCINNATI, O.

$1.50 AMERICAN WATCH

$1.50 will now buy a reliable AMERICAN WATCH in stem-wind GOLD PLATED Dust Proof Case. Will not vary a minute in 30 days! Is as durable as any watch made. FULLY GUARANTEED. (Publishers of this paper will tell you we are reliable.) It has AMERICAN patent lever MOVEMENT, Patent Escapement and Regulator, Lantern Pinions, 240 beats to minute. No key to wind or set; weight 4 oz.; exactly like cut. Postpaid for $1.50; 3 for $4.00, 12 for $15.00, by express. Stemless pendant and we will include handsome gold plated CHAIN. CHARM, AGENTS' Stockkeepers send for TERMS. Catalogue of 1000 ns. FREE.

ROBERT H. INGERSOLL & BRO.
Room 2, 65 Cortlandt St., New York City.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC FREE
For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS
Address, The Echo Music Co., LaFayette, Ind.

XMAS DIALOGUES, Pieces to Speak and how to get up Fascinating Sunday School Entertainment—all 10c. SKIDMORE & CO., 85 John St., N. Y.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,
LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets, Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright. Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

118 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

HOPKINS'
PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM.
The only practicable way to reach
CATARRH
thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail.
DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO.,
DALTON, GA.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 48. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1945.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

YOUR MISSION.

If you can not on the ocean
Sail among the swiftest fleet,
Rocking on the highest billows,
Laughing at the storms you meet,
You can stand among the sailors,
Anchored yet within the bay,
You can lend a hand to help them,
As they launch their boats away.

If you are too weak to journey
Up the mountain steep and high,
You can stand within the valley
While the multitudes go by,
You can chant in happy measure,
As they slowly pass along,
Tho' they may forget the singer,
They will not forget the song.

If you have not gold and silver
Ever ready to command,
If you can not toward the needy
Reach an ever-open hand;
You can visit the afflicted,
O'er the erring you can weep,
You can be a true disciple,
Sitting at the Savior's feet.

If you can not in the conflict
Prove yourself a soldier true,
If, where fire and smoke are thickest,
There's no work for you to do,
When the battlefield is silent,
You can go with careful tread,
You can bear away the wounded,
You can cover up the dead.

Do not, then, stand idly waiting
For some greater work to do;
Fortune is a lazy goddess,
She will never come to you.
Go and toil in any vineyard,
Do not fear to do or dare;
If you want a field of labor,
You can find it anywhere.

—Selected.

Y. M. C. A. in Millsaps College.

At the opening of Millsaps College in the Fall of 1892 the president and faculty of the college were not unmindful of the moral and spiritual interests of the young men committed to their care. Accordingly they at once made provision for the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association. The committee appointed by the president went to work, and with the hearty co-operation and sympathy of the faculty soon had an association formed and in good working order. For the most part, the young men were inexperienced in this kind of work, but with great determination they went to work holding weekly business meetings, and afternoon meetings on Sundays for prayer, and an occasional lecture by some friend of the college.

In the early part of the Fall term the International Committee of the Intercollegiate Department of the Y. M. C. A. having learned of the establishment of a new college, sent Messrs. Anderson and Willis, and later Mr. Brockman, to strengthen the organization and advise the young men in regard to conducting the work in the most systematic and effective way. The visits of these earnest Christian gentlemen infused new interest and new life into the association, and impressed upon the members the magnitude of the movement and the extent of its usefulness.

Prompted by the desire of getting in close touch and sympathy with the association work, a delegate was sent to the Deputation Conference that met at Knoxville, Tenn., early in the month of April. This delegate returned, and went heartily to work to put into practical utility the valuable suggestions received.

Two delegates were sent to the convention of the State organization at the University of Mississippi the last of April. These came back filled with a zeal and determination to push the work and make it a powerful moral force in the college.

Again, it was resolved to have a representative at the Lake Geneva Students' Conference, embracing the latter part of June and the early part of July. This Students' Conference movement is the development of an idea conceived by Mr. Moody, the evangelist together with Mr. Wishard, one of the college secretaries of the Y. M. C. A.

From the first gathering of students from different parts of the country for the purpose of studying the Bible and the best methods of doing Christian work among college students, the movement has grown rapidly into favor with college men all over the world. Presidents of universities, professors and students, among the most intelligent and pious men of every land that has been touched by association work, meet in conference, where each may give to other the benefit of his experience in Bible study and Christian work. These conferences are a most powerful agency for preparing men to do active, faithful Christian work among college students. Non-sectarian in character they unite young men of every evangelical faith in one common cause of right against wrong.

The opening of the session of 1893-4 found the leaders of the Millsaps College Association with the advantage of a bit of experience, and with more mature ideas concerning the work. The association came to be looked upon as being a permanent factor in the institution. The membership roll increased from forty-five to over sixty.

While work among the college students has been the objective point, yet the duty of young Christians to the heathen world has not been overlooked. There is a Missionary Department of the association, the object of which is to supply the students with literature and general information on the subject of missions. Already several young men have expressed a willingness to be heralds of the gospel to those who have it not.

For several weeks beforehand the workers looked forward to the week of prayer which should begin Nov. 12. Special prayer services were held with one purpose in view: that the week of prayer might result in the moral and spiritual uplifting of the students.

On Nov. 10 Mr. Brockman visited the college and remained three days. During this time he did very effective work in the way of instructing committees, lecturing, and appealing to the young men in his amiable manner to seek a higher and nobler life.

With the assistance of Dr. Murrah and Prof. Black, the services were continued through the week. The result has been very gratifying. Several young men have been thoroughly reformed, and have entered upon a new life. The students at the several boarding-houses assemble at night for prayer. Quite a number who have hitherto been indifferent about their religious duties have pledged themselves to do better, and have gone into active work. Greater blessings are expected.

J. A. MOORE.

Love-Labor for Christ.

BY REV. THEODORE L. CUYLER.

The facetious Sydney Smith had two yoke of oxen on his little farm in Yorkshire, to which he gave the names of "Tug" and "Lug," "Haul" and "Crawl." These would be appropriate names for a large class of church members who put no heart into their Christian work. It is mere tug and toil and task to them. They get no spiritual satisfaction, and their labors yield no results.

There is but one way to become a thorough, happy, and effective Christian. Whether you are a pastor, with large flock and salary, or small; whether you are a Sabbath-school teacher, or a missionary visitor, or a philanthropist pushing an uphill reform, or a parent guarding and guiding the home flock, you will get no good, and do no good, unless you serve Christ heartily. A Christian who sincerely loves Jesus will love to labor for him. We pastors soon come to know the difference between the perfunctory people who "work at a stint," and those who put their whole souls into it. This latter class never have to be bribed to church or coaxed to labor. They are always abounding in the work of the Lord, because the Lord dwells abundantly in their hearts. On Sunday mornings they never consult either barometer or thermometer. If the minister is there and the Master is there, they want to be there also to receive their weekly food, and to offer their sacrifice of praise. On the evenings of prayer meeting, "rain or shine," however tired the body or brain may be, the heart is fresh and eager for an interview with their Master. The coming in of a neighbor to talk about business or politics or stocks or gossip, does not keep them at home. They can not afford to miss that hour with Christ any more than the church can afford to have them absent. Into the meeting they put their whole souls, making a business of it and a delight. No leader needs to call on them to offer prayer; there is a prayer in their hearts that can not be suppressed; they have favors to thank God for, and favors to ask from God, and they can not carry the burthen away with them. Such Christians are the life of a meeting. Instead of boring the company with a sort of devout drivel, they have something to say, and they say it. On the days set apart for contributions to missions and to the Board of Ministerial Relief, and other schemes of benevolence, these Great Hearts and Ready Minds and Lydias do not require the forcing-pump of a charity sermon. Their purses run spontaneously, like a mountain brook from an inexhaustible spring. In the Sunday-school classes of such enthusiastic, wide-awake teachers we may look for conversions. Scholars seldom set a high value on the religion which either teachers or parents hold cheaply.

Now, all this style of love-labor for Jesus Christ is full of spiritual power and full of enjoyment. It is none the less enjoyable, because it demands some privations and sacrifices and self-denials; or because it provokes some silly censures and head-winds of unpopularity; or because it requires an old coat to be worn a little longer, or an attractive book to remain unbought, or some household comfort to be dispensed with. It is a good sign of health when a Christian relishes some of the severities of duty. Those apostolic Christians—shame on us that we so little resemble them—"took joyfully the despoiling of their goods;" they gloried in tribulations for Jesus' sake. The man or woman who engages in Christ's service with this spirit lives in the sunshine of peace and joy. He or she knows no more about ague fits of skepticism, or the gloom of spiritual dyspepsia, or the pangs of rheumatism in the heart, than he knows about the Egyptian plague or Syrian leprosy. This is the sort of work that pays. A pastor in Auburn said to me recently, "I have never set my heart on a non-church-going family of outsiders without getting them sooner or later into the church." The chief thing that is necessary to make the visitation schemes of the "Evangelical Alliance" a success is to carry a kind word on the tongue, sunshine in the face, and Jesus Christ in the heart, into every dwelling that is entered. The chief baptism that we all need to-day—pastors, teachers, evangelists, parents, and workers in all lines of effort—is a fresh inpouring of love, of love to the crucified Savior, and of unselfish love for the souls that he died to redeem. This will bring a revival into every church and every heart.

The Christianity for Our Day.

Time can not alter the standard that Christ has set up. Many who read the old, but ever new, story think that the road to Calvary would have been an easy thing with such a leader. In fancy they linger by the sweet waters of Galilee, hear the divine words of his wisdom, drink in the inspiration of his presence, and think how gladly they would have laid down the tangled nets of daily work as though it were an easy task to follow him.

But they forget how time has fashioned that divine story; forget how history tells too little of how that life appeared to those who watched it; forget that the manger was not exalted then, but the same wood and the same manger as others of its time; forget that the straw was plain straw; forget that the Virgin Mother was a plain peasant girl on whom the neighbors looked askance, and with whose name gossips were strangely free. They forget that a carpenter was in those days a lowly personage, and that when the Christ-man announced his divine mission to a jeering world, it was as a peripatetic preacher.

There was no halo of conscious divinity wrapped about him then that made the people wonder. These facts we have overlooked. Around him and his disciples there was no illuminating light that men then knew of—no glory. It was from the common people he came and to the common people he spoke. And they heard gladly, for that which is immortal always will be immortal, and needs no extraneous aid to announce and maintain its sovereignty. Christianity was sown in the valley and harvested in the uplands. The arena, the faggot, the torture chamber were the Christians' reward then; in these days it is an added value and station in life, with a certain eulogy when dead. It is in these days regarded as a good investment and a convenient investment for happiness in this life, with a freehold of happiness in the life to come.

Christianity, I believe, means to face the questions of the day as Christ did. Descend the marble steps of your great churches and go down into the market-place. Stand there for once face to face with human beings. Come out from the world of fashionable Christianity; see the wan and pallid faces of factory girls pinched in the poorly paid service of some pillar of the church. See the backs bending under the burden of unrequited toil; come down and see the life that is, and in all its changing phases assume the attitude that Christ would have done in the same circumstances. That alone is Christianity.

How do you suppose Christ would view the prevailing social distinctions? How if he could come now into the streets of Piccadilly, walled in by its white palaces, and then across into the Whitechapel district? I can think of him watching here in Chicago the long lines of carriages with their occupants, as in our land frittering away the hours of all the long day to obtain the flimsy greeting of some favorite of fashion. How would Christ look at the big banquets supplied by unpaid labor? How, standing in the aisles of fashionable churches and seeing those there who believe they have done the civil thing to heaven in exhibiting for a brief hour their dressmakers' triumphs there? How, if from there he might wander into one street in Whitechapel district, where there are forty saloons in the space of one-fourth of a mile, and where all day on their dirty windows are the moving shadows of thinly-clad women with babies on their arms? Yet such things exist and are ignored by the Christian people of to-day. If it were not so, where would be the women walking the stony streets of shame?

If Christianity were what it should be, necessary evil would be a term unknown. To hearts ripened in the sunshine of God there is a reaching out for everything that can better the condition of all. In living they make the world better to live in even for those who may come after. But above all the jangling discord comes the message like a refrain of music, "He who loses his life for me shall find it." Not in the opal clouds pictured as the stairs leading up to the life to come, not beyond the dome of blue, but here on earth, in the laughter of children and the sounds of human happiness.—Lady Henry Somerset, in the Art Institute, Chicago.

Religion and Business.

There are several ways of carrying religion into business to the mutual advantage of both.

In the first place, one who makes any claim to being actuated in his conduct by motives from above is to have no business which is not honest, and on which God can not smile. Young men who stand on the threshold of active life are to think of this, and ask themselves, in view of each opening presented, whether, if they walk in that path, they are going to find it easy to keep all the time inside the white line of moral rectitude. There are occupations into which one can not carry religious principle, for the reason that these occupations are directly antagonistic to religious principle. How is a man to carry religious principle into the management of a liquor saloon? Into the renting of buildings for immoral purposes? Into schemes whose sole purpose is to fleece honest people out of their hard-earned gains?

In the second place, one is to conduct all business on the basis of a sound Christian morality. It is not honest to misrepresent goods, either as to their quality or amount. It is not honest to adulterate goods. It is not honest to hold back the truth, or to shade the truth over into a lie, in attempts to sell goods, or to carry on any sort of financial transactions. Just at the point where ambition, or rivalry, or competition, would lead a man into deception or falsehood in order to carry his ends, he must stop short. "What, stop and lose an important sale?" Yes, stop and lose an important sale—no matter how important. "Stop where other dealers, or tradesmen, or manufacturers, are pursuing the forbidden policy with apparent success?" Yes, stop short, though everybody else on the face of the earth is going wrong. It is a part of our abiding faith that honesty is the best policy; but whether it be so or not, no man can afford to be dishonest. It is better to have a magnificent character than to have a magnificent fortune. It is better to be right with God than to be shrewd in the estimation of men. It is better to have treasure in heaven than to have whole blocks of stores and houses here on earth won by tricks and frauds.

In the third place, one is to keep his business in due subordination to the interests of his soul, and till the soil, or make articles of one sort and another, or buy and sell with the thought more or less distinctly in mind of glorifying God. This is possible. It is possible to put into one's coming and going—into one's doing—a glow of reverence for God, and to make it evident in every transaction that one is trying to be obedient to the divine will. Men may be strictly honest—true in speech and all that—and yet be worldly. How often one hears the remark that business is business. Very true. But business may be more than business—it may be a means of grace. It may be and ought to be a school in which the soul grows in gratitude, in patience, in faith, in love, and in all the qualities through which a soul comes into fitness to fellowship now and evermore with the Lord Jesus Christ. It is a pitiable sight to see a man hard and cold in his business life, as though this were a great section of his existence in which there is no possibility of cultivating religious principle and having the grace of God. It is a refreshing sight to see a man living in the world and doing with his might what his hand finds to do, and yet doing all in this spirit of loyalty to the Master.—Advance.

Putting in the Heart.

Ruskin has very finely said that men are not sent into the world to do anything into which they can not put their hearts. Putting heart into work means, of course, to do work earnestly and with a will—heartily. It seems to us that this quality of heartiness is what makes all the difference between poor work and useful work, between what is real and true and what is hollow and superficial in the purposes and deeds of men. To put one's heart into anything means to put one's self into it, and when was ever anything noble, or great, or useful in the highest or the lowest degree, performed in this world, that did not involve the putting in of self? The famous saying of one of the old masters, that he mixed his paint with brains, is but another way of expressing a great general truth, applicable to all master work, whether it be in painting a canvas, or writing a poem, or building a house. It must be done with a mixing of brains, or with what is the same thing, a mixing of heart, a mixing of self. The average man, to say the least, is not a very strong or a very wise or great being. Measured by the standard of the Infinite, his noblest endeavors seem weak and puny beyond comparison. Measured by the standard of Nature's handiwork, the results of his skill and craftiness are insignificant.

How, then, can a man do less than put forth the best there is in him, since even that falls far short of perfection? And this always and everywhere, whether the thing to be done calls for the exercise of brains or hands, whether it is carving a statue or digging a ditch. Heart, heart, heart, is what is needed for the world's work of every kind, for such as is called great, and such as is termed menial. And most of all, it is needed for spiritual work, for the saving of sinners, for the regeneration of men. Want of heart here means failure from the beginning, utter failure and disaster. The sermon, the prayer, the exhortation, the spiritual counsel, the teaching, that does not have heart in it, is devoid of the very thing that carries the sermon, the exhortation, the counsel to the consciences and souls of men. Without it they are but husks, empty, dry, and worthless. Words of counsel that do not come from the heart are like arrows made of pith; however finely formed and beautifully finished, they fail to carry to the mark; they have no weight, no momentum. It is impossible to deceive in these things. A man may succeed very well in some kinds of mechanical work, even though it is done in a listless, careless, indifferent manner; but when it comes to working for God, to soul-saving, there can be no success without the merging of the whole being in the work, the putting in of self. He who seeks to reach the hearts of men must use his own heart in the seeking. There is no talisman like it, nothing that so draws and wins and overcomes. Eloquence alone can not do it; pathos and even tears can not do it; there must be heart power, which here means spiritual power, the power of God.—Christian at Work.

Don't Be a Gloomy Christian.

First, because we have too many of that sort now. Numbers of the disciples are shady, not sunny; have more of November in their countenance than June. They do not seem happy as Christians, and probably are not. Let there not be added even more to this number.

Second, because there is everything to make you a lively, animated, cheerful Christian. You trust you are forgiven and accepted in the Beloved, which is the greatest blessing Infinite Love could bestow upon you; and that blessed fact should shed a higher gleam of gladness over all your days of prosperity, and chase away all the gloom of the trials of life. With such a Savior as you have to love and enjoy, such a home in prospect above, such a Comforter as the Holy Ghost, such traveling companions toward heaven as God's saints, and such employment as that of leading others to reach the world of light, it is a shame to hang one's harp on the willows.

Third, gloomy disciples misrepresent religion. A gloomy sinner fairly represents the master he serves and the side he has chosen. But a gloomy Christian makes people think religion is a gloomy affair, and leads them to believe that they shall have to be gloomy, too, if they become religious, which is false. He is a proper interpreter of the Christian faith who rejoices in the Lord, and whose joy would not be more than is meet if it should become a "joy unspeakable, and full of glory."

Fourth, gloomy disciples can do very little good. Sinners are not fond of their company; are likely to avoid it. Besides, the gloom of such a mind saps the sinews of all exertions for the good of others. How can such a disciple maintain a cheerful and lively and animated conversation about the glorious things of the kingdom of God, thereby bringing up the souls of sinners to enter into the joy of the Lord? The gloom of the soul implies that all sin there has not gone out, and of course the lips are sealed, and usefulness is out of the question.

Therefore, let the gloom find its victim where it can, but let every Christian feel that he is born to be the happiest person in the community where he lives; is sacredly bound to be a specimen of the hallowed joyfulness true religion is capable of producing; is bound to let the observing world know that God does "make Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy;" is bound to make it appear that redeeming love can give such substantial joy as can not be produced by all that is loved and sought by the followers of the world.—Boston Bee.

Learning to Howl.

It is an old Spanish proverb, we believe, "He who lives with wolves will soon learn to howl." He who lives with the faults of his friends, and counts them over and sorts them and weighs them and measures them, will soon have equally grave ones of his own, which his friends will be sure to see, and which will make him positively unable to cure them. There is nothing that so deteriorates character as this undue looking after faults and blemishes in others while we are blind to our own. We may abhor meanness and stinginess in our neighbor, and be able to give a hundred reasons why he should give away more in charity and see a thousand little things which indicate his smallness of soul, and at the same time we may be so engrossed with one phase of meanness in him as to forget another phase of meanness in ourselves. We may abhor untruth so vehemently in some one else that we shall forget to hate impurity in ourselves. We may despise our neighbor for his sharpness and trickery, and spread over our own slackness and idleness and shiftlessness the coverlet of, "Thank God, I'm not a sharper!" The idle, thriftless man can never reform the over-shrewd speculator; the impure man can never lift the untruthful man out of the bog; the gossip is not fit to cure the miser of his selfishness. There is only one way, after all, to reform the world; not by learning to howl at its faults, or to bark at its mistakes, but first to begin the work of reformation with ourselves. We come back inevitably to the old truth so often before stated, "In order to make the best of others, we must first make the best of ourselves."—Exchange.

JOY IN HEAVEN.*

A DREAM-VISION.

BY REV. JAMES EDWARD WRAY.

[The following is from the pen of Rev. J. E. Wray, of the South Georgia Conference. Although quite young, Bro. Wray has written a good deal for the literary magazines as well as for our own church papers.

I.

Ho! there was joy in heaven,
Where joy is not a dream,
While lovely smile of even
One fair and fain did seem—
Passed portal oak and olden,
Bowed at the altar's bar,
Dishevelled hair of golden,
Ah, the fallen star!

II.

Ho! there was joy in heaven,
Oh, joy—the joy of God!
And passed the choral steven
A radiant period—
They wot not any weather
(All awed those choristers),
The stars that sang together
In the music of the spheres!

III.

Ho! there was joy in heaven,
No angel's note of light,
Joyance of sin forgiven
Twilled with sound and sight,
Who sing in viol voices,
Who ring the bosom's lute!
THE GON OF LOVE REJOICES,
Melody is mute!

IV.

Ho! there was joy in heaven,
Tho' star and sun are o'er,
His joy her soul to leaven,
And love not sin no more,
Past portal oak and olden,
Haloed at altar's bar,
For aye, the hair of golden,
Ah, the fallen star!

V.

Ho! there was joy in heaven,
Oh, joy—the joy of God!
And pause the choral steven
A radiant period;
Who sing in viol voices—
Who ring the bosom's lute!
THE GON OF LOVE REJOICES,
Melody is mute!

—New York Observer.

* There is joy in the presence of the angels over one sinner that repenteth.—Christ.

Columbus District.

THE WORK AND THE WORKERS.

Rounding up the Conference year on Columbus district, we rejoice to report the preachers in charge—a noble band—all at their posts of duty and doing good work. Notwithstanding the hard times, so called, we are expecting better financial reports than we had last year. The preachers' wives—worthy helpmeets—have also borne a noble part, accepting cheerfully the vicissitudes and privations of itinerant life. Our preachers, obeying the Pauline injunction, are the husbands of one wife, save Bro. R. I. Allen, who, after his transfer to us last Fall, buried his wife on the Pacific slope, and then turned his face homeward, toward Mississippi, having gone out from us a few years ago.

Bro. Allen's work is Mashulaville circuit, an "outside row," touching the Mississippi Conference on our southern border. He began well, continues well, and is appreciated by his clever people. God has blessed his labors, and quite a number of persons have been added to the church.

Bro. A. T. Buck, on Shuqualak circuit, rejoices in the prosperity of Zion. Revival power has come upon most of his churches, and the waste places have been builded up.

Bro. D. W. Babb is on Hebron circuit, by common consent—a difficult field to cultivate, lying mostly in the prairies. His "manse" is on a high limestone bluff, which breaks precipitately down into the 'Bigbee river. The lowlands on the opposite side and the waters of the river supply squirrels and fish for the preacher's table, and the hospitable people share their good things with him. His brethren think Bro. Babb is the man for this work. Two of his three churches have been blessed with gracious revival seasons.

Bro. J. H. Mitchell is closing a quadrennial term at Macon station. A good pastor and preacher, he works with a steady hand, and the work strengthens under his labors. It is worthy of note that Bro. Mitchell, at the close of this Conference year, will have completed in succession three pastorates of four years each—at Iuka, Corinth, and Macon. Twelve years in these three charges!

Bro. D. L. Cogdell, on Brooksville circuit, lives in the hearts of his people. The churches in his charge have grown in numbers and in spirituality. Last year he reported all his collections in full, and expects to do the same this year.

Bro. K. A. Jones is closing well his third year on Crawford circuit. He is regarded by his people as an able minister of the gospel, and his social qualities make him a welcome guest in the home circle. Three of his four churches have been blessed with revivals.

Tibbee circuit is served by Bro. J. T. Murrah, who is trying his 'prentice hand as a pastor, having joined us at the last Conference session. He loves his work, and is in great favor with the people of his charge. They want him back again.

Bro. R. M. Standifer, pastor at Columbus, early in the year took an active part in a great anti-whisky battle, and rejoiced in a complete victory, the death of the saloons, and the overthrow of the whisky power. Securing the services of Evangelist Culpepper soon after, a great revival followed, resulting in a large ingathering to the church. Bro. Standifer has made hosts of friends, and is soon to be the genial host of the Annual Conference.

Bro. K. M. Harrison preaches to an appreciative people on Columbus circuit—a circuit that leads all others, perhaps, in the excellence of its houses of worship.

Rev. Amos Kendall, at West Point, laboring under difficulties, on account of the burning of his church last year, has, nevertheless, done a good year's work, preaching in the court-house and holding his congregation well together. He has a new house of worship built of brick, and nearing completion. When finished, it will be one of the most beautiful churches in the Conference. Bro. Kendall reigns right royally in the esteem of his congregation.

Pheba circuit is in charge of Bro. A. P. Leech. It has eight appointments, lying along and near the Georgia Pacific railroad. Bro. Leech will leave the work stronger by the erection of a new house of worship in process of building at Cedar Bluff, a station on the railroad.

Rev. J. D. Newsom, on Sparta circuit, has suffered much by reason of protracted sickness; but his heart is in the work, and he has continued to labor as he was able. It will be gratifying to his brethren to know that he is now improving in health and strength.

On Sturges circuit Bro. J. W. Treadwell has built a parsonage, and otherwise done good work.

Bro. A. P. Sage is renewing his youth on Starkville circuit. With cheery words on his lips and sunshine in his heart, he takes well with his people. They think their pastor is one of our best preachers, and they are not much mistaken.

Rev. J. W. Dorman holds the fort at Starkville station. He has the art of saying well, what he has to say, in a thirty-minute sermon. The people are pleased with their preacher, and the water agrees with him.

It has been a year of manifold mercy and goodness from God to the preachers and the people, and now, in its close, we raise our Ebenezer, saying, "Hither, by the Lord's help, we have come." T. C. WIER.

From Dr. Hunnicutt.

The next thing to being a presiding elder is to be an ex-presiding elder and going to country appointments in company with one who is an actual presiding elder. Now and then, during the year, I have taken a trip of this sort with Rev. P. A. Johnston, of the Woodville district, feasting my eyes on the growing crops and the ripening fruits of the farmers' toils. The itinerant preacher has many joys, one of which is to see cultivated fields and nature's beauties as God has spread them over the earth, and to feel that, at least, a part of all these is his own. The crops in the district have been fairly good. The low price of cotton and the financial stringency make money scarce; but hard times are teaching our people to make their living at home, and they are doing it generally with reasonable success.

On one of our journeys we spent the night with a brother who had learned how to teach a boy how to make money and to spend it wisely! Though a man of ample means, he refused to buy powder and shot for his son until the boy should make the money to pay for them. The lad had never learned to work, but his love of hunting soon taught him how to earn money by honest work. When he brought the money to his father to buy the ammunition he asked for only half the quantity he wanted when his father was expected to pay for it. This is a lesson not found in the school books, yet I doubt if there is one more needed by the young, or more neglected by parents and teachers.

In our travels we visited places bearing biblical and classic names. One day I preached on "Pisgah's top," the next we dined on "Carmel's hight," and on the third and fourth days we both proclaimed the word on "Mars' Hill." Meantime Bethel, of ancient, and more recent camp ground fame, lay to our west, and Macedonia waited for help in the regions beyond. We passed through large tracts of land in North Wilkinson which, though too poor for cultivation, are yet evidently rich in all the elements necessary to produce the most magnificent long-leaf pine forests. What a wonderful display of divine wisdom is seen in the fact that the finest pine timber in the world grows on land usually regarded too poor for crop culture! Had this not been so the great timber reserves of the world would long since have been cut down and burned or rotted to make room for the plow.

We once passed along the Devil's Back Bone, a name given to a part of the Natchez and Woodville road. I wish all of the devil could be reduced to as good service as this part has been, for one might go a long way without finding a better stretch of road than this proved to be for ten or fifteen miles.

Here and there we added an endowment note to the list of Centenary's resources. Dr. Featherstun is doing excellent work in building up Edward McGehee College at Woodville. It is growing under his administration in spite of the general and financial depression.

Bro. Johnston has done a hard and faithful year's work on the district. He is now passing through deep waters and will, doubtless, have the sympathy of all his brethren when they know of his sore affliction.

Here at Centenary College we were never better organized for work. A thorough religious revival has reached almost every student, and study and order show the effects of the work of the Spirit.

In the name of Centenary College I greet you as the new editor of our ADVOCATE. Through all of her history Centenary has never had a truer or a more helpful friend than the ADVOCATE has been, and we gladly anticipate the continuance of the ADVOCATE'S powerful aid under your administration.

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT
Centenary College.

[We take pleasure in assuring Dr. Hunnicutt that the same policy of friendship for Centenary which has characterized the ADVOCATE under all previous administrations will be continued. The achievements of Centenary form an important part of the intellectual and religious history of the great Southwest. May her youth be renewed like the eagle's!—EDITOR]

Union Gospel Mission.

The Union Gospel Mission desires to appeal, through your columns, to your readers for material aid in the furtherance of its work. This is not an occasion to enumerate its achievements; but its work is many-sided; has been energetic, effective, condnoted under many obstacles, and carries the gospel into the centre of sin. It feeds the hungry, clothes the naked, when it can. It visits the prisoner every Sunday in gospel ministration. It has given away, in wide dissemination, tens of thousands of tracts, besides other religious literature. It welcomes to its Sunday-schools the poor, the lowly, the half-clad waifs. So kindly and cordial is its reception to all, that so far from anyone feeling hesitant or repelled, everyone comes into its meetings with a freedom and sense of welcome, as if at home. It has won the confidence and affection largely of its neighborhood. But, as the people are mainly non-Protestant and poor, this does not bring material assistance.

Most marked has been the humanizing and refining effect of the Sunday-school upon the children. From a crowd of noisy, inattentive, unruly, almost savagely-rude children, they have become attentive, polite, tractable, and a refractory boy nowadays excites surprise. And they sing so full-heartedly and ringingly that every stranger visitor is filled with wonder.

This mission has come to stay. It is commanded, by its past beneficence, and the imperious opportunities for future good now opening welcome doors of work, to go ahead. These calls the mission intends to regard, and, with several schemes of benevolence of large aim in view, it appeals to the general public for support.

By a recent stroke of endeavor it has virtually secured to every prisoner at the workhouse a copy of the New Testament, which will be presented every Sunday at the services conducted there by the mission. This is a consummation long desired, and is a most needed appliance of gospel furtherance. This mission is no stranger to your city readers. Many Methodist ministers have preached in its pulpit. It is endorsed by all evangelical sects of our city. It does not need confidence nor sympathy. It needs money, and badly. Food and clothing will be welcome. Winter is coming. Rent is to be paid. Coal and oil are needed. No collections are taken. The workers are not seeking money, but souls and God's glory.

M. B. HILLYARD, Cor. Sec.
Headquarters 163 Camp St., Bible House, New Orleans.

A Pentecost at Next Conference.

I second the motion of Bro. Cooper, in the ADVOCATE of Nov. 16, that we pray for the pentecostal baptism of the Holy Spirit at the next session of the Mississippi Conference at Hazlehurst. In addition, I would suggest that all our preachers and laymen observe Friday, Dec. 1, as a day of fasting and prayer, and let us humble ourselves before God for this baptism of power. I would also suggest that all our spiritual people make earnest prayer to God to direct the Bishop in making the appointments, that each and every preacher may be appointed to the charge where God would have him go. Oh, for this baptism of fire on us preachers! W. W. HOPPER.

Meridian, Miss.

In Japan.

HOW JAPANESE STUDENTS SPEND THE SUMMER VACATION.

The following clippings are made from compositions on "My Summer Vacation," written by the highest class in a Japanese middle school:

"The August sun throws his rays upon us, causing hot fevers. At this time we have a Summer vacation of about four weeks. I spent all these days in my home. Sometimes I was walking about small roads which are penetrating blue paddy rice fields, humming a merry tune at evening. Pearl-like dews are rolling and glittering on lotus leaves which are waving in the faint breezes. Sometimes I was under a lamp speaking ancient tales with my dear younger brothers. And sometimes I was reading books very early in the morning under a dark window, hearing a pleasant story of sparrows that hop about boughs of cedars, green thick leaves of bamboos, as a sieve, obstructing the light of morn. I was playing in paradise truly."

"I returned to my home. When I arrived my kindred received me, and they said, 'We celebrate you who have returned with health and happiness.' My mind filled with gladness. I thanked them. Next day my father commanded that I go on a journey which might amuse my intellect. Hence I started to Kotohira, which is distant about sixty miles from my house. First I went to Port Tadotsu by steamer; thence to Kotohira by rail. There is a temple, the god of which is respected by all the people. It is very large, and all the front is ornamented with gold and other noble metals. It is said that it cost $1,000,000 to build it. I returned to my home in ten days. This was the most important circumstance in my Summer vacation."

Another: "I went to Kioto of Yamashiro. Kioto was the capital of old Japan. As I swam in the River Kamo, the water of which is very clear, and as I visited the remains of an ancient place on Mt. Hiei, where winds are blowing from north seas, I could not know where was the Summer. Looking down from mountain's top, there was the old Imperial Palace. I had known that Taira no Masakado ascended this mountain once, and wished to gain the throne; also that Kusunoki Masashige fortified it for defending his little army, and in a moment killed ten thousand rebels. Then I opened the geography and history, and investigated more."

The ideal method is to travel. A fourth one says: "I had no money to visit other countries, and I don't like it, either. But I climbed mountain, crossed river, laughed, swam. I think I was never inferior to any swimmer. My body is as black as an African native's, my bone as strong as iron."

Fifth: "I worked in my parents' oil shop with cheerful mind, because I can not help all days. I read Robinson Crusoe, Smiles' Self-Help, and novels. The dry rice fields pained me. While my friends played and swam I was studying very hard for the examination for entrance to the naval academy. But the examination passed and I returned sorrowful. Oh! my wishes stopped as those of Napoleon at the small island in tropical sea. I fell by translation from English to Japanese. But in spite of it, I will be oriental Nelson in Japan, the England of Asia. My friends said, 'Your failure may be the origin of success in the future time.' So I determined with obstinacy, I will kick at the moon, though I miss it." H. G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Japan.

Mother's Love.

I knew a mother who, like Christ, gave her life for love. When the California gold fever broke out, a man went there, leaving his wife in New England with his boy. As soon as he got on and was successful, he was to send for them. It was a long time before he succeeded, but at last he got money enough to send for them. The wife's heart leaped for joy. She took her boy to New York, got on board a Pacific steamer, and sailed for San Francisco. They had not been long at sea before the cry of "Fire! fire!" rang through the ship, and rapidly it gained on them. There was a powder magazine on board, and the captain knew the moment the fire reached the powder every man, woman and child must perish. They got out the life boats, but they were too small. The last one was just pushing away when the mother pleaded with them to take her and her boy.

"No," they said, "we have got as many as we can hold." She entreated them so earnestly that at last they said that they would take one more. Do you think she leaped into that boat and left her boy to die? No, she seized her boy, gave him one last hug, kissed him and dropped him over into the boat.

"My boy," she said, "if you see your father, tell him that I died in your place." That is a faint type of what Christ has done for us.—Moody.

Malone College—No. 2.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT.

Early in the season the president secured the services of Mrs. M. W. Sykes as music instructor in Malone College. Owing to the competition of another college in Holly Springs, and the presence of other music teachers here, considerable interest was felt in this matter. Sister Sykes has demonstrated her perfect fitness for the place she fills. She is thorough in all the departments of music, and is one of the most consecrated and sweetest-spirited Christians I ever saw. She is at present the organist at our church, and fills the place to the entire satisfaction of all. Under her guidance the music class has grown until it was too large for one teacher. So the president has secured the services of Miss Mildred Lake, daughter of Capt. G. P. Lake, of Duck Hill, Miss., to fill the place of assistant music teacher. Miss Lake comes from Sister Sykes' old home, and enters upon her work with bright hopes. She possesses a sweet, well-trained voice, and everyone is perfectly charmed with her. The advantages offered in the music department at Malone College are unrivaled in the State.

T. W. LEWIS.

Indian Mission.

Dear brethren and sisters, you that contemplate helping us on Indian Mission, will please hand amounts to your pastor before he starts to Conference, and preachers having amounts in hand will do me a great favor by handing it in as early after arriving at Conference as possible, as we will want to pay all we can on salary. We need a large amount, and the mission must and will suffer if we don't get it. Brethren and sisters, please remember the poor, lost Indians and help us enlighten and Christianize them.

A. D. MILLER.
Oak Ridge, Miss.

Looking at the Bright Side.

Old Farmer Jacobs had the pleasant characteristic of looking at the bright side of everything. Those who knew the old man best said it was a Christian grace instead of a trait of character, and one, also, that beautified his life as much as any of the Christian graces could have done. He was a plain old man, with a very limited education, and yet no man in the church with which he was connected possessed more influence for good.

Many times a narrow or limited education means a narrow, limited soul that can not catch a glimpse of anything outside itself, and so can not see any of the brightness of humanity or of the world. But Farmer Jacobs was not one of this kind, for he could see out into God's beautiful sunlight, and he had so much of it within his soul that it glorified everything about, excepting sin.

If there was a bright side to anything, his keen eye detected it, and then he proclaimed the fact to the world. When those about him spoke of the sin, he was sure to speak of the real goodness that was so apparent. If one said that the world was growing worse, he was sure to affirm that it was becoming better in every age, and that the present one is far above the standard of the previous generation.

"Religion is not what it used to be," one faithless brother ventured to say one day before Farmer Jacobs.

"But it is better; every year it brings more joy and peace to us. Thank God," was the answer.

"The church is full of pride and worldliness," another one said.

"But the church was never so active and aggressive as at the present time. Why, it is just storming the world," Farmer Jacobs replied, while his eyes kindled, and a flush of enthusiasm came over his face.

The men who said these things were reproved to that degree that they never said the same things again.

Glorious old man! Who will say that he did not possess a royal soul? Who will say that his power for good was not great and grand? Who does not envy his cheerful spirit, and wish for the grace he possessed?—Mrs. M. A. Holt.

Be True to Your Church.

Do not run down either its pastor or its members, either its doctrine or its policy, either its ordinances or its usages. Give it a hearty and loyal support by word and deed. Remember that it belongs to you; that it is part of your religious life; that in it and by it you are being trained to usefulness here and immortality hereafter; that its honor is much in your keeping; that its growth and purity are affected to the extent of your influence by what you say and do; that people who have faith in you will look upon it largely according to your representation; that you have promised to advance its interests; and that with its good name and prosperity are bound up the glory of the blessed Jesus. Then do nothing to injure its reputation, or to weaken its power for good, or to mar its peace and fellowship.—Christian Observer.

A Liberal Proposition.

Rev. T. L. Mellen, Meridian, Miss.—

Dear Sir.: Many years ago my grandfather, a missionary to the Indians in Mississippi and Alabama, with the help of an old Indian chief, built the first church in Mobile, Ala. My father, J. W. Lambuth, was for nearly forty years a missionary to the Chinese and Japanese, and my brother, Walter Lambuth, is also a missionary. Though not one myself, I have some of that spirit, and would like to do something for the Indians in Mississippi in this way. If you can send me two Indian boys, I will feed, clothe and educate them, so that they can return to their people some day, and be a benefit to their own race as teachers. I have just made the same statement to Rev. J. J. Methvin, Anadarko, Indian Territory, and am waiting to hear from him. I enclose some circulars of our school. Kindly let me hear from you at your earliest opportunity. Very sincerely,

R. W. LAMBUTH.
Collecoka, Tenn., Nov. 7.

Grumbling.

The grumbler's line never did pay in this country. It never brought a man money, it never gave him influence, it never made him popular or pleasant. It never pays in any shape or form.

Supposing ten able-bodied farmers should meet and grumble industriously for seven days each week, how many weeks would it take to raise the price of wheat to a dollar a bushel, working eighteen hours a day?

Supposing fifteen merchants should meet every afternoon to grumble about dull business, how many days would they need to meet in order to make business brisk if they worked five hours at every sitting?

Supposing a woman grumbles industriously about her old bonnet, how many days would it take her to grumble herself into a new one if she began business at daylight each day and grumbled vigorously until half-past eleven at night?

Supposing a minister has a salary of $750 a year, how long would it take him to raise his income to $1,000 provided he whined incessantly all week and put two or three vigorous grumbles into his sermon on Sabbath?

Suppose a train is running on slow time, how many passengers would be needed to increase the speed from fifteen to thirty miles an hour provided they all grumbled vigorously at the rate of sixty minutes an hour?

Supposing the attendance at a prayer meeting is small and the atmosphere cold, how many "bewailing and lamenting" brethren would be needed to bring about a revival provided they "bewailed and lamented" at every meeting.

Many similar problems will occur to everybody. Just work them out and see if the grumbling business ever did pay.—Canada Presbyterian.

How a Church Was Filled on Sunday Evenings.

The evening service on Sundays in a certain congregation was poorly attended. People thought they could not come out twice a Sunday to church.

The council talked the matter over. Their talk resulted in a pledge to each other that they would never absent themselves, willingly, from the evening service, and that they would urge everyone they saw to plan for a second attendance.

The parents talked it over. They found that their children were not in the habit of spending their evenings religiously or profitably, and they determined to set them an example of earnest devotion to spiritual concerns. They began by going twice a day the Sunday after.

The young men talked it over. They concluded that it was their duty to attend both services, and to bring, at least, one young man apiece with them.

The young ladies talked it over. They thought that if they could go to a concert on a week-day night, it could not do them any harm to be at church on Sunday night. They decided that they would go regularly and take each a friend with them.

At first the minister did not know what to make of it. The attendance was increasing every week. Strangers seeing the direction of the crowd, followed. It became the most popular church in the city.

"A word to the wise," etc.—Ex.

A vague desire to be better, stronger, holier, will come to nothing. Character is built like the walls of an edifice, by laying one stone upon another. Lay hold of some single fault and mend it. Put the knife, with God's help, to some ugly besetting sin. Stop that one leak that has let so much foul bilge-water into your soul. Put into practice some long-neglected duty. The first step to improvement with one person was to banish his deceivers; with another, to discontinue his secular paper on Sunday morning; with another, to ask the pardon of an injured friend; with another, to go after some street arabs and take them to a mission school. He can never be rich toward God who despises a penny's worth of true piety. Holiness is just the living to the Lord in the least things as well as the greatest; for graces can only be gathered one by one.—Zion's Herald.

HYGIENE.

The Duty of Sleep.

The sleeping-room is Nature's repair shop, the place of recnperation and renovation. There are persons who sometimes tell us that some great man, such as Napoleon Bonaparte, only slept four or five hours in twenty-four. But Napoleon Bonaparte was a poor example to follow. His restless spirit kept the world in an uproar a good share of his life; he was broken in health long before he was defeated in battle, and finally, fretted and chafed in his captivity, he died, aged fifty-three, long before he had reached the allotted age of man.

If a man would last, he must rest. If he would make his life calm and strong, glad and useful, he should have abundant sleep, and to obtain it he should avoid late hours, and should especially avoid stimulants. The man who takes anything to keep himself awake is making a great mistake, and is preparing himself for future troubles. A man who keeps awake with stimulants now will be trying to put himself to sleep with chloral by and by. A woman who drinks strong tea to keep herself awake will by and by be taking opium to benumb her senses, that she may get a little rest.

One of the great hindrances to sleep is a restless anxiety about things to come. There is so much to be done that some people feel that they can hardly take time to sleep; but six, seven or eight hours of good, solid sleep, begun at nine o'clock at night, is a much better preparation for a hard day's work than any amount of midnight toil or restless tossing upon the bed in the watches of the night.

It is a matter of duty for persons who fear God and serve him to see to it that they have their sleep. They must not be cheated out of it; they must not be harrassed until sleep forsakes their eyes; they must rather bid their cares depart, and commit soul and body, business and estate, friends and foes, to the care of a loving Father. They must make it their business to sleep.

There is nothing more favorable to healthful slumber than the peace of God that passeth understanding. With that peace we can lay ourselves down and sleep, and awake because the Lord sustains us. And we can prove how vain it is for men to rise up early and sit up late and eat the bread of sorrows and strive and struggle to gain those things which God is willing to give and which he gives his beloved while they are asleep. Our heavenly Father is able to do exceeding abundantly above our utmost thought, our utmost desire; and it is for us, knowing his love and care and tenderness, to resign ourselves into his kind hands, committing the keeping of our souls unto him in well-doing, as unto a faithful Creator, fearing no evil, but casting all our care on him who careth for us, who has been with us from the beginning, who has promised to be with us to the end, who has said, "I will never leave you nor forsake you." In our sickness he smooths our pillow and makes all our bed; in our weariness he gives to us abiding rest; and in the toils and conflicts that fall to our earthly lot, he supports and protects and strengthens and defends his feeblest children.

Lie down and sleep, then, O children of the Most High! Let sorrows and doubts and fears be gone. Cast off the restlessness and weariness which has disturbed your souls, and let the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, keep your hearts and minds through Jesus Christ our Lord.—The Safeguard.

Airing the Bed and Room During the Day.

Beds should be aired daily and carefully. Remove every covering and double over the mattress so that the air can have free access for one hour at least, otherwise the effluvia thrown off by the body during the night can not properly be removed. Of course, at such times the fresh air should have free access to the rooms. In this connection it may be well to remember that it is always unwise for anyone to sleep in the same room with a person suffering from disease, especially from disease of the throat, lungs, or mouth. Physicians who have made especial study of these diseases consider them directly contagious by what is thrown off from the affected surfaces. For sanitary reasons it would also seem better to adopt the European custom of separate beds and separate rooms for each individual. Care should be exercised that the walls of the bedrooms be so fashioned that they can be easily cleaned. Hard-finished walls and ceiling plain or simply painted in oil best meet this requirement.

Finally, leave the windows wide open in bed-rooms during the day and wide enough open at night to give plenty of pure air, guarded from unnecessary drafts.—Herald of Health.

If the hair has been made to grow a natural color on bald heads in thousands of cases, by using Hall's Hair Renewer, why will it not in your case?

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

The Pansy, for November, enters upon a new year, and announces in that number many new and important features.

Babyland, for November, is as bright and winsome as ever. The nursery folks can not fail to be very merry little folks when their Babyland comes.

Harper's Young People maintains its usual high standard as a repository of bright and beautiful things for the young folks. It is among the best of the periodicals of its class.

The Cosmopolitan, for November, is on hand with a very inviting table of contents. Mark Twain, Walter Besant, Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, George Ebers, W. D. Howells and a number of other writers of less celebrity are represented in this number.

"A Friend of the Queen," which is to be published shortly by D. Appleton & Co., is the true and intimate life history of the Swedish soldier, Count Axel Fersen, whose romantic friendship with the ill-fated Marie Antoinette led him gladly to peril his life again and again in vain attempts at rescue.

Scribner's Magazine, for November, presents nearly a score of articles of varied character. The more notable ones are: Madame Roland, The House of Commons, Education for Girls in France, The Nomination of Lincoln, and Glimpses of the French Illustrators. It maintains its place among the standard monthlies of the day.

Our Little Men and Women, for November, comes to us stored with the brightest and the best for boys and girls everywhere. Timely poems, apt stories; pictures and rhymes all in keeping with the tone of this delightful little magazine that regularly each month carries joy to more hearts than its grown-up contemporaries.

Harper's Monthly, for November, is on hand with a very inviting table of contents. Among its articles we note the following as worthy of special attention: Along the Bayou Teche, by Ralph Paul; An Indian Commonwealth, by Rezin W. McAdam; London in the Season, by Richard Harding Davis; and Riders of Turkey, by Col. T. A. Dodge, U. S. A.

The Sunday-School Magazine of our church has quite a good circulation, but not so large as it ought to have. We think any unbiased mind that will examine it carefully in comparison with that of the M. E. Church, or of any other church, can reach but one conclusion, viz., that it is superior to them all. It ought to be in the hands, not only of every Sunday-school teacher, but of every preacher and every layman who desires to keep abreast of the times.

The Review of Missions has taken its place high up in the column of missionary periodicals. The November number is, in our judgment, an advance on all previous issues. This number contains articles from the following able writers, besides much other matter, editorial and otherwise: Dr. Young J. Allen, Bishop J. C. Granbery, Dr. D. C. Kelly, Rev. T. L. Mellen, Rev. R. H. Mahon, and S. H. Wainwright. Every preacher and every layman who desires to know what is going on in the world of missions, and to keep himself in touch with the best missionary thought of the age, ought to become a subscriber to this able periodical.

Mr. Herman Hicks
Of Rochester, N. Y.

Deaf for a Year

Caused by

Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh being a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it:

"Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I entirely lost my hearing and was deaf for more than a year. I tried various things to cure it, and had physicians, but no improvement was apparent. I could distinguish no sound. I was intending putting myself under the care of a specialist, when some one suggested that Hood's Sarsaparilla might do me some good. I began taking it without the expectation of any lasting help. To my surprise and great joy I found when I had taken three bottles that my hearing was returning. I kept on till I had taken three more. It is now over a year and I can hear perfectly well. I am troubled but very little with the catarrh. I consider this a remarkable case, and recommend to all who have catarrh." HERMAN HICKS, 30 Carter Street, Rochester, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMAR, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor	(when heated to 140° F.) Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	3 102 grains
Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735 108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.322
Soda	8 045
Silica	8.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.700
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	213.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Trace
Sodium Chloride	5 083
Silica	6 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was shot out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,
Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

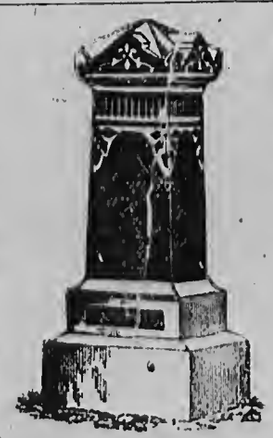
Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus. College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2? Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.		Leave.
Passenger	9:30 p.m	Passenger	7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail	3:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail	3:00p.m
Chic. limited	7:35 p.m	Chic. limited	11:30a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,
NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,
NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,
NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.		Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex.	7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex.	8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	3:20 p.m
Local	10:55 a.m	Local	3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and T'kt Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p.m	8:45 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a.m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p.m	10:00 a.m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 3:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

TIME TO CINCINNATI, 26 HOURS.

TIME TO NEW YORK, 47 HOURS.

The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change. Time to New York via Washington only 45 hours.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

Depot: Corner Press street and Levee.

R. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent, New Orleans, La.
D. MILLER, Traffic Manager.
D. G. EDWARDS, Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $620 in six days. Another $82 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis.

QUALITY AND PRICE

"A" Grade, $67.50. "A" Grade, $44. IS WHAT TALKS.

"A" Grade, $150.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MAHAIR, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS for 1893. Contains new songs and responsive readings. 96 pages. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

JESUS THE NAZARENE, by F. E. Campidelli. A fine Christmas Service of Song and Readings for the Sunday-School. Price 5 cents a single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS SERVICES

of the same nature are:—"The Gift of God," "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Noel," "Good Will to Men," "Peace on Earth," and "The Christ of Bethlehem." Price of each, 5 cents per single copy by mail.

SANTA CLAUS' MISSION, by Wm. Ross, with additional songs by J. R. Murray. This is a beautiful new cantata that is sure to please the children of the Sunday-School. It is full of bright and pleasing music and is not at all difficult of preparation. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS CANTATAS

are "A Jolly Christmas," "One Christmas Eve," "A Christmas Vision," "The New Santa Claus," "Santa Claus & Co.," "Judge Santa Claus," "Young Kriss Kringle," "Santa Claus' Mistake," "The Waifs' Christmas." Price of each 30 cents per single copy by mail. "Tidings from Bethlehem" and "The Choicest Gift" are also suitable for Christmas, though not designed especially for the purpose. Price 30 cents. All of the above cantatas are intended for children, but in the fine work entitled "Bethlehem" by Root & Weatherley, adults will find something worthy of their best efforts. Price 50 cents by mail.

A CHRISTMAS BAZAAR, by Mrs. N. Richey and J. R. Murray. This is a new and pleasing entertainment which is neither a cantata or exercise but has the characteristics of both. It is very entertaining and will no doubt meet with much favor. Price 30 cents per single copy.

THE CHRISTMAS REVERIE, by W. L. Mason is another entertainment which has met with much success and approval. Price 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY, by Mary B. Brooks and G. F. Root gives the principal events of the life of our Lord while on earth, in beautiful verses, Scripture readings and expressive music. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

The December number of the "MUSICAL VISITOR" will contain anthems for Christmas and will be a very useful number in that direction. Price 15 cents per copy by mail.

Catalogue of Christmas Music furnished free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

CINCINNATI—NEW YORK—CHICAGO.

A NEW

UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Ob[ject] of Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D., Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address him and receive circulars free.

REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D. Dayton, Ohio.

Established 1857.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT

Frink's Patent Reflectors for Gas, Oil or Electric, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular & estimate. A liberal discount to churches & the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., N.Y.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED

Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONGRESSIONAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pgs. Price 50 cents. Address Mrs. Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

65th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $36.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

Gen. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Blk, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $75 a MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES guaranteed every 15 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1 at Druggists.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

SOLE MAKERS OF THE BLYMYER BELLS

FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &C.

Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and Terms FREE.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS In the World.

PUREST BELL METAL, (COPPER AND TIN.)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE E. W. VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A., Manufacture Superior Bells of Copper and Best Bell Metal.

CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

Prices & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, November 30, 1893.

Another Liberal Proposition for Millsaps College.

To the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, in session yesterday, Maj. Millsaps made another proposition in the interest of the college. When the small balance is paid in, necessary to make up the church's second $25,000, he is ready to pay his second $25 000, thus completing our first $100,000 of endowment. He then proposes to duplicate annually any amount the church will give for the college from one dollar up to $25,000. This certainly is a liberal offer, and ought to yield a large revenue to our promising institution. It will, if Methodism in Mississippi so orders. What a test of our intelligent appreciation of Christian education! Surely when our people know that every dollar given means two, we will have liberal and regular contributions to this great cause. Why can we not get thousands to pledge an annual offering, from one to a hundred dollars, on this proposition? Every five dollars given counts ten in the college treasury—every five thousand means ten thousand. Not since our brother made his first munificent offer have I been so encouraged as by this proposal. By the blessing of God it shall be made to accomplish large things for Christian education.

But this proposition can not be considered until that balance of a few hundred dollars is paid by the church on his first offer. What an appeal it is to speedily fulfill our promises! By the session of the Mississippi Conference it is hoped that every dollar will be in hand. Only a little extra effort is necessary to secure this result. Will not every friend of the college, who has not paid his note, give us something? And those who have given, can they not help more on this final rally?

In order that we may enter at once and actively upon a systematic response to this last and, I trust, most munificent, proposition, we must close the first account. That will be done, I feel assured, at the close of our Conference sessions in the State.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.
Jackson, Miss., Nov. 24, 1893.

[If we deemed it necessary, we would exhort after the appeal made by Bishop Galloway in behalf of Millsaps College. But surely no further exhortation is necessary. When one man agrees to duplicate annually any amount raised by the Methodists of a whole State for the great cause of education, there ought to be no need of urging and pleading on our part. Who will be the first to respond to the appeal by making a contribution towards the payment of the small amount still to be raised to finish up the $25,000. — EDITOR.]

Our National Thanksgiving.

In accordance with a time-honored custom, the President of the United States has appointed to-day as a day of national thanksgiving. This is a pre-eminently wise custom. We should never forget that we are dependent upon divine bounty for all our blessings, temporal as well as spiritual. We should ever be on our guard against the insidious approach of that form of infidelity which attributes material prosperity to human agency, or to some other secondary cause. It is true that human agency is an important factor in the solution of all problems pertaining to the development of material resources. Man must sow, if he would reap. But of what avail would be all his sowing and ploughing, if God should withhold the showers, or send the blight.

Meteorological conditions are as entirely subject to the divine will to-day as they were in the days of Elijah. When God withholds the showers, famine ensues. And not only in the realm of agriculture, but in every other department of human activity, man finds himself in the same condition of absolute dependence upon divine bounty. Man may boast of his inventive genius—may point with exultation to the steam engine, the telegraph, the sewing machine, the telephone, the phonograph and a thousand other implements of his devising as evidences of his wondrous skill; but even in these the hand of God is manifest. With all man's ingenuity where would have been the steam engine but for divine prevision and pre-arrangement? When God created water away back in the morning of time, he gave to it such an expansive power that one cubic inch of water makes seventeen hundred and twenty-eight inches of steam. In that expansive power of water under the influence of heat is found the germ of the steam engine. But for that property of water the steam engine would have been an impossibility. When God gave to each aqueous particle this marvelous power, he had his eye upon the steam engine. He was then making provision for that wonderfully gifted being who, in the incoming ages, was to appear on the earth as its lord and master, "made in the image of God." He foresaw that man would discover this secret of nature and utilize it as a leverage to elevate himself to a loftier plane of civilization. As with the steam engine, so with the telegraph, the telephone, and every other implement of man's devising. In all these there is a display of divine munificence no less than of human ingenuity. We should, therefore, never forget that even in the realm of inventiveness, where man usually imagines that he has a right to be boastful, there is abundant cause for gratitude to the great Author of our being.

Remembering, then, our dependence upon divine power and beneficence for every blessing we enjoy, let us take note of some special reasons for thanksgiving on the part of every citizen of this great republic, "the land of the free, and the home of the brave."

The Psalmist of old, speaking of Israel, said, "He hath not dealt so with any nation." This is true of the United States of America no less than of ancient Israel. Our agricultural resources are marvelous. Our per capita production of grain is more than four times that of Great Britain, and three times that of all Europe. Our production of meat per capita is twice that of Britain and three times that of Europe. We produce about four times as much cotton as all the rest of the world, although we consume only about half as much as Great Britain. Our agricultural resources are sufficient to sustain the entire population of the world for generations.

Our mining industries exceed those of Great Britain and also those of the world outside of Great Britain. Iron is mined in twenty-three of our States, several of which could supply the world for an indefinite period. Our supply of coal and iron is sufficient to furnish the world for centuries to come. We furnish already about half the world's supply of gold and silver; and our gold and silver mines seem inexhaustible. Considering the fact that we are a mere infant in the family of nations, our manufacturing industries are marvelous in extent.

Our manufactures exceed those of Great Britain by about $650,000 000. They are about equal to those of France and Germany combined. They exceed those of all Europe outside of France, Germany and Britain. Our railroad mileage is six times as great as that of Germany, and seven times that of either Great Britain or France, and equal to that of all Europe. Leaving out Europe, we have three times as many miles of railroad as all the rest of the world. Our telegraph mileage is about six times that of Great Britain and about three times that of France or Germany.

In inventive genius there is no nation that can compare with the United States. The telegraph, the telephone, the sewing machine, the cotton gin, the lightning rod and the steamboat are all American inventions. At the Paris Exposition, a few years since, five gold medals were given for the greatest inventions, and all of them were won by the United States. It is conceded by all who are posted on the subject that the machinery and tools of the United States far surpass those of all other countries.

The rate of taxation is lower here than elsewhere. The taxes imposed by some of the governments of Europe would be regarded here as downright robbery, and would not be submitted to. In many of the nations of Europe army service takes several years of a man's life from any wealth-producing employment. Here army service does not enter as a factor into the financial calculations of the citizen. The public debt of nearly all the nations of Europe is immense, and in many of them is constantly increasing. With us the problem is how to reduce the surplus.

The masses have educational facilities here such as are not offered elsewhere. More than ten millions of children are today receiving the benefits of a common school education. There is no nation in which such facilities are afforded in the way of books, charts, etc., adapted to the youthful mind. There is no nation on earth in which the masses have such facilities for higher education as in our own. A college education costs less here than elsewhere. There are three times as many pupils in college in the United States as in Germany, although German universities draw patronage from nearly all civilized nations. Our college enrollment is five times as great as that of England. We have more pupils in college than France, Russia, Austria, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, Greece, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark all combined. We have 364 colleges and universities. These are the figures for 1882. The number has, of course, been increased since. We use these figures because they are the latest at our command just now. These figures do not include institutions of a special character. Of these we make the following summary: Normal schools, 220; business colleges, 162; scientific institutions, 83; theological schools, 142; law schools, 48; schools of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy, 120; schools for the blind, 30; schools for the deaf, 56; schools for idiots and weak-minded persons, 13; nurses' training-schools, 15.

In taking note of educational affairs the journalistic press must not be omitted. At this point the United States leads the world. The United States has been called the Paradise of newspapers, and very properly, for no nation on earth can compare with it in regard to the number of periodicals published. Our periodicals of all kinds aggregate nearly twelve thousand, with a circulation of almost forty millions. As an instrumentality for the diffusion of knowledge it would be hard to overestimate the power of the periodical press.

One thing for which every true American heart should be profoundly grateful is the liberty of conscience we enjoy. Here every man may worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. And every form of religion stands on the same plane in the eyes of the law. Unlike many of the nations of the world, we have no established church supported by taxes levied upon those of a different faith. It requires but a little reflection to show how manifold are the evils that would grow out of the establishment of a hierarchy in our midst. How grateful we ought to be that God, in his merciful providence, has exempted us from this withering curse.

The progress of orthodox Christianity should also be a cause of profound thanksgiving. Notwithstanding the frequent newspaper talk about the decay of orthodoxy, it is a fact that the orthodox churches are growing incomparably faster than are the so-called liberal churches. Unitarianism has increased her membership in the last sixty years less than a hundred per cent., while Universalism has gained only about thirty-three per cent. During the same period the orthodox churches have had the marvelous increase of four thousand per cent. This makes a difference of forty to one as against Unitarianism, and a hundred and twenty to one as against Universalism.

Our Sunday-schools are a very important factor in our religious life. There are in the orthodox Sunday-schools of this country in round numbers seven millions of children. These are studying the Word of God from week to week with such helps as were never afforded in any previous age. This alone is a sufficient foundation for the loftiest hopes concerning the religious character of the next generation. There is no nation in which the Sunday-school occupies such a place in the life of the church as in our own Heaven-favored land.

We have spoken of the number of colleges in our midst. It remains to be said that more than five-sixths of all the colleges of the land belong to the several denominations of orthodox Christianity. Moreover, a considerable percentage of the non-denominational colleges are dominated by religious influences to an extent that makes an indelible impress for good upon their pupils. Most stupid and thankless is he who can contemplate these figures without feelings of gratulation and thanksgiving.

We have cause for profound thanksgiving also in the status of religious journalism in our land. One-twentieth of all our periodicals are religious journals. This is an increase in the last sixty years of more than two thousand per cent. This argues much for our advancement along the lines of religious knowledge.

Our country, too, is making rapid progress in almost all kinds of benevolent work. The blind, the deaf, the insane, the idiotic, the aged poor, the destitute, sick, homeless orphans and all other classes of unfortunates are cared for to-day as they have never been in any previous age. True, we are not doing what we might do and ought to do along this line; but we are making progress, and rapid progress at that, as anyone may ascertain who will take the pains to consult statistics. And, according to the Scriptures, this is one of the supreme tests of religious character, individual and national. Our attitude towards missions is another cause for thanksgiving. While we are still very far below the divine standard, we are making marvelous progress in our appreciation of the obligation that rests upon us to send the Bread of Life to the famishing millions of the pagan world. Comparing the present with the past, we find that the Protestant Churches of this country have increased their contributions to the cause of missions no less than five hundred per cent. in the last thirty years—an average increase of more than sixteen per cent. per annum.

Above all, we ought to lift up our hearts in praise for the showers of revival grace that have fallen upon all the denominations of Protestant Christianity throughout all sections of our land.

Many other items bearing upon the subject we are obliged to omit for want of space. Surely if any nation ever had cause to fall upon its knees before God in ardent thanksgiving, the United States of America is that nation.

From Millsaps College.

In a recent copy of the Colfax Chronicle we have seen a statement made by Mr. Robt. McKnight, formerly a student of Millsaps College, to the effect that the rowdiness and drunkenness among the students of Millsaps College are intolerable. Knowing the lack of truth contained in this assertion, and realizing the injury which might be done this institution by such an impression, we think that it behooves us, the student body of Millsaps College, to vindicate ourselves from an accusation so false in its nature, and so pernicious in its influence. We believe that this assertion was made with the intention of injuring this college, and the truth of it extends no further than to the conduct of Mr. McKnight himself while in college, and to a small immediate circle. Therefore, we hereby denounce the statement made by Mr. McKnight as a malicious falsehood, as a direct insult to the student body, and as a crime against Millsaps College.

H. S. STEVENS, Chair'n,
J. T. CALHOUN,
W. H. FITZ HUGH,
M. POINTER,
G. B. POWER,
A. J. MCCORMICK,
Committee.

The Necessity of the Advocate.

I have for years taken a New Orleans daily paper, and have the privilege of seeing two other New Orleans daily papers each day. All this time I have been a reader of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE in an irregular way, and I have come to know that a man who intends to keep up and be properly advised can not be without your paper.

For instance: A man who did not see Bishop Galloway's address to the great Methodist council in England last year, as published in your paper; or Bishop Keener on the great question of "Futures," or the current news of the Methodist Church, its schools, colleges, universities, missions, etc., is not abreast of the time. And how any Methodist can do without it I do not know.

It ought to have fifty thousand subscribers. It is a great blessing. How infinitely greater it would be if fifty thousand families each week read its well-considered editorials and correspondences! The fault lies at the door of your preachers, that every Methodist family, at least, does not take it.

JOHN H. STONE.
Clinton, La.

NOTES.

"Some go to church just for a walk;
Some go there to laugh and talk:
Some go there the time to spend;
Some go there to meet a friend;
Some go there for speculation;
Some go there for observation;
Some go to learn the pastor's name;
Some go there to wound his fame;
Some go there to doze and nod;
Some—how few!—to worship God."

Dr. W. C. Black starts off well in the NEW ORLEANS. He promises to labor with unceasing diligence. Of his ability as a preacher, thinker, and writer, he has already given the church abundant proof.—Nashville Advocate.

Dr. Warren C. Black, the new editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, is a man of marked powers, a writer of ability, a philosopher and theologian. The ADVOCATE has fallen into competent hands.—Pacific Advocate.

We spent last Sabbath at Crystal Springs, Miss., and occupied the pulpit. We were sorry to miss seeing the pastor, Rev. R. D. Norsworthy, who was absent in attendance upon the meeting at Meridian. During our stay in the Crystal City we were delightfully entertained in the hospitable home of Hon. W. C. Wilkinson, to whom with his good wife we are indebted for many kind attentions.

We are in receipt of an invitation to attend the marriage of Mr. W. P. L. Ventress, of Woodville, Miss., to Miss Willie Estelle Galloway, daughter of Bishop Galloway, which is to take place at the First Methodist Church in Jackson, Miss., on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6. We congratulate the gentleman from Woodville on his good fortune in securing so rich a prize. Our heartiest good wishes attend the young couple as they enter the arena of married life.

The Synod of Mississippi has been in session during the past week in Napoleon Avenue Presbyterian Church, of this city. The Synod has five evangelists in the field—four white and one colored. The committee on evangelistic work in its report says of these evangelists that they "have worked, not as hirelings, but as true and consecrated ministers of the Lord." The reports of the proceedings published in the daily papers indicate a pleasant and profitable session. We regret our inability to look in upon the Synod. We have always had most pleasant relations with our brethren of the Presbyterian Church.

Col. J. L. Power, of Jackson, Miss., has issued an appeal to the benevolent orders of that State and to the public in general in behalf of the Protestant Orphan Asylum of Natchez. We regret exceedingly that we received a copy of this appeal too late for insertion in our issue of last week. Inserted then, it might have induced many of our preachers to take a collection in behalf of the institution in their churches on Thanksgiving Day. We quote from the appeal as follows:

The asylum has been in continuous operation for seventy-six years. It has received in all those years, and trained for usefulness and respectability in the world, a great number of children who could not have been otherwise provided for. Ten years ago, when the asylum was in great straits, and a public appeal was made, a gentleman in New York City sent his check for $250 as an expression of his gratitude to the asylum for opening its doors to him in childhood.

There are usually about fifty children, mostly girls, in the asylum. This is its full capacity. Orphanage and honorable birth are the conditions of admission. The children attend the public schools of Natchez, and the very small children are taught in the building by a young lady reared in the asylum and a graduate of the Natchez Institute. As suitable homes can be provided for them, they are passed out, to make room for others.

The asylum is operated with as little expense as possible. The Board of Managers are members of the Protestant and Hebrew congregations of Natchez. Each devotes a month, alternately, to its supervision. The matron is the only person who receives any compensation, and that very moderate. The treasurer makes an annual report of receipts and disbursements, at the anniversary in May, so that all interested may be fully informed of its affairs.

I beg leave to suggest the propriety of designating a committee of two or three young ladies in each community to solicit from the general public contributions in money or clothing for children—second-hand or new. Many merchants will give cloth, shoes, hose, hats, gloves and other little articles, and there are small garments in many homes, no longer worn, that might be utilized in this way. In this way, a young lady at McComb City, Miss Govan, daughter of our secretary of State, collected a large box of desirable articles in that community, besides about fifty dollars in cash. And what has been accomplished there can be done elsewhere.

Contributions should be sent to Mrs. Mary R. Fleming, Natchez, Miss.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

The great American historian, Francis Parkman, is dead.

We received an appreciated call a few days since from Rev. John W. Chambers, financial agent of Millsaps College.

During the next three weeks the Editor will spend most of his time in attendance upon the sessions of the pastoralizing Conferences.

The clerical delegates elected from the Northwest Texas Conference to the General Conference are: W. L. Helms, R. C. Armstrong, H. Bishop, J. M. Barous, W. H. Vaughn, E. A. Bailey, and E. L Armstrong.

Our efficient missionary secretary, Rev. I. G John, D. D., let the light of his countenance shine into our sanctum one day last week. He was en route to the Mexican Border Mission Conference. The Doctor is in good health and fine spirits.

Our sanctum was honored a few days since with a call from Rev. H. C. Morrison, of Kentucky, and his master of song, Prof. Evans, of Texas, who have been laboring for the past two weeks in the revival meeting at Felicity Street Church. They report quite a successful meeting at Felicity.

Rev. Charles F. Deems, D. D, pastor of the Church of the Strangers, in New York City, died on the eighteenth. Dr. Deems has had quite a varied clerical experience. At different times he filled the following positions: college professor, college president, agent of the American Bible Society, editor and pastor. He was also an author of considerable celebrity. "The Home Altar," "What Now," "Weights and Wings," "Annals of Southern Methodism," "Life of Jesus," "The Gospel of Common Sense," and "My Septuagint," are the title of a few of his works. He was a clear, forceful preacher and an urbane, high-toned Christian gentleman,

Rev. A. H. Sutherland, D. D., the well-known missionary, to the deep regret of the whole Northwest Mexican Conference, located at its recent session. At the West Texas Conference that well-known figure in Texas Methodism, Rev. A. J. Potter, was granted the superannuated relation. When Rev. Homer S. Thrall, now blind, retorted himself for the fifty-first time since coming to Texas, deep silence fell upon the Conference, who were deeply moved over the recital of his remarkable history. Abe Mulkey, in closing his seventh year of revival work, says the one just past has been the hardest, but happiest, resulting in 700 conversions, and 1,560 accessions. Texas Advocate.

North Mississippi Conference Notes.

I am just home from an extensive trip in the "Delta," during which a goodly number of churches were visited and sermons preached. Many books were disposed of and church papers put in circulation and other services rendered, which it is hoped has done good that will abide.

During the year I have visited 80 churches and preaching-places in 58 pastoral charges; have attended 7 District Conferences and 4 preachers' meetings and aided in a number of protracted meetings.

I have endeavored, in the name of Christ, to do the work assigned me by the Conference faithfully. To God be all praise for health, grace and success, and may his richest blessings be upon the ishors of his unworthy servant and on all who have been kind and helpful to him in this "work of faith and labor of love!"

Before these "notes" shall greet the reader's eyes another ecclesiastical year, with its hardships and pleasures, trials and triumphs, will have closed and the annual convocation of the fellow-laborers will be in session.

"Preserved by power divine
To full salvation here,
Again in Jesus' praise we join,
And in his sight appear."

Then, while there will be joy and gladness in this reunion of the brethren, there will be gloom and sadness at the roll-call. There and then we will be reminded that our beloved and revered W. H. Brooks and J. J. Wheat will never again on earth answer, "Present," as we and the generations past have so often heard them. But in all Christian assurance we can truly sing:

"Servants of God, well done,
Your glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And you are crowned at last."

In the language of dear Bro. Brooks, oft repeated in his happy moods of preaching, their "bodies have located the grave and their souls have been conferred to glory." God grant unto their bereft brethren in the gospel ministry, the same spirit of faith and fidelity of love and hope, and at last to reign together with our living Head.

We expect the new editor and publisher of our Conference organ to be with us at Columbus, the twenty-fifth instant, to add grace and work the occasion. We are expecting a pleasant and profitable session of Conference. May it be a benediction to all who attend!

G. W. BACHMAN.

Louisiana, Miss., Nov. 20, 1893

Dr. Hartman Treats

10,000 CASES OF CHRONIC CATARRH FREE.

In order to bring to the homes of all people, rich and poor, a reliable and permanent cure for chronic catarrh, a course of treatment has been devised by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company which costs the patient nothing except the necessary medicines. This enterprising drug company, bound to lead, and not follow, have completed arrangements to treat 10 000 catarrh patients during the coming Winter free of charge. To ensure the success of this gigantic undertaking, they have secured the services of the well-known writer and lecturer on chronic catarrh, Dr. Hartman, who, with a corps of assistant physicians, is to take charge of the correspondence with each patient.

Pamphlets, accompanied by a letter, giving complete directions for one month's treatment, sent free to any address. Those not entirely cured during the first month are expected to report their condition to Dr. Hartman, who will advise further treatment without charge. Each patient is permitted to continue correspondence with Dr. Hartman until entirely cured. At no time will any charge be made. The diet, hygiene and sanitary regulations of patient will be prescribed by the doctor. The medicine, which is known all over the world as Pe-ru-na, is the main medicine used, and can be obtained at any drug store. Should it be necessary to continue the correspondence many months, or even visit Dr. Hartman in person, everything will be done free of charge.

A free catarrh book sent to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

To the Itinerant Corps of the Mississippi Conference.

ARGUMENT "AD HOMINEM."

As in some sort representing our Conference Missionary Board, I make this special plea most earnestly. The time for our annual shaking up and settlement is near at hand. The cry of "hard times" has resounded all the year, from valley to hillside, and been echoed back again by the very waves of the sea. Yet our banks have not failed, our merchants continue to "run" their customers, and the farmers have garnered in some provisions for another year. He who "tempereth the wind to the shorn lamb" hath sent us an Autumn of unparalleled brightness, enabling the harvester to save all that he made. The hay, pea and hog crops are worth thousands of dollars—to say nothing of the wonderful output, liquid and solid, of our matchless pine forests and lumbering mills. Yet, because our fleecy staple has fallen behind in quantity and price, there is doubtless a dearth of cash. This will call for redoubled efforts on our part to induce the people to give even up to the usual meager measure to those causes which most distinctly represent our faith to Christ—our compassion for his soldiers on outpost and pioneering service.

The domestic and foreign missionary collections represent this claim. As a rule, our bravest and truest are at work in these kindred fields of battling labor. Put yourself in the place of the devoted brother who has been sent to a poor and wide-extended circuit, in the country—his home too far from most of the people he serves faithfully for such a thing as "a storm" or "pounding party" ever to help out the meager living of the half-supported family—perhaps a wife and six or more children. He is morally obliged to go in debt for actual subsistence. He tries, and possibly succeeds, in keeping within the appropriation made for him at last Conference, clinging tenaciously to the hope that the Board will "pay off in full."

Brethren, we can not do this unless a heroic and herculean effort be made during these few remaining days to bring up ever dollar of our missionary assessment. The case of our city missionaries is as appalling as of those in the country. Usually a larger proportion of their scanty support must come through the Board. They have lived through the year on "energy, faith and time." Times have been even harder with the poor of our cities than with the rural districts. Theirs is an urgent, pleading case! Will you not consider this cause as your own?—and truly it may be so more nearly than we think. Ours is a rotating office. It is not fair to keep one set of men as victims all the time. Our turn may come next—any of us. Then let us put in such work as we would like our brothers to do for us under mutual exchange of positions. Let the deep poverty of our people joyfully abound unto rich liberality to this cause. Press it home on their hearts and consciences, brethren, with prayerful persistence!

Your servant in the cause,

J. P. DRAKE,
Sec. Conf. Board.

Notice.

HO! FOR LOUISIANA CONFERENCE!

The Texas and Pacific and the Southern Pacific grant excursion rates for one fare going and one-third fare returning, on the certificate plan. Tickets on sale Dec. 11. Return tickets to be purchased within two days after Conference adjourns. The other roads have not yet been heard from.

C. W. CARTER.

Fall Meeting of the Theological and Pastoral Society of Sardis District, North Mississippi Conference.

A most pleasant and quite profitable meeting of this society was held in the Methodist Church at Sardis, Miss., Oct. 18 and 19, 1893.

Owing to pressure of work and other circumstances, Bros. Goar, Williams, Dye, Malone and Huggins were not in attendance, very much to our regret. Very fortunately, however, each subject for discussion had a representative, and nearly everyone presented a paper on his subject. All were free to participate in the discussions. The presence of Rev. J. L. Cooper, of the C. P. Church, and Rev. Hutchison, pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church at Sardis, Miss., added to the interest and profit of the meeting. Bro. Cooper remained and delivered a lecture on temperance that was good to edifying. The sermons were furnished us by Bros. Geddie, Gibbs, Johnston, Cameron, and Wyatt; being such as these men only can deliver, and as are for the good of souls. The annual election of officers resulted in retaining those of the present year for the next. The next meeting will be held at Pleasant Hill, Miss.

Reviewing these meetings from their commencement, there are some noticeable facts to be seen. The attention of the preachers has been called to many most vital questions, which have been closely studied and discussed, bringing rich stores of information to all participating. They have grown in interest and profit, in that a capacity for and liberty in critical and elaborate discussion has been developed and put to service. All unite, all speak, and all are educated. Just here we might moralize somewhat. Any member absenting himself becomes a loser, so that all diligence should be used to be present and prepared for the work.

Then large benefits accrue to the general membership of the church. The whole force of the clergy of the district, in discussion and in preaching, is focalized upon the different congregations at frequent periods, educating and quickening them, as well as sending a like thrill throughout the district by the effect upon the preachers. Now, suppose we push the work as heretofore, and also take an advance step and bring out a district organ of modest pretentions and powerful usefulness to assist in carrying the work into every nook and corner of the district.

BEN. P. JACO,
Sec. and Treas.

Eureka Springs, Miss.

Notice.

To the Members of the Louisiana Annual Conference:

All pastors who have claimants on the Conference collection within their pastoral charge will confer a favor upon the Joint Board of Finance by making a written report of the condition of said claimant; furthermore each pastor so doing will fulfill a solemn duty. (See Discipline, page 85, paragraph 134.)

S. S. KEENER,
Chair'n Joint Board, La. An. Conf.

Mississippi Conference Notices.

Applicants for admission on trial will please meet the committee for examination in Hazlehurst, Miss., Tuesdays, Dec. 5, at 3 P. M. Report to Rev. I. W. Cooper, D. D., and he will designate the place for meeting. By reference to page 26 of the Minutes of our last Conference you will see what will be required in "the ordinary branches of an English education."

W. B. LEWIS.

Members of class of first year, Mississippi Conference, will meet committee of examination at Methodist Church in Hazlehurst, Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 o'clock P. M., for examination.

As was determined at last Conference, the examination will be in writing, and time is necessary to make it thorough and satisfactory.

R. J. JONES, Chair'n Com.

The class of the first year will meet me for examination on Wesley's Sermons and Fletcher's Appeal, in the Presbyterian Church, Hazlehurst, Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 o'clock P. M. The examination will be in writing.

B. F. LEWIS.

The class of the second year will please meet the examining committee in the Methodist Church in Hazlehurst, Miss., on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, at half-past seven o'clock.

A. F. WATKINS,
For Committee.

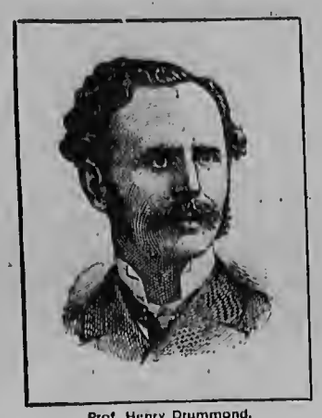
The class of the third year will meet the examining committee at the Methodist Church, Hazlehurst, Miss., nine o'clock A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 6

D. G. W. ELLIS,
H. W. FEATHERSTUN,
L. S. JONES,
Committee.

The class of the fourth year will please meet the committee at Hazlehurst, at 8 o'clock, Wednesday morning, Dec. 6. If possible, let all the class be on hand to begin with the examination. Please do not tax the committee with extra work by coming in late.

J. W. ELLISON,
For Committee.

The "Boys' Brigade" and its Boys.



Prof. Henry Drummond.

We all listen now when Professor Henry Drummond talks. This alert scientist has a warm heart for boys. One of his favorite themes is the "Boys' Brigade," on which he writes an admirable article for next year in

The Youth's Companion.

The Programme next year is brighter than ever. "SWEET CHARITY," a beautiful picture of Colonial times, in colors, 14½ x 21 inches in size, presented to all New (or Renewing) Subscribers. All New Subscribers sending $1.75 now, get THE COMPANION FREE to Jan. 1, and a full year from that date. Sample copies free. Boston, Mass.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

Revival at Felicity Street Church.

The meeting at Felicity Street Church closed on Sunday last after most gratifying results during the two weeks of Bros. Morrison's and Evans' stay. There were in the neighborhood of fifty sanctifications and about thirty conversions. The attendance was constantly large, the preaching quite above the common order all the time, and the divine witness so manifest and powerful, that even carping critics under the spell held their peace. Bro. Morrison was called away on Saturday by telegrams which bore the news that his wife was dying at their home in Lexington, Ky. He left us followed by the prayers and sympathies of the entire religious community, who learned to love as well as to admire him during his short and eventful stay among us. May the great Comforter comfort him in his trial.

J. M. BEARD.

Notice.

To the Members and Delegates of the Mississippi Conference:

The I. C. R. R. and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley R. R., with its branches, have granted the usual rates. No doubt we will hear favorably from the Q and C. Route. Members and delegates will purchase ticket, paying full fare, and secure receipt of same from agent, and when receipt is signed by secretary of Conference return tickets will be sold at the rate of one cent per mile.

R. P. WILLING, Sr., Chair'n.
E. M. COOK, Secretary.

Hazlehurst, Miss., Nov. 18, 1893.

Louisiana Conference Railroad Rates.

L. and N. W.—Gibbs to Homer. One fare for round trip. You pay $1.25, and get round-trip ticket.

V., S. and P.—Vicksburg and Shreveport to Gibbs. One and one-third fare on the certificate plan. Get a certificate when you buy your ticket, pay one fare, and on your return said certificate will enable you to buy a return ticket for one-third regular rate.

T. and P.—To be reported by Bro. W. B. Thomson, of New Orleans.

M. and Y. Valley Route.—To be reported by Bro. Thomson.

The L. and N. W. trains make direct connections with all trains on V., S. and P. at Gibbs, twenty miles from Homer.

TIME OF ARRIVAL AT HOMER.

From Shreveport, 8:30 A. M. From Vicksburg, 6.30 P. M.

Report at the church if not met at depot.

J. A. PARKER.

BEECHAM'S PILLS for a bad Liver.

"Samantha at the World's Fair"

Josiah Allen's Wife's New Book

JUST OUT. Over 100 illustrations by C. De Grimm. Everybody sure to want to read it.

With its 700 pages and handsome binding it settles the puzzling question of selecting a present, and makes just the

IDEAL BOOK FOR A CHRISTMAS GIFT.

AGENTS WANTED. Read what is said by one or two: "Eight orders on my way home—about 3 squares." "It goes like hot cakes. Took six orders this morning." "Nineteen names taken to-day." "I started out a little while on Saturday and this morning have twenty orders." "The book sells itself. Every one wants it. Prices, by mail, or through agents, cloth, $2.50; Half Russia, $3.00. Handsome prospectus and outfit for agents. Half a million copies sure to be sold. Write at once for terms to agents. $250 can be easily earned by Christmas.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY, Publishers, 18-20 Astor Place, New York. Samantha Meets the Duke of Veragua.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.

EMORY COLLEGE

OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta. Location Proverbially Healthy. No Saloons.

57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address

W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission into the Louisiana Annual Conference will meet at the Methodist Church in Homer, La., on Wednesday, Dec. 13.

J. M. BEARD, Chairman.

The class of the first year will meet at Methodist Church, Homer, La., at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 13.

WM. H. LA PRADE.

The class of the second year will meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Homer, La., Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 9:30 A. M.

COMMITTEE.

Lake Providence, La.

The class of the third year will please meet committee for examination in Homer, La., Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at seven o'clock, at such place as the pastor may designate, and oblige

THOS. B. WHITE,
For Committee.

Arcadia, La.

Louisiana Conference.

Col. S. B. McCutchen announces that preachers passing through Shreveport to and from Conference will be given half rates.

H. S. JOHNS.

Where is It?

The Brandon district record was at Natchez for examination at our last Conference. Since then we have not found it. We want to find it. Who knows where it is?

C. MCDONALD.

Notice.

Brethren who want any special books will confer a favor by letting us know at once, so that we may get them and have them on hand.

LAIRD & DOMINICK.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

I Have Just Received

A supply of Peloubet's and Hurlburt's Notes on the Sunday-school Lessons for 1894—$1.25 per copy. Order at once. Also Jack-Knife and Brambles, A Ramble among Surnames, and other new books for the holiday trade. Bibles from 25 cents to $25 by mail. Testaments from 5 cents to $3.50. A beautiful line and large lot of Christmas, New Year, birthday and Sunday school cards and booklets.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres street (near Canal), - New Orleans.

PROMPT RELIEF comes to the woman suffering from any of the painful disorders and derangements peculiar to her sex, if she accepts the help that's offered. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine so certain in its effects that it can be guaranteed. In every case, if it doesn't benefit or cure, your money is returned.

Beautiful women know how much they owe to good health. If you wish to be beautiful, keep the natural functions of the body in proper state and you'll be healthy.

A train of disorders follow the derangement of the womanly functions. For nervous prostration, excitability, fainting spells, dizziness, spasms, convulsions, or "fits," this remedy relieves and cures.

Take it when you suffer from sleeplessness, backache and bearing-down sensations, for the prompt relief it imparts.

FOR CATARRH!
RHEUMATISM!
LA GRIPPE!
INDIGESTION!

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 8, 1893.
Some years ago I had an attack of grip, which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used King's Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure in my case. I had indigestion, and it cured that also. I have recommended it to several persons who were afflicted with different diseases, and always with the happiest results.
REV. J. W. HOWARD,
Baptist City Missionary.

BEAUFORT, N. C., June 7, 1893.
I was a sufferer from rheumatism for eight months, part of the time was so that I could not walk. I was entirely cured by King's Royal Gemetuer. I have no symptoms of rheumatism now. I think it is a great medicine.
IVAN B. ABERNATHY.

What Rev. Sam Jones Says.

Rev. Sam Jones, the great evangelist, writes: "My wife, who was an invalid from nervous sick headache, has been entirely cured by Royal Germetuer. I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine. Two of my children were cured of nasal catarrh by it. It is truly a great medicine."

For Children, Nervous Troubles and Weak and Debilitated Females, Royal Germetuer is unequalled. Try it. $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.

King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Germetuer Pills for Constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,
Attorney-at-Law,
49 CAMP STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.
Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.
The Leading Conservatory of America.
In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss

---

Mississippi
Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

WHERE THE CROSS-ROADS MEET.

BY J. P.

Charlie Brown was sauntering down
The road that led to the noisy town,
When he came to a spot where a post was set,
At a point where a couple of cross-roads met.
Up at the top of the post so stout,
Were a pair of wooden arms stretched out,
With an index finger to point the way
To those who feared they might go astray.

One sign in lettering black and bold,
The right direction to pilgrims told;
And those who would its wise counsel heed,
Had only to pause for a moment and read.
The other, that pointed off to the left,
Was badly blurred, and of paint bereft,
And Charlie Brown had to stand quite still
To decipher the legend—"To Spiritville."

"To Spiritville! I'de like to know
If that is the way I ought to go!"
Said the thoughtful boy; "for my mother says
She wants me to cultivate manly ways,
And to have a spirit both brave and strong,
To do the right and to shun the wrong."
And the tracks in the red clay plainly showed,
That most of the travel was by that road.

And then he paused; for he chanced to think
Of what he had heard of the love of drink,
How it robbed a man of his wit and wealth,
Destroying happiness, home, and health;
How it roused the passions and led him on
To crimes too dreadful to dwell upon;
And sank him lower and lower, until
He rolled in the gutters of Spiritville.

"Yes, that is the place," said Charley Brown,
"Where they do their best to pull a man down;
Where rum and whisky and gin and beer,
And brandy poison the almosphere,
So that folks can't keep in their sober senses;
And there are placards along the fences
Of wonderful 'bitters,' that I am sure
Will kill more folks than they'll ever cure.

"Why, they say in Spiritville there are traps
On purpose to capture innocent chaps,
And the arts of the evil one they employ
Down there, to get control of a boy!
And I've often and often heard mother say,
The road is down-hill the whole of the way,
And those who have once set foot in that track
Find it exceeding hard to turn back.

"The sign-post tells me—and tells me true—
'There's a right and a wrong way, boy, for you,
And a place in the path before your feet,
Where two bewildering cross-roads meet;'
And while I'm young I'll say with a will,
You'll never catch me in Spiritville!"
And, whistling cheerily, Charley Brown
Took the right hand road to Temperance Town.

Sweet Homes.

The happiest, sweetest and tenderest homes are not those where there has been no sorrow, but those which have been overshadowed with grief, and where Christ's comfort was accepted. The very memory of the sorrow is a gentle benediction that broods over the household, like the silence that comes after prayer. There is a blessing sent from God in every burden of sorrow. In one of the battles of the Crimea, a cannon ball struck inside a fort, gashing the earth and sadly marring the garden beauty of the place, but from the ugly chasm there burst forth a spring of water which flowed on thereafter, a living fountain. So the strokes of sorrow gash our hearts, but they open for us fountains of blessing and new life. These are the hints of the blessings of burdens. Our dull task-work, accepted, will train us into strong and noble character. Our temptations and hardships, met victoriously, knit thews and sinews of strength in our soul. Our pain and sorrow, endured with sweet trust and submission, leave us, purified and enriched, with more of Christ in us. In every burden that God lays upon us there is a blessing for us, if we will take it.—Selected.

Finish What You Begin.

My old great-grandmother Knox had a way of making her children finish their work. If they began a thing they must complete it. If they undertook to build a cob-house they must not leave it till it was done; and nothing of the work or play to which they set their hands would she allow them to abandon incomplete. I sometimes wish I had been trained in this way. How much of life is wasted in unfinished work! Many a man uses up his time in splendid beginnings. The labor devoted to commence ten things and leave them useless would finish five of them and make them profitable and useful. Finish your work. Life is brief; time is short. Stop beginning forty things, and go back to finish four.

The Pin and the Needle.

A Pin and a Needle, being neighbors in a work-basket, and both being idle, began to quarrel, as idle folks are apt to do.

"I should like to know," said the Pin, "what you are good for, and how you expect to get through the world without a head?"

"What is the use of your head," replied the Needle, rather sharply, "if you have no eye?"

"What is the use of an eye," said the Pin, "if there is always something in it?"

"I am more active and can do more work than you can," said the Needle.

"Yes; but you will not live long."

"Why not?"

"Because you have always a stitch in your side," said the Pin.

"You're a poor crooked creature," said the Needle.

"And you are so proud that you can't bend without breaking your back."

"I'll pull your head off if you insult me again!"

"I'll put you eye out if you touch me; remember your life hangs by a single thread," said the Pin.

While they thus conversed, a little girl entered, and undertaking to sew, she soon broke off the Needle at the eye. Then she tied the thread around the neck of the Pin, and attempting to sew with it, she pulled its head off, and threw it by the side of the broken Needle.

"We have nothing to fight about now," said the Pin; "misfortune has brought us to our senses."

"A pity we had not come to them sooner," said the Needle. "How much we resemble human beings, who never find out they are brothers till they lie down in the dust together as we do."

Keep a Clean Mouth.

A distinguished author says, "I resolved, when I was a child, never to use a word which I could not pronounce before my mother." He kept his resolution, and became a pure-minded, noble, honored gentleman. His rule and example are worthy of imitation.

Boys readily learn a class of low, vulgar words and expressions, which are never heard in respectable circles. Of course, we can not think of girls as being so much exposed to this peril. We can not imagine a decent girl using words she would not utter before her father or mother.

Such vulgarity is thought by some boys to be "smart," the "next thing to swearing," and yet, "not so wicked;" but it is a habit which leads to profanity, and fills the mind with evil thoughts. It vulgarizes and degrades the soul, and prepares the way for many of the gross and fearful sins which now corrupt society.

Young readers, keep your mouths free from all impurity, and your "tongue from evil;" but in order to do this, ask Jesus to cleanse your heart, and keep it clean, for "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh."—The Christian.

Be Tender and Loving.

Do not keep alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. The things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them. If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away full of perfumes of sympathy and affection which they intend to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them out now, in my weary hours, and open them that I may be refreshed and cheered.—Baptist Weekly.

Don't talk much about giving the devil his due until you are sure if he had it he would not have you.—Ram's Horn.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

OUR CHILDREN.

ARE ALL THE CHILDREN IN?

The darkness falls, the wind is high,
Dense black clouds fill the western sky.
The storm will soon begin;
The thunders roar, the lightnings flash,
I hear the great round raindrops dash—
Are all the children in?

They're coming softly to my side,
Their forms within my arms I hide;
No other arms are sure.
The storm may rage with fury wild,
With trusting faith each little child
With mother feels secure.

But future days are drawing near;
They'll go from this warm shelter here
Out to the world's wide din;
The rain will fall, the cold wind blow,
I'll sit alone, and long to know,
Are all the children in?

Will they have shelter then secure,
Where hearts are waiting strong and sure,
And love is true and tried?
Or will they find a broken reed,
When strength of heart they so much need
To help them brave the tide?

God knows it all; his will is best;
I'll shield them now, and yield the rest
To his most gracious hand;
Sometimes the souls he loves is riven
By tempest wild, and thus are driven
Nearer the better land.

If he should call us home before
The children land on that blessed shore,
Afar from care and sin,
I know that I shall watch and wait
Till he, the Keeper of the gate,
Lets all the children in.

—The Christian at Work.

The Self-Denial of Parents.

That parents should deny themselves superfluities for the sake of their children, is not in the least to their credit; it is meet, right and their bounden duty. That they should give their children better advantages than they have had themselves, is equally, in the nature of things, their proper line of conduct. Each generation owes to the one in advance all that it can bestow of preparation, of culture, of opportunity and of privilege. The self-denial of parents is the tribute the race demands; it is not especially notable nor particularly praiseworthy, because it is the appointed and expected role which is given to people when they take upon them the obligations of parenthood.

But self-denial on the part of parents is one thing, and self-effacement quite another. The plain man and the plain woman who have scrimped and stinted and saved, contrived, managed, risen early and sat up late, to send their sons and daughters to college, to educate them liberally, to place them well in the world, are not to be set aside as of small account when their children arrive at maturity.

They are wrong to allow themselves to be pushed to the wall, set in the background, as they sometimes are. The mother may not know Euclid, or have the faintest acquaintance with the Greek poets; the music her daughter plays may be a Chinese puzzle to her comprehension; but she does know a whole world of science, not necessarily in books, to which her daughter can gain no clew in the classroom, since life must be the teacher. The father may speak a less ornate vernacular than his boys' vocabulary; but he has the shrewdness, the acquaintance with men, which come only by intercourse with one's fellows, by joy and sorrow, and the different phases through which all pass who live long enough. It should be no part of the self-denial of parents to do without the deference, the tenderness, the regard, of those whom they have brought up.

One finds it oftener in a comparatively new country than in the more conventional life of our cities, a state of things in which parents seem to have been outgrown by their children. There are farm-houses in our frontier States where women, not yet middle-aged, have put on gray hairs and wrinkles, lost the beauty and elasticity of youth, years before their time, resignedly accepting privation and toil and loneliness to give their girls a chance. If the girls are noble, sweet-natured and true, they will hold the dear mother in the greatest esteem because of all that she has done for them. Far from entertaining a feeling of pride or of complacency, they will repay the beautiful self-denial of their parents by a devotion which never knows a shade of diminution. It is an ignoble nature alone which is capable of feeling ashamed of those who belong to one's kith and kin on account of any simplicity of manner or plainness of speech. Self-denial must not become self-effacement.

A few years ago it was not uncommon to find the parents of young people rather crowded out of the way, the drawing-rooms given up to the youthful daughters and their friends, while the mother and father sat by themselves in a basement dining-room, or their own chamber. A better state of things obtains now, and young people have learned that society is crude and unsatisfactory in which parents have not their fitting place.—Harper's Bazar.

The Faithful Father.

BY MOODY.

There was a good Christian man who was a member of the Presbyterian Church. One day his sweet little boy was taken sick. When he went home his wife was weeping, and she said:

"Our boy is dying; he has had a change for the worse. I wish you would go in and see him, John."

The father went in and placed his hand upon the brow of his dying boy, and could feel that the cold, damp sweat was gathering there; that the cold, icy hand of death were feeling for the chords of life.

"Do you know, my boy, that you are dying?" asked the weeping father.

"Am I, father? Is this death? Do you really think I am dying?"

"Yes, my son, your end on earth is near."

"And will I be with Jesus to-night, father?"

"Yes, you will be with the Savior."

"Father, don't weep, for when I get there I will go straight to Jesus, and tell him that you have been trying all my life to lead me to him."

"God has given me two little children," said Mrs. Moody, "and ever since I can remember I have directed them to Christ, and I would rather they carried this message to Jesus—that I had tried all my life to lead them to him—than have all the crowns of the earth; and I would rather lead them to Jesus than give them the wealth of the world. I challenge any man to speak of heaven without speaking of children. For of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Start Well.

Much depends upon a cheerful start for the day. The man who leaves his home with a scowl on his brow, and a snap at his children, and a tart speech to his wife, instead of a kiss, is not likely to be pleasant company for anybody during the day. He will probably come home with a temper of a porcupine.

Wise plans should be laid for every day, so that it be not an idle saunter or an aimless bustling to and fro. Yet, to make good speed on the right track, we must not start overloaded; not too many things to be undertaken, lest they prove hasty botch-work. The journey is not made in a cusioned car, but on foot, and the most galling load is vexatious and worrying care. One step at a time is all that the most busy Christian can take, and steady walking ought not to tire any healthy body or soul. It is the overstrained rush, whether in business or study, that breaks people down; especially the insane greed for wealth or the mad ambition goading brains and nerves to a fury.

A good rule is to take short views. Sufficient to the day is the toil thereof; no man is strong enough to bear to-day's load with the morrow's piled on top of it. The only long look far ahead that you and I should take should be the look toward the judgment seat, and the offered crown at the end of the race. That is the way to get a taste of heaven in advance.—The Rev. T. L. Cuyler.

A good Quaker, eighty-five years of age, whom no one ever heard speak a cross word, was asked by a young man how he had been able, through the trials and perplexities of a long life, to keep always so pleasant.

He replied, "Dayton, if thee never allows thy voice to rise, thee won't ever be likely to get very angry."

Let us remember this, children, and try to keep our voices "soft and low."

Not to Be Improved.

This pretty story is told of a distinguished lawyer. He and his wife were at a social gathering, where the question was discussed, "Who would you rather be if not yourself?"

His wife asked him for his reply to the question.

He answered promptly, "Your second husband, dear."

Some of the devil's best helpers sit close to the pulpit in church.

Get Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys; they are made of tough glass, tough against heat; they do not break in use; they do from accident.

They are clear, transparent, not misty. Look at your chimney. How much of the light is lost in the fog?

Be willing to pay a little more.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

DON'T Waste money. Vacuum Leather Oil saves leather; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Said the Owl

to himself, "If the moon I could get;" whenever I'm dry my throat I could wet; The moon is a quarter—with a quarter I hear; you can purchase five gallons of

Hires' Root Beer."

A Delicious, Temperance, Thirst-quenching, Health-Giving Drink. Good for any time of year.

A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Be sure and get HIRES'.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it, I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. E. Pinch, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that Malaria from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. E. Pinch, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at Par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. LOWN, Mills Building, New York.

---

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

MARRIAGES.

LEGETT-KENDRICK.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Rehoboth, Sept. 27, 1893, by Rev. D. F. Guice, Mr. Walter E. Legett to Miss Anna Keodrick, all of Claiborne county, Miss.

CLARK—BROWN.—At the residence of the bride's father, Oct. 4, 1893, by Rev. D. F. Guice, Mr. W. A. Clark to Miss M. J. Brown, all of Claiborne county, Miss.

BURNET—UPTON.—At the Methodist Church, Alexandria, La., Nov. 14, 1893, by Rev. S. J. Davies, Mr. W. T. Burnet, of Minden, La., to Miss Iroce Upton, of Alexandria.

WATSON—WHITE.—In Meridian, Miss., Nov. 19, 1893, by Rev. T. L. Mellen, Mr. William H. Watson, of Kemper county, Miss., and Miss Annie White, of Meridian.

BRIGGS—LARKIN.—At the Felicity Street Church, New Orleans, Nov. 14, by Rev. J. M. Beard, Mr. Martin Briggs and Mrs. Barbara Larkin.

LOWE—HOWE.—At the residence of the bride, Algiers, La., by Rev. J. M. Beard, Dr. Lee G. Lowe and Miss Lona W. Howe.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 800 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 800. Poetry excluded from this column.

DOWNER—Mrs. IDA DOWNER, daughter of Geo. S. and Wannie Nellie, was born Dec. 12, 1856, and died, after a long and painful illness, at her home in Cooksville, Noxubee county, Miss., Sept. 29, 1893.

She was first married to Samuel Rogers, who lived but a short time and died, leaving her with one child, which also died. She afterward married John C. Downer, her present husband, by whom she had three children, all of whom she leaves behind. Sister Downer joined the Methodist Church when quite young, and lived a faithful and consistent Christian to the end.

She has crossed over into the sweet and beautiful beyond. Like a dream she passed away into that celestial city that hath foundations, whose maker and builder is God. She was naturally endowed with those virtues that make and adorn the character of a true woman. Her life was a benediction and blessing to all with whom she came in touch. As a wife, mother, daughter, sister or friend none excelled her. She was pure in heart and righteous in soul. Her nobility of soul and excellence of character won the love and admiration of all who knew her. Her implicit confidence in the merciful providence of God and patient resignation to his will, her even and sweet-spirited fidelity to his cause and all temporal interests, the guileless-hearted, Christian eloquence of her life make for her a character worthy of admiration, love and emulation.

"Death loves a shining mark." When the final struggle came she pillowed her head upon the promises and will of God and the love of her Savior, and swung out from the sunshine and shadows of this world into the eternal and ineffable glory of the Sun of Righteousness.

While it is sad to contemplate the death of such a woman, it is a blessing for her to have lived among us. Her husband and children were blessed in her life, and it is sad to be left alone. But lift yourself up, my brother; you have the Savior left you yet, and God is already calling us to a higher and brighter life, and this separation will not be but for a little while. I know the cup seems bitter, and we are sometimes a long time drinking it; but lift your tear-stained face heavenward, and by faith look into that home of eternal glory, where the blood-washed throng of God will meet never to part again, and you will find a surcease for every pain and every woe

May her husband and sweet little children, who were the source of her brightest earthly hopes and sweetest joys, emulate her noble Christian life and live to meet wife and mother in the sweet beyond. J. N. D. KINO.

FARMER—Sister EMMA FARMER, daughter of R. Y. and Sarah Hewitt, was born June 13, 1859; married J. R. Farmer in 1879, and died Sept. 7, leaving five motherless little children, a devoted husband, her aged parents, brothers and sisters, with a large circle of friends, to mourn her absence. May the Lord bless the precious little children, aid the father in training them for God and heaven, and may he sustain the relatives and friends by his presence and grace!

Sister Farmer was a devoted Christian, and while she suffered long and much she endured it with great fortitude and resignation to the will of her heavenly Father, who doeth all things well. She enjoyed her religion, and often referred to its sustaining power, and frequently exhorted sinners to forsake their sins and turn to Christ, as she would meet them in her home, on the highway or elsewhere. She was not ashamed of her Savior. Her church and community will miss her.

To the husband, children and sorrowing friends we would say: So live that you may meet again in the Elysian Fields.

Her old pastor, W. J. O'BRYANT.

HARPER—Mrs. DOTTIE BLANKS HARPER was born in Columbia, La., Oct. 19, 1861. She was educated at Sylvester High School, in New Orleans, and graduated at Afton Villa in 1879; united with the M. E. Church, South, at the age of eighteen in Columbia, La. In 1880 she was married to Mr. John E. Davis, who died in 1883. In 1886 she was again married to Mr. John J. Harper. She died of consumption in San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 17, 1893.

During her long illness she was perfectly resigned to God's will. Until disabled by disease she was a diligent worker in the church and the great temperance reform. She was a delegate to the National Convention of the W. C. T. U., held in Boston, Mass., October, 1891, and was elected State treasurer in 1892.

When she was removed to San Antonio for her health, it was as if a bright star had been blotted from our social and religious sky. Her remains sleep with those of her loved ones in the cemetery at Columbia, La. She leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her departure. B. F. WHITE, P. C.

HAYNES—JIMMIE LUCILLE HAYNES, youngest child of James E. and Alice Haynes, died Oct. 6, 1893, and was buried in the Black Hawk Graveyard, Carroll county, Miss.

Jimmie was about three years old, a bright, sweet little child, baptized by the writer only a month before her death. How sweet and innocent she looked up at the minister when she was baptized, while he prayed God's blessing upon her, will never be forgotten! She was indeed a little rosebud on earth, but God has gathered it to bloom in heaven. He has removed it from the blighting climes of earth to bloom in Paradise above.

"He said, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." She was brought to him, and he has carried her home. God bless the bereaved ones and save them in glory!

J. N. D. K.

COKER—AVA LEE COKER, little daughter of G. W. and Mrs. Alice Coker, of Clark county, Miss., was born Feb. 6, 1891, and, after suffering for eight days, died of congestion of the brain, Oct. 1, 1893, being at the time of her death two years eight months and twenty five days old. She was a dear, sweet little girl. She was bright and full of life as she could be, and was the joy of the home. Little Ava was loved by all who knew her, and very dearly by her parents. May God graciously sustain them in this sore bereavement, and help them to feel that though she can not come back to them, they can go to her. And she will be at the beautiful gate waiting and watching for them and all the loved ones.

Farewell, dear little Ava, for awhile, and we will meet in the sweet by-and-by. May God bless father and mother, brothers and sisters.

Her brother-in-law, H. M. ATWOON.

Enterprise, Miss.

RICHARDSON—LEVI LAGRONE RICHARDSON, baby boy of Jas. L. and M. E. Richardson, was born March 2, 1892, and died Oct. 12, 1893; was baptized by W. S. Lagrone, for whom he bore a part of his name, Jan. 5, 1893.

His stay was brief, yet he won many hearts to himself, and now when we think of him, it is as a treasure in heaven, which encourages us in our struggle onward and upward; as one of the Master's jewels, as another cord binding us closer to the throne of God. By perfect consecration to the service of God we will be able to sing with him in heaven. Death is swallowed up in victory. O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? Then we will understand many things that are now mysterious. Blessed be the Lord that taketh! Blessed be the Lord that gave!

C. H. PITTMAN.

PILGRIM—NANCY PILGRIM was born in Alabama, Aug. 28, 1829; was married to Mr. Ezekiel Pilgrim, March 30, 1854; died at the home of her son, John Pilgrim, in Neshoba county, Miss., Oct. 30, 1893, aged sixty-four years two months and seven days. Sister Pilgrim united herself with the M. E. Church, South, about forty-three years ago. During this period of her membership she endeavored to keep the rules of her church.

Her last words on earth were: "Lord Jesus, bless my children and take me home."

Dear relatives, strive to follow her as she followed Christ, that you may meet her again where weeping is no more.

J. H. FOREMAN.

KEESEE—FANNIE EMMA, third daughter of Jesse and Zilla Keesee, was born Feb. 28, 1886, and died Oct. 24, 1893. Her death came not unexpectedly. For a long time her parents had known that they could not hope to see her fully grown. Her afflictions drew her nearer her father and mother, and for some time she had been the pet of the home.

Little Fannie, as we loved to call her, was a little Christian girl, and bore her dread affliction with remarkable fortitude, and delighted to speak on religious subjects and inquire of its teachings. "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord!"

C. H. PITTMAN.

WATKINS—EDWARD MURRAY WATKINS was born May 29 1891; died Oct. 8t, 1893, aged two years five months and two days. Edward was a loving child. The writer extends to the bereft father and mother his heart-felt sympathy, and points them to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world.

May the blessings of God ever attend that home, and the vacant seat of little Edward be filled with the mercies of God! Dear parents and children, live godly, and you will not be long separated from your loved one.

J. H. FOREMAN, Pastor.

LONG—Mrs. MOLLIE LONG was born Oct. 3, 1857; died Oct. 8, 1893, aged thirty-six years and five days. She had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, about ten years. She leaves a husband and three children to mourn their loss. May God bless them in their bereavement and meet her at last in the sweet by-and-by. J. H. FOREMAN, Pastor.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1052 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Brain-workers who confine themselves closely within doors have little appreciation of the inspiration which a long walk and close contact with nature can furnish. Not a few literary and professional men have considerably prolonged their lives and increased their usefulness by walking in the open air, through fields, and forests, climbing mountains, and communing with the Creator through his works. In this way some great ministers prepare their sermons, and great poets and thinkers have found the influence of the winds and sunshine helpful to their meditations.—New York Christian Advocate.

For over fifty years Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar has cured coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, throat and lung affections. It is the regular prescription of a physician of extensive practice, who, after prescribing it for twenty years, was induced by the gratifying results to make it a proprietary medicine. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar soon became known as the best remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Why? Because it has merit and will cure. A. C. Hattlefinger, Philadelphia, says: "I know a man suffering with his lungs who was in the hospital a year without benefit. I induced him to take Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and to-day he is well. I know it saved his life." Try it.

You want good work out of your preacher; you demand that he should always be at his best. Reduce the temperature of his brain, and increase that of his heart, by keeping him free from care; and he can then give you his best, in everything.—Pacific Methodist.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 27

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.
H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS LA.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
PAPER HANGING, Glazing and Kalsomining.
(Estimates Given Free.)
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3 236 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,420,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. O. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.

Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.
For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.
Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

No new cases of yellow fever were reported at Brunswick on Nov. 25.

Nov. 25 was celebrated as Labor Day in New Orleans. The banks and municipal buildings were closed.

The women of this city have effected an organization to work against the indiscriminate licensing of saloons.

Captain Zalinski was offered $15,000 by the Brazilian government for a month's service in showing its sailors how to work his gun.

General Master Workman Powderly tendered his resignation to the general assembly of the Knights of Labor on Nov. 25. No action was taken upon it.

The public school teachers of this city met on Nov. 25, and a demand was filed for a municipal appropriation equal to the increased needs of the public school system. A committee was appointed to urge the plan before the Council committee which will frame the budget for the coming year.

The official speed of the United States cruiser "Columbia" was reported to the Secretary of the Navy by Rear Admiral Belknap, president of the trial board. He found the ship fulfilled the contract requirements in every respect. The official speed is 22.8 knots, giving her builders a premium of $350,000, at the rate of $50 000 for each quarter knot over the contract requirements of 21 knots.

The Democratic members of Congress Committee on Ways and Means completed their tariff bill late on Nov. 25, the last of it finally acted upon being the sugar schedule. The duty on refined sugar is reduced from a half to a quarter of a cent a pound. Raw sugar remains free of tax. The McKinley bounty is repealed progressively, that is, one-eight each year, so at the end of eight years is is to cease entirely, beginning in 1895.

The International Revenue Commissioner's annual report is very elaborate on the subject of sugar. Most of the sum of $16,717,208 67 distributed under the bounty law has gone to the producers of cane sugar, mainly in Louisiana. This distribution has devolved upon the internal revenue office much work, requiring system for its successful performance. There were 6,753 sugar producers licensed during the last fiscal year, and the sum of $9,305,130 88 was paid upon 482,125,081 pounds of sugar.

The Tariff bill, made public by the Ways and Means Committee, on Nov. 27, is truly a radical measure. In many respects it is a surprise even to the Democratic members of Congress, as it is unprecedented in many of its provisions. The free list is of that liberal scope sufficient to satisfy the most radical advocates of reform and the repudiation of the principle of reciprocity. Thus, the tariff bill, in addition to the reforms it makes in the customs laws, will necessitate immediate readjustment of treaties with those South American countries which enjoy practical or theoretical reciprocity with the United States. The duty on cleaned rice has been reduced to one and a half cents, and on the uncleaned article to one cent a pound.

FOREIGN.

The Italian ministry has resigned.

It is reported that a revolution has broken out in Pernambuco.

The Brazilian revolution continues, with varying successes on either side.

The Servian Cabinet has resigned. The reason given is the tariff conflict with Austria-Hungary.

England will increase her navy, and provisions have been made to avoid delays and to rapidly complete the work.

A dispatch to the London Times from Teheran says that 12,000 persons have perished in an earthquake at Kucha. Ten thousand bodies have already been recovered and 2,000 are still in the ruins. Fifty thousand cattle have been destroyed so far. The shocks still continue.

Owing to the spread of dissent to the Russian army, the Czar, on the advice of M. Pobiedonoitzoff, the chief of the Holy Synod, has issued a ukase to the effect that soldiers and officers belonging to any other faith than the orthodox Greek Church will henceforth receive no further promotion.

The French Chamber of Deputies was the scene of tumultuous confusion on Nov. 25, as the result of the controversy over the legislative programme. Premier Dupuy made an attempt to restore confidence, but the opposition created an uproar, which concluded with the entire Cabinet resigning.

Following close upon the resignations of the French and Italian ministries, comes the report that there is trouble in the Spanish Cabinet, with the prospect of a crisis in the near future. Events of recent occurrence have conspired to weaken popular confidence in the ministry in Spain, as, for instance, the bungling campaign against the Moors and the apparent inability to cope with the anarchist troubles.

No other sarsaparilla has the merit to hold the confidence of entire communities year after year, as has Hood's Sarsaparilla. It possesses curative power peculiar to itself.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25c.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. A. D. Miller, Oak Ridge, Miss.: "The fourth Quarterly Conference for Warren circuit, Vicksburg district, Mississippi Conference, was held at Oak Ridge Church. Our highly esteemed presiding elder, Rev. D. A. Little, was at his post in due time and preached two of his best sermons fine and stirred up the pure minds of the brethren. We hope to have him another year. The Warren circuit is on the up grade, doing very well. I think we will make a good showing for this hard year; will probably pay all assessments. We have a good work and people. May God graciously bless them all!"

Rev. D. P. Bradford, P. C., Shubuta, Miss., Nov. 10: "As the Conference year will soon close, I will say a few things of my work. We have had thirty-six accessions on profession of faith, besides several by certificate. Our assessments will all be full, with $50 additional, I think, on the missionary debt. The old two-story church at Quitman is torn down to give place for a neat $1 500 house. From an elect lady of Quitman we received, a few days ago, three nice young gobblers for extra occasions. I believe we have the most religious depot agent in our work on the M. and O. road. Our people are very kind to us. We have had no poundings, but waots are promptly met."

Rev. H. L. Norton, Madison, Miss.: "Our second year on the Madison charge is almost gone. How pleasant it has been! We have had plenty to do and every encouragement to work; books to master in view of a committee—hard books—and people to visit, yes, three hundred Methodist people, kind and appreciative as ever bore the name of Methodism, and four attentive congregations to minister to each month. Could a preacher have a more powerful incentive to be up and doing? Truly any minister would be bound to such a people with the strongest ties of Christian fellowship. During the present year our laboring together has resulted in about forty accessions to the church and some conversions. There is no doubt of an advance in the spiritual condition of the charge. Our finances are considerably in the arrears, but further settlements will be made before Annual Conference. Some repairs have been made on the parsonage and one of our churches during the year. Success to the ADVOCATE and its new editor."

Rev. W. M. Sullivan, P. C., Franklinton, La., Nov. 10: "We are winding up our second year's work at this place, which has been pleasant, indeed, to the writer and his family. This work has developed in two years from $340 into $600, without any new churches added to the charge. Collections ordered by the Conference advanced in proportion to the preacher's salary. All claims will be met by Conference. The results of this year's work is as follows: Ninety-one accessions, seventeen infants baptized, only two deaths, thirteen removed by certificate and otherwise, four marriages, with more to follow. There is yet a great work to be done here, and I am planning for another year's work here, if the Bishop don't upset me at Conference. The preacher appointed to this charge will find a pleasant home, a good, kind, appreciative people. Our book man says we have the only Sunday-school that has ordered three standard libraries in twelve months. This the school at this place has done, besides fifty Bibles and twenty copies of the New Testament have been distributed among the children in the school."

Rev. J. F. Evans, Williamsburg circuit, Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, Nov. 16 1893: "Yesterday closed my fourth quarterly meeting. Neither preacher nor presiding elder paid up in full, and I fear will not be up when the stewards meet on the first Saturday in December; but we are ahead of last year at this date with all the collections. We have had the best revivals this year than any year out of the four years of my service. Have held four protracted meetings, and received 72 into the church, baptized 40 adults and 13 children, and many were born of God and made heirs with Christ. We have labored very hard these four years to build up this circuit and make it self-sustaining, and we thank God for the success we have had. We found it nothing more than a mission four years ago; but now we have five churches on the work—four new, three finished, one complete, painted in and out; all out of debt, titles good to all five; one parsonage partly furnished, house not quite finished, though very comfortable; and the preacher that comes here will not find this work as bad as some think. Plenty of the best of people all round the work. We regret to leave them; we have learned to love them. We pray God to send them a godly preacher next year. We are trying to help the ADVOCATE. Pray for us."

Rev. A. H. Shannon, P. C., East Pearl mission, Miss., Nov. 13: "We began a meeting at Gainesville, Miss., on the second instant. Bro. C. H. Ellis, of New Iberia, La., came to us Nov. 4. The meeting closed on the ninth instant. God was gracious to us and our people. Think we may safely say there were twelve or fifteen conversions. The church was revived and strengthened. Six were received on profession of faith and four by letter. A number will probably join other churches. A young ladies' prayer meeting was organized, and we trust the work of the Lord will continue to prosper. Our church has neglected this section, but we trust a bright future is before us, and that the church will awake to its possibilities. We began a meeting at Orvisburg the tenth instant. Interest is increasing with each service. The Holy Spirit is working mightily on the hearts of many of the people here, and we expect great results. The 'after meeting' of last evening surpassed any I have yet seen for calm, deep and effective work. May the good work continue! Bro. C. H. Ellis is devoting himself wholly to the evangelistic work, and is meeting with success wherever he goes. He believes in the 'second blessing' theory of sanctification, but this does not lead him to the extremes to which many go. He teaches very clearly the necessity of a high standard of Christian life and a corresponding experience."

John A. White, Jr., Clinton, La.: "I have been taught it was never too late to do a good act or tell of anything of benefit to the public. Therefore I want to let you know that there is such a place as above stated, and we have a Methodist Church here. I will state that on Oct. 7, 1893, by invitation of our pastor, the Rev. J. G. Galloway, the well-known evangelist, Rev. Joe J. Jones, arrived here and commenced a series of meetings that night. Bro. Jones had preached a few weeks before this time ten miles from Clinton, at the Orville-Whitlington Camp Meeting. His manner of expounding the gospel, as written in the Holy Bible, was known to many who had heard him. Some said before he came he would do no good. Some said they would not go to hear a clown preach. Some said he preached vulgarity, and as they were saints and too sensitive they could and would not go. But they did go. I thank God the meeting did go on for nine days. He preached three sermons a day. The people came from the hills, valley and all the neighboring towns around. His sermons were discussed. But the more the people heard him the more they wanted to hear him. He can get more out of a few words in the Bible than any other man I ever heard. He can show to the saint and sinner the true way to live for God and humanity. He preached one night to men alone, when there were fully eight hundred to hear him. I have heard many men say: 'Joe Jones has learned me how to live and be a man in the future; that I had only been a moving thing to date.' Thirty-six were added to the church here, and many promised to join at other places. The fact of the case is, this whole country was moved and stirred, spiritually. Many old, hardened sinners are now walking straight and strong in the faith of their Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Many who joined the church were fathers and mothers of large families, who had not been in the house of the Lord for years, who are now rejoicing in the Christian faith and thanking God for making a Joe Jones to come and show them their faults in the true light and assisting them from filling a sinner's grave. I say, Glory to God for the gift of such a man as Bro. Joe J. Jones, who can and does preach the unadulterated gospel to dying sinners."

Rev. A. T. Bell, P. C., Waynesboro circuit, Miss.: "As the year draws to a close I feel that I ought to send some account of the work in this charge. We have held protracted meetings at all of our churches, two of which have already been reported. At Enon Bros. Mellen and Dawson were the preachers. There were 3 or 4 conversions; several prayed and testified for the first time. At Pleasant Grove, in August, Bros. Ware and Penn and myself preached. About six conversions, and numbers of backsliders were reclaimed. A long-standing feud was healed, the brethren shaking hands in tears and with protestations of brotherly love. Big Rock and Hebron were both the scenes of deep revivals. At Big Rock the preacher who had arranged to conduct the meeting was unable to be with us, and I opened on the Sunday with a deep sense of my utter incapacity for the work that lay before me; but, crying to the Lord out of a burdened heart, he graciously heard my cry and poured out his Spirit as I had never before experienced it. In every service for five days we enjoyed the riches of God's love. Bro. Trotter came to our help for two days, though at some sacrifice, and God rewarded him for his loyalty by rich spiritual blessings. There were many conversions and reclamations, and the testifying in the love-feast was almost universal. Five accessions. At Hebron the same scenes were re-enacted. Disappointed in our preacher, I began the work in the name of the Lord, preaching to the largest congregation that ever gathered there. What has been said of Big Rock applies with even more force to the Hebron meeting. Bro. Penn preached for us two days. We had three accessions, some of the brightest conversions I have seen, and great numbers of lukewarm Christians revived. At both of these churches the revival reached nearly the entire membership. This is my first year's work, and I have gained some experience, and have learned a great deal both of the Master's love and power, as well as of my own weakness and inefficiency. It has been a year of great blessing to my own soul, and I believe to many others. There were very few possible accessions in the circuit, since nearly everyone is a nominal member of some church, and the work to be done was in the societies, for spiritual religion was almost dead. I am thankful to believe that considerable progress has been made, though not half has been accomplished that must be done, if these churches are to be a power for good. I can enumerate about sixty confessed conversions and reclamations during the year, eighteen new family altars, seventy-eight (whom I remember) have testified or prayed to public, at least half of whom had never opened their lips for Christ before. Glory to God for all his goodness."

Rev. J. A. Bowen.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Conference, Aberdeen station, North Mississippi Conference, Oct. 15, 1893, on motion, a committee, composed of the undersigned, was appointed to draft suitable resolutions with reference to the departure of Rev. J. A. Bowen, preacher in charge of this station. Said committee was instructed to report at a subsequent meeting, and in accordance therewith we beg leave to submit the following for your consideration:

Whereas, The Rev. J. A. Bowen has served as pastor of this charge four successive years, and by reason of the limitation prescribed by the economy of our beloved Methodism is now about to take his leave, and it being our desire to give expression in some tangible form of the high esteem in which he is held by us; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the separation from one who has been so conspicuous in the church and social affairs, we lose a shepherd and friend whose every pulsation of heart was but the throbbing of love and loyalty.

Resolved, That while he is called to other fields of labor, we are conscious that a lasting impress of his work remains with us which will speak in dulcet tones for years to come of his devotion to church and love to his fellow-man.

Resolved, That wherever the Master may call him to labor, he assured that he has the love, confidence and prayers of his Official Board and church, with the full assurance on our part that one possessing such a sweetly-fibered nature, interlaced and woven with the gilded strands of Christian virtue, will ever be recognized, appreciated and beloved by true manhood.

Resolved, We re-echo the voice of our church when we say in the Master's language, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Farewell.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of the Quarterly Conference and published in the city papers.

E. O. SYKES,
J. D. SHELL,
F. P. JENKINS,
GEO. J. LEFTWICH,
Committee.

NEW ORLEANS and Nashville Advocates please copy.

Free! Free!

AN ELEGANT LITHOGRAPH PICTURE OF MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

We need $1,500 to pay for furniture already bought to finish furnishing the college and to make necessary improvements.

To everyone sending us $1 we will send the picture unframed, and to everyone sending us $5 we will send the picture neatly framed ready for hanging. Let us hear from you.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS, Agt.
Jackson, Miss.

The rumors of the arrest and banishment of Poles from the western provinces of Russia have been confirmed. Eleven priests have been suspended from their duties and placed in prison, and scores of citizens are detained in the citadel at Warsaw. Fifteen persons, including some ladies and young girls, are already on their way to Siberia, although their friends have no knowledge of the nature of their offense.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Gretna	(Thurs.)	Nov. 16
Baton Rouge		18
Parker Chapel	(Tues.)	21
Moreau	(Thurs.)	23
Grass Tete, at Harmony		26
Dryades	(Tues.)	28
Lower Coast	(Thurs.)	30
Algiers	(Sun. morning)	Dec. 3
Crane	(Sun. evening)	3
Louisiana Avenue	(Mon.)	4
Carondelet	(Tues.)	5
Felicity	(Thurs.)	7
Rayne Memorial	(Fri.)	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground	Nov. 18, 19
Boyce and Colfax, at Boyce	25, 26
Simsport, at Simsport	Dec. 2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville	9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards bestir themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Minden, at Minden	Nov. 18, 19
Haynesville, at White Hall	25, 26
Valley, at Sapps	Dec. 2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	9, 10
Ruston station	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia	12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Victoria mission, at Victoria	Nov. 18, 19
Cane River, at Provencal	19, 20
West Natchitoches, at Shiloh	21, 22
Anacoco, at Holly Grove	23, 24
Many, at Many	25, 26
Fort Jessup, at Fort Jessup	26, 27
Natchitoches station	Dec. 2, 3
Mansfield station	9, 10

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.
629 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Lapice, at Frantoma C	Nov. 18, 19
Lake Providence	25, 26
Waterproof	Dec. 2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd	9, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

Helen Keller,

the extraordinary young Southern girl, blind and deaf, but possessed of such rare genius, is to tell her Life-Story in The Youth's Companion. This article is the only one this lovely and gifted young girl has ever written for publication, and she wrote it upon the typewriter with her own hands.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

There can be no disguising the evil effects which have followed the twin events of the visit of the Russian fleet to France and the tour of the Italian ports by the British Mediterranean squadron. National hatreds have been revived in full force, and every trifling incident is now magnified into an actual affront. Naturally the tension is greatest between France and Italy.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

Books, Books for Everybody

—AT—

Mississippi Conference Depository,

JACKSON, MISS.

Oxford Bible, Bagsters, Holman's Self-Pronouncing International Teachers' Bibles. Latest helps, largest types, cheapest, superior to any other. Your name put on in gilt at listed price.

Matthew Henry's Commentary, 6 volumes, $8; 6 volumes, cloth, $15. One of the best.
Biblical Museum on entire Bible, $8.
Biblical Illustrator, $2 a volume.
Walks and Talks with God, $2.75.
Jamieson and Fausset's Commentary, $8.
Hurlburt's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Peloubet's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Pentecost—cloth, $1; paper, 60 cents.
New Notes on Bible Reading, 75 cents.
Children's Meeting, $1.
Finney's Revival Lectures, $1.50.
Phillips Brooks' Lectures, $1.50.
Moody's books, paper, 30 cents each.
Jack-Knife and Brambles, $1.
New Era, paper, 40 cents.
Hudson's Greek and English Concordance. The book for every Bible student. $2.
Full line of holiday books.
Geike's Hours with the Bible. Latest and best. 75 cents.
Expositor's Bible, each volume $1 50.
Hymn and song books of various kinds.

We would urge our brethren to send in their orders for Sunday-school literature for 1894 without delay. Send us your orders for any book you want. When in Jackson, come and see us. LAIRD & DOMINICK.

PENSIONS.

BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNment Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is slow, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free. Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailments in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for service rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business connected for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address

THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY,
Box 187, Washington, D. C.

HOW BABIES SUFFER

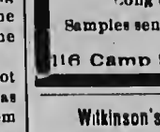
When their tender Skins are literally On Fire with Itching and Burning Eczemas and other ing, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Dis with Loss of Hair, none mothers realize. To know a single application of the

CUTICURA

Remedies will afford in diate relief, permit rest sleep, and point to a sp and economical cure, and to use them, is to fail in duty. Parents, save your children years of less suffering from torturing and disfiguring tions. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies modern times. Sold everywhere. POTTER AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

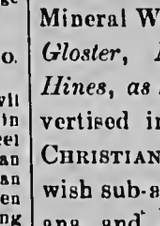
"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beau by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely



PAINS AND WEAKNESS Relieved in one minute by that elegant, and infallible Antidote to Inflammation, and Weakness, the curs Anti-Pain Plaster. 25 c

CHRISTMAS MUSIC For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS Address, The Echo Music Co., LaFayette, Ind. FR



SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS! Would you like to have a chimney for Santa Claus to descend and a charming Christmas logue to go with it, also appropriate exercises in which a fairy with wand changes chimney into pr for the children? You can have with candy boxes included, price you generally pay for alone. Send 10 cents for full lars to the inventors, SKIDMO CO., 85 JOHN ST., NEW YORK.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.

LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to him for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders. THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR edited by John McGovern, the Prince of Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2 50 a year. Entire series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular. the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsome prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send (stamps) for full particulars and sample containing fifty large rich engravings of PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony, Voice Culture, for second half of session 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach

CATARRH thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. Dr. J. W. BLOSSER & CO. DALTON GA.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 49. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1946.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

AT HIS FEET.

BY LUCY LARCOM.

Lord, I would offer thee
A heart's untarnished gold,
And yet how can it be
When all therein is me
Is touched with blight and mould?

And within no thought
So holy that it may
Unashamed to thee be brought,
Except as it hath caught
From thee a hallowing ray.

Yet all I am is thine.
Through sins and flaws and stains
I feel thy presence shine.
Take me, and make divine
All that uncleansed remains!

Lord, of thyself not much
In me canst thou behold,
And yet thou savest such;
The magic of thy touch
Transmutes my dross to gold.

Contrition thou dost prize
All sacrifice above.
Dear Lord, I dare arise
And look into thine eyes,
Because I know thy love.

The Methodist Review of Missions.

BY REV. A. F. WATKINS JACKSON, MISS.

The church owes Drs. John and Lambuth thanks for the Methodist Review of Missions. This writer does not know whether or not the editors have met with the increased number of subscribers that was expected, but he is sure that in the Review the church has a missionary publication in every way worthy of its support, and one that, if supported, will promote a revival of interest in the great cause of missions. Every Southern Methodist teacher should be a subscriber and an agent for this valuable magazine.

The November number of the Review—the fifth issue since the enlargement—is before us, and a brief examination of its contents will serve to show the value of this latest contribution to the missionary literature of our church.

The strong face of Dr. Young J. Allen, our veteran missionary to China, is the frontispiece, and an interesting article from his pen is the leading paper in this number. After reading what the Doctor has to say on the "Changed Aspects of China," the reader will feel like turning back and studying the man as he finds him pictured to the eye. In the consideration of his subject Dr. Allen notices four changes that have taken place in the political, commercial and intellectual and moral condition of the Chinese people, and the bearing of these changes upon missionary work in this great empire. It is probable that no influence from without would have been sufficiently strong to break down the barriers with which China had surrounded herself except the iron hand of war, and to the "compulsory changes," or those necessitated by laws or treaty obligations, the attention is first directed. These new conditions made necessary other changes "semi-compulsory," they are called by which the Chinese government ought to adjust itself to its unwelcome environments. Then followed those modifications of policy and life, which arose from conviction, as China began to realize her needs and the advantages of the civilization of the west. And, finally, we have presented the influences exerted by the liberal and progressive policy of the present Emperor. From the nature of the changes Dr. Allen turns to their bearing upon the missionary work, and shows that under their influence China has become the not unwilling pupil of Christendom, and the West the acknowledged teacher of the East. From this relation follows the obligation upon the Christian church to inaugurate a liberal and aggressive movement for the conquest of this empire for Christ.

The second article is by Bishop Granbery on the "Qualifications of a Missionary," in which this large-hearted and clear-headed leader gives the qualifications of the preacher of righteousness, whether laboring at home or abroad. First. "The missionary needs clear, sound, guilt-removing, heart-cleansing experience." Second. "The missionary, if not called to be a hero, should, at least, be manly." Third. "One prime qualification of a missionary is zeal and patience." Fourth. "The only other qualification I will mention is largeness of heart, broadness of view and sympathy, power to recognize among all societies of condition and beneath all development of false religions and foul customs the lineaments of our common humanity and the grand possibilities which the grace of God offers to all men everywhere."

"Foreign Missionaries as Seen by a Naval Officer," by Lieut. Albion V. Wadsham, U. S. N., can not fail to impress the most skeptical with the commercial, social and moral benefits that have marked the progress of the Christian missionary in heathen lands. He says, after paying the highest tributes to their work in these countries: "My personal information concerning missionaries is not confined to South America, Japan and China. I know of their work in Korea, among the islands of the Pacific, in India, Africa, Egypt, Asia Minor and European Turkey. Wherever found, one sees an earnest, devoted class, well fitted for the great work they are doing." "After visiting Syria, Asia Minor and European Turkey, one is ready to believe that the Sultan of Turkey did say that Bulgaria would not have gained its independence had it not been for Robert College."

Dr. D. C. Kelley, of the Tennessee Conference, contributes an article on "Our Missions at Home," in which the unpalatable, but wholesome, truth is expressed that our church is doing but little to "adapt herself to the growing emergencies of our suffering masses." The sooner the church succeeds in impressing men with the genuineness of her love for their bodies as well as their souls, the better it will be for the church and the world.

"Mission to the Choctaw Indians in Mississippi" is the subject of a paper by Rev. T. L. Mellen, of the Mississippi Conference. The article can not fail to interest the readers of the Review, and especially those in the territory in which the ADVOCATE circulates. The gratifying work done, the needs that now demand supply, and the promise for the future, ought to stir the hearts of the Methodists of Mississippi.

"W. M. Patterson—In Memoriam," is the heading of an article by Rev. R. H. Mahon, D. D., of Memphis, Tenn. It is a touching tribute to the life and character of the heroic man who was for years the leader of our missionary force in Mexico, and who, on the tenth of August, 1889, stricken with malarial fever, "laid down his life that the Bible might be given to the people of Venezuela."

In "Our Western Work," Rev. L. P. Stanton, of Santa Barbara, Cal., makes an earnest and vigorous appeal for more aggressive work on the Pacific slope. The West is the battlefield of the republic, and the influences that dominate that section will one day roll back upon the East as a tidal wave of good or evil.

"The Law of the Missionary Cause," by Rev. C. H. Buchanan, of Vinton, Va., is a plea for missions based upon that universal inspiration to Christian activity, "the law of spiritual obligation"—Paul's sense of debtorship; a sense of universal indebtedness under a common Fatherhood to a common brotherhood.

"A Letter to Medical Men," from Dr. S. H. Wainwright, of our Japanese Mission, contains convincing testimony to the value of the medical missionary, and invites correspondence with a view to the strengthening of this department of our missionary service.

"A Report of the Curators of Granbery College, by H. C. Tucker, Secretary," closes this department of the Review. But I can not omit, at least, a brief mention of the other departments.

First, we have the wise "Editorial" department, followed by interesting notes from "Our Mission Fields;" then the department of "Medical Missions;" then those of "Woman's Work," "Epworth League and Sunday-schools," "Our Fellow-Laborers," "From All Fields," and finally the "Treasurer's" department and the "Missionary Directory."

The mechanical work of the Review is all that can be desired. The highest success of the missionary work of our church demands the liberal support of this excellent periodical.

A Pertinent Question.

Doctor Durbin, the Methodist orator, used to say it cost him a mighty effort to get through any sermon without saying something about the missionary cause. How does that compare with the preacher who allows a whole year to pass without preaching once on the subject of missions?—Southern Christian Advocate.

International Christian Workers.

The International Christian Workers' Convention closed its eighth annual session last night in this city. What a wonderful band of Christian workers! What a revelation to many idle Christians in this town! What a lasting blessing it will leave here! The benefits and results will be known only in eternity. I met a presiding elder on the streets a few days ago, and asked him if he had been attending the meeting. "Yes," he said, "and it is a glorious place to be; they work on the Methodist plan." I thought, with all due respect to this officer in the church, that this plan of work was once the Methodist way; but Methodism has nearly drifted into formalism. Our founders went into the slums and by-ways and neglected places, and rescued the perishing; but their descendants are going at it in a kid-glove fashion. Here were assembled the converted Methodists (mark the word converted), the converted Baptists, the converted Presbyterians, the converted Episcopalians, converted Congregationalists, etc. The only two that I heard mention their denomination announced the fact that they were converted Episcopalians.

That's the word, converted, born again, witness of the Spirit. The unconverted could not enjoy the society of these people; they were strangers. These meetings, talks and actions were a sealed book to them.

I have been in several Christian gatherings, but I never saw one like this. As I sat one night in the theater, where the sessions were held, and looked at the multitude, and heard the songs and the prayers and the testimonies of those of all denominations, I could but think: Won't heaven be something like this? No creeds, no forms, no ceremonies; only the motto, "Christ alone can save the world, but Christ can't save the world alone."

The active members of this band of Christian workers are not ordained ministers, but stalwart laymen—many of them, the best part of them, men redeemed by the blood of Christ from lives of degradation; men who were so low in sin and vice that to all human hope they were lost, but around whom the strong arm of the blessed Master fastened and lifted them up. They can't sing his praises enough; they can't do enough for him; they are on fire; they are in earnest; they are after souls; they haven't time to stop and talk denomination's or hair-splitting theology. No, they must work, for their time is limited in which to pay the great debt they owe. The deeper the lost soul is, the harder they work. If Christ could stoop so low as to save them, surely they can stoop low to save a brother.

It was a great time, Mr. Editor. The silk-gloved, silk-hatted, velvet-furred gentry had to get out of the way, or strip themselves of self-righteousness, and go in with them. How many times have I heard this prayer, "God, I thank thee for sending these men and women here!"

This association of Christian workers was organized, rather born, in an office or room in New York, where two humble rescue workers met and enjoyed hearing from each other their accounts of battles with the devil for a lost soul. Why not find others, and get together and organize and help each other, for the world loves its own? And so it has grown. I don't know how many were here; not so many as would have been but for the hard times and long distance from the work-fields of the most of them. At first, before the time of meeting, some homes were slow to open their doors to a band they knew so little about; but many did open wide who had not the privilege of caring for a worker. And when they came, and the people saw and heard what they were, the question was frequently asked, "Can't you send me some delegates?" or, "Why didn't you send my delegates?" Blessed were the homes that entertained them.

The theater was jammed from the first. Overflow meetings that overflowed themselves were held. Fathers and mothers and children were converted in their homes; family altars were established; rubbish was removed from the family Bibles. I dare say that more humble, heartfelt, trusting prayers ascended in this city during this convention than at any one time in its history.

To give the reader some idea of the men and women who were here, I will mention a few and their work.

First, I will mention a Mr. Bone, of Canada, whose life is spent working with the sailors and boatmen. He preaches and talks and scatters tracts.

Miss McDonald, also from Canada, whose life is given up to rescuing the perishing. Her home, while here, was with a clever banker. She found him unconverted, and left him rejoicing in God. She found the family altar unerected. When she left an altar was established, where the happy father, mother and family now unite in thanking God for his great blessings.

Col. Hadley, of the St. Bartholomew Mission, of New York—a redeemed drunkard, now devoting his life to saving the lost, those in the slums of that great city. He will take the poor, fallen man or woman, who have gone so low that it seems that decency never knew them, by the hand, give him or her a cup of coffee or a sandwich, thaw them out in a warm room, and preach Christ to them. He will put his arms around them in love and sympathy, and lead them to Jesus. St. Bartholomew Mission was started by, I think, eight or ten redeemed drunkards meeting in a little room on the slum streets of New York. They were working, but wanted more room, so they prayed to God. Some one heard of it and told Mr. Vanderbilt. Mr. Vanderbilt bought a lot for seventy-five thousand dollars, and Mrs. Vanderbilt built a two-hundred-thousand-dollar house on the lot, and gave it for the redeeming of the fallen. In that home they have a laundry, where the poor women can come and wash their clothes without money and without price. They feed the hungry without price; they take the rags from the poor drunken man and woman, have them bathed and clothed in clean garments; they put them to sleep in good beds. On the top of the house there is a garden where, in the Summer, the poor mothers and children enjoy the flowers and fountains and sweet music. All done in His name. I can't tell you all about these rescue missions as I heard it.

Then there was Mr. Greenwood, of Boston—an active business man who devotes every spare minute to the Sailor Mission. He throws out the "life-line" to them. All in His name. We had the pleasure of entertaining this godly man and his dear wife. What a blessing to our home!

You have heard of the Florence Crittenden homes for fallen women. There are thirteen of them in the United States, and new ones being established constantly. Here is their history: Mr. Crittenden, a wealthy business man in New York; his office was close by the Fulton Street Prayer Meeting. He was simply an Episcopalian, with only the benedictions of a Bishop on his head; without God in his heart. I heard him tell this in our St. John's Church, where he preached last Sunday. And such a service, with the outpouring of the Spirit, I never saw. Everybody was melted, and sinners asking to be saved. He said he had watched for years devout men going into that place of prayer, and called them cranks. Finally God took from his home little Florence, four years old, and then he was awakened. Going home in the street car one day, God convicted him. Home he went, and to the upper chamber. There he implored God's forgiveness, and begged for mercy. It came in power. He gave himself and his all to God, and promised him that he would do whatsoever he asked. The next day he went into the Fulton Street Prayer Meeting, and was glad to be with the cranks. He was called to lead. What? Yes, he had promised to do what God wanted him to do, and he led the meeting. As soon as it was over a crippled brother went to him and said he wanted him to go with him down on Bleaker street that night. What, go to such a place as that? Yes, he would go; he had promised God. He and the crippled brother went down, and to a room in which were four fallen women. He was asked to talk and lead in prayer. He did the best he could, when these words came into his mind, "Go, and sin no more." But where could they go? Only the houses of sin were open to them. He asked God to guide him, and in six weeks the first Florence Crittenden home for fallen women was opened, and has been opened ever since. Some one told that Mr. Crittenden had established thirteen. One has been established in this city, and when they are commanded to go and sin no more, they have a place to go. It was told also that it cost Mr. Crittenden seventeen thousand dollars a year to keep up one of these homes. He has taken the Lord in partnership in his business, which he says is prospering more than ever. Here is the man consecrating his time, talent, business and money to the Lord.

Mr. Editor, you are tired. This is too long, but I have tried to picture to you the workings of the sons and daughters of the living God. If it is not interesting, don't publish it.

B. H. CATCHING.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 16.

I can't tell of all these men and women. Their time and talents are devoted to God.

I do say, Mr. Editor, that if you can induce the meeting to come to New Orleans in 1895, do so. It meets in Toronto next year. Send a pressing invitation for them to come to your city. The blessings on your people will be everlasting.

Interior Life, or Religion.

The following extract from "Interior Life," by T. C. Upham, is good reading, and pertinent at this time:

"We will suppose the case of a person who is the subject of a divine operation. Under the influence of this inward operation he experiences, to a considerable extent, new views of his own situation, of his need of a Savior, and of the restoration of his soul to God in spiritual union. The operation which has been experienced, so far, is purely intellectual. Of the necessity and value of such intellectual illuminations there can be no doubt; but I believe it is generally conceded that, in themselves alone, they do not, and can not, constitute religion. But, in addition to this, we will suppose that an effect, and perhaps a very decided effect, has been experienced in the emotive part, which, in its action, is subsequent to that of the intellect. The person has very pleasant emotions. The perception of new truth, as we should naturally expect, gives him happiness, and the perception of its relation to his salvation gives him still more happiness. He is very happy. He begins to speak a new language. His mouth is filled with praise. And others praise the Lord on his account.

"But has such a person religion, as his friends are very desirous to believe, and very apt to declare. He has an experience, undoubtedly. We are willing to admit that he has a valuable experience—an experience which is naturally preparatory to religion, and is closely connected with it, and looks very much like it. But if the experience stops here in such a manner as to constitute a merely emotional experience, and without reaching and affecting a still more inward and important part of the mind, as seems sometimes to be the case, we can not, with good reasons, regard it as a truly religious experience; meaning by the terms an experience which meets the expectations and demands of God, and which is saving. It is valuable, it is encouraging, it is closely connected with religion, but it is not the thing itself. We may, perhaps, designate it as a preparative or incident to religion without being religion; and although we may thank the Lord for what it is, especially in its hopeful relations, it is still true that the essential and indispensable element of the inward life is not there.

"There are mental susceptibilities which, on account of their being subsequent in the time of their action, may be described as lying back of the emotive part of the mind, as truly as the emotions can be said to lie back of the intellectual part. In making this remark we have especial reference to the desires—particularly those modifications which are denominated the affections—and to the will. Any religion, or rather pretense of religion, which is not powerful enough to penetrate into this region of the mind, and to bring the affections and will into subjection to God, is vain. It is an important fact, and as melancholy as it is true, that a person may be spiritually enlightened and have new views on the subject of religion, and that he may also have very raised and joyful emotions, and yet may be a slave to his natural desires. He has not experienced what everyone must experience who would enter into communion with the divine mind, viz.: the death of nature. He loves the things of the world more than the things of God. Many, very many, are the instances which can verify this remark. As to the result of their intellectual illumination, the persons to whom these statements will apply are undoubtedly in advance of what they were previously, and are able to talk fluently on the subject of religion. And, in consequence of some premature application of the Savior's merits to their own case, they can speak of the pleasures and hopes which they never before experienced. But only urge upon them the necessity of self-crucifixion, only touch the idols which they cherish in their inner heart, and they discover at once the dominion which the world has over them still. God has not become the life of the soul. At a proposition so necessary to the life of God and so repugnant to the life of nature, the spirit of untamed and almost unmitigated evil, which reposed so closely and secretly in their bosoms, will start into existence with features of opposition and malignity altogether at variance with the peace and purity of a holy heart."—"Interior Life," pages 140-142.

If this long extract provokes thought and self-examination, as it ought to do, it will well repay republication in your columns. GILDEROY.

How to Discourage Your Minister.

1. Hear him "now and then." Drop in a little late. Do not sing; do not find the texts in your Bibles. If you take a little sleep during the sermon, so much the better.

2. Notice carefully any slip he makes while you are awake; point out the dull portions to your children and friends; it will be sure to come round to him.

3. Censure his efforts at usefulness; deplore his want of common sense; let him know that you won't help him because A. B. does, because you were not first consulted, or because you did not start the plan yourself.

4. Let him know the follies and sins of his hearers. Show him how much he overrates them, and tell him their adverse criticisms on himself.

5. Tell him when he calls what a stranger he is; how his predecessors used to drop in for an hour's chat, and how much you liked them.

6 Never attend the prayer meeting; frequent no special service. Give as little as possible to the benevolences. Why should you be righteous overmuch?

7. Occasionally get up a little gaiety for the young folks. This will be found very effectual about the communion season. "There is a time to dance."

8. Give him no intimation when you are ill; of course he should know; and your offended dignity, when he comes to see you, will render his visit pleasant. On no account intimate your recovery.

9. Require him to swell the pomp of every important occasion, unless, indeed, there are prudential reasons for passing him over.

10. If he is always in his own pulpit, clamor for strangers; if he has public duties, and sometimes goes abroad, complain that he is never at home.

11. Keep down his income. Easy means are a sore temptation, and fullness of bread is bad for everyone—but the laity.

12. As he will find it hard to be always at home to receive callers, and always running among the people, and always well prepared for pulpit and platform, you will be sure to have just cause for complaint one way or the other. Tell it to everyone, and then lament that there is so general dissatisfaction with him.

Patient continuance in courses like these, modified according to circumstances, has been known not only to discourage, but ruin the usefulness and break the spirit of ministers; to send them off to other charges, and sometimes to their graves. Those who desire to avoid such results should avoid the practice of such things as are here referred to. Let us "help one another."—Christian Intelligencer.

Poison in That Honey.

When a clever "outsider" pats you on the back, and tells you how much wiser and how much more "liberal" you are than your brethren, take care! There is poison in that honey for a preacher.—Christian Advocate (Nashville).

OUR ONLY DAY.

Were this our only day,
Did not our yesterdays and morrows give
To hope and memory their interplay,
How would we bear to live?

Not merely what we are,
But what we were and what we are to be,
Make up our life—the far days each a star,
The near days nebulæ

At once would love forget
Its keen pursuits and coy delays of bliss,
And its delicious pangs of fond regret,
Were there no day but this.

And who, to win a friend,
Would to the secrets of his heart invite
A fellowship that would begin and end
Between a day and night?

Who, too, would pause to prate
Of insult, or remember slight or scorn?
Who would this night lie down to sleep with hate,
Were there to be no morn?

Who would take heed to wrong,
To misery's complaint or pity's call,
The long wail of the weak against the strong,
If this one day were all?

And what were wealth with shame,
The vanity of office, pride of caste,
The shiny sparkle of the bubble fame,
If this day were the last?

Aye, what were all days worth,
Were there no looking backward or before—
If every human life that drops to earth
Were lost for evermore?

But each day is a link
Of days that pass and never pass away:
For memory and hope—to live, to think—
Each day is our only day.

—Harper's Magazine.

The Annual Conference.

In many essential particulars the Annual Conference is the most important convocation known to our Methodism. Its functions are administrative and not legislative. It convenes to administer law and not to make laws. Its functions are limited by the laws, rules and regulations made and adopted by the General Conference, and yet these regulations are sufficiently flexible to allow the largest liberty in all matters that belong specially to the jurisdiction of each Annual Conference.

The Annual Conference is composed of all the traveling preachers in full connection and of four laymen elected by the District Conference, from each presiding elder's district in its bounds.

This annual gathering together of the preachers and of prominent and influential laymen tends more than any other meeting we have to keep up the spirit of the corps, the leaders of the workers in the field. No other body of preachers and lay workers become so well acquainted with each other, or enter into such hearty sympathy with each other, as an Annual Conference of Methodist preachers and laymen. The preachers and the leading laymen become familiar with the entire field within the bounds of the Conference. This tends to keep up the Conference and connectional spirit and tone of our preachers and people, and gives both preachers and people a broad and comprehensive view of the field and the work that could be obtained and maintained in no other way.

The social features of an Annual Conference are not to be ignored or lightly esteemed. They are great and worthy of all commendation and praise. This meeting is worth all it costs, and more, too, on account of the facilities it affords for the cultivation of the social natures of the preachers and of the laymen who attend, either as members of the Conference or as visitors.

The religious features of an Annual Conference are matters of vital importance to the members and to the whole church in its bounds. The preaching, the praying, the communing and the singing fire up the hearts of the preachers and send them out with renewed strength and power among the people. A pentecostal Annual Conference generally means a fresh and full baptism of the Spirit in all the churches in its bounds. The conditions are never more favorable for a gracious season than when one or two hundred godly men and women—all of one heart and one mind—come together with one accord in one place. Their hearts begin to burn within them as soon as they meet. The Holy Spirit is always present. The very act of conferring together about the work of the church generates a zeal and interest and a religious feeling that makes everything ready for the touch of divine fire. The business of an Annual Conference, of any Church Conference, is all religious business, and is not at all incompatible with the highest religious fervor and zeal. It is all necessary to carrying out the divine commission and to filling up and completing the great work the Lord has sent us to do.

The Bishop presides in the Annual Conference, and guides and directs its deliberations according to the rules laid down in the Discipline and with reference to such parliamentary usages and rules as have grown out of the experience of men—such as are common in deliberative bodies. The Bishop makes the appointments of the preachers. In this most important, delicate and difficult work he seeks and obtains, from the presiding elders and others, such information as he needs to guide him in it. He seeks also the guidance of the Holy Ghost. That the Bishop sometimes makes mistakes in the appointments may be conceded without, in the least, impeaching the integrity of the man or the wisdom and utility of our economy. If he made no mistakes, he would be other than a man. That he makes so few, where so many preachers and people and such varied interests are involved, shows the care given to this great and important part of his work. One may safely assert that our Methodism shows as few mismated preachers and congregations as any church organization in Christendom. It has no pastorless churches and no churchless pastors.

Methodist preachers everywhere are men waiting to be sent—not men waiting to be called. The older preachers and older Methodist laymen have lived long enough to see that fully one-half of the Bishop's mistakes prove to be the best of providences to the preachers and the charges involved. The mistakes of the appointing power are better seen at the end of the Conference year than at the beginning of it. A preacher aggrieved in his appointment, if a right-thinking and right-spirited man, will put forth his best efforts to make the best of it, and a right-thinking and right-spirited charge, if aggrieved in the preacher sent, will strive to make the most out of him. After all, the spirit of the preacher and of the charge has more to do with success or failure than the wisdom or blunders of the appointing power. It is no use to blame the Bishop, or anyone else, for mistakes that we can easily correct or remedy ourselves. No preacher is perfect, and there is no charge that is faultless.

X.

Shreveport District Sunday-School Convention.

The first annual session of the Shreveport District Sunday-school Convention, Louisiana Conference, met at Robeline, La., on Oct. 26, 1893, according to appointment by presiding elder. Convention was opened with preaching by Bro. Jno. F. Foster, of Natchitoches, at 11 A. M. At 3:30 P. M convention was called to order by Bro. R. J. Harp, P. E., and after religious service Rev. Jno. F. Foster was elected secretary. Bro. Harp then reading the paragraphs from the Discipline which treated of the organization of Sunday-school conventions, commented thereon, and followed with a statement of the reasons pro and con as to why he had not held such conventions before, saying that he had prepared a program of questions for discussion.

Question 1 was then called: "Experiences and interchange of ideas in regard to leading and feeding the lambs," as indicated in paragraph 238, page 138 of the Discipline.

Bro. Pierce, of Shreveport, rose and, in his impressive way, spoke of the simplicity of childhood and its docility, and, making these points, showed the advantage gained by thus taking the child when thus leadable, rather than waiting until it had grown older. He spoke of the good derived from special services for the children, and that thus we would about reach the heads of the grown folk also, for they were but grown children.

Bros. Jackson, Foster, Whatley and Harp followed in rapid succession, each speaking to the question. Bro. Jackson spoke of his work among the children in the Shreveport mission. Bro. Foster said that you must win the heart and affections of the child, and thus would he able to lead them. Seek to make the child feel at home in your presence, and that it can help you in your work, and then manifest appreciation of its work. In reference to feeding them, the only way he saw that was practicable was visiting the classes in the Sabbath-school, going from one to one, and thus let fall the seed of life.

Second question was called: "To confer upon and discuss suggestions in regard to the best means of working the Sunday-school and pulpit services, so as to secure the attendance of the children on the latter."

Bro. Pierce, rising, said that he thought best to have the Sabbath-school in the afternoon wherever practicable, and then, showing its advantages, reviewed the present plan, showing wherein its failures lay.

Bros. Jackson, Whatley and Harp all emphasized the statements of Bro. Pierce, also showing that the fault lay partly in the lack of home influence, and in the teacher's failure to exercise her influence in this direction.

Convention then adjourned with benediction by Bro. Pierce, to convene at 9:30 the next morning. Bro. Pierce was announced to preach at night service.

FRIDAY MORNING.

Convention convened, pursuant to adjournment, at 9:30 A. M., Friday, Oct. 27; Bro. Harp in the chair, Bro. T. K. Faunt LeRoy conducting opening exercises. The chair called first question: "Gathering the lambs into the fold. What per cent. of admissions from ranks of childhood, say under the age of twelve and under the age of sixteen years?"

Bro. S. H. Whatley, rising, discussed the age at which the Spirit of God first touches the heart of a child. He showed that the age varied with the religious instruction and training of the child as received from the parents, and that the preacher himself could have no guide on the subject, but must leave it to the child.

Bro. Jackson stated that from his experience he might say that more joined the church at twelve, or under, than at any other period.

Bro. Faunt LeRoy at this point rose and treated the convention to a rarity, much appreciated by the audience. In his inimitable and impressive style he discussed the subject at some length, showing that all nature teaches growth, that thus it is with the individual, and that spiritual growth should begin in childhood.

Bros. Foster and Harp followed, the latter reviewing the subject and making many instructive applications.

Questions 2, 3 and 4 were called and treated together: "Pastoral work suited to child-life;" "Probation and preparation of youthful applicants for admission into the church;" "To what is attributable the indifference of many young church members to covenant obligations, if not to the hasty and loose manner in which they are admitted?"

Bro. Pierce spoke on the above questions, and, as analogous to it, spoke of the power of example in the family, in reference to the loose way in which the parents observed them, and its result in the child's life.

Bros. Faunt LeRoy, Jackson, Whatley, Foster and Harp each spoke to the question. The result of the discussion was that the cause was, in their opinion, in the bad influence at home, in the too hasty manner sometimes used, with an exhortation about the use of probation.

Meeting adjourned with benediction by Bro. Foster, to meet at 2:30 P. M.

FRIDAY EVENING.

Convention called to order at 2:30 P. M.; Bro. Harp in the chair. After a quartette by the choir, and religious services led by Bro. Foster, the chair called the first question: "In view of the secularity of the most prevalent literature and of the schools, added to the usual negligence or indifference of the parents to the religious instruction of their children, can the church do without the Sunday-school?"

Bro. Pierce, rising, said that he would hate to answer the question, either in the affirmative or negative, but that the church could never die, for "the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." He then discussed the literature and press of our land, and while he would not attack the press, he was for an expurgated edition of it. In speaking of the Sunday-school, he termed it the hot-house of the church.

Bro. Jackson, rising, stated that the church rose without the Sunday-school, but that then the parents instructed the children at home; but now, having relegated it to the Sunday-school, could the church now do without it? was, indeed, a question.

Bro. Faunt LeRoy rose and gave the convention an exhaustive history of the rise and work, aims and objects of the Sunday-school, and wherein, in his opinion, it was a success, and wherein a failure.

Bros. Foster, Whatley and Harp followed, reviewing the subject from different standpoints.

Question 2 was called: "What can be done to prevent our country Sunday-schools from suspending in Winter?"

Bro. Whatley said that the people had the idea that it was the proper thing to do, and that they must be disabused of this idea.

Bro. Faunt LeRoy said that they ought to buy stoves, and that the question would settle itself.

Bro. Jackson said that if there was a superintendent and corps of teachers who were in earnest, that the school would be run; that the fault lay there.

Question 3 was called: "The pastor's place, authority and responsibility in the Sunday-school under his charge."

Bros. Faunt LeRoy and Jackson discussed the subject at length, the former stating that, according to Discipline, his authority was limited to the nomination of the superintendent, and the preferring of complaints against him at the Quarterly Conference. Bro. Jackson said that the pastor had entire control of the superintendent, as proven by the nominating or creative power, and the making of the reports to the Quarterly Conference.

Convention adjourned with benediction by Bro. Jackson, to meet at 9:30 next morning. Bro. Pierce was announced to preach to the children at night.

SATURDAY MORNING.

Convention convened at 9:30 A. M.; Bro. Harp in the chair. After religious services by Dr. A. D. McVoy, Bro. Jackson was elected to the secretaryship made vacant by the absence of Bro. Foster, he being called to his charge.

Question 1 was then called: "Is it practicable and advisable to have a district Sunday-school agent or evangelist to arouse the church and people?"

Dr. McVoy spoke, referring to the inefficiency of the Sunday-schools in accomplishing their true object. He stressed the necessity of doing something to arouse interest in its work. How shall it be done? is the question. In answering this, he said that if the ministry were alive on the question, an evangelist would not be necessary; but they are not, and how to bring this about he knew not, unless by employing an agent.

Bro. Jackson urged that it was not fair to hold the pastor responsible for the failure of those immediately responsible for the success of the schools, and also that the pastor's duties in large circuits and stations precluded such careful supervision of the work of the school as only the superintendent and officers could give. Hence, admitting the need of some one who could give the time needed in normal drill, he thought an agent to traverse the field, gather the teachers together and drill them in normal training, a thing to be desired.

Bro. Whatley favored the appointment of an agent, and suggested that the Annual Conference and Bishop be memorialized to that effect.

Bro. Harp spoke on the subject at great length, emphasizing the necessity of securing greater interest in the Sunday-school work.

A resolution was passed thanking the kind people of Robeline for their hospitable entertainment during the session of the convention.

It was announced that Bro. L. F. Jackson would preach at 3 P. M., and Dr. A. D. McVoy at night, after which the convention adjourned.

JNO. F. FOSTER, Sec.

L. F. JACKSON, Sec. pro tem.

To the Church.

As the Conference year is drawing to a close, when each preacher will go up from his respective field of labor to the Annual Conference, varied will be their states of mind. Some glad, some sad, some enthused with the results of their year's labor, while others will be despondent and quite heart-broken on account of the co operative failure they have made, partly owing to their own conduct and mismanagement, but largely on account of the manner in which they have been received by those whom they have served.

My experience is, where I have been the most cordially received as an itinerant preacher, I have done my best work. This holds good, not only with circuits, but also with individual churches on the circuit, and even families belonging to the church. (So if you wish to secure the best results possible from your pastor, give him and his a hearty reception.) I shall ever thank God that I served the people whom I did the first year of my ministerial life. What a kind reception!—what hearty co-operation, and wise counsel given me! And how it urged me on to success!

But how different the state of mind and the success of those whose greeting is otherwise! I know a preacher who, on leaving such a circuit as described above, went to another, which was just the reverse, who, on his arrival, went to the house of one of his stewards and spent the night. On the morrow his steward saddled his mule and rode off without saying aught to his preacher but what was unpleasant in the extreme. The preacher, not knowing what to do, finally decided to walk down town alone, and find some of his flock as best he could. He met with an ex-steward, who said, "My house is yonder; come to see us some time." He went on still, and found others; but not one said, "Come and dine." So great was the effect on his mind, that he went off to a secret place and wept. During that whole year at that place he declared his tongue clove to his palate, so that he never could preach to them with that unction generally attending his ministry.

As little as you may think of it, the success or failure of your church depends largely on the reception which you give your pastor; hence, with the words of Paul, let me exhort you, "Receive us" kindly.

First. Because "we have wronged no man." We have not arbitrarily imposed ourselves upon you, but have waived our right to choose our own work, in the same degree in which the church has waived her right to choose her pastor.

Second. Because we receive you as our portion for the year, with whom we will labor, suffer and rejoice. For "ye are in our hearts to die and live with you."

Third. Because our happiness depends largely on the reception with which we meet.

Fourth, and lastly. Because the results of our labors together with yours are much affected by it.

To do this with profit, let me suggest that you decide now to love your pastor another year, whether he be young or old. As soon as you know who he is write him a letter of welcome; meet him on his arrival; give him a good handshake. If he has a family, have the parsonage comfortable for them. Should he be single, take him to your house and make him feel at home. Overlook his faults and praise his virtues. Drum him up a good congregation for the first service. When he preaches a good sermon, modestly commend it to him occasionally. Pray for him in his labors, render him all the assistance you can in his church work, and see well to his storehouse, and when next year closes you will say, "It is the happiest year of my life."

J. N. TUCKER.

Hosts, Guests, Representatives.

The latch strings are outside; the doors are open; expectant eyes are looking for us, and warm welcomes awaiting us; for Conference is at hand. The best homes are being prepared and the best people in the church and the community are to be our hosts. Hosts and guests, in most instances, will be strangers to each other; and yet, with the "open sesame" of the Methodist preacher, we will "walk right in" and be—not strangers, but at "home." We will have the best room; sleep in the best beds; have the seat of honor; the fatted chicken will be killed; and we will have a good time gastronomically and otherwise. All this is as pleasing as it is remarkable in these selfish and formal times. It means much. Some of our hosts are Methodists; some, not. Some are Christians; some, otherwise. Some live in fine houses; some, in humble homes. But all are receiving us for the cause and the Master's sake.

Our hosts, I trust, will not expect too much of us. Some of us have been in the backwoods and had a rough-and-tumble time of it. Our clothes may not be of the finest texture, may show the gloss of wear and evidence of the good wife's skillful touch of needle; but they cover true hearts, and are better as they are than new ones unpaid for. Our speech may not have the polish of polite circles, nor the attractiveness of literary and intellectual merit; but we trust it will be in the "language of Canaan," and fitting to the lips of those who have been hearing to dying men the messages of life and love from God. Bear with us, if we are awkward, maybe seemingly rough. Not make "company" of us; and—need I say it?—not feed us too high. Above all, open the way in your home for us to do you and yours good.

And for us, the guests—how honorable our position and important the few days of our sojourn with the people at Conference! We are there "in His name," and they look upon us as belonging to him. Shall we be silly, flippant jesters; jolly, good fellows; vain boasters of ourselves or our exploits; dispensers of "small talk;" crabbed curmudgeons, exacting, thoughtless, hard to please; stiff ascetics, too good to smile or laugh; prayerless visitors in those homes? Or shall we bring the sunshine of pure hearts, the sweetness of holy lips, the richness of a genuine religious experience and the blessing of a prayerful, cheerful spirit there! Will we leave there an odor of sanctity, or—tobacco smoke?

Perhaps a Christian wife, deeply concerned for an unsaved husband, hopes for a blessing on our stay in her home. Perhaps a devoted mother prays that a wayward son be won by our words and influence. Perhaps a little child will receive from us the bent of its future life and destiny. Perhaps a worldly home needs such a sweetening, sanctifying influence as God's ministers should always bring. We will be there not as guests, but as representatives of Christ and his cause. Ought we not to think on these things?

MISSISSIPPI PREACHER.

Woman's Missionary Society.

Mrs. J. S. Parker:

I am happy to be able to report, for our column, that our Woman's Missionary Society is on the up-grade in the Seashore District, Mississippi Conference. Two additional auxiliaries to report since our Conference in June, one of which was organized last week at Purvis, with a membership of twenty-one to start on, and a good prospect of others in the near future. This, too, in a small place, where there are not many ladies, greatly encourages me. A worthy young lady, who is a member of the Baptist Church, was elected recording secretary. My heartfelt thanks are due our sister and prospective missionary, Mrs. E. Leon Whyte. It is to her efforts and prayers that we are, under God, indebted for this strong auxiliary. Mr. Parker was present at the organization, by invitation, and said what he could to encourage them in their new work, as is his custom. Our pastors can do much to aid us, with no detriment to their own work.

Bro. N. B. Young reports an auxiliary of forty or fifty members at Mt. Pleasant, Vancleave circuit.

I am in receipt of a most encouraging letter from Mrs. A. P. Joiner, president of our Bay St. Louis Auxiliary. Though weak in numbers, they are strong in faith and full of good works. They have raised their five dollars for Miss McNemar's education, and purpose adding to it until January. They "love to have a special work." Moss Point and others have raised their quota. We have now eleven auxiliaries in the district; less one, perhaps, for they have not reported for so long I fear the worst. While we are by no means up with the Meridian district in financial or numerical strength, yet we rank second best in the Conference.

By way of postscript, I would say that the Seashore district is the only one in the Mississippi Conference which has paid in full its apportionment on the old missionary debt.

All of our sisters, whether members of the society or not, should read the heart-searching appeal of Mrs. McGavock in the Fifteenth Annual Report, Woman's Missionary Society, M. E. Church, South, "Catechism on China," and "One Hundred Thousand Dollars." All of us would be wiser and better by a prayerful study of Ezekiel iii, 17-19, and Psalms xc, 17. The proper observance of the week of prayer and thanksgiving—Nov. 26 to Dec. 3—would afford a sweet foretaste of heaven. A deeper work of grace and entire sanctification is needful.

What a rich heritage! All things are yours; the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours. And ye are Christ's, and Christ is God. The Holy Spirit moved the hearts of our godly women of the Board to call for one hundred thousand dollars. The same omnipotent God reigns, and he who calmed the mad waves to slumber, permitted Peter to walk on the sea, "fed about five thousand men, beside women and children," with "five loaves and two fishes"—and "they took up fragments that remained twelve baskets full"—caused more to be brought to furnish the tabernacle than was needed, can and will unlock, and bring forth hoarded treasures, and divert the money used in the service of Satan to the salvation of souls.

Miss Barnes has requested our Conference secretary to urge all, whether they have a juvenile society or not, to get the children and observe some night for her plan of increasing our funds, "The Reign (rain) of Mites." Those who will help in this way can obtain programs from Miss Annie Linfield, Crystal Springs, Miss.

Auxiliaries should not forget to supply pastors with a written statement of all money raised and expended since the fourth Quarterly Conference of last year in time for this year's report.

Let every auxiliary have an agent for Woman's Missionary Advocate, and The Little Worker, remembering that agents for Woman's Missionary Advocate are allowed ten cents commission for every new subscriber, and five cents for every renewal, that they may be able to meet the expense of postage, postal notes, or money orders.

MRS. E. D. JONES,
Editor W. M. So., Miss. Conf

Evangelists.

As much has been said on this subject, will you allow a few additional suggestions?

Let the General Conference take this matter in hand, and give us a law governing evangelists and pastors employing them.

1. Let each Annual Conference have its own evangelists, whose duty it shall be to hold revival meetings within the bounds of their Conferences never beyond, unless with consent of the Bishops and presiding elders of the Conference to which they belong as well as the one to which they go.

2. Let all evangelists be appointed by the Bishops upon recommendation of the presiding elders; provided no one shall be thus appointed who has not been a traveling preacher, at least four years, and passed an approved examination on the course of study prescribed by the Bishops, and been ordained elder.

3. Let the pastors employing evangelists take charge of the finances of the meeting, pay the traveling expenses of the evangelists, and forward the balance to the treasurer of the Joint Board of Finance.

4. Let the Joint Board of Finance assess the salaries of evangelists and pay them quarterly out of the funds arising from collections in their meetings.

5. Let it be considered an immorality for any pastor to employ an evangelist, unless with the consent of his Bishop and presiding elders, also the consent of the evangelist's Bishop and presiding elders.

V. D. SKIPPER.

Example vs. Argument.

It is not necessary that we should answer all the arguments of unbelievers against our faith. Some of the arguments relate to the conduct of professing Christians. We may not be able to defend the example which others set. It does not follow that we are to yield to the argument. We are responsible especially for the example which we set. If this is right, our argument is unanswerable.—United Presbyterian.

HYGIENE.

Diet of Children.

The proper administration of proper food has much to do with the restoration of sick persons to health, and it is equally true that illness may often be avoided by the avoidance of food or drink which is irritating to the digestive organs. The food of the children should receive special attention.

During the age of growth, the digestive organs are taxed severely to supply the enormous amount of nutriment necessary for the building up of the body. Comparatively few parents realise the important part which diet plays in the production of physical robustness.

The child who is puny, pale and sallow is likely to become an adult of inferior mental and physical capabilities, and excessive fatness in childhood is quite as much to be feared. Either condition invites disease, and parents should know that much may be done to avoid both excessive leanness and excessive fatness by an intelligent and persistent attention to the child's diet.

Acute and chronic inflammations of the stomach are very common among children, especially between two and twelve years of age. These attacks are sometimes induced by exposure to cold, but oftener by the eating of improper food. Two kinds of food especially lead to such disorders—irritating food and easily fermentable food.

The first is a food which is not easily digested, and hence, by its continued presence, acts as an irritant. Easily fermentable food is that which is acted upon quickly by certain ferments, including the yeast and the alcoholic ferments.

This process gives rise to the formation of gases and acids in the stomach and duodenum. All this results is a greater flow of mucus from the surface of the stomach. In the mild cases, "a bilious attack" supervenes. In other cases the attack is more severe; a chilly feeling or a chill will ensue, followed by fever, frontal headache, restlessness, or delirium, a dry and coated or a fiery red tongue. The complexion is sallow, the appetite lost, and dark circles appear under the eyes.

The most important part of the treatment is preventive. Candy and sweets are among the most easily fermentable things swallowed by children. A child's diet should be strictly watched over, and not left to the child's own instincts. A proper amount of simple, nourishing food is the best diet for mental and physical development.—Youth's Companion.

Fluids with Meals.

The arguments presented by many writers seem to prove that the moderate taking of fluids with the food at meals is not without benefit. But the importance of the thorough mastication of food before it is presented to the stomach must never be overlooked. If this is interfered with in any way by the use of liquids, we must promptly prohibit their indulgence.

Fluids may be taken ad libitum during meals by those whose digestive powers will allow it; but such persons should keep in mind that the strongest stomach may be abused too far, while those whose stomachs are already unequal to a severe strain should be especially careful as to the quantity of fluid imbibed with the food.

The saliva is the best lubricator for the food while it is in the mouth, both because of its starch-digesting powers, and because its alkalinity serves to stimulate a copious flow of the acid secretion of the stomach.

Any habit, therefore, which permits the entrance of food into the stomach before it is thoroughly incorporated with saliva must be pronounced pernicious in the extreme.

If we can not afford the time necessary for masticating our food properly and incorporating it thoroughly with saliva, it would be better to take nothing but broths and similar foods. The use of water and other liquids as lubricators is not to be tolerated.

On the other hand, if we bear in mind the whole mechanism of digestion, it will readily be seen that, in cases of weakness or want of tone on the part of the muscles of the stomach, when every part of the food can not be properly presented to the action of the digestive juices, the introduction into the stomach of a moderate amount of water may be of no slight benefit. The mass of food will become more pliable, and so more easily operated upon by the weakened muscles.—Ex.

A New Food Grain.

A recent exploration in the Himalayan Mountain region has discovered there a grain cultivated by the natives, which has hitherto been unknown to civilized agriculture. Its native name is kowmee. In appearance it is similar to wheat, though the ears are much longer, with a peculiar inward curve, and the grains which are brown and shiny are much smaller than grains of wheat, and dissimilar in shape. This cereal yields very heavy crops with very primitive cultivation, and flourishes at a high altitude, where the seasons are necessarily short and cold. What sort of food it makes is not stated, but if it is at all palatable and nourishing kowmee would make a valuable addition to the food crops of our higher latitudes.—Picayune.

Wise Words for Young Preachers.

Bishop Joyce gave the following sage counsel to a class of young preachers who came up for admission at the recent session of Rock River Conference. Doubtless the Bishop had in mind some preachers other than those who stood before him. In any case, the words should be pondered by all ministers, whether young or old.

"We have not yet arrived at the point where we call the ministry a profession—a place where it is easy living, where one is always sure of a place. We have not reached that point, and, please God, we never will. There is a great joy in persuading men to come to God. You must be called to the ministry by the blessed providence of God. Every man who enters the ministry of the Methodist Church must have as clear a conviction that God wants him to preach as that God has forgiven his sins. There is a human side to this divine call—that qualification which causes the church to demand an educated ministry. Methodism was born in a university. She has always believed in intellectual achievement. She has believed that her ministry must stand in the front ranks by reason of intellectual ability. Society is an aggregation of moral forces, and there is but one force qualified to lead it—the church of Jesus Christ. I believe in a thorough college training, and after that a thorough theological training; but you must not think your studies and examinations end there, for we will continue to have our Conference examinations for many years, please God. Any of the kinks that theological professors put into your brain will be taken out by the Conference. You young men are too young to have had experience in that grand old brush college which graduates some of these devoted men. That college has no small study-room. It has no high-priced professors. Its students traveled circuits on horseback, and studied their Greek roots and Hebrew grammars by the light of wood fires.

"Make a library. If you've studied well, you've learned two things—the art of thinking and the art of reading. Learn to take the heart right out of a book. If you are placed on a station, take the first hours of the morning for study always. Write out your thoughts. Learn the art of condensation, of the versatility of expression. Every Methodist minister should be in his library four days in the week. The preparation of a sermon should be a prayerful task. Unless your sermon warms you up, it will never warm up your congregation. Unless your sermon moves you to tears, it will never bring tears to the eyes of your hearers. Preach on the lines of the needs of your people. Don't preach history except as a light. Don't preach poetry except to strengthen. Don't preach metaphysics or mysticisms. Preach only the Word of God. The preacher who has the largest congregation is the evangelical preacher. The successful preacher is the one who uses plain, simple language that people understand. Don't get away from the people. Stand by them. Stay at home in the pulpit and preach the gospel of Jesus Christ with all your power."

Baldness is often preceded or accompanied by grayness of the hair. To prevent both baldness and grayness, use Hall's Hair Renewer, an honest remedy.

The most tired people are those who never do any work. They are positively tired of doing nothing, and are too lazy to cure themselves.—Exchange.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon of Piqua, O., says the Physicians are Astonished, and look at her like one

Raised from the Dead

Long and Terrible Illness from Blood Poisoning

Completely Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Mary O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. She weighed but 78 lbs., and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says: "I became perfectly cured by and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 lbs., eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery, and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead." Be sure to get HOOD'S.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	6 102 grains
	Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735 108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	80 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.322
Soda	6 045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.018
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 083
Silica	6 049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is snured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonsful in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circulars.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testements, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

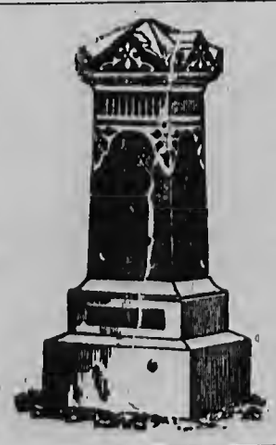
Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres. Draughon's C. P. Bus College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. four weeks by our system of teaching book keeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 27 Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger.....9 30 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00p.m
Chic. limited...7:35 p.m	Chic. limited..11:30a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex..7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex.8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.8:20 p.m
Local.....10:05 a.m	Local.....8:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:45 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a. m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 5:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

TIME TO CINCINNATI, 26 HOURS.

TIME TO NEW YORK, 47 HOURS.

The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change. Time to New York via Washington only 45 hours.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

Depot: Corner Press street and Levee.

R. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent, New Orleans, La.

D. MILLER, Traffic Manager.

D. G. EDWARDS, Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent, Cincinnati

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $630 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 878.

QUALITY AND PRICE

"A" Grade, $67.50. "A" Grade, $45. IS WHAT TALKS.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 125 Styles. Vehicles $20 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

"A" Grade, $100.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. E. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS for 1893. Contains new songs and responsive readings. 48 pages. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

JESUS THE NAZARENE, by P. P. Campiglio. A fine Christmas Service of Song and Readings for the Sunday-School. Price 5 cents a single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS SERVICES

of the same nature are—"The Gift of God," "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh," "Christmas Joy Bells," "Noel," "Good Will to Men," "Peace and Truth," and "The Christ of Bethlehem." Price of each, 5 cents per single copy by mail.

SANTA CLAUS MISSION, by Wm. Rock, with additional songs by J. R. Murray. This is a beautiful new cantata that is sure to please the children of the Sunday-School. It is full of bright and pleasing music, and is not at all difficult of preparation. Price 40 cents per single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS CANTATAS

are "A Jolly Christmas," "The Christmas Eve," "A Christmas Vision," "The New Santa Claus," "Santa Claus & Co.," "Judge Santa Claus," "Holiday Kriss Kringle," "Santa Claus' Mistake," "The Ways Christmas." Price of each 30 cents per single copy by mail. "Under the Palms" and "The Choicest Gift" are also suitable for Christmas, though not designed especially for the purpose. Price 40 cts. All of the above cantatas are intended for children, but in the fine work entitled "Bethlehem" by Root & Weatherley, adults will find something worthy of their best efforts. Price 40 cents by mail.

A CHRISTMAS BAZAAR, by Mrs. N. R. Dewey and J. R. Murray. This is a new and pleasing entertainment which is neither a cantata or exercise but has the characteristics of both. It is very entertaining and will no doubt meet with much favor. Price 30 cents per single copy.

A CHRISTMAS REVERIE, by W. L. Mason is another entertainment which has met with much success and approval. Price 30 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY, by Mary B. Brooks and G. F. Root gives the principal events of the life of our Lord while on earth, in beautiful verses, Scripture readings and expressive music. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

The December number of the "MUSICAL VISITOR" will contain anthems for Christmas and will be a very useful number in that direction. Price 15 cents per copy by mail.

Catalogue of Christmas Music furnished free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

CINCINNATI—NEW YORK—CHICAGO.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Christianity from the Apostolic Period through the Reformation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars address him and receive circulars free. REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D. Dayton, Ohio.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT REFLECTORS FOR OIL, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT

I. P. FRINK.

551 PEARL ST. N.Y.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED

Guaranteed in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the COMMERCIAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each Illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pages. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

68th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and instruction, provided at rate of $216.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st. GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

FENCING WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Prices paid. BEMULLER WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. L. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Blk, Nashville, Tenn. — FOR — Catalogue.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 30 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Chapped Skin, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by JAYNE'S OINTMENT. 50c. druggists. HANCE & CO., Phila.

ARE YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion. Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. HISCOX & CO., N. Y.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PURE BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

Best Pure Copper and Tin. Church Bells, Peals and Chimes. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $1 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, December 7, 1893.

North Mississippi Conference.

We left New Orleans via the Northeastern railroad on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock. On the train we met our beloved friend and brother, John A. Lewis, of Meridian, whose companionship made the journey as far as Meridian a real pleasure. After about four hours spent in trying to sleep in a Meridian hotel we boarded the north-bound Mobile and Ohio train, which landed us at Artesia at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. From Macon up we had the company of several preachers and others bound for Conference, among them Judge H. W. Foote and his charming wife. With the latter we were delighted to renew the acquaintanceship of younger days, it having been more than twenty years since we met. At Artesia we made close connection for Columbus, reaching there at ten o'clock. The Conference was already in session when we arrived.

Bishop Hargrove seems in vigorous health and fine spirits. He is an admirable presiding officer. He is always courteous and dignified, yet firm. Without any seeming hurry he dispatches business with great rapidity.

Our time during the Conference session being necessarily taken up to a large extent with business pertaining to the publishing department, we began soon after our arrival to cast about for some one with the pen of a ready writer to report the proceedings of the Conference. We were so fortunate as to be able to secure the services of the inimitable "Gilderoy," whose facile pen is most admirably adapted to work of this character.

Columbus is one of the most beautiful cities in the State. Its streets are laid off with great regularity, and most of them are abundantly and beautifully shaded. Being a city of considerable wealth, it has many palatial homes. It is a centre of culture and refinement, a most admirable place for the site of such an institution of learning as the I. I. and C., Mississippi's pride. This institution, the first of its kind in the world, has been taken as a model by other States—notably by Georgia, whose girls' college at Milledgeville is very closely modeled after this.

Our Conference home was with Maj. J. M. Billups, and a more delightful one can not be found. Maj. Billups and his cultured wife understand the art of hospitality to perfection. With us in this elegant home were domiciled Dr. W. T. J. Sullivan, Dr. R. W. Jones, Judge Fant, and Col. Hamilton—all delightful companions.

The brethren of the Conference gave us a most cordial reception. The outlook for the ADVOCATE in North Mississippi is decidedly encouraging.

North Mississippi Conference

The twenty-fourth session of the North Mississippi Conference convened in the Sunday-school room of the Methodist Church in Columbus, Miss., at 9 A. M., Wednesday, Nov. 29, 1893. Religious exercises led by Bishop R. K. Hargrove.

Roll called by Rev. J. S. Oakley, and a large majority answered to their names. Rev. J. S. Oakley was elected secretary, and Rev. T. W. Lewis and R. M. Evans, assistants.

The presiding elders nominated and the Conference elected the following committees.

We give only name of the chairman of each committee:

Public Worship—T. C. Wier, P. E.

District Conference Records—Rev. J. W. Anderson.

Observance of the Sabbath—Rev. N. G. Augustus.

Spiritual Interest of the Church—Rev. T B. Malone.

Books and Periodicals—Rev. T. Y. Ramsey.

Bible Cause—Rev. J. A. Bowen.

Temperance—H. H. Estes.

Memoirs—Rev. T. W. Dye.

Rev. Anson West, of North Alabama Conference; Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Missionary Secretary; Dr. D. Morton, Church Extension Secretary; T. B. Holt, treasurer of Board of Missions; J. W. Chambers, agent of Millsaps College, and Dr. W. C. Black, editor NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, were introduced to the Conference, and each in a happy way called attention to the particular connectional interest he had in hand.

Dr. Anson West came to us as the historian of Methodism in Alabama and, of necessity, a partial historian of Methodism in Mississippi.

Dr. Johnson, pastor of the Baptist Church, was introduced, and in a few felicitous and brotherly remarks won the affections of the Conference.

Rev. Mr. Sanders, of the C. P. Church, was presented and requested to have a seat with us.

Reports from the Board of Missions, Sunday-school Secretary, Secretary Church Extension, agent of the Publishing House, trustees of Millsaps and Grenada Colleges were read, and referred to the appropriate committees. The hours for meeting and adjourning and the bar of the Conference were fixed.

The second question was then asked: "Who remain on trial?" J. T. Murrah, L. M. Broyles, W. T. Rogers, and S. B. Myers were called, reported, passed and continued. C. B. Ames asked to be discontinued, and his request was granted. S. L. Boyd was discontinued.

E. W. Cole made report on expenses of delegates to General Conference, which was referred to Joint Board of Finance.

Bro. Standifer announced preaching for seven P. M., by Rev. M. D. Fly, and a Thanksgiving sermon to-morrow by Bishop R. K. Hargrove.

After the usual notices the Conference adjourned with benediction by the Bishop.

SECOND DAY.

The Conference convened at nine A. M., Bishop Hargrove in the chair. Religious exercises conducted by Rev. T. J. Newell. The roll was called, and some few absentees responded to their names.

A communication from Rev. J. W. McLaurin, agent of the American Bible Society, was received, and referred to Committe on Bible Cause without reading.

The second question was called: "Who remain on trial?" C. H. Pitman, W. W. Mitchell.

The first question was called, "Who are admitted on trial?" Perry E. Duncan, Hal L. Spraggins, Charles A. Spraggins, Jno. M Bradley, W. G. Burks, John M. Morse, Thos. A. Dorsey.

The eighth question was called: "Who are elected deacons?" L. M. Lipscomb, E. B. Clifford, W. D. Burroughs, W. L. Graves, J. A. Poe, W. A. Clark, J. A. Rogers, J. L. Bowling, J. M. Deavenport, W. A. Bowlin.

The twentieth question was called: "Who are superannuated?" Samuel Carson, A. A. Houston, S. A. Ellis, W. R. Rainey.

J. M. Hampton, J. W. Bates were called and referred to Committee on Conference Relations for superannuated relation.

The seventeenth question was called: "Who are supernumerary?" W. S. Harrison was referred to Committee on Conference Relations for supernumerary relation.

The name of J. D. Cameron was substituted for T. W. Dye on Committee on Memoirs.

The twentieth question was called: "Are all the preachers blameless in their official administration?" Rev. J. R. Roberson was called, and his case was referred to a special committee for investigation. Committee—K. A. Jones, R. G. Porter and J. F. Evans.

Bros. Shoemaker and Anderson, of North Alabama Conference, were introduced to the Conference.

Announcements were made, when the Conference adjourned for preaching. Benediction by the Bishop.

THIRD DAY.

Conference convened at the appointed hour, and was opened with religious exercises conducted by Rev. A. Kendall; Bishop Hargrove in the chair. The Minutes of yesterday's session read and approved.

Several members, both lay and clerical, arrived and took their seats.

Question sixth: "Who are received by transfer?" H. T. Cunningham, from North Texas Conference.

The Committee on Conference Relations recommended that Rev. W. S. Harrison be granted supernumerary relation, and that Revs. J. M. Hampton, S. Carson, A. A. Houston, S. A. Ellis, W. R. Rainey and J. W. Bates be granted the superannuated relation.

The Committee on the Observance of the Sabbath reported, and report adopted.

Rev. J. W. Gooch, who had surrendered his credentials, asked to have them restored. The credentials were restored.

Rev. W. G. Hawkins, of the Congregational Methodist Church, presented his credentials and asked to have them recognized. Owing to informality, this was not done.

"Who are readmitted?" None.

"Who are deacons of one year?" R. A. Meek, B. P. Jaco, J. E. Buck, J. C. Park.

Conference resolved to meet this afternoon at three o'clock.

On recommendation of the Committee, Rev. J. R. Roberson was located.

The Board of Education made reports, numbers one and two, which were adopted. Addresses were made by Rev. W. B. Murrah, T. J. Newell and J. W. Honnoll, representing the institutions over which they preside.

An address to the Conference, on the subject of the Parsonage and Home Mission work, from Mrs. Nathan Scarratt, general secretary of this work, was read to the Conference by Mrs. T. B. Hargrove.

Rev. T. C. Armstrong, D. D., editor Alabama Christian Advocate, was introduced to the Conference, also Rev. J. W. Boswell, D. D., editor Memphis Christian Advocate.

"Who are admitted into full connection?" T. C. Clifford, W. D. Burroughs, Wm. L. Graves, Jas. M. Deavenport, Wm. A. Bowlin, Lee M. Lipscomb, Jas. L. Bowling.

The address of Bishop Hargrove to this class was sound, strong, clear and spiritual.

"Who are ordained elders?" C. W. Perkins, G. H. Lipscomb, R. O. Brown, J. C. Mims, W. J. Burt, H. M. Young, J. W. Treadwell, and B. B. Sullivan—characters passed, and they remain in class of fourth year.

The election of delegates to General Conference was made the order of the day for three o'clock P. M.

After announcements the Conference adjourned with benediction by the Bishop.

EVENING SESSION.

Conference met at the appointed hour, and was opened with religious services by Rev. W. C. Black, D. D. The Minutes of the morning session read and approved.

The hour for the election of delegates to the General Conference having arrived, the Bishop announced the following persons a committee to act as tellers and to count the vote: H. R. Tucker, Dabney Lipscomb, T. Y. Ramsey and Jno. H. Mitchell.

"What local preachers are elected deacons?" L. E. Broyles, Perry E. Dunean.

"What local preachers are elected elders?" Luther A. McKeown.

"Are the preachers blameless in life and official administration?" H. C. Morehead, T. B. Hargrove, J. M. Wyatt, D. M. Cogdell, J. D. Cameron, J. M. Huggins, J. W. Malone, A. J. Jones, W. W. Williams, R. P. Goar, Eugene Johnson, H. P. Gibbs, T. W. Dye, D. M. Geddie, R. A. Burroughs, T. B. Malone, J. W. O'Bryant, J. W. Price, G. W. Gordon, James Porter, J. E. Thomas, J. W. Anderson, J. M. Massey, C. C. Grisham, B. P. Fullilove, J. W. Luter, E. P. Craddock, E. H. Rook, A. J. Foster, T. J. Newell were passed.

The committee of tellers reported first ballot: W. B. Murrah and J. S. Oakley, clerical, were elected. G. D. Shands, J. T. Fant and R. W. Jones, lay, were elected.

The question, "Are the preachers blameless in life and official administration?" was again taken up. S. M. Thames, J. Ritchey, J. T. Howell, J. R. D. King, W. S. Shipman, R. M. Davis, Thos. Cameron, R. M. Evans, O. L. Savage, W. T. J. Sullivan, J. F. Evans, W. D. McCullough, T. G. Freeman, L. D. Worsham, R. G. Porter, A. W. Langley, W. A. Dollar, J. A. Leech, W. C. Lester, T. L. Foster, D. C. Foust, W. B. Murrah, G. W. Bachman were examined and passed.

The committee of tellers reported second ballot. No one elected.

The third ballot was taken and left to be reported at next session.

Conference adjourned with benediction by Dr. J. D. Cameron.

FOURTH DAY.

Conference convened at the appointed hour. Religious services by Rev. A. P. Leech; Bishop Hargrove in the chair.

The Minutes of the afternoon session were read and approved. The tellers reported third ballot: Dr. W. T. J. Sullivan, clerical, elected; no layman elected. The fourth ballot was ordered and taken.

A communication from Paine and Lane Institute was read, and referred to the Committee on Education.

On motion, the Conference requested the Bishop to appoint Rev. J. A. Lewis to the presideney of Louisville Public School.

Committee on Conference Relations recommended that W. A. Dollar be granted supernumerary relation.

The Committee on the Spiritual Interests of the Church reported.

A resolution memorializing the General Conference to transfer the licensing of local preachers from the Quarterly Conference to the District Conference. This resolution was not adopted.

The tellers reported the fourth ballot: Rev. T. J. Newell was elected; no layman elected. The fifth ballot was ordered and taken.

The Committee on the Bible Cause made its report, which was adopted.

The tellers reported the fifth ballot: Rev. R. G. Porter. Layman, G. D. Harris. The sixth ballot for lay delegate was ordered and taken.

The Joint Board of Finance reported, showing all the collections ordered by the Conference to be short.

Tellers reported sixth ballot: No election. Clerical reserves—J. D. Cameron and W. S. Lagrone. The seventh ballot for lay delegate was ordered and taken.

Resolutions expressive of sympathy with Bro. B. S. Rayner in his work of Bible distribution in Japan.

The Conference moved to adjourn to visit the I. I. and C. at four P. M.

The tellers reported the seventh ballot: No election. Eighth ballot ordered and taken.

The twentieth question was resumed. T. C. Wier, R. M. Standifer, K. M. Harrison, K. A. Jones, D. L. Cogdell, J. H. Mitchell, R. I. Allen, D. W. Babb, J. W. Dorman, A. P. Sage, Amos Kendall, A. P. Leech, J. D. Newsom, J. W. Treadwell passed.

Tellers reported eighth ballot: No election. The ninth ballot ordered and taken.

Twentieth question resumed: J. B. Stone. J. A. Bowen, N. G. Augustus, E. H. Moon, J. T. Cunningham, J. M. Barnes, H. C. Parrott, H. R. Tucker, M. E. Tumlin, F. A. Whitson passed.

Ninth ballot reported: J. R. Bingham elected. J. G. Hamilton and J. B. Streater, alternates.

The names of R. C. Calloway and C. N. Terry referred to Board for superannuated relation.

Twentieth question resumed: W. S. Lagrone, T. Y. Ramsey, W. C. Harris. J. H. Smith, J. W. Malone, B. F. Phillips, J. E. Buck, M. H. Honnoll, J. W. Honnoll, T. W. Lewis, J. J. Brooks, B. S. Rayner, J. W. Poston, O. N. Koon, J. W. Boswell, J. B. Harris, G. H. Jacobs, J. C. Lowe, J. H. Shumaker, J. A. Randolph, J. S. Oakley, H. P. Crowe, E. H. Cacy, M. D. Fly, W. M. Young, J. C. Brown, W. W. Woollard, J. A. Whitehurst, R. H. B. Gladney, Joseph Johnson, W. H. Sanders examined and passed. The name of Rev. W. T. Barnett, who was suspended last year, was called and his character passed. Rev. D. M. Cogdell was located at his own request.

"Where shall the next session of the Conference be held?" Answer: Sardis.

The Committee on Conference Relations recommended that R. C. Calloway and C. N. Terry be continued in superannuated relation.

Conference heard announcements for Sunday, and adjourned to meet at three o'clock P. M. Benediction by H. C. Morehead.

EVENING SESSION.

The Conference met at three P. M. Religious exercises by Rev. K. A. Jones; Bishop Hargrove in the chair. Minutes of the morning session read and approved.

Church Extension Committee reported through its secretary, Rev. T. B. Hargrove. Rev. T. Y. Ramsey reported for the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

Dr. W. C. Black, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, addressed the Conference in the interest of this organ.

Pending the consideration of the report on Books and Periodicals, the hour for adjournment arrived, and the Conference went in a body to the I. I. and C.

The Committee on the Second Year reconsidered their report on Rev. J. A. Poe, and reported that they pass him. He was then elected to deacons' orders.

NIGHT SESSION.

Conference was called to order by K. A. Jones. J. F. Evans conducted the devotional exercises, after which the president called up the report of the Committee on Books and Periodicals, which was read in the afternoon session. J. D. Cammack, W. T. J. Sullivan and T. C. Wier were elected as Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Report of the Sunday school Board was submitted by Dabney Lipscomb, and adopted.

W. T. Barnett was located because of general unacceptability.

It was moved and carried that when we adjourn we do so to meet Sunday night in memorial service.

Statistical secretary reported as follows: Local preachers, 160; members, 42,412; infant baptism, 760; adult baptism, 2,162; Sunday-schools, 463; Sunday-school teachers, 2,440; Sunday-school scholars, 20,645; churches, 440—value, $649,097; parsonages, 112—value, $104,931.

The Board of Education made a supplemental report.

The treasurer of the Board of Education reported $960.65 collected for education.

The Board of Missions reported $1,892.98 for domestic missions, and $5,628 for foreign missions on assessments, and $612.25 on the missionary debt.

The report on temperance was submitted, and the Columbus papers were requested to publish same.

The Colportage Committee reported through H. P. Gibbs.

It was moved and carried that J. W. Boswell be recommended as editor of the Memphis Advocate.

The Minutes were read and adopted. Conference adjourned.

FIFTH DAY.

The services on Sunday at the Methodist Church were as follows: Love-feast at nine o'clock, at eleven preaching by Bishop Hargrove, followed by the ordination of deacons; at three o'clock preaching by Dr. W. C. Black, followed by the ordination of elders. The love-feast was an occasion of spiritual refreshment. Of the Bishop's sermon it is sufficient praise to say that it fully met public expectation.

The ordinations were as follows:

Traveling preachers ordained deacons: T. B. Clifford, W. D. Burroughs, J. A. Poe, W. L. Graves, and J. M. Deavenport.

Local preachers ordained deacons: P. E. Duncan, L. M. Broyles, and J. H. Barrentine.

Traveling preachers ordained elders: G. H. Lipscomb, C. W. Perkins, R. O. Brown, and J. C. Mims.

Local preachers ordained elders: L. A. McKeown.

SUNDAY NIGHT PROCEEDINGS.

On Sunday night, commencing at seven o'clock, a communion service was held by Bishop Hargrove. After the communion service Conference was called to order, and the question was asked, "Who have died during the year?" Answer: Joseph A. Brooks and J. J. Wheat. The memoir of J. A. Brooks was read by Dr. J. D. Cameron; that of J. J. Wheat by T. J. Newell. The memoirs were followed by a number of very affecting talks. The appointments were read between ten and eleven o'clock, after which Conference adjourned with a benediction.

The following is a list of the appointments:

APPOINTMENTS.

GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.
Greenville, T. Y. Ramsey.
Hollandale circuit, H. L. Spraggins.
Arcola station, J. C. Mims.
Shaw and New Salem, J. J. Brooks.
Cleveland and Shelby, H. P. Crowe.
Coahoma and Duncan, W. H. Sanders.
Clarksdale, J. M. Wyatt.
Jonestown and Belen, H. P. Gibbs.
Lula circuit, J. L. Bowling and J. Johnson.
Tunica circuit, B. F. Phillips.
Friar's Point, J. C. Brown.
Hillhouse circuit, H. T. Cunningham.
Gunnison, J. A. Whitehurst.
Rosedale and Beulah, L. M. Broyles.
Bolivar, R. H. B. Gladney.

GRENADA DISTRICT.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.
Grenada station, F. B. Malone.
Grenada circuit, W. J. O'Bryant.
Water Valley station, J. W. Price.
Water Valley circuit, W. D. Burroughs.
Coffeeville, J. F. Evans.
Charleston, James Porter.
Oxford station, J. E. Thomas.
Abbeville, B. P. Jaco.
Toccopola, J. M. Massey.
Atlanta, S. B. Myers.
Minter City and Strathmore, J. W. Luter.
Chapel Hill, E. H. Rook.
Tillatoba, W. A. Bewlin.
Pittsboro, A. J. Foster.
Ezy, E. P. Craddock.
Paris, C. C. Grisham.
Grenada Collegiate Institute, T. J. Newell, president.

WINONA DISTRICT.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.
Winona station, J. Richey.
Winona circuit, J. T. Howell.
Vaiden, L. M. Lipscomb.
Carrollton station, G. H. Liescomb.
Carrollton circuit, J. R. D. King.
Greenwood, W. S. Shipman.
West, R. M. Davis.
Black Hawk, T. Cameron.
McNutt, R. M. Evans.
Indianola and Faisonia, O. L. Savage.
Duhlin and Brooklyn, R. I. Allen.
Lebrton, J. C. Woodruff, sup.
Sidon, C. A. Spraggins.

KOSCIUSKO DISTRICT.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.
Kosciusko and Durant, J. W. Anderson.
Sallis, W. D. McCullough.
Wier, T. G. Freeman.
Ethel, J. D. Newsom.
Rural Hill, supply.
Belzona, J. A. Poe.
Lexington and Tchula, L. D. Wortham.
Pickens, R. G. Porter.
Ebenezer, A. W. Langley.
Kosciusko circuit, W. W. Williams.
Louisville, D. C. Foust.
Eupora, W. C. Lester.
Stewart, T. L. Foster.
Chester, R. P. Goar.
Poplar Creek, J. H. Rogers.
Millsaps College, W. B. Murrah.
Colporter and Sunday-school agent, G. W. Bachman.

COLUMBUS DISTRICT.

T. C. WIER, P. E.
Columbus station, R. M. Standefer.
Columbus circuit, K. M. Harrison.
Crawford, K. A. Jones.
Brooksville, D. L. Cogdell.
Macon, J. O. Brown.
Mashulaville, B. P. Fullilove.
Shuqualak, A. T. Buck.
Hebron, D. W. Bahn.
Starkville station, J. W. Dorman.
Starkville circuit, A. P. Sage.
West Point, W. T. J. Sullivan.
Tibbee, J. T. Murrah.
Cedar Bluff, P. E. Duncan.
Sturgis, J. W. Treadwell.
Sparta, A. P. Leech.

ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.
Aberdeen station, Amos Kendall.
Okolona station, N. G. Augustus.
Okolona circuit, H. C. Parrott.
Tupelo, E. H. Moon.
Verona and Nettleton, J. T. Cunningham.
Prairie, J. M. Barnes.
Pontotoc, F. A. Whitson.
Buena Vista, W. W. Mitchell.
Houston and Wesley, J. C. Park.
Shannon, M. E. Tumlin.
Fulton circuit, E. H. Davis.
Saltillo, J. M. Deavenport.
Tremont, S. P. Sargeant.
Amory and Smithville, W. W. Woollard.
Athens, W. L. Graves.
Nettleton circuit, J. W. Raper, sup.

CORINTH DISTRICT.

T. W. LEWIS, P. E.
Corinth station, J. H. Shumaker.
Corinth circuit, C. H. Pittman.
Iuka station, W. C. Harris.
Iuka circuit, W. A. Clark.
Kossuth, W. J. Burt.
Rienzi, J. W. Ramsey.
Jonesboro, W. G. Burks.
Ripley and New Albany, J. W. Bell.
Ripley circuit, H. M. Young.
Booneville and Baldwyn, H. R. Tucker.
Guntown, J. E. Buck.
Blue Springs, J. W. Bradley.
New Albany circuit, M. H. Honnoll.
Marietta, J. P. Moore.
Brown's Creek, W. F. Rogers.
Pleasant Ridge, J. T. McKeown, sup.
Booneville circuit, L. A. McKeown, sup.

HOLLY SPRINGS DISTRICT.

J. B. STONE, P. E.
Holly Springs station, J. S. Oakley.
Holly Springs circuit, B. B. Sullivan.
East Holly Springs circuit, J. W. Poston.
Ashland, B. C. Gray, sup.
Cornersville, O. N. Koon.
Pott's Camp and Hickory Flat, M. D. Fly.
Pine Mountain, J. M. Morse.
Red Banks, J. B. Harris.
Mt. Pleasant, G. H. Jacobs.
Byhalia, J. C. Lowe.
Olive Branch, J. H. Smith.
Editor Memphis Christian Advocate, J. W. Boswell.

SARDIS DISTRICT.

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.
Sardis and Davis Chapel, T. B. Hargrove.
Como and McGee, J. W. Malone.
Senatobia, J. D. Cameron.
Arkabutla, J. M. Huggins.
Hernando and Coldwater, R. A. Meek.
Nesbit, G. W. Gordon.
Pleasant Hill, A. J. Jones.
Cockrum, T. W. Dye.
Tyro, C. W. Perkins.
Batesville and Wesley, E. Johnson.
Pleasant Grove, W. M. Young.
Panola, D. M. Geddie.
Morganville mission, J. A. Braswell.
Courtland, T. B. Clifford.
Wall Hill, R. O. Brown.

TRANSFERRED.—E. H. Cacy and J. O. Brown, to North Texas Conference; B. S. Rayner, to Japan.

North Mississippi Conference Notes.

Columbus is a royal place to hold a Conference session. No city in Mississippi entertains with a more generous hospitality.

On Friday night Rev. Julien C. Brown, of Friar's Point, preached a sermon in which edifying thought was embodied in elegant diction.

Dr. Lamhuth gave an address on Medical Mission Work, which was very much enjoyed. It was a very instructive discourse—just the kind our people need.

The Conference was honored with the presence of three of our connectional officers—Morton, Lamhuth and Holt. Uncle David spread himself at the Church Extension Anniversary. His effort on that occasion is regarded as one of his very finest.

The North Mississippi brethren were generally very prompt in coming out shekels to the ADVOCATE. We received several new subscriptions, and quite a number of the brethren promise to send us a long list in the near future. So mote it be.

The Conference as a body visited the I. I. and C. The brethren were highly pleased with their visit. They go to their homes more than ever impressed with the wisdom of the legislation which brought this institution into existence. This institution is rapidly becoming the pride of the State.

The Board of Church Extension held its anniversary meeting in the auditorium of the Methodist Church, Wednesday night. The secretary was not ready to report, it being so early in the session. Dr. Morton made a very fine address on the subject of Church and Parsonage Extension. A collection was taken up.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney reports that in his charge, Bolivar station, there is not a single family unsupplied with a church paper. One result of this is that this charge leads the Conference in finances, paying more than twenty dollars per capita. A church paper in every Methodist home is a "consummation devoutly to be wished."

The Conference was honored with the presence of Dr. Armstrong, of the North Alabama Conference, editor of the Alabama Advocate, and Dr. Anson West, of the same Conference. Dr. West was present in the interest of his book, "The History of Methodism in Alabama"—a capital work, notice of which will appear soon in our columns.

Millsaps College was represented not only by Dr. Murrah, but also by Rev. John W. Chambers, financial agent. Bro. Chambers seems to have had considerable success in the collection of notes and subscriptions due by persons in attendance upon the Conference. We hope that before the first of June the $100 000 endowment will have been secured.

The session of the North Mississippi Conference was a very short one. Beginning on Wednesday and closing Sunday night, it lasted just five days. It was a very harmonious session. While there were some spirited discussions, not an unkind or acrimonious word was spoken so far as we heard. This Conference is quite a fine-looking body—much above the average. The number of young men is noticeably large. The delegation to the General Conference is as follows: Clerical—R. G. Porter, W. B. Murrah, W. T. J Sullivan, T. J. Newell and J. S. Oakley. Lay—G. D. Shands, R. W. Jones, T. J. Fant, G. D. Harris and J. R Bingham.

A report having gained currency that Mr. T. B. Holt, of Nashville, treasurer of our Board of Missions, has been speculating in cotton futures, the Board, after a most thorough investigation, entirely exonerates Bro. Holt. This was what we expected. Having had a personal acquaintance with Bro. Holt for several years, we could not believe that he belongs to the crowd of "gambling Methodists." It is a shame that false reports of this character should be circulated. Newspapers that give them currency ought to be called to account.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Second Stage of Catarrh.

THINGS THAT THOUSANDS KNOW BY BITTER EXPERIENCE.

The second stage of catarrh is sometimes called an "old cold." A neglected cold has settled in the head, nose, throat, larynx, bronchial tubes, lungs, or other organ of the body. If it settles in the head it may produce roaring, cracking in the ears, headache, and confusion of the senses; if in the nose, a more or less abundant discharge, sneezing, noisy breathing, and thickened membranes; if in the throat, hawking, enlarged tonsils, sore throat, follicular pharyngitis (preachers' sore throat); if in the larynx, hoarseness, weakness of voice, aphonia (loss of voice), if in the bronchial tubes, cough, pain in the chest, expectoration, and loss of appetite. Unless something is done to put a stop to this state of things the third stage of chronic catarrh is sure to set in, which is not only hard to bear, but difficult to cure. Pe-ru-na will cure all cases of catarrh in the second stage if used without interruption. Directions for use accompanying each bottle, although some cases find it to their advantage to send to Dr. Hartman for his directions for one month's treatment. (Sent free.)

The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio, are sending free to any address their latest book on catarrh, entitled "Climatic Diseases,"—a book well worth reading.

Thanksgiving at Louisiana Avenue Church.

United New Orleans Methodism gathered this year for the Thanksgiving services in the new and beautiful Louisiana Avenue Church. The congregation was very large, the singing most excellent and the floral decorations tasteful and complete. The Rev. James M. Henry read the first hymn, and Dr. LaPrade led in prayer. Rev. Henry H. Ahrens read the 103rd Psalm and the ninth chapter of II. Corinthians, and was followed by Rev. Robt. H. Wynn, who read the second hymn, beginning, 'We thank thee, Lord of heaven and earth." Then the Carondelet Street pastor, Rev. Wm. H. LaPrade, D. D., preached a noble sermon, practical and appropriate, and at the same time moving upon a high plane of thinking, couched in choice diction, and delivered with heart-earnestness and in the power of the Holy Spirit. The Doctor's text was II. Cor. ix, 15: "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift." Then came a good collection for the poor and the singing of "Come, ye that love the Lord."

After a prayer by the beloved Dr. Walker, the congregation sang with feeling, "God be with you till we meet again," and the benediction was pronounced. It was an occasion to be remembered, and we felt that these reunions of our people grow better "as the years go by." S.

Church Dedication.

It was the writer's happiness to dedicate the new church at Ponchatoula, La.—Bro. W. T. Currie, pastor—on Sunday last. The weather was very cold, and the attendance not as large as had been expected; but the pretty church was dedicated out of debt and the young Methodism of this growing town started upon a new era of prosperity. By a singular providence no collection was needed, and by a gracious one two persons were received into the church on profession of faith. The town had recently enjoyed a gracious revival of religion under the preaching of Evangelist Morrill and the labors of the zealous pastor, and the church which had numbered ten members at the beginning of the year will report sixty-five to Conference. Ponchatoula has been anything but a Methodist town in the past, but now the mayor and the leading merchants and business men of the town are not only in the church, but are converted men, and nearly all of them either professing or seeking sanctification. Bro. Currie, who is pastor for the first year, is universally popular, and has done a noble year's work. May his tribe increase! J. M. BEARD.

Notice.

To the Members of the Louisiana Annual Conference:

All pastors who have claimants on the Conference collection within their pastoral charge will confer a favor upon the Joint Board of Finance by making a written report of the condition of said claimant; furthermore each pastor so doing will fulfill a solemn duty. (See Discipline, page 85, paragraph 134.) S S KEENER,
Chair'n Joint Board, La. An. Conf.

For Louisiana Conference.

Mississippi and Yazoo Valley Route grant excursion rates for one fare going and one-third fare returning on the certificate plan. Tickets on sale Dec. 11. W. B. THOMSON.

Do not put off taking a medicine. Numerous little ailments, if neglected, will soon break up the system. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now, to expel disease, give strength and appetite.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

From Darkest Africa

Henry M. Stanley.

come two more notable articles by Henry M. Stanley. "Out of the Jaws of Death," and "A Blue-Coat Boy in Africa," are both masterpieces of thrilling and true narrative by the great explorer, to appear next year in

The Youth's Companion.

The Programme next year is brighter than ever. "SWEET CHARITY," a beautiful picture of Colonial times, in colors, 14½ x 21 inches in size, presented to all New (or Renewing) Subscribers. All New Subscribers sending $1.75 now, get THE COMPANION FREE to Jan. 1, and a full year from that date. Sample copies free. Boston, Mass.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

To Pastors in the Louisiana Conference.

It is our custom to make the statistical reports more elaborate than the printed form provides for. By this means a better knowledge of the work the church is really doing is possible, and such knowledge becomes a source of strength and of purpose to still further advance. To secure fullness and accuracy in the Conference statistics, the secretary begs leave to submit the following advices:

1. Use only the latest form provided for making reports.

2. Let the reports be all filed on the statistical secretary's desk not later than Thursday morning. The absence of one set of reports will delay the whole work, and cause much additional labor.

3. Do not ask that changes be made after the reports have been filed. Make them correct in the first instance.

4. In reporting "Membership," make the "total" the sum of the three classes—local preachers, white members, colored members. Make the "total members last year" by adding or deducting, as the case may require, the net loss or the net gain to the total members this year.

5. Add to the items provided on the "Financial Report" amounts raised for the following purposes: American Bible Society, special missionary contributions (nor to be included in the report of the regular collections), Centenary College endowment, Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, Paine and Lane Institute, finances of Epworth Leagues and Christian Endeavor Societies, relief of poor, current expenses. Do not include Sunday-school missionary collections in this table. Make the "total amount raised from all sources" the sum of all moneys reported on all three tables—Sunday-school, membership, and finance. Be exact in making the additions.

6 Report on "Sunday-school" table the membership of Epworth League and Christian Endeavor Societies.

FITZGERALD SALE PARKER,
Statistical Secretary.

Notice.

HO! FOR LOUISIANA CONFERENCE!

The Texas and Pacific and the Southern Pacific grant excursion rates for one fare going and one-third fare returning, on the certificate plan. Tickets on sale Dec. 11. Return tickets to be purchased within two days after Conference adjourns. The other roads have not yet been heard from.

C. W. CARTER.

A mean man can get religion, but he can't stay mean and keep it.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.

Louisiana Conference.

The class for admission into the Louisiana Annual Conference will meet at the Methodist Church in Homer, La., on Wednesday, Dec. 13.

J. M. BEARD, Chairman.

The class of the first year will meet at Methodist Church, Homer, La., at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday, Dec. 13.

WM. H. LA PRADE.

The class of the second year will meet the committee at the Methodist Church, Homer, La., Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 9:30 A. M. COMMITTEE.

Lake Providence, La.

The class of the third year will please meet committee for examination in Homer, La., Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at seven o'clock, at such place as the pastor may designate, and oblige

THOS. B. WHITE,
For Committee.

Arcadia, La.

Louisiana Conference.

Col. S. B. McCutchen announces that preachers passing through Shreveport to and from Conference will be given half rates at the City Hotel.

H. S. JOHNS.

Louisiana Conference Railroad Rates.

L. and N. W.—Gibbs to Homer. One fare for round trip. You pay $1.25, and get round-trip ticket.

V., S. and P.—Vicksburg and Shreveport to Gibbs. One and one-third fare on the certificate plan. Get a certificate when you buy your ticket, pay one fare, and on your return said certificate will enable you to buy a return ticket for one-third regular rate.

T. and P.—To be reported by Bro. W. B. Thomson, of New Orleans.

M. and Y. Valley Route.—To be reported by Bro. Thomson.

The L. and N. W. trains make direct connections with all trains on V., S. and P. at Gibbs, twenty miles from Homer.

TIME OF ARRIVAL AT HOMER.

From Shreveport, 8:30 A. M. From Vicksburg, 6.30 P. M.

Report at the church if not met at depot. J. A. PARKER.

Notice.

Brethren who want any special books will confer a favor by letting us know at once, so that we may get them and have them on hand.

LAIRD & DOMINICK.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

I Have Just Received

A supply of Peloubet's and Hurlburt's Notes on the Sunday-school Lessons for 1894—$1.25 per copy. Order at once. Also Jack-Knife and Brambles, A Ramble among Surnames, and other new books for the holiday trade. Bibles from 25 cents to $25 by mail. Testaments from 5 cents to $3.50. A beautiful line and large lot of Christmas, New Year, birthday and Sunday school cards and booklets.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres street (near Canal), - New Orleans.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

THE OLD-FASHIONED STYLE

of pill gives you a feeling of horror when you see it and when you feel it. Like the "blunderbuss" of a former decade it is big and clumsy, but not effective. In this century of enlightenment you have Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which cure all liver troubles in the most effective way. They're not easily seen for they're small as grains of mustard seed, but the effect is lasting and the cure complete. For Indigestion, Constipation, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headache, nothing has been found to equal these pills of Dr. Pierce's invention. They give such complete relief that their makers promise that they'll give satisfaction or your money will be returned.

A plain statement of fact made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is this: "If we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case, we'll pay you $500 in cash."

FOR CATARRH!
RHEUMATISM!
LA GRIPPE!
INDIGESTION!

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 8, 1893.
Some years ago I had an attack of grip, which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used King's Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure in my case. I had indigestion, and it cured that also. I have recommended it to several persons who were afflicted with different diseases, and always with the happiest results.
REV. J. W. HOWARD,
Baptist City Missionary.

BEAUFORT, N. C., June 7, 1893.
I was a sufferer from rheumatism for eight months, part of the time was so that I could not walk. I was entirely cured by King's Royal Gemetuer. I have no symptoms of rheumatism now. I think it is a great medicine.
IVAN B. ABERNATHY.

What Rev. Sam Jones Says.
Rev. Sam Jones, the great evangelist, writes: "My wife, who was an invalid from nervous sick headache, has been entirely cured by Royal Germetuer. I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine. Two of my children were cured of nasal catarrh by it. It is truly a great medicine."

For Children, Nervous Troubles and Weak and Debilitated Females, Royal Germetuer is unequalled. Try it. $1 per bottle, six for $5. All druggists.
King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.
Germetuer Pills for Constipation, 50 in a vial, for 25 cents.

HENRY P. DART,
Attorney-at-Law,
49 CAMP STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!
Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.
All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.
Feathers purged of all impurities.
44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.
Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.
The Leading Conservatory of America.
In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.
FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.
FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.
The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres.,
Grenada, Miss

Mississippi
Industrial Institute and College.
BUREAU OF EDUCATION.
Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.
Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

TAKE THE SAFE PATH.

"Take the safe path, dear father;
I'm coming after you,"
Rang out in silvery accents
From a dear boy hid from view.
His father climbed a mountain,
Precipitous and wild,
Nor dreamed that in his footsteps
Pressed close his only child.

His heart stood still one moment,
Then rose in prayer to God
To keep his boy from slipping
In the path his feet had trod;
And soon upon the summit
His darling child he pressed,
With rapture all unspoken,
Upon his throbbing breast.

"Take the safe path, dear father,"
Rings clearly out to-day
From many a little pilgrim
Upon life's rugged way.
They're pressing close behind you,
O, father! take good heed;
Their lives will closely copy
Your own in word and deed.

"Take the safe path," ye fathers,
Nor ever dare to slip
The cup that seems so tempting
To many a youthful lip.
Take Christ for your example;
Then, if they follow you,
Your children's lives will also
Be noble, grand, and true.
—American Rural Home.

Odd Minutes.

The amount of work that may be accomplished by the improvement of odd minutes is greater than one who has not tested the matter would easily believe. Five minutes a day amounts in a year to thirty hours, or three hours a day for ten days, and in that time a deal of work can be done. In thirty years it would be three hours a day for 300 days. Looking at odd minutes thus, one can easily see how the "learned blacksmith," Elihu Burritt, became versed in so many languages. Every moment that he was not busy pounding on his anvil or its equivalent, he was pounding away at his studies, and between times was letting the knowledge he had gained become part and parcel of his mind. Had he waited until he could sit down at leisure and devote himself to the study of Greek and Latin and Hebrew and Sanskrit, the likelihood is that he would never have learned even the alphabet of those languages. A single earnest purpose running through his life served as a cord on which all his odd minutes—the only jewels he ever had—were strung; as a cement to bind them into a coherent, harmonious whole. The ordinary interruptions of daily life did not interrupt him. They aided him rather, for the same mental impression was renewed and renewed until it became fixed and permanent.

"Forty minutes a day," says the founder of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, "will enable one to go through the four-years' course of reading prescribed, and give one an outlook on the world of knowledge similar to that gained by a college course." The mind set in a certain direction by ten-minutes' reading will retain that set during intermediate hours of work, and be ready to receive an additional impulse in the same direction. These successive impulses, in the course of time, produce astonishing results.

To rest we need not so much entire cessation from work as a change of work, and those accomplish a great deal who provide themselves with various occupations, and so have something agreeable and useful to fill every passing moment. Those who "gather up the fragments that nothing be lost," often have more to show than others who have full loaves to draw from.

Minutes and hours when the hands are at rest and the mind sinks into perfect calm are not to be counted idle. Only the still surface of the lake reflects the depths of heaven. There are truths we can not see when the current of life is swift, truths whose outlines are blurred and dimmed and obscured in the toil and moil of daily struggle, but which shine out clear and beautiful when we sink into voiceless repose. Odd moments such as these come but rarely, yet they brighten many days of labor and answer many a weary quest of the aspiring soul.

Our Children Need Sympathy.

Why not pass through life like a gleam of sunshine, cheering and refreshing the jaded hearts of those we meet? Entering into others' trials and helping to bear their burdens are a blessed service, which is its own reward.

We realize the comforts derived from sympathy—"that fellow-feeling which makes us wondrous kind." But how much sympathy do we bestow upon the little ones?

Their need for it is greater than we think, for the old are just as apt to forget they were once young as the young are apt to forget they will one day be old. To us their sorrows over "dead" dollies and broken carts seem very trivial, yet they agitate them just as much as a fall in stocks and a sick baby disturb us children of a larger growth. Their feeble power and lack of experience place them in a trying position. Every accident appears an irremediable disaster; each little failure an abiding ruin.

A distinguished clergyman was asked what was the most poignant grief of his checkered life. "An unhappy childhood" was the unhesitating response. Dickens was seared by the fires of his younger afflictions. Byron was wrecked by his mother's lack of sympathy.

Oh, let us be careful how we treat these tender blossoms of heaven, so shrinkingly sensitive, so quick to detect the loving glance, the kindly word, and so parched, many of them, for want of the dews of affectionate sympathy and tender interest!

Many a man and woman afflicted with a melancholy temperament which distorts and discolors all his or her view of life owes that terrible Nemesis to an uncared-for childhood. Every touch upon such plastic character leaves its impress; every stain defiles. Don't keep your heart's wealth and best bon mots for the drawing-room. Take them up to the nursery.—New York Ledger.

Scolding.

Scolding is mostly a habit. It is often the result of nervousness, and an irritable condition of both mind and body. A person is tried or annoyed at some trivial cause, and forthwith commences finding fault with everything and everybody within reach. Scolding is a habit very easily formed. It is astonishing how soon one becomes addicted to it, and confirmed in it. It is an unreasoning and unreasonable habit. Persons who once get into the way of scolding always find something to scold about. If there is nothing else, they begin scolding at the mere absence of anything to scold at. It is an extremely disagreeable habit. It is contagious. Once introduced into a family, it is pretty certain in a short time to affect all the members. People in the country more readily fall into the habit of scolding than the people in town. Women contract the habit more frequently than men. This may be because they live in a confined and heated atmosphere, very trying to the nervous system and the health in general, and it may be partly that their natures are more susceptible, and their sensitiveness more easily wounded. One cause of irritability is the drinking of stimulants. Another cause is found in indigestion as dyspepsia. But "bad air" is undoubtedly to be held as the cause of many scoldings which would never have occurred in well-ventilated apartments. If the reader has acquired the habit of scolding, and really wants to be rid of it, she should try to remember each time she feels provoked that it only makes her look foolish in the eyes of the person spoken to and those around, and is the source of discomfort and unhappiness. By getting into the way of kind words, which never die, and seeking to benefit rather than wound others, she will escape much displeasure, and in time entirely lose the practice of speaking harshly.—Exchange.

"SOMEBODY'S MOTHER."

The woman was old and ragged and gray,
And bent with the chill of the Winter's day;
The street was wet with the Winter's snow,
And the woman's feet were aged and slow.

She stood at the crossing and waited long,
Alone, uncared for, amid a throng
Of human beings, who passed her by,
Nor heeded the glance of her anxious eye.

Down the street, with laughter and shout,
Glad in the freedom of school let out,
Came the boys, like a flock of sheep,
Hailing the snow, piled white and deep.

Past the woman, so old and gray,
Hastened the children on their way,
Nor offered a helping hand to her,
So meek, so timid, afraid to stir;

Lest the carriage wheels or horse's feet
Should crowd her down in the slippery street.
At last came one of the merry troop,
The gayest laddie of all the group,

He paused beside her and whispered low:
"I'll help you across, if you wish to go."
Her aged hand on his strong young arm
She placed, and without hurt or harm

He guided the trembling feet along,
Proud that his own were firm and strong.
Then back again to his friends he went,
His young heart happy and well content.

"She's somebody's mother, boys, you know,
For all she's old and poor and slow,
"And I hope some fellow will lend a hand
To help my mother, you understand,
"If ever she's old and poor and gray,
When her own dear boy is far away."

And somebody's mother bowed low her head
In her home that night, and the prayer she said
Was, "God be kind to the noble boy
Who is somebody's son and pride and joy!"
—Home Journal.

Tom's Battle.

"There isn't any use in trying to do good, mother," said Tom Winter, on Sabbath afternoon. "I've tried this week so hard, but it didn't do any good. I get angry so quick. I think every time I never will again, but the next time anything provokes me, away I go before I know it."

"You can conquer your enemy if you meet him the right way. Remember how David went out to meet Goliath. Who would have thought that he, with only his sling and the little stones he had taken from the brook, could defeat the mighty Philistine? But he did, because he went in the name and strength of the Lord of hosts.

"Now, your temper is your giant. If you meet him in your own strength, he will defeat you; but if, like David, you go out in God's strength, you will overcome. Try again to-morrow, Tom; ask God to go with you and help you, and when your enemy rises up against you, fight him down. Say to him that he shall not overcome you, because you fight with God's help and strength."

"Well," promised Tom, "I'll try; but I can't help being afraid."

Everything went smoothly the next day until play hour. The boys were playing ball, and one of them accused Tom of cheating. Instantly his face crimsoned, and he turned toward the accuser, but the angry words died on his lips.

His conversation with his mother flashed into his mind. "I will try, if God will help me," he thought. It was a hard struggle for a minute. He shut his eyes tight together, and all his heart went out in a cry for help, and he conquered.

"David killed Goliath, and that was the end of him," said Tom, that night; "but my giant isn't dead, if I did conquer him once."

"I know," said his mother; "but every victory makes you stronger and him weaker, and when the warfare is over there is a crown of life promised to those who endure to the end."

Bits of Wisdom.

A young girl once heard a bit of wisdom from the lips of a very aged woman—a woman who had rounded the full term of ninety years, and with eyes still bright and clear looked out upon the inrolling waters of eternity. The girl was impressed by the emphasis with which the venerable dame said to her, "Bessie, never insist on having the last word." The determination to have the final word leads to more quarrels and more bitterness of feeling at home than almost anything else in domestic life. The fact is, that one may so control her tongue and her eyes that she may allow her opponent the pleasure of this coveted concluding thrust and yet placidly retain her own opinion, and in the homely colloquial parlance of the upcountry, when one finds strong-willed people living together in great peace with the most pronounced diversity of characteristics, "do as she's a mind to."

Another bit of wisdom may be condensed into a pithy sentence: Avoid explanations. In some families nothing is taken for granted. Every action, every decision, every new departure, every acceptance or rejection of an invitation, must be endlessly talked and fussed over, explained and re-explained. In that way lie all sorts of stumbling-blocks. As a rule, beyond your parents or your husband there is nobody who has the right to demand of you the explanations at each step of your onward path. Don't give them. Establish a reputation of keeping your own counsel. It will serve you well in many a crisis, and be no end of comfort.

Again, don't be forever setting people right. There is a household fiend with a memory for dates and details, who can never sit still and hear papa say that he went down town on Monday at eight, without correcting the statement with the remark that the hour was half-past. If mama happens to allude to Cousin Jenny's visit as having occurred last Thursday, this wasp like impersonation of accuracy interposes with the statement that it was Friday, not Thursday, which brought Cousin Jane. A dozen times a day exasperating frictions are caused by needless corrections of this sort, referring to matters where exactness is not really imperative, the affairs in question being unimportant, and no violation of truth being for an instant intended.

A manifest bit of wisdom is to refrain from criticism of food. The sauce may not be quite piquant enough, the salad may be wilted, but in the name of decency say nothing about it in either case.

Silence is golden in nearly every instance where a defect obtains in the home economy.

To abstain from superfluous apologies is also the habit of discretion. There should seldom be the occasion for apology in the household, where all would do well and wisely to be constantly gentle and courteous.—Harper's Bazar.

Seats of Learning.

"We usually think of the cities as centres of cultivation," said a college professor recently, "but my observation convinces me that there is more reading done in the farm houses than there is in the city."

Undoubtedly this gentleman was right. Reading habits are the exception rather than the rule among the majority of people in the cities. These people are "too busy to read," but not too busy to go to theatres, or base ball matches, or promenade the streets. The life of the city is unfavorable to reading habits.

The people on the farm are very busy, too, and generally regret that so little time is left them for the improvement of their minds. Nevertheless, few farm-houses are unprovided with periodicals of various sorts. Many farmers' families possess excellent books of their own, with sets of encyclopedias in which they are accustomed to "look up" subjects.

The state of things on the farm, especially in the Winter, encourages evening reading instead of discouraging it. It is a change from the farm work—a delightful peep into a new world.

The farmer who wishes his boys and girls to acquire habits of reading can cultivate in them these habits nowhere so well as in his own sitting-room or living-room. Books from the village library, good periodicals regularly subscribed for or taken with reading clubs, and a book now and then bought with the children's own earnings, will be read eagerly, if the home surroundings are made pleasant.

The president of a great college has said that the most that a college education can do for a man is to teach him how to read, and in these days of Chautauqua circles and university extension, no one need go to the great cities to acquire the essentials of cultivation.

There is no surer way of destroying the influence of our church among the people than by the publication of wholesale insinuations and accusations tending to discredit and awaken suspicion with regard to our general superintendents and leading pastors. There is something radically wrong with the tree which has begun to decay at the top. Convince the people that our church is in this condition, and their confidence and respect will not long survive the shock.—St. Louis Advocate.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys are carefully made of clear tough glass; they fit, and get the utmost light from the lamp, and they last until some accident breaks them.
"Pearl top" and "pearl glass" are trade-marks. Look out for them and you needn't be an expert.
Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

EXTRAVAGANT People let leather get old before its time for want of Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.
Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.
Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester N. Y.

Any Time is the right time for everybody to drink Hires' Root Beer
A temperance drink.
A home-made drink.
A health-giving drink.
A thirst-quenching drink.
A drink that is popular everywhere.
Delicious, Sparkling, Effervescent.
A 25 cent package makes 5 gallons of this delicious beverage. Don't be deceived if a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, tells you some other kind is "just as good"—'tis false. No imitation is as good as the genuine Hires'.

ATHENS, GA.
I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.
Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.
—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. E. Pack, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Impatience, Alice, I will drive that from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.
PRICE: 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. E. Pack, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.
TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.
For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,
No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.
I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.
WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. M. Lowe, Mills Building, New York.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

MARRIAGES.

FAULEY—JORDAN.—In Alexandria, La., Nov. 21, 1893 by Rev. Thos. J. Upton, Mr. J. T. Fauley, of Murrillton, Ark., and Miss Ella Jordan, of Alexandria, La.

PRICE—COON.—At the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Coon, Byram, Hinds county, Miss., Nov. 14, 1893, by Rev. W. T. Griffin, Dr. S. L. Price, of Rankin county, to Miss Effie Coon.

COWAN—ALLEY.—At the Methodist Church in Scranton, Miss., Sept. 6, 1893, by Rev. J. M. Pugh, Mr. Arthur Cowan and Miss Hattie Alley.

HERRING—ALLEY.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Nov. 8, 1893, by Rev. J. M. Pugh, Mr. Henry Herring and Miss Florine Alley.

HAVENS—MILLER.—At the home of the bride's father, Calcasieu parish, La., Nov. 22, 1893, by Rev. H. M. Banks, Mr. John B. Havens to Miss Mary D. Miller.

CAWTHON—HOSKINS.—At the home of the bride's mother, Pelahatchie, Miss., Nov. 8, 1893, by Rev. C. C. Griffin, Mr. J. S. Cawthon, of Rankin county, to Miss May Hoskins.

ROBINSON—McCALL.—October 10, 1893 by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. B. S. Robinson to Mrs. Anna D. McCall, both of DeSoto county, Miss.

McCAIN—MILLER.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. T. Miller, Oct. 18, 1893, by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. Ben H. McCain to Miss Alpha Miller, of DeSoto county, Miss.

HURT—BAILEY.—At the residence of Mr. Thomas Bailey, Nov. 14, 1893, by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. J. S. Hurt to Miss Mattie Bailey, both of Tate county, Miss.

NEWBERY—ROWELL.—At the parsonage, Cockrum, Miss., Nov. 23, 1893, by Rev. W. W. Williams, Mr. W. C. Newbery, of DeSoto county, to Miss C. E. Rowell, of Senatobia, Miss.

LAYCOCK—BEAUCHAMP.—At the Methodist Church, Zachary, La., Nov. 26, 1893, by Rev. J. T. Leggett, Mr. John K. Laycock and Miss Susie S. Beauchamp.

CARPENTER KIRKWOOD.—At the Methodist Church, Zachary, La., Sept. 17, 1893, by Rev. J. T. Leggett, Mr. Ben Carpenter and Miss Mary Jane Kirkwood.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

HOLLINGSWORTH—Mrs AMANDA HOLLINGSWORTH was for many years a member of the M. E. Church, South, at Yazoo City, Miss. And now that she is dead we review her life, estimate her character, realize her worth and feel the great loss the church and community have sustained.

She was known and appreciated in the community as a Christian woman. She occupied no doubtful position; the character of her life was never a matter of conjecture. She stood openly and positively on the side of Christianity and with Christ. Her convictions that Christ is the Son of God, that he was her Savior, were decided, positive and firm. This was tested by her own consciousness and confirmed by the witness of God's Spirit. Thus settled and grounded, her light was not hid under a bushel, but shone with a radiance and splendor that convinced all who knew her that she was a Christian. Thus was she a witness for Christ.

She was a consecrated Christian. She loved to serve the Lord Christ, and to work for his cause. Her life was full of zeal and good works, and in her humble, modest way she did what she could for Christ and humanity.

She was a cheerful, hopeful, joyous Christian. Her faith in God was always strong, and she never forgot that he was her Father. She had many troubles, some deep sorrows and some dark forebodings. But amid all these her faith never wavered, she never lost hope. Calm, cheerful, resigned, she accepted all as the gracious dealings of her Father, and believed that they were but working together for her good. They but yielded to her the peaceable fruits of righteousness.

When her work was accomplished, and the time of sorrow and suffering had ended, and God took her away, the church realized that a great loss had been sustained, and the entire community felt that a good woman, a saint of God, had gone to her reward.

Her pastor, R. J. JONES.

LAZARUS—Died Oct. 8, 1893, of swamp fever, JAMES B. LAZARUS, aged twenty-three years eight months and four days. He was the third son of W. C. and Adeline Wright Lazarus.

His life from earliest childhood had been one of suffering borne with patient endurance. Just on the border land of youth and manhood he happily moved his bark of life close to the cross of Christ, and the spiritual impetus he received quickened into growth his whole being. On his return from camp life, where he had spent two years among a set of rough men, who had no contaminating influence on his pure soul, he renewed in spirit his vows to the church, and from that time his growth in grace and his devotion to the Master's cause were marvelous.

He joined the M. E. Church, South, at Locust Grove, at a protracted meeting conducted by Rev. A. C. Flowers in 1886. His quiet, Christian life, his works of love are surely registered in the books of the recording angel. In June, 1892, an Epworth League was organized, of which he was elected first vice-president, which office he held by re-election until he left us to join the hosts above.

Although he gave no death-bed testimony that all was well, yet in the minds of his friends there was an assurance that he had made his peace, calling and election sure. Though his parents are heart-broken, and all his friends mourn him deeply and sincerely, yet we could not find it in our hearts to rob him of his heavenly joy by wishing him back to earth again.

Parents, grieve not for your loved son. At the golden gate of the Celestial City he and his angel brothers will watch and wait for your coming. A FRIEND.

STANLEY—EVA STANLEY, daughter of Dr. J. S. and Louisa J. Stanley, was born on Dec. 31, 1883, in Detroit, Lamar county, Ala. She died at Duncan, in Bolivar county, Miss., on Sept. 14, 1893.

Little Eva was a bright, intelligent girl and full of hope. She was the earthly sun of her parents' lives and kept the home full of cheer. She loved the Sunday-school and was in her class every Sunday. She loved the church, and at a protracted meeting held at Duncan a short time before her death she gave the preacher her hand and said she would live for Christ. The night before she died she told her mother that she was not afraid to die, saying, "I knew what I was doing when I gave the preacher my hand." Another jewel in the Savior's crown. W. H. SANDERS.

McKENZIE—JOHN LAFAYETTE McKENZIE, son of Allen and Julia McKenzie, was born in Smith county, Miss., June 30, 1866; died Oct. 13, 1893.

"Fatie"—the name by which all knew him—was a boy truly "one among many." He was the oldest of a family of seven, all girls except two little fellows; hence he, with his sturdy manliness characteristic of him, had become more a father than a brother to his sisters, to his declining father and mother more a leader and counsellor than a son. The writer has been a companion of his from boyhood, and never was there a boy more chaste, honest and upright to be found, always found on the side of right and integrity. He was an obedient son, a kind brother, a staunch friend—in fact, he possessed all those qualities that go to make up noble manhood, and that rendered him admired and loved by all that knew him.

He was born again and joined the church in September, 1890, and, so far as we know, lived in the fear of God until the Master, by a stroke of thirty-six hours' illness, removed him from us. While the father and mother have lost a dutiful son; sisters, a kind brother, and the writer a faithful friend, the church and neighborhood of Cayuga has lost one of her noblest sons and citizens. May God bless and comfort the bereaved! T. A. LUSTER.

HACKLER—WALTER CARROLL, son of Thomas and Lily Hackler, was born Dec. 8, 1887, and died Aug. 24, 1893, in Hinds county, Miss.

He was a bright and a good child. His mother began early to train him religiously, and his heart responded to her touch, and we believe God's Spirit moved upon him in honor of her work. He had an affectionate and forgiving disposition. He was thoughtful beyond his years, and was always considerate of others, especially of his two brothers younger than himself. He was fond of religious instruction, and if he did anything for which his parents had in any way to reprove him, he was careful to ask God's forgiveness in his evening prayer. Such a child is a joy to its parents, and its loss inestimable. Only by a firm trust in God can they find reconciliation, and he alone can comfort them.

M. B. SHAMBROUGH.

Hollister, Cal.

TATUM—Sister M. A. TATUM (nee Sherod) was born in Pendleton district, S. C., Dec. 19 1830; was raised in Alabama; moved to this State in 1849; was married to Dr. S. Tatum in 1852, to whom she proved an ever faithful and helpful companion. After a long and tiresome illness she fell asleep in the arms of Jesus, Sept. 6, 1893, aged sixty-two years. She was a good Christian woman, by the consent of everyone that knew her. She attached herself to the M. E. Church, South, in 1854. The writer was her pastor for several years. She was always in her place at church when her health would permit. I am satisfied she is saved and gone home to heaven to join her loved ones gone before.

Weep not, dear ones; God has taken her home, and we will meet again where parting is unknown. J. L. W.

DAY—Mrs MALVA E. DAY was born March 9 1874, in Wilkinson county, Miss., and died at her father's (Dr. Sam Haynes), in Wilkinson county, Miss., near Gloster, Miss., Nov. 7, 1893.

Sister Day joined the M. E. Church, South, at the age of twelve years, and was converted some time afterwards. She was married to Bro. Lee Day, Feb 9, 1893, and moved to Garden City, Miss., and there lived till a few days before her death. She left a baby boy three days old. She was a faithful wife and devoted child. She was the idol of the family. The father, mother, brother and husband mourn her departure; but we trust they will prepare to meet her in heaven. To the loved ones and friends we would say: Be ye also ready for the coming of Christ. A. C. FLOWERS.

WALCOT—BESSIE SALONE WALCOT, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walcot, was born April 11, 1893, and died Nov. 3 1893

Bessie was a sweet little babe, and greatly loved and cherished by her parents and others. She was sent as a ray of sunshine into the home; but God, in his wisdom, saw fit to take her in the innocency of childhood from a world of sin and suffering and transplant her in his kingdom above. So, dear parents, dry up your tears, submit to the will of the Master, and live so as to meet your darling babe over the river on the shining shore. May God's grace bear you up under the stroke!

J. C. MIMMS.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

The duty of voting is as positive a duty as the duty of praying, or of being pure and honest. How a citizen votes is a matter between himself and his God. That he votes somehow is a matter for which he has a responsibility to his government, and to his fellow-citizens, as well as to his God. If he continues to shirk that duty, the condemnation will be his which comes to every shirker of duty in the final sentence: "Inasmuch as ye did it not."—Sunday-School Times.

Timothy Davis, postmaster at Pattersonville, La., says: "Some years ago, while living in Algiers, I contracted a cough that everyone thought would cause my death. I was unable to sleep, had night-sweats, and soon became too weak to work. I had several doctors and tried many remedies, but with no improvement. An old friend hearing of my condition recommended Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. It had cured him of a serious lung trouble, and he had great confidence in Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar. Before three bottles had been taken I was up and about, a well man. It saved my life. I always recommend it for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, any lung or throat trouble." One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH.
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 57

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up.
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.
H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS LA.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
PAPER HANGING, Glazing and Kalsomining.
(Estimates Given Free.)
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,426,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. O. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SOMA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - $400,479.06
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - $413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - $459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - $510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - $551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891, - - - - $600,414.81
Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business

Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. E. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Metal Tipped. EVER READY DRESS STAY Will Not Cut Through.
See Name "EVER READY" on Back of Each Stay.
Acknowledged the BEST DRESS STAY On the Market
Made with Gutta Percha on both sides of steel and warranted water-proof. All other stays are made differently and will rust. Beware of Imitations. Take none but the "Ever Ready."
Manufactured by the YPSILANTI DRESS STAY MFG. CO., Ypsilanti, Mich.
FOR SALE BY ALL JOBBERS AND RETAILERS.
SPECIAL DEPOTS. MODEL DRESS STEEL CO., 74 Grand St., New York. BROWN & METZNER, 535 Market Street, San Francisco.

EMORY COLLEGE
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta.
Location Proverbially Healthy; No Saloons.
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Congress opened on Dec. 4.

The New Orleans Produce Exchange has been organized.

Kentucky elected eight women as county school superintendents at the recent election.

The town of Thornton, Miss., twenty miles above Yazoo City, was almost wiped out by a fire last week.

Hon. E. C. Billings, judge of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana, died at New Haven, Conn., on Dec. 1.

There is every reason for believing the administration is not only opposed to a tax on personal incomes, but also to one on corporations. This opposition is worrying the Committee on Ways and Means. The President, it is stated, wants the $60,000,000 or $65,000,000 deficit caused by the proposed tariff to be supplied by a duty on sugar and an internal tax on whisky.

The President's message was sent to Congress on Dec. 4. The expectations of those who looked for something sensational in the message were not realized, for the document turned out to be a very plain and business-like statement of the affairs of the government. Even on the subject of the tariff the President did not suggest any new idea.

The sixth day's proceedings of the Virginia Methodist Episcopal Conference were interrupted by the announcement of the sudden death of Rev. John D. Southall, the oldest active minister in the Conference. Mr. Southall was in Danville, in attendance upon the Conference, and about 10 o'clock, on Nov. 28, he was found dead in the basement of the Main Street Methodist Church, in which building the Conference was holding its session.

It is rumored that a number of the stockholders of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, residing in Wilkesbarre, Pa., will go to Bethlehem to confer with President Wilbur. It is said that they will bring strong pressure to bear to settle the strike. Stockholders fear that if the destruction of property by wrecks continues the company will be forced into bankruptcy. The strikers show no signs of weakening. The many wrecks occurring on the road only tend to unite the men.

The trend of all the conversation of the Senators who are interested in sugar is indicative of a severe struggle over the sugar schedule when the Tariff bill shall reach the Senate, if it should not be modified in the House. A Southern Senator, whose constituents are largely interested in this question, said in discussion that there was no doubt that the Senators from all the States, both South and West, which are producing sugar of either cane or beet variety, under the bounty system, would unite to oppose the change as proposed in the Wilson bill. The States especially mentioned were Louisiana, California, Kansas and Nebraska, all of which, except Louisiana, are becoming extensive producers of beet sugar, the Louisiana product not being confined to the beet variety.

FOREIGN.

The new Italian ministry has been formed.

The new French Cabinet ministers were presented to President Carnot on Dec. 2.

President Peixoto's new cruiser "America" arrived at St. Thomas, West Indies, on Dec. 1 and joined her sister cruiser, "Nictheroy."

London anarchists defied the metropolitan police on Dec. 3, and held a meeting in Trafalgar Square contrary to orders. The police had their hands full in dispersing the mob.

The government of Nicaragua has decreed that a forced loan of $400,000 shall be raised to defray the expenses of the war with Honduras. Bonilla's followers are ready to invade Honduras from the Nicaraguan frontier. No hostilities have yet occurred.

Admiral Mello has at last succeeded in escaping from his pent-up and dangerous position in the Bay of Rio de Janeiro. A correspondent there sends word that he has forced his way over the bar in his flagship "Aquidahan," but his other ships have so far been unable to follow.

The vote of the Reichstag in favor of readmitting the Jesuit Fathers into Germany is the sensation of the week, not only in Germany, but throughout the Catholic world. Never, perhaps, since Prince Bismarck resigned the chancellorship has his absence from the Reichstag been so noticeably marked as lately. No previous concession has been obtained by the center party with so little accompaniment of heated debate and political intrigue.

A spectator, speaking of the war in Brazil, said: "They are fighting all the time, but they do not seem to hurt anyone. Both sides wait until after breakfast to begin to fight. They breakfast about 10 A. M., and then they go at it boom, bang. They fight until 4 o'clock, when they dine, and usually they begin to fight again about 6 P. M. There is a prodigious amount of ammunition wasted, but outsiders run more risk than the Brazilians."

For Sick-Headache

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. M. W. GRAY, Cave Spring, Ga., says: "I have used it with perfect success in habitual sick-headache."

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. E. G. Kilgore, Mammoth Springs, Ark., Nov. 23: "We are in the midst of a great meeting at this place. More than fifty conversions to date, and the work under full headway now. Twelve professed faith last night. Forty-four already added to the churches. Thirty-two of these have joined our own church. We are looking for still greater results, as we are to continue several days yet."

Rev. E. H. Moon: "The Conference year is fast drawing to a close. The stringency of money matters will tell upon the collections, but, spiritually, we are on rising ground. We have had thirty-eight accessions up to date. Bro. J. B. Stone has attended all his Quarterly Conferences, and he has preached with great spiritual power. Bro. L. G. Boggan, a local preacher of my charge, has done faithful work at home and abroad. Bro. T. W. Lewis was with us during our meeting, and his earnest labors were a blessing to our people. His preaching was in demonstration of the Spirit and of power."

R. W. Vest, Learned, Miss.: "Only a few days until Conference, and the people are all anxious to know who will be their pastor next year. We are all anxious for Bro. J. N. Tucker to be sent back to the Learned circuit, as he has completely won the hearts of the people by his godly walk and admirable disposition. He is a man that does not try to drive his people, but gently leads them. As he has so abundantly ministered unto us all spiritually, may God ever crown his every effort in winning souls to Christ, and at last give him an abundant entrance into that upper and better kingdom, with all of the redeemed, at the right hand of God!"

Rev. J. S. Hodges, P. C., Tunica mission: "The fourth Quarterly Conference of the Bayou Sara circuit and Tunica mission convened at Star Hill on Nov. 11. The work has developed along all lines. Our beloved presiding elder, Bro. P. A. Johnston, and Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, D. D., president of Centenary College, were both present and preached with power. Finances are somewhat behind, but think the Conference claims and pastors' salaries will be reported in full at Conference. On our part of the work, Tunica mission, eighty-seven members have been received to date and one church built and dedicated. Bro. S. Carter Schwing, who graduated last June at Centenary College with honors, was licensed to preach. Bro. Schwing will leave in a few days for Vanderbilt University, having secured a scholarship in the Theological Department. Surely the Lord has been with us this year in power. To him be all the praise!"

Rev. W. J. Porter, P. C., Plaquemine Brulee, La.: "Since my last report I filled a Friday night appointment at Prudhomme City, where twenty years ago (I am credibly informed) existed a flourishing Methodist Church, that has long since disbanded. The congregation was large and attentive. Several earnest penitents kneeled at the altar and six joined the church. Our protracted meeting at Church Point began on the tenth ultimo, but on account of unfavorable weather had to close on the thirteenth. Bro. Ross Randle was with me two days and rendered good service. Sunday morning, when I looked over the large congregation and beheld eight prominent citizens (and some of them old men) who were dissipated gamblers, save one who was a saloon keeper, I was overcome with joy over the fact that within a few years the gospel had reached and saved all of them. The meeting resulted in four conversions and three accessions, and if it could have continued a few days longer, greater would have been the results. The Lord hath done great things for us this year. We have had over one hundred conversions. Baptized fourteen adults and thirty children. Eighty-three have joined the church, and financial report will be good."

Rev. R. F. Witt, Lake, Miss., Nov. 30: "I will make a short report of my work through the ADVOCATE. On the first Sunday in August we held a meeting at Carr Church, assisted by Rev. J. M. Weems, D. D., of our Conference, who did us fine preaching indeed. The meeting resulted in nine accessions to the church and a good revival among its members. On the second Sunday in August we moved to High Hill, and held a meeting, assisted by Revs. R. W. Burton, L. D., and James Weems, L. E., which did us good service. Results: thirteen accessions and a glorious revival in the church. Our camp meeting, as it has been stated before, was a grand success. It resulted in 21 accessions and gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit. We now speak of material improvements. We have improved the parsonage throughout to the amount of over $200. We have begun to paint the Carr Church inside and out, and have made an altar, and will change the pulpit to a modern one. Our new church at Lawrence is completed at a cost of $1,500, and is almost out of debt. It is a beautiful structure. Its steeple is handsomely finished, and reaches 70 feet above the ground, with an open vestibuled front, which is perfectly lovely in its appearance. The church is 46x30 feet, 14 feet wall, with an oval ceiling. Its roof is very steep, and it has Gothic windows with stained glass in them. The church is nicely furnished with neat, comfortable seats, and a beautiful pulpit and altar. It is in every way a very handsome little church. After this church was finished we held our last meeting in it on one week; the meeting beginning on the fourth Sunday in October with our Quarterly Conference and dedication by Rev. C. McDonald, in the absence of Bishop Galloway, who dedicated it very nicely, and the meeting went on through the fifth Sunday. Being assisted some by Rev. C. McDonald, and through the entire week by Revs. R. W. Burton and James Weems, we had a grand revival, which resulted in 30 persons being brought into the church, over fifty converted, restored, etc., and I am sure that many were made perfect in love. Many thanks to all of these brethren for help. To the good Lord be all of the glory!"

W. F. Love, Gloster, Miss., Nov. 8: "Last Sunday will ever be an auspicious day in the history of Gloster; the crowning event being the dedication of the beautiful and elegant Methodist Church here that has just been completed. Bishop Galloway preached the dedication sermon and conducted the dedicatory exercises. Although the weather was unpleasant, a large and appreciative audience was in attendance. The sermon was replete with instruction, and the burning eloquence and glowing periods that leaped from his tongue held that vast audience spell-bound. The Bishop preached at the Colored Church in the afternoon, and again at night thrilled our hearts with his fine pathos and peerless eloquence. These services were edifying and inspiring, making a profound impression that will fortify and strengthen the cause of Christ and humanity. Bishop Galloway is the peer of any man in this country, and is in touch and sympathy with the people, commanding their admiration, love and confidence, which he so richly deserves. The church dedicated is one of the handsomest in the State, being of modern architecture, symmetrical, and beautifully furnished throughout. It is located in the centre of the town, and adds greatly to the surroundings. Two hundred dollars were raised in the collection on Sunday, which about liquidates all debts incurred in building. Much credit is due this little band of Methodists who pushed their laudable enterprise, and most especially is praise due the Building Committee and the worthy and energetic pastor, Rev. W. W. Simmons. They not only contributed very liberally of their means, but gave their time, talent and thoughtful consideration to the accomplishment of the work. When we take in consideration the depression of the country and the scarcity of money; when we remember that the Baptists and Presbyterians of Gloster have each erected costly churches in the last few years, and the town has just completed an elegant school-building at a cost of eight thousand dollars; when it is known, too, that the Methodists of this place were never very strong, and about one-third withdrew from the church, and unfortunately are still worshiping in the old building, and contributed nothing to the new; in the face of so many obstacles this grand achievement of the worthy pastor and his co-laborers can be more fully appreciated. Knowing that the houses of worship are an index to the religious tone of society, and should be kept in

THE JUDGES Of the WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION Have made the

HIGHEST AWARDS

(Medals and Diplomas) to

WALTER BAKER & CO.

On each of the following named articles:

BREAKFAST COCOA, ...
Premium No. 1, Chocolate, . .
Vanilla Chocolate, ...
German Sweet Chocolate, . .
Cocoa Butter. . . . .

For "purity of material," "excellent flavor," and "uniform even composition."

WALTER BAKER & CO., DORCHESTER, MASS.

James G. Wilson,

Patentee and Manufacturer,

74 West 23d St., New York.

Send 2 two-cent stamps for Illustrated Catalogue.

ROLLING PARTITIONS

for dividing Churches and Schools. Sound-proof and air-tight. In various kinds of wood. 800 Churches of various denominations are using them.

Venetian Blinds in All Woods.

pace with the progress and development of the age, and believing that the interest of Methodism and the cause of Christ would be advanced by the building of a more comfortable and attractive church in the heart of the town, they overcame all opposition and their labor was crowned with great success. Mr. Simmons, we are sorry to say, will not be able to enjoy the fruits of his work, as he has been stationed here for four years, and will soon be transferred to another field; but so long as this towering edifice stands it will be a monument to his memory and glory, an evidence of his indefatigable energy, the result of his heroic action, and the fruit of his moral truths and honest consecrated life."

Rev. I. T Reames, Rayville circuit: "On Dec. 20, 1891, I was, by Bishop J. C. Keener, appointed to a circuit in the Delhi district, whose name forms the heading of this article. Though I desire and strive to be a true 'itinerant,' yet it was with feelings of sadness and joy that the appointment was received. Sadness on account of breaking the ties by which I was bound to the dear people so recently served, and joy to know that there was another field—'white unto harvest'—in which I might labor for the Master, and from which I might prove instrumental in gathering sheaves for the storehouse of heaven. The kind and generous people of this charge received us into their warm hearts, and have liberally ministered to our temporal necessities. Notwithstanding the overflow last year, and the great stringency in the 'money market,' the people supported their pastor, paid more than half of the Conference collections, and built a church at Girard, valued at $1 000. This church, however, was built with the money raised by the people of Girard. It is a neat building, 30x50 feet, free from debt, and to make it a handsome little structure only needs the application of paint. Being reappointed by Bishop Galloway last December, I came from Conference with renewed zeal, and a resolution to do more for God than ever before. This resolution, by grace divine, I have striven to keep. And, in spite of the water again, and a great deal of sickness in my little family, this has been one of the most prosperous years of my ministerial life. We have held seven protracted meetings, none of which was in vain, God's power being manifested in the conversion of sinners and reviving the members. During the two years of my pastorate here, forty-six have united with the church; twenty-six of this number joined this year. Though there has been, and still is, much talk of 'hard times' and 'no money,' yet I am persuaded that the financial report will be in advance of last year's. The last protracted meeting we held deserves special mention. It began with our quarterly meeting, held on Oct. 28, at Union Church. I was assisted by Bro. White, our presiding elder, who remained with us until the close. The power of the Holy Spirit was manifested from the first service. Nearly all the members claimed 'the witness of the Spirit' that they were the children of God. At this meeting eight were added unto the church. Truly it was a season of refreshing to all. Dinner was prepared at the church each day; and what dinners we had! So there was, indeed, a feast in every sense of the word. 'Praise God from whom all blessings flow.' A warmer-hearted people I never served, and if in the wisdom of our 'chief pastor,' he sees fit to return me to this charge, I shall not feel at all afflicted thereby. 'Brethren, pray for us.'"

25c for a box of BEECHAM'S PILLS worth a guinea.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Algiers	(Sun. morning)	Dec. 3
Crapes	(Sun. evening)	3
Louisiana Avenue	(Mon.)	4
Carondelet	(Tues.)	5
Felicity	(Thurs.)	7
Rayne Memorial	(Fri.)	8

Pastors will see that all reports required by law are presented. The Conferences in the city, held during the week, will open promptly at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Simsport, at Simsport	Dec. 2, 3
Pineville, at Pineville	9, 10

N. B.—The local preachers and presidents of Boards of Trustees will please have their reports written in full; the preachers furnish full statistical reports. Let the stewards be at themselves. They want a good preacher next year.

S. J. DAVIS, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Valley, at Sapps	Dec. 2, 3
Vienna, at Antioch	9, 10
Ruston station	10, 11
Arcadia, at Arcadia	12

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Natchitoches station	Dec. 2, 3
Mansfield station	9, 10

ROBT. J. HARP, P. E.
329 Hope St., Shreveport, La.

DELHI DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Waterproof	Dec. 2, 3
Delhi	7
Floyd	9, 10

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

"Boys Who Ought Not to Go to College"

is the significant title of an article by President Stanley Hall, of Clark University, to appear in The Youth's Companion. It is one of a valuable series of articles by wise writers, on "Getting Ready for Life's Work."

The Desire of : : : : All Nations.

A Christmas Service for 1893

THIS PROGRAMME, from our Sunday School Department, is fully equal to the one for last year, which received high praise from the best judges. Every feature of the service is new, bright, and inspiring. The Songs, Readings, Dialogues, Recitations, etc., are judiciously selected and arranged. Words and music of all the Songs are given in full. The whole is embraced in a nicely printed leaflet of eight pages. Price 20 cents per dozen. $1.25 per hundred. Let every Sunday school be supplied in time with this handy, cheap, and appropriate Christmas Exercise. Send orders to

BARBEE & SMITH, Agents,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Evergreen College,

EVERGREEN, LA.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Offers Board and Tuition from Dec. 27, 1893, to the end of the present session for $72. Special offer. Address

C. C. WIER.

Books, Books for Everybody

—AT—

Mississippi Conference Depository,

JACKSON, MISS.

Oxford Bible, Bagsters, Holman's Self-Pronouncing International Teachers' Bibles. Latest helps, largest type, cheapest, superior to any other. Your name put on in gilt at listed price.

Matthew Henry's Commentary, 3 volumes, $8; 6 volumes, cloth, $5. One of the best.
Biblical Museum on entire Bible, $8.
Biblical Illustrator, $2 a volume.
Walks and Talks with God, $2.75.
Jamieson and Fausset's Commentary, $8.
Hurlburt's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Peloubet's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Pentecost—cloth, $1; paper, 50 cents.
New Notes on Bible Reading, 75 cents.
Children's Meeting, $1.
Finney's Revival Lectures, $1.50.
Phillips Brooks' Lectures $1.50.
Moody's books, paper, 30 cents each.
Jack-Knife and Brambles, $1.
New Era, paper, 40 cents.
Hudson's Greek and English Concordance. The book for every Bible student. $2.
Full line of holiday books.
Geike's Hours with the Bible. Latest and best. 75 cents.
Expositors' Bible, each volume $1.50.
Hymn and song books of various kinds.

We would urge our brethren to send in their orders for Sunday-school literature for 1894 without delay. Send us your orders for any book you want. When in Jackson, come and see us. LAIRD & DOMINICK.

PENSIONS.

BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNment Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is in W, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free.

Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailments in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for service rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address

THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY,
Box 167, Washington, D. C.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM

The only practicable way to reach

CATARRH

thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail.

DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON GA.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.

SKINS ON FIRE

With agonizing Eczemas and other Itching, Burning, Bleeding, Scaly, Blotchy, and Pimply Skin and Scalp Diseases are instantly relieved and speedily cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure,

CUTICURA

SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies. This is strong language, but every word is true, as proven by thousands of grateful testimonials. CUTICURA REMEDIES are, beyond all doubt, the greatest Skin Cures, Blood Purifiers, and Humor Remedies of modern times. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped, and oily skin cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

WEAK, PAINFUL KIDNEYS,

With their weary, dull, aching, lifeless, all-gone sensation, relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing strengthening plaster. 25 cents.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING, Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. H. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS FREE

Address, The Echo Music Co., LaFayette, Ind.

FREE BEAUTIFUL PRESENTS YOUR NAME on 25 latest style Imp'd Cards lovely Fish & German Designs in 12 Colors with two handsome presents 10c.—1 Album World's Fair Bldgs, etc., 1 Forget-Me-Not Auto Album, 4¼ x 5½ Verses &c., all 10c.—1 Stone Ring, 1 Hand Ring, 1 Lace Pin and 1 Counter Pen, Complete, all 10c.—Each offer as above will be given with our popular paper, Wayside Gleanings, 3 months for 10c. HINDS & CO., CLINTONVILLE, CONN.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

B. & S. BUSINESS COLLEGE, LOUISVILLE, KY. Superior advantages. Send postal for catalogue.

$1.50 AMERICAN WATCH

$1.50 will now buy a reliable AMERICAN WATCH in strong GOLD PLATED Dust Proof Case. Will not vary a minute in 30 days; is as durable as any watch made. FULLY GUARANTEED. (Publishers of this paper will tell you we are reliable.) It has AMERICAN patent lever MOVEMENT, Patent Escapement and Regulator, Lantern Pinion, 240 beats to minute; No key required to wind and set; weighs 4 oz.; exactly like cut; Postpaid for $1.50, 3 for $4.00, 12 for $15.00, by express. Mention paper and we will include handsome gold plated CHAIN & CHARM. AGENTS' Storekeepers send for TERMS. FREE. Catalogue of 1000 n. FREE.

ROBERT H. INGERSOLL & BRO.
Room 2, 65 Cortlandt St., New York City.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets, Etc.

Beautify your home. Make it bright. Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $3.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full.

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 50. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1947.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

HOME-COMING.

When life's hours of toil are ended,
And my day draws to a close;
When the bells of evening, chiming,
Call me to my long repose,
Eagerly my feet shall hasten,
And my eyes shall look to see,
Standing close by heaven's portals,
Loved ones, waiting there for me.

They who long from that far country
Watched me as I faltered on,
In earth's weary round of labor,
Strength and courage almost gone,
When they see me drop life's burdens
And to heaven's refuge flee,
Swift will gather round the portals
Loved ones, waiting there for me,

And when on their silver hinges
Wide the gates of pearl shall swing,
And by grace of Him who loved me
I am suffered to come in,
First of heaven's joys to greet me,
In that joyful hour shall he,
As I pass those shining portals,
Loved ones, waiting there for me.

Then the cords which earth's rude conflict
Here had broken shall be joined,
And beyond death's gloomy kingdom
Still more strongly shall be twined;
Ah! my heart, fail not thy singing!
Though the way may weary be,
Soon my joyful eyes shall see them,
Loved ones, waiting there for me.

—Exchange.

Interior Life, or Religion.

These extracts are so suggestive and pertinent that I quote again from "Interior Life," by T. C. Upham, for the benefit of your thoughtful readers.

"(1) In connection with this subject, one or two remarks may properly be made. And one is, that we may probably discover in these principles the reason why it is that, in times of especial religious attention, so many persons who appeared to be so much engaged in religion for a season subsequently lose their interest and become, both in practice and feeling, assimilated to the world. Such persons are, undoubtedly, the subjects of an inward experience, and this experience, in common parlance, is frequently called a religious experience; but it is obviously defective in the essential particular of not having a root. 'But he that received the word into stony places, the same is he that heareth the word, and anon with joy receiveth it. Yet hath he not root in himself.' Notwithstanding their increased ability and readiness to converse on the subject of religion, and the exhibitions which they make of emotion, sometimes of high emotion, they do not understand what it is to place themselves, a living sacrifice, upon the divine altar. They do not appreciate, and still less do they realize in their own hearts and lives, the 'all of God and nothing of the creature.'

"(2) Another remark is this: We would not have it inferred, from what has been said, that we regard what we denominate emotional experience as being without value. It is true that such experience is valueless when it stops in itself, and becomes nothing more than mere emotional experience; but, though valueless in itself, it is not valueless in its relations, and especially it is not so when it is followed by those results to which we naturally expect it to lead; and hence we may properly say, in estimating the experiences which the mind is likely to pass through in seasons of religious attention, that it is a matter of some encouragement when light is communicated to the intellect, though in a small degree. It is a matter of encouragement also, and still more so, when we see these intellectual impressions followed by a consentient and gratified movement in the emotions; but the danger of encouraging those, who are the subjects of them, in believing that they are religious, when they are merely the subjects of that which, in a favorable aspect of it, can be regarded only as preparatory to religion. This danger, which is imminent, and in many cases has proved destructive, ought to be carefully guarded against, especially by those who, as ministers of the gospel and as professed religious teachers, are supposed to have a better acquaintance than others with the facts and principles of religious experience.

"(3) . . . We urge upon all, who wish to live the true inward life, the importance of not resting satisfied with mere intellectual light, however valuable it may be; of not resting satisfied with joyful or any other emotions which stop and terminate in themselves; and of acting invariably upon the principle that nothing ought to satisfy themselves, and that nothing can satisfy God, but the subjection of every natural desire, and the substitution of desires, affections and purposes which terminate in God, and in God alone. Move onward, therefore, with a firmness which no obstacle shall shake, to the entire revolution and renewal of the inward nature; the increased illumination of the conscience, that great light of the mind; the sanctification of the desires which embrace the whole propensive and 'affectional' nature, and the subjection of the will, which is naturally so proud and rebellious, to the will of God. Fear not that God will desert you. Aided by the intellectual light which he has seen fit to give, and by those favorable emotions he has already excited, formed and fixed, unalterable purpose, 'the high resolve,' in reliance upon divine grace, to be wholly his. No doubt, in many cases the struggle will be severe. The unsanctified desires especially, including the various appetites, propensities and affections, which form so important a part of our nature, are selfish and tenacious, and, considered as opposed to any and all human strength, are undoubtedly invincible. But God has said, 'My grace is sufficient for thee.' His word shall never fail, and, least of all, in such a struggle, in which his own heart of infinite love is enlisted. Desire after desire will fall, idol after idol demolished, the Christian graces will successively gain the ascendancy, till the Holy Ghost shall take his permanent residence in his own purified temple, and victory will sit crowned in the center of the heart."—"Interior Life," Upham, pages 142–144.

This book, particularly these passages, have been so suggestive and so helpful to me that I thought I would copy them for your readers. It seems to me they will do good now, when some strange theories of holiness, of the "interior life," are so paraded in the pulpit and public press.

GILDEROY.

Something New.

When the body is in a healthy condition it is not restless. The work of the day can be performed without painful weariness, and the sleep of the night is sweet and refreshing. But when health is broken, wholesome food is nauseating, labor is a weariness to the flesh and produces little result, the hours of the night are tedious while tossing from side to side, the body is neither rested nor refreshed with slumber. So it is with the church whose spiritual life is declining. There is no surer symptom of spiritual decline than the feverish restlessness which turns unsatisfied from the pure gospel and greedily seeks for something new.

A church in sound health will produce results. Sinners will be converted, believers edified; the afflicted and the poor visited, aided, and comforted; the morals of the community elevated and improved. The place of worship will be thronged with people, drawn together, not by sensational appeals to worldly desire for entertainment, but by the attraction of the cross and the supply of the deepest needs of the soul which they find in the sanctuary. When the church loses its hold on God and backslides, the congregations usually decline, prayer meetings are neglected, sinners are not converted, and can not be induced to attend church. The morals of church members decline with their spiritual life. Prayer is abandoned; dishonesty, corruption and worldliness creep into the church. Prominent members are found practicing money-making arts and social vices, which bring scandal on the cause of Christ, and give occasion to the enemies to blaspheme.

Then the banners of the Lord's hosts are trailed in the dust. They go out to battle against sin and Satan, and retreat defeated, humiliated. The church makes no progress, and fails even to hold its own against the powers of darkness. The membership diminishes while the surrounding population increases. The young people are turned away from the church because it has no power to hold them. The institutions of the devil have attractions which win them.

Then the church begins to cast about for some means whereby it may retrieve its lost fortunes. The preacher begins to accuse the laity, and the laymen lay the blame on the preacher. Perhaps the pastor concludes that his usefulness has come to an end, and resigns, or asks to be removed. The official members think they need a younger or more eloquent preacher. The laymen begin to accuse one another, complaining that the inconsistent conduct of this one and that one has caused this unhappy state of affairs. They lose confidence in one another, and, as President Finney used to say, "they ought to lose confidence in one another." There is good reason.

Then laymen may be heard arraigning the ministers, and boldly charging that they are not doing their duty, while, on the other hand, the pastor thunders denunciations from the pulpit against a backslidden generation. All true enough, but all to no purpose. The preacher goes further in his search for something new to awaken an interest. Perchance he may try new theology. He thinks the old doctrines are worn out, and if he shall only import from Germany new views of Christ and revelation, and sin and redemption, he will startle the sleepers and attract a crowd. If the pastor is sufficiently backslidden, he may try other methods, introducing Sunday evening concerts and entertainments, and lecturing on politics, political economy, and literature. Poor man! Making bricks without straw.

The laymen, also, when backslidden, will try their powers of invention, and suggest additions to the church in the way of amusements. "We must compete with the saloons and the theaters," they cry. "Build a hall in the rear of the church, or in some eligible locality, and have billiard-rooms, bowling-alleys, and kindred attractions." What does this mean? It is the fevered body tossing from side to side, seeking rest, but finding none. When the church has lost its spirituality it has lost its power, and it is ready to adopt any scheme rather than confess, repent, and come back to Christ.

But it is all in vain. These worldly methods of catching men have all been tried. In proportion as they are adopted and relied on as substitutes for the old method, the church is shorn of its strength. Lost power can not be recovered in that way. These physicians have not correctly diagnosed the case. A church which is filled with the Holy Ghost has no need of these devices, and one which lacks the Spirit of God can not be strengthened by such toys. There is nothing new in new theology, in secular Sunday entertainments, or in worldly amusements as accessories to the church. These all were tried many generations ago by churches which had lost their hold on Christ.

There are new things in this old gospel. Bread is a very old thing, but we can not dispense with it, nor find a substitute for it; and in every well-conducted home it is new every morning. Water and sunlight are old elements, but in civilized communities, where men know how to secure them, they are new and fresh every day, and the people are easily attracted to places where water is purest and sunlight least obscured. Salt is an old substance, but even in modern times nothing in the world preserves meat like salt. Some old things are always new. The gospel is one of them. It is bread, water, light, salt. Nothing in this world has such power to attract, to reform, and to save. The gospel on the lips and in the lives of spiritual men is the power of God, and we shall never get beyond that.—Christian Advocate, New York.

The Christian Paper.

Every true pastor wishes that he could properly emphasize the importance of every family on his charge taking a religious weekly. The religious weekly does not fill its columns with accounts of crimes and accidents, games and races, nor with society gossip, useless political speculations, and blood-curdling stories. It is not filled one week with falsehoods which it has to contradict the next week. It does not put something into every number which we are afraid to have our children read. It does not owe servile and unscrupulous allegiance to some great political party, which it feels bound to support, right or wrong. It is not run in the interest of some immoral office-seeker. It is not an advertising sheet, sugar-coating with its assumed respectability some infamous scheme for robbing the poor.

Neither are our great religious weeklies dull and uninteresting, certainly not to those who think upon and delight in whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, and of good report. They are full of interesting and useful reading—stories, descriptive articles, correspondence, anecdotes, funny columns even, but with no shaft of wit aimed at anything that is good or pure, a household department, a page for children, book reviews, poetry of the best kind, notes on Sunday-school lessons, and fresh news about the kingdom of God from all over the world, condensed accounts of important events occurring in the secular world, thoughtful treatment of great themes, while the tone of the paper from beginning to end is Christian. Everything is clean, pure, and wholesome. We are not afraid to let our children read every line.

No person who regards himself as a citizen in Christ's kingdom can afford to be without such a paper in his home. He can not afford, on the one hand, to be ignorant of how the great battle for God and truth is going; nor, on the other hand, to get his reports of it garbled by the prejudices of Christ's enemies. No parent can afford not to have in the family the leavening power and silent influence for good of a Christian paper. The writer well remembers the influence of such a paper over him in his boyhood, and the impulse that it gave him toward a manly, earnest, Christian life, and he covets that influence for other homes and for all the children.

"Give us this day our daily bread" is a prayer for food for the mind and the soul as well as for the body. We try to get good, pure, nourishing food for our children's bodies; let us be equally careful about the food for their minds and souls! Better than pure water is a stream of pure literature flowing into our homes, elevating our standard of thought, our conception of duty, and the purity and happiness of home life—the parents' best helper and the pastor's strongest ally.

Yes, the pastor's strongest ally, for the Christian paper is the best assistant pastor that a church can have. It calls every week, while the pastor can call but once a quarter or once a year. It patiently waits the convenient time for an interview. It confirms what has been said in the pulpit, and says some things that can not be said there. It is full of practical suggestions about all kinds of church work. It brings back the profits on your missionary investments. It keeps you from being stupidly ignorant about the affairs of your own denomination and the progress of God's kingdom on the earth. It helps you to be more intelligent and appreciative hearers of the preaching of the Word of God. It gives thoughts and incidents for the prayer meeting and the Bible class. It helps you to converse intelligently with your brethren, instead of talking gossip and small-talk continually. That such a paper may go into every family in the congregation is a thing exceedingly to be desired.—Rev. R. T. Cross.

Aims in the Christian Life.

There are three particulars or spheres of the Christian life in which one should have very distinct aims:

The first concerns a positive and well-articulated knowledge of Christ—such a knowledge as comes partly through a diligent study of the story of Jesus on earth, and partly through the experience of his love in the heart, and in virtue of which one has spiritual resources personal to himself, and insight into the truth, and firm standing in conviction, and blessed fellowship with the Father.

Now, how many, on entering in any pronounced way upon the new life, lay it down as a definite proposition that they ought to know all they can about Christ, and then announce it to themselves as an aim from which there is to be no swerving, that they will know all they can about Christ? How many are bringing all the force of reason and conscience and will to bear on the realizing of this aim? To come into this knowledge means the systematic and conscientious study of the Bible—Old Testament and New. It means the reading of good books. It means meditation and prayer. It means familiar intercourse with well-instructed and devout souls. It means openness to all good influences. It means not a spasm of effort, but a steady endeavor looking to this one end of knowing Christ, and knowing him more and more in the wealth and sweetness of his divine fullness.

The second particular or sphere in which there should be a very distinct aim concerns the mastery of one's easily-besetting sins, and the correction of one's faults—large and small. To all appearances a great many people never take their own characters in hand that they may trim them and mold them into likeness to the perfect character of our Lord. Their tempers are quick, and they know it; but they take no pains to bring their impulses of anger under discipline. They are avaricious, or they are self-indulgent, or they are of a jealous disposition, or they are of an indolent temperament, and they let the natural currents of their natures flow right on without any attempt to check them, or to turn them into other channels. It is a Christian man's business to train his soul till every power and faculty of his being falls into line with the will of God. It is a Christian man's business to be Christ-like, loving, sweet, patient, devout, well-poised, and full of the consciousness of God. Instead, how many men seem to be content with themselves just as they are? How many even go so far—when gently expostulated with for making no more effort toward self-correction and symmetry—as to justify themselves by saying: "Oh, it is my nature!" "It is my way!" They do not try to be different and better. Such a temper or attitude simply marks the absence of any worthy aim in the Christian life.

The third particular or sphere in which there should be a very distinct aim concerns the doing of something to testify to one's own sense of obligation to Christ for his salvation, and to help forward the kingdom of God. There are Christians who feel their way into activity and great usefulness without any outside assistance. There are other Christians who will take hold and do what they can when the way and the work are pointed out to them. But there are, one is almost inclined to say, multitudes of Christians who not only show no sign of a disposition to be workers for Christ, but who betray no sense of obligation, either to him through whom they are saved, or to the countless souls still outside his redeeming grace, to do their utmost to bring all men into the faith of the Son of God. But it does seem beyond controversy, even to a casual reader of the Word, that disciples of Jesus are to be not only hearers, but doers. They are to put something of themselves—of their thought, their energy, their substance—and just as much, too, as possible, into the upbuilding of the kingdom of righteousness in the earth. What a blessed thing it would be for each disciple of the Lord to set before himself a definite task, like reaching some soul with the light, or getting a little child into the Sabbath-school, or aiding a mission, or influencing a young man for his good, or helping to establish some good institution on a more secure basis, and then to follow it up till the thing should be done!

At all events, there can be no progress in the Christian life without an aim. An aim, to be worthy of cherishing, and to be helpful, must look forward to growth in the knowledge of Christ, and to the rounding out of character into the likeness of Christ, and to increasing usefulness in the service of Christ.—Advance.

The Every-Day Life.

It is our every-day life that declares what kind of Christians we are. We can not form a proper estimate of Christian character by seeing our friends now and then, or passing a day or two in their society at intervals.

We are generally thrown into the society of our friends upon pleasant occasions. We meet them upon life's holidays oftener than in the usual routine of daily duties. We greet them upon social occasions, when they are prepared to meet us with pleasant words and loving smiles. It is easy, then, to smile and speak kindly. It is easy, then, to wear a cheerful look, when the burden and task are put away from them, and when free from the influences that chafe and fret the body and soul.

Divine grace is not always required upon occasions like this to win the good opinion and approval of others. There is often enough natural goodness about human beings to bring to the surface of their lives those genial graces which charm other eyes, and win the respect and confidence of those with whom they come in contact.

Not so, however, in the every-day life. Divine grace alone can sustain the soul when the burden is heavy, and care and trial meet us at every step. There is not enough moral strength in the heart of humanity to sustain it when the body is weary, and the poor, weak arm just ready to let fall the burden. When trial, discouragement and disaster all combine to render the life path dreary, then the blessed faith in Christ alone can hold those unpleasant influences in check and still the troubled waters. With the "abiding Comforter" in the soul, it is as easy to smile and be cheerful in adverse circumstances as for the worldling to be happy in the hours of peace and prosperity.

It is our every-day life that builds up our Christian character. If we overcome the daily annoyances of life, we grow strong and heroic, and it soon becomes a pleasant task to do, bear and suffer. The service of Christ is one that grows lighter and more pleasant as the years go by. It never galls or inflicts needless wounds upon those who are engaged in it.

It is our daily life that exerts a lasting influence over the world. It is this that tests the value of religion, and proves to others that it is pure gold, and not a mere profession. It weighs and measures the golden treasure in a way which proves its worth, and the skeptic himself stands confounded and silenced.

A holy every-day life is the constant practice of the divine principle which saves, lifts up and elevates the human soul.—Primitive Methodist.

Virtue of a Cheerful Spirit.

What the world needs among other things is more of those people who possess the invaluable charm of a happy disposition. Who doesn't enjoy coming in contact with such persons? They carry a radiance of soul with them that seems to affect the very atmosphere. Their tastes, habits, views and opinions may differ from our own in every way, and yet we are unavoidably drawn toward them and fascinated by them.

They possess such pleasantness of disposition, such sweetness of temper, such gentleness of spirit, that they become endeared to you while you may differ from them. Some are at great advantage in the very outstart by having as a natural gift this sweetness of soul. And surely this is a most desirable gift, a great gift to any man, no matter what may be the sphere in which he moves. All appreciate the presence of a sunny temper, a happy spirit, and a frank, candid manner.

A prominent merchant recently said to the writer that no qualities were more desirable on the part of himself or employees, especially during business hours, than these qualities. And his is a pleasant place to go, though you have no shopping to do. As an illustration of the practical value of a cheerful spirit, a large retail merchant, when settling with his clerks for the last week's service in the year, gave one of them an extra twenty dollars, saying, in explanation: "I pay you the regular amount for your week's work, but the twenty dollars is for your cheerful spirit and smiling countenance maintained through the year."

This one quality of soul alone would wonderfully transform this world if it could but prevail generally; life would be by far more enjoyable, and even its crush-burdens would seem to grow lighter. Surely the man who goes to his daily task with a light heart and cheerful spirit, singing on his way, has music all the day long by which to march, and he can work more hours and reach better results than are possible otherwise.

But there are many who are not built on this plan. Cheerfulness seems to have been entirely left out of the compound of their being. It is exceedingly difficult for these people to be pleasant, exercising a winsome spirit, but easy enough to be gloomy, morose and sour. However, the most unfortunate in this regard may do much toward the cultivation of this very desirable grace.—Rev. W. G. Thrall.

He that has never known adversity is but half acquainted with himself or with others. Constant success shows us but one side of life, for as it surrounds us with friends, who tell us only of our merits, so it silences those from whom alone we can learn our faults.—Cotton.

For the Advocate.

PRAY FOR ONE ANOTHER.

BY FANNIE MINOR MONTGOMERY.

O friend, I come a gift beseeching,
Than other gifts more rich and rare;
A gift from earth to heaven reaching;
Give me a prayer.

I ask not thou shouldst share my duty,
On thee I may not cast my care,
Yet thou canst ask both strength and beauty;
Give me a prayer.

If on life's road my faith shall languish
Beneath the cross I still must bear,
And faints my very soul from anguish,
Give me a prayer.

If sorrow's darkest clouds surround me,
Death from my heart its treasures tear,
Then thou canst bring the light around me;
Give me a prayer.

If joy's bright rays shall shine before me,
With heaven's own light, so soft and fair,
Then thou to these canst add new glory:
Give me a prayer.

Lay Representation.

This being the year next preceding our General Conference, at which time the machinery of the church will be overhauled, the slack places taken up, and, it may be, a few new pieces put in, it is natural to think what changes may or ought to be made.

As I have been a steward in the church for a number of years (fifty-one consecutive years), I have given that office some thought. Our Discipline says stewards are appointed by the preacher in charge nominating subject to the confirmation or rejection of the Quarterly Conference. Now, suppose you have a new church, or a Quarterly Conference with no official members, how will it proceed to elect stewards and other officials? I have seen it done. The preacher in charge says to Bros. A, B, and C, "You must be stewards," and with these bogus stewards go in Quarterly Conference, who then elect themselves. Now, are these still bogus stewards, and are not their acts bogus? I have asked the question repeatedly of the wise ones of our church, Could they organize a Quarterly Conference in a church of no official members? One D. D., of the Kentucky Conference, after thinking a day and night, said he could, by appointing a class leader, go into the election of the other officers of a Quarterly Conference. Now, this brings me to the point I wish to make in this article—that is, lay representation. Now, there is but one officer that is elected by the laity that is entitled to sit in a Quarterly Conference, and that is a secretary of a Church Conference, and I never saw one in a Quarterly Conference in fifty years' observation. Representatives must be sent by those to be represented, or it is no representation. It seems to me that the lips of the common laity are as much sealed as before lay representation was introduced. To take members out of a body does not constitute representation; they must be sent by that body.

For the preacher to appoint one to elect another, is that representation? I have filled every office that a layman is eligible to, but never felt that my authority to act came from the laity. My plan is to elect the stewards in Church Conference; to adopt the apostolic plan, Acts vi, 3: "Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business." Fifth verse: "And the saying pleased the whole multitude; and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and Philip," etc. And I think this plan would please our church. Let the preachers in charge nominate, and the church confirm or reject. Is it hardly right for the preacher to nominate or appoint stewards to make his allowance, and the church or laity have nothing to say who shall make the assessment in the church. It is hardly right for the preacher to be bound to accept the allowance the stewards make, and the church not bound to pay it.

Would it not be fair for the preacher to nominate and the church to confirm? And then the stewards would be fair arbitrators, and each party bound, and we would have a delegation in a Quarterly Conference that would constitute true lay representation. Our Quarterly Conference should be organized on the most solid basis. Every preacher, every presiding elder, every Bishop has to pass through the gates of a Quarterly Conference. Our preachers all start in a Church Conference, and why not a steward, and then when the question is asked in Quarterly Conference, "Who are elected stewards?" the answer would be ready, and not have to go into an election and elect themselves or successors. What would be thought of our Legislature or Congress should they elect themselves or successors to office? Should the steward's office be one to be desired, what a hue and cry would go up through all the church at the manner in which they are elected!

Should this plan be adopted, it would greatly harmonize our financial plan, and would be the solving of ministerial support. A Quarterly Conference is rather an anomalous body. It creates its parts, and then the parts create the Quarterly Conference. But one officer elected by the laity is entitled to sit in a Quarterly Conference—the secretary of a Church Conference—and he is never, or seldom, there.

I would also suggest that in going into the election of stewards the preacher in charge read to the church the qualifications of a steward, and then, after the election, call the Board before the church, read their duties; and that the pastor is bound to accept their allowance, and that the church should feel equally bound to accept the apportionment of the stewards.

U. T. BLACKSHER.

Plaisance, La., Nov. 6.

Delegates to the General Conference.

If I understand the spirit and meaning of a General Conference, it is not only the legislative assembly of our church, but is also a representative body. Here meet together men from the various fields and departments of our ecclesiastical empire. The sturdy itinerant and presiding elder fresh from the circuit and district meet the city pastor and connectional official from Nashville. Every type of preacher should be there; but is this the case? The array of D. D.'s at the last quadrennial convocation was simply appalling. I have nothing against a man having an attachment to his name if he deserves it. Some are great and useful with this "bearing their blushing honors thick upon them," and some are small despite the insignia. I once heard an LL.D call the name of the doughty old philosopher who threatened to move the world if he only had the leverage, Ar-ke-de-mus.

Titles do not make men, "a man's a man for a' that and a' that." While our Doctors, as a class, are worthy men representing the learning and genius of the church, they do not have a monopoly of it.

Annual Conferences should take care that the delegates chosen are men from the field as well as from the city. Clear-headed, earnest, practical men from all parts of the territory embraced within its borders. Methodism in the rural districts has suffered no little by indiscreet pastors attempting to put in practice methods suited only to thickly populated cities. An asphalt pavement is a thing of utility and beauty on St. Charles avenue, but would scarcely do for a road over which to haul saw logs. The weekly class meeting proved a failure as a test of membership when men had to ride ten or fifteen miles to the log meeting-house, sometimes crossing raging streams and traversing brakes and swamps to get there.

These are reasons for my plea for truly representative men from the different parts of the State included by the Annual Conference. One of the most despicable traits of human nature not infrequently finds expression in men canvassing for votes as delegates at an Annual Conference. If a Methodist preacher is elected to this or any other honored position in the church, he should fill it with all humility and grace in the sight of God, and go to this work as obediently as to an annual appointment.

I make no apology for the trend and thought of this paper. It is a privilege of every man to discuss freely great and vital questions affecting the church, and only small and narrow persons will accuse such an one of selfish and sinister motives.

S. J. DAVIES.

Change of Time.

I mean the day of the week for meeting of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences. The query was made by the editor (not Dr. Black) some months ago, why Thursday instead of Wednesday as heretofore? A partial answer was then given. It is now in season to add a word explanatory and hortatory. Several different times we of the Mississippi Conference have endeavored to secure such a change. Never till this year has the request of our Conference resolution been acted on favorably.

We thank Bishop Key most warmly for his kind consideration for our scruples. It had become an open secret among us that very many members of Conference—committee men and under-graduates—were necessitated to violate the Sabbath's sanctity, or else leave their work much too soon in order to report at seat of Conference as early as Tuesday morning (and that is late to begin such important work which must be completed by opening of Conference) Which of us has not had some experience of crowding work all day Sunday—then either waiting at a depot or riding through the night to catch a midnight train, and then barely able to reach destination in a most travel-worn condition. To avoid this some have started off before the Sabbath, when it was important to meet the congregations on that day. These have often been embarrassed to find themselves at seat of Conference "before they were expected." Next time, perhaps, they have started during the Sabbath, thus setting a baneful example before their people.

By meeting on Thursday ample time will be given after the closing Sunday to make final arrangements and still be "on hand" by Tuesday night. This will give much needed additional time for examinations and save many a headache and consequent heartache. Some of us have seen an additional reason for the change in this: It will put Sunday nearly in the heart of our Conference, instead of on the eve of adjournment. Thus we may reap many spiritual benefits just such as we all crave at our annual reunion. May we not hope also that this will take away some of that restless spirit, fast growing on us, which has often caused the Lord's business to be neglected, or so hastily done as to be worse than undone!

I hope never again to witness, in a religious body, such disorderly haste as we suffered at Natchez on Monday morning, Dec. 19, 1892. To avoid the like, let us think in time and go to Conference prepared to stay till our work is properly done, and the benediction pronounced, in reverent quietness, such as we expect from our congregations among the laity. Then we can go home respected and self-respectful. Shall we grudge a week in which to confer about the vast and varied interests that bring us together once a year? Our wives and other loved ones can spare us, at least, that long. Brethren, let us make this a time of real refreshment, socially and religiously!

J. P. DRAKE.

Edwards, Miss.

From the Work in Brazil.

SANTA BARBARA, SAO PAULO.

During my stay in the above place (which was only about ten months) I enjoyed much of the presence of the Lord with me in the work; and toward the closing months there were many unmistakable proofs of the work of the Holy Spirit amongst us. One of our churches had gotten out of repair, so much so that I often felt like saying of it:

"The roof lets in the sunshine and the rain."

To have it renovated the brethren had already made extensive preparations, but the work had been stopped for a whole year, because they could not get any man to take the contract, as the Brazilians have a superstitious fear of Protestant Churches in general, and if they have a burying-ground attached they are much more formidable; so no one would take the work in hand unless he would get double pay for it. Finally, I moved that they should do the work themselves, as many of them are very handy, telling them at the same time that I would go for one; then, taking out my note-book, I gave it to a brother, asking him to take the names of those who were willing to come to the work, and the result was that in a few minutes we had quite a list of names.

On the day appointed it would have gladdened the heart of any lover of Zion to see Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists, in a foreign land, united heart and hand to repair the house of the Lord. I spent a very happy two weeks in that work, at the close of which time we found ourselves at the end of our difficulty, having made a good job of the house, and having not only a comfortable, but also a respectable church in which we can and do unite and worship the God of our fathers. To him be the glory.

After we got the church finished we had a dedicatory service, for the house had never been dedicated. Some time after we had some protracted meetings, in which all joined heartily once more—creeds, sects, and parties appearing to sink into insignificance. Oh, when the religion of Christ Jesus gets all over a man, how he glows! In these meetings a goodly number of persons professed to find Christ to the salvation of their souls, and their faces bore testimony with their tongues. There brother grasped the hand of brother, and they looked in each other's face and rejoiced and praised God together for the great things he had done. One entire family (consisting of three young men and one young woman, all Roman Catholics) professed to be converted. Two of them were received into the church by baptism, and I expect the others soon to follow.

When we came to the parting (for I had to be off to another field, some six hundred miles distant from this one) there were tears shed on both sides. This being my first charge, I felt the parting very much, especially when I stood as a young man to receive the benediction of an aged Presbyterian brother, who had been an active Christian for many years. On that day many a pair of hands clasped mine, accompanied with a fervent God bless you.

Brethren, pray for us in this difficult field—difficult at the best of times, but more so just now, being racked and torn by internal wars. Pray for us, and for the success of the work of the Lord among these people who need the gospel so much.

JAMES HAMILTON.

Juis de Fora, Minas Geras, Oct. 25, 1893.

Conference Claimants.

This is the time of holding our Annual Conferences, and for the election of suitable men, both clerical and lay, to go to the General Conference to make laws for our great church. There is one matter of vital importance, at least I think so, and have reasons from sad experience for thinking so: It ought to be known how delegates stand in regard to the provisions made by our church for the maintenance, assistance or starvation of our Conference claimants. It is not enough for our great men to go round with great sounding words of eulogy upon the old successful veterans that have brought our church up to its present phenomenal power and prosperity. That kind of taffy won't put meal in the meal barrel or shoes on the feet of the old itinerant's widow who was once the wife of one of the leading preachers of his Conference, but who now plows in the field for her bread, although she is sixty-five years of age.

A popular and useful preacher was in charge of a very flourishing church in a flourishing town, on a salary of nine hundred a year, with a wife and four children! But a dark day came; affliction came to the parsonage. Conference came; the preacher had to take a superannuated relation, came home sick in soul and body. Said he to his wife: "Wife, you must go out and find some kind of a house to live in, for the new preacher will be here in a few days. We must get out, and we have no stewards now to get us a home." "Well, husband," said she, "what about furniture, for we have no parsonage committee of ladies now to see that it is furnished. Have you no money?" "No, I had to borrow money to get home." She went and returned. "Well," said she, "I found a house that may do, though it is in very poor condition; but it is the best we can do. We are to take it for the year, paying eight dollars the last day of each month. Well, we have house rent to pay, wood to buy, tax to pay, provisions to get, all cash, no money. The first thing to sell is our piano, my father's last gift to his child. Then, husband, here is our engagement ring; let it go. A young man comes by for the new preacher to marry him to-morrow night. This time last year you married my sister; you were our pastor then." He asked the merchant, "What do you charge me for that barrel of flour?" "Seven dollars." "Why, you let me have it for six before." "But you was our pastor then; you are an old, worn-out preacher now."

Now, Mr. Editor, you may throw this squib into the waste-basket as unfit for a place in the ADVOCATE; but that don't change the facts in the case that the law-makers of our church have in the past manifested great selfishness or ignorance, or both, as regards providing by law for the relief of our Conference claimants, and is a disgrace to the Methodist Church. The trouble is, the sore only hurts those that have it.

BALDIE.

Thumbs!

There is an important lesson in every human hand. We will call it the lesson of the thumb. Suppose you pick up a heavy hook. The thumb is on one side and four fingers are ranged on the other. At first glance it seems a case of "one against four;" but, on further reflection, are not all five in accord in raising the book? Brave thumb! It undertakes to do as much work as the four remaining fingers. Its apparent opposition is absolute aid in raising the hook. This is the lesson of the thumb. But is not the same doctrine taught us in all the realms of nature? Behold the circling planets in their journeys around the sun. Two opposing forces conspire to keep them in their orbits: the one (centripetal) tending to draw the planets to the sun; the other (centrifugal) tending to hurl them about through space. The one is as important as the other in securing the harmony of the skies. Without their co-operation there would be unspeakable wreck and ruin.

Life and death are opposing forces in the vegetable world; but do they not conspire to make the lovely scenes around us? What would nature be without life, and what without death? "Except corn or wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone." "That which thou sowest is not quickened except it die." Nor is there meat or bread or wine without a previous death. How striking the emblems of the Supper of our Lord—bread and wine—the product of previous life and death, yet nourishers of life in prospect!

Life and death, two apparently opposing forces, are ever conspiring to keep up the order of Providence. Truly God's ways are not as our ways, nor his thoughts as our thoughts. "O, that men would praise the Lord for his wonderful works, and for his goodness to the children of men."

Seed-time and harvest, Summer and Winter, the north and the south, like the thumb and the fingers, work together for good—all but parts of one stupendous whole, the product of Him whose "understanding is infinite."

Z.

"Evangelists."

Those who "go about doing good" (as they believe, doing more good) by preaching the gospel of Christ in their way, and on their own accord and account, are called "evangelists," while those who are sent out by the appointment and on account of the church, are called "preachers;" but both alike claim to be equally called of God to preach. While one takes a wider range for operations, the other is restricted to narrower limits. Both alike hold membership in some church, and are equally accountable to it for their moral character and the doctrine they preach.

It seems that St. Paul "conferred not with flesh and blood"—neither his own, nor other men's—but "immediately" went out, of his own accord and on his own account, in obedience to the call of God to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ to the Gentiles in his own inimitable way; while it seems that Peter was sent out by appointment and on account of the church at Jerusalem to preach to the Jews. Then, as now sometimes, the "evangelist" and the "preacher" come into collision; but in that instance, at least, the "evangelist" seems to have been more in the right than the "preacher" was. (Read the first and second chapters of Galatians.)

And we read in the ninth chapter of both Mark and Luke that the first preachers "forbade one (evangelist) because he followed not with them." But the Savior told them, "Forbid him not, for he that is not against us is for us." So it seems that all who have "been endued with power from on high" should be allowed to speak and work for the Lord and his cause, whether they be commissioned, or not, by the church. But none have that right otherwise, although they be, through mistake, commissioned by the church. "Though they speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, they are become as sounding brass, or tinkling cymbals." No doubt some have gone out of their own accord who ought not to have gone; and no doubt some have been sent out by the church who ought not to have been sent. ("They shall be known by their fruits.") The Savior says, "He will declare unto many . . . he never knew them!" And as there may be relatively as many evangelists "endued with power from on high" as preachers, let everybody read the fifth chapter of Acts, and let the church and all take the advice of Gamaliel, and "Refrain from these men, and let them alone; for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to naught; but if it be of God, ye can not overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God." But let all—both evangelists and preachers—ever bear in mind that it "is the will of God that with well-doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men: as free, and not using your liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God." "Feed the flock of God, which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock." "Let your moderation be known unto all men. The Lord is at hand."

We read in the eleventh chapter of Numbers that away back yonder, during the pilgrimage of the Israelites in that great and terrible wilderness, some complained to their leader, Moses, because some "upon whom the Spirit rested prophesied in the camp." But Moses rebuked their "envy," and said, "Would God that all the Lord's people were prophets, and that the Lord would put his Spirit upon them." And we read in the ninth chapter of both Mark and Luke that in the days of Christ on earth some of his disciples "forbade one because he followed not with them." But the Savior told them, "Forbid him not, for he that is not against us is for us."

D. W. FOSTER.

Plaisance, La.

Mrs. Susan B. Guice.

On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 25, we buried the mortal remains of Mrs. Susan B. Guice, who died in great peace on Friday, Nov. 24. She was the oldest member of Jefferson Street Church, having joined under the pastorate of Rev. O. L. Nash, in 1830. Thus for sixty-three years she was a member of the church. She was one of the purest and best of women, and will be remembered by you and by all her former pastors as such. A suitable tribute to her memory will be furnished you for publication.

W. B. LEWIS.

Natchez, Miss., Nov. 28.

An Unusual Kind of Storm.

It is very common for the pastors to be remembered with extras in storms, etc., but for a presiding elder on the wing to be thus kindly remembered is uncommon, and yet this has been the good fortune of one, at least, of us. Many thanks.

C. MCDONALD.

In Japan.

AN OLD SHINTO PRIEST.

It is strange that I did not write you something last Winter about an old Shinto priest who lived with me during the coldest months. For about twenty-five years (one version is thirty-six years) he was connected with the Kompira shrine, of which mention has been made before. At present he goes wherever he can make money or rice by worshiping. Last year, being in Matsuyama, he attended the services at our church several times and became a probationer. As Winter came on he would come to my house occasionally to warm, and finally got permission to sleep in one of the unoccupied rooms. He was very regular at prayers, and would render some assistance about the place when called upon. He had some hope that the governor and others might start a school for the poor and employ him as teacher. But the plan did not materialize. In the meantime, when the old man had rations ahead, he would stay in doors all day; but if the rice were out, he would don his priestly garments and go to the houses of the people to worship, take along a kind of paddle with which he would clear the houses of evil spirits. This paddle he would also use upon himself, sometimes striking his forehead with it to drive bad thoughts away. Returning from his worshiping trips, he would generally give to the young man also living in the house the result of the day's work. Sometimes it would be: "Feasted once and twenty cents," or "Feasted twice and enough rice for three days," or "Very, very prosperous; forty-five cents and rice for two days." He said once that for the same worship twenty years ago he would get five dollars.

The old man's faith in Christ became stronger about Christmas; he quit going to clear out houses with his paddle, and started a little bakery for a living. Sometimes at the end of my talk to the boys at Bible study, he would ask permission to speak. If it were granted, the rapidity of his talk and his odd thoughts made it very interesting to the boys. One night he was called upon to pray. Some even of the most solemn present laughed during the prayer, and told me afterwards that the words of the old man's prayer were too polite.

But on New Year's day he went out early and returned about 12 o'clock by way of the girls' school, which is in charge of two American ladies. These he frightened somewhat by his energetic talk and by worshiping the hanging picture of one of the ladies' mother. When he arrived at home he rushed into my room; stood before the most holy corner of it, clapping his hands jubilantly, and asked me to join with him in worshiping. It dawned upon me that the old man was drunk. He afterwards told us the number of glasses of wine he had taken at the governor's feast, and went back to ask pardon from the ladies. But the old man's bakery did not do so well. There was to be the festival of a temple on the little island of Gogoshima; and by invitation he went to officiate at it. After that I found him one day sitting on the mat at Misugahama Chapel, and greeting me very happily as I walked in for Sunday-school. Next he went to Hiroshima; has not been heard from since. There is some hope that he will make his appearance again this Winter, because he left some of his things in Matsuyama.

Here is one who might have been an Elijah, if he had known Elijah's God. He remarked one day that himself and one other Shinto priest were the only perfectly pure people in Japan. He has never married, but said that he would, if he could find a woman pure as snow, and asked that we in the meantime search him a wife, adding that he would try to save the money needed for marrying.

You may read in the next letter the weird story of his misguided life as given from his own mouth.

HENRY G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Japan.

(To be continued.)

From Ada, La.

MR. EDITOR: Though my communication was one among the first hurled into the awful waste-basket, I am not disposed to depreciate the paper, much less its editor. While I believe in sanctification as a distinct work of grace, the grace that it (sanctification) brings to me prevents me from saying that no one but a sanctified man can preach or run a paper.

I hope you may be successful in the work to which you are called by the church. I hope the ADVOCATE will have a still larger circulation, and wield a greater influence than ever. As an authorized agent, I will do what I can for the paper that has always seemed so dear to me.

Yours in Christ,

WILSON MOORE.

Though weak and frail,
We each can make
The world a little brighter;
With every cheering word we speak,
Somebody's heart is lighter.

HYGIENE.

Emergencies.

BY A TRAINED NURSE.

Much pain might be prevented and many lives saved by a few simple facts being made known to a household.

Take, for instance, a burn. Checking the flames by means of a wrap, and keeping the mouth closed to prevent inhaling them, is too well known to require repetition. But the immediate treatment of a burned surface is not so well known. First, remove any clothing from the part gently, but firmly. Perhaps under water is the best plan, and is advised by some physicians. This can be done either by immersion in a basin or bath-tub, or by gently irrigating the part with tepid water. If the wound is merely superficial and amounts to only a painful reddening of the skin, this may be treated either by repeated applications of cold water or by a solution made with bi-carbonate of soda, which is always in every household. After the pain ceases, shield the part from the air by dusting on flour and wrapping in cotton batting, or by painting the surface with the white of an egg, adding coat to coat, as each one dries applying another. The batting and flour should not be used where the skin is broken, for it would adhere to the wounded surface and be painful and difficult to remove. Nice and simple dressings in a wound of that kind are olive oil or carron oil (equal parts of linseed oil and lime water), or vaseline mixed with starch.

When dressing the delicate, granulating surface of a wound during healing, great care should be taken to keep the part clean, and the old dressing should be very gently removed.

Burns caused by strong acids must be treated in the same manner; but first neutralize the acid and prevent further burning by applying a weak solution of ammonia, or of bi-carbonate of soda. In cases of severe burns the shock to the system is very great, and the patient should be put to bed at once and warmth applied to the body. Mild stimulants may be given, such as strong tea or coffee. One-third of the body even superficially burned, will often cause death from shock. Opium is sometimes used to relieve the pain.

In cases of fainting, which is often due to anæmia of the brain and the blood gathering in the abdomen, lower the head and elevate the abdomen, and give plenty of fresh air.

For convulsion in children, put the child in a warm bath for no longer than fifteen minutes, and wrap in a warm blanket and apply mustard to the body; and if due to indigestion, as is often the case, give him a dose of wine of ipecac, or tickle the throat, and in some way produce vomiting. If there is a previous history of diarrhœa, the child may be given a couple of teaspoonfuls of castor oil; or an injection of warm soap and water.

In ordinary epileptic fits nothing can be done except to prevent the patient hurting himself. As there is always danger of biting the tongue, something hard should be placed between the teeth. A spoon wrapped with soft cotton is usually a most convenient thing.

These are only a few of the many cases in which we are called upon to act promptly and intelligently; but there is one thing, the essential thing of all, without which the knowledge of these would be useless, and that is the courage to act and to do even the little that we know in the time of an emergency.

Don't Sleep in Linen.

The truth about linen is that it isn't the ideal dressing for beds at all. It is cold and slippery and insures sensitive persons the dream of sleeping on an iceberg, which does well enough for an occasional experience, like sea-sickness, but which palls on too frequent repetition. Besides that, it wrinkles and tumbles, in spite of its heavier body, much more than cotton does, giving a bed after one night's use a most slovenly and uninviting appearance.

Nobody recommends linen for body wear. Its firm texture and hard surface make it wholly non-absorbent; it allows the body to become chilled by refusing the perspiration, and so has been known to bring on serious illness. For outside wear in Summer, linen may be tolerated as clothing, but nowhere else. Where, however, it is at its most useful and best, is in household uses. For table service, for the toilet, and for minor ornamental details, it is simply invaluable; its smoothness of texture, its brilliancy, which laundering even increases, its exquisite freshness, makes it one fabric fit to drape the dining table and to use in the toilet, while its suitability for needlework decoration makes it admirable for all kinds of fancy work. And here it is rightfully used, but to wear next to the skin and sleep in—no.—Hall's Journal of Health.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

Mr. Howell's literary autobiography begins in the Christmas Ladies' Home Journal, and will continue through a year's numbers of that magazine.

Ten short stories, a contemporary view of Virginia by Thomas Nelson Page, a pen-picture of the present House of Commons by Thomas Power O'Connor, and a description of Mexican ranch life by Frederic Remington are some of the attractions of Harper's Magazine, for December. Pictorially, the number is said to be unsurpassed by any of its predecessors.

Archdeacon Farrar lives in the very heart of London, under the shadow of Westminster Abbey and close to the Parliament buildings. In McClure's Magazine, for December, he obtains most entertainingly about his life and work and about Tennyson, Macaulay, Phillips Brooks, Dean Stanley, Longfellow, and many others. The article is capitally illustrated with ten large drawings by the brilliant American artist, Arthur Jules Goodman.

Worthington's Magazine, for December, comes to hand filled as usual from cover to cover with good things. The leading article is written by Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin, upon the Life Saving Service of the United States. Mary A. Livermore begins a new serial story entitled, One of the Forty-niners. John H. Whitson contributes an interesting article entitled, A Day with the Pueblos at Nambe, which is fully and beautifully illustrated. Mr. Whitson gives delightful glimpses of Indian rural life and describes the manners and customs of the natives of New Mexico. The short stories and essays are good. Taken altogether, the December number of "Worthington's" is a superb holiday number. For this month the publishers offer to send a specimen copy of a recent number for four cents in postage stamps. $2.50 per year; 25 cents a single number. For sale by all newsdealers. A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn. Subscriptions for this choice magazine will be received and forwarded by the publisher of this paper.

The Missionary Review of the World, for December, opens with an able article by Dr. A. J. Gordon, on the relation of Education to Missions—a subject which is receiving much attention at the present time. Dr. Gordon's position is, "conversion primary, education secondary." Joseph Rabinowitz, the converted Russian Jew, gives a wonderfully interesting allegorical interpretation of the story of the raising of Lazarus, whom he regards as a type of Israel. The work among the women of Egypt is well described by one who is engaged in it, Miss Anna Thompson, of Cairo. Two articles on missions in Syria and Palestine, by Mr. Payne, of London, and Geo. A. Ford, of Syria, give a full and interesting account of the progress and present aspect of the work in the land of our Lord. L. D. Wishard gives a third of his series on the Y. M. C. A. in foreign lands; the present paper being devoted to work in India, a land peculiarly adapted for this form of missionary labor. The rise and progress of the Student Volunteer movement in England and Northern Europe is described in two articles on "Student Volunteers at Keswick," and an outline of Mr. Wilder's movements. The Review is pre-eminent among missionary magazines, being fully abreast of the times and edited with the greatest care and efficiency. Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Company, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York, at $2 a year.

PELOUBET'S SELECT NOTES. A Commentary on the Sunday-School Lessons for 1894, by Rev. F. N. Peloubet, D. D., and M. A. Peloubet. 356 pp. Illustrated, $1.25. W. A. Wilde & Co., 25 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

They are many helps that partially cover the lesson subject, but for a complete understanding of the text from every standpoint the teacher must have this book at hand for weekly reference in studying the lessons.

It will be a peculiar help during 1894, because the first six months' lessons, being from the earlier books of the Old Testament, introduce many perplexing questions that must be squarely answered, and Dr. Peloubet has been extremely wise and judicious in so presenting these controversial subjects that they become incidental rather than prominent, and thus do not obscure or tend to lead away from the main teachings of the lesson.

In handling the lesson on the life of Christ for the last half of the year, the author has drawn from his store of past study and thought the brightest, most trenchant expressions and teachings of the world's students.

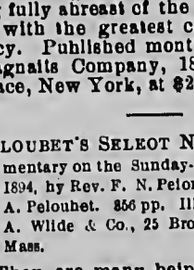
The notes are simply complete in every respect, and even a captious critic would have to soar close to take exception to them.

The text is illustrated with abundant original engravings which illuminate many otherwise dark passages, and, as a whole, in its mechanical as well as literary make-up, the book will at once interest and instruct any teacher of the Word.

It is published in one volume, uniform with its nineteen annual predecessors, and is a rare reference book for one's library, even after the year's study is completed.

Eyesight Saved

After Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia and similar diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled to thoroughly purify the blood and give needed strength. Read this:



Clifford Blackman.

"My boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, leaving him weak and blood poisoned with canker. His eyes became inflamed, his sufferings were intense, and 7 weeks he could not open his eyes. I took him to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but their remedies failed to do any good. I began giving him which soon cured him. It saved his sight, if not his very life." ABBIE F. BLACKMAN, 2888 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. 25 cents.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terchinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	3.102 grains
Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735.108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	80.476
Magnesia	26.872
Potash	2.822
Soda	6.045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5.083
Silica	6.049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1.564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Ligbifoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

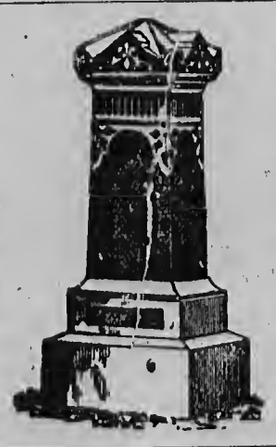
Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus. College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 2? Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED. No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS

FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.		Leave.
Passenger	9:30 p.m	Passengor	7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail	8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail	6:00p.m
Chic. limited	7:35 p.m	Chic. limited	11:30a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.		Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex.	7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex.	8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.	8:20 p.m
Local	10:05 a.m	Local	3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and Tkt Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley

RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p.m	8:45 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a.m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p.m	10:00 a.m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 5:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

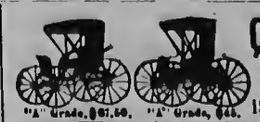
Depot: Corner Press street and Levee.

R. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent, New Orleans, La.

W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass. Ag't, Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $320 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis. X 178.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.



QUALITY AND PRICE IS WHAT TALKS.

"A" Grade, $61.50. "A" Grade, $45.

"A" Grade, $180.

Look at these beautiful vehicles and low prices. You can't buy 'em from your local dealer for double the money. Write for our 1893 star catalogue, the finest ever published. Over 100 Styles. Vehicles $10 and upward. Harness $5 and upward.

ALLIANCE CARRIAGE CO., CINCINNATI, O.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS for 1893. Contains new songs and responsive readings. 48 pages. Price 5 cents per single copy by mail.

JESUS THE NAZARENE, by F. J. Campiglio. A fine Christmas Service of Song and Recitings for the Sunday-School. Price 5 cents a single copy by mail.

SANTA CLAUS' MISSION, by Wm. Rees, with additional songs by J. H. Murray. This is a beautiful new cantata that is sure to please the children in the Sunday School. It is full of bright and pleasing music and is not at all difficult of preparation. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

OTHER CHRISTMAS CANTATAS

are "A Jolly Christmas," "Christmas Eve," "A Christmas Vision," "The Sea Scout's Dare," "Santa Claus & Co.," "Judge Santa Claus," "Ringing Bells Kringle," "Santa Claus' Mistake," "The Wish Children," Price of each 30 cents per single copy by mail. "Ho for the Palms" and "The Christmas Gift" are also suitable for Christmas, though not designed especially for the purpose. Price 30 cents. All of the above cantatas are intended for children, but in the fine work entitled "Bethlehem" by Root & Weatherley, adults will find something worthy of their best efforts. Price 75 cents by mail.

A CHRISTMAS BAZAAR, by Mrs. S. Robes and J. R. Murray. This is a new and pleasing entertainment which is neither a cantata or exercise but has the characteristics of both. It is very entertaining and will no doubt meet with much favor. Price 5 cents per single copy.

A CHRISTMAS REVERIE, by W. I. Mason is another entertainment which has met with much success and approval. Price 5 cents per single copy.

THE WONDERFUL STORY, by Mary B. Brooks and G. F. Root gives the principal events of the life of our Lord while on earth, in beautiful verses, Scripture readings and expressive music. Price 30 cents per single copy by mail.

The December number of the "MUSICAL VISITOR" will contain anthems for Christmas and will be a very useful number in that direction. Price 25 cents per copy by mail.

Catalogue of Christmas Music furnished free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

CINCINNATI—NEW YORK—CHICAGO.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Ob ar of Christianity from the Apostles Period through the Refor mation has been prepary by REV. M. LOU OKS, D.D. Dayton, Ohio. For particulars addr ss him and receive circulars free. REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D, Dayto n, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONFIDENTIAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pgs. Price 50 cents. Address Mrs. Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

Its Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and incidentals, provided at rate of $236.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st.

Gen'l. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. Dr. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON GA.

CATARRH

FENCING

WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, Church or write Wm. Morrow, No. 9 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $75 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 10 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp disease & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PUREST BELL METAL, (COPPER AND TIN.) Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A. Best Copper and Tin CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CINCINNATI, OHIO. SOLE MAKERS OF THE BOYMYER BELLS FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c. Catalogue with 2500 testimonials, Prices and Terms Free.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMMACK.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, December 14, 1893.

Mississippi Conference Notes.

The city of Hazlehurst knows how to dispense a most generous hospitality.

On Thursday night Dr. W. H. LaPrade preached a very able, thoughtful sermon on "The Temptation of Christ."

Throughout the session great prominence was given to religious exercises. There was a prayer service of half an hour before each morning session.

The pulpit of the Methodist Church was filled at three o'clock, Sunday, by Dr. C. G. Andrews, whose sermon was forceful and exceedingly appropriate to the occasion.

The brethren of the Conference were delighted with Bishop Key's plan of having a prayer service of half an hour before the Conference session each morning. It works well.

On Friday night Dr. E. E. Hoss, editor of the Nashville Advocate, preached on "Regeneration." The sermon was a very able one, and produced a profound impression.

The Methodist people of Hazlehurst are to be congratulated on the completion of their new house of worship—the building of such a house during a time of such financial stringency.

Mrs. James W. Lambuth, mother of our efficient Missionary Secretary, was introduced to the Conference, and made a very interesting and effective talk concerning her work in Japan.

There were two preaching services each day—in the afternoon and at night. We were too much occupied with ADVOCATE matters to attend the afternoon services. We heard good reports concerning these services.

The brethren were delighted with Bishop Key. His opening prayer touched all hearts. His address to the class admitted into full connection brought about a regular camp meeting scene on the Conference floor. His sermon on Sunday was profoundly spiritual. The Conference communion service was a season of spiritual refreshing.

The Conference was honored with the presence of two connectional officers: Dr. E. E. Hoss, editor of the Nashville Advocate, and Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Missionary Secretary, both of whom were heard with great pleasure both in the pulpit and on the Conference floor. The Conference requested Dr. Hoss to publish his sermon delivered on Friday night on "Regeneration."

We were unable to attend the Memorial Service on Sunday night, having an engagement to preach at the same hour at the Baptist Church. It has been reported to us as a very interesting service. Memoirs were read of the three brethren who had died: John A. Ellis, Benjamin Jones, and T. Y. Armstrong. These were followed by short talks from a number of the friends of the deceased.

We had a most delightful Conference home with Hon. J. S. Sexton. We were not among strangers, as we have known Bro. Sexton from his infancy up. Bro. Sexton and his estimable wife are model Conference hosts. They know how to make their guests feel entirely at home. We had three delightful fellow-guests: Col. W. L. Nugent, and Bros. W. A. Gunning and Howard McGehee.

Our time being occupied, for the most part, with ADVOCATE matters, it became necessary for us to secure some one to report the proceedings of the Conference. We were so fortunate as to secure the services of Prof. C. F. Emery for the first four days, and Rev. C. W. Crisler for the fifth day. These brethren have brought us under lasting obligations for their faithful and efficient services.

Mississippi Conference.

FIRST DAY.

Annual Conference opened at Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 7, 1893, at nine A. M., Bishop J. S. Key presiding. After devotional exercises, the roll was called. Dr. C. G. Andrews was re-elected secretary. Revs. J. G. Jones, G. H. Galloway, J. G. Galloway, W. L. Linfield, J. A. B. Jones, W. R. Sims, J. W. Chambers elected assistant secretaries.

Daily session fixed at nine A. M. to 12:30 P. M.

The following committees were appointed:

On Public Worship—R. S. Woodward, I. W. Cooper, J. S. Sexton.

On Memoirs—Geo. Bancroft, A. D. Miller, G. H. Thompson, T. S. West, J. W. Tinnin, W. P. Jones, W. B. Harmon.

On the State of the Church—L. P. Brown, C. W. Campbell, G. B. Harper, Peter James, V. V. Boone, R. W. Bailey, R. B. Downer.

On Bible Cause—C. F. Evans, J. W. Crisler, R. A. Sibley, J. M. Randle, M. T. Burton, N. J. Roberts, S. J. Johnson.

On Sabbath Observance—B. F. Lewis, T. W. Sullivan, J. D. Marion, R. H. Smith, J. G. Cammack, G. D. Andrews, S. S. Cope.

On Temperance—N. M. Clark, G. A. Guice, G. H. Galloway, W. L. Nugent, L. T. Fitzhugh, H. C. Newsom, J. A. McLeod.

On Publishing Interests—D. G. W. Ellis, W. B. Lewis, L. Carley, J. D. Crymes, J. M. Weems, R. W. Tucker, W. G. Backus.

On District Conference Records—W. W. Hopper, C. W. Crisler, B. H. Rawls, V. D. Skipper, W. F. Millsaps, H. B. McGehee, J. S. Parker.

On Conference Relations—D. P. Bradford, C. A. Powell, B. S. Rayner, E. F. Edgar, F. M. Williams, H. W. Featherstun, H. D. Howell.

Rev. J. A. Lomax, of the Baptist Church, was introduced, and welcomed the brethren in a happy address.

Report of the Publishing House was read and referred to committee.

Report of Board of Church Extension read and referred.

Report of Sunday-schools read and referred.

Report of Board of Missions read and referred.

Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Missionary Secretary; Dr. W. H. La Prade, pastor Carondelet Street Church, New Orleans; Mr. T. H. McNish, representing Publishing House; Dr. W. C. Black, editor of the ADVOCATE, were introduced to the Conference, and each called attention to the particular connectional interest he represented.

Dr. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, representing Centenary College, and Rev. J. W. Chambers, financial agent of Millsaps College, were introduced to the Conference.

Reports of Presidents of the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College, of East Mississippi College, Centenary College, Whitworth Female College were read and referred.

Rev. T. B. Holloman addressed the Conference on behalf of ministerial education.

Ques. 20: Revs. E. H. Mounger, R. S. Woodward, T. L. Mellen, C. Macdonald, H. E. Partridge, P. A. Johnston, D. A. Little reported, and characters passed.

Revs. D. Merchant, T. Price, of Opelousas district; A. B. Nicholson, T. Y. Armstrong, G. T. Vickers, W. E. Ballard, E. Jones, J. W. Harmon, J. T. Nicholson, W. B. Hines, R. S. Gale, H. J. Harris, E. A. Flowers, J. W. Sandell—characters passed and referred to Committee on Conference Relations.

Rev. J. A. Vance referred for supernumerary relation. Revs. A. B. Nicholson and H. R. Caldwell referred to committee for superannuation.

Ques. 6: "Who are received from other Conferences?" Dr. W. C. Black.

Ques. 10: "What local preachers are elected deacons?" Revs. R. P. Nolan, E. T. Breland, Wm. Thos. Browning, F. B. Ormond, B. F. Hart, G. P. White, D. Scarborough.

Ques. 14: "What local preachers are elected elders?"

Ques. 8: "What traveling preachers are elected deacons?" C. C. Evans, P. M. Brown, J. P. Haney.

SECOND DAY.

The Conference convened in the Baptist Church at nine A. M., Bishop Key in the chair. Religious exercises conducted by Rev. D. P. Bradford. The roll was called, and a few absentees responded to their names.

A Committee on Memorials to the General Conference was appointed.

Rev. Mr. Pace, pastor of the Baptist Church, was introduced and cordially welcomed the Conference to the use of his church.

The calling of the eighth question was resumed: "Who are elected deacons?" P. W. Lewis, G. R. Ellis, J. T. Abney, W. J. Dawson, M. L. White.

The second question was then called: "Who remain on trial?" J. R. Whittington, R. H. Barr, J. C. Ellis.

"Who are continued in the third year?" John W. Tinnin, J. G. Cammack, H. C. Brown.

Dr. E. E. Hoss, editor of the Nashville Advocate; Dr. Walter R. Lambuth, Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board; Dr. W. H. LaPrade, representing Paine Institute, were introduced to the Conference and called attention to their respective connectional interests.

Question twelve was called: "What traveling preachers are elected elders?" H. Mellard, W. H. Lewis, H. M. Ellis, C. W. Crisler, P. H. Howse, H. L. Norton, W. G. Forsythe, G. D. Anders, J. G. Sibley.

"Who are continued in the class of the fourth year?" N. J. Roberts, F. M. Keen.

Religious services were announced for three P. M., by Rev. R. W. Tucker, and for seven P. M., by Dr. E. E. Hoss.

After announcements, the Conference adjourned with benediction by the Bishop.

THIRD DAY.

The Conference convened at nine A. M., Bishop Key in the chair. Religious exercises conducted by Rev. W. W. Hopper. The Minutes of the preceding day were read and approved. The calling the roll was on motion dispensed with.

Reports of the chairman of the Joint Board of Finance and of the Conference solicitor of the missionary debt were read and referred.

The second question was then called: "Who remain on trial?" H. W. Van Hook, Paul D. Hardin, A. T. Bell, Wm. J. Roberts, T. J. Norsworthy were advanced to the class of the second year.

Clarence M. Crossley, Thomas H. King, Robert E. Rutledge, Talbert A. Luster, N. C. Bird, John H. Foreman, Wm. M. Williams, Waldo W. Moore, Fletcher B. Ormond, Geo. W. Huff, Samuel Hodges, W. T. Woodward were continued in the class of the first year.

"Who are admitted into full connection?" William T. Griffin, Charles C. Evans, Paul M. Brown, James P. Haney, Barney W. Lewis, Gabriel R. Ellis, William M. Sullivan, James T. Abney, William J. Dawson, Martin L. White, H. B. Trevillion.

On motion Simpson J. Tubby was discontinued.

Mrs. J. W. Lambuth, from Japan, was introduced to the Conference, and made a brief address on missionary work. It was resolved that the collections for foreign missions be taken during the first quarter.

Rev. Charles T. McKee, of the "Church of God," was recognized in elder's orders.

It was resolved that the credentials be restored to Rev. Geo. Morrison.

A Committee on Memorials was appointed, with Rev. W. R. Sims, chairman.

The committee appointed to investigate the character of Rev. P. Howard reported him guilty, and recommended that he be suspended from the ministry for one year.

Question one was called: "Who are admitted on trial?" McKendree Marvin Black, Elbert T. Breland, Charles F. Emery, Daniel Scarborough, A. Harvey Shannon, Geo. P. White, William H. Benton, Samuel B. Beall, John D. Ellis.

Question five: "Who are re-admitted?" Elbert C. Flowers.

Dr. W. B. Murrah was introduced to the Conference.

The following appointments were made for Sunday: Baptist Church—eleven A. M., Dr. Murrah; three P. M., Rev. T. W. Adams; seven P. M., Dr. Black. Presbyterian Church—9:45 A. M., address to ladies and children, by Mrs. J. W. Lambuth and Dr. W. R. Lambuth; eleven A. M., Prof. Sims; three P. M., Rev. A. F. Watkins; seven P. M., Rev. W. B. Lewis. Methodist Church—9:30 A. M., experience meeting conducted by Dr. Hunnicutt; eleven A. M., Bishop Key; three P. M., Dr. Andrews; seven P. M., Memorial Service. Colored Methodist—11 A.M., Rev. M. L. Burton; seven P. M., Dr. Lambuth.

Conference adjourned until three P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Conference met at three P. M. persuant to adjournment.

A telegram of fraternal recognition of the Annual Conference of the A. M. E. Church, sitting at Terry, Miss., and reply thereto was read.

"Who are transferred to this Conference?" F. A. Marshall, of West Texas Conference.

The hour for the election of delegates to the General Conference having arrived, the Bishop announced the following persons a committee to act as tellers and to count the votes: R. W. Bailey, C. W. Crisler, T. A. Holloman, W. M. Thornton.

On the first ballot Revs. C. G. Andrews, W. C. Black, A. F. Watkins, clerical, and T. A. Holloman, J. Sexton, R. W. Millsaps, lay delegates, were elected.

On the seventh ballot W. M. Thornton, layman, was elected.

On the eighth ballot W. A. Gunning, layman, was elected.

R. Babbington and L. P. Brown, laymen, were elected alternates.

Rev. H. W. Featherstun elected on the third ballot, T. L. Mellen elected on the fifth ballot. Revs. D. A. Little, W. L. C. Hunnicutt elected alternates.

The twentieth question was called: "Are all the preachers blameless in their lives and official administration?" J. M. Weems, R. D. Norsworthy, W. T. Griffin, W. W. Morse, F. M. Williams, L. J. Jones, M. L. Burton, V. V. Boone, T. B. Holloman, C. B. Cecil, H. P. Lewis, W. W. Hurst, L. S. Jones, J. W. McLaurin, C. F. Evans, W. W. Hopper, B. F. Lewis, L. P. Meador, Geo. Bancroft, I. L. Peebles, J. V. Penn, R. Bradley, D. P. Bradford, J. N. Ware, N. M. Clark, D. G. W. Ellis, R. A. Breland, J. W. Chambers, H. R. Caldwell, L. Carley, R. A. Sibley, B. S. Rayner, B. H. Rawles, R. F. Witt, J. M. Morse, G. H. Galloway, W. W. Cammack, A. F. Watkins, T. S. West, E. F. Edgar, D. C. Langford, R. J. Jones, J. M. Cowan, J. D. Crymes, J. P. Drake, J. W. Ellison, V. D. Skipper, J. A. B. Jones, W. R. Sims, W. D. Dominick, J. M. Pugh, L. S. Jones, N. B. Harmon, R. B. Downer, J. S. Parker, H. P. Howell, G. W. Ferrer, N. B. Young, J. H. Holland, J. H. Evans, T. W. Adams, M. H. Moore, W. G. Backus, N. Selby, R. W. Bailey.

Revs. George Bancroft and J. M. Pugh were referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for superannuation.

Rev. J. S. Parker referred to same committee for supernumerary.

Dr. W. R. Lambuth was announced to preach to-night at the Methodist Church on medical missions.

On motion, Conference adjourned until Monday morning at nine A. M.

FOURTH DAY—SUNDAY.

FIFTH DAY.

Question 20 resumed. The following names were called and their characters passed: J. W. Brown, W. W. Simmons, R. W. Tucker, W. P. Jones, H. R. Singleton, J. G. Galloway, W. L. Linfield, W. L. C. Hunnicutt, H. W. Featherstun, I. B. Robertson, A. D. Miller, W. B. Lewis, T. W. Brown, B. F. Jones, D. F. Guice, C. A. Powell.

It was resolved that three thousand copies of the Minutes be published.

The General Conference was memorialized as follows: To enact suitable legislation controlling evangelists. To place the entire responsibility of bringing up all collections upon the lay members. To require preachers to be more careful in admitting candidates into the church.

The above report of the Committee on Memorials was adopted.

The Committee on Education reported the institutions of learning within the Conference in good condition, and that they were well patronized. An assessment of $2,200 was made on the different pastoral charges, distributed as follows: Paine Institute, $500; the remainder to be divided between Millsaps and Centenary, the apportionment to be based on the number of ministers and sons of ministers attending each college from the Mississippi Conference.

Dr. W. B. Murrah represented Millsaps College, and insisted upon greater efforts being made to help educate deserving young men and for greater endowment for the college. Dr. W. L. C. Hunnicutt represented Centenary in a forcible speech and urged its claims. Dr. W. H. Featherstun spoke in behalf of Edward McGehee Female College. Dr. T. B. Holloman, in behalf of East Mississippi Female College, made an earnest appeal that the girls of our church should receive the same consideration and help as the boys and young men. Dr. L. T. Fitzhugh spoke in behalf of Whitworth Female College.

The Publishing Committee reported our periodicals and publications in a healthy condition. Revs. R. J. Jones, W. B. Lewis and J. W. Chambers were kept on the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Dr. W. C. Black, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, was introduced to the Conference, and presented the pressing claims of the paper.

Conference adjourned, with benediction by Bishop J. S. Key, to meet at 2:30 P. M. in the Baptist Church.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After devotional services conducted by Rev. R. B. Downer, the Conference was called to order by Bishop J. S. Key at 2:30 o'clock.

The Joint Board of Finance made its report. Special mention was made of the Meridian district, it having paid its Conference claimants assessment in full. All of the other districts report a deficit on this assessment.

The Committee on Church Extension made its report, setting forth its work and the many demands made for help the past year. The collections were reported lower than last year. The Bishop followed this report in an earnest talk in the interest of the Woman's Parsonage Aid Society connected with the Church Extension Board. Dr. W. R. Lambuth also spoke in behalf of the extension of schools among the Indians within our borders. Rev. T. B. Holloman closed the discussion in a few words.

The Temporary Committee on the establishment of an Orphan's Home reported encouragement in their work.

The report from Bible Committee made the usual urgent appeal on that important question, which was followed by a speech by Rev. J. W. McLaurin, the Bible agent.

Report on temperance was read and adopted.

The Committee on Conference Relations made its report, which was adopted. J. A. Vance, J. W. Sandell and J. S. Parker were given a supernumerary relation.

Committee on Memorials to General Conference made its report negatively on all papers referred to it, which report was adopted.

A report from Committee on District Conference Records was presented, which was adopted.

A report from Committee on Sabbath Observance was read and adopted.

Report on state of the church showed very gratifying advancements on all lines during the past year.

Meridian was selected as the place for holding the next session of the Annual Conference.

Report from Sunday-school Board was adopted.

Rev. J. W. Chambers, agent for Millsaps College, announced that $31 was all that was lacking to complete the $25,000 endowment for the college. The amount was soon raised.

Conference adjourned, with the benediction by Bishop J. S. Key, to meet at seven o'clock in Baptist Church.

NIGHT SESSION.

Conference was opened by Rev. H. R. Singleton conducting religious services. Minutes of the evening session were read and approved.

Bishop J. S. Key announced that the Board of Missions would hold their anniversary at this hour.

The customary reports were read, after which very interesting addresses were made by Bishop J. S. Key, Dr. W. R. Lambuth and Sister J. W. Lambuth. The Bishop's address on the condition of China and Japan, and the possibilities of our church in these countries, was one of the finest ever delivered before the Mississippi Conference. The immense congregation listened with rapt attention from beginning to end. After singing in Japanese, Dr. and Sister Lambuth recited the Lord's Prayer both in Japanese and Chinese, very much to the interest of the congregation. The usual anniversary collection was taken.

The Bishop was requested to appoint a committee to put an epitaph on the tomb of Dr. J. W. Lambuth. For this purpose Dr. C. G. Andrews, Dr. W. L. C. Hunnicutt and Rev. J. P. Drake were appointed.

A resolution of thanks was read and adopted.

The Minutes of the night session were read and adopted.

The Bishop announced Hymn 332, after which Rev. E. H. Mounger led in prayer.

The Bishop then announced the following appointments:

APPOINTMENTS.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT.

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.
Meridian—Central Church, R. S. Woodward.
Meridian—West End, W. W. Hopper.
Meridian—East End, B. F. Lewis.
Chunkey, L. P. Meador.
Marion, E. T. Bell.
Enterprise and Stonewall, I. L. Peebles.
Waynesboro and State Line, F. A. Marshall.
Vossburg, L. Carley.
Shubuta, D. P. Bradford.
Waynesboro circuit, J. N. Ware.
Binnsville, N. M. Clark.
Lauderdale, G. H. Thompson.
Daleville, D. G. W. Ellis.
Linwood, H. W. Van Hook.
DeKalb, R. A. Breland.
Leakville, W. J. Dawson.
Why Not, J. P. Haynes.
North Kemper, F. B. Ormond.
Enculta, W. W. Moore.
Matherville, H. W. Wallace.
East Mississippi Female College, T. B. Holloman, president.

JACKSON DISTRICT.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.
Jackson—First Church, A. F. Watkins.
Jackson—Capitol Street, T. S. West.
Canton, L. S. Jones.
Camden, E. F. Edgar.
Benton, D. C. Langford.
Yazoo City station, R. J. Jones.
Yazoo circuit, T. H. King.
Silver Creek circuit, H. Mellard.
Lake City and Lodi, J. T. Norsworthy.
Flora, J. G. Galloway.
Madison, H. L. Norton.
Edwards station, J. P. Drake.
Mt. Olivet, F. M. Williams.
Sharon, J. M. Cowan.
Tranquil, W. J Ferguson.
Bolton circuit, J. A. B. Jones.
Jackson circuit, M. M. Black.
Professor in University of Mississippi, W. R. Sims.
Colporter, W. D. Dominick.

SEASHORE DISTRICT.

H. E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.
Moss Point, T. W. Adams.
Ocean Springs, E. T. Breland.
Bay St. Louis, N. B. Harmon.
Pearlington, J. V. Penn and — Shannon.
Purvis, C. F. Emery.
Hattiesburg, H. D. Howell.
Whittington, C. N. Brown.
Vancleave, G. W. Huff and — King.
Americus, G. R. Ellis.
Williamsburg, A. C. Burt.
Ellisville, H. B. Trevillion.
Columbia, J. G. Sibley.
Heidelberg, F. M. Keen.
Mt. Carmel, M. L. White.
Eastabuchie, W. G. Forsythe.
Augusta, G. W. Ferrer.
Biloxi, R. Selby.
Covington, R. B. Downer.
Tallisheek, J. H. Holland.

VICKSBURG DISTRICT.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.
Vicksburg—Crawford Street, C. G. Andrews.
South Vicksburg, W. H. Lewis.
Warren, A. D. Miller.
South Warren, C. D. Cecil.
Rolling Fork, H. M. Ellis.
Rocky Springs, W. M. Stevens.
Udos, C. W. Crisler.
Natchez—Jefferson Street, W. B. Lewis.
Natchez—Wesley Chapel, J. D. Crymes.
Washington, J. D Ellis.
Meadville, P. H. Howse and D. F. Guice.
Mayersville, T. W. Brown.
Port Gibson, B. F. Jones.
Hermanville, G. A. Guice.
Fayette, W. W. Simmons.
Roxie, J. N. Tucker and A. C. Flowers.
Martin, J. W. Crisler.
Learned circuit, R. E. Rutledge.
Cary, J. S. Hodges.
Port Gibson Female College, W. H. Huntley.

BRANDON DISTRICT.

C. MCDONALD, P. E.
Brandon station, W. J. Roberts.
Fannin, J. G. Cammack.
Clarksburg, P. D. Hardin.
Homewood, R. A. Sibley.
Raleigh, J. H. Evans.
Forest and Morton, B. S. Rayner.
Shiloh, J. W. Ellison.
Westville, J. C. Ellis.
Lake, R. F. Witt.
Newton and Hickory, J. M. Morse.
Neshoba, J. H Foreman.
Hillsboro, C. C. Evans.
Walnut Grove, J. R. Whittington.
Walnut Grove circuit, H. B. Vandenberg.
Trenton, R. H. Barr.
Rose Hill, G. H. Galloway.
Mission to Choctaws, W. W. Cammack.
Steen's Creek, B. H. Rawls.
Montrose, R. Bradley.

WOODVILLE DISTRICT.

P. A. JOHNSTON, P. E.
Woodville station, H. W. Featherstun.
Percy Creek, J. W. Brown.
Gloster and Centerville, C. A. Powell.
North Wilkinson, N. B. Young.
Wilson, R. W. Tucker.
Amite, W. P. Jones.
Jackson, La., H. R. Singleton.
Bayou Sara, R. S. Gale and K. S. Enochs.
Clinton, La., V. D. Skipper.
East Feliciana, G. D. Anders.
East Baton Rouge, W. L. Linfield.
Port Vincent, W. T. Woodward.
Live Oak, J. P. Hooey and G. S White.
Amite City, P. M. Brown.
St. Helena, N. J. Roberts.
Franklinton, W. M. Sullivan and W. H. Burton.
Wilkinson circuit, T. A. Luster.
Slaughter, S. B. Beall.
Ponchatoula, W. T. Currie.
President Centenary College, W. L. C. Hunnicutt.
President Edward McGehee College, W. H. Featherstun.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT.

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.
Brookhaven station, M. H. Moore.
Crystal Springs, J. W. Chambers.
Terry, W. T. Griffin.
Gallman, W. W. Morse.
Providence, W. W. Hurst.
Pleasant Grove, L. J. Jones.
China Grove, M. J. Miller.
McComb City, M. L. Burton.
Martinsville, B. W. Lewis.
Magnolia, V. V. Boone.
Summit, H. P. Lewis.
Adams, J. W. Tinnin.
Wesson, T. L. Mellon.
Beauregard, C. M. Crossley.
Caseyville, W. G. Backus.
Bowerton, Ira B. Robertson.
Hazlehurst, R. W. Bailey.
Lebanon, J. T. Abney.
District superintendent Bible cause, J. W. McLaurin.

TRANSFERRED.—F. A. Marshall, from West Texas Conference.

The following telegram was received from Rev. V. V. Boone, Magnolia, Miss., Dec. 12:

The wife of Rev. J. W. Sandell, of the Mississippi Conference, died this morning at 9:15. Cause, paralysis.

Woman's Parsonage and Home Missionary Society, Louisiana Conference.

The Louisiana Conference Woman's Parsonage and Home Missionary Society held their public anniversary in Louisiana Avenue Church on the night of Tuesday, Dec. 5. In the absence of Presiding Elder Carter, who was holding a Quarterly Conference elsewhere, the ladies asked Dr. Sawyer to preside. After the singing of a hymn and a solo finely rendered by Miss Nettie Price, John xv was read by Rev. R. H. Wynn. Then came a hymn by the choir and a prayer by Rev. Frank Parker, followed by Miss Mamie Pries who, in a voice of much sweetness and power, sang "Jesus, lover of my soul." The Rev. Dr. W. R. Lambuth being introduced, spoke at some length and with clearness and eloquence upon the objects and needs of the work. Then came that necessary part of all proper religious gatherings—a collection. Miss Hortense Carver, a New Orleans Methodist young lady of great talent, who has been for several years in Europe perfecting herself as a singer, in a solo delighted the audience with the rich, full, deep tones of her splendid contralto voice. After prayer by Dr. Beard, and a hymn, the very profitable meeting was closed with the benediction by Dr. Lambuth. Mrs. Dr. Lyons, the president, and her zealous coworkers are to be congratulated upon the progress of the home mission cause in their hands.

Rev. T. L. Mellen.

The following resolutions were passed by East End Methodist Church, South, in Conference assembled, this third day of December, 1893:

Whereas, Rev. T. L. Mellen's term of office as presiding elder of this district expires by limitation, and his removal from our midst is thereby made probable; therefore, be it

Resolved, By this Conference, that we shall ever remember with grateful hearts the interest he has manifested for this church; his zeal, "according to knowledge," in overcoming obstacles; his prayers and aid in the erection of our temple of worship, and with him his wife and family, who have been so faithful in their efforts to help on the work in our church.

Resolved, That, as loyal Methodists, we submit to the powers that remove from our midst our brother and family, and will ever pray God's choicest blessing on his household. May they be upheld by the everlasting arms of Jehovah, guided by his eye, and filled with his Holy Spirit!

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Minutes of this Conference, and sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

I. N. CHATFIELD,
J. E. WATTS,
Committee.

Meridian, Miss.

The tortures of dyspepsia, the sufferings of scrofula, the agonizing itch and pain of salt rheum, the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh, are removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Floyd, La.

Our new church in Floyd, Delhi district, Louisiana Conference, is completed, and will be dedicated on the second Sabbath in December, 1893. Dedicatory sermon by Rev. H. O. White, P. E., of Delhi district. All former pastors are cordially invited to be present.

C. R. GODFREY, Pastor

Be Cheerful.

Don't sit in a corner and mope because things are not going just as you would like. A disagreeable face will not alter a disagreeable fact. Try to extract some grain of comfort out of your adversities. Never despair. Under whatever circumstances, be cheerful and hope on. There is nothing so philosophical as a smile. A merry heart is the height of wisdom.

The greater part of our griefs will disappear when viewed through the lenses of cheerfulness. Let the dark past sink out of sight. Look toward the sunrise. Shout with merriment as if you saw the dawn kissing the hills. Fill your soul with the visions of morning and the song of the lark. Then all will become suffused with daylight—all the gloomy places will pulse with sunshine, the clammy rocks will glisten with dew.

Would you like to know the key to unlock the doorway to a happy life? It is cheerfulness.—Youth's Journal.

Holiday Excursions.

Reduced rates will be made by the QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE during the Holidays from points on its line. Tickets will be on sale beginning Dec. 22nd. Call on agents for rates and all particulars.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A.
Cincinnati, O.

Third Stage of Catarrh.

HOW CONSUMPTION BEGINS AND ENDS.

In the third or last stage of chronic catarrh the thickened and swollen membranes become thin and shiny and the sputa thick and of a very offensive odor. Unless something is done to prevent, the catarrh will follow the mucous membrane into the lungs, where it will be followed by cough, night-sweats, rapid loss of flesh, and the other dread symptoms of consumption. How few people seem to realize this truth! Who has not seen the victim of consumption struggling for life in the fatal grasp of its last stages? The unnatural brightness of their glassy, anxious eyes, the hectic flush of their shrunken cheeks, the dilated nostrils, and deep, sepulchral voice, the panting breath and fluttering heart, the frightfully emaciated form, the hopefulness of the patient and the hopelessness of the attendants—all make a pathetic picture which is far too common. A slight cough, a little hoarseness, or only a sore throat, was the beginning, which, being neglected, led to an end so disastrous that no pen can give it adequate description. Peru-na taken in time never fails to avert such a sad result.

Those who desire further particulars should send for a free copy of "Climatic Diseases," one of the latest and best books published on catarrhal diseases.

We learn with much pleasure that Sister Harmon, wife of Dr. J. W. Harmon, of the Mississippi Conference, has recovered her usual health.

Rev. R. D. Norsworthy.

Whereas, In the kindness and wisdom of the Great Head of the church we have been granted the uninterrupted pastoral care of Rev. R. D. Norsworthy for four years; And whereas, By the authority of our church he will be removed from us shortly, it is becoming in us, as an organization for church work, to review our relationship; to give expression to our sadness, and to offer what encouragement we may by assuring him of our esteem, and for gratitude for his faithful recognition of our work; therefore, be it Resolved, That in Bro. Norsworthy we have ever found a warm advocate of and a willing helper in our missionary work, and we have not a more sincere wish than that his successor may give us as cheerful and as efficient assistance.

Resolved, That in the ministry of Bro. Norsworthy we believe he has not failed to declare unto us the whole counsel of God concerning us, and that to growing Christians he has dispensed food convenient. Sabbath after Sabbath our attention has been called to the varied phases of truth with an earnestness and clearness of manner which leave us without excuse so far as the opportunity to hear is concerned.

Resolved, That we shall miss Sister Norsworthy from our little band. Her punctuality and her fervent prayers are recorded in our memories, and her willingness to do all in her power will serve to inspire us to do our best, and will recommend her to all missionary and other church work.

Resolved, That we pray God's blessing on Bro. Norsworthy and his family; that wherever he may be sent he may be conscious of the Spirit's presence and may have many souls for his hire.

Respectfully submitted.

M. LINFIELD, Com.

The reader's attention is called to the advertisement of "Pear Trees" on this page.

General Conference Delegates.

The following is the North Mississippi delegation to the General Conference in the order of election:

Clerical—W. B. Murrah, D. D.; J. S. Oakley, W. T. J. Sullivan, D. D.; T. J. Newell, R. G. Porter. Reserves—J. D. Cameron, D. D.; W. S. Lagrone. Lay—G. D. Shands, J. T. Fant, R. W. Jones, G. D. Harris, J. R. Bingham. Reserves—J. G. Hamilton, J. B. Streater. Yours fraternally,

JOSEPH S. OAKLEY,
Sec. of Conference.

MR. EDITOR: In your editorial note on North Mississippi Conference you have inverted the order of names of those elected to General Conference. W. B. Murrah, J. S. Oakley, W. T. J. Sullivan, T. J. Newell, R. G. Porter. Lay: G. D. Shands, J. T. Fant, R. W. Jones, G. D. Harris, and J. R. Bingham.

As you say I was your scribe, some one may think I put my own name first when it ought to have been last. Please put the names in their proper order as above. GILDEROY.

The General Conference delegates from the North Alabama Conference are:

Clerical Delegates—A. West, J. W. Newman, S. M. Hosmer, T. G. Slaughter, Z. A. Parker, R. A. Timmons. Alternates—F. T. J. Brandon, A. B. Jones, J. D. Simpson. Lay Delegates—D. Collier, T. S. Plowman, Thos. Bradford, J. R. Kennedy, J. K. Powers, B. F. Cassady. Alternates—A. C. Miller, I. D. Mason, N. M. Rowe.

Tired Professional Men
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

The tired professional and literary men will find nothing so soothing and refreshing as Horsford's Acid Phosphate. This is the testimony of thousands of these classes of men.

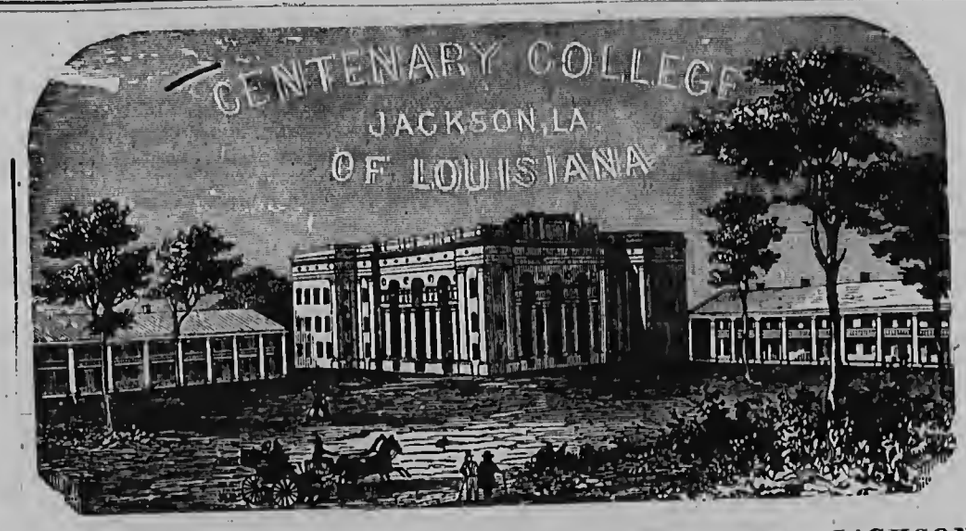
To write Successful Sea Novels

W. Clark Russell.

one must be as familiar as a sailor with the moods of the ocean and all the rig and ways of a ship. W. Clark Russell knew the sea thus before he began to tell its tales. This greatest of sea-novelists will contribute three Romances next year to

The Youth's Companion.

The Programme next year is brighter than ever. "SWEET CHARITY," a beautiful picture of Colonial times, in colors, 14½ x 21 inches in size, presented to all New (or Renewing) Subscribers. All New Subscribers sending $1.75 now, get THE COMPANION FREE to Jan. 1, and a full year from that date. Sample copies free. Boston, Mass.



CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT. PRESIDENT.

1894.
Harper's Magazine.
ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for 1894 will maintain the character that has made it the favorite illustrated periodical for the home. Among the results of enterprises undertaken by the publishers, there will appear during the year superbly illustrated papers on India by ENWIN LORD WEEKS, on the Japanese Seasons by ALFRED PARSONS, on Germany by POULTNEY BIGELOW, on Paris by RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, and on Mexico by FREDERIC REMINGTON.

Among the other notable features of the year will be novels by GEORGE DU MAURIER and CHARLES DUNLEY WARNER, the personal reminiscences of W. D. HOWELLS, and eight short stories of Western frontier life by OWEN WISTER. Short stories will also be contributed by BRANDER MATTHEWS, RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, MARY E. WILKINS, RUTH MCENERY STUART, MISS LAURENCE ALMA TADEMA, GEORGE A. HIBBARD, QUESNAY DE BEAUREPAIRE, THOMAS NELSON PAGE, and others. Articles on topics of current interest will be contributed by distinguished specialists.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.
Per Year

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

The Volumes of the MAGAZINE begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order. Bound Volumes of HARPER'S MAGAZINE for three years back, post-paid, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, post-paid.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

4 PICTURES 10 X 14 Inches FREE!

We will send you THE PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE, a 16-page illustrated weekly journal, devoted to General News, Literature, Art, Science, Household Economy, Wit, Humor, and interesting Miscellany, four weeks on trial, together with FOUR BEAUTIFULLY COLORED PICTURES, 10x14 INCHES, for only 15 cents. These pictures are all different subjects, RICHLY colored, and each one a GEM OF ART. We make this special trial offer to introduce our paper into as many new homes as possible, feeling SURE that after a trial each one will remit the regular price, $2, for a full year's subscription. Send 15 cents at ONCE for a trial subscription, with the four pictures, and if not entirely satisfactory we will refund your money.

THE PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE, 114 Nassau St., New York City.

REDUCED RATES

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the south of Cairo, on Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 3, 1894, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Illinois Central agent.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Reduced Rates

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the

YAZOO AND MISSISSIPPI VALLEY
RAILROAD

They will be on sale Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 2, 1894, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Y. & M. V. agent.

Millsaps College.

WANTED.—A few nice boys to board. For terms see College Catalogue. Good care taken of them in case of sickness. References: President W. B. Murrah, Bishop C. B. Galloway, Rev. A. F. Watkins. Apply to

MRS. M. J. FORD.

Pear Trees.

IDAHO and KEIFFER upon LeConte roots; two years old; 25 cents each; less by the dozen or hundred. Also two-year old LeConte trees and grape vines. Address

DR. H. SHANNON,
Ocean Springs, Miss.

I Have Just Received

A supply of Pelouhet's and Hurlburt's Notes on the Sunday-school Lessons for 1894—$1.25 per copy. Order at once. Also Jack-Knife and Bramble, A Ramble among Surnames, and other new books for the holiday trade. Bibles from 25 cents to $25 by mail. Testaments from 5 cents to $3.50. A beautiful line and large lot of Christmas, New Year, birthday and Sunday-school cards and booklets.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres street (near Canal), - New Orleans.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

Grand National Prize at Paris, of 16,600 francs to T. LAROCHE.

QUINA-LAROCHE,

HIGHLY ENDORSED by the medical faculty of Paris. An agreeable and highly efficacious Remedy. London. Lancet.

For Stomach affections, Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Poorness of the Blood, Fever and Ague, Retarded Convalescence.

PARIS: 22 rue Drouot.
E. FOUGERA & CO., AGENTS FOR THE U.S.
30 North William St., N. Y.

MUSIC BOOKS for 1894

OUTING SONGS contains a splendid collection of selected and original Camp Songs, Road Songs, Boating Songs, and songs for every phase of outdoor life. Pocket size. Price 50 CENTS.

BROEKHOVEN'S HARMONY A celebrated system of Harmony based on the Richter principle, so familiar to all musicians. PRICE, $1.00.

KING RENE'S DAUGHTER by Julian Edwards. A new and beautiful one act lyric drama, recently produced in New York with flattering success. PRICE, $1.00

DAY SCHOOL MUSIC The Cincinnati Music Readers make the best series of Graded Readers for Public Schools in this country. Revised and enlarged to five parts. Descriptive pamphlet free. Prices, Part 1, 20 cts., Part 2, 20 cts., Part 3, 20 cts., Part 4, 30 cts., Part 5, 35 cts.

THE JOLLY PICNIC A new and pleasing cantata for Juveniles, by C. H. Gabriel. Full of good music and bright dialogue. PRICE, 30 CENTS.

FAMOUS VIOLINISTS A little pamphlet containing short sketches of the famous violinists of the world. PRICE, 25 CENTS.

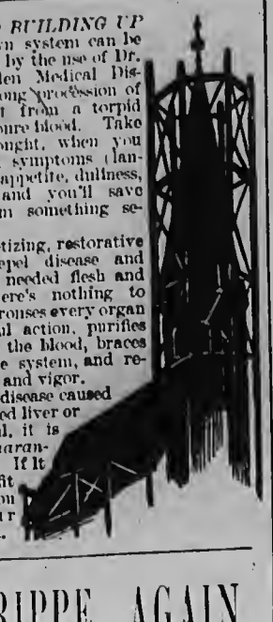
SINGING CLASS BOOKS The best of all. Send for specimen pages.

Send 10 cts for sample of The Musical Visitor, containing music for Choirs, and general musical news.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,
CINCINNATI — NEW YORK — CHICAGO.

A GOOD BUILDING UP

of a run-down system can be accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. A long procession of diseases start from a torpid liver and impure blood. Take it, as you ought, when you feel the first symptoms (languor, loss of appetite, dullness, depression) and you'll save yourself from something serious.



As an appetizing, restorative tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.

For every disease caused by a disordered liver or impure blood, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

LAGRIPPE AGAIN.

The United States has never suffered from any disease that has caused such fearful results as has LaGrippe. Royal Germetuer has never failed to cure it quickly where used.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 28, 1893.

"In January last I had a violent attack of LaGrippe. I was advised by a friend to use Royal Germetuer, which cured me in a couple of days. I was again attacked by the 'grip' this month, and profiting by my former experience I commenced at once with Germetuer and did not have to go to bed. I consider it a specific for LaGrippe. L. STUART."

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct 13, 1893.

"About two years ago I had a severe spell of "grip" and was induced by my relatives to try Royal Germetuer. It soon cured the 'grip.'"

MRS. GEO. TISDALE.

SWEETWATER, Tenn., June 23, 1893.

"My little son had LaGrippe, was greatly prostrated, and continued to decline until we gave him Royal Germetuer. He began to improve at once and soon regained his health."

J. T. BARROW,
Pastor First Baptist Church.

Rev. W. G. E. Cunnyngham, editor Sunday school Literature, M. E. Church south, says: "The 'grippe' attacked me a second time last spring. One bottle of Germetuer relieved me, as it did before. I feel entirely free from all symptoms of 'la grippe' at present."

Rev. J. W. Howard, Baptist City Missionary of Columbus, Ga., writes Oct. 3, 1893: "Some years ago I had an attack of 'grip' which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure."

Keep the bowels open with Germetuer Pills.

King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CARPETS!

Don't have your carpets half cleaned; all know how impossible it is to clean carpets by hand.

All dust thoroughly taken out by steam.

Feathers purged of all impurities.

44 St. Peter Street.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager, Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

MY MOTHER'S BIBLE.

This book is all that's left me now!
Tears will unbidden start;
With fait'ring lip and throbbing brow,
I press it to my heart;
For many generations past,
Here is our family tree;
My mother's hand this Bible clasped;
She, dying, gave it me.

Ah! well do I remembers those Whose names these records bear;
Who round the hearthstone used to close
After the ev'ning prayer,
And speak of what these pages said,
In tones my heart would thrill!
Tho' they are with the silent dead,
Here are they living still.

My father read this holy Book
To brothers, sisters dear;
How calm was my poor mother's look,
Who learned God's Word to hear.
Her angel face—I see it yet!
What thronging memories come!
Again that little group is met
Within the halls of home.

Thou truest friend man ever knew,
Thy constancy I've tried;
Where all were false, I found thee true,
My counselor and guide.
The mines of earth no treasure give
That could this volume buy;
In teaching me the way to live,
It taught me how to die.

The Best Use of the Table Hour.

We spend on an average from one to two hours daily at the table. How can we make the best use of this period for ourselves and others, so that it shall be a time not merely of refreshment to the body, but of profit and pleasure to the higher nature? The accomplishment of this would be a physical as well as a mental and moral benefit. It is a well-established hygienic law that cheerful thought and conversation aid digestion. Most of us have experienced the opposite effects of grief and gladness upon the appetite, and it should be borne in mind that whatever influences the enjoyment of food, influences in some degree the power of assimilating it. It seems, then, that a most important requirement of the table hour is cheerfulness. The "merry heart that doeth good like a medicine" will keep many a family from the need of drugs.

Whatever the cares and vexations of the day, let them be cast aside when we gather around the family board; and let it be a festive board, however plain the fare. The table hour should be pre eminently an hour of social enjoyment, and should never be abused as a convenient occasion for rebuking a child for a misdemeanor previously committed. If he behaves ill at the table, let him be sent away with as little disturbance as possible, but let the table hour be made so pleasant to the little ones that they will seldom be need of resorting to this expedient. A child crying over his food is a distressing sight to the rest of the family. Tears make a poor condiment.

Would we have the table hour the brightest and happiest time of all the day, we should encourage each member of the family to contribute something to the social and intellectual repast. Silence is a poor sauce. Mirth is better than meat. That food will prove most wholesome which is sweetened with smiles, spiced with pleasantries, and mixed with merriment. Even the little three-year-old, though not allowed to monopolize the conversation, must not be reminded too often that "children should be seen and not heard." "His ignorance is more charming than all knowledge," said Emerson; and surely a little of his innocent prattle is very pleasant interspersed with the not always wiser remarks of his elders.

In many families, when guests are invited, too much attention is given to the culinary and too little to the intellectual repast. We would do well to take a lesson from Madame Mohl, the brilliant French woman, who entertained many famous men and women at her hospitable board. We are told that she was accustomed to give little care to the dinner beyond an abundant supply of simple food, but that she bestowed much thought upon the "intellectual menu." To those who refrained from entertaining guests because they were unable to load their table with sumptuous dainties, she use to say, "Why should you not suppose a friend as ready to eat a good plain dinner at your table as at his own?" Her biographer says she regarded a dinner party as "a kind of intellectual picnic, to which everyone brought a contribution towards the common meal."

Even the splendor of royalty failed to dazzle her or cause her to vary from her usual simplicity. When she expected the Queen of Holland among her guests a friend asked if she did not feel anxious about the dinner. "My dear," she calmly replied, "I will give her a lobster; my cook does it very well."

Let us not owe our power of entertaining our friends chiefly to costly China and varied viands. Is not too high a price paid for the elaborate menu which is obtained at the expense of culture and repose on the part of the hostess? Let us content ourselves with plain living, if need be, but by all means have "high thinking."—Emelie Tolman.

Our Dear Ones Gone.

If our dear ones gone could speak to us from the silence into which they have passed, I think they would sometimes reproach us for our avoidance of their names, for our dropping them out of the household speech, for our tacit accepting of them as dead and, therefore, gone. This common and often cowardly way of treating those who have left this world sometimes fills us who are yet here with a sort of wistful, prophetic sadness. "Shall the day dawn," we whisper to ourselves, "when to all the bright stir and happy bustle of this dear home, in which we are now so important, we shall be as less than nothing and vanity, as alien and apart as though nothing here had ever been ours to handle, ours to direct, ours to love and to care for?" The thought brings a chill upon the warmest Summer day, for there is an instinctive jealousy for our own rights, a feeling, God-implanted, that we do not want to be forgotten when we are no more upon the earth.

In a multitude of cases it is an instinct of self-protection which prompts to this silence where the beloved dead are concerned. We miss them so acutely, the wound is so fresh, the ache is so poignant, that we can not bear to speak of them; we shudder at doing so to the indifferent who may be bored, or who may not understand, and we fear equally by speech or allusion to awaken a slumbering pain in the heart of some other as loving and as loyally regretful as we know that we are.

So it comes to pass gradually, or at once, that the little child who sleeps in the narrow bed under the daises is never mentioned in the home. Her brothers and sisters seldom think of her nor is heaven any nearer or more real to them because she is there. The dear mother ceases to be an influence with her sons and daughters, because nobody repeats her words, and her ways are no longer the law of the house. The young brother, whose sun went down before it had climbed past the morning, has a name starred on the college roll and inscribed on a marble tablet, but he is not "Joe" or "Harry" to anybody in the home that was so proud of him. Neighbors notice how rapidly his parents have aged since he died, but that is all. Perhaps a young heart somewhere grieves for him in reverent silence, too, but she can not speak.

Would it not be far better to do as here and there a woman does, or a family does, and keep naturally and as a matter of course the household names in use after the darlings who bore them have gone? I know one or two homes where it is the custom to do this, where "Dave" and "Mattie" and "John" are often quoted and mentioned, and are as familiar in the current speech of the house as if they had only gone to Egypt or to Switzerland instead of to heaven, which may be so much nearer, which, indeed, being our Father's house and the abiding-place of thousands of our kindred, is not far from every one of us.

To keep our dear ones gone in tender recollection there seems nothing more appropriate than the carrying on of whatever work they loved. If they took an interest in philanthropy or charity, in missions, in a hospital or a school, we may plan and give and labor personally and steadily, just as they would have done had they been spared, and every kind word spoken, every dollar contributed, every loving act of service on our part, will be their best and most enduring memorial.—Margaret E. Sangster, in Congregationalist.

DUTIFUL JEM.

There was a poor widow who lived in a cot,
She scarcely a blanket to warm her had got,
Her windows were broken, her walls were all bare,
And the cold Winter wind often whistled in there.

Poor Susan was old, and too feeble to spin,
Her forehead was wrinkled, her hands were thin;
And bread she'd have wanted, as many have done,
If she had not been blessed with a good little son.

But he loved her well, like a dutiful lad,
And thought her the very best friend that he had;
And now to neglect or forsake her, he knew
Was the most wicked thing he could possibly do.

For he was quite healthy, and active, and stout,
While his poor mother hardly could waddle about,
And he thought it his duty and greatest delight,
To work for her living from morning till night.

So he started each morning as gay as a lark,
And worked all day long in the field till 'twas dark;
Then came home again to his dear mother's cot,
And cheerfully gave her the wages he got.

And oh, how she loved him! how great was her joy!
To think her dear Jem was a dutiful boy;
Her arm round his neck she would tenderly cast,
And kiss his red cheek, while her tears trickled fast.

Oh, then was not little Jem happier far,
Than naughty, and idle, and wicked boys are?
For as long as he lived, 'twas his comfort and joy,
To think he'd not been an undutiful boy.

—Anon.

Children at Table, and Table Talk.

Brillant Savarin, in his book entitled Physiologie du Gout, says what, rendered into English, reads thus: "A fine dinner without old cheese is like a pretty woman who lacks one eye." Confessing a weakness for old cheese, I should change the simile thus: "A fine dinner without children at table is like the same woman lacking both eyes." English children, as a rule, are not allowed at table with their parents before they are twelve years old. In this country, however, as soon as the little tot can feed himself, he is generally admitted—sometimes to receive careful training from judicious parents, and sometimes to train injudicious parents after his own sweet will. To my mind a parents loses much that would add to the cheer and beauty of family life, as well as a golden opportunity for training and culture, by keeping the children at a separate table. Let the little fellow come with you, and try and avoid two extremes—that of allowing him to monopolize the conversation, or of training him in such a manner that the table will be to him only a place where he may, under the most absolute restraint, satisfy his hunger. Bring everything that you have gathered during the day of cheer and brightness to your table. If you have read anything of special interest, or made a pleasant visit, or have a sweet surprise for anyone, mention it there.

If the little one asks a question (and he certainly will) take time to answer him (if you can), always teaching him to wait until others have finished speaking. But let him feel that he has a place there. Do not silence him, for a child is often more sensitive than you know, and one who is continually silenced and made to feel that he has no definite place will rarely feel at ease as he grows older, or develop into a good conversationalist when you may greatly desire it. If you see him with flushed cheeks and flashing eyes, under the inspiration of an audience, trying to tell of something that interests him, do not crush him by telling him that "little children should be seen and not heard." Who was the author of that outrageous remark? Was it Benjamin Franklin?

Discuss the current events of the day, and let the child feel that the table is a place where he may learn something. But above all things, put far from you, for the time being, anything that tends to annoy. Let not the jar of the domestic machinery—should there be any—be heard at the table. Even should you be compelled to reprove, do it so carefully that if possible none but the offender shall hear, leaving all severity of discipline, or even moral reflections concerning his conduct, until you have him alone.

All this table training will require a deal of thought and care; call it trouble, if you will, but the labor of training children—or of one child even—in any direction is no sinecure. Judicious direction will do more than constant repression. They do not care particularly to be "seen," but they do want to be "heard" sometimes. Therefore let them be heard, teaching them, out of a large patience, good behavior at table; and the eyes that see them and the ears that hear them shall be blessed.—Mrs. N. K. Bradford.

A Word for the Children.

This bit of advice comes from Harper's Bazar in a contribution from T. W. Higginson: "The child demands sympathy, companionship, love. Here also the instinct of the higher quadrupeds shows in a touching way the same demand. The dog's desire, even more pressing than the desire for food, and often displacing it, is to be with his master. If his master is within doors the dog wishes to lie at his feet; if he goes to an inner room the dog must go also, and establish himself there; if he goes forth to walk or ride, the four-footed friend bounds along in bliss, overjoyed to traverse miles of country which he would never visit alone. An occasional friendly word contents him; but without companionship he can do nothing. Strange that we recognize this instinct in the animal, and often ignore it in the child! Every child needs companionship; to have some one to whom every little joy may be imparted. Some of the most conscientious and devoted parents who have ever lived have been those who never kissed their children, and the same habit of repression still shows itself in some households in regard to all communications with the young. A women of genius, not now living, once told me that she did not know how to tell time by the clock until she was eighteen, because her father had undertaken to explain it to her when she was twelve and she was afraid to let him know that she had failed to comprehend him. Yet she said that he had never in his life spoken to her one harsh word. It was simply the attitude of cold repression that froze her. After his death she wrote to me, 'His heart was pure—and terrible; I think that there was not another like it on earth.' On this point I fear that she was mistaken, and that the race of such parents survives."

A Girl's Unselfishness.

It was through the influence of a girl's unselfishness that Vassar College was founded.

It has been said—and, if true, it is a beautiful story—that a niece of Mr. Vassar was slowly dying, and that he loved her, and spent much time in her sick-room. As he paced up and down before her fading eyes, she did not talk to him about herself, but the substance of her conversation was:

"Uncle Matthew, when I am gone, do something for women!"

Over and over again the same sweet refrain sounded in his ears: "Uncle Matthew, Uncle Matthew! do something for women!"

If she had wailed, "Why don't you do something to save me?" Vassar College, which has done so much for the women of the country, might never have existed.

In our greatest suffering, even in mortal sickness, it is still possible to remember other sufferers and others' needs. No one can tell what may be the value of a last impression made by one who is about to leave loving friends forever.

As the conservatory is the sunny, fragrant bower of the rich home, so the sick-room can be the beloved retreat of the household. Even in terrible pain, one may be divinely unselfish.

Christ's last thought upon the cross was for other people.—Selected.

He that will believe only what he can fully comprehend, must have a very long head, or a very short creed.—Colton.

A mean man can get religion, but he can't stay mean and keep it.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.

in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard

If you look at a dozen common lamp-chimneys, and then at Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," you will see the differences—all but one—they break from heat; these don't; you can't see that.

Common glass is misty, milky, dusty; you can't see through it; Macbeth's is clear.

Tough, clear glass is worth fine work; and a perfect chimney of fine tough glass is worth a hundred such as you bear, pop, clash on the least provocation.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

ECONOMICAL People keep leather new with Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

includes the great temperance drink

Hires' Root Beer

It gives New Life to the Old Folks, Pleasure to the Parents, Health to the Children.

Good for All—Good All the Time.

A 25 cent package makes Five gallons. Be sure and get HIRES.'

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it, I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. E. Pack, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that chill from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE: 35c., 60c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. E. Pack, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD,

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. LOWE, Mills Building, New York.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

MARRIAGES.

ROGERS—HOLLOWAY.—At the home of the bride's father, Mr. John E. Holloway, Mt. Carmel, Miss., Nov. 29, 1893, by Rev. M. L. White, Mr. John W. Rogers to Miss Kate Holloway.

HENLEY—DOWLING.—At the bride's residence, 112 Olivier street, Algiers, La., Dec. 8, by Rev. H. S. Johns, Mr. John L. Henley, of Biloxi, Miss., to Mrs. Elizabeth Dowling, of Algiers, La. No cards.

ROBERTSON—KELLEY.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Robin Kelley, Nov. 30, 1893, by Rev. J. H. Evans, Mr. J. T. Robertson to Miss M. J. Kelley, all of Covington county, Miss.

BENTLEY—BUNCH.—At the Methodist Church, Benton, Miss., Nov. 15, 1893, by Rev. D. C. Langford, Mr. W. P. Bentley, of Yazoo City, to Miss Rebeccah Y. Bunch.

HICKS—VAUGHAN.—At the residence of Rev. Mr. Burks, near Benton, Miss., Nov. 16, 1893, by Rev. D. C. Langford, Mr. A. G. Hicks to Miss Frankie M. Vaughan.

WADE—STOWERS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. L. D. Stowers, near Fayette, Miss., Nov. 29, 1893, by Rev. John W. Crisler, Mr. Walter B. Wade and Miss Sallie E. Stowers, all of Jefferson county.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

BOLAND—Sister BOLAND, whose maiden name was Eliza Jane Gibson Poytress, was born in North Carolina, Sept. 10, 1812. She was married to Mr. Treewalla, and with him moved to Mississippi, and settled in Charleston, Tallahatchie county, in 1836. Mr. Treewalla dying, she was married to Mr. Walton, near Grenada, Miss., who died in 1862. She was again married to Mr. Wm. Boland, of Big Creek, Calhoun county, Miss., Sept. 8, 1869, with whom she happily lived till her death, which occurred Oct. 22, 1893.

She was a member of the Methodist Church sixty-five years, was well acquainted with its history and its prominent men, understood and appreciated its purposes, was proud of its achievements, and contributed liberally to its support. She was a constant reader of the literature of the church. On her table, along with her Bible, you would find the Nashville and NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATES, with the Lives of our Bishops and others prominent in church history. Her piety was eminently practical. She was diligent in visiting the sick. She was beloved by all who knew her, and was a great blessing to the community where she lived.

She loved the church and its ministry. She often spoke affectionately of the faithful men under whose ministry she had felt the powers of the world to come. Her pastor ever shared the bounty that a kind providence had committed to her. She was a good wife. She had been endowed with a great deal of good sense, exhibited in the tact and skill with which she managed her affairs and met the duties of home. She knew how to be happy herself and make those happy about her. She was never moody or morose; her resources of mind were such that she could see good in this world to be enjoyed as well as sorrows to be endured. She lived as seeing Him who is invisible, and died in the same sublime faith. Her end was peaceful and triumphant.

R. M. DAVIS.

PATTERSON—It has pleased God to call from us our beloved brother, HARDEN PATTERSON. He was born Nov. 17, 1809, in Rotherford county, N. C.; was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in early life; was licensed to preach while young; for more than fifty-six years has been a useful minister of the gospel of Christ; emigrated to North Alabama in the year 1836. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Jaoes at Columbia, Tenn., in November, 1841; was ordained elder by Bishop Capers at Grenada, Miss., in November, 1853. He was one of three preachers that held the first meeting that was held in Franklin county, Ala., in the Indian Nation, and preached the second sermon of the meeting. He joined the masonic fraternity forty years ago, and was an acceptable member till the gavel fell, calling him from his labor below to the lodge above.

He was twice married, and leaves a wife and several children to mourn his departure. Bro. Patterson departed this life Aug. 7, 1893. He was one of the first preachers of my knowledge. He preached my mother's funeral (Mary A. McKeown), eighteen years ago, at Snowdown Church, three miles east of Iuka, Miss.

J. T. McKEOWN, P. C.

Pleasant Ridge.

BOYER—On Nov. 10, 1893, the spirit of Bro. HANRY BOYER passed beyond our reach. He was born in York, Pa., Sept. 11, 1829, of Peter and Elisabeth Boyer. His parents were Lutherans. With them he removed while quite a child to Ohio; afterward to Illinois; then to St. Louis. In young manhood he married Miss Wynn. She died in 1860, leaving him one son. During the war and to its close he (with five brothers) served faithfully in the Union Army. Soon after the war he moved South. Stopped one year in Vicksburg, then to Cayuga, in Mississippi. Here he was married to Mrs. Mary Dickson, Feb. 18, 1869. In January, 1870, they removed to the town of Edwards. Here he united with the M. E. Church, South, in 1872 or 78, under the ministry of Rev. F. M. Williams. He continued a true-hearted Methodist to the time of his release. He was neither demonstrative nor aggressive in his ways. Patience and kindness seemed his prominent traits.

The grip left him two years ago with lungs and heart impaired. His many sufferings were doubtless sanctified. The summons came suddenly, but found him ready. J. P. DRAKE.

ROGILLIO—CHARLES ELVIN ROGILLIO, son of John L. and Sallie Rogillio, died in the parish of West Feliciana, La., Aug. 23, 1893.

Little Elvin was a bright and beautiful child. During his brief life of five Summers he had passed through many severe sicknesses, but God took him after a short illness when we were least expecting it. We felt how blessed are the consolations of the Christian as the loving mother kissed the cold brow of her precious dead, saying, "I give him up, thankful that he did not suffer long."

May God bless the bereaved parents, and help them to meet their darling boy in that bright land where pain and sorrow never come. C. A. B.

BEILMAN—ANOLPH BAILMAN, aged forty-two, a native of Melz, Germany, son of a Southern minister who has been a resident of East Baton Rouge parish for fifteen years, who joined the M. E. Church, South, at Bethel Church of that circuit, was an acceptable member of the church at Melville, La. (Alexandria district), for the past three years, died of general debility. He left a wife and two little girls. We have no reason to doubt his being now with the redeemed.

SAMUEL H. BUTLER, Steward.
Melville, La.

KENNINGTON—Sister JOANNAH KENNINGTON was born March 8, 1872, in Red River parish, La., and departed this life Oct. 21, 1893, aged twenty-one years seven months and eighteen days. Sister Kennington was the daughter of Bro. George and Mary Adcock, who had her dedicated to God in infancy. She joined the Methodist Church in 1881, under the preaching of J. W. Hearn, and lived a consistent member of the same until her death.

Sister Kennington was a sufferer for several months before her death, but bore her afflictions with Christian patience. Before the angel of death came, she called her relatives and friends to her bedside and asked them to meet her in heaven. She leaves a husband, one child and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss, but they mourn not as those that have no hope. On Sunday evening, Oct. 22, after the funeral service, we laid her remains in the Holly Springs Cemetery, there to await the resurrection morn.

S. S. HOLLADAY.

WHITE—Whereas, It hath pleased God, in his all-wise providence, to take from our midst our beloved brother, Dr. W. H. WHITE; And whereas, We deem it appropriate we should give some expression of our feelings with reference to his death; therefore, be it Resolved, That in the death of Bro. White the church at Brandon station has lost one of its best members and purest Christians, and the community has sustained the loss of a citizen whose place in the accomplishment of good in its behalf we fear will never be filled.

Resolved, That we esteem the memory of Bro. White as one who was a Christian in all that he did, especially imitating the Savior in that "he went about doing good;" that he worked zealously, for the church, and taught the Christian religion by his counsel, his example and the even tenor of his way at all times, as well as his readiness on all occasions to testify to the divinity of Christ and the inspiration of his gospel.

Resolved, That we believe the church, if composed of a membership as devoted to the Master as he, would in a short time Christianize this country in fact as well as in name.

Resolved, That while we deplore our loss here we are comforted with the assurance that our departed brother is in the presence of the Savior, reaping the blessed reward of a life well spent in his service, and we will cherish his memory as that of a faithful follower of the Lord and affectionate brother of all Christian people.

Resolved, That we offer our tenderest sympathies to his bereaved family, and pledge ourselves to pray earnestly to the Lord for help to them in this hour of their affliction.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Forget the Bad.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbors' faults. Forget the slander you have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault-finding, and give little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal histories of quarrels you have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life; they will come, but they will grow larger as you remember them, and constant thought of the act of meanness, or, worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday; start out with a clean sheet for to-day, and write upon it, for sweet memory's sake, only those things which are lovely and lovable.—Lutheran Observer.

Many people neglect a cold, thinking it will go as it came. Frequently with serious results, the cold of to-day may be the pneumonia of to-morrow. Nothing will cure a cough or cold so rapidly as Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Its reputation has been established for over fifty years as the best remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, all throat and lung troubles. For croup and whooping-cough it is invaluable. Mothers will be saved much anxiety and loss of children by having Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar always on hand. Consumption has been cured many times by its use. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

The prophet Jeremiah tells us that "Rachel, weeping for her children, refused to be comforted because they were not." This was a fault in her, a grievous fault. But not a peculiar one. It has outlived her, has come down to our day, has found a place in us. We sin the sin of "refusing to be comforted" when visited by affliction. The Lord who sends the affliction sends the comfort also, and we refuse it. To that extent we are our own afflicters; and the affliction which comes from ourselves is for that reason the bitterest, since there mingles with it the sin of not allowing the Lord to put the sweetness of his comforting into it. Our own hands hold and wield the scourge, and it is we who show no mercy to ourselves.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss.

I would rather be what God chose to make me than the most glorious creature that I could think of. For to have been thought about—born in God's thoughts—and then made by God, is the dearest, grandest, most precious thing in all thinking.—George Macdonald.

"The Average American Girl."

What She Is; What She Is Not; What She May Be. These interesting questions, especially important to girls and their mothers, will be discussed in the new volume of The Youth's Companion by those friends of all girlhood, Mary A. Livermore and Marion Harland.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teachers Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by D. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York. 27

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up.
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church.
H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS LA.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
PAPER HANGING, Glazing and Kalsomining.
(Estimates Given Free.)
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF E. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. O. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,179.08
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. B. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

The Great Church LIGHT.
FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.

EMORY COLLEGE 57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta. —Location Proverbially Healthy; No Saloons.— W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The thirty-third anniversary of the Seaman's Bethel, of this city, was held at the first Presbyterian Church on Dec. 10.

The Plano National Bank (in Texas) was robbed on Dec. 8 by the Dalton gang. Twenty thousand dollars were stolen.

According to the Picayune there are 544 bar rooms in the city, and 896 groceries with bars attached, making 1,440 in the aggregate. These embrace all the hotels and clubs.

Mr. Thomas G. Martin, of Albemarle county, who has just been elected United States senator for Virginia, in the place of the celebrated orator and lawyer, John W. Daniel, is a business man who has become wealthy by commercial operations.

Twenty-four Chinamen were landed on an island near Key West, and a contract was made to smuggle them into town. The attempt was frustrated by the federal authorities, who succeeded in capturing eighteen of the Celestials, who will be returned to Havana.

The World's Fair buildings will soon pass from the possession of the men who built them into the hands of the park commissioners. The matter was definitely arranged on Dec. 8. The matter of removing or preserving the buildings is now entirely with the park commissioners, who can take as much time as they choose in tearing them down.

The Torrey Bankruptcy bill was killed in the House on Dec. 8. Col. Oates, champion of the measure, had declined to permit the House to vote on Mr. Bailey's substitute providing simply for a voluntary system of bankruptcy, whereupon Mr. Bland, of Missouri, precipitated the entire question by moving to strike out the enacting clause of the bill.

The Louisiana Public School Teachers' Association will hold its first annual meeting at New Iberia on Dec. 26, 27 and 28. The exercises will embrace addresses by Hon. Murphy J. Foster, governor of Louisiana; Hon William Preston Johnston, president of Tulane University; Prof. W. J. Calvit, of Alexandria, president of the association, and other prominent educators and distinguished citizens.

The situation as regards sugar is as cloudy now as at any time. The movement for duty instead of the bounty is not making much headway, and the representatives who desire a caucus on the tariff bill say they are not hopeful of success. The income tax scheme is being pushed, however, and its adoption by the committee would mean that there is very little chance for a sugar duty in the House.

A determined effort is being made by the rice importers at New York to have the rice schedule of the Wilson Tariff bill so changed as to permit Patna and Japan rices which are clean to come in at the lower rate of duty assessed on uncleaned. This attempt has aroused local rice interests, and Louisiana representatives at Washington have received many telegrams protesting against any alteration of the Wilson Tariff bill as ruinous to the domestic rice industry.

FOREIGN.

The uncertainty as to what the new duty on sugars will be in the United States, and the active measures taken to flood the market with beet root sugar from Europe, is causing quite a panic among the planters of Cuba, the market being quite paralyzed.

The Brazilian rebels were repulsed with great loss in an attack on Bago on Dec. 8. An attempt to land troops on Nicthery shore was also prevented by the loyal forces. A shot from a government fort sunk one of Mello's naval training vessels.

The American locomotive is finding its way into every quarter of the globe. Chili has now given an order for twelve at a cost of $160,000. During the past two years we have sent 355 to South America and seventy-five to Australia. Brazil, it would seem, orders all the headlights used on its locomotives in this country.

The conservative party in the German Reichstag has received an earnest request from Breslau appealing to them to protect the interests of the Protestants upon the occasion of the third reading of the bill in the Reichstag, and dwelling upon the dangers the church and the fatherland might be involved in by the readmission of the Jesuits.

While the French Chamber of Deputies was in session on Dec. 9, a bomb was thrown from one of the galleries, and after a double report, exploded in the midst of the law-makers. Both in the galleries and on the floor of the Chamber many persons, including women, were hurt more or less seriously, but so far as known only one was fatally hurt. The number of the wounded is said to be over eighty. The bomb thrower has been caught, and proves to be an anarchist.

A "Trust" Which Is Popular.

There is a great deal of indignation felt against trusts. The Sugar Trust, the Standard Oil Trust, the Welsh Tin Plate Trust, the English Salt Trust, and other combinations of the kind, are vigorously denounced, and it is a subject of controversy whether there are more trusts in England than America, and whether protection or free trade fosters them. But there is one form of trust against which no one has anything to say. That is the trust the public reposes in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FROM THE WORK.

Miss Chattie Vaughan, Secretary, Lisbon, La., Dec. 1: "Our Epworth League was organized at Lisbon, last February, with twenty-five members. We have now one hundred and six, and in good working order. Rev. R. M. Blocker is our pastor."

Miss Lizzie Sylvestein, Secretary, Columbia, Miss., Dec. 1: "You will please enroll the Columbia Epworth League on your list of leagues from the Seashore district, Mississippi Conference. We have about thirty members, and are moving along very nicely."

Rev. B. S. Rayner, P. C., Morton, Miss., Nov. 27: "We are closing a very pleasant year on Morton and Forest charge. The people have uniformly been kind to us. The churches are in good working and prosperous condition. We record fifty-six accessions—a net increase of forty-five—and twenty-six children baptized. We expect a full financial report. The work of renovating and enlarging our parsonage will soon be completed, and it will be a very comfortable home. The ladies of the aid societies have helped us greatly. The good people of the whole charge have thus far come up to every expectation. We hope to serve them another year."

Rev. W. M. Stevens, South Warren circuit, Mississippi Conference: "The fourth year of our pastorate with this kind people is rapidly drawing to a close. Our stay among them has been extremely pleasant, and it is with regret our connection is severed. We leave them, but we shall ever prize their friendship, appreciate their generous hospitality, and with reverence cherish their memory. While probably our pastorate has not been all that might be desired, yet externally we have made advancements, which is, of itself, a sufficient evidence of an 'internal work of grace.' By the help of the Lord we have succeeded in building and organizing two churches; have built and furnished a neat little parsonage and have raised the charge from a mission to pay a $600 salary. The other collections have increased proportionately. We have received one hundred members into the church, baptized forty-nine infants and twenty-five adults. We leave the charge, we think, in a healthful growing condition, and feel safe in recommending it to the Bishop and cabinet as being worthy of an experienced man. May Heaven's richest benedictions rest upon this kind, hospitable people, is the prayer of their affectionate pastor."

To prevent the hardening of the subcutaneous tissues of the scalp and the obliteration of the hair follicles, which cause baldness, use Hall's Hair Renewer.

A Legal Mind.

"I have a legal mind," said a young man to his mother, who had earned the money to educate him, "and, therefore, can not believe in Christianity." So? Sir Matthew Hale and Lord Bacon and Sir William Blackstone found no difficulty. Several of the greatest lawyers in this and neighboring States are among the most devout believers. A few months ago the Hon. Luther Day, LL.D., ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, died at his residence at Ravenna, Ohio, aged seventy-two years. His funeral took place at the Methodist Church, of which he was a member. His last words were: "I am not afraid to die; yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil." This was the passage in which Daniel Webster sought for comfort when the splendor of his career passed under the shadow of the grave. Young man, have you a legal mind? If you have, and can not believe the gospel, the trouble is not with your mind, but with your heart.—Dr. J. M. Buckley.

Don't fool with Indigestion. Take BEECHAM'S PILLS.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

Dedication of Sample Chapel.

The second Sunday in November was a good day for this preacher and his people. So good, Mr. Editor, that it must be told. Methodists, you know, are much on the go, and loud of mouth. I want the ADVOCATE to be informed, and the new editor helped out in copy. These are dull times, and anything to fill up will doubtless be acceptable. I will, therefore, send you an account of Sample Chapel, a little church ten miles from Mansfield, just dedicated for me by Rev. J. L. Pierce, in the wilds of De-Soto parish in this State. Our "yoke-fellow" pulled well, pressed his neck to the bow, and gave us a Methodist sermon which was enjoyed by all.

This little church has a history which it might be wise to give to the readers of the ADVOCATE. During the last year I went to the lake fishing, spent the morning in that employ; with my usual luck, caught nothing! When wearied and disgusted with the sport, I came to the land, threw myself down at the foot of one of the live oak trees—not as Elijah to die, nor to sleep, but to size up my own folly, to contemplate what a fool I was, and cast about for ways and means to get dinner, for like Elijah, I was a day's journey in the wilderness and was hungry. Thus engaged, I was somewhat startled by the approach of a man from the timber, a hard-looking customer with shaggy beard and unshorn locks. I was just then most devout; wished for a "sling," or the "jaw-bone of an ass;" but having neither, I used the preacher's weapon, the tongue. Found the man to be an old Confederate soldier, and we two mixed on the spot. From war, Lee, Jackson and Davis, the conversation was turned to the "gospel of peace," Christ the Redeemer, the Holy Ghost, and the plan of salvation. In response to a query of mine, the answer was given, "The people in these parts don't know that Christ is dead, never heard a sermon, nor saw the inside of a church, and Sundays are fishing days and hunting days." I thought that these were fine fishing waters for a preacher, threw my line and caught my first fish. Made an appointment for the second Sunday in February last, for preaching in an old gin-house in the neighborhood, with the promise from my soldier friend that he would "beat the bush" and furnish the congregation.

Upon the second Sunday I was on hand, with Bro. L. B. Wilcox, leader of the Mansfield choir, to do the singing for me. We found about twenty-five persons congregated in the dwelling upon the place where the old gin-house stood. It being a very cold day, it was decided to preach in the house where we then were collected. I looked around for something to use as a kind of book-board or pulpit, espied a sewing machine, pushed it to the head of the room, called the little assemblage to order. Sung a hymn (Come, thou fount"), prayed, read the Bible, and took my text. The children looked at me with wonder, and undecided expression as to whether the performance was to be a circus or I was an elephant. They had no conception of what was to be the upshot of the whole arrangement, having never heard a sermon, nor a sewing machine so used before. I commenced to tell them of Jesus and his love; their little eyes began to open and open, and their faces to glow with interest; they had never heard the wonderful story before. Tears ran down the cheeks of the men and women; it seemed to the preacher that the glory of the Lord rested upon the sewing machine. The spirit of the Master touched all hearts—in a word, "God was in the midst, and that to bless."

The appointment was renewed; the second congregation was larger than the first had been by fifty or more. Thus the congregations increased until the house was too small to hold them; then it came to the preacher as an inspiration, "Build a house for the worship of the Lord." Then and there the subscription was commenced and pushed to a finish, which has resulted in the erection of a nice little church at a cost of several hundred dollars, all paid for, and the people proud of their church—three hundred of whom attended the dedication, after which a sumptuous dinner was served on the ground. The Sunday-school and day school will soon follow. And you may rest assured that upon the second Sunday in each month there will be no fishing done upon the lake.

I will now wind up my fishing tackle, go home, turn to my Bible and the promise of our Lord, "And I will make you fishers of men." Then upon my knees pray the Father to water the vine planted in the forest by the lake, until it shall blossom as the rose.

T. K. F.

As to the Croaker.

Every age has its croakers, but the present time seems to abound with the croaking fraternity who, both in Church and State, are at present making themselves more than usually prominent. It is a favorite saying of the croakers to declare that the church is not in harmony with the masses; that the church and the thinking world have drifted apart; that the church no longer commands that attention among thoughtful men which it once was able to claim as its due; that, in short, it has lost its hold, and that its doctrine, and to some extent its theology, also must be reconstructed, or it will lose what little influence it has. In journal, magazine and book, this species of croaker seems daily to become more prominent, and, indeed, it is now almost fashionable to find fault with the church and declare that its mission remains unfulfilled, and that decline is almost certain to follow.

It is the part of patience to listen to such stuff as this with polite attention, but when it becomes monotonous it is exceedingly difficult to be polite. The croaker must have something to croak about, but it does seem as if his complainings might find a more congenial field than what he calls the shortcomings of the church. The church is not what it should be, and never has been, but it certainly will never be improved by the grumbler. It is difficult to believe that a grumbler can improve anything. Growling about a bad state of affairs does not improve the status. If the croaker really believes what he says he believes, it is his duty to go to work and make things better. If he does not believe what he claims, he is ignorantly or mischievously misrepresenting the state of fact. In either case, it is not easy to excuse him.

The man who claims that the church is not in consonance with the highest and most advanced thought of the present day, simply shows his ignorance of a plain state of fact. The church system of the present is so wonderfully elastic that it is quite able to accommodate itself to any advance in thought, while the adjustment of its theory to any change wrought by the discoveries of science is an easy matter if gone at in the right way. It is impossible, however, to reform anything or to improve anything by grumbling about it. If the grumblers would take off their coats and go to work, the state of affairs which they seem so greatly to deplore would cease to exist. What the church needs to-day is not to be told of its shortcomings so much as to have its shortcomings corrected. Honest effort, properly directed, will do much in this direction; complaint will accomplish nothing. The man who stands still and grumbles because others do not go fast enough or do not go in the right direction, is in the way and is himself an impediment to progress. Let him stand aside and cease to impede the march of the procession.—St. Louis Advocate.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 29 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
124 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C.	Dec. 30, 31
Chapel Hill, at Mars Hill	(Thurs.) Jan. 4
Grenada circuit, at Bethel	6, 7
Grenada station	13, 14
Tillatoba, at Tillatoba	(Thurs.) 18
Charleston, at Charleston	20, 21
Coffeeville, at Coffeeville	27, 28
Water Valley circuit, at Pine Flat	Feb. 3, 4
Abbeville, at Abbeville	(Fri.) 5
Oxford Station	10, 11
Toccopola, at Lafayette Sp'gs	(Thurs.) 15
Paris, at Salem	17, 18
Ecru, at Hurricane	24, 25
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro	Mar. 3, 4
Atlanta, at Benela	4, 5

The district stewards will meet at Grenada, Jan. 12, 1894.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Greenwood station	Dec. 16, 17
Winona	24
Carrollton	30, 31
Indianola	Jan. 6, 7
Sidon	13, 14
Valden	20, 21
Black Hawk	27, 28
West	Feb. 3, 4
Winona circuit	10, 11
McNutt	17, 18
Carrollton circuit	24, 25
Brooklyn and Dublin	Mar. 3, 4
Leherton	10, 11

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Kosciusko and Durant, at Kosciusko	Dec. 16, 17
Pickins circuit, at Goodman	23, 24
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	28
Salis, at Spring Dale	30, 31
Belzona, at Belzona	Jan. 6, 7
Lexington and Tchula, at Lexington	12
Eupora circuit, at Eupora	13, 14
Kosciusko, at Bethel	20, 21
Rural Hill, at Macedonia	26
Ethel, at Ethel	27, 28
Wier circuit, at Wier	Feb. 2
Chester, at Chester	3, 4
Ebenezer, at Ebenezer	10, 11
Stewart, at Foster Grove	12
Louisville, at Louisville	17, 18

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 10
Como	17
Coldwater	24
Batesville	30, 31
Senatobia	Jan. 6, 7
Pleasant Hill	13, 14
Nesbit	20, 21
Courtland	27, 28
Pleasant Grove	Feb. 3, 4
Morgansville	(Wed.) 7
Arkabutla	10, 11
Cockrum	(Thurs.) 15
Walt Hill	17, 18
Tyro	(Tues.) 20
Panola	24, 25

The district stewards will all please meet me in the Methodist Church, Senatobia, Jan. 6, at 11 A. M., for the transaction of important business.

H. C. MORRHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Jonestown	Dec. 17
Gunnison	24
Arcola	31
Hollandale	Jan. 7
Greenville	14
Tunica	21
Lula	28
Duncan	Feb. 4
Clarksdale	11
Cleveland	18
Shaw	25
Hill House	Mar. 4
Friar's Point	11
Rosedale	18
Bolivar	25

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Jan. 15, 7.30 P. M.

The district stewards are: J. D. Smith, J. T. Sims, J. E. Rather, R. E. Gray, Geo. Shelby, W. O. Harris, G. R. Page, C. W. Portee, T. H. McKenzie, J. H. Johnson, C. H. Fant, Dr. W. P. Barton, E. H. Moore, Price Blanchard, J. W. Mason.

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Great Rams.

Admiral Daniel Ammen, the designer of the celebrated new American ram Katahdin, is to contribute an article on "Great Rams in Ancient and Modern Times" for The Youth's Companion. The article forms one of an interesting Naval Series by American Admirals

Evergreen College,

EVERGREEN, LA.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Offers Board and Tuition from Dec. 27, 1893, to the end of the present session for $72. Special offer. Address

C. C. WIER.

Books, Books for Everybody

—AT—

Mississippi Conference Depository,

JACKSON, MISS.

Oxford Bible, Bagsters, Holman's Self-Pronouncing International Teachers' Bibles. Latest helps, largest types, cheapest, superior to any other. Your name put on in gilt at listed price.

Matthew Henry's Commentary, 3 volumes, $8; 6 volumes, cloth, $15. One of the best.
Biblical Museum on entire Bible, $8.
Biblical Illustrator, $2 a volume.
Walks and Talks with God, $2.75.
Jamieson and Fausset's Commentary, $8.
Hurlburt's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Peloubet's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Pentecost—cloth, $1; paper, 60 cents.
New Notes on Bible Reading, 75 cents.
Children's Meeting, $1.
Finney's Revival Lectures, $1.50.
Phillips Brooks' Lectures, $1.50.
Moody's books, paper, 30 cents each.
Jack-Knife and Brambles, $1.
New Era, paper, 40 cents.
Hudson's Greek and English Concordance. The book for every Bible student. $2.
Full line of holiday books.
Getke's Hours with the Bible. Latest and best. 75 cents.
Expositors' Bible, each volume $1.50.
Hymn and song books of various kinds.

We would urge our brethren to send in their orders for Sunday-school literature for 1894 without delay. Send us your orders for any book you want. When in Jackson, come and see us. LAIRD & DOMINICK.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Brannhes taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

What Can Cuticura Do

Everything that is cleansing, purifying, and beautifying for the Skin, Scalp, and Hair of Infants and Children, the CUTICURA REMEDIES will do. They speedily enre itching, and burning eczemas, and other painful and disfiguring skin and scalp diseases, cleanse the scalp of scaly humors, and restore the hair. Absolutely pure, agreeable, and unfailing, they appeal to mothers as the best skin purifiers and beautifiers in the world. Parents, think of this, save your children years of mental as well as physical suffering by reason of personal disfigurement, added to bodily torture. Cures made in childhood are speedy, permanent, and economical. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

☞ "All about Skin, Scalp, and Hair" free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

ACHING SIDES AND BACK, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains and Weaknesses relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, the first and only pain-killing plaster.

XMAS DIALOGUES, Pieces to Speak and how to get up Fascinating Sunday School Entertainment—all 10c. SKIDMORE & CO., 83 John St., N. Y.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS FREE
Address, The Echo Music Co., LaFayette, Ind.

FREE BEAUTIFUL PRESENTS YOUR NAME on 25 fantastic tags 5d. Cards lovely Fr'ch & German Designs in 12 Colors with two handsome presents 10c.—1 Album World's Fair Bldgs, etc., 1 Forget-Me-Not Auto Album, 425 Auto Verses etc., all 10c.—1 Stone Ring, 1 Band Ring, 1 Lace Pin and 1 Fountain Pen Complete, all 10c.—Each offer a alone will be given in their popular packages. Wayville Cleaning, 3 months for 10c. BIRD & CO., CLINTONVILLE, CONN.

Don't Lose Heart.

PLANT FERRY'S SEEDS this year, and make up for lost time. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1894 will give you many valuable hints about what to raise and how to raise it. It contains information to be had from no other source. Free to all.

D. M. Ferry & Co.
Detroit, Mich.

The Desire of : : : : All Nations.

A Christmas Service for 1893

THIS PROGRAMME, from our Sunday School Department, is fully equal to the one for last year, which received high praise from the best judges. Every feature of the service is new, bright, and inspiring. The Songs, Readings, Dialogues, Recitations, etc., are judiciously selected and arranged. Words and music of all the Songs are given in full. The whole is embraced in a nicely printed leaflet of eight pages. Price 20 cents per dozen. $1.25 per hundred. Let every Sunday-school be supplied in time with this handy, cheap, and appropriate Christmas Exercise. Send orders to

BARBEE & SMITH, Agents,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets, Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

PENSIONS.

BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNMENT Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is slow, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free.

Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailments in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for services rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address

THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY,
Box 167, Washington, D. C.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 51. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1948.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

IT CAME UPON THE MIDNIGHT CLEAR.

BY EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS.

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold:
"Peace on earth, good will to men,
From heaven's all-gracious King,"
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.

Still through the cloven skies they come
With peaceful wings unfurled;
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lowly plains
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel sounds
The blessed angels sing.

With all the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel-strains have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And man, at war with man, hears not
The love song which they bring.
Oh, hush the noise, ye men of strife,
And hear the angels sing!

And ye beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the climbing way,
With painful steps and slow—
Look now; for glad and golden hours
Come swiftly on the wing;
Oh, rest beside the weary road,
And hear the angels sing.

For, lo! the days are hastening on
By prophet bards foretold,
When with the ever-circling years
Comes round the age of gold;
When peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendors fling,
And the whole world give back the song
That now the angels sing.

How to Maintain the Christian Life.

BY REV. THEODORE L. CUYLER, D. D.

Every creature on this earth is dependent. All vegetation depends on the soil beneath it and the atmosphere around it. Shut up the most stalwart in a cell without food or water, and in a few days he is a corpse. No one can keep alive his own body by sheer self-sustenation, and God's Word declares that "none can keep alive his own soul." Some members of Christ's church commit the grievous mistake of trying to live on a past experience. They believe that they were once converted, and that is enough; they think that they were once "born again," and, having confessed Christ, what more shall be asked of them? I have known hundreds of bright babies that are sleeping soundly in Greenwood or Mount Auburn to-day. To attempt to keep up a Christian life on the first experience of conversion is as absurd as for me to try to live on the milk fed to me in the nursery over threescore years ago. Am I alive now? That is a most pertinent question for every professed Christian to raise. If I am alive, how shall I keep so? How shall I grow?

1. The first source of spiritual life is good food for the soul. The more nourishing the food and the better the digestion, the stronger do we become. Some Christians die of starvation. They surfeit the inner man with secular stimulants of all sorts—with spiced books of fiction, with "light reading" that is mere syllabub. Many swallow little else than their daily newspaper. The moral faculties become debilitated from this flimsy diet. Now, all the athletic Christians—all those who can carry heavy loads, do thorough work and stand a long pull—are hungry feeders on God's Book. Nothing will impart sinew and muscle to your piety like the thorough study and digestion of your Bible. A good sermon must be digested, or it will be of little use to you, and your daily bread of the Bible must go through the same process in order that it may be assimilated and taken into your spiritual fibre. "Thy words were found, and I did eat them, and they were the joy of mine heart," said the old-time saint. Every growing Christian is a ruminating animal. He chews Bible truths and nutritious sermons, and wholesome books and other such provender, as the cow cheweth her cud. One strong Bible text lodged in the memory, and turned over and over and well digested, will be a breakfast for your soul, and in the strength of it you may go through the whole day. A soldier is never in so good trim for battle as after a sound sleep and a square morning meal; it is not easy to fight or to march on an empty stomach. In like manner every servant of Jesus Christ must recruit his or her spiritual strength by reading Christ's words, and thinking about them, by meditation, by prayer and soul-converse with God. Martin Luther, in the thick of his campaigns with the Pope and the devil, said that he could not get on without two good hours each day for his private devotions. I have always observed that the light readers and light thinkers make light Christians, and those who neglect their Bibles and their closets soon dwindle into dwarfs. Having no depth of root, their religion withers away.

2. A second promoter of spiritual life is good air for your soul to breathe. A soul requires oxygen as much as the body. Have you not noticed how an audience will drop off into listlessness, and some of them into slumber, when the oxygen has become exhausted in the room? The fetid air of some railway cars is poison to the lungs. Our souls have lungs also, and you can not keep them in health while you are in the atmosphere of a business that has trick or gambling in it; or in the atmosphere of amusements which stimulate sensual passions; or in any sort of atmosphere which puts conscience to sleep, and benumbs your moral sensibilities. Orange trees do not thrive in Labrador, or tuberoses bloom in snow-banks. Just as soon expect to make your graces thrive by taking your soul out of fellowship with Christ and steeping it in the hot air of selfish schemings, or in the poisonous air of social frivolities. I have noticed that when young converts begin to exchange their prayer meetings for social clubs, parties, the theatre, etc., they soon wither away. Bad atmosphere stunts their religion, sometimes kills it. Christians have got to mingle with the world in a thousand ways, and yet they must "keep unspotted from the world." Daniel kept his heart clean in the atmosphere of a wicked court, and a city missionary may keep clean in the slums. But there are certain boggy places in business life, and politics, and social life, where you can not set your foot without sinking in; there is a certain line beyond which a Christian can not venture without betraying his Master. Never venture a single inch into any business, however lucrative, or any speculation, however attractive, or any social circles, however fascinating, if you can not carry Christ with you and a clean conscience. Remember that Christ is your life, and without him "no man can keep alive his own soul."

3. Exercise, of course, is as essential to spiritual as it is to the physical health. There is great pith in the apostle's injunction, "Exercise thyself unto godliness." God has entrusted to you (not given them to you "in fee simple") certain powers, faculties, possessions, and capacities for his service. For want of use these limbs of the soul may become as powerless as the legs of a fever patient three weeks in a hospital. Inactivity is the "dry rot" of thousands of church members. You will never gain a good appetite for God's Word, or a flush of joy on your countenance, until you lay hold of some earnest, self-denying work, and keep at it. Nothing will impart such a holy vehemence to your prayers as to spend an hour by a sick-bed, or in close labor with an impenitent heart. Nothing will stiffen your muscle more than tough up-hill work on behalf of some unpopular cause or moral reform. The only cure for indolence is honest work; the only cure for selfishness is self-sacrifice; the only cure for timidity is to plunge into duty before the shiver benumbs you; the only cure for unbelief is to put Christ to the test every day. Prayer must kill unbelief, or else unbelief will kill prayer. The Christian warfare is not a pitched battle; it is a campaign for life.

Important as food and good air and active exercise are in themselves, yet the chief maintenance of your Christian life is the constant indwelling of the Spirit of Jesus Christ in your soul. He is the divine fire to keep you warm, the divine flame to burn out your lusts and corruptions, the divine power to propel all your activities. Quench not Christ's Spirit! Depend on it that your soul will soon wither unless it is "hid with Christ in God." As carefully as you look money in a safe, or hide a diamond out of the reach of a thief, hide your innermost hope and heart in the safe keeping of your Savior! If you become a part and parcel of the Lord Jesus—as every true Christian is—then because he lives, you shall live forever also.—Congregationalist.

Advice is like snow, the softer it falls, the longer it dwells upon, and the deeper it sinks into the mind.—Coleridge.

Modern Discoveries Confirming Revelation.

BY REV. TRYON EDWARDS, D. D.

"All human discoveries," says Herschell, "seem to be made only for the purpose of confirming more and more strongly the truths from on high contained in the sacred Scriptures." And the remark is strikingly illustrated and confirmed by the wonderful discoveries of late years at Nineveh and Babylon, and in Egypt. One or two instances of the light thrown by such discoveries on the statements of the Bible may be both interesting and instructive.

Daniel, as the Bible tells us, for interpreting Belshazzar's dream, had a chain of gold put about his neck, and was made the third ruler of the kingdom. "But," says the objector, "why third? For he was next to Belshazzar himself, and Belshazzar was the king, and so far as appears, was the first in the kingdom, and why should not Daniel be second, and not third?" And this, for a while, seemed a real and great difficulty, for while the Bible speaks of Belshazzar as one might of the only and last King of Babylon, and says he was slain when Cyrus took the city, all the Greek historians say Nabonidus was the last King of Babylon, and he was not killed when the city was taken, but was with his army in Borsippa, and lived for many years afterward, and by the Greek historians no mention is made of Belshazzar.

Now, here was what seemed a serious, not to say an insurmountable difficulty, and objectors were not slow to make the most of it. But the monuments and records above alluded to now make the matter entirely plain, and show that both statements are right. They tell us that Belshazzar was the son of Nabonidus, and that for three years he was associated with his father on the throne; that for several years Nabonibus had remained at home and sent Belshazzar to command the army, but that in this last year he himself took command of the army, and left his son Belshazzar in command at Babylon. And this is further made plain by the curious fact that there have been found thousands of records on the little clay tablets discovered, which have been kept for centuries in the office of the recorder of deeds in Babylon, just as we keep copies of such deeds in our country records. Out of one hundred and sixteen years there is not a single year lacking in which from one to thirty deeds have not been found thus recorded, every one of which is carefully dated. And one of these deeds—just one—is dated exactly in the third year of King Belshazzar. This first two years are credited to his father, with whom he jointly reigned, while in this, the third year, he was reigning alone in Babylon. And this third year is the only one mentioned in the Book of Daniel. Thus it is plain why Belshazzar promised to make, and did make, Daniel the third ruler in the kingdom. He could not make him second, for he himself was second, his father Nahonidus being the first, and so Daniel was made third in the kingdom.

Take another illustration of the justness of Herschell's remark. Isaiah says that Manasseh, the son of Hezekiah, was carried captive to Babylon. "A likely story," says the cavilling objector, "that the King of Assyria, who was reigning at Nineveh, should have his captive taken to Babylon!" And the statement did seem so improbable that some of the best commentators have thought there might have been a mistake made in copying the original of Isaiah, and others have frankly admitted that they did not see how the difficulty could be explained.

But now, within a few years, we find the whole story of Esarhaddon's life written by himself, and in it he tells us that when his father Sennacherib died, the populace of Babylon were in such a state of excitement and ferment that he felt it best to go down himself and live among them, and that, in addition to his palace at Nineveh, he built another palace at Babylon, and made that place his headquarters through all the remainder of his reign. So now it is entirely plain why Manasseh was carried to Babylon, and not to Nineveh, for it was for just that part of his reign—not before and not afterwards, but for just that part of his reign—that the king was to be found at Babylon, and not, as before, at Nineveh, and that his prisoner was taken where he himself was.

Such illustrations of the light thrown on the statements of the Bible might be given almost without number, showing that God, in his providence, has been treasuring up his facts that in due time they might be found to be endorsing his word, as they have done on the bricks of Assyria—on the once buried, but now risen relics of Nineveh and Babylon; so that at the cavils of doubt and disbelief the very stones are heard to cry out, and to echo to us the truth of the written Word of revelation. Skeptics and doubters may question the records of Moses, but the very body of Pharaoh, the oppressor of Israel, and that, too, of Seti, his father, whose daughter found Moses, now comes to us, as by a resurrection from the dead, and bear their testimony to the narrative of the great teacher of Israel!—Christian Weekly.

Patronize Your Church Paper.

An Eastern pastor, who has been making a canvass for the Recorder, writes that he has met with the objection that families can obtain religious papers at cheaper rates than the Recorder, or papers that give more reading matter for the money.

Now, this evidences a very superficial knowledge of the function of the church paper. There is no paper, however cheap, or however large, that can do the work of the denominational periodical. The purpose of a denominational paper is not only to supply a given amount of reading matter, but to qualify each church member for intelligently performing his work in the organization of which he is a part, by keeping alive in his breast those purposes that underlie denominational life, and informing him of all those movements of the church at large which each member should know.

The church is an organism. To do its work, its purposes should stir every heart. Its aims should be understood by every mind, and the movements of its varied interests toward the realization of these aims should be comprehended by all. Not until each mind is brought into touch with the fundamental ideas of the church to which he belongs, and with the movements of denominational life through which these ideas are finding expression, is he qualified for performing his part as a member of the church. The relations of the individual to church life are far from exhausted by the claims of the local church. The local church is but one member of the body of Christ, and to perform its function properly it should work in harmony with the other members of the body ecclesiastic. An individual who has sufficiently awakened to the duty of a Christian life to attach himself to a local church is in duty bound to complete the work by placing himself in intelligent sympathy with the denominational life of the church at large. He might as well try to perform his duties as a member of his local church by refusing to attend all religious services, and closing his heart and mind to all sympathy with, and intelligence of, what is going on in his own congregation, as to discharge his obligations as a member of the body of Christ without keeping in sympathy with denominational life and intelligent with regard to denominational movements.

Now, the church paper is the most efficient instrumentality in bringing the individual church member into close sympathy with the work of the church at large. Without the church paper this can not be done. Especially in an ecclesiastical democracy like ours, should the individual member be informed in church affairs. In an episcopal government where ecclesiastical life is largely shaped by overseers, the importance of the individual becoming intelligent with regard to church life is not quite so great, but with us it is indispensable. It is a down-right duty, and a man might as well never go inside a church, and expect to be a consistent church member, as to expect to fulfill all his obligations in that capacity and never read a church paper.

No other papers can do this work. They do not try to do it. However cheap they may be, they do not meet this need. They are no substitutes for your own church paper.

Your own church paper is needful to you for the performance of your duties as a Christian. It serves your local church by caring for its interests as none other does. It stands ready to support you and to turn sympathy and encouragement toward you in every laudable enterprise. It is your means of defense; it diffuses those Christian principles for which your church and others in the denomination have existence, and you, therefore, should uphold its interests. No other papers can do this work for you. Loyalty to the obligations you have taken upon yourself can not be maintained if you recklessly disregard your duty, and because of some caprice or some fancied advantage allow some journal that cares nothing for these interests to drive out your own church paper.—Methodist Recorder.

Little Helps to Good Preaching.

We know a minister who always has good audiences. When he takes a church with a small evening audience he builds it right up. The seats are soon filled, and sometimes the people have to be accommodated in the aisles and entries. Feeling sure that there must be some reason for this success, we took advantage of a conversation on preaching and preachers to draw him out on his manner of preparation. He said: "I make it a special point to be in good condition physically for my evening service. After dinner I go up stairs and go to bed, and sleep an hour, or until I am well rested. Then I take a wash and brighten myself up. After that I engage in no conversation, and eat little or no supper, but throw myself thoroughly into my theme, and go into my pulpit just as full of the subject and as eager and vigorous as possible. I prepare as if for a race or a battle."

Now, this may not seem very large when written in cold ink, but it tells with those who listen to the preacher. When Michael Angelo was asked why he gave so much attention to trifles, his reply was, "Trifles make perfection, and perfection is no trifle." The little details of a Sunday afternoon may be trifling, but if proper attention to them makes a live, interesting preacher, that is no trifle; for the difference between a dull preacher and an interesting preacher about covers the question. It is the difference between failure and success. The man who means to succeed must give attention to details, to all the little helps and hindrances and points of vantage as well as to the large matters of thought. To interest a body of men and women by what we have to say, in a world so interesting as this, is a great undertaking, and to do this every week is a still greater task. It admits of no dawdling, no sluggishness, no stupidity, no fag ends, no "little talk." It takes a man girded for the hour, eager for the opportunity.

If ever a man could preach eloquently and grandly with short preparation, it was Henry Ward Beecher, and yet even he did not attempt to be eloquent on a big supper. Many a man has failed to preach well because he did not eat sparingly. His blood was doing duty for his stomach when it ought to have been helping his head. Prize fighters eat and drink and sleep and walk and run with the conflict in view, for the mastery. And so should preachers. They should watch over themselves with the one all-important hour full in view, as those who have a victory to win.

It is true that no man can always be at his best, but he can always try to be at his best, and it is an old saying that a high aim helps to high attainment. Above all things, the minister needs to guard against the tendency to shift the responsibility for failure in the pulpit to other shoulders. Some ministers think that their sermons are too deep for their audiences, and so they are—deep as mud. Others think that they preach too high, and so they do—away up in the air, where nobody lives, and where the birds do not even fly. Others think that if the people were better, they would be more faithful in attending service, and this is true. But unfortunately we are not sent into the world to convert angels. "The ministry is a profession for overcoming difficulties," and the greatest difficulty is the sinful heart of man. In short, none of this kind of reasoning helps us. The worst thing that the minister can do for himself is to make a soft excuse to fall on when he fails. The only manly and helpful course is to be even more willing to shoulder the responsibility of failure than we would be to accept the honor of success.—Advance.

Evils of the Sanctuary.

Lack of preparation for the service of God's house is a common evil. How many make any preparation by prayer and meditation for the reception of the truths that will be brought to their attention in the services of the church! How many seated in comfortable pews confronted by the embassador of Christ, hearing the heavenly message, make no effort to expel from their hearts worldly thoughts, anxieties and desires! Yet such preparation is absolutely necessary to obtain the greatest good from these services. Does not the continuance in this evil way increase indifference and neglect? If the goddess of human knowledge is represented as seated on a hill, and the seekers toiling up it, can we think of divine knowledge as occupying a lower place, or requiring less of effort or perseverance to obtain?

Irregular attendance at the services of God's house is destructive to piety. How many excuse themselves from the services when slightly indisposed! Their indisposition is not such as to hinder them from writing a letter to a friend, reading some book or performing ordinary household duties. It is only such as to keep them away from the preaching services. People do not need to be feeling perfectly well to get good out of such services. God's house may properly be called a sanitarium, a place for securing health. Here should come those who are weary in body and heavy in soul. They will find rest for the one and comfort for the other. Those who in their indisposition can serve themselves or others, can serve God. A headache or heartache can be borne with in God's house as well as out of it, with the possibility of finding something that will alleviate. Alas! how many have found that this has brought coldness and indifference to God's truth, and hence to godliness! Such a result must be considered as suicidal, for it could have been avoided.

Many neglect the weekly prayer meeting, not so much on account of bodily indisposition as from thinking they do not need it. But their halting prayer, flagging zeal and yielding to temptation show their way to be evil. How many ignore the warning, "Man shall not live by bread alone?" The ease with which one may climb a ladder depends in a great measure on how far apart the rungs are placed. It certainly would require more skill and strength when they were placed three feet apart than when six inches apart. The services of God's house are steps to help us ascend to heavenly things. Let us understand that the better use we make of them, the easier and sooner can we reach the heavenly heights.—Mid-Continent.

The gospel's best testimonial is seen in the purity of the lives of its professors, whether these professors occupy the pulpit or the pew. Whether a man professes or preaches, he should practice. The force of Christianity is weakened by the inconsistencies of those who wear the Christian name. Men want to see the gospel as well as to hear it. A Christian must live as well as talk, if he would reasonably expect his talk to favorably affect others. If the light shines in the heart, it must shine in the life also, that others may see it there and be led to glorify the Father who is in heaven. But if the disciple has only a Judas spirit, that spirit will peep out in various ways sooner or later, the Master will be betrayed, and the disciples' end will be inglorious.—The Treasury.

Millsaps College.

Bishop Key has appointed me to advise and persuade the seventy-five thousand Methodists of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences to secure for Millsaps College fifty thousand dollars in 1894 by the payment of only twenty-five thousand dollars. Can one Methodist put to flight seventy-five thousand? This question will be my text for 1894. I go forth in the Lord's name, expecting great victory.

Let us make a Christmas offering to Millsaps College. Let every Methodist send me on Dec. 25 a Christmas gift for our college. Christmas gift to the seventy-five thousand Methodists of Mississippi! Address

I. W. COOPER,
Agent of Millsaps College.

Hazlehurst, Miss.

THE HELP THAT COMES TOO LATE.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

'Tis a wearisome world, this world of ours,
With its tangles small and great,
Its weeds that smother the springing flowers,
And its hopeless strifes with fate,
But the darkest day of its desolate days
Sees the help that comes too late.

Ah! woe for the word that is never said
Till the ear is deaf to hear,
And woe for the lack to the fainting head
Of the ringing shout of cheer:
Ah! woe for the laggard feet that tread
In the mournful wake of the bier.

What booteth help when the heart is numb?
What booteth a broken spar
Of love thrown out when the lips are dumb,
And life's barque drifteth far,
Oh! far and fast from the alien past,
Over the moaning bar?

A pitiful thing the gift to-day
That is dross and nothing worth,
Though if it had come but yesterday
It had brimmed with sweet the earth.
A fading rose in a death-cold hand,
That perished in want and dearth.

Who fain would help in this world of ours,
Where sorrowful steps must fall,
Bring help in time to the waning powers
Ere the bier is spread with the pall;
Nor send reserves when the flags are furled,
And the dead beyond your call.

For he filling most in this dreary world,
With its tangles small and great,
Its lonesome nights and its weary days,
And its struggles forlorn with fate,
Is that bitterest grief, too deep for tears,
Of the help that comes too late.

—Harper's Bazar.

We Are Determined.

MR. EDITOR: I have just read an able editorial in the ADVOCATE denouncing that giant evil known as future dealing. I feel as you do, that this terrible form of gambling, this blighting evil, has no equal within the borders of our State. This form of gambling, which is rapidly extending its field of operation, and spreading wholesale demoralization, where is there a town or hamlet that has not its victim? Thousands—yes, millions—of honest dollars, whose accumulation has required years of patient toil and severe economy, are swallowed yearly by this hydra; thousands of homes are made desolate; tens of thousands of happy, promising lives are blighted by this demon, and still there is no let up—the cry is, More victims.

Will the people who disarmed the lottery of its terrors quietly submit to this curse? Can the father who is starting his son in life feel certain that he is proof against this monster, with its manifold allurements, that enable it daily to score victories, that enable it to rob the commercial world of some of its brightest lights? Can that widowed mother rest assured that her boy will not fall a victim?

Mr. Editor, it seems that the good people would arise en masse and cry, Down with this wrecker of human lives! It cuts like a two-edged sword. Among the dealers are found wrecked lives, desolate homes, and broken hearts, while their common prey, the producer, would, in a recital of his wrongs, mellow a heart of stone. It is a story of unceasing toil, with but a bare existence, unednoated children, and crushed hopes. Before him lies a great desert, with scarcely an oasis, unless a mighty hand delivers him from this demon.

Mr. Editor, we, the members of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union of the parish of St. Landry, are waging war against this evil with that energy that makes us hopeful of good results. We have passed a resolution asking our representatives in our Legislature to put forth their best efforts for the complete annihilation of this terrible curse. We have requested the various farmers' organizations throughout the State to endorse our actions, and we hope the good people everywhere will help us in this big fight. We have hoisted the black flag. We have burned the bridges behind us, that there may be no such thing as retreat. We have engaged in this fight to stay. We shall contest every inch of ground. We feel that we are engaged in a cause worthy of self-sacrifice, unflagging energy, the highest grade of moral courage, and the very best talent.

Mr. Editor, I repeat it: We have engaged in this fight to stay. We have enlisted for the war.

EZEKIEL MIXER.

Big Cane, La., Dec. 6, 1893.

The Other Side.

Mr. Love's article on the new M. E. Church at Gloster, Miss., demands an explanation in that part of his article where he says, "One-third of the members withdrew, and unfortunately are still worshiping in the old building." Now, Mr. Love is a very nice gentleman; a man of fine judgment, and a member of the Baptist Church, and in good standing with his denomination, so far as I know. Now, when he says, "One-third of the members withdrew," he must have drawn heavily on his imagination to reach such a conclusion, for, in fact, one-half, if not a good majority, did withdraw, and we are willing to stand up and be counted at any time. And as to not contributing anything to the new church, let me say that when the old church was sold we bought it, and paid to the new church people the round sum of $496 in cool cash, and we were the principal factors in building the old church, and as it has not been finished more than two years it can't be very old.

In conclusion, let me say that we are sorry that such a state of affairs exists in the Methodist denomination at this or any other place; but, under like circumstances, the same result would follow. We earnestly desired the sunlight of a fair and impartial investigation to fall with all its illuminating power upon this matter. No man can render just judgment by hearing only one side of the question. Had it not been for a few faithful ministers, viz.: that dear and venerable man of God, Rev. Wm. B. Hines, C. A. Hasting, R. M. Cassels and G. W. Huff, we would have been unfortunate, indeed. Thanks be to God, while we were cast down we were not forsaken.

F. C. HUFF.

In Japan.

AN OLD SHINTO PRIEST.

Here is the old man's biography as given by himself:

MY BIOGRAPHY.

"In the twelfth year of Tempo (it is the name of the era) I was born in Nagaoka, a town in the province of Echigo. My father had two sons and two girls, and I am the second son, and he has served as Goyonin (it suits to the Secretary of now) to the lord of Echigo, whose name was Iwakuni, and he was receiving the rice rations about eight hundred and fifty bags (one bag contains about two bushels and a half) for a year. When I was five years old I entered to the Terakoya (school-house), where I was learning the reading and the writing, and in the leisure of my studying I was learning the art of exercise, which is called fencing. But, unfortunately, when I was ten years old my mother went to sleep. After my mother died, it happened that I must rest from the school for a year, because it has been the custom that if the principal folk in a family died, some of the family must rest from the work. I do not know the reason, but it is supposed that we must cleanse our bodies and spirits by such, as our bodies and spirits are defiled by the mother's death. On that account, I rested from the Terakoya for about a year; after a year passed I went to the Terakoya again. After four years from my mother's death, when I was fourteen years old, unfortunately, my father also went to sleep. Ah! how sad I felt! I heard very often from my father that "if the people wish to the god with sincere hearts when another died, god will make him rise." Therefore, at October of the fourth year of Keio, I went to Kotohira Shinto Temple, which is built in the province of Saunki, to make a vow for my father's rising. Wishing to god for my father's rising, I promised "if my father rise again, I will stay here for ten thousand days and clean all rooms and all yards." I made such a difficult promise and prayed to god with a sincere heart; therefore, god pitied my sincere heart, and made my father rise again after three days from my father's death. O! how glad I felt when my father rose again! I was at the side of my father from that time. Afterwards I entered to the mountain where the Kotohira Shinza is built, and I did all the works which I promised to do for ten thousand days before. And I left the mountain the tenth of May, nineteenth year of Meiji."

THE END.

Above all things, the old man seemed to believe in his father's resurrection, though once when pressed about it, he admitted that his father must have been only asleep or very sick. At another time he asked if there were any medicine for crazy people, adding, "I must have been crazy, for during the many years of my stay at the temple I believed earnestly in the god of that mountain."

HENRY G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Japan.

(To be continued.)

Slaughter, La.

MR. EDITOR: The Rev. Joe Jones has just closed a series of meetings at Slaughter, La., resulting in much good, we trust, to those who have heard him, and causing many to think on their ways, and turn their feet to the testimonies of the Lord. The style of Bro. Jones' preaching is clearly modern, as in some way keeping pace with the allurements and seductions of sin, and possibly reaching the announcement of Scripture, that "since the days of John the Baptist the kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force."

The brother has learned from sad experience something of the woes and entanglements of sin and of Satan's rule, and is pushing out from the thralldom of Satan's kingdom with hope in God's mercy, lifting high the freedom of the gospel call, "Whosoever will, let him come and take of the water of life freely."

HATTY A. BARNES.

Dec. 7, 1893.

Matsuyama, Japan.

Please allow me space for a few words about the work of Rev. B. S. Rayner, in which I am sure some of your readers are interested. Bro. Rayner began his work of Bible distribution within the Matsuyama district about one month ago. He is just closing up the canvass of this, the Matsuyama circuit, to-day with the distribution of Bibles among the soldiers. While I write this note he is away in company with Bro. Hawkins at the garrison, where they have gone to carry the written Word to more than fifty soldiers, who sent in their names through one of their number, desiring copies of the Bible. Since I have lived here it is the first time I have known a foreigner to be allowed inside of the garrison. He told me this evening that he had distributed in this section over fifteen hundred Bibles and Scripture portions. An excellent feature of this work is that it is painstaking and discriminating. Bro. Rayner does not hand out a Bible to everyone whom he sees that will take one, but he aims at getting them into the hands and homes of those who have a real interest in the Book. He meets the person and talks with him face to face, and thus being assured of the case, he takes his name and presents the copy of the Bible as the gift of some one of the friends in America who subscribed funds for the work and whose name has been written on the inside of the cover. With this method, I was quite surprised when he told me that in two days he had given away more than three hundred copies and portions of the Bible. He goes from here to Ota circuit on the Uwajima circuit, where Bro. Wilson and Davis will help him forward with his work. Our friends over there have begun a work vast in its possibilities for good as it is vast in its scope.

CROWDER B. MOSELEY.

P. S.—The whole number of Bibles given away to the soldiers in one evening was two hundred and forty-eight.

C. B. M.

Oct. 6, 1893.

Ministerial Ambition.

Several years ago a distinguished Presbyterian clergyman remarked to the effect that the rising man in the ministry is the man who makes the most of the field in which he is laboring. The minister who does well where he is, is certain, sooner or later, to come into favorable notice. It is work that tells.

A young minister injures himself by letting it be known that he is restless when he has practically done nothing to show his fitness for a higher or more prominent place. As a rule, those who are in the more conspicuous spheres of ministerial activity have gradually worked up to the places they now occupy. They began their public life determined by God's help to do their duty thoroughly wherever the Lord's providence might assign them. Their work spoke for them. They were not under the necessity of writing letters here and there, and of bringing to bear all the influence they could command in favor of their promotion. Their promotion came in the natural and proper order of events. With single-eyed devotion to the Master's service they addressed themselves to the work, determined to do all the good they could.

It is this latter principle, indeed, which has a most important bearing upon a minister's career. Is he in the ministry to labor with an eye single to the glory of God in the salvation of souls, or for the purpose of advancing his own interests, socially and professionally? We have known men who have, by skillful management, secured important pulpits, but they have not kept them. The trouble was that their professional ambition materially exceeded their qualifications. It is honor enough for a man to be engaged in the Lord's service in the ministry, but unfortunately some men do not seem to think so. They will turn up their noses at the suggestion of a place for which their abilities fit them; their ambition demands what they style a "broader field of usefulness."

A few years ago a young man left the East for the far West. Before leaving home he wrote that he was willing to take any place that offered. Like so many who have come West, he was not looking out for a place where the financial and social advantages would suit him and render his field pleasant and attractive; he simply wanted a place to work. He stopped at the town where the clergyman resided with whom he had corresponded. He expected to be sent on from there to his future parish. It happened, however, that the Presbyterian Church in that town was vacant, and he was invited to fill the pulpit on the next Sabbath. He did so to the cordial acceptance of the people. He was immediately called to the pastorate, and a ministry of the highest usefulness was then and there begun. The town was one of the most important in the State. Among other things, it was the seat of the Presbyterian college of the Synod. When the presidency of the college became vacant by the transfer of its incumbent to a higher sphere in the service of the church, this young man was invited to temporarily fill the position. He did his work so well that he was finally elected to the presidency of the institution.

All this illustrates what we mean by single-eyed devotion to the Master's service. This young man did not set out to "seek great things for himself," the "great things" sought him, and the result shows that he is admirably meeting their demands.

The young men in our theological seminaries ought to ponder the teachings of such an incident. It is fraught with the most valuable instruction. There are some of us in the West who are weary of answering questions as to social and other advantages of communities whose churches we are seeking to supply. We want men in the West who are honestly consecrated to Christ's service, and who are willing to labor where they are placed. This place-hunting spirit has to some extent injured our work. The men who are willing to go anywhere are the men we want.—Exchange.

Glorifying God in Business Life.

We are to glorify God in all our business relations. There is danger that we shall make an unwarrantable distinction between our business engagements and our religious obligations. They do not belong to different spheres of duty. We too often act as if Sundays and churches belonged to God, and week days and business houses to the world, the flesh, and the devil. There is a sense in which the house which has been consecrated to God is peculiarly sacred; but there is also a sense in which every office and store may be consecrated to God. Religion is not for Sundays and churches alone, but it is for week days and business houses as well. Religion sanctifies and glorifies every relation in life. If a man can not take his religion into his business, he must have a bad business or a very poor religion. We all recognize the importance of what is known as "a call to the ministry." The man who refuses to heed this call does so at his peril. But it must not be forgotten that every man is called to some form of ministry in the kingdom of our Lord.

The whole duty of everyone everywhere is to glorify God, and the exalted privilege of every man is to enjoy God forever. No man is excused from this great obligation because he refuses to confess Christ. This refusal but adds to his guilt. If you are engaged in an honest business for which you have qualifications, and which you are conducting in a religious spirit, you may rest assured that God has called you into that business. By giving you ability to perform your work, God has set you apart to that duty. Other business men may not have formally laid their hands upon your head, giving you ordination to that service, but tacitly they have given their approval, and God has given his blessing. This conception of our daily calling exalts and glorifies it. It makes the lowliest duty radiant with the glory of the loftiest motive. This conception of life and duty converts every office and store, every workshop and factory, every parlor and kitchen, into a sanctuary. It makes every counter and desk, every anvil and bench, a pulpit from which men and women may preach the gospel of Christ, and in which they are to glorify God. We are to find our opportunity to serve God, not apart from, but within, our daily vocation. Any other thought of secular service degrades it and dishonors God.—Robert S. MacArthur, D. D.

There is a picture called "The Angel of Consolation." A woman sits on the low rocks, looking out upon the sea. Desolation is all about her—not a flower, not a tree on the shore; only sand, rocks, and breaking waves. Down into the waters her heart's treasures have gone. Her face is stony in its despairing grief. Almost touching her shoulder, hovering over her bowed form, is an angel, white-robed, softly striking the strings of a harp. Does the mourner know how near to her the angel is? Does she hear the celestial music? No; she sits in dumb unconsciousness, sad and lonely, while God's minister of comfort waits so close, and while the notes of sweet music fall unheeded on her ear.

Is not the picture true of many sorrowing ones? Is it not true, too, of many hungry lives, starving for other blessings? They do not take the gifts that the common days bring. Angels come to them unaware, in homely or unattractive disguise, walk with them, talk with them, and then only become known to them when their places are empty. We do not begin to recognize the worth of even our nearest human friends. With a wealth of precious love, and almost infinite helpfulness, they move beside us along the years; but their garb is plain, and we do not see the splendor that is in them. It would be well were we to pray to have our eyes opened that we might see the common angels God sends to bless our lives.—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

"Never Forgive Him."

The Richmond Advocate says: "The papers in noticing the appointment of Dr. W. C. Black to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, as editor, headed the item, "Going into Trouble." Yes, that is true. When a man accepts the editorial chair of a church paper, he is "going into trouble." But why is it so? Why is it an unpardonable sin for men, at the call of the church, to become editors of her papers, and especially to succeed in the work? If an editor fails (and some do fail, especially when they have no proper support), there are those who will pity him and make excuses for him; but if he succeeds, there are others who can never forgive him. Yes, Bro. Black, you are going into trouble. Harden your head and brace your backbone; you will get many licks, have many heavy burdens, and, withal, short rations on which to live.—Wesleyan (Atlanta) Christian Advocate.

Concerning Your Pastor.

He is subject to frequent fits of despondency. Of course he is. So much to be done, so few to do it. So many who need assistance—the supplies so hard to come at and so difficult to dispense with equity. He finds human nature in himself and in other people so stubborn, so innately, so slyly selfish, that he is driven to his knees a dozen times a day. A team of archangels is insufficient to drag the world, the flesh and the devil out of the slough.

He is troubled, too, because there are so many sweet sinners and sour saints. So many Christians have just religion enough to spoil their enjoyment of the world, and just enough worldliness to spoil their enjoyment of religion. Like the character mentioned in one of Scott's novels, they are "o'er good for oursin' and o'er bad for blessin'." These John o' Groats' house Christians are the chronic perplexity of your pastor. Then, on the other hand, many of his parishioners who are not church members are so honest, and liberal, and sweet-tempered, and diligent in good words and works, that he is staggered to know the goats from the sheep.

He feels so responsible and finds himself so powerless. So much is expected of him and so little is accorded him. He is a target for criticism to practice at. He is a big drum that everybody feels free to bang in passing. He is a general utility man—the parochial Jack-at-a-pinch. He is expected to be learned as Johnson, eloquent as Pitt, dignified as Chesterfield, ready as Sheridan, pious as Paul—and humble as a bootblack.

There is no other man who so much needs the kindly consideration, the cordial co-operation, the unshaken confidence of the parish, or so well deserves it.

Love your pastor. Sympathize with him. Work at his side. And remember he is but a man. If he were perfect, he would not be the right minister for your church!—Intelligencer.

A Pastoral Visit.

I called to see her at the request of her daughter. My informant told me she was in a state of terrible spiritual depression. She was sick for the first time in forty years. I went in and sat by her bedside. She was eighty-five years of age; had been a saint all her life. For forty years she had never missed Sabbath morning service. Her works of faith and charity had filled the whole community with the fragrance of her name. But she was now sick; evidently in great physical suffering.

She greeted me with the question, "What do you suppose I have done that the Lord should punish me in this way? There is something very strange about it all. I have never been sick before in my life. I fear I have committed some great sin." Then she went on to tell me how she felt. She emphasized the fact that she had never had any experience of sickness. "What do you think this means?" she repeated. "God has hidden his face from me, and I am despondent."

I paused a few moments to meditate upon her case, asking divine guidance. Then I said, as she looked up at me with a woebegone expression of countenance, evidently the result of spiritual agony: "Has it ever crossed your mind, my dear sister, that God is getting ready to take you home, and give you the crown and the victory? Not in wrath, but in mercy, he is afflicting you."

She looked up, a smile gleamed on her face, and with eagerness she questioned: "You don't suppose that is it, do you? Do you really think the Lord means to take me to heaven now?" "If he wants you to go to heaven," I replied, "are you willing and glad to go?"

"I never thought of that," she cried out. "I thought God was hiding his face from me in wrath."

I then prayed with her, beseeching the Lord that he would give unto his servant patience, and comfort, and grace, that she might be willing in the day of his coming.

I went away and called the next day. The daughter of this aged saint met me at the door, to tell me what a peaceful night her mother had had. The clouds were all dissolved. She was contentedly resting in the revelation of a Savior's love. That day she expressed to me astonishment that she could ever have thought God had deserted her; ever have let go her assurance of the perfect salvation in the Redeemer. "It must have been Satan's opportunity," she suggested. "After all these years of serving the Master, and rejoicing in the hope of the gospel, he wanted to persuade me to give up my faith, and blinded me to the fact that my time had come."

"Are you ready to go," I asked, "if it be the Lord's will?"

"Perfectly," she said. "Come, Lord Jesus; come quickly."

In a few days, just as the sun was flooding the east, on a quiet Sabbath morning, with the name of Jesus on her lips, she fell asleep on earth, to awake satisfied in the vision of his presence.

Perhaps there are other aged saints who may doubt and wonder at God's dealings with them. But, beloved, think it not strange of the fiery trial that is to try you. Jesus is mightier than the arch-enemy of souls. He has promised to overcome him when he assaults the gate of the humblest believer in his name.—Francis E. Marsten, D. D., in N. Y. Observer.

The Purpose of Affliction.

Afflictions do not spring out of the dust; do not be impatient with them; we need something to soften this hard life. O, if it were all buying, selling, getting gain, outrunning one another in a race for wealth, in which the racers take no time to record themselves, there would be no gardens on the face of the earth, no places consecrated to floral beauty, no houses built for music, no churches set up for prayer. But affliction helps to keep us right; affliction helps to bring us to our knees. Poverty says: "Think, fool, think." Affliction opens the Bible at the right places. If you, strong man, with the radiant face and the full pocket, were to open the Bible, it would open upside down and at nothing. But you, broken-hearted mother; you, child of sickness; you, orphan and lonely one, your Bible falls open always at the right place. Give me your family Bible and I will tell you your history. The Bible of the strong, prosperous, rich man, 'tis like himself; well kept—too well. Hand me yours, man of the broken heart and the tear-stained cheeks and the reddened eye and the furrowed brow. Ah! all marks and thumbings and turnings down and marginal notes and pencil indications—thirty-third Psalm, fourth of Isaiah, a hundred places in Jeremiah, including the Lamentations—why, I need no concordance to this Bible if I want to seek out the promises. I see your guest has been sorrow, and the hospitality you have offered him has been patience. If you would know the value of the Bible in the house, consult those who have needed it most, and abide by their sweet reply.—Joseph Parker, D. D.

A Just Rebuke.

James Russell Lowell, some years ago in an after-dinner speech in London, thus replied to a sneer at religion:

"When the microscopic search of skepticism, which has hunted the heavens and sounded the seas to disprove the existence of a Creator, has turned its attention to human society, and has found a place in this planet where a man can live in decency, comfort and security, supporting and educating his children unspoiled and unpolluted; a place where age is revered, infancy respected, manhood esteemed, womanhood honored, and human life held in due regard; when skeptics can find such a place ten miles square in this globe, where the gospel of Christ has not gone and cleared the way, and laid the foundation, and made the decency and security possible, it will then be in order for the skeptical literati to move thither and ventilate their views. But so long as these very men are dependent upon the religion they discard for every privilege they enjoy, they may as well hesitate a little longer before they seek to rob the Christian of his hope and humanity of its faith in that Savior who alone has given to man that hope of life eternal, which makes life tolerable and society possible, and robs death of its terrors and the grave of its gloom."

The United States consul at Belfast has reported to the State Department that an American firm has recently imported into the United Kingdom a large quantity of high grade carpets, and offered them for sale at prices much below those demanded for the English product of the same grade. The importation, he says, has created great consternation among the English and Scotch manufacturers.

HYGIENE.

Don't Cough.

In all bronohial affeotions the paroxysms of the cough shonld he plaoed as far as possihle nnder oontrol of the will.

The old idea that disagreeable sensations in the throat indioate the presence there of "something whioh onght to oomenp" has been entirely displaoed by the more rational view that the oontinned and prolonged efforts to expel that "something" are often prodnotive of more mischief than wonld result from its heing allowed to remain.

There is attendant npon every disease ol the bronohial tnhes a greater or less amount of mncus, which exndes from the membranons lining of the tnbe. Of course there are the accompanying signs of inflammation—heat, pain, swelling and redness; hnt it is the mucous exndation which is for the most part responsihle for the disagreeable sensations which we instinotively attempt to alleviate by conghing.

Now it is certain that, in a great majority of instances, where the general health of the patient is not attacked, this exudation undergoes what is called resolution; that is, it is re-absorhed through the fine network of blood vessels ahout the tnhes into the blood, where it is taken care of and complete recovery is effected.

On the other hand, let us suppose that we do not wait for resolntion to take plaoe; hut that, on the theory that every particle of the exudation should be expelled, as being of a poisonous nature, we strain to exhaustion every muscle of expiration, and, in fact, the whole system. What follows?

We may have accomplished onr immediate object, or the seat of the inflammation may have been out of reach. In either event, if we conid see the point at which our efforts had heen direoted, we shonld discover that they had not been prodnctive of the results antioipated. Instead of the inflammation being in any way allayed, we should find that an effect had been prodnced similar to that which follows scratohing and itching sore. The irritation has for the moment heen relieved, hut it is only a question of time when it will return with renewed energy.

The habit of endeavoring to expel more of the exudation than will come away with gentle and infrequent coughing is an exhausting and idle one.—Youth's Companion.

Physical Effects of Alcohol.

The latest evidence relative to the effects of aicoholic beverages and the non-value of alcohol in the practice of medicine is hoth interesting and important. The most valnable, perhaps, is that furnished by the hospital reports. Take, for example, that of the physicians who had charge of the cholera patients at Hamburg. They made special efforts to learn the previous habit of the victims of the epidemic in the matter of food and drink. The physicians fonnd the mortality especially heavy among the inebriates.

One of the daily reports says: "The deaths of eighty-nine heavy drinkers, twelve of them women, have been reported, and among the fresh cases a corresponding increase in the number of intemperate persons has been noticed." When cholera broke out in Hamhnrg, the newspapers printed innumerable warnings against the excessive use of beer during the plagne, but the warnings passed unheeded in the lower districts, where the epidemic was worst. While the consumption of all liquors, except wine, practically ceased in the middle-class population, beer was taken in exceptional quantities hy the poor.

In the harbor districts the drunkenness among the unemployed exceeded anything before seen there. Families spent their last coppers for liquors to still the pangs of hunger and their apprehensions, scores paying for their ignorance, folly, or addiction to their beer-drinking habits with their lives.

An investigation at one of the great pnhlic hospitals in Paris recently showed that of eighty-three patients who suffered from epilepsy, sixty were children of dinnken parents. A more pleasing hospital report is that just issued by the National Temperance hospital of the United States, located in Chicago. It shows that the non-alcoholic treatment of disease is meeting with increased success. While, during the previous year, the mortality had heen four per cent., a lower percentage than that of many other hospitals, it has during the past twelve months heen reduced to two and a quarter per cent.

There were, doubtless, many contributing oauses for this extremely low death rate, hut it is none the less a most satisfactory one.—Montreal Witness.

We may stand and knock at men's hearts till our own ache, hut no opening till Christ come. He can fit a key to all the cross wards of the will, and with sweet efficacy open it, and that without any force or violence to it.—Flavel.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

IN THE TRACK OF THE SUN: Readings from the Diary of a Globe-trotter.

This is a volume of convenient size, magnificently illnstrated with drawings hy Mr. Harry Fenn and reproductions of photographs, describing in an easy, entertaining, intelligent manner the tour of the world. Starting from New York, the author, Mr. Frederick Diadati Thompson, crosses the continent, sails from Vancouver for Japan, where he spends some time in studying noteworthy featnres of that delightful ocuntry, and then visits China, Singapore, Ceylon, and other less prominent places, reserving a oonsiderable portion of his time for India and Egypt, where he does most extensive sight-seeing, and afterward traversing Italy and France and returning to New York hy way of London and Liverpool. Mr. Thompson is an instrnotive and amusing cicerone. The illustrations, comprising full-paged pictures, vignettes, and other text cuts, head and tail pieoes, and initials, number some two hnndred and fifty, and present a magnificent illustrated itinerary of the journey aronnd the world, including not only scenery, historic and remarkable hnildings and street soenes, hut also an ahundance of studies from life, which show contrasting types of humanity the world over, ranging from our Western Indians to Maharajahs of the Orient. This superh work is to he published immediately hy Messrs. D. Appleton & Co.

The illustrated articles are an important feature in the Decemher Popular Science Monthly. The number opens with an account hy President Jordan, of Stanford University, of the hehavior of a South Sea monkey in the various surronndings of human civilization. It is called The Story of Boh, and is a delightful mixture of scientific observation and comical incident. The Modern War Vessels of the United States Navy are described hy W. A. Dohson, their means of defense and offense heing fully explained. Another copiously illustrated article is The Fruit Industry in California, hy Charles Howard Shinn, the pictures comprising views of orchards, specimen trees, and hranches of fruit. Prof. G. H. Perkins contributes a paper on The Calumet in the Champlain Valley, in which thirteen forms of Indian pipes are figured. Prof. Huxley's Romanes lecture on Evolution and Ethics is concluded in this number, and is followed hy a critical letter from Robert Mathews. This lecture also furnishes Leslie Stephen with a text for a discussion of Ethics and the Struggle for Existence. Prof. Warren Upham tells what answers are given to the question, How Old is the Earth? Miss Abby L. Alger contributes a myth of The Creation, told to her by a Penobscot Indian. The results of some of Lombroso's recent researches upon Criminal Woman are set forth hy Miss Helen Zimmern. Sir Daniel Wilson is the subject of the usual Portrait and Sketch, the latter heing furnished hy Horatio Hale. Other articles are State Interference in Social Affairs, heing the vice-presidential address of Prof. J. S. Nicholson hefore the British Association, and The Essays of Jean Rey, hy MM. L. A. Hailopeau and Alb. Poisson.

New York: D. Appleton & Company. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

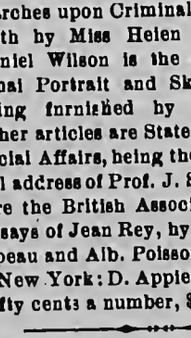
World's Fair Medal Awarded Prof. E. W. Smith, of Lexington, Ky.

Principal E. W. Smith, of the old and reliable Commercial College of Kentucky University, Lexington, Ky., was awarded the Medal at the great Fair at Chicago for Book-Keeping, etc.—a re-endorsement of other honors and of his graduates.

Prof. Smith's mail is large with congratulations and enquiries of his famous College.

There is an old pagan fable of a man who, for some crime of injustice, was cursed with the power of seeing other human beings, not in their beauty of flesh and blood, hut as skeletons, gaunt and grisly. Too many of us have this miserable faculty, and go about stripping off every worthy charm and beauty with which our friends are clothed to find and expose some ugly trait or passion underneath.

A Veteran's Story



Jos. Hemmerich.

Mr. Joseph Hemmerich, an old soldier, 529 E. 146th St., N. Y. City, writes voluntarily. In 1852, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a struggle of several years in hospitals, was discharged as incurable with Consumption. Doctors said both lungs were affected and he could not live long, but a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get loose, the choking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. He is now in good health and cordially recommends

Hood's Sarsaparilla

as a blood purifier and tonic medicine, especially to comrades in the G. A. R.

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Try a box. 25c.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Meis, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor, (when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	8.102 grains
Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735.108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	334.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30 476
Magnesia	26 872
Potash	2.822
Soda	6.045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	29.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7,725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5 063
Silica	6.049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1 564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with billions colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. FUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,

Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

—BY—

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus. College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 27 Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works

120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

CANCER PERMANENTLY CURED No Knife. No Poison. No Plaster. JNO. B. HARRIS, Fort Payne, Ala

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning be Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger.....9:30 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00p.m
Chic. limited...7:35 p.m	Chic. limited..11:30a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,

NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,

NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,

NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex..7:00 p.m	No. 58, Cal. ex.8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex..6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex.8:20 p.m
Local.....10:05 a.m	Local.....3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.

GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and T'kt Agt.

L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p. m	8:45 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	8:10 a. m	5:35 p. m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	3:40 p. m	10:00 a. m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.

J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.

A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 5:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

Depot: Corner Press street and Levee.

R. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent, New Orleans, La.

W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass. Ag't, Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $490 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mf'g Co., La Crosse, Wis.

MUSIC BOOKS for 1894

OUTING SONGS contains a splendid collection of selected and original Camp Songs, Road Songs, Boating Songs, and songs for every phase of outdoor life. Wheelmen especially will be delighted with it. Pocket size. PRICE 50 CENTS.

BROEKHOVEN'S HARMONY A celebrated system of Harmony based on the Richter principle, so familiar to all musicians. PRICE, $1.00.

KING RENE'S DAUGHTER by Julian Edwards. A new and beautiful one act lyric drama, recently produced in New York with flattering success. PRICE, $1.00

DAY SCHOOL MUSIC The Cincinnati Music Readers make the best series of Graded Readers for Public Schools in the country. Revised and enlarged to five parts. Descriptive pamphlet free. Prices, Part 1, 20 cts., Part 2, 20 cts., Part 3, 20 cts., Part 4, 30 cts., Part 5, 35 cts.

THE JOLLY PICNIC A new and pleasing cantata for Juveniles, by C. H. Gabriel. Full of good music and bright dialogue. PRICE, 30 CENTS.

FAMOUS VIOLINISTS A little pamphlet containing short sketches of the famous violinists of the world. PRICE, 25 CENTS.

SINGING CLASS BOOKS The best of all. Send for specimen pages.

Send 10 cts for sample of The Musical Visitor, containing music for Choirs, and general musical news.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,

CINCINNATI — NEW YORK — CHICAGO.

$1.50 AMERICAN WATCH

$1.50 will now buy a reliable AMERICAN WATCH in strong GOLD PLATED Dust Proof Case. Will not vary a minute in 30 days. Is as durable as any watch made. FULLY GUARANTEED. (Publishers of this paper will tell you we are reliable.) It has AMERICAN patent lever MOVEMENT, Patent Escapement and Regulator, Lantern Pinion, 240 beats to minute. No key required to wind and set; weight 4 oz.; exactly like cuts. Cost paid for $1.50, 3 for $4.00, 12 for $15.00, by express. Mention paper and we will include a handsome gold plated CHAIN & CHARM. AGENTS' Workers send for TERMS. Catalogue of Watches. FREE.

ROBERT R. INGERSOL & BRO

Room 2, 65 Cortlandt St., New York City.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. D. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment, in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO. CINCINNATI, O.

Established 1857.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT

Frink's Patent Reflectors for Gas, Oil, or Electric, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest, and best light known for Churches, Stores, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular & estimate. A liberal discount to churches & the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Ch... of Christianity from the... Apostolic Period through the Refor... mation has been prepared by REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D. ... Dayton, Ohio. For particulars addr... him and receive circulars free. REV. M. LOUCKS, D. D, Dayto... n, Ohio.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee in Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vocation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in 1st Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the Commercial System of Shorthand in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pgs. Price 10 cents. Address Lafferty, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, VA.

58th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degree of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and instruction, provided at rate of $236.50 per month, as an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st. Gen. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

No Tobacco. NO OPIUM. The only practicable way to reach CATARRH thoroughly and pleasantly. A positive cure even if all else has failed. Sample FREE by mail. Dr. J. W. BLOSSER & CO., DALTON GA.

FENCING WOVEN WIRE CUT IN WIRE ROPE SELVAGE

RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY, LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING. Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight Paid. McMULLEN WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, write Wm. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., FOR Catalogue.

WE WANT AT ONCE RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our Show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 25 days when started. FRANCO-GERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

SKIN DISEASES Tetter, Eczema, Burns, Piles, Chilblains and all skin troubles cured by GREVE'S OINTMENT. 50c. Druggists. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

AFF YOU CONSUMPTIVE

Use PARKER'S GINGER TONIC without delay. A rare medicinal compound that cures when all else fails. Has cured the worst cases of Cough, Weak Lungs, Asthma, Indigestion, Inward Pains, Exhaustion, Invaluable for Rheumatism, Female Weakness, and all pains and disorders of the stomach and bowels. 50c. & $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS. The only sure cure for Corns. Stops all pain. 15c. at Druggists. Hiscox & Co., N.Y.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS in the World.

PUREST BELL METAL (COPPER AND TIN.)

Send for Price and Catalogue.

McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Box 1041 Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. and L. India Rd. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Price & Terms Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 113 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 113 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMMACK.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, December 21, 1893.

Louisiana Conference.

FIRST DAY.

The forty-eighth session of the Louisiana Annual Conference convened in the M. E. Church, South, at Homer, nine A. M., Dec. 14, 1893, Bishop Joseph S. Key in the chair and presiding.

The Bishop conducted the opening religious services, which consisted of the singing of Hymn No. 228—"And are we yet alive?"—prayer by the Bishop, and reading of Acts xx, 17-38, singing of "Lord, in the strength of grace," and prayer by Dr. J. B. A. Ahrens.

After the calling of the roll, John T. Sawyer was elected secretary, and Fitzgerald Sale Parker and William G. Evans assistant secretaries.

The hours of meeting and adjournment were fixed at 9 A. M. and 12:30 P. M.

The report of the Publishing House was read and referred to the Committee on Church Publications. The report of Dr. Cunnyngham, Sunday-school Secretary, was read and referred to Joint Board of Finance.

Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Missionary Secretary, was introduced, and spoke briefly.

The twentieth question was called: "Are all the preachers blameless in their lives and official administration?"

The names of the following brethren were called and their characters passed: C. W. Carter, R. J. Harp, J. A. Miller, S. J. Davies, J. L. P. Sheppard and H. O. White.

The names were called of the following brethren, their characters passed, and they were referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for the superannuated relation: J. H. Stone, P. H. Dieffenweirth, Jesse Fulton, E. W. Yancey, George Jackson, R. S. Trippett, E. B. Foust, J. L. Wright, M. C. Manly.

The names of A. M. Wailes and C. Keener were called, their characters passed, and they referred to the Committee on Conference Relations for the supernumerary relation.

The name of J. O. Bennett was called, his character passed, and his name was retained on the effective list.

T. B. Holt, Treasurer of the Board of Missions, and W. C. Black, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, were introduced to the Conference.

Rev. H. O. White, presiding elder of Delhi district, asked that committees of trial be appointed on the cases of J. M. Brown and Geo. A. Mandeville.

The report of I. G. Johns, Missionary Secretary, was read and referred to Conference Board of Missions.

Ques. 10: "What local preachers are elected deacons?" Robert H. Wynn, William B. Van Valkenburgh, Nicolas E. Joyner, Tatum M. Wafer, Berl H. Rushing, George W. Moncrief, W. B. Inabinet.

Ques. 14: "What local preachers are elected elders?" None.

Ques. 7: "Who are the deacons of one year?" The names of H. H. Ahrens, E. L. Singletary, J. M. Henry, H. M. Banks, and H. W. Knickerbocker were called, their characters passed, and they were advanced to the class of the fourth year.

Ques. 8: "What traveling preachers are elected deacons?" S. S. Bogan, J. B. Kont, W. F. Sanders were elected to deacon's orders and advanced to class of third year. N. B. Norwood, C. R. Seward and E. T. Denson were continued in class of third year.

The Bishop announced the following Committees on Trial:

On case of J. M. Brown—W. H. LaPrade, chairman; F. S. Parker, secretary; Thos. S. Randle, Jno. F. Wynn, R. M. Blocker, R. S. Isbell, J. O. Bennett, R. P. Howell, J. I. Hoffpauir, C. M. Lyons, J. F. Patterson.

On case of Geo. A. Mandeville—James M. Beard, chairman; Wm. G. Evans, secretary; H. Armstrong, J. B. Cassity, Jno. B. Williams, R. A. Davis, James E. Denson, J. H. Brown, Lewis A. Reed, H. J. Boltz, John F. Foster.

SECOND DAY.

The religious exercises were conducted by Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, president of Centenary College.

A communication was read relative to Paine and Lane Institute.

Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt was introduced to the Conference.

Ques. 2: "Who remain on trial?" J. H. Stafford, Albert S. Lutz, R. H. Wynn, L. F. Jackson, Willie Adolphe Clark, and Robert Christopher Grace, and they were advanced to class of second year.

James N. Gibbs was discontinued.

Ques. 8: "What traveling preachers are elected deacons?" W. D. Gaskins was elected deacon, and advanced to class of third year.

Ques. 12: "What traveling preachers are elected elders?" H. H. Ahrens, Isaac T. Reames, Wm. G. Evans, Wm. Schuhle, J. J. Kelly, E. L. Singletary, W. W. Drake, J. M. Henry.

Charles E. McDonald was continued in the class of the fourth year?

Ques. 14: "What local preachers are elected elders?" None.

Ques. 6: "Who are received by transfer from other Conferences?" B. T. Crews, from the Arkansas Conference.

Ques. 1: "Who are admitted on trial?" W. B. VanValkenburgh, Artemus Ward Turner, John Walter Lee, Harry W. Rickey, Nicolas E. Joyner, Elton Wilson, Richmond Ross Randle, Tatum M. Wafer, William E. Akin.

Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, president of Centenary College, presented the report of the president of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Walter R. Lambuth, Missionary Secretary, was again introduced, and made an address to the Conference on the subject of our foreign missionary work.

Rev. J. L. Pierce read the report of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Mrs. Alexander, state organizer for the Woman's Missionary Society, was introduced to the Conference, and read the annual address of the president, Mrs. Fullilove, and the secretary of the Conference read the report of the treasurer.

The report of Mrs. Scarritt, president of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, was read; also the report of the treasurer of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference.

THIRD DAY.

The religious services were conducted by Rev. T. B. White.

Rev. R. J. Harp submitted the report of Mansfield Female College.

Rev. W. H. LaPrade reported "not guilty" in behalf of the committee on the trial of Rev. J. M. Brown.

Question 20 was called, and the names of the following brethren were called and their characters passed: W. H. LaPrade, J. M. Beard, F. N. Parker, S. S. Keener, J. B. Walker, F. G. Hocutt.

The character of A. E. Clay was passed, and he was honorably located at his own request.

The names of J. B. A. Ahrens and F. D. Van Valkenburgh were called, and their characters passed.

Robert Harry was located at his own request.

The names were called of J. L. Pierce, W. F. Henderson, Robert Randle, Lewis A. Reed, S. H. Whatley, John F. Foster, W. H. Hill, S. S. Holladay, James E. Denson, John B. Williams, J. S. Sanders, H. J. Boltz, A. D. McVoy, T. S. Randle, W. J. Porter, H. Armstrong, F. S. Parker, J. B. Cassity, H. W. May, C. M. Lyons, Thos. J. Upton, Thos. L. Lallance, J. Ivy Hoffpauir, J. F. Patterson, and characters passed.

The names were called of John F. Wynn, Wilson Moore, J. F. Scurlock, Jas. A. Parker, Robt. P. Howell, R. Parvin, T. B. White, R. S. Colier, J. D. Harper, T. H. McClendon, R. A. Davis, J. H. Brown, C. T. Munholland, R. M. Blocker, B. F. White, C. R. Godfrey, R. S. Isbell, J. M. Johnston, N. S. Cornell, C. F. Staples, J. White Davis were called and their characters passed.

Bishop Key make a stirring appeal in behalf of the Epworth League.

The committee on trial of Geo. A. Mandeville reported charges sustained as specified, and announced the sentence of expulsion from the church. The notice of an appeal to the General Conference was given.

The Committee on Conference Relations reported that superannuation is recommended in the cases of J. H. Stone, P. H. Dieffenweirth, Jesse Fulton, E. W. Yancy, George Jackson, R. S. Trippett, E. B. Fonst, J. L. Wright and M. C. Manly, and a supernumerary relation in the cases of C. Keener and A. M. Wailes.

The names of S. S. Bogan, J. R. Roy, H. M. Banks, H. W. Knickerbocker, W. D. Gaskins, W. F. Sanders, B. H. Sheppard, Jno. B. Kent were called and they were admitted into full connection, preceded by a solemn charge delivered by the Bishop.

Rev. J. A. Parker introduced a memorial to the General Conference relative to the boundary lines of the Louisiana and Mississippi Conference, which, after being amended by Dr. LaPrade, was carried.

Rev. F. S. Parker presented financial report of church extension, followed by an address on church extension by Bishop Key.

The Committee on Conference Relations reported in favor of the superannuation of J. M. Brown and of placing M. L. Manley.

Rev. F. N. Parker presented the report of Committee on Bible Cause, which was adopted.

Ques. 34: "Where shall the next session of the Conference be held?" It was unanimously agreed to hold it at Louisiana Avenue Church, New Orleans.

The application of James A. Biggs, of Columbia, an ordained minister of the Free Methodist Church, was received into full connection in the Conference and located at his own request.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The religious services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Sanders.

Rev. S. J. Davies was given the privilege of employing Rev. Hurst on the Alexandria district.

M. G. Jenkins was announced as a transfer from the East Texas Conference.

The Conference then proceeded to the election of delegates to the General Conference, which resulted as follows:

First ballot resulted in the election of J. A. Parker and John T. Sawyer, clerical, and Dr. A. S. Helmick, S. B. McCutchen and W. B. Thomson, lay.

Second ballot resulted in the election of C. W. Carter, clerical.

The third ballot was for the election of alternates, and resulted as follows: U. T. Blacksher and J. W. Dawson, lay; W. H. LaPrade and J. M. Beard, clerical.

Rev. S. S. Keener read the report of the Joint Board of Finance, and Questions 27 and 28 were called and answered.

Rev. J. L. Pierce read report of Committee on Church Publications.

Rev. W. C. Black, editor of NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, addressed the Conference.

The Committee on Temperance rendered its report, which was adopted.

Rev. John F. Foster read the report of the Sunday-school Board, which was adopted.

Motion made that it be requested that Rev. F. D. Van Valkenburgh be reappointed colporter.

FOURTH DAY—SUNDAY.

Love feast at nine A. M., conducted by Rev. Lewis A. Reed. Preaching at eleven A. M., in the Methodist Church, by Bishop Key, followed by the ordination of deacons. At the Presbyterian Church, preaching by Rev. W. H. LaPrade, and at the Baptist Church, preaching by Rev. J. M. Beard. At three P. M., preaching in the Methodist Church, by Dr. W. C. Black, followed by the ordination of elders. At the Baptist Church, mass meeting for children, conducted by Rev. W. R. Lambuth.

In the evening memorial service in the Methodist Church; preaching by Rev. C. W. Carter in the Presbyterian Church; and in the Baptist Church, preaching by Rev. J. M. Henry.

FIFTH DAY.

The Conference was opened with Rev. J. M. Beard in the president's chair. Secretary Sawyer read the Minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. Bishop Key arrived and assumed the president's chair.

Dr. Carter, president of the Legal Conference, reported verbally as to some financial matters.

The Conference Board of Missions made a report of the work as done under its charge during the past year, showing a total of thirteen missions, and expending $400 for two districts in Louisiana. The report was adopted.

A resolution was passed to the effect that the foreign missionary collections be taken up during first quarter as far as possible.

The treasurer of the Conference Board of Missions reported a total collection of $6,915 from churches and Sunday-schools for missions and the missionary debt.

Rev. F. N. Parker offered a resolution for the organization of Epworth Leagues in the churches, which was adopted.

The Committee on Education made its report, reviewing the denominational colleges, which was adopted. In discussing this report, Rev. T. K. Faunt LeRoy said that Mansfield College was doing better than ever before in patronage, and was doing better work than any year in its history. The educational collection hereafter is be divided between Centenary and Mansfield in proportion to beneficiary students from the Louisiana Conference.

A resolution was passed asking the appointment of A. D. McVoy as president and financial agent of Mansfield College.

Dr. Hunnicutt and Rev. McVoy, of the two colleges, presented the merits of their respective colleges to the Conference.

The statistical report showed a decrease in the membership of the church, but an increase in the membership of Sunday-school work.

A resolution of thanks to the people of Homer was adopted.

APPOINTMENTS.

NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.
Carondelet Street, W. H. LaPrade.
Felicity Street, T. K. Faunt LeRoy.
Rayne Memorial, F. N. Parker.
Louisiana Avenue, John T. Sawyer.
Moreau Street, J. B. Walker.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, J. I. Hoffpaulr.
Carrollton, J. M. Henry; C. Keener, sup.
Gretna and Craps Street, H. H. Ahrens.
Parker Chapel, R. H. Wynn.
Algiers, L. F. Jackson.
Baton Rouge, S. S. Keener.
Grosse Tete and False River, William Schuhle.
Dryades Street, F. S. Parker.
Lower Coast Mission, N. B. Norwood.
Colporter, F. D. Van Valkenburgh.
Editor Familien Freund, J. B. A. Ahrens.

SHREVEPORT DISTRICT.

R. J. HARP, P. E.
Shreveport and City Mission, J. L. Pierce and H. W. Rickey.
Mooringsport, W. F. Henderson.
Caddo, Robert Randle.
Mansfield, B. T. Crews.
Many, A. S. Lutz.
Sabine, W. A. Clark.
Grand Cane, L. A. Reed.
Anacoco and South Vernon, J. H. Stafford.
Cane River, S. S. Bogan.
Pleasant Hill, S. H. Whatley.
Natchitoches, N. E. Joyner.
Coushatta, W. H. Hill.
Wesley, R. S. Isbell.
Red River, T. M. Wafer.
South Bossier, J. B. Williams.
North Bossier, H. J. Boltz.
DeSoto, S. S. Holladay.
Fort Jessup, to be supplied by John Franklin and R. T. Wright.
West Natchitoches and Victoria, to be supplied by J. C. Carruine and J. N. Walker.
Mansfield Female College, A. D. McVoy, president.

OPELOUSAS DISTRICT.

J. M. BEARD, P. E.
Opelousas, E. T. Denson.
Washington, M. C. Manley.
Plaquemine Brulee, J. F. Wynn.
Lafayette and Rayne, Thos. S. Randle.
Crowley, W. W. Drake.
Abbeville, J. J. Kelly.
New Iberia, J. O. Bennett.
Franklin, H. Armstrong.
Lake Charles, J. A. Parker.
Jackson Street and West Lake, F. G. Hocutt.
Pattersonville, E. L. Singletary.
Morgan City, C. M. Lyons.
Jeanerette, J. E. Riddle.
Sulphur Mine, John W. Lee.
Grand Chenlere, W. B. Van Valkenburgh.
Indian Bayou, W. J. Porter.
Lake Arthur, Elton Wilson.

ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.
Alexandria, T. J. Upton.
Evergreen, J. F. Scurlock.
Leocompte, H. S. Johns.
Simsport, J. R. Roy.
Melville and Big Cane, James E. Denson.
Spring Creek, R. C. Grace.
Dry Creek, H. M. Banks.
Montgomery, J. F. Patterson.
Winnfield, J. W. Turner.
Ada, Wilson Moore.
Centreville, W. F. Sanders.
Vidalia and Black River, to be supplied.
Bayou Chicot, J. B. Kent.
Columbia, C. T. Munholland.
Pineville, J. S. Sanders.
Boyce and Colfax, C. E. McDonald.
Nugent Mission, to be supplied.

ARCADIA DISTRICT.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.
Homer, J. D. Harper.
Haynesville, R. S. Colier.
Minden, J. B. Cassity.
Ringgold, B. H. Sheppard.
Sparta, R. Parvin.
Aroadia, H. W. May.
Summerfield, R. P. Howell.
Valley, to be supplied by W. L. Hamil.
Ruston, John A. Miller.
Vienna, supplied by J. L. Williams and E. Hurst.
Downsville, D. C. Barr.
Farmerville, W. D. Gaskins.
Vernon and Gannsville, T. H. McClendon and Wm. E. Akin.
Tulip, C. R. Seward.
Lisbon, R. M. Blooker.
Calhoun and La Pine, M. G. Jenkins and R. R. Randle.

DELHI DISTRICT.

H. O. WHITE, P. E.
Monroe, B. F. White.
West Monroe, Wm. G. Evans.
Bastrop, H. W. Knickerbooker.
Lind Grove, J. H. Brown.
Delhi, John F. Foster.
Floyd, C. R. Godfrey.
Lake Providence, T. B. White.
Oak Ridge, R. A. Davis.
Harrisonburg, J. M. Johnston.
Waterproof, N. S. Cornell.
Winnsboro, C. F. Staples.
Rayville, I. T. Reames.
Oakley and Vidalia, J. W. Davis.

TRANSFERRED.—Thos. L. Lallance, to New Mexico Conference.

Louisiana Conference Notes.

Bishop Key's sermon on Sunday was clear, strong and spiritual, as were also his talks on the Conference floor.

The only connectional officers present were T. B. Holt, Treasurer of the Board of Missions, and Dr. W. R. Lambuth.

The Conference took a new departure by holding a sunrise prayer meeting each morning. These meetings were seasons of spiritual refreshing.

The Conference love-feast, on Sunday morning, was led by L. A. Reed, one of the oldest members of the Conference. His sermon was both interesting and edifying.

The good people of Homer entertained the Conference handsomely. We have seen very few places at which the Conference sessions were as largely attended by citizens.

Bishop Key closed the memorial service by inviting penitents to the altar. Quite a number responded to the call—perhaps, a dozen—most of whom professed conversion before the exercises closed.

Dr. Lambuth was abundant in labors. Both on the Conference floor and in the pulpit he was heard with great pleasure and profit. Filled with missionary zeal and thoroughly posted on everything pertaining to mission work, he is the right man in the right place.

The memorial service was held on Sunday night. The memoir of J. W. Medlock was read by J. M. Beard; that of Geo. E. Greene, by J. I. Hoffpauir, and that of J. F. Johnson, by T. K. Faunt LeRoy. These were followed by a number of short talks, some of which were very touching.

One secret of Bishop Key's speed is that he does not require the preachers to make an oral report of their statistics. This we regard as a commendatory innovation. As the reports are all published in the Minutes, we are unable to perceive any valid reason why two or three days should be chiefly consumed in making these reports orally.

After the first day there were two preaching services every night. One at the Methodist Church and one at the Presbyterian Church, the crowd being greater than one church could hold. There was also preaching part of the time in the afternoon. The preaching, as far as we heard it, or heard of it, was good to the use of edifying. It was clear, pointed, practical, spiritual.

We have never seen the business of a Conference dispatched more rapidly. On Saturday morning Conference adjourned a half hour before the appointed time for want of work to do. The routine business had been disposed of, and some of the committees not being ready to report, there was no more to be done except to elect delegates to the General Conference, and the time was too short for that.

We left New Orleans on Tuesday evening, at six o'clock, via the L., N. O. and T. R. R., and reached Vicksburg about midnight. We found no train westward bound until Wednesday at four o'clock. This gave us an opportunity to look around through the famous "Hill City." Of course, we availed ourselves of the opportunity of calling upon "the bishop of Vicksburg," Dr. C. G. Andrews. We found him absent from the city, but spent a most delightful hour at the parsonage, nevertheless.

We reached Gibbsland a little before ten o'clock, Wednesday night, where we remained in company with twenty or more members of the Conference until nearly ten o'clock, Thursday morning. About one hour and a half sufficed to put us in Homer, where we found the Conference already organized and at work, Bishop Key in the chair. We at once procured a table and began the work of exchanging receipts for greenbacks. The brethren seemed anxious to trade after that fashion. During the first two days we were so busily engaged in this sort of work that we had little time to take notice of the proceedings of the Conference. We were fortunate, however, in being able to utilize the facile pen of Rev. R. H. Wynn in reporting the proceedings.

Woman's Missionary Society.

At the Woman's Board of Missions, in Kansas City, June, 1893, there were many memorials presented for the extension of work.

The open doors in Japan, Key West, Arizona, Brazil and other places are very inviting; but the policy of the Board has ever been to base the appropriations on the visible sources of supply. In this line alone is safety.

The treasurer's report of funds in hand, April 18, 1893—$63 053.80. With this as a basis for the coming year, the appropriations from June, 1893, to June, 1894, are $94,245. This stretches our credit and drains largely on the faith reposed in the home workers. These funds only meet the most urgent needs of our missionaries already in the field, and leaves no margin for projecting new work in answer to calls which appeal so strongly to our sympathies.

In view of the situation and the strong outward pressure, the foreign secretary of Woman's Board of Missions makes this forcible appeal to the members of Woman's Missionary Society throughout the church:

"Are we measuring up to duty? Consider what responsibility is laid upon us, what honor is ours to help build up the temple of the living God in heathen hearts! We are taught in Art. III. of Constitution: 'This work shall be accomplished by organizing societies in each charge, etc.' These societies are our sources of supply; the income of the Woman's Missionary Society does not come from the abundance of the rich, but largely from the penuries of the poor. . . The auxiliaries are to the work what the arteries are to the heart; turn aside the ruby current from the great reservoir and death conquers life. So it must be with our foreign work unless you—its guardians—watch jealously the springs of supply. Turn your thoughts across the seas. . . . See these brave women, toiling, praying, hoping; our representatives sent by us because we could not or would not go ourselves. Sublime is their courage and faith in God and in their sisters of the Woman's Board. They are calling to us to help them 'lengthen the cords and strengthen the stakes.' They mutely appeal to our better natures and large-handed liberality, our unselfish love to open the way for them to teach and preach Christ. We hear, but can not 'stretch forth the curtains of our habitation,' nor 'break forth on the right hand and on the left,' unless you 'come to the help of the Lord against the mighty.' When it is known that our missionaries asked for $113 570 this year, and that the estimates have been cut down almost one-half to avoid becoming involved in debt, it is evident that the Board can not enter new fields nor extend the work in those already occupied.

"There is a key to the situation. Shall I say you hold it in your hand? It is to pledge yourselves now, and with one voice to raise $100,000 for foreign work the coming year."

Now, my dear sisters of Louisiana, allow me to say a very few words to you: Are we making any extra effort to do our part in this work?

Many Conference societies have pledged themselves to raise their pro rata of this additional call; but our delegate to the Woman's Board of Missions did not see her way clearly toward the fulfillment of a definite pledge. She only promised that the matter should be presented to our State auxiliaries with an urgent call for renewed effort. Little is ever accomplished without a definite purpose, and, therefore, I come to you with a proposition wherewith to meet this demand.

Will you not, dear women of the church—every one—celebrate the holy Christmas anniversary by a special offering—little or much—according to your grace and ability?

When you are spending so much for costly, unnecessary luxuries, for your own, already comfortably housed and clothed and fed, will you not reserve a share for the "Christ-child" out in the cold of heathen darkness? "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least, . . . ye have done it unto me."

A small sacrifice from everyone in this matter would enable our Woman's Board of Missions next year to accomplish great things toward the extension of Christ's kingdom. Don't let the good impulse of this moment rest a moment without definite action.

Wherever convenient, let two or more act together, but singly or collectively, through auxiliary treasurer's report or individual letters, send your "Christmas gift" to Conference treasurer, Mrs. S. B. McCutchen, Shreveport, designated as for "Extra call."

May our Master open your hearts and bless every offering to him on his birthday a hundred-fold to the cheerful giver!

MRS. E. J. FULLILOVE,
Pres. La. W. M. Society.

With but little care and no trouble, the beard and mustache can be kept a uniform brown or black color by using Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

J. A. Bowen, instead of J. O. Brown, was appointed to Macon station, North Mississippi Conference.

Our readers will be glad to know that Bishop Keener has returned from his round of Conferences in good health and spirits.

Mrs. Mary Ann Chambers, whose obituary appears in this issue, was the mother of Rev. C. W. Chambers, of Baton Rouge, and the grandmother of Rev. J. W. Chambers, of the Mississippi Conference.

Notice.

To the Pastors and Members of the Church of Brookhaven District—

Dear Brethren: In our new relation under God, and the appointments of the church, I greet you in our Lord Christ's name. First of all, dear brethren, let us pray earnestly for the baptism of the Holy Ghost upon us. All know "Paul plants, and Apollos waters, but God gives the increase." Let us seek his power.

Dear brethren of the ministry, we are called to "feed the flock of Christ." We can not do it unless he "endue us from on high."

Dear brethren of the stewardship, please seek this power for your work of caring for this noble band of ministers.

Let every steward enter at once upon his work. Please turn to page 115, paragraphs 187 and 188, of your Discipline. Please also read paragraph 186, page 114. Let us not forget the quarterly fasts as provided for on page 82, paragraph 121, of Discipline. I shall be delighted to see a full attendance at each quarterly meeting.

Yours in Christ,
R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

Bibles and Testaments.

We desire our readers to know that they can obtain all publications of the American Bible Society at cost at the Bible House, No. 103 Camp St., this city. An excellent assortment of the latest issues of the Bible Society will be found there.

The custodian, Miss M. Weaver, will be ready to serve all patrons during the week from nine A. M until four P. M.

During the approaching holidays be sure and call at the Bible House. As the stock belongs to the Southwestern Bible Society, an auxiliary of the American Bible Society, no books can be given away, but are sold at cost. Orders filled by mail whenever so given.

For a disordered Liver try BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Beware!

Let our preachers and people beware of two men claiming to hail from California and other parts. One of them is rather elderly, and the other a long-haired man. During my absence at Conference these two men ingratiated themselves among some of my people, and held services in my church at West End without my consent or knowledge. They claim to be holiness preachers; they teach come-out-ism and other heretical and dangerous doctrines. Let our people cleave to scriptural holiness, and beware of crankism. W. W. HOPPER.

Meridian, Miss., Dec. 16, 1893.

Terrific bombardment of the city of Rio de Janeiro was begun on the fifteenth. Many people are reported killed by the shells. The rebel warships completely blockade Rio de Janeiro and Santos.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book. Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Bramble; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents. Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss

Holiday Excursions.

Reduced rates will be made by the QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE during the Holidays from points on its line. Tickets will be on sale beginning Dec. 22nd. Call on agents for rates and all particulars.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A.
Cincinnati, O.

North Mississippi Conference.

For the benefit of the readers of the ADVOCATE who could not be with us at Conference, I will point out a few of our peculiarities. We will begin with the Koon they caught not long since. In the Park, abounding with Dye and Wier, where the Elders and Oaks grow so luxuriantly and hold their branches so temptingly to the Crow and Rook, bidding them take shelter there, the Bucks gambol at leisure and take refuge under the sheltering leaves, drinking of the Brook that babbles by. Could not get the Parrott to talk much. I learned the Dollar will not be in circulation this year. I am afraid of its locating. No need of artificial lights in Tupelo; the Moon will shine there with all its brilliancy the ensuing year. We still have the Poets More and Poe. Thomas looks very thin to report collections in full. True to their trust, the Leaches stick to the itinerancy. We have Young, Manley, Shumakers, Shipman, Porters and Smiths, also Freeman, who are full of love (Fullilove), Fostered by dispensing the gospel. I saw Moreheads with stove-pipe hats, some of which were very Meek and Sage. The Prices are about the same in Water Valley. 'Mid the Babb-el of voices I could scarcely hear the buzz of the Fly, but I knew he was all right. You can always depend on a Fly; they make good their escape even in a great conflagration. A VISITOR.

A True Story.

In the latter part of the last century a girl in England became a kitchen maid in a farm house. She had many styles of work, and much hard work. Time rolled on, and she married the son of a weaver of Halifax. They were industrious; they saved money enough after a while to build them a home. On the morning of the day when they were to enter that home, the young wife rose at 4 o'clock, entered the front door-yard, knelt down, consecrated the place to God, and there made this solemn vow: "O Lord, if thou wilt bless me in this place, the poor shall have a share of it." Time rolled on and a fortune rolled in. Children grew up around them, and they became prosperous; one, a member of Parliament, in a public place declared that his success came from that prayer of his mother in the door-yard. All of them were wealthy—four thousand hands in their factories. They built dwelling-houses for laborers at cheap rents, and when they were invalided and could not pay, they had the houses for nothing. One of these sons went to America, admired the parks, went back, bought land, and opened a great public park, and make it a present to the city of Halifax, England. They endowed an orphanage, they endowed two almshouses. All England has heard of the generosity and good works of the Crossleys. Moral—Consecrate to God your small means and humble surroundings, and you will have larger means and grander surroundings.—London Presbyterian.

For Wakefulness and Nervousness

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. J. F. NEELY, Washington, D.C., says:

"I have used it with complete success in treating wakefulness and extreme nervousness caused from mental exciteteent; also indigestion, and find it a very pleasant remedy."

I'm a Citizen!

I claim partnership in the glories of this republic. I also realize that whatever shame comes upon this country I must share. I am ambitious that the laws of the general government deal justly with all who seek honorable employment and happy homes here. I am ambitious that the State shall be second only to the nation in the lofty intention of her statutes and in her material progress. I desire that the city government shall be as honest as the Christian homes it protects. In National, State and municipal politics I am pledged by my obligations to my family or to my companions or to those who may hereafter call me their ancestor to participate to the extent of voting at every nominating convention used at every election, and using my political influence as a Christian man and a lover of humanity. I believe that the precepts of the Young Man of Nazareth should dominate every detail of my life—should govern my vote, should control my action toward those dependent upon me for employment, should exalt my home above any club.

I believe God placed me here to do a definite work which no one else can do—and that my time is short. I hate sin, but I love the sinner, and will do all I can to help those who have weak wills and low ambitions. I am a citizen!—The Bugle Call.

Books, Books for Everybody

—AT—

Mississippi Conference Depository,

JACKSON, MISS.

Oxford Bible, Bagsters, Holman's Self-Pronouncing International Teachers' Bibles. Latest helps, largest types, cheapest, superior to any other. Your name put on in gilt at listed price.

Matthew Henry's Commentary, 3 volumes, $8; 6 volumes, cloth, $15 One of the best.
Biblical Museum on entire Bible, $3.
Biblical Illustrator, $2 a volume.
Walks and Talks with God, $2.75.
Jamieson and Fausset's Commentary, $3.
Hurlburt's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Peloubet's Notes on Sunday-school Lessons, $1.25.
Pentecost—cloth, $1; paper, 60 cents.
New Notes on Bible Reading, 75 cents.
Children's Meeting, $1.
Finney's Revival Lectures, $1.50.
Phillips Brooks' Lectures, $1.50.
Moody's books, paper, 30 cents each.
Jack-Knife and Brambles, $1.
New Era, paper, 40 cents.
Hudson's Greek and English Concordance. The book for every Bible student. $2.
Full line of holiday books.
Geike's Hours with the Bible. Latest and best. 75 cents.
Expositors' Bible, each volume $1.50.
Hymn and song books of various kinds.

We would urge our brethren to send in their orders for Sunday-school literature for 1894 without delay. Send us your orders for any book you want. When in Jackson, come and see us. LAIRD & DOMINICK.

$12.00 to $35.00 a week can be made working for us. Parties preferred who can furnish a horse and travel through the country; a team, though, is not necessary. A few vacancies in towns and cities. Men and women of good character will find this an exceptional opportunity for profitable employment. Spare hours may be used to good advantage. B. F JOHNSON & CO., 11th and Main Sts., Richmond, Va.

—1844.—

Long Established.

Claiborne is the foremost educational county of Mississippi.

Graduates of PORT GIBSON FEMALE COLLEGE

Have been declared, as a body, the best equipped for State examinations.

Substantial advance in all its Departments since the present management began, Sept. 6, 1893.

NEW CURRICULUM. - LATEST TEXT BOOKS. - NEW PIANOS

Not a cheap school. Cheap schools are surely inferior somewhere—in Teachers, in Dining-room, or in Dormitory.

PORT GIBSON IS SOLID AND EVENLY EXCELLENT THROUGHOUT.

Methodist properly. Large Double-storied Brick Buildings. Christian culture is the end of our mission.

BOARD, WASHING, LIGHTS, FURNISHED ROOM, $12. TUITION, $4

Latin or French required in classical course, and taught without extra charge.

Second half opens February 1, 1894. Write to
REV. W. H. HUNTLEY, Port Gibson, Miss.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.

A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit

EMORY COLLEGE OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta. —Location Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons.— 57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA.

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to
W. L. C. HUNNICUTT. PRESIDENT.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.
E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

1894.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S BAZAR is a journal for the home. It gives the fullest and latest information about Fashions; and its numerous illustrations, Paris designs, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared to made its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its bright stories, amusing comedies, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is famous as a budget of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. The Serials for 1894 will be written by WILLIAM BLACK and WALTER BESANT. Short stories will be written by MARY E. WILKINS, MARIA LOUISA POOL, RUTH MCENERY STUART, MARION HARLAND, and others. Out-door Sports and Indoor Games, Social Entertainment, Embroidery, and other interesting topics, will receive constant attention. A new series is promised of "Coffee and Repartee."

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.
Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

The Volumes of the BAZAR begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S BAZAR for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume) for $7 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $1 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK.

4 PICTURES 10 X 14 Inches FREE!

We will send you THE PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE, a 16-page illustrated weekly journal, devoted to General News, Literature, Art, Science, Household Economy, Wit, Humor, and interesting Miscellany, four weeks on trial, together with FOUR BEAUTIFULLY COLORED PICTURES, 10x14 INCHES, for only 15 cents. These pictures are all different subjects, RICHLY colored, and each one a GEM OF ART. We make this special trial offer to introduce our paper into as many new homes as possible, feeling SURE that after a trial each one will remit the regular price, $2, for a full year's subscription. Send 15 cents at ONCE for a trial subscription, with the four pictures, and if not entirely satisfactory we will refund your money.
THE PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE, 114 Nassau St., New York City.

REDUCED RATES

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the south of Cairo, on Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 3, 1894, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Illinois Central agent.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Reduced Rates

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the

YAZOO AND MISSISSIPPI VALLEY
RAILROAD

They will be on sale Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 3, 1894, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Y. & M. V. agent.

Millsaps College.

WANTED.—A few nice boys to board. For terms see College Catalogue. Good care taken of them in case of sickness. References: President W. B. Murrah, Bishop C. B. Galloway, Rev. A. F. Watkins. Apply to MRS. M. J. FORD.

Pear Trees.

IDAHO and KEIFFER upon LeConte roots; two years old; 25 cents each; less by the dozen or hundred. Also two-year old LeConte trees and grape vines. Address
DR. H. SHANNON,
Ocean Springs, Miss.

I Have Just Received

A supply of Peloubet's and Hurlburt's Notes on the Sunday-school Lessons for 1894—$1.25 per copy. Order at once. Also Jack-Knife and Brambles, A Ramble among Surnames, and other new books for the holiday trade. Bibles from 25 cents to $25 by mail. Testaments from 5 cents to $3.50. A beautiful line and large lot of Christmas, New Year, birthday and Sunday-school cards and booklets.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres street (near Canal), - New Orleans.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,

20 Commercial Place,

John P. Hopkins. New Orleans

ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,

MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street.

E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

SHE DON'T WANT TO TELL—what made her beautiful. Yet it's only what other women know. Wealth of beauty comes only with a healthy body. Health is a set of good habits. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription assists nature in establishing these habits. Women have sallow faces, dull eyes and hollow cheeks, together with low spirits, when they are made miserable with disorders, derangements and weaknesses peculiar to their sex. Health is regained, after periods of dizziness, nervous prostration and excitability, or other manifestations of derangement or displacement of the womanly organs, when the "Prescription" is used. Besides, it's sold on its merits. The proprietors take the risk.

It is guaranteed to benefit or cure all the disorders, diseases, and weaknesses of women, or money is refunded.

Catarrh is cured by Dr. Sage's Remedy.

LAGRIPPE AGAIN.

The United States has never suffered from any disease that has caused such fearful results as has LaGrippe. Royal Germetuer has never failed to cure it quickly where used

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 28, 1893.

"In January last I had a violent attack of LaGrippe. I was advised by a friend to use Royal Germetuer, which cured me in a couple of days. I was again attacked by the 'grip' this month, and profiting by my former experience I commenced at once with Germetuer and did not have to go to bed. I consider it a specific for LaGrippe. L. STUART."

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct 13, 1893.

"About two years ago I had a severe spell of "grip" and was induced by my relatives to try Royal Germetuer, It soon cured the 'grip.'"

MRS. GEO. TISDALE.

SWEETWATER, Tenn., June 23, 1893.

"My little son had LaGrippe, was greatly prostrated, and continued to decline until we gave him Royal Germetuer. He began to improve at once and soon regained his health."

J. T. BARROW,
Pastor First Baptist Church.

Rev. W. G. E. Cunnyngham, editor Sunday school Literature, M. E. Church south, says: "The 'grippe' attacked me a second time last spring. One bottle of Germetuer relieved me, as it did before. I feel entirely free from all symptoms of 'la grippe' at present."

Rev. J. W. Howard, Baptist City Missionary of Columbus, Ga., writes Oct. 3, 1893: "Some years ago I had an attack of 'grip' which produced catarrh in my head and general prostration. I used Royal Germetuer and it wrought a wonderful cure."

Keep the bowels open with Germetuer Pills.

King's Royal Germetuer Co., Atlanta, Ga.

FERRY'S SEEDS

Are just what every sower needs. The merits of Ferry's Seeds form the foundation upon which has been built the largest seed business in the world. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1894 contains the sum and substance of the latest farming knowledge. Free for the asking.

D. M. FERRY & CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss.

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

SUPPOSE?

BY PHŒBE CARY.

Suppose, my little lady,
Your doll should break her head,
Could you make it whole by crying
Till your eyes and nose are red?
And wouldn't it be pleasanter
To treat it as a joke,
And say you're glad "'Twas Dolly's,
And not your head that broke?"

Suppose you're dressed for walking,
And the rain comes pouring down,
Will it clear off any sooner
Because you scold and frown?
And wouldn't it be nicer
For you to smile than pout,
And so make sunshine in the house
Where there is none without?

Suppose your task, my little man,
Is very hard to get,
Will it make it any easier
For you to sit and fret?
And wouldn't it be wiser,
Than whining like a dunce,
To go to work in earnest
And learn the thing at once?

Suppose that some boys have a horse,
And some a coach and pair,
Will it tire you less while walking
To say, "It isn't fair?"
And wouldn't it be nobler
To keep your temper sweet,
And in your heart be thankful
You can walk upon your feet?

And suppose the world don't please you,
Nor the way some people do,
Do you think the whole creation
Will be altered just for you?
And isn't it, my boy or girl,
The wisest, bravest plan,
Whatever comes, or doesn't come,
To do the best you can?

Horace Greeley on the Misery of Being in Debt.

Among the many good things which Horace Greeley wrote for the New York Ledger is the following vivid article on the misery of being in debt:

To be hungry, ragged and penniless, is not pleasant; but this is nothing to the horror of bankruptcy. All the wealth of the Rothschilds would be a poor recompense for a five years' struggle, with the consciousness that you had taken the money or property of trusting friends—promising to return or pay for it when required, and had betrayed their confidence through insolvency.

I dwell on this point, for I would deter others from entering that place of torment. Half the young men in the country, with many old enough to know better, would "go into business"—that is, into debt—tomorrow if they could. Most poor men are so ignorant as to envy the merchant or manufacturer whose life is an incessant struggle with pecuniary difficulties, who is driven to constant "shinning," and who, from month to month, barely evades that insolvency which sooner or later overtakes most men in business; so that it has been computed that but one in twenty of them achieves a pecuniary success.

For my own part—and I speak from sad experience—I would rather be a convict in State prison, a slave in a rice-swamp, than to pass through life under the harrow of debt. Let no young man misjudge himself unfortunate, or truly poor, so long as he has the full use of his limbs and faculties and is substantially free from debt.

Hunger, cold, rags, hard work, contempt, suspicion, unjust reproach, are disagreeable; but debt is infinitely worse than them all. And, if it had pleased God to spare either or all of my sons to be the support and solace of my declining years, the lesson which I should have most earnestly sought to impress upon them is: "Never run into debt! Avoid pecuniary obligations as you would pestilence or famine. If you have but fifty cents, and can get no more for a week, buy a peck of corn, parch it and live on it, rather than owe any man a dollar!"

Of course, I know that some men must do business that involves risks, and must give notes and other obligations; and I do not consider him really in debt who can lay his hands directly on the means of paying at some little sacrifice all he owes; I speak of real debt—that which involves risk or sacrifice on the one side, obligation and dependence on the other—and I say, from all such let every youth humbly pray God to preserve him evermore!

How to Teach Young Children.

A correspondent asks the editor to say a few words on how to teach a child of eight years the way to Christ. This is an important question, and deserves an answer. In teaching young children, all abstract statements of religious truths must be avoided. Narratives, parables, and illustrations drawn from common life are the best form in which to convey religious truth to the minds of the young. The simple story of Christ's life and death makes the best foundation for the religious instruction of children. "Line upon Line" is a good text-book for this kind of teaching. Children's conceptions of the character of Jesus and of the truths of religion are necessarily crude and imperfect. They must rise "from faith to faith." Parental love and tenderness, as shown in various acts, best exemplify God's love. Every truth that we wish to teach a child should be presented in some concrete illustration. A father sowed seeds in the garden, so as to make them spell his boy's name when they grew up. The boy could not believe this to be by chance. This was a good way of teaching the boy that the natural world is the result of God's thought. As simple an illustration as little ones playing in a yard while watched by the unseen mother from an upper window, might illustrate God's invisible care over his children. A child's love and trust in a kind father and mother may fitly illustrate the love and trust due to our Father in heaven. The duty of doing right—being truthful, kind, and just—may be enforced by the fact that all wrong-doing is displeasing to our loving Father. The truths to be taught to children are the same truths to be taught to men. The difference is in the way of presenting them. When a parent or teacher desires to impress any truth on the mind of a child, the next thing is to study the best way to present and illustrate it, so that it will interest and impress the child. One who keeps his eyes and ears open, for what he reads and hears, will find every day illustrations that will help to illustrate religious truth. Some have greater natural gifts for this work than others; but all can improve by study and effort. The simplest words should be used. Valuable help may be gained from Dr. Newton's sermons to children and similar books.—Christian Guardian.

Using the Pieces.

Some years ago there lived and worked in Italy a great artist in mosaics. His skill was wonderful. With bits of glass and stone he could produce the most striking works of art—works that were valued at thousands of pounds.

In his workshop was a poor little boy whose business it was to clean up the floor and tidy up the room after the day's work was done. He was a quiet little fellow, and always did his work well. That was all the artist knew about him.

One day he came to his master and asked, timidly: "Please, master, may I have for my own the bits of glass you throw upon the floor?"

"Why, yes, boy," said the artist. "The bits are good for nothing. Do as you please with them."

Day after day, then, the child might have been seen studying the broken pieces found on the floor, laying some on one side, and throwing others away. He was a faithful little servant, and so year after year went by and found him still in the workshop.

One day his master entered a storeroom little used, and in looking around came upon a piece of work carefully hid behind the rubbish. He brought it to the light, and to his surprise found it a noble work of art, nearly finished. He gazed at it in speechless amazement.

"What great artist could have hidden his work in my studio?"

At that moment the young servant entered the door. He stopped short on seeing his master, and when he saw the work in his hands a deep flush dyed his face.

"What is this?" cried the artist. "Tell me what great artist has hidden his master-piece here?"

"Oh, master," faltered the astonished boy, "it's only my poor work! You know you said I might have the broken bits you threw away."

The child with an artist-soul had gathered up the fragments, and patiently, lovingly wrought them into a wonderful work of art.

Do you catch the hint, little people? Gather up the bits of time and opportunity lying all about, and patiently work out your life mosaic—a master-piece by the grace of God.

THE ANGEL SISTER.

We had a little sister—
Her eyes were blue and fair,
And golden in the sunshine
Were the ringlets of her hair.

All day among the blossoms,
We danced away the hours,
And then we thought her fairer
Than all the Summer flowers.

But when the roses opened,
And skies were blue and deep,
The little one was weary—
And we laid her down to sleep.

We have a little sister—
We can not see her now—
Who walks in snowy garments,
With glory on her brow!

Her grave is white with daisies;
But far away on high
We have a little sister
Whose home is in the sky!

The Ministry of Little Children.

Some while ago, in a mood for such statistics, our eye fell on the item that in one year the deaths in four Eastern cities amounted to 43,432, and of this number 24,767 were children under five years of age.

The last sentence fixed our attention: 24,767 children perished during the year—we prefer to say, died. This in four cities only! Of the balance of the 43,432, who can tell their eternal destiny? Some to heaven, some to hell? But of these little ones none can doubt. Taking the aggregate of other cities and villages, and the country at large, we comprehend a fact that finds expression at the Savior's lips, "Of such is the kingdom of God;" and in the sacred couplet:

Millions of infant souls compose
The family above.

The adults had worked out their mission, or failed to do it. But these little ones, had they no mission? Was their being a failure? Lived they, and suffered, and died, and is the world all the same as though they had not been? Nay, verily. Theirs was a precious ministry, and such as they only could fulfill. What a waste of life! exclaims the worldly economist, as he figures up the statistics of population. They lived in vain, is the thought of the man ambitious of making his mark on the age. Mere blank beings in vain, flowers that came to no fruit, broken off, fallen, faded, is the thought and feeling of many. But Christian philosophy presents a more ennobling and comforting view.

How cold, selfish, would this world of ours be without these children! They preach the evangel of beauty and innocence; they break the incrustations of worldliness; they touch chords vibrating solemnly, sweetly, and reserved only for their tiny hands; they stir in the heart hidden wells of feeling; they preserve human sympathies from utter ossification; they deeply subsoil our hard nature. Geologists often show us, deep down under the earth's layers, the clear and well-defined print of a frail leaf, or the track of a little bird, made in the dim ages past. These have left imperishable memorials of themselves on the face of a world from which whole species, and races, and kingdoms have passed away without a record. The Bible makes many records, minute and kind, of the death of little children. They have their significance. Take the case of David's family. We lose sight of the sickness, and suffering, and death of the unweaned child, in the effects produced upon the royal parent. It is not saying too much, that a large proportion of those who are saved will be saved by the ministry of little children.

Summing up the moral results of the year, we must not credit all to orators, and presses, and institutions. These little preachers have visited homes, and softened the hearts of the indwellers, and drawn them heavenward, where other voices have not been heeded. The strong man, unused to tears, has bowed over the little coffin and wept. Under what sermon was he ever so melted down? What other preacher ever availed to bow that pride of strength, and unseal that fountain of tears? The gay, worldly-minded mother sits silent, and sheds secret tears, and prays. And peradventure, as these two hearts are drawn closer by a common grief, they think of a common tie in heaven, and resolve, through grace, as the babe can not come to them, that they will go to it. "When our little boy died," has been the beginning of pilgrimage for many bereaved parents. "When the baby died," dates impressions on the family circle that have matured to godliness.

The old may outlive their friends; the middle-aged may make enemies who are glad to be rid of them, or, wandering off, died where none lament; but the babe is without prejudice in life, and mighty in death. It is God's messenger of reconciliation, his flag of truce in this world of enmities, and envies, and wrath, and strife. It has strong hold on two hearts, if no more. The empty crib, the half-worn shoe, the soft locks of hair, that a few may see, prolong the painful yet pleasing memory of the angel-visitor that looked in upon us and smiled, and went to heaven, bidding us, amid care and sorrow, to follow on.

There is something so peculiarly affecting in the loss of a child that we sympathize with the parent who said he believed no minister prepared to bury another's child who had not buried one of his own.

There's many an empty cradle,
There's many a vacant bed,
There's many a lonely bosom
Whose joy and light are fled;
For thick in every graveyard
The little hillocks lie,
And every hillock represents
An angel in the sky.

In this way heaven is receiving large contributions from earth. Next to the conversion of a soul, the enemy of God and man may take least pleasure in the death of a child. His snares are all prevented, and his prey surely lost.

We bless God for our creation. The opening of a career of immortal existence is in itself a great event—a mission of praise and glory, which death can not frustrate. Though the voice of praise swell as the sound of many waters, and the celestial harpers are numberless, yet his ear detects each new voice and joyful string, and the praise of these little ones glorifieth him. In this view, the babe, even of a few days, and sickly—that goeth from the cradle to the grave—is of more intrinsic importance than material worlds.

A Hindu woman said to a missionary, "Surely, your Bible was written by a woman." "Why?" "Because it says so many kind things for women. Our Shastas never refer to us but in reproach." Parents who have watched by the couch of suffering innocence, and seen the desire of their eye taken away at a stroke, have found themselves busy running over the Scriptures for faith, and gathering up, as a stay of their hearts, what God has said of their little children. How full, and precious, and unequivocal are the passages of comfort! The conclusion is, surely, the Bible was given by a parent. And so it was. He knows the heart of a parent, and works in it and by it to the glory of his grace. He weaves out of this exquisite material silken cords which draw mightily. He touches stricken souls with this divine polarity, and then sets the object of affection in the skies.

O prattling tongues, never formed to speech, and now still in death, how eloquently you preach to us! O little pattering feet, leading the way, how many, through rude and stormy scenes, are following after you to heaven! We thank God for your ministry, and if it be in vain, the fault and the loss will be all our own.—Bishop H. N. McTyeire.

A true Christian faith starts with the truth of a present redemption and leads the man up to personal duties. It takes this poor, indistinguishable atom and says to him: God knows you. To him you are not only one of the race; he knows you separately; he made you separately. Have you never heard of such a thing as responsibility? Get up; repent. Get the pattern of your life from God, and then go about your work and be yourself.—Phillips Brooks.

"Honesty is the best policy." Nobody contradicts it. Your dealer can get lamp-chimneys that almost never break from heat, or those that break continually. Which does he get? Which do you get?

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are tough against heat; not one in a hundred breaks in use. The glass is clear as well as tough. They are accurate, uniform.

Be willing to pay more for chimneys that last till they rot, unless some accident happens to them.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

LIFE And health of leather is Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool-on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N.Y.

I KEEP COOL

inside, outside, and all the way through, by drinking

HIRES' Root Beer

This great Temperance drink; is as healthful, as it is pleasant. Try it.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it, I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. E. Fisch, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive that fever from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Sulphuric Acid and Iron Well Water. Will send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PINTS, 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. E. Fisch, 106 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD.

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. Lowe, Mills Building, New York.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren Pa.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.

in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

MARRIAGES.

MEEK—CRIPPEN.—At the residence of Mr. J. B. Streaier, Black Hawk, Miss., Dec. 7, 1893, by Rev. Thos. Cameron, Rev. R. A. Meek, of the North Mississippi Conference, and Miss Cornelia Chew Crippen, of Black Hawk, Miss.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 900 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 900. Poetry excluded from this column

CHAMBERS—Mrs. MARY ANN CHAMBERS (nee Sparkman) was born on the Isle of Wight, England, Aug. 17, 1802. She died at Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 24, 1893.

Being a woman of strong character, earnest devotion and exemplary life, like the full shock, she has been gathered to her reward. In early life she joined the Wesleyan Methodist Society, and in the bloom of womanhood married a local preacher of that society. Of this union were born thirteen children, six of whom are now living.

In December, 1853, her husband came to New York, bringing with him a large family, some money, a sturdy independence and much faith in God. Sister Chambers at once put in her certificate of membership at Willet Street Church, of which Bro. Pease was pastor and Nathan Bangs presiding elder. In the Spring of 1855 the family removed to Ocean county, New Jersey. Again was the church membership moved, she, her husband and grown children being active workers. In 1858 the family was finally located at Cookstown, N. J. Here the husband preached, one of her sons became superintendent of the Sunday-school, while she and her other children became teachers or pupils in the Sabbath-school, as well as active members of the church in other respects.

For twelve years the peaceful life of our sister was unbroken. Through trial, trouble, grief and disaster she came triumphant, leaning on Jesus. The little home had been improved, her children had settled around her, and she looked forward to the annual reunions at the old homestead with as much joy as did her prattling grandchildren. In 1870 God took away her strong right arm. For some months he had lingered, and the old couple grew young again and lived over their happy days in the long hours that she watched before the end came. At this time a restless spirit seemed to enter the minds of the children, and they began moving off, her oldest son coming to Baton Rouge, La. In 1879 she felt that her end was near and came South to bid her children good-by. Under the blessed influences of our balmy skies her health returned, and what was meant for a visit proved to be a removal.

True to her principles, again was her church membership changed, and in her old age she did with her might what her hands found to do. Too feeble to reach the church, still she labored on. Many will arise in that day and call her blessed. She loved God supremely. His Word was her law. Her last hours were made bright by the ministrations of her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Especially did she delight in having her great-granddaughter, Lonisa, sit by her bedside and read to her those passages of Scripture and those chapters of books which had comforted and blessed her along the way.

Although over ninety-one years of age, the immediate cause of her death was a fall from her chair. The hip-bone was fractured, and her extreme age rendered recovery impossible.

Her friends, relatives and children are scattered over two continents. She leaves them the priceless legacy of a well-spent life. She was rich in good works.

Her body rests by the side of that of her daughter-in-law in Magnolia Cemetery. Her spirit is at rest in Abraham's bosom.

ONE WHO LOVED HER.

KIDD—WALTER A., son of E. C. and L. A. Kidd, was born in Jackson parish, La., June 19, 1870, and died in Ruston, La., Nov. 17, 1893.

Walter was a man of very fine social spirit—genial, obliging and courteous to all. He had a large circle of admiring friends, to whom he was warmly attached. He was never too busy to be polite. An old man, on seeing his unaffected affability, remarked that he was a "born gentleman." But the finest trait of his character was his love for his parents; his devotion to them was truly striking. As he passed from youth to manhood his affection for them and his respect for their authority seemed to grow stronger, and he never wearied in his efforts to please them and contribute to their happiness in any way. In this he was a fine pattern for other young men.

While a youth, away from home at school, he united with the Methodist Church, and died in its communion. He fought a battle with doubt during the last hours of life; but doubt gave place to faith, fear to assurance, and trouble to joy, and among his last words were these: "I am so glad I am saved." His friends sorrow not as those who have no hope, for he rests in peace awaiting the resurrection morn.

J. D. HARPER.

HERR—Died, Mrs. FRANK HERR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Matlingly. She was born in Jackson, La., July 5, 1879, and joined the saints in everlasting glory Nov. 21, 1893.

It was the privilege of the writer to know her well from early childhood. A more faithful wife, dutiful daughter or loving sister could nowhere be found. She was a girl of many friends. She was tender and sympathetic always. Her life may well be compared to a beautiful, frail lily. For several years she has suffered a great deal, and none can realize the intense suffering she underwent during the last few weeks on earth; but she bore it with great fortitude. God saw, in his wise providence, it was best to take this tender flower home even in her beautiful young life, not to make heaven more glorious only, but to attract the loved ones of earth heavenward.

Her death has caused a gloom to fall over her home, and to a great extent on the entire town, where she had so many friends. Our loss will be long-felt, and to her parents, husband and sister we do offer our heart-felt sympathies, and would say, Live godly and meet your loved one at the pearly gates of heaven.

S. J. TABOR.

STEVENS—The following resolutions were adopted by the Carrollton (Miss.) Auxiliary Woman's Missionary Society:

Whereas, Our heavenly Father has removed from us by death our sister, Mrs. W. F. STEVENS; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we mourn the loss of one who was so earnest in the work she had been engaged in but a few short years. The memory of her life and death stimulates us to more diligent work to promote the holy cause of missions.

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved family here and her sister, Mrs. W. A. Wilson, our missionary now in Japan, our Christian love and sympathy.

Resolved, That this memorial be put upon the minutes of the Carrollton Auxiliary and published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Mrs. R. E. BINGHAM, for Com.

SMITH—Mrs. ALICE SMITH (nee Derick) was born in Natchitoches, La., Sept. 27, 1843. She was married to Joe Smith, Jan. 11, 1881, and was converted and joined the Methodist Church in 1886, and died July 22, 1893. She was the mother of five children, two of which preceded her to the land of the blessed. She leaves a husband and three children, many relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

She died as she had lived: true to her home, true to her friends and faithful to the Lord. She has crossed over into the sweet and beautiful beyond. Like a dream she passed away into that celestial city, that hath foundations, whose maker and builder is God. She was naturally endowed with those virtues that make and adorn the character of a true woman. God knows what is best. He saw fit to pluck a bud from earth's garden to bloom in heaven, sheltered from the chilling winds of trouble and frosts of temptations. She is greatly missed from the home circle, but heaven seems brighter since God has called the blessed one to rest. Her cousin, CELESTE BYLES.

FELPS—EMMIE, born in East Feliciana—1891-1893. Time passes. Years rush on toward eternity's vast deep. That dark, ever-dreaded angel of death still reigns, carrying captive unnumbered souls, bereft ing homes, leaving many aching voids in loving hearts.

On Wednesday night, Nov. 11, as the hour hand pointed toward eleven, a solemn stillness prevailed. The "dark visitor" hovered over little Emmie's couch, and, pausing but a few minutes, swiftly bore her heavenward, and, comforting thought, to those pearly gates where the blessed Savior met her and in whose bosom she is now sweetly resting, free from the pain she had endured! Though scarcely two years old, yet the place gained in the bereft hearts is so secure that a thousand years, with their noiseless waves, could not efface the memory of her transient stay—the memory of the sparkling eyes, the silvery laughter, the tender touch of the fairy-like fingers. Bright angel, thou art at home! Thy spirit is at rest. Wait yet a little while at the "beautiful gate" for those left behind.

ROSA TABOR.

APPLEWHITE—LUTIE C. APPLEWHITE, daughter of F. D. and Arie Anderson, was born in Carroll county, Miss., June 29, 1860. She was married to L. C. Applewhite, Oct. 29, 1879. The same year she joined the M. E. Church, South, of which she continued to be a faithful and consistent member until the day of her decease. Her death occurred Nov. 4, 1893, and the next day, followed by a considerable concourse of friends and relatives, she was quietly laid to rest.

Such a life as hers leads one to reflect upon the mysteriousness of divine providence. For several years she had been a suffering invalid, incapable of attending to her household duties or caring for those dependent upon her. And ere the sun had reached the meridian, she was stricken down, leaving her devoted husband prostrated with grief and her children to be reared by other hands. Why these things were so, we can not tell now, but in the unfolding light of eternity all will be made clear. The inspiration of her character and influence of her life will linger with us all the years to come.

HER PASTOR.

MCFARLAND—Rev. J. P. MCFARLAND was born in Claiborne parish, Dec. 31, 1818; died near Coushatta, Red River parish, La., Nov. 17, 1893. Bro. McFarland only lived about eight weeks after his wife's death; hence their separation was brief. The writer did not see him in his last moments, as he had moved to his son's, some distance from town. Yet we are assured he died triumphant. Thus another good man is gone to his reward. He leaves two sons and one daughter to mourn his death. Our recollection of him will ever be of a kind old man and true follower of Jesus. He had preached more this year than for several years past. Thus his life ended.

W. H. HILL, P. C.

GUICE—Whereas, God, in his providence, has taken from earth our friend and co-laborer, Mrs. SUSAN B. GUICE; And whereas, We, among whom she lived, remember her works of love, her consistent Christian character, her sweet, gentle disposition; therefore, be it Resolved, That we, the members of the Woman's Missionary Society of Jefferson Street M. E. Church, Natchez, Miss., will sadly miss her; we will no more be greeted by her happy countenance and sweet voice, yet we will ever hold her in sacred remembrance, and pray that her mantle of usefulness may fall upon us, and that we may lead such lives as that our end may be as peaceful as hers.

Resolved, That we offer her bereaved family and loved ones our deepest sympathy, and pray that they may find consolation in the promises of our heavenly Father to sustain the sorrowing.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our society, and that a copy be furnished the family of our deceased sister, and also that a copy be furnished the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

MRS. W. B. LEWIS, for Committee.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Therefore come what may, hold fast to love. Though men should rend your heart, let them not embitter or harden it. We win by tenderness, we conquer by forgiveness.—Frederick William Robertson.

I, A. C. Hallenger, do say consumption can be cured by Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. My mother, years ago, contracting a terrible cough soon became unable to attend to her household duties. Prominent physicians pronounced it incurable consumption. We knew of Dr. Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and commenced giving it to her. Before two bottles had been taken an improvement was noticed, and by the time one dozen bottles had been consumed she was well, and has never been troubled since. We have recommended it to many and always have it in the house. For coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough, asthma, bronchitis, it is without a rival. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as 50c. bottles.

Teacher—"What is a synonym?" Bright Boy—"It's a word you can use in place of another when you don't know how to spell the other one."

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teacher's Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by B. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up.
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church. H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS LA.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
PAPER HANGING, Glazing and Kalsomining.
(Estimates Given Free.)
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,429,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. C. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, C. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886, - - - - - $400,479.06
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887, - - - - - $413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888, - - - - - $459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889, - - - - - $510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890, - - - - - $551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891, - - - - - $600,414.31
Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JNO. J. BARR, J. B. LEVERT, W. B. BLOOMFIELD
JOS. BAYLE, ANDREW STEWART, E. BORLAND, W. T. HARDIE,
JNO. BARKLEY, CHAS. CHAFFE. P. B. RICE, THOS. SEFTON,

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.

Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.
For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.
Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The middle span of the Louisville and Jeffersonville bridge, over the Ohio river, collapsed on Dec. 15. Fifty workmen were precipitated in the river. Five were killed and sixteen are missing. Twelve others sustained injuries.

The city-bound accommodation train on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad was derailed at Basford Station, thirty-five miles south of Pittsburg, on Dec. 15. and three coaches were wrecked. No one was killed, but fifteen persons were injured.

It is the present intention of the powers that be in Congress to adjourn for the holiday recess this Thursday until Jan. 4 of the new year. The tariff debate, which the Democratic leaders had hoped to enter upon before the adjournment, can not now begin until after the recess; although the bill will be reported to the House.

A special message with all the official correspondence of the Hawaiian matter was sent to Congress, on Dec. 18, by President Cleveland. He says Minister Stevens was in the conspiracy for the overthrow of the Queen, and caused its success. The Queen, in view of her restoration, is not disposed to be lenient toward the offenders, and, in consequence, the President's plans for her restoration have been upset.

The American Red Cross Society has a plan for raising money to build an asylum for children made orphans by great calamities. This is to exhibit the Columbus carvels at points throughout the country, charging a small admission fee, the first route being down the Mississippi river. Congress is to be asked for its assent and the Navy Department has been asked to indorse it in a communication signed by Miss Clara Barton.

The bill for the admission of Utah as a State will probably be opposed in the Senate by its old antagonist, the Ladies' Home Missionary Society, which is seeking an opportunity to be heard by the Senate Committee on Territories. The members of this society take exception to the statements which have been made very freely by the advocates of the bill that polygamy is dead in Utah, and say that, on the contrary, they have positive information that the contrary is the case.

Senator Faulkner, who is chairman of the Territorial Committee, has been inclined to favor the admission of Utah, Arizona and New Mexico for several years, and the Democrats of the Senate have generally taken ground in favor of their admission, because, from a party point of view, it is believed that their admission will be favorable to the Democrats. There has been apprehension that the Republican Senators may oppose admission because of party reasons, but an imperfect canvass of Republican members of the committee justifies the statement that in committee, at least, there will be comparatively little opposition.

FOREIGN.

The French Chamber of Deputies has adopted the explosives bill and the assassins' bill, both anti-anarchist measures, by sweeping majorities.

The Pope celebrated mass in St. Peter's on Dec. 17, 15 000 people being present. The Pope was in excellent health and spirits and showed no signs of fatigue.

The Austrian government has extended to the United States an invitation to take part in an international exposition to be held in Vienna from April 20 to June 10, of the coming year. The exhibits are to include food products and processes, life-saving apparatus, means of transportation and other things.

A committee of Spanish manufacturers, who are supported by several well-known politicians, have arrived in Madrid in order to protest against the commercial treaty with Germany. The committee intends to seek an interview with the Queen, and will represent to her that the concessions made to Germany will ruin many trades and injure Spanish interests generally.

The cruiser Nictheroy, purchased by the Brazilian government in New York, arrived at Pernambuco, last week. There is already trouble among the crew. Those enlisted in New York demand the very highest pay for re-enlistment in the Brazilian navy, although it was fully understood that they were to re-enlist for active service when a Brazilian port was reached.

The statistics of the great strike of the English coal miners are something most appalling. In sixteen weeks the coal output dropped from the normal figure of 63,000 000 tons to 39 000 000. The loss to mine-owners, iron masters, railroads, and so on, was £13 255 615. Consumers paid in increased prices £1,767,000. Miners, iron workers and other artisans lost £18,208,000. The total general loss is placed at £33,232,215. The workers rendered idle number 1,003,250, which means 3,511,425 persons in a destitute condition.

The earlier symptoms of dyspepsia, such as distress after eating, heartburn, and occasional headaches, should not be neglected. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless, reliable, sure.

Thoroughly Consecrated Men and Women Needed.

Never in the history of the Christian church was there a greater need for thoroughly consecrated men and women than now. Never in the history of the church was the spirit between the world and the church so pacific as now. Generally speaking, there is but little friction between the two. In fact, by the spirit manifest, it seems that the two might live at peace in the same house. But is not the church in great danger because of this? Is she not probably the parent of this state of affairs? And is she justifiable in bringing it about?

Sin to-day is the same that it always was, the enemy of man, of home, of State, of Church, and of God. It has not changed its nature nor modified its elements. Neither, indeed, can it do so. On the other hand, Christianity is the same that it was in the days of its Author. It has not changed its attitude toward sin. It stands diametrically opposed to it. It is utterly incompetent to offer or effect in any way or on any terms a compromise. Its great work is to crush the head of sin without mercy, and offer no apology for its attempts and effects. But is it not true that the advocates of Christianity, the church, have been mild in their claims and compromising in their methods of dealing with sin? We do not like to have the dislike of our fellow-men and dread to be misunderstood. Hence we avoid that life of firm Christian character, so as not to offend men and women, especially those of our unsaved associates, hoping that for our good intentions in this some kind providence may overrule them unto salvation. This sort of compromising is farther reaching in its effects than we are aware of.

It is this compromising method both of the pulpit and the pew that has brought the pacific spirit between the world and the church. The result is the world, in its refined element, has come into the church. And the cooler element in the church has gone into the world. A further result is, too many look upon the milder evils with a complacent spirit, and the greater evils as almost necessary, so deeply rooted that they can not be eradicated. This complacent, "easy-going" religion somehow gets used to these things and so holds its peace and doeth little or nothing. "A cold-hearted membership and a cringing, time-serving ministry presents the most inviting field on earth" for sin to work in.

We repeat, never was there a period in the history of the church when there was a greater need for consecrated men and women than now. Not ignorant, boisterous men, who make all the fuss and do no work. Not men who in bitter terms devour the sinner. But men and women of sound judgment, positive conviction, mild in spirit, firm in their claims for Christ, unmistakable in their attitude against sin, uncompromising in their methods for its overthrow, thoroughly consecrated to God. Not so much to fight men as to fight sin and save the unsaved. No sooner will members of the Christian church consecrate themselves unto God than the church will arise, and the world be aroused and return to her practice of persecution. But what of that? We must expect it. The Master has told us so. It is enough that we be as the Master. We must maintain a high degree of spirituality, and contend earnestly without fear, favor or affection for the faith of the saints.—Evangelist.

Be Anxious for Nothing.

Anxiety because of our troubles is common, perhaps natural, but needless. There are many things which we can not control and against which it is useless for us to contend. There are other things which may be largely within our own power, and oftentimes we may waste time and thought in mental concern which should be given to a manful endeavor to discharge our duty. Our anxiety so far as divine help is concerned is needless. By prayer and supplication with thanksgiving we are to let our requests be made known unto God; and yet our Lord tells us: "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him." Anxiety is often an evidence of a want of faith in God's goodness, and when instead of casting our anxiety on him we persist in bearing it ourselves, we may have bitter chastisements to teach us our folly and sin.—Christian Inquirer.

The Extemporaneous Hearer.

The extemporaneous preacher never thinks of his sermon before he goes to church, and the extemporaneous hearer never thinks of it after he leaves. Both of them take life easy. Both profess religion, but don't drive it much. The extemporaneous hearer believes in religion, not so much as a practical matter, as ornamental. It introduces him into good society and helps his business. He does up all his religion while at church and has it out of the way for a week. He is, however, always willing to be an office hearer and always willing to ornament any social occasion. A Brooklyn pastor said of his people that "they were all honorary members. Extemporaneous hearers generally become honorary members. They have not yet assumed the angelic form. They are rather in the intermediate state, having passed beyond the practical state of religious life.

The extemporaneous preacher is a great help to the extemporaneous hearer. If a sermon has no unity, no plan, no points, or line of thought, if it starts nowhere and goes nowhere, if it has no aim and reaches no conclusion, if it has all sorts of observations on half a dozen different subjects, if the hearer has to spend all his time during the delivery of the sermon in a vain endeavor to find out what the preacher is driving at, he soon learns to let the preacher solve that little conundrum himself, and he settles back in his seat and takes it easy, and after a little becomes accomplished as an extemporaneous hearer. Dr. Guthrie used to say that it was always his aim to make a sermon "strike and stick." If a sermon has a single straight aim, and strikes the conscience in a tender spot, it is pretty likely to stick. If divine truth is sent straight and clear to some cherished sin, proclaiming, "Thou art the man," it interferes badly with the habits of the extemporaneous hearer. Or if a ray of divine light is sent from the pulpit into some darkened chamber of the soul, it is very likely to make the extemporaneous hearer a thinking, studious, practical hearer. We can not blame a person very much for not remembering a sermon which is a mere bank of fog. We have before now spent the whole time during the delivery of a sermon studying hard to find out what the preacher was driving at, and ignominiously failed at last. We have sometimes asked others what the sermon was about and could not get the conundrum solved. We once listened to a celebrated preacher who held his audience spell-bound, and asked a listening clergyman as we came out of church what the man was driving at, and after long study he gave it up. Such sermons are a great delight and help to the extemporaneous hearer.

We should, however, be very slow to affirm that the extemporaneous hearer is never found listening to one of the best and most thorough discussions of religious truth.—Mid-Continent.

Wanting and Getting.

It has been said that the reason so few people get what they want in this world is that they do not want it hard enough. There is profound truth at the bottom of this odd conceit. Earnest striving and perseverance are rare qualities. A little struggle, and then a falling off; a few faint efforts, and then despair—this is the usual story of attempts to "get anything," whether it be a physical, mental or spiritual good. But to long for a thing so strongly that for the sake of its attainment one can conquer obstacles, live down opposition, ignore discouragement, and work persistently and through years of trial and obscurity toward the fulfillment of a hope—is not this the record of all grand achievements and the history of all purposeful lives?

Many more wishes might be realized if people were willing to pay this price for them. Anything worth having in this world is dear, including experience. Genius itself has been defined as only unlimited patience, or an endless capacity for hard work.

It was told of some celebrated general that he never knew when he was defeated. By and by he could not be defeated. A little of the same spirit infused into ordinary life-work would make many a dream possible that now seems to the wistful dreamer as extravagant as the cloudiest castle in Spain.—Harper's Bazar.

THE JUDGES Of the WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION Have made the

HIGHEST AWARDS

(Medals and Diplomas) to

WALTER BAKER & CO.

On each of the following named articles:

BREAKFAST COCOA, ...
Premium No. 1, Chocolate, . .
Vanilla Chocolate, ...
German Sweet Chocolate, . .
Cocoa Butter. . . . .

For "purity of material," "excellent flavor," and "uniform even composition."

WALTER BAKER & CO., DORCHESTER, MASS.

James G. Wilson,

Patentee and Manufacturer,

74 West 23d St., New York.

Send 3 two-cent stamps for Illustrated Catalogue.

ROLLING PARTITIONS

for dividing Churches and Schools. Sound-proof and air-tight. In various kinds of wood. 500 Churches of various denominations are using them.

Venetian Blinds in All Woods.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crawford Street—Vicksburg	Dec. 23, 24
South Vicksburg	24, 25
South Warren, at Red Shne	30, 31
Jefferson street—Natchez	Jan. 6, 7
Wesley Chapel—Natchez	7, 8
Washington, at Washington	13, 14
Fayette and Harriston, at Fayette	20, 21
Roxie, at Harbug	27, 28
Meadville, at Oak Grove	Feb. 3, 4
Martin, at Cane Ridge	10, 11
Learned, at Learned	17, 18
Utica station	24, 25
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge	Mar. 3 4
Hermanville, at Hermanville	10, 11
Port Gibson station	17, 18
Warren, at Bradley's	24, 25
Mayersville, at Mayersville	31, Apr. 1
Rolling Fork and Anguilla, at A	7, 8
Cary, at Cary	14, 15

The district stewards will meet in the Methodist Church in Port Gibson, Jan. 8, at 9 A. M. Let each pastoral charge be represented in this meeting.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

Postoffice: Port Gibson, Miss.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Yazoo City	Dec. 31
Jackson—Capitol Street	Jan. 6, 7
Jackson—First Church	6, 7
Edwards	13, 14
Silver Creek and B. Lake, at B. Lake	20, 21
Jackson circuit, at Flagg Chapel	27, 28
Flora, at Flora	Feb. 3, 4
Sharon, at Lone Pine	10, 11
Canton	(night) 11
Benton, at Benton	17, 18
Yazoo cir., at Short Creek	(Tues.) 20
Bolton, at Bolton	24, 25
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	Mar. 3, 4
Camden, at Shrock's	10, 11
Tranquil, at Locust Grove	17, 18
Madison, at Madison	24, 25
Mount Olivet, at Bentonia	31, Apr. 1

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Capitol Street, Jackson, Wednesday, 2 P. M., Feb. 7, 1894.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

McComb City	Jan. 6, 7
Magnolia, at M	13, 14
Brookhaven	20, 21
Gallman, at Bethesda	27, 28
Crystal Springs	(night) 28
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 3, 4
Wesson station	10, 11
Adams at A	17, 18
Bowerton, at Rehoboth	(Fri) 23
Lebanon at Brandywine	24, 25
Caseyville, at Sweetwater	(Fri.) Mar. 3
Beauregard, at Mathews	8, 4
Pleasant Grove, at P Grove	(Fri.) 9
Providence, at Bahala	10, 11
Summit, at Bogue Chitto	17, 18
Martinsville	24, 25
Hazlehurst	(night) 25
China Grove, at Waterholes	31, Apr. 1

The district stewards and trustees of district parsonage of Brookhaven district are earnestly requested to meet at 9 o'clock A. M., Wednesday, Jan. 17, in Brookhaven, in the pastor's study. Pastors cordially invited. All entertained.

R D NORSWORTHY, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian—East End	Dec. 23, 24
Meridian—West End	(night) 24, 26
Meridian—Central and South Side	30 31
Enterprise and Stonewall, at E	Jan. 6, 7
Vossburg circuit, at Vossburg	13, 14
Lauderdale circuit, at Adamsville	20, 21
W'bro and State Line, at W.	(Tues.) 23
Waynesboro cir., at Mt. Hebron	(Th.) 25
Enentia circuit, at Enentia	27, 28
Shubuta circuit, at Shubuta	(Tues.) 30
Matherville circuit, at Liberty	(Thurs.) Feb. 1
Binnsville circuit, at Scooba	3, 4
North Kemper circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	10, 11
DeKalb circuit, at DeKalb	11, 12
Lilywood circuit, at Bethel	17, 18
Daleville and Soule Chapel, at D	18, 19
Lauderdale circuit, at Lauderdale	24 25
Marion circuit, at Lockhart	25, 28
Why Not circuit, at Why Not	Mar. 3, 4
Chuokey circuit, at Chunkey	(Tues.) 18

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Prairie circuit, at Muldon	Dec. 30, 31
Aberdeen	Jan. 4
Verona and Nettleton, at Verona	6, 7
Tupelo	8
Okolona circuit, at Blackville	13, 14
Okolona station	15
Shannon circuit, at Pleasant Grove	20, 21
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley	27, 28
Bueoa Vista at Pleasant Grove	Feb. 3, 4
Saltillo, at Mooresville	10, 11
Amory and Smithville, at Greenbriar	17, 18
Nettleton, at Union	22
Fulton, at Fulton	24, 25
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc	Mar. 3, 4
Tremont, at New Salem	7
Athens, at New Hope	10, 11

The district stewards will meet at Tupelo, Jan. 17, in the Methodist Church, at two o'clock P. M. It is important that every charge be represented. Brethren, please come.

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Inka circuit, at Scowdowo	Dec. 23
Inka station	24, 25
Booneville circuit, at Carolina	30, 31
Corinth circuit, at Box's Chapel	Jan. 3, 7
Corinth station	7, 8
Kossuth, at Maddin	13, 14
Rienzi, at Rienzi	20, 21
Booneville and Baldwyn, at Booneville	25
Marietta, at Hodges	27, 28
Pleasant Ridge, at Pleasant Ridge	Feb. 2
Brown's Creek, at Mt. Nebo	3, 4
Guntown, at Guntown	10, 11
Blue Springs, at Blue Springs	17, 18
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	22
Ripley circuit, at Paynes	24, 25
Ripley and New Albany, at New A	Mar. 3, 4
New Albany circuit, at Locust Grove	10, 11

District stewards' meeting at Booneville, Jan. 17 and 18. A full attendance is very much desired.

T. W. LEWIS, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Kosciusko and Durant, at Kosciusko	Dec. 16, 17
Pickins circuit, at Goodman	23, 24
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	23
Sallis, at Spring Dale	30, 31
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Jan. 6, 7
Lexington and Tchula, at Lexington	12
Eupora circuit, at Eupora	13, 14
Kosciusko, at Bethel	20, 21
Boral Hill, at Macedonia	26
Ethel, at Ethel	27, 28
Wier circuit, at Wier	Feb. 2
Chester, at Chester	3, 4
Ebenezer, at Ebenezar	10, 11
Stewart, at Foster Grove	12
Louisville, at Louisville	17, 18

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec. 3, 10
Tibbee	23 24
Columbus station	30, 31
West Point	Jan. 6, 7
Crawford	13, 14
Starkville circuit	18
Columbia circuit	20, 21
Sparta	27, 28
Bronkeville	Feb. 3, 4
Cedar Bluff	10, 11
Mashulaville	17, 18
Shuqualak	21
Macon	24, 25
Sturges	Mar. 3, 4
Hebron	10, 11

The district stewards will please meet me at Artesia, Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 10 o'clock A. M.

T. C. WIKE, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C.	Dec. 30, 31
Chapel Hill, at Mars Hill	(Thurs.) Jan. 4
Grenada circuit, at Bethel	6, 7
Grenada station	13, 14
Tillatoba, at Tillatoba	(Thurs.) 18
Charleston, at Charleston	20, 21
Coffeeville, at Coffeeville	27, 28
Water Valley circuit, at Pine Flat	Feb. 6, 4
Abbeville, at Abbeville	(Fri) 9
Oxford Station	10, 11
Toccopola, at Lafayette Sp'gs	(Thurs.) 15
Paris, at Salem	17, 18
Kizy, at Hurricane	24, 25
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro	Mar. 3, 4
Attala, at Benela	4, 5

The district stewards will meet at Grenada, Jan. 12, 1894.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Greenwood station	Dec 16, 17
Winona	24
Carrollton	30, 31
Indianola	Jan. 6, 7
Sidon	13, 14
Valden	20, 21
Black Hawk	27, 28
West	Feb. 3, 4
Winona circuit	10, 11
McNutt	17, 18
Carrollton circuit	24, 25
Brooklyn and Duhlin	Mar. 3, 4
Leberton	10, 11

District stewards' meeting will convene in Greenwood, Miss., Jan. 12, at 2:30 P. M., at the M E. Church.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 10
Coun o	17
Coldwater	24
Batesville	30, 31
Senatobia	Jan 6, 7
Pleasant Hill	13, 14
Nesbit	20, 21
Courtland	27, 28
Pleasant Grove	Feb. 3, 4
Morgansville	(Wed.) 7
Arkabutla	10, 11
Cockrum	(Thurs.) 15
Walt Hill	17, 18
Tyro	(Tues.) 20
Panola	24, 25

The district stewards will all please meet me in the Methodist church, Senatobia, Jan. 6, at 11 A M, for the transaction of important business.

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Jonestown	Dec. 17
Gunnison	24
Arcola	31
Hollandale	Jan. 7
Greeoville	14
Tunica	21
Lula	28
Duncan	Feb. 4
Clark-dale	11
Cleveland	13
Shaw	25
Hill House	Mar. 4
Friar's Point	11
Rosedale	18
Bolivar	25

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Jan. 15, 7.30 P. M.

The district stewards are: J. D. Smith, J. T. Sims, J. E. Ratber, R. E. Gray, Geo. Shelby, W. O. Harris, G R Page, C. W. Portee, T. H. McKeosle, J. H. Johnson, C. H. Faot, Dr. W. P. Barton, E. H. Moore, Price Blanchard, J. W. Mason.

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

SUBSCRIBE NOW FOR 1894
SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE
PUBLISHED MONTHLY WITH ILLUSTRATIONS
CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS NEW YORK
$3.00 A YEAR 25cts A NUMBER

Evergreen College,

EVERGREEN, LA.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Offers Board and Tuition from Dec. 27, 1893, to the end of the present session for $72. Special offer. Address

C. C. WIER.

MANLY PURITY

To cleanse the blood, skin, and scalp of every eruption, impurity, and disease, whether simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or ulcerative, no agency in the world is so speedy, economical, and unfailing as the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier and greatest of humor remedies. In a word, they are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, and may be used in the treatment of every humor and disease, from eczema to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unfailing success. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Blood Humors" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough hands and falling hair cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. Price, 25c.

XMAS DIALOGUES, Pieces to Speak and how to get up Fascinating Sunday School Entertainment—all 10c. SKIDMORE & CO., 55 John St., N. Y.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS Address, The Echo Music Co., LaFayette, Ind. FREE

Grand National Prize at Paris, of 16,600 francs to T. LAROCHE,

QUINA-LAROCHE,

HIGHLY ENDORSED by the medical faculty of Paris. An agreeable and highly efficacious remedy. London Lancet.

For Stomach affections, Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Poorness of the Blood, Fever and Ague, Retarded Convalescence.

PARIS: 22 rue Drouot.

E. FOUGERA & CO., AGENTS FOR THE U.S. 30 North William St., N. Y.

The Desire of : : : : All Nations.

A Christmas Service for 1893

THIS PROGRAMME, from our Sunday School Department, is fully equal to the one for last year, which received high praise from the best judges. Every feature of the service is new, bright, and inspiring. The Songs, Readings, Dialogues, Recitations, etc., are judiciously selected and arranged. Words and music of all the Songs are given in full. The whole is embraced in a nicely printed leaflet of eight pages. Price 20 cents per dozen. $1.25 per hundred. Let every Sunday school be supplied in time with this handy, cheap, and appropriate Christmas Exercise. Send orders to

BARBEE & SMITH, Agents, NASHVILLE, TENN.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co., LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets, Etc.

Beautify your home. Make it bright Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

118 Camp St., New Orleans, La

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

PENSIONS.

BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNment Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is slow, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free. Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailments in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for service rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address

THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY, Box 167, Washington, D. C.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 40.—NO. 52. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1893. WHOLE NO. 1949.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE COMING OF HIS FEET.

BY L. M. T.

It may be in the morning,
  Ere the dew is off the grass,
When the little birds are singing
  Their sweet welcome as they pass;
Ere the sound of busy thousands
  Is heard upon the street,
I will listen for His coming,
  For the coming of His feet.

It may be at the noonday,
  When the sun is hot o'erhead,
And the whirr of noisy insects
  Comes from out the grassy bed;
When the wind is softly sighing
  In the tree-tops as they meet,
I will wait me, hopeful, listening
  For the coming of His feet.

It may be in the evening,
  When the busy day is o'er,
When the setting sun is throwing
  Lengthened shadows on the floor;
Or the moon is slowly rising
  Behind the meadow bars,
And the dark blue heaven is studded
  With the tender light of stars,
That I will sit and listen
  With a love so strangely sweet,
Wrapped within the heavenly glory,
  For the coming of His feet.

But in patience, uncomplaining,
  I will wait and watch alway,
Trusting that the heavenly Presence
  Will turn darkness into day;
And along the lessening dimness,
  Where the light and shadow meet,
I will know, with sight unclouded,
  Of the coming of His feet.

—Our Dumb Animals.

Books and Reading for Winter Evenings.

The long evenings at home have begun. The Winter evenings are the most fitting time for reading and study. We do not here refer to the lessons which the young folks in thousands of homes have to study and prepare—though these are very important—but a great deal depends upon the culture and knowledge which young people, not attending any school, obtain by spending the spare hours of the long Winter evenings in the perusal of instructive and entertaining books and papers. In these books the doors of the temple of knowledge are open to all classes and conditions of people.

Some young people think all reading and study a task, necessary to be done to qualify them for the future work of life, and they go to their books in the same spirit they would go to turn a grindstone, or saw wood, or any other tiresome task. No doubt, reading and study are necessary to strengthen and sharpen the mind for the work of life. So far are we from denying this, that we do not hesitate to assert that the way the great majority of our young readers will spend the evenings of the coming Winter shall largely determine the character of their future lives. But we want to say something about the reading of good books as a source of interest and pleasure.

Everyone knows how often a piece of work, or a journey that had at first been regarded with aversion, has, by arousing and enlisting our interest, yielded real gratification. Anything, not in itself painful or repulsive, which thoroughly interests the mind, gives pleasure. This is especially true of books. Even a book that we may have thought of as dry and heavy, when we become interested in its facts, principles, or arguments, yields rich enjoyment. But there are hundreds of volumes, obtainable at comparatively small cost, which are eminently adapted to enrich the imagination and memory with elevating thoughts and pictures of life that will be "a joy forever."

We strongly advise the reading of books that will add to your stock of knowledge. The most valuable literature is that which makes us acquainted with what the gifted and good men and women of the past have done that is worth knowing, and have written that is worth remembering. History and biography unite interest and instruction in a higher degree than any other kind of literature. We would not absolutely lay a ban upon all novels, but life is too short to read more than a selection of the best. The same rule may be applied to poetry, though there is not the same temptation to waste too much time on poetry.

History and biography owe much of their charm to their being pictures of life, which bring us into living touch with men and women of other times who were moved by similar hopes and fears to those we have felt ourselves. With the aid of imagination we share the companionship of the "departed spirits of the mighty dead." And here let me drop, for a moment, the editorial "we," and speak in my own person. I know this charm and attraction of history of which I am speaking by personal experience. The heroes and heroines were not dead things to me in my boyhood. They were people with whom I had the pleasure of an intimate personal acquaintance. They were frequent visitors in my home. As I sat by the Winter fire, reading Rollin's Ancient History, Milton's Paradise Lost, Fox's Book of Martyrs, Hume's History, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, or Adam Clarke's life, I was carried away in spirit into scenes of intense interest, where weariness and care were forgotten. I was present at every battle, and took sides in the conflict. I was with Leonidas at Thermophylæ, with Miltiades at Marathon, with Epaminondas at Leuctra, with Xenophon in the Retreat, with Hannibal through his whole campaigns, with Cyrus at Babylon, with Alexander at Arbela, with Henry at Agincourt, and in many other decisive engagements, in which I certainly was not an indifferent spectator. I knew every foot of the way from the City of Destruction to the Celestial City, for had I not witnessed every experience of Christian and Christiana? The whole action of the Paradise Lost passed like a glorious vision before me. I followed the checkered fate of the persecuted Waldenses with absorbing interest. Every new volume was an introduction to new society, and now, after the lapse of many long years, I think of the great souls who peopled the world of my boyhood as familiar friends of other days. Apart from the knowledge I gathered from these readings, I am sure no form of worldly amusement could have given me purer or more intense delight. And this is one reason why I would urge all young people to read interesting and instructive books. An interest in good literature will render you independent of companionship, and will shield you from the temptations of frivolous amusements that waste life, and do not tend to build up a noble manhood and womanhood. Those who take no pleasure in books and reading are greatly to be pitied.—Christian Guardian.

The Pastor's Assistant.

One of the ablest and wisest ministers has said that the first duty of the pastor is not preaching the gospel to the unconverted, but training and developing the spiritual life of the church. If this is effectually done, the individual members become the most successful workers, by the power of a godly life and by direct effort, in reaching the unconverted.

Perhaps one of the greatest needs of church life at this present time lies just here. There is often a lack of adequate training of those who have been gathered into our churches. No observing Christian can fail to notice that a large proportion of the young people that join our churches are exceedingly ignorant of the Christian world. Many of them have not been brought up in Christian homes, and many, alas! of those who have are almost unacquainted with the Bible, with the principles held by the church which they have joined, with religious literature, with the state of religion in the world, and with the doings of the great denominational societies and general agencies for the propagation of the gospel. Now is the time for them to be instructed and educated. They have the essential, the divine life already begun in the soul, they have experienced a real change of heart; but they have yet to learn the new world into which they have been born, to rise to an appreciation of the heritage which is theirs, to grow in grace and be developed into full-statured manhood and womanhood in Christ.

Doubtless many a pastor has felt the pressure of this need, and has longed amid the urgent duties of his position, the numberless calls in every direction, and the manifold drafts upon his energies, to do more for those who are in the formative period of Christian life. But the pastor can not do it all. He is human and limited. He needs an assistant, who shall talk to his people when he can not, and visit them oftener than he is able. Such an assistant is at hand for the service of every pastor, an assistant whose salary is small and easily raised, whose visits are always welcome, who has a helpful word for everybody, whom the people learn to love. This assistant is the Christian newspaper. It is one of the best agencies in the Christian world to-day. Its educating power can not easily be estimated. It comes into our homes, is a companion at our fireside, and leaves its good words with us in permanent form. The young man in a boarding-house can find room for this guest, though he has no home of his own. It is in place alike in the finest and in the plainest abode.

Every young Christian should be a regular reader of one of our best papers. If it is not in the family, then he can not make a more profitable investment than to subscribe for it himself. It will do more to broaden his knowledge and sympathies, to beget a taste for healthy religious reading, and to stimulate his thought on religious subjects of living present interest, than almost any other external means.

Of course, the religious newspaper will not do everything, nor will its influence take the place of other means of education; but it is one of the means at command. It is so accessible and practical, so good in itself, and can so easily be made helpful to many more than are using it, that those who are now readers ought to labor to increase the number simply for the good it will do. Advise a person to subscribe for a good paper just as you would advise him to buy a good book, because it will be helpful to him. To guide a person into right reading is to confer on him an unending benefit.—J., in the Standard.

Patient Pastors.

Among other wise directions to Christians, the great apostle to the Gentiles gives this: "Be patient toward all men." This may have special application to the ministers of the gospel, who have charge of souls. If they would be as far as possible from that unseemly and pernicious thing known as playing "lords over God's heritage," they will need a great amount of this lowly grace called patience. Toward all classes of the people for whose souls they "watch as they that must give account," they must exercise this valuable, but not easily attained virtue. Oh, how much there is to try the patience of pastors! Who shall be able to tell the daily vexation of spirit they endure? Even their best members, now and then, forget or lose sight of duty and the highest interests of God's cause; how much more do the masses of the church wound their pastor's soul, disappoint his hopes and cast down his well-grounded expectations! And in every charge there are some persons who seem set for the special worry and painful disappointment of their ministers. The very thing they ought not to do at a particular juncture is just what they do; they fail just where you particularly relied on them; and when they have found a sore place in your spirit, they take pains, by supplying an abundance of continual irritation upon that very spot, that you shall not be healed there. Many are the temptations to "let them have it!" to take that lash, a tongue that is "like a sharp sword," and "cut the very hide off them!" How much easier than to be silent and smiling, or prayerful and prudent, is it to mount the rostrum of the pulpit, and whip in hand flourish the terrible weapon with relish, and lay on with vigor till the air resounds with the crack of the thong, and the victims wince and bleed with every stroke! So readily do we acquire the habit of reproof and denunciation; so quickly do we gain a taste for this species of forensic calisthenics that makes our blood circulate fast and imparts a fiery strength, like the taste of brandy in the mouth, that some of us never preach without dealing in a degree of it. We are never altogether "sons of consolation;" among the sweetest things we utter are mingled bitter drops as hot as pepper and scalding as vitriol; we can not help, before we are done, getting on the well-worn track of caustic complaint and cutting severity. The poor, limping[sheep have a crook broken over their heads every time their shepherd appears in sight of his flock; the miserable, frisky lambs, that foolishly desire to jump over the enclosure and caper outside the fold, are caught roughly by the hind leg and whacked till they feel it through thick fleece and tough hide. It is very true that these foolish youngsters neither recognize as quickly as they ought nor fear as they should the wolf of hell that prowls outside; but they are in some danger of mistaking us for him since catching and catching "for to kill and to destroy" is his business; and this furious mauling looks more like destruction than protection.

O for patience! O for power to be touched with a feeling of the infirmities of human nature! Not to condone sin, not to overlook serious faults, not to care more for our ease than the peril of the souls about us, but to put one's self in the place of others, and do what is best adapted to soften and melt down their hardness of heart and subdue their inbred enmity to the Lord Jesus and the works of the Spirit. We sometimes hear an uneducated man using a phrase he has caught up, Pray God to "touch and tender the hearts" of men. The idea is correctly phrased in one of Charles Wesley's hymns:

"With softening pity look,
  And melt my hardness down;
Strike with thy love's resistless stroke,
  And break this heart of stone!"

That is effectual work! O for grace to be patient and wait till we get and can use that power—"Thy love's resistless stroke!" It is worth all the bastinados and knouts and cat-o-nine-tails in the world.—Episcopal Methodist.

Recognizing the Light from Heaven.

Dr. Dale, in his recently published book, "The Living Christ and the Four Gospels," tells of a Japanese gentleman of considerable intellectual culture and great mental activity and vigor who gave him the following account of how he became a Christian: He had been a Confucianist, but could not find in Confucius any clear, satisfying teaching on the subject of God, though he sought for it eagerly.

While thus unsatisfied and perplexed under the ambiguities of the great sage of China, a friend gave him a Chinese Bible, asking him to read it, and assuring him that the translation was an achievement of scholarship, and possessed of great literary merit. "I found he was right; the translation is admirable. I read page after page until I came to the 13th chapter of St. Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians, beginning, 'If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.' I read the whole chapter. I was arrested, fascinated. I had never seen or heard or dreamed of a morality like that. I felt that it was above the reach of the human race, that it must have come from heaven, that the man who wrote that chapter must have received light from God—from God, about whose existence I had been speculating. And then I read the Gospel of St. John, and the words of Christ filled me with wonder. They were not to be resisted. I could not refuse him my faith." This Japanese gentleman did not enter upon any question of the authorship of the Fourth Gospel, nor did he insist upon knowing what proofs were forthcoming as to St. Paul having written the Epistles to the Corinthians. Whoever wrote these passages had "received light from God." That was enough. He saw the light, and recognized it to be divine.—The Christian Register.

The Aroma of Life.

Beauty hath its charms, but the charms of gracious manners far outweigh them. The manners that express a kindly, sympathetic heart, open to the influence of another personality as the flower to the sun, and as unconsciously giving back its own fragrance, are a gift that far outshines physical grace.

Who of us have not forgotten a plain face, or seen it grow beautiful under the witchery of beautiful manners, the expression of a well-poised mind? Learning can be acquired, politeness may be cultivated, but manner is the expression of the nature, and brings the object to its own level, at least, for the moment. We go out from the presence of gentle manners at peace with the world. Some of us carry the ideal of perfect grace with us, aspiring, but never reaching, saying with Petrarch, "I have once beheld on earth angelic manners and celestial charms, whose very remembrance is a delight and an infliction, since it makes all things else appear but dream and shadow." Tennyson says, "Kind nature is best," for he knew that offense could never come where the heart felt the brotherhood of man. What is rudeness but a disregard of another's rights? What is discourtesy but a disregard for another's feelings? Who that loves his neighbor as himself ever gives offense? We think of culture as the highest form of the intellectual, but it is perfect only as the heart has kept pace with his head, and sees in his own development a new responsibility, a new debt to the world. Manners are the expression of our nature. Manners are nature; politeness, veneering; and he is a dullard who is not able to distinguish.

Let us lose the phrase, "Learn to be polite," and say, rather, "Cultivate the heart and head, that the stature of a perfect man may be reached." True manners sees the limitations of another's temperament and opportunity, and leaves them untrammeled, knowing every man has his own code of morals and politeness which only individual development can change, feeling with Goethe: "We arrive best at true toleration when we let pass individual peculiarities, whether of persons or people, without quarreling with them; holding fast, nevertheless, to the conviction that genuine excellence is distinguished by this mark, that it belongs to all mankind." Could we only hold fast to the thought of the divine in every man! Could we only see that in acknowledging his right to his own nature, scarred or polished, that in every act of concession not involving principle it is "Jove nodding to Jove," how much social friction would be lost!

The man whose nature is harmonious does not find himself tormented with the thought of unacknowledged favors, of helplessness in awkward moments. He does not have to say, "Had I wist," for he does know. For, after all, what is manner but social presence of mind, a spiritual insight into the needs of the moment?—Christian Union.

Ready-Made Happiness.

We spend so much time getting ready to be happy! The party to-night, the picnic to-morrow, the journey next week, the preparation now, the fulfillment of our desire to-morrow, and the frequent disappointment of our expectations, day after day! This is the true history of many days, is it not?

Suppose you try for just one day to be happy in the little things that come without anticipation or preparation. Suppose you take note of your mother's smile and father's "Good morning," and baby's eager chuckle as you appear. Suppose you abandon yourself to a frolic without anxious care for the good time to-morrow. Suppose you give yourself up to the sunshine and the out-of-doors and the new book, and the helping father and mother for their sake purely. Suppose you talk with your friends about the pleasant things already yours, and let those of the future wait. Oh, you don't think that "Take no thought for the morrow" means you? But it does.

Heaven leaves a touch of the angel in all little children to reward those about them for their heavy cares.—Dinah Mulock Craik.

Paying too Much.

It is a truism that success often costs too much, and that men pay for it more than it is worth. It is always a mistake to put so much energy and force into securing success that when it is won there is no freshness of feeling or vitality of mind left to enjoy it. Few failures are more pathetic than that of the man who, in getting rich, has lost the power of enjoying the things which money brings. To burn out one's life in eager pursuit, and so seize the prize at last with a hand which can not hold it, is to write futility over a whole life. Force and energy are great and virile qualities, and they ought to be adjusted to the work to which they are set. They ought not to be put forth in blind disregard of the relative value of the final reward, nor in disregard of the conditions under which that reward may be enjoyed. Many a man impoverishes himself by the very magnitude of his success—puts so much of himself into the doing of the work upon which he has set his heart, that when the work is done the man who accomplished it is a spent force. When this happens, there has been a lack of adjustment between the energy put forth and the value of the end sought. For the worker ought always to be superior to his work; ought not only to survive it with undiminished power, but to be enriched by it. Shakespeare was not exhausted by the writing of "Hamlet;" he was, rather, enlarged in his thought and reinforced in his will by a task which held him to the highest exercise of his whole nature, but which did not drain him of his vitality. It is true that there are tasks which a man may not escape, and which consume his vitality, as those duties in the discharge of which one must count his life as dross; but these supreme tasks and duties are rare. To most men the opportunity is offered to determine the price they will pay for success. The danger of overpayment is, however, peculiarly insidious, because it is often not recognized until too late. The man who meant to fix the price he is willing to pay suddenly awakes to find that he has already overpaid. He meant to exchange time, strength and pleasure for success. He discovers that he has also parted with freshness of feeling, the capacity for enjoyment, the ability to use leisure, the faculty of friendship. Success costs more than it is worth when a man lets these things go out of his life for the sake of it; and the danger is that a man may lose them without being conscious of his loss. Every man must protect himself against his own success.—The Outlook.

A Deadly Parallel—Bishop Hurst on the Chinese Question.

[Extract from a sermon delivered by Bishop Hurst, of the M. E Church, in Foundry Church, Washington, D. C., on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30, 1893.]

The parallel between the American missionary in China and the Chinaman in the United States is almost perfect. The American missionary expects to send his savings back to America for investment. He expects to return to America as his final home. He does not adopt the Chinese costume. He sends his children back to the States for an education. He never becomes a citizen of China. He is an alien wherever he lives, and remains such until he dies or returns to America. How about the Chinaman in this country? He obeys our laws as well as the average American born in Geary's State of California. He wears his Chinese costume; sends his savings back to China; never becomes a citizen, and never desires to be. I do not wonder at his choice in view of the indignities placed upon him. But there are two respects in which the parallel totally fails: The American in China is not a producer of national wealth; but the Chinaman here adds to the national wealth of the United States annually within six millions of the total annual output of silver in this country. Further, and more striking still, is this difference: When the Chinaman comes here he makes no war upon the Christianity of the United States, but when the American missionary goes to China he wages an unrelenting war upon the national faith of the land, that has been followed since the days of Confucius. Loud indeed would be the wail in our Congress if five hundred Chinamen should be going up and down our cities, and following our water-courses, and haranguing people at street corners, and building joss houses and schools, and carrying on a ceaseless propaganda against the faith we love so dearly. But we do not hear that the Chinese government has yet voted a prohibition against the Christian missionaries, who have never ceased their evangelistic campaign, and I hope never will until Christian altars shall have been erected for all the three hundred and fifty millions of the vast empire. The Chinese government has never said: You shall not land, but if you ever do land, you must produce your letters of identity and exhibit a photograph of your alien face.

In God's even scale of justice which outweighs the other, the Chinaman with his tolerance or the American with his exclusiveness? Let us be careful to stop this great iniquity, and escape the danger of God's avenging justice.

There must be brain service, hand service, foot service, purse service, heart service, as well as lip service, if we would see answers to our prayers. A one-sided consecration does not count. God pays no heed to petitions that are words, words, words, and only words. He responds to no prayers that we can answer for ourselves.—Epworth Herald.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOW.

BY REV C. VINCENT.

There is never a night so dark and drear,
But there shines a gleaming star;
There is never a sky so blue and clear,
But a cloud will its beauty mar.

There is never a fruit without its speck,
Nor a rose without its thorn;
The sea, ere night, may the vessels wreck,
Though smooth and fair at morn.

There is never a grief without its joy,
Nor a storm without its calm;
The hearts that are crushed with care's annoy
Will find a healing balm.

There is never a plant so low and mean,
But has beauty rich and rare;
The brightest flowers, when closely seen,
Appear not half so fair.

There is never a life so lone and drear,
But can find its days of joy;
There is never a heart so filled with cheer,
But grief may its peace destroy.

There is never a ray of sunset beam,
But will lighten some lonely spot;
There is never an eye that with love doth beam,
But will brighten some lonely lot.

There is never a toil and never a care,
And never a grief nor fear,
But will lead to a time more bright and fair,
And the smile will follow the tear.

There is never a buried hope in life,
But a blessing leaves behind:
In spite of all the bitter strife,
There comes sweet peace of mind.

There is never a glance at a loved one dead,
Nor a clasp of dying hand,
But will comfort bring, when the thoughts are led
To that home in the better land.

In storm or calm, in shade or shine,
In grief or in wild despair,
Round lonely lives there still entwine
The joys which all can share.

Notice.

To All in the Mississippi Conference Interested in the Home Missions:

First, we would state to those who served our Conference Board during 1893, and who each received but seventy per cent. of their appropriations, our collection at the anniversary meeting (one-half of $35.10) added to the remnant from regular collections made so small an amount, it was decided not to disburse it at present. It will lie as a nest-egg in the treasurer's hands. We do trust all the brethren will closely adhere to our resolutions. Thus by the first of April we may hope enough will be in the treasury to allow a pro rata distribution to all who are serving the Board for the Conference year 1894. The anniversary report (to be printed in the Minutes) will show what proportion, and on what terms, the treasurer will be authorized to pay out quarterly.

In conclusion, allow me to exhort all preachers in charge to forward their domestic missionary money direct to Rev. T. S. West, at Jackson, Miss. He is our treasurer, and alone authorized to receipt for and disburse our domestic funds during the intervals of Conference. In time let me urge you not longer to complicate our affairs by following the old plan. At the Conference of 1894 we can not recognize any receipt except that of our treasurer.

As to the foreign missionary money, please send that, as heretofore, to Thos. B. Holt, at Nashville. He is treasurer of the Parent Board. It will save postage and exchange to send direct to him.

J. P. DRAKE,
Secretary Conference Board.

Edwards, Miss.

Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

SPECIAL SERVICES, FEB 6-11, 1894.

February next brings the 158th anniversary of the planting of Methodism in America.

The Central Committee of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society has determined to celebrate this anniversary with special services in their societies from Feb. 6-11. Programmes for each of these days, inclusive, will be furnished.

The society also takes the privilege of soliciting the aid of all the pastors of our church in bringing its work before our people, explaining its character and importance. We have, therefore, prepared a special programme of services for Sunday, Feb. 11, which we will furnish for all pastors who will kindly aid our work in using them. The morning programme only provides for a regular service, with appropriate songs, readings, and a sermon on the general subject of our work, which is the upbuilding of Methodism in the waste places of our land, and the carrying of the gospel to the poor, sick and lost ones in the dark alleys of our crowded cities—a work which surely commends itself to any Christian hearer. Our evening programme provides for a special service by the young people and the children. It has been carefully prepared, and consists of songs, readings, recitations and exercises in which all can engage, and which can not fail to delight and edify. We will furnish these programmes gratis to pastors, Sunday-school superintendents, Epworth Leagues, and any of our church societies that will agree to use them and take a collection for us at their meetings, Sunday morning or evening.

MRS. E. E. WILEY, Pres.
MRS. NATHAN SCARRITT, Gen'l Sec.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: Please allow me to report through the ADVOCATE amounts paid and promised on Indian Mission since my last report.

PAID ON SALARY.

Miss Nora Newbsker	$ 50
Miss Anna Jones	5 00
Mrs. Fannie Harris	1 00
Dr. Broomfield and family, by Rev. M. J. Miller	6 00
Rev. J. W. McLaurin	2 50
Rev. D. G. W. Ellis	2 50
Rev. Geo. Bancroft	50
Rev. W. W. Moore	1 00
Rev. E. H. Mounger	1 00
Woodville district, by Rev. P. A. Johnston	57 00
Mrs. Annie E. Rogers	1 00
Mrs. Florence Pollock	1 00
Rev. J. F. Robinson	10 00
Rev. J. H. Foreman	1 00
Rev. M. L. White	1 00
Rev. W. W. Morse	3 00
Dr. W. R. Lambuth	1 00
Col. W. L. Nugent	1 00
S. S. Cope	3 00
Hon. Peter James	1 00
Terry Church	1 00
Rev. W. M. Sullivan	1 00
Rev. W. T. Woodward and wife	2 00
A Friend	1 00
Rev. J. D. Ellis	25

PROMISED ON SALARY FOR THE YEAR 1894.

Rev. H. W. Featherstun	$ 2 50
Dr. W. R. Sims	5 00
Rev. A. F. Watkins	5 00
Rev. W. J Ferguson	2 50
Rev. H. E. Partridge	5 00

(Others promised, but did not put down amounts.)

PAID ON LAND AND SCHOOL.

Pearlington charge, by Rev. R. B. Downer	$ 3 00
Rev. P. A. Johnston and wife	15 00
Miss Annie Linfield	3 00
Mrs. W. S. Barefield	3 00
Rev. W. W. Cammack	10 00
J. H. Mars	2 00
Rev. W. H. Lewis	10 00
Rev. T. E. Wineooff	10 00
Dr. I. G. John	10 00
Rev. I. L. Peebles and wife	10 00
E. J. Guice	10 00
Rev. W. M. Stevens	5 00

PROMISED ON LAND.

Rev. H. W. Van Hook	$ 5 00
Rev. D. G. W. Ellis	2 50
— Davis	1 00
Dr. J. M. Weems	10 00
J. B. Oden	2 50
J. W. Toles	5 00
Rev. W. T. Griffin	5 00
Rev. B. F. Lewis	10 00
Rev. G. H. Galloway	10 00
Rev. G. D. Anders	10 00
Rev. E. F. Edgar	5 00
Rev. W. P. Jones	5 00
Rev. W. T. Currie	10 00
Rev. W. W. Morse	5 00
Rev. J. P. Drake	5 00
Rev. R. F. Witt	10 00
Rev. W. M. Sullivan	5 00
Rev. P. H. Howse	10 00
Dr. I. W. Cooper	5 00

(Others promised, but did not put down amounts.)

And we have many promises on salary on the five years' instalment plan. Hope the brethren and sisters will not forget, but will remit this Winter, or early in the Spring. I only raised about $250 on salary for Conference year just closed, and hence the Mission Board had to help largely in support of our missionary, and other missions had to suffer on that account.

Brethren and sisters, let's not let that occur again. Please help in this important work, "and that right early." Send, as before, to Oak Ridge, Miss.

Your brother in Christ,
A. D. MILLER.

Oak Ridge, Miss.

In Japan.

AN OLD SHINTO PRIEST.

(Continued.)

Among other accounts given to me by the old man was the following:

"The things which I did every day when I was in Kotohira Mountain are as follows:

"I was always getting up about four o'clock in the morning, and cleaning all yards and all rooms every morning, though it rains cats and dogs, and it was always taking the hours about four. After the cleaning was finished I was always taking the bathing with cold water for cleansing the body before going to front of god for worshiping. After the bathing with cold water was finished I knelt down to the place where the image of god is, and worshiped, reading the book which is called Shin-gyo-jiharai. I was always finishing those things by dinner time. It was my business that after dinner I always visit the people's houses for worshiping the gods of their houses. If I worship for the people, they will give me ten cents, or twenty cents, or rice. On spending the months and days for fifteen years with such business, I closed the money about sixty dollars. After returning from people's houses I had to pray to the god for the sick people; therefore, I took the bathing with cold water again for cleansing the body before going in front of the god. After bathing was finished I knelt down in front of an image of god and worshiped for sick people. After worshiping was finished it was my duty to watch the gate till twelve o'clock in the night.

"These are all the things which I did from rising up till sleeping time when I was in Kotohira Mountain."

THE END.

Now, you have had enough about the Shinto priest. Shintoism is a kind of hero and ancestor worship. Buddhism is the other heathen religion of Japan.

H. G. HAWKINS.

Matsuyama, Japan.

Shut the Gate.

Who will rise up and shut the gate? What gate? Gate of the M. E. Church, South. Against what? A flood-tide of worldliness. How? By legislative act. When? At the next session of the General Conference.

Evidently the world is in the church to a very alarming extent. Do not a host of the church's devout friends cry out, warning us that in some instances the predominant worldly element in the church gives complexion to all its proceedings, and threatens to subvert the very fundamentals in her polity? What the cause, or causes? May we not find, at least, one cause in the kind of people received into the church? The Methodist Church receives two classes into her membership, viz.: (1) converted persons, and (2) unconverted persons. There is but one condition previously required, viz.: "A desire to flee the wrath to come," etc. Consequently, it sometimes transpires that people with no religion at all, only a "desire to flee the wrath to come," are received with the hope of conversion. But where the desire is fixed the evidences will follow: 1. Doing no harm. 2. Doing good. 3. Attendance upon the ordinances. But, sad truth, these evidences in many cases fail to abide.

But, perhaps, the chief cause rests in the removal of the class meeting and probation tests. The right of challenge to the entrance of any candidate for membership rests wholly with the pastor. As the law now stands, if the individual profess "a desire," has the pastor any option in the matter? It would be a miracle if the pastors were uniform at this point. Every restriction is removed except the prerogative and judgment of the pastor, and a flood-tide has swept in upon us. Don't understand us to clamor for ancient landmarks, but something better than the present state.

Once traveling through a lovely country, I was surprised to find beautiful fields, in many instances, occupied by foreigners. Along lovely lawns I read signs like these, "German Saloon," "Beer Garden," "Grape Field," etc., and witnessed wholesale desecration of the holy day. I expressed my painful surprise to my kind host, remarking, "This is becoming a problem for the citizens of this locality; this element and influence will tell upon your young men." With great vehemence, he replied: "It has already told. It is telling most fearfully on our boys and young people. It is high time to shut the gate. We have enough of this kind here. They ought to have been shut long ago; as they were not, the longer the worse." Now, I do not discuss this experience vs. theory in emigration. Yet in the church, I think, I see a parallel. And the words of the man ring in my ears, "High time to shut the gate." The gates are raised. How the tide threatens our inundation! Who will show us a more excellent way?

E. B. GALLOWAY.

Woman's Work.

Mrs. J. S. Parker, district secretary, reported, Oct. 20, Seashore district "on the up-grade." Two auxiliaries added since the annual meeting in June, one of which organized at Purvis, a small place, and but few ladies, with a membership of twenty-one, and a good prospect of more in the near future. It is to the efforts and prayers of our dear sister and prospective missionary, Mrs. E. Leon Whyte, that we are, under God, indebted for this strong auxiliary. Rev. J. S. Parker was present at the organization by invitation, and gave an encouraging talk.

Rev. N. B. Young reported an auxiliary of forty or fifty members at Mt. Pleasant, Vaucleave circuit.

Bay St. Louis Auxiliary, weak in numbers, but strong in faith and full of good works, raised their five dollars for Miss McNemar's education, and purpose adding to it until January. "They love to have a special work."

Moss Point Auxiliary and others have raised their quota.

There are eleven auxiliaries in the district, less one, perhaps, as they have not reported for so long.

"While we are by no means up with the Meridian district in financial or numerical strength, yet we rank second best in the Conference. By way of postscript, I would say that the Seashore district is the only one in the Mississippi Conference which has paid in full its apportionment on the old missionary debt."

Nov. 24: "We have just sent on our contribution to the McNemar fund from this auxiliary (Lumberton). Work prospering in the district."

MRS. E. D. JONES.

A Correction.

MR. EDITOR: In the ADVOCATE, of the fourteenth instant, among the appointments for the Seashore district, you have "Amerious, G. R. Ellis." The appointment as read out by the Bishop is, "Amerious and Escatawpa, G. R. Ellis, and one to be supplied, by D. C. Rawls." Please correct, as my postoffice will be Escatawpa, and not Amerious.

G. R. ELLIS.

Augusta, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: The notorious Louisiana State Lottery is sending out millions of copies of what they call the "Capitol Almanac" to merchants all over the country, with their business address printed on the back. They send them, express paid, to each particular merchant, and do the whole thing without saying a word to him about it. These so-called almanacs have a very attractive covering, but are intended solely to advertise the lottery, as will be seen by looking through one. By this method they are making many of our prominent Methodist laymen agents to distribute their advertisements. Why don't our brethren burn them as fast as they get them, and warn people against them? They are going into thousands of our homes, unnoticed at first, but prove, after all, a temptation and a snare to our people. Beside the lottery advertisements the pictures in them are obscene, and unfit to go into our homes.

We have just had a fine meeting at Augusta. There were a number of conversions and sanctifications, and seven added to the church. Some useful material has been brought in and put to work. We were ably assisted by Rev. C. H. Ellis.

A. C. BURT.

Dec. 14, 1893.

Church Manners.

Nothing of minor import makes a deeper impression upon the human heart than little acts of kindness, and certainly nothing has a more pleasing and winning effect upon a stranger, in visiting a congregation, than polite and kind attentions from the pastor, or some official of the church. Every congregation should have its ushers, whether they be necessary to seat the people or not. These should be polite and courteous gentlemen, whose aim should be to make everyone feel at ease, and especially strangers and visitors. We have more times than one felt pained and embarrassed, while standing before a congregation, to see strangers and visitors lingering in the vestibules, as they seemed to say, "This is a cold reception," or "No man careth for my soul," while a dozen or more thoughtless officials sat at ease in Zion. This is, indeed, grievous and inexcusable, to say the least of it.

Godliness is profitable unto all things, and is certainly conducive to good manners. Many a man has aimlessly dropped into a church on Sunday morning, and from the kind reception and the word fitly spoken has been induced to return from time to time until God for Christ's sake has pardoned his sins and made him a workman in his vineyard. Here is a paragraph clipped from the New York Advocate, which we recommend to our churches which do not practice it, or some plan similar to it. It will win. Try it. It is headed:

"SENSE, HOSPITALITY AND PIETY.

"Not a great while ago we visited a church of another denomination, and on departing a young man said: 'We are glad to see you here, sir; we should be pleased to see you at any time.' Passing out, an usher handed us the following card, which blends politeness, candor and philosophy:

"To the 'Stranger That Is Within the Gates':

"'We welcome you in the Master's name to all the services of this church, and cordially invite you to share our privileges.

"'Should you desire it, our pastor and officers of the church would be pleased to meet you at the close of this service, or to call on you at your residence, if you will give your address on the reverse side of this card. Strangers who afford us no opportunity of becoming acquainted will kindly remember that it requires two to form an acquaintance; therefore, it is not the church's fault if we do not know each other.'

"It made a most excellent impression, not only upon us, but upon a young gentleman who attended the service with us, a stranger in the city."—Alabama Advocate.

A note from Ram's Horn relates to people who pray, "Thy kingdom come," but who do not even take a religious paper. The Religious Intelligencer chronicles the fact that there are people who give nothing to support missions at home or abroad, and who talk much about the degeneracy of the times, the lack of spirituality in ministers, the coldness and formalism of the church. A pastor "found many of his parishioners who were too poor to take their church paper, but who took secular papers and tales of fiction that cost four or five times as much. Cause: They had little relish for religious reading. Effect: Their relish for religious reading lessened every year. Mystery: They wondered why their spirituality was so dull and their children loathed everything of a religious character. Result: Those children who married or left home ceased church attendance altogether, and those of them who died gave no satisfactory evidence of the necessary preparations."—The Morning Star.

Advice to Young Converts.

Don't get discouraged if you happen to have some difficulties at first in your Christian life. The devil will make a hard fight to get you back, and will do everything he possibly can to destroy your faith. But don't waver. Keep holding on to Christ. Count upon his help every moment, and you will be sure to get it.

Read your Bible a good deal, for by doing so you will be giving God a chance to talk to you, and he can tell you things there he could not speak of anywhere else.

Join a church and be a worker in it. God will make a place for you there, and give you something to do. Remember that it is better to be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. A loafer in God's house is as worthless as one anywhere else.

Be faithful in attending the means of grace. Angels can tell about how much religion you have by the amount of rain it takes to keep you away from prayer meeting. Hear all the preaching you can, and try to carry the sermons home with you.

Speak in the social meetings every chance you get. The Lord will see that you do not run out of something to say, if you undertake to talk about his goodness.

Go to praying for the people around you who are unsaved, and remember that Jesus wants you to help him to get them to heaven.

Make up your mind in the start that the devil of fault-finding shall never go to church with you. Don't criticise the preacher or any of the members. The moment you begin to find fault you will begin to backslide. Don't look for flaws in people. Look for Christ. Try to see something in them that God sees, and every Christian you meet will make you richer.

Get a good Oxford Bible, silk sewed, with a flexible back, if you have to go without bread to buy it. Every Christian ought to have his own Bible, and one good enough to last him his life, no matter how much he handles it. By doing this he will get to know it so well that he can almost find what he wants in the dark.

Whenever you find a promise in the Bible mark it, and make it yours for life. That is one way to get faith that will move the arm of God. It is a good plan to tint the promises over lightly with a red pencil, and they will then stand out above everything else on the page.

The promises of the Bible are better than checks on any bank. They are God's word, and that can never break. Psalms xxxvii, 3, is good for house rent and board anywhere on earth, and you can have anything else you want by going into the next verse.—Ram's Horn.

Christian Courtesy.

It is a fallacy to suppose that manners are matters merely of social life; they belong to a man's whole life—his public as well as his private life. They have infinitely more to do with the success of public men than is usually supposed. They affect especially and profoundly the pastoral character and success. It is a great thing to be a true evangelist, but can you be completely so without obedience to the injunction of one who was more than an evangelist, who was an apostle—"Be courteous"? A public man who outrages good manners may not be altogether a moral nuisance, but he can not well be a salutary moral power in the community. His best theoretical instruction, if he be a public teacher, may not compensate for the continuous, insidious, demoralizing influence of his manners on his habitual hearers, especially on the incipient character of children and youth. The public teacher should above all things be, as Cicero insisted in regard to the orator, a good man; but, next to this, he should be a genuine gentleman. This phrase ordinarily has a somewhat ambiguous application; we need not say that we are not using it in its equivocal, conventional sense. We use it in the sense of the apostle's command, "Be courteous"—maintain your manners, he would say.—Christian Work and Consolation.

I do not ask you to be anything but a glad, sunny woman. I would have no counsels of mine recommended by long faces and formal behavior. I would have you at peace with heaven, with the world and with yourself; that tears shall flow only at the call of sympathy. I would have you immaculate as light, devoted to all good deeds, industrious, intelligent, patient, heroic. And crowning every grace of person and mind, every accomplishment, every noble sentiment, every womanly faculty, every delicate instinct, every true impulse, I would see religion upon your brow, the coronet by token of which God makes you a princess in his family, and an heir to the brightest glories, the sweetest pleasures, the noblest privileges, and the highest honors of his kingdom.—Timothy Titcomb.

Difference in Gifts.

Many a heartache and many a sad mistake would be saved if young Christians might take care to read and ponder the following passage: "Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given unto us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait upon our ministering; or he that teacheth on teaching; or he that exhorteth on exhortation." It is so common a mistake for all to wish to be leaders and teachers, and for people to shrink from humble ministry, which is equally acceptable to the Master. He has given gifts differing to the various members of his church, and it is his will that they should be content to follow the diversity of their gifts, instead of striving after the gifts which have been bestowed upon others. If each one would be content to use the talent or talents which God has intrusted to us, instead of trying to reach after a task for which we are not fitted, the work in God's kingdom would go much more smoothly, and would prosper as God intended that it should. It only requires a little observation to understand how infinite is the wisdom which has made us all to differ, and we ought to be able to understand from this simile of the human body how much better it is for each member to do the work allotted to it, and for which it is fitted. No work is too humble to do, if God appoints it for us, and the great and small task are alike blessed ministry when done for his sake.—Christian at Work.

Beating the Air.

Beating the air is quite common in the church. The minister who spends his time and strength preaching against errors which do not exist in his community "beateth the air." The preacher who preaches on secular topics and about the fringes of truth, and never comes home to the center of the gospel; who preaches to the intellect, and not to the heart; who delights the refined taste of the cultured, but never arouses the conscience of the ungodly, "beateth the air." The church that conducts revival meetings for six weeks in succession without witnessing the awakening of one sinner or the revival of one lukewarm soul, beats the air. The Christian people who labor hard to build up Zion and pull down the strongholds of wickedness in the community by holding festivals and sacred concerts and other entertainments, are engaged in beating the air. They weary themselves out of breath and out of temper, but accomplish nothing. The soul that struggles to subdue lust, to overcome temptation, and to become righteous by fasting, by bringing to bear the strength of his will and all his energies, without giving his heart to God, beats the air. The more he struggles the worse become his entanglements, and the more his strength is wasted. To overcome a sinful heart we must open the door and admit the Conqueror, who stands knocking. To pull down the strongholds of sin, we must use the weapons God has provided, laying aside all carnal weapons. Effectual blows can only be dealt with the gospel of the Son of God.—New York Advocate.

Esteem Your Pastor.

When tempted to think lightly of your pastor, think of how much you are indebted to him for starting good thoughts, for inciting you to noble resolutions, for directing you into right channels, for helping you in every good work. He moves among you in ways you little imagine. No one rightly disposed can sit under the preaching of a minister Sabbath after Sabbath, and come under his influence week after week, without being more or less effected by what he says and does. His counsels, his warnings, his instructions, his prayers, and his examples are more or less helpful and inspiring, and one must, in his thoughtful moods, trace to him much of the good that he does, of the resistance of the evil that he makes, of the stimulation which he enjoys, of the spiritual quickening which he receives, and of the better living he manifests from time to time. His faithful ministry is indispensable to individual and church life and development. It is foolish to talk against it, as it is possessed by you Sabbath after Sabbath. It may not be all that it ought to be and might be, but it is the best you have, and would be better if everyone encouraged and sustained it as he might and should do. Talk it up, not down, and note the increased benefit which you derive from it.—The Presbyterian.

When Mr. Spurgeon was a little boy he was fond of reading. Once a book which was not a good one, was loaned to him. His father punished him for reading it. He himself said afterward: "I should like to be able to forget even the half I read in that book; but I can not; it sticks to me like glue. Bad books are terrible things."

HYGIENE.

Acidity of the Stomach.

A not uncommon disease is acidity of the stomach, and it is also very annoying. It has lately been decided that it generally has its cause in the nervous system rather than in the stomach itself, and especially accompanies hysterics and nervous exhaustion, there being constant irritation of those nerve centers which control digestion. A chief symptom is vomiting, generally at least once a day, often at night or in the early morning, of a quantity of almost pure gastric juice, unmixed with remains of food, but often bile stained. It occurs chiefly in young persons or those below middle age, often periodically, without any apparent cause, the patient waking in the night with heartburn and severe cramping pain in the stomach, thirst, etc., succeeded shortly by copious vomiting. There is often headache, restlessness, and altered expression of the countenance. The attacks may last for twenty-four hours or a few days, and in some hysterical cases for weeks or months. The acidity of the vomited matter varies from .08 to 4 per cent. in different cases (average normal gastric acidity during digestion equals .2 per cent.). It digests albumen well, is free from organic acids and presents all the characteristics of almost pure gastric juice. There is usually increased appetite and a frequent craving sense of hunger, compelling the patient to eat frequently during the day, and even to rise at night to satisfy it, increased thirst, heartburn, and pain in the stomach, particularly at night. When the disease lasts for any length of time there is wasting and anæmia. The disease is rare, according to Reichmann, he having noticed only six cases amongst several hundred examined with the sound. Treatment consists in washing out the stomach so as to free it for a time from its acid contents.

The hygienic treatment should consist first in quieting the nervous system by bathing the head and back of the neck in cold water or rising, a good deal of friction to the skin to bring the blood to the surface, abstinence from food for at least two or three days, meantime drinking freely of pure cold water, and after this for at least one month, only one meal daily, consisting of stale bread, poached eggs, baked potatoes, a little milk if it agrees. A glass of hot water may be taken a half hour before the meal. One meal a day may seem unwise to many, but it gives the nervous system time to adjust itself to natural conditions and no harm need be feared.—The Journal of Hygiene.

Mental Health.

One of the signs of mental health is equanimity of temper and the ability to bear with indifference or even pleasure the little trials of life, and especially those which come from scolding, petulant, cross, irritable persons. To this end the art of not hearing too much should be learned. There are so many things which it is painful to hear, very many of which, if heard, will disturb the temper, corrupt simplicity and modesty, detract from health and happiness. If one falls into a violent passion, and calls us all manner of names, and we can shut our ears and not hear it, or if we can laugh at the words instead of becoming ourselves excited, it is a sign of a healthy nervous system. If in the quiet voyage of life we find ourselves caught in one of those domestic whirlwinds of scolding, and we can shut our ears as a sailor would furl his sail, and, making all tight, scud before the gale, it is a sign of a healthy well-trained nervous system. If a hot, restless one begins to inflame our feelings, and we can consider what mischief the fiery sparks may do in our magazine below, where our temper is kept, and instantly close the door, it is a sign of health. It may take will power and effort to train our brains to such a state as this, but it is worth the effort.—Ex.

Remedy of Earache.

"I am afraid I have greatly interfered with my own practice," said a celebrated aurist, "by giving the following advice to many of my friends: 'At the first symptoms of earache let the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a thick towel and tuck it around the neck; then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water. Continue doing this for fifteen or twenty minutes; the water will fill the ear orifice and flow over on the towel. Afterward turn over the head, let the water run out, and plug the ear with warm glycerine and cotton. This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost invariable cure, and has saved many cases of acute inflammation. The water should be as warm as possible, not too hot.'"—Exchange.

At the close of a long prayer by a father who had prayed for a poor family, his son said: "Father, if I had as much wheat in the barn as you have, I would answer that prayer myself."—Exchange.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. C. McDonald, P. E., Forest, Miss., Dec. 18: "I have been down with la grippe since my return from Conference. I hope to send a list of appointments soon. Will be glad to hear from our district preachers when they get moved into their new homes."

Rev. B. P. Fullilove, P. C., Mashulaville charge, North Mississippi Conference, Dec. 18: "Before we had arrived at our new field and new home there had been a storm through these parts. When we arrived we found that there had blown into our new home flour, meat, sugar, coffee, rice, potatoes, soda and soap. These good people know how to make a Methodist itinerant and his family happy. May the Lord give us success this year and access to the hearts of his people this year, and may the Lord bless them abundantly both in temporal and spiritual blessings."

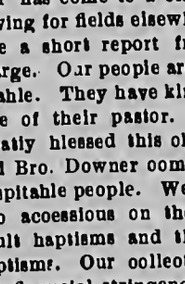
Rev. M. E. Tumlin, Shannon, Miss.: "We are pleased with our return to Shannon, and have had a kind reception. The Bishop has given several of us the privilege of going over the ground already trod. We had Bro. Stone, our ex-presiding elder, with us at old Palmetto the Sunday after Conference. The congregation was good, and much moved by the sermon preached by him. He has lived at Verona for twenty-two years, and has done regular Conference work as appointed by the Bishop. His friends are legion, for 'they are many.' Their prayers and best wishes follow him May the Lord bless the outgoing and incoming presiding elder and give us all a good year!"

Rev. R. A. Breland, DeKalb, Miss.: "In obedience to the appointment of Bishop Key, I returned from Hazlehurst to this place to finish my fourth year here. I think it due the good people of this charge that I speak of them and their work through the columns of your paper. Some persons who have never lived here, and who have heard only one side of the story, think that there are no good people here, that everybody is lawless and bloodthirsty; but I want to say to all who hold such opinion that such is not the case. It is true that there are some who favor mobs and lynching, but a majority of the people of this county are opposed to such proceedings, and are now organized against it. I want to say for the encouragement of my successor, that there are a great many pastoral charges not as desirable as this one. These Kemper county people love their preacher, and, as a rule, stand by him to the last. To prove this, I will only say that the preacher always stays the full four years on this circuit. As a further proof of what I have said, I will tell you that a few nights ago the citizens of DeKalb turned out en masse and pounded their preacher, bringing flour, sugar, coffee, sausage, salt, soap, rice, cabbage, cake, etc. The Lord bless us and give a prosperous year!"

Rev. H. Wallace: "The Conference year has come to a close, and before leaving for fields elsewhere we wish to give a short report from Covington charge. Our people are kind and hospitable. They have kindly taken good care of their pastor. The Lord has greatly blessed this charge this year, and Bro. Downer comes to a kind and hospitable people. We have had fifty-two accessions on the work; eleven adult baptisms and thirty-two infant baptisms. Our collections, owing to the financial stringency and its effect upon the lumber and other enterprises, were very far behind—only a little over fifty per cent. We have spent about $170 repairing and painting the Covington Church. Built foundation under Pearl River Church—brick foundation, and nice fence around it; with $100 on hand at Slidell; cost of improvements on the Mandeville Church about $100, making a grand total of $925 this year—$445 last year. The pastor of this charge, owing to illness from la grippe, was unable to remain at Conference for its session, and not leaving his presiding elder a minutely written report from the work, is informed by his presiding elder that the work appeared in an unfavorable light before the Conference. May the Lord greatly bless these kind people! Giving the Lord all the praise for his manifold blessing during this Conference year, and praying God's blessings upon these people and their pastor, Bro. Downer, we leave for new fields of labor."

That Tired Feeling

The great benefit which people overcome by That Tired Feeling derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." J. B. Emerton, a well known merchant of Auburn, Me., says: "About 5 years ago I began to suffer with very severe pain in my Stomach, gradually growing worse. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, being convinced that I was troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver and Kidney troubles. I improved at once and am very much better and feel more like working.



Mr. J. B. Emerton.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

always gives relief and great comfort. It Is a God-send to any one suffering as I did."

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. Price 25c.

LOOK!

WILKINSON'S

Matchless Sulphuric Acid and Iron Tonic

WELL WATER.

The Most Wonderful Tonic in America.

Please Read Carefully What the Chemist of New Orleans and Board of Health Says It Contains.

BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE OF LOUISIANA, New Orleans, Aug. 9, 1893.

Mr. W. W. WILKINSON—

Dear Sir: Below please find the results of analysis of the sample of water marked "Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water," submitted to me for examination, accompanied by the following affidavit:

The State of Alabama—Butler County.

Before me, F. M. Black, a Notary Public in and for said County and State, personally appeared J. F. Bergamer, Sheriff of Butler County, who being duly sworn on oath, saith that he went to the well of Mr. W. W. Wilkinson on this day and seen the Matchless Mineral Water drawn from the well and put in a five gallon demijohn and labeled to A. L. Metz, M. D., Chemist of Board of Health, No. 63 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

(Signed) J. F. BERGAMER, Sheriff Butler County.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, July 20th, 1893.

(Signed) F. M. BLACK, Notary Public.

Color	Yellowish red and clear
Odor...(when heated to 140° F.)	Terebinthinous
Taste	Very Astringent
Phosphates	Heavy Traces
Chlorine as Chlorides	8.102 grains
	Per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Equivalent to Sodium Chloride	5.083 grains
Sulphuric Acid	735.108
Iron (Ferric) Oxide	331.480
Iron (Ferrous) Oxide	101.920
Aluminum Oxide	7.681
Calcium Oxide (Lime)	30.476
Magnesia	26.872
Potash	2.822
Soda	6.045
Silica	6.049

These constituents are probably combined as follows:

Grains per U. S. gallon of 231 cub. inches
Iron (Ferric) Sulphate	836.200
Iron (Ferrous) Sulphate	218.775
Aluminum and Potassic Sulphate (Alum)	20.900
Calcium (Lime) Sulphate	74.013
Magnesium Sulphate	80.616
Sodium Sulphate	7.725
Sodium Phosphate	Heavy Traces
Sodium Chloride	5.083
Silica	6.049

The residue, after evaporation, crystallized, and the total weight, including water of crystallization, at 212° F., was 1.564 grains per gallon.

A. L. METZ, M. D., Chemist of the Board of Health of the State of Louisiana and of the City of New Orleans.

Cures Dyspepsia in its worst form, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diabetes, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Sores, Bilious Colic, Tetter, Ring Worm, Chronic Sores, Ulceration of the Womb, Throat, Catarrh, Debility. Best Natural Tonic in the World.

As a Tonic and Alterative.—A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful in one-half glass of water three times a day, directly after eating; but if stomach is soured, take before eating.

As a Cathartic.—Three to five tablespoonfuls in same amount of water.

For External Application.—Use as a wash without diluting (warm if possible).

For Injection.—If water is too strong, slightly dilute and use twice a day.

For Cholera Morbus and Cramp Colic.—Two tablespoonsful every hour or two until relieved (in a little water).

For Fistula.—Warm and wash with one-half water. Harness bruises, old sores or fresh cuts, same.

For Colic in Horses.—Pint. If not relieved in five minutes, repeat second dose. Never fails.

Will keep full strength for any length of time in any climate. Never dilute except as used.

Best Natural Iron Tonic in the World.

Cures Diseases of the Stomach and Purifies the Blood.

1. W. D. Rogers says: "Your Mineral Water has cured me of dyspepsia, and my wife of womb disease, when all else failed."

2. John H. McCullough says: "This water cured me of dyspepsia after suffering four years and trying medicine, doctors, etc."

3. W. D. Newman says: "I was afflicted for twelve years with tetter. Matchless Mineral Water cured me when all doctors and treatment failed."

4. Rev. Chas. R. Lamar was cured of dyspepsia of more than two years' standing by use of two gallons of Matchless Mineral Water.

5. J. H. Gilbert says: "Matchless Mineral Water is, beyond doubt, the best remedy known to me for sore eyes."

6. Jesse B. Basser says: "I have suffered long from chronic ulcerated sore leg. Offered $100 to doctors to cure. This water cured me."

7. Rev. J. M. Whitehead: "It cures every species of indigestion; can eat anything I want, and a good appetizer."

8. James J. Ingle says: "I have suffered five years with kidneys and liver. Have used one bottle. Most wonderful medicine I ever used."

9. J. G. Lightfoot says: "My son down five years. General debility and impure blood. Doctors failed. Two bottles Mineral Water cured him."

10. John Brannan says: "I was down three years with bilious colic. Spent $150 for medical treatment; grew worse; one and a half gallons. This water cured me."

11. Martin Eady says: "My eye was about out from gun cap in it. The two bottles of Mineral Water made a complete cure of my eyes."

12. George Green says: "I have been suffering fifteen or twenty years with chronic diarrhœa. The Matchless Mineral Water cured me."

13. W. J. Gardner says: "For seven or eight years I was victim of nervous dyspepsia and all its horrors. One quart Mineral Water cured me. Spent thousands of dollars for medical treatment. Would not go back for $10,000."

14. J. B. Brown says: "My only child, three years old, sick two years. Spent much for medical treatment. Child given up to die. Mineral Water cured him. I would not take $1,000 for benefits of that bottle of Mineral Water."

15. Mr. J. A. Davis, Bonham, Texas, says: "My horse was as sick with colic as any horse I ever saw. One pint of water cured him in five minutes."

Price: Per bottle, 25c, 50c, and $1.

Address C. M. PUSH,

106 Camp Street,

NEW ORLEANS, - - - LA.

Send stamp for circular.

READ THIS.

Board and Lodging by Day, Week or Month.

Regular meals, 25 cents. Lodging, 25 to 50 cents.

I endeavor to make my place home-like and comfortable. Give me a call.

MRS. BRAKEL,

No. 535 Chartres St., near Northeastern Depot.

ANGELL'S

HOMŒOPATHIC PHARMACY,

153 and 155 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Richard Angell, M. D., Proprietor.

DEALER IN

Homœopathic Medicines, Book and All Other Articles used in Homœopathic Practice.

Try Angell's Celebrated Whooping Cough Syrup.

North Mississippi Conference Colportage and Sunday-School Agency

KOSCIUSKO, MISS.

Any Good Book Furnished at Publisher's Prices.

A specialty is made of the Books, Periodicals and Sunday-school Supplies of our church, which are furnished at Publishing House prices exactly.

Bibles and Testaments, All Styles and Sizes, Are a Particular Feature of the Work.

Our House requests that all the business of this Conference be transacted through this office.

All orders for books or papers promptly filled, and all pertinent questions concerning good literature and our Sunday-school interests will be readily answered.

G. W. BACHMAN,
Colporter and Sunday-school Agent.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLES.

Largest Type Teacher's Bible in the World.

We have for years been trying to get a large type Teacher's Bible which was not too large and heavy. We have it in this series. Besides this feature, the helps are entirely new, and were written by the greatest scholars of both America and Europe, which guarantees their superiority over all others. Everyone who is familiar with the Oxford and Bagster Teacher's Bibles knows that the book printed in Minion type makes the most desirable sized volume, but the Minion type is too small for any but the best eyes; and while their books in Bourgeois type suit the eyes, they are entirely too large and heavy for convenient handling. This International Series overcomes both these faults by having the Bourgeois type book no larger or heavier than the much smaller type (Minion) Oxford and Bagster books, while the prices are much less than for books of corresponding type in any other series, and the bindings are not only similar in design, but equal in every particular to the older Teacher's Bibles; and some of these bindings are finer than those of any other Teacher's Bibles we have ever seen.

We are specially glad to be able to say that the prices of these Bibles are in many cases much cheaper than the Oxford or Bagster Books, while they are altogether equally well made and have the newest and best helps and Maps. We claim for these new Teacher's Bibles that they give

The Largest Type in the Smallest Book.

The Newest and Best Helps.

The Newest Maps, Which Were Made Especially for This Series.

Bindings Unsurpassed.

Smaller Prices Than Any Other Series.

We confidently assure our patrons that in the INTERNATIONAL TEACHER'S BIBLE SERIES we have the very BEST line of Teacher's Bibles ever offered.

Write us for a Descriptive Catalogue showing size of type, size of books, etc.

Address

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,

9 Chartres St., - New Orleans, La.

Jack-knife and Brambles,

BY

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD, Sr.,

Author of "Our Children," "Our Brother in Black," "The Man of Galilee," etc., etc.

"Jack-knife and Brambles" is a book of 308 pages, printed by Barbee & Smith, Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn. The price is $1, for which it will be sent, postpaid, to any address in the world. Order of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Positions Guaranteed.

Money for tuition can be deposited in bank till position is secured. Our 80 page "free" Catalogue will explain "all."

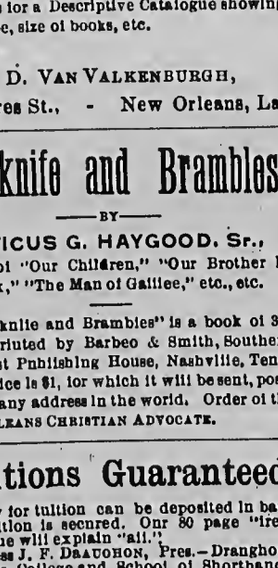
Address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres.—Draughon's C. P. Bus. College and School of Shorthand—Nashville, Tenn. Four weeks by our system of teaching bookkeeping is equal to twelve weeks by the old style. Enter at any time. (Mention this paper.)

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New Articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 27 Bond St., New York City.

DO YOU

Want a teacher for a Summer school? A bookkeeper for a few months while your regular man takes in the World's Fair? A fine young man for any kind of honorable work? If you do, write to DR. W. B. MURRAH, President, or J. W. CHAMBERS, Agent, of Millsaps College, and they will supply the man.

Kursheedt's Marble Works



120 and 122 Camp St., New Orleans

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

GREAT FAST MAIL ROUTE.

Four Daily Trains between NEW ORLEANS and CHICAGO.

The Only Line running Pullman Buffet Sleepers and Through Cars for All Classes to

CHICAGO,

AND SIOUX CITY, IOWA,

Connecting with all Buffet and Dining Car Lines East, and the ONLY LINE Running Through Cars for All Classes.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO CHICAGO.

St. Louis Without Change.

The Only Line running a Double Daily Train Service to

ST. LOUIS.

ONLY ONE CHANGE OF CARS FROM NEW ORLEANS TO

Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York

The great Steel Bridge, spanning the Ohio River at Cairo, completed, and all trains (freight and passenger) now running regularly over it, thus avoiding the delays and annoyances incident to transfer by ferry boat.

Arrive.	Leave.
Passenger.....9:30 p.m	Passenger....7:00 a.m
Chic. St. L. mail. 8:30a.m	Chic. St. L. mail 6:00p.m
Chic. limited...7:35 p.m	Chic. limited..11:30a.m

TICKET OFFICE: Corner St. Charles and Common Streets.

J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago.

Speed and Comfort Combined When Traveling

VIA THE

T. AND P.

THE SHORT LINE TO

NEW ORLEANS, MEMPHIS,

AND POINTS IN THE

SOUTHEAST

THE DIRECT LINE TO

North and West Texas, Arizona, Old and New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado and California.

THE FASTEST TIME TO

Hot Springs, Little Rock and St. Louis.

PULLMAN'S FINEST BUFFET SLEEPING CARS

On all Through Trains between

NEW ORLEANS AND DENVER,
NEW ORLEANS AND ST. LOUIS,
NEW ORLEANS and SAN FRANCISCO,
NEW ORLEANS, FT. WORTH and DALLAS

Arrive.	Leave.
No. 54, Cal. ex..7:00 p.m	No. 53, Cal. ex. 8:15 a.m
No. 52, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 6:50 a.m	No. 51, Hot Springs and St. Louis ex. 3:20 p.m
Local.....10:05 a.m	Local.....3:50 p.m

Lowest ticket rates, time tables, and all desired information will be furnished by any of the ticket agents of the Texas & Pacific R'y or

W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agent.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen'l Pass. and T'k't Agt.
L. S. THORNE, Third Vice President and General Superintendent, Dallas, Texas.

Yazoo and Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

All trains arrive and depart from new Passenger Station, cor. Howard Ave. and Rampart St.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Kansas City and Memphis Fast Train	5:00 p.m	5:45 a.m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.	3:10 a.m	5:35 p.m
Bat. Rouge "Coast Train."	8:40 p.m	10:00 a.m

The Only Line running Solid Trains between New Orleans, Memphis and Vicksburg, with Modern Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars through to Memphis and Kansas City.

The direct and favorite route to Kansas City, Denver, and All Points West.

The short line to Hot Springs and points in Arkansas and North Louisiana.

Commutation Tickets, Mileage Books, Party Rates and Week End Excursions.

Summer Excursion Tickets on Sale in season.

Ticket Office: St. Charles St., cor. Common.

JAMES DINKINS, Div. Pass. Agt.
J. W. COLEMAN, A. G. P. A.
A. H. HANSON G. P. A.

Queen and Crescent Route.

94 MILES the SHORTEST.

New Orleans to Cincinnati.

NEW VESTIBULED TRAIN.

The Queen and Crescent Special leaves New Orleans every afternoon at 5:00 P. M., via Birmingham and Chattanooga, for Cincinnati. Vestibuled and Gas Lighted. Through to New York and Washington without change. No extra charge for this superior train service.

The Queen and Crescent, and East Tennessee Virginia and Georgia are now running through Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from New Orleans to New York without change.

Ticket Office: 34 St. Charles street.

Depot: Corner Press street and Levee.

B. H. GARRETT, Div. Pass. Agent, New Orleans, La.
W. C. RINEARSON, Gen'l Pass. Ag't, Cincinnati, O.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY or commission, to handle the new Patent Chemical Ink Erasing Pencil. The quickest and greatest selling novelty ever produced. Erases ink thoroughly in two seconds. No abrasion of paper. Works like magic. 200 to 500 per cent. profit. One Agent's sales amounted to $450 in six days. Another $32 in two hours. Previous experience not necessary. For terms and full particulars, address, The Monroe Eraser Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.

PENSIONS.

BEING LOCATED NEAR THE GOVERNment Departments, are able to give your claims better attention than attorneys located elsewhere. Special attention given to difficult and rejected claims. If your present attorney does not suit you and is slow, write us. Soldiers who have lost their discharges can obtain new ones. Charges of desertion removed.

No fee unless you get a Pension. Advice free.

Soldiers pensioned at less than twelve ($12) dollars per month, and suffering from disability in addition to that named in their pension certificate, may obtain increase under the new law. It is not necessary for you to have gotten any ailments in war to get pensioned under the new law. Pensions for widows and children without regard to cause of soldier's death; for mothers and fathers who are now dependent, whether they were dependent on soldier when he died or not. Pensions obtained for service rendered in Mexican and Indian wars. Mexican pensions can now be increased to $12 a month. Suspended pensions restored.

PATENTS

Caveats, Trade Marks, Designs, Copyrights and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. Information and advice given to inventors without charge. Address

THE NORMAN CLAIM AGENCY,
Box 167, Washington, D. C.

MUSIC BOOKS for 1894

OUTING SONGS contains a splendid collection of selected and original Camp Songs, Road Songs, Sailing Songs, and songs for every phase of out-door life. Wheelmen especially will be delighted with it. Pocket size. PRICE 50 CENTS.

BROEKHOVEN'S HARMONY A celebrated system of Harmony based on the Richter principle, so familiar to all musicians. PRICE, $1.00.

KING RENE'S DAUGHTER by Julian Edwards. A new and beautiful one act lyric drama, recently produced in New York with flattering success. PRICE, $1.00.

DAY SCHOOL MUSIC The Cincinnati Music Readers make the best series of Graded Readers for Public Schools in this country. Revised and enlarged to five parts. Descriptive pamphlet free. Prices, Part 1, 20 cts., Part 2, 20 cts., Part 3, 20 cts., Part 4, 30 cts., Part 5, 35 cts.

THE JOLLY PICNIC A new and pleasing cantata for Juveniles, by C. H. Gabriel. Full of good music and bright dialogue. PRICE, 30 CENTS.

FAMOUS VIOLINISTS A little pamphlet containing short sketches of the famous violinists of the world. PRICE, 25 CENTS.

SINGING CLASS BOOKS The best of all. Send for specimen pages

Send 10 cts. for sample of The Musical Visitor, containing music for Choirs, and general musical news.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.,
CINCINNATI — NEW YORK — CHICAGO.

A NEW UNIQUE and VALUABLE Historical Ch[ristianity from the] Period through [mation has been] by REV. M. LOU[CKS, D.D.] of Dayton, Ohio. For particulars addr[ess] to him and receive circulars free.
REV. M. LOUCKS, D.D, Dayto[n, Ohio.]

POSITIONS GUARANTEED Guarantee to Writing. Send for free catalogue of DRAUGHON'S Consolidated Practical Business College, Nashville, Tenn. Cheap Board. No vacation. MENTION THIS PAPER.

Shorthand in Vest Pocket.

DR. LAFFERTY, the Stenographer to the Virginia Senate, has given the CONFIDENTIAL SYSTEM OF SHORTHAND in a series of simple, witty, chatty talks; each illustrated. You learn it while you laugh. 65 pgs. Price 50 cents. Address him, Richmond, Va.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE,
LEXINGTON, VA.

65th Year. State Military. Scientific and Technical School. Thorough Courses in general and applied Chemistry, and in Engineering. Confers degrees of graduate in Academic Course, also degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer in Technical Courses. All expenses, including clothing and instruction, provided at rate of $36.50 per month, an average for the four years, exclusive of outfit. New Cadets report Sept. 1st. GEN. SCOTT SHIPP, Superintendent.

No Tobacco. NO OPIU[M]
The only practicable way to reach
CATARR[H]
thoroughly and pleasant[ly]
A positive cure even if all e[lse] has failed. Sample FREE by ma[il]
DR. J. W. BLOSSER & CO.
DALTON GA.

LIGHT
WOVEN WIRE
FENCING
WIRE ROPE SELVAGE
RAILROAD, Farm, Garden, CEMETERY
LAWN, POULTRY and RABBIT FENCING
Thousands of miles in use. Catalogue FREE. Freight paid. MONTGOMERY WOVEN WIRE FENCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

CHURCH SCHOOL FURNITURE

Before purchasing any PEWS, PULPITS or any other Furniture, Church or write Wm. A. Morrow, No. 8 Noel Bl'k, Nashville, Tenn., for Catalogue.

WE WANT AT ONCE

RELIABLE MEN everywhere (local or traveling) to advertise and keep our show Cards tacked up in towns on trees and fences along public roads. Steady work in your own county. $70 A MONTH SALARY AND $3 A DAY EXPENSES ADVANCED every 15 days when started. FRANKS-HERMAN ELECTRIC CO., CINCINNATI, O.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING
CHURCH BELLS CHIMES & PEALS
In the World.
PUREST BELL METAL, (COPPER AND TIN.)
Send for Price and Catalogue.
McSHANE BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
THE VANDUZEN & TIFT CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.
Price & Terms Free.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY
SOLE MAKERS OF THE BOYMER BELLS
FOR CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM &c.
Catalogue with 2000 testimonials, Prices and Terms Free.

Christian Advocate

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. J. M. BEARD, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. W. CHAMBERS.
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D
REV. T. C. WIER.

Thursday, December 28, 1893.

The Necessity of Regeneration.

In these modern times there are those who deny the necessity of regeneration. We think a little reflection will suffice to show that our Savior never uttered a more profound truth than when he said, "Ye must be born again." Let us ask ourselves the question, "Would an unregenerate man be happy in heaven?" As a first step towards answering this question, let us ascertain the sources of his happiness.

Take two persons, equal as nearly as possible in native endowments and in culture, but differing widely in moral character, the one a superlatively devout man, the other wholly irreligious, and bring them into contact with the same objects; will their thoughts and their emotions be the same? Will their enjoyments come from the same source? Let them enter the sanctuary and occupy the same pew during divine service; will there be no difference in their inner experiences?

IN THE SANCTUARY

the Christian finds enjoyment of the purest, sweetest and most exalted character. To him there is indescribable sweetness in the songs of Zion, even though the music be greatly defective, viewed from an artistic standpoint. His enjoyment comes not chiefly from the effects of mere rhythm and melody, but from a far higher source. It is not so much the "concord of sweet sounds" that gives him pleasure as the lofty sentiments expressed in the hymn. The praise, adoration, thanksgiving, confession and supplication embodied in the words of the hymn inspire in his soul an elevated, sacred joy in comparison with which mere esthetical pleasure dwindles into insignificance. How is it with the wicked man? Will he find enjoyment in the service of song? That is conditional. The music he may enjoy, provided it is of a high order of artistic excellence; but his enjoyment is not at all dependent upon the sacred character of the words used. The same music set to other words would produce the same pleasureable emotions; and his enjoyment would be as great in theater or opera as in church—perhaps, even greater. So while both may find enjoyment in the service of song, their enjoyment is of a different character. The one is esthetical, the other moral. Next comes

THE PUBLIC PRAYER.

In that also the Christian finds enjoyment of the loftiest character. Each ascription of praise, each expression of adoration and thanksgiving meets a hearty response in his breast; and as the man of God lifts up his voice as the mouth-piece of the great congregation, and pours forth words of humble confession and fervent supplication, there arise in his soul feelings of joy more exalted than mundane things can give. How is it with the other man? Does he find equal pleasure in this devotional exercise? Nay, verily. Perhaps he hardly hears a word of the prayer, his thoughts being occupied during its delivery with secular affairs. If he listens to the prayer, it is, perhaps, to criticise its rhetorical and oratorical qualities. If there is a slip in grammar, he is sure to notice that. If there is a nasal twang, or some other oratorical blemish, that affords him a sort of malicious merriment. Thus again we see that the enjoyment of the two men comes from an entirely different source. After the prayer comes the

SCRIPTURE LESSON.

In that also the Christian finds enjoyment of the most exalted character. Whether the lesson read is descriptive of the attributes of the Most High, or illustrative of his dealings with the human race; whether it speaks of duty or of destiny; whether it is charged with Sinaitic thunders, or illumined by the bow of promise; or whatever may be its character, each word is to him a message from the skies. How is it with the godless man? Does he receive enjoyment from this part of the service? That is conditional. Some portions of Scripture he may enjoy. The lofty diction and bold metaphors of Isaiah and David, the inimitable sententiousness, the multum in parvo worldly wisdom of Solomon, the simple beauty of the parables of Jesus, the sublime imagery of the seer of Patmos, these may give him pleasure, but not more than would similar rhetorical qualities in Homer, Virgil, Seneca, or Dante. His enjoyment is esthetical, not spiritual.

THE SERMON

begins. That also gives pleasure to the Christian. Whether the subject of discourse concerns divine character or human obligation, whether it relates to creation, providence or redemption; whether it is a scrap of history, or a fragment of biography; whether it is a parable, or a proverb, a miracle, or a prophecy, a threat, a precept, or a promise; its elucidation gives enjoyment of a lofty type. Will the wicked man enjoy the sermon? That depends upon conditions not all dependent upon its spiritual excellences. Should the discourse contain a familiar classical allusion, a gem of poesy, an apt metaphor, a novel illustration, or a striking rhetorical embellishment of any kind, or should it be delivered with all the graces of the orator's art, these things would give him pleasure; but his enjoyment would not be in the smallest degree dependent upon the sacred character of the discourse. The same felicities of expression and delivery would awaken as great—perhaps, even greater—pleasure in a political, scientific, or literary address. Those parts of the discourse which from a scriptural standpoint are of most importance are to him least interesting. So while both may enjoy the sermon, their enjoyment is wholly different in character. Next comes

THE HOLY EUCHARIST.

To the godless man this holy sacrament is only an idle ceremony, an antiquated superstition, a performance as utterly senseless as the rites of ancient paganism. To the Christian this same sacrament is a veritable soul-feast. As he eats the bread and drinks the wine, emotions arise too big for utterance. His tremulous frame, his heaving bosom, his tear-soiled face express more eloquently than words can do the lofty emotions that burn within. And not only in the sanctuary, but everywhere else there is the same difference in the emotions of the two men. Bring them into contact with

NATURE,

and the difference will be equally apparent. The wicked man can gaze upon the gorgeous glories of the rising sun, the splendid pageant of the nocturnal sky and all the myriad beauties of nature without one pious emotion. With the devout man how different? To him each object in nature is a display of the handiwork of God. In the splendors of the noon-day and in the milder radiance of the gems of night, in song of bird and growth of plant, in sparkling dew-drop and in pattering rainfall, in the zephyr's sigh and in the rainbow's matchless beauties; in every object in the material universe,

"The invisible appears in sight,
And God is seen by mortal eye."

Now, what makes the difference in the emotions of the two? Clearly the difference is subjective, not objective. It has its origin in character. Convert the godless man, transform him into a genuine Christian, and he will experience the same emotions as the other.

The principle we have announced applies to the

ASSOCIATIONS

of men. You can scarcely afflict an utterly irreligious man more seriously than by restricting him to the society of those who are supperlatively devout. Between him and them there is very little in common. To them duty and love are the sublimest words in earth's vocabulary; to him interest and pleasure are terms of vastly higher significance. They love to talk of God and heaven; his conversation is of earthly things. Their songs and prayers are to him not simply insipid, they are positively distasteful. In his estimation all their talk about communion with God and a witnessing spirit is the twaddle of fanatical semi-lunacy. In such employments he finds no delight. From such associations he breaks away and seeks companionship with congenial spirits. Well, if he is not happy in the society of the good of earth, how could he be happy amid the associations and employments of heaven? Let it be remembered that death makes no change in character. Will a raven be transformed into a swan by opening his cage door? Will a vulture be turned into a canary by a mere change of habitat? Will a rogue become a paragon of integrity by the mere act of crossing an international boundary line? No more will a sinner become a saint by the mere act of crossing the boundary line that separates the visible from the invisible world. Death is only the separation of soul and body. The body returns to its original dust; the soul passes into the realm of the invisible with all its faculties unchanged. "He that is righteous, let him be righteous still; and he that is filthy, let him be filthy still."

HOW THEN

can the sinner be happy in heaven? Imagine a man who has not God in all his thoughts entering heaven and engaging in conversation with the hierarchies of the upper sky. They discourse upon themes high and holy. The works and the ways of God; the attributes of the Most High as they are revealed in creation, providence and redemption—these are the themes that engage their thoughts and employ their tongues. In matchless rhetoric they describe the enrapturing displays of deific skill and power they have witnessed in the various worlds they have visited. They rehearse the vicissitudinous histories of myriads of worlds fallen and unfallen, and deseribe in celestial strains the multitudinous ways in which God seeks to bless the sinless and to save the lost. And as they discourse upon these lofty themes, their countenances beam with joy and they burst forth into holy song, exclaiming, "Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of Saints." Will the sin-loving man find pleasure in all this? Impossible. The appetite of the vulture for decaying flesh will go with him, if you carry him into a palace. Just so the sinner's appetite for moral rottenness will cling to him, if you seat him on a heavenly throne and adorn his brow with a celestial crown. Jasper walls, gates of pearl, gold-paved streets, crowns of fadeless amarantb, harps of purest gold, rivers of crystal brightness, trees laden with ambrosial fruits—these things have no power to pacify a troubled conscience, or enkindle heavenly emotions in a sin-loving soul. Transport a wicked man to heaven, and he will be wicked still. Notwithstanding his celestial environments, his imagination revels in scenes of iniquity. His memory delights to recall the sinful experiences of his earthly life. Allow him to choose the theme of conversation, and, in the profane and vulgar slang of the bar room, he will talk of a game of cards he once engaged in with his boon companions in some dark den, or some other scene of revelry, some midnight debauch, some scene of filthy, disgusting licentiousness. And as his profane and ribald speech pollutes the atmosphere of heaven, the angels shrink back horror-stricken and flee from his presence as from a noisome pestilence. Would he be happy in such associations? Impossible. Heaven would not be heaven to him. What the sinner needs to make him happy is not a change of habitat, but a change of nature; not transportation to a celestial clime, but the regeneration of his soul, a renovation of every fibre of his moral being. "Ye must be born again."

Mistakes.

Among the many mistakes of this life, perhaps, there are few that do more harm than the feeling among many Christians that children can be "too young" to be taken within the fold of the church as professors of religion. Perhaps this objection is not as prevalent as of old, but yet quite prevalent enough.

"They," the children, "do not understand the sacredness of the vows they are taking."

"They will grow out of the church as they become older, and thus discourage others from coming into the church." "They may harm the cause by frivolity, careless living, acting and saying," dolefully murmurs the third.

Did the Savior say wait, let them try a worldly life first, then, if they tire of that, open the church doors of membership and let them enter? Did not he say, "Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein?" If we, full of unbelief and skepticism, must become as a little child before we can be as Christ would have us, why are not the children, whose hearts are not yet hardened by wrong doing, and who love Jesus and believe in him, as well fitted to be taken into the membership of any church as men or women who have spent many years in sin, and yet have the gates of membership opened wide for them?

If a child eight years of age dies, we are loth to say, "She is lost." If a child of that age is fit for heaven, is she not fit to enter the membership of any earthly church?

Why are we not more anxious to lead these little ones to the foot of the cross while their hearts are pliable and teachable and full of love and faith? When our little sons and daughters show a talent or liking for some vocation, we foster it by encouragement, and educate them with the hope that they may reach the front ranks in that calling. Would not we have more earnest, devoted Christians in our church ranks if their religious training had begun earlier in life, if they had been apprenticed to the church in early life, and trained to devote their best talents to doing for Christ and his church?

If a child studies for years under teachers who carelessly allow him to make crooked marks where straight ones should be, to drive nails in wrong places, to give medicine to destroy life instead of healing sickness; if after years of this wrong training, good teachers are given to set the learner aright, will it not be a difficult task to straighten the crooked training of so many years? Will they be apt to attain the eminence in their vocation they might, if they had been taught by the best masters from their earliest youth? Does not this apply to the well-doing of the Master's work as well as in worldly callings?

Which prove the better fitted and most useful in our churches to-day: those who, after a lifetime spent in worldliness, come in at the eleventh hour, or those who began to work in the early hours of their day? When we see so many Sunday-school teachers spending the greater part of the hour instructing their class in the history and geography of the lesson, letting the application of the subject to the sin-filled hearts before them pass by with scarcely a notice, one can not wonder that so few give their hearts to Christ in their youth. The percentage is too small in proportion to the attendance at our Sunday-schools.

Said a man, respected in his profession, speaking of what kept him from going into evil ways, as so many of his young associates had gone: "I credit it to the teaching of a faithful Sabbath-school teacher, through whose influence I became a church member when only fifteen."

Said another young man, active in church and Christian Endeavor work: "I thank God that I became a church member when but ten years old. I have never regretted taking that step so early in life, as it has been a check to me often when on the verge of yielding to the tempter."

The greater number of vices learned and sins committed, the more to undo when the new life of living for Christ is begun. Why not take the tender, teachable heart of a child and mould it for the Master's business before it is filled with Satan's devices and arts? How our hearts were gladdened last year, when the great army of Christian Endeavor gathered in a neighboring city. The sight of so many young people declaring themselves for "Christ and the Church" was inspiring to Christian people. But is that army as large as it should be? What is the number of active members in this grand army? Is the average as large as it should be in proportion to the number of Sunday-school attendants?

Let us, dear Sunday-school teachers, awaken, and help to draw the souls in our charge into active membership with some detachment of Christ's army, of whatever name or denomination most convenient to them. Let our object in teaching be the ingathering of souls for the Master.—Christian Intelligencer.

Delegates to General Conference.

The delegates elected by the Louisiana Conference to the General Conference are as follows:

Clerical—John T. Sawyer, James A. Parker, Charles W. Carter; alternates—James M. Beard and William H. LaPrade.

Lay—A. S. Helmick, M. D.; S. B. McCutchen, and William B. Thomson; alternates—U. T. Blackshear and Jas. W. Dawson.

NOTES.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. F. C. Black, of Winona, Miss., to Miss Jenule Lucy, of Helena, Ark. May Heaven's richest blessings attend the happy pair through all the vicissitudes of life!

***

We invite attention to the note in another column from Dr. Sawyer with reference to the finances of Louisiana Avenue Church. If there is a church in the three patronizing Conferences that makes a better showing than this, we would like to hear from it.

***

Our types made us say in our report of the proceedings of the North Mississippi Conference that J. D. Cammack was appointed a member of the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. It should have been J. D. Cameron.

***

In reporting the proceedings of the Mississippi Conference we inadvertently omitted the name of Rev. C. F. Evans, D. D. Dr. Evans has been transferred to the Memphis Conference and stationed at Central Church, one of the leading churches of the Conference. His many friends will be glad to know that the lines have fallen unto him in pleasant places.

***

The Mississippi Conference memorialized the General Conference to control the evangelistic movement. This was not solely or even chiefly the work of those who are opposed to the movement. Men who believe this movement to be of God voted for the memorial, believing that evangelists, like all other ministers, ought to be under the control of the church.

***

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, recently pastor of Dryades Street Church, was located at his own request at the last session of the Annual Conference. Bro. Clay took this step in order to give all his time to the society of which he is president, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, an organization which is doing a much needed work in this wicked city. Bro. Clay and his family have connected themselves with Carondelet Street Church.

***

We are in receipt of an invitation to attend the marriage of Rev. S. Shipman to Miss Emma Lillian Smylie, which is to take place in Central Church, Meridian, Miss., Jan. 3. Bro. Shipman is a member of the North Mississippi Conference, and is now stationed at Greenwood. Miss Smylie is a daughter of the late James J. Smylie, of the Mississippi Conference. The youthful couple have our heartiest good wishes as they enter the arena of married life.

***

Several typographical errors have crept into the last few issues of the ADVOCATE. Our readers can easily account for this when they learn that we have spent but three days at home in about three weeks, and that we did not carry our type writer with us when we left. A type writer improves our handwriting slightly. We think our printers would be willing to make a contribution towards the purchase of a type writer for some of our correspondents, who, like ourselves, have one mark of intellectual greatness—the ability to produce illegible chirography.

***

We hope those of our subscribers who are in arrears will remit at their earliest convenience. We have to pay cash for all our printing material, and our printers and other employees must be paid off every week. We are, therefore, obliged to conduct the business of the paper on a cash basis. We would be very glad to send the ADVOCATE to everybody without money and without price; but were we to undertake to do this, we would very soon be unable to publish it at all. We hereby serve notice upon those who refuse or neglect to pay their indebtedness that we can not continue indefinitely to send them the paper. A word to the wise is sufficient.

***

We had the privilege of worshiping on Sabbath morning at Carondelet Street Church, where we heard an excellent sermon by the pastor, Dr. W. H. LaPrade, from the text, "Glory to God in the highest; on earth peace, good-will toward men." The Carondelet congregation are rejoiced to have Dr. LaPrade returned for his fourth year. At night we attended Louisiana Avenue Church, and heard another good sermon by the pastor, Dr. John T. Sawyer.

This was our first visit to this church. The new building is a gem of its kind. The old building is retained and used as a Sunday-school room. The next session of the Annual Conference will be held here. This church seems to be in fine working order. The pulpit of Louisiana Avenue Church was filled in the morning by Rev. Harry W. Rickle, a New Orleans young man, just admitted into the traveling connection and assigned to Shreveport City mission. Bro. Rickle is a young man of talent and culture, and gives promise of a career of great usefulness.

From Our Exchanges.

There is a fine panel of strong young men coming on in the North Texas Conference. Unless I am much deceived, the church is going to be proud of them.—Texas Advocate.

The North Texas, like the Northwest Texas Conference, is too big. The Committee on Boundaries at the next General Conference will have to relieve us in some way.—Texas Advocate.

Dr. J. D. Barbee is a great favorite with the Texas preachers, especially with those of the North Texas Conference. His speaking and preaching at Wichita Fall was up to the usual high standard.—Texas Advocate.

Bishop A. W. Wilson will deliver the first series of lectures on the Cole Foundation, Vanderbilt University, during the coming Spring. The Nashville Advocate states that the Bishop will discuss "The Witnesses to Christ."—St. Louis Advocate.

Bishop Hendrix, who is in Mexico superintending the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in that country, was granted a reception by President Diaz. Thus courteous, considerate and helpful has President Diaz always been to the representatives of Methodism.—Zion's Herald.

Dr. Morrison called at the Wesleyan office last Monday, and reports most encouragingly of the work after visiting eleven Conferences. There has been widespread revival power in the West, a large accession to the church, and the financial reports, all things considered, are very good.—Wesleyan Advocate.

The reports at the session of the Pacific Conference were astonishing. In the face of the most discouraging financial misfortunes that have ever befallen the West, substantial advances have been made in numbers, finances and spirituality. The past year has been one of real victory.—Pacific Methodist Advocate.

Rev. Gross Alexander, D. D., has been selected to write the history of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for "The Story of the Religious Life of a Nation," to be issued by the Christian Literature Company of New York. There will be several volumes, and the eleventh will treat of the churchee in the South.—Exchange.

Now that the Conferences are about over, let everybody, preachers and people, go in for greater things for another year. Let the stewards who found it so difficult to rustle up the pastor's salary, because they had waited until the close of the year to make the effort, be warned by experience and go to work and keep at it until the docks are clear.—Texas Advocate.

When a man succeeds in electing himself editor of a church paper, a Conference organ, and at once switches it off on eccentric lines, and begins a war upon the church—undervaining her purity, piety and holy life—the feat will hardly be commended by the loyal sons of the church. If a man can find nothing better to do than to abuse the church, and cast odium upon her character and history, he ought to lay down his weapons and retire to private life.—Central Methodist.

Soon after his arrival in San Francisco from the South, Bishop Fitzgerald received from Bishop Goodsell, the resident Bishop of the M. E. Church, an invitation to accept the hospitalities of his home during his visit to the city. On Friday evening Bishop Fitzgerald and his wife dined at Bishop Goodsell's, and the two episcopal families, with other friends, spent a delightful evening in Christian fraternal intercourse. This is only one of many similar courtesies extended to Bishop Fitzgerald by our brethren of the M. E. Church during his present sojourn in California. He is highly esteemed of them; and Bishop Goodsell during his residence in California has won the hearts of all our people who have met him.—Pacific Methodist Advocate.

Missionary Debt—Mississippi Conference.

BRANDON DISTRICT.

Lake circuit, R. F. Wilt, P. C.....$5 00

WOODVILLE DISTRICT.

North Wilkinson cir., G. W. Huff, P. C.....$2 50

Ponchatonla cir., W. T. Currie, P. C.....5 00

The amounts from Lake and North Wilkinson were handed me at Conference, but after my report had been presented. The amount from Ponchatoula has been received since Conference.

T. L. MELLEN,
Sol. for Miss. Conf.

Notice.

The following change has been made in appointments: J. I. Hoffpauir remains at Lecompte, and H. S. Johns goes to Plaquemine and Donaldsonville.

C. W. CARTER.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate
Makes an Invigorating Drink with water and sugar only. Delicious.

General Conference Delegates.

TEXAS CONFERENCE.

Clerical—Seth Ward, E. W. Solomon, J. B. Sears; alternates—E. H. Harmon, I. G. John. Lay—B. D. Orgain, W. D. Cole, Heber Stone; alternates—J. M. Harrison, H. C. Pritchett.

EAST TEXAS CONFERENCE.

Clerical—James Campbell, J. T. Smith; alternate—T. P. Smith. Lay—J. F. Cely, T. S. Garrison.

WHITE RIVER CONFERENCE.

Clerical—J. H. Dye, S. L. Cochran, M. M. Smith; alternate—Z. T. Bennett. Lay—L. L. Mack, A. L. Malone, C. W. Culp; alternate—D. L. Baker.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

Clerical—A. J. Lamar, J. M. Mason, J. O. Keener, A. S. Andrews, T. F. Mangum. Lay—F. Law, B. M. Washburn, W. J. Samford, James Rawles, J. W. Portis.

SOUTH GEORGIA CONFERENCE.

G. G. N. MacDonell, C. E. Dowman, J. O. Branch, W. C. Lovett, J. W. Hinton, W. P. Harrison. Lay—J. A. Bush, J. B. Culpepper, J. L. Day, W. B. Hill, N. P. Banks, V. L. Stanton.

NORTH GEORGIA CONFERENCE.

Clerical—W. D. Anderson, W. A. Candler, W. F. Glenn, W. P. Lovejoy, T. F. Pierce, H. C. Morrison and J. W. Heidt. Lay—H. L. Little, J. E. Shumate, W. F. Turner, J. B. Hunnicutt, G. F. Napier, C. W. Smith, H. Y. McCord and H. W. Camp.

WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Clerical—J. H. Weaver, J. R. Brooks, G. W. Ivey, J. R. Scroggs, C. W. Byrd and James Atkins; alternates—R. M. Hoyle, J. C. Rowe and W. S. Creasy. Lay—C. W. Tillet, L. J. Hoyle, C. G. Montgomery, W. H. Penland, F. C. Robbins and J. A. Odell.

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Clerical—F. D. Swindell, J. T. Gibbs, E. A. Yates, W. H. Moore and W. S. Rone; alternates—J. A. Cuningglm, F. L. Reid and G. A. Oglesby. Lay—Walter Clark, T. J. Jarvis, W. H. Branson, W. G. Burkhead and E. A. Thorne; alternates—O. H. Allen, T. A. Green and B. W. Ballard.

SOUTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Clerical—W. D. Kirkland, R. N. Wells, S. B. Jones, J. O. Wilson, J. C. Kilgo, Samuel Lander and J. A. Clifton. Lay—J. H. Carlisle, H. Baer, D. R. Duncan, L. B. Haynes, H. H. Newton, R. O. Purdy and E. B. Craighead. Alternates: Clerical—S. A. Weber, J. Walter Dickson, T. G. Herbert, F. J. Clyde and W. R. Richardson. Lay—R. W. Major, J. F. Lyon, H. J. Judy, J. D. Ellerson and W. M. Connor.

LITTLE ROCK CONFERENCE.

Clerical—Andrew Hunter, J. R. Moore, J. H. Riggin, J. R. Cason; alternates—H. D. McKinnon and C. C. Godden. Lay—J. H. Hineman, A. T. Blount, J. H. Hicks and C. B. Murray; alternates—W. D. Lee and J. R. McKay.

The selection of Dr. Hunter to head the delegation is a peculiarly graceful and appropriate act, as he and Rev. J. C. Berryman are the only two men of our church who were members of the General Conference of 1844, and Dr. Hunter has been a member of every General Conference of our church except two.

Rev. J. V. Penn.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the State Line Methodist Church, South, assembled this, the seventeenth day of December, 1893:

Whereas, The Rev. J. V. Penn has, by the constitutional authority of our church, been removed from us as pastor; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Bro. Penn has been a faithful and efficient pastor and preacher of the Word of God to us; that his labors among us have been a great blessing to church and community, and God has honored his messages in our midst.

Resolved, That we shall ever remember with grateful hearts the interest he has manifested for this church; that it is with heartfelt sorrow that we part with Bro. Penn, and we pray God's blessings upon him and his family, and that he may ever have the presence of the Holy Spirit to keep, cheer, and sustain him.

Resolved, That, while we feel aggrieved at the refusal of the removing power of the church for turning a deaf ear to our petition for Bro. Penn's return to us, yet we bow in loyal submission to the powers that be, and commend our beloved brother to the love and favor of those whom he is to serve in the future.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

B. A. CRAGIN,
A SID BYRD,
J. T. KNOBLES,
Committee.

State Line, Miss.

The China Mission Annual Conference

Convened at Shanghai, Oct. 18, and adjourned Oct. 23, 1893.

Present: Clerical members, 18; lay, 7; preachers on trial, 7; total, 32 out of 36.

Officers: C. F. Reid, president; W. B. Bonnell, secretary; Sz Tsz-Kia, Chinese secretary; H. L. Gray, statistical secretary.

Delegates elect to General Conference: Clerical, M. B. Hill; lay, W. H. Park.

APPOINTMENTS.

SHANGHAI DISTRICT.

M. B. HILL, P. E.

Shanghai station, C. F. Reid and Sz Tsz-Kia.

College Chapel, G. R. Loehr.

Hongkew and Chwansha circuit, W. B. Bonnell and Tsiau Tsz-fong.

Sungkiang station, R. A. Parker, Yau Me-kung.

Sungkiang and Taingpoo circuit, W. B. Burke, Dzung Zung-san and Ling Tsz-yien.

Nantsiang and Kia-ting circuit, M. B. Hill, Li Tsz-i, Sz Tsz-kwen, Dzung Tsz-kuin.

Anglo-Chinese College, Y. J. Allen, president; G. R. Loehr and W. B. Bonnell, professors.

SUCHOW DISTRICT.

D. L. ANDERSON, P. E.

Suchow station, A. P. Parker and L. Leitch.

Suchow and Kwensan circuit, D. L. Anderson, Dzung Ying-kyin, Sung Yon-peh, one to be supplied by Tsa Vong-isang.

Changshuh station, B. D. Lucas and Dong Moh-san.

Changshuh circuit, H. L. Gray and Li Yien-ung.

Nanzing circuit, J. L. Hendry, Ng Dong-Shien, T. A. Hearn.

Nanzing Dispensary and Chapel, C. K. Marshall.

Buffington College, A. P. Parker.

Suchow Hospital, W. H. Park, M. D., and E. H. Hart, M. D.

STATISTICS.

Selected and compared with those of last year.

	1893	1892	Net incr.	In. per ct.
Native members	437	371	66	Near 16½
Probationers	299	54	245	Nearly 500
Total of Adherents	736	425	311	" 73
S. School scholars	1,164	943	221	" 24
Pupils in schools	1,585	1,276	309	" 25
Patients hospital, etc	12,236	9,064	3,172	" 33⅓
Contributions of natives	*352.22	257.51	94 71	" 37
Total contributions	*2097.33	935 50	1161.83	" 124

*Mexican dollars.

W. B. BONNELL, Sec.

Shanghai, Nov. 20, 1893.

Notice.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Members of the Ministers' Relief Association are hereby notified that their mortuary dues consequent upon the death of Dr. J. J. Wheat must be paid to me not later than Dec. 31, 1893.

THOMAS B. CLIFFORD,
Sec. and Treas.

Courtland, Miss.

Mississippi Conference Minutes.

Work on the Minutes commenced on Friday, Dec. 15. The printers say that they will have them out by, at least, Jan. 15. I wish to know the postoffice of all the pastors at once.

C. G. ANDREWS, Sec'y.

Queen and Crescent Magazine.

The Queen and Crescent Route is preparing to issue an elaborate publication in magazine form, descriptive of the different sections of the South tributary to its lines.

Capitalists, tourists and business men are not likely to forget the Southern cities so long as the Queen and Crescent Route can reach them with this artistic publication.

Copy of this magazine will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

Address, W. C. RINEARSON,
Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cincinnati, O.

200 Agents Wanted.

One in every community in State of Mississippi to sell Bishop Fitzgerald's Epworth Book Prospectus, 50 cents. Holman Self-Pronouncing Sunday-school Teacher's Bible. Prospectus, $1. Imitation of Christ, beautifully illustrated by Thomas a Kempis. Prospectus, 75 cents. Full supply of International Bibles in stock. Send for catalogue. Order your Sunday-school supplies for the year, and remit quarterly, if you can not send cash with order. Apply at once.

We have a good supply of Bishop Haygood's Jack-knife and Brambles; also Josiah Strong's New Era, or Coming Kingdom. Jack-knife, $1. New Era, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 75 cents Many other new books.

LAIRD & DOMINICK,
Jackson, Miss

Holiday Excursions.

Reduced rates will be made by the QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE during the Holidays from points on its line. Tickets will be on sale beginning Dec. 22nd. Call on agents for rates and all particulars.

W. C. RINEARSON, G. P. A.

Cincinnati, O.

TAKE HEED!

And if you are troubled with a hacking cough, tightness in the chest, tickling in the throat,

USE

Locock's Cough Elixir.

It is unsurpassed for the relief and cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles. Coughs, Colds and Incipient Consumption yield readily to its medicinal virtues.

TESTIMONIAL.

LINDEN, ALA.

I. L. LYONS, New Orleans—

Dear Sir: Last winter I had a severe cough pain in the chest and spitting of blood. I procured a bottle of Dr. Locock's Cough Elixir, and am happy to state that four doses relieved me entirely, and I can safely say that I think it is the best cough medicine I ever saw.

E. L. WALSTON.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PATENTS THOMAS P. SIMPSON, Washington, D. C. No atty's fee until Patent obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

—1844.—
Long Established.
Claiborne is the foremost educational county of Mississippi.
Graduates of PORT GIBSON FEMALE COLLEGE
Have been declared, as a body, the best equipped for State examinations.
Substantial advance in all its Departments since the present management began, Sept. 6, 1893.
NEW CURRICULUM. - LATEST TEXT BOOKS. - NEW PIANOS.
Not a cheap school. Cheap schools are surely inferior somewhere—in Teachers, in Dining-room, or in Dormitory.
PORT GIBSON IS SOLID AND EVENLY EXCELLENT THROUGHOUT.
Methodist property. Large Double-storied Brick Buildings. Christian culture is the end of our mission.
BOARD, WASHING, LIGHTS, FURNISHED ROOM, $12. TUITION, $4
Latin or French required in classical course, and taught without extra charges
Second half opens February 1, 1894. Write to
REV. W. H. HUNTLEY, Port Gibson, Miss.

ROSE TOBACCO CURE A quick, cheap, pleasant and absolute cure for the Tobacco Habit
In all its Forms. For proof write the ROSE DRUG CO., Birmingham, Ala.

EMORY COLLEGE
OXFORD, GA. Forty Miles East of Atlanta.
—Location Proverbially Healthy! No Saloons.—
57th Session opens Sept. 20th, 1893, closes June 13, 1894. Endowment recently increased $100,000 and equipment greatly improved. Total expenses within $225. For full information, address
W. A. CANDLER, D. D., PRESIDENT.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, JACKSON, LA

Jackson, La., is near Ethel, on the Valley R. R., 113 miles north of New Orleans. The location is beautiful, and healthful, the buildings are elegant and ample, and the Faculty is complete and able. The sale of intoxicating drinks is forbidden by law within five miles of the College. Its endowment fund is being rapidly increased, and the college has entered upon a new career of prosperity.

Special attention will be given to the health, morals and biblical instruction of the students.

For terms, Catalogue, or other information apply to Prof. G. H. Wiley, Jackson, La., or to
W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, PRESIDENT.

Louisiana Avenue Church.

The Louisiana Avenue Church, of New Orleans—Rev. Dr. John T. Sawyer, pastor—reported at the late session of the Louisiana Conference as the total amount raised during the year, $12 691 70. That is more than $40 16 per member. For missions there was raised $631 70, or $2 per member. This is certainly a very creditable showing, and it is fit that the Louisiana Conference unanimously voted to hold its next session at the Louisiana Avenue Church.

JNO. T. SAWYER.

District Stewards, Sesshore District,

Will meet at Hattiesburg, Jan. 3, at 6 P. M., and an adjourned meeting (to accommodate lower part of district) at Biloxi, Wednesday morning, Jan. 17. Let every district steward be in his place.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

Alexandria District Stewards' Meeting.

The district stewards of the Alexandria district, Louisiana Conference, will meet in the church at Alexandria, on Wednesday, Jan. 10, 1894. The preachers on the district please read this notice in public.

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

District Stewards' Meeting.

The New Orleans district stewards are requested to meet in the pastor's office of Carondelet Street Church, Thursday, Jan. 4, 1894, at 7 P. M.

C. W. CARTER, P. E.

Owing to the illness of Rev. J. I. Hoffpauir's wife at Lecompte, he has been changed to that place. Rev. H. S. Johns, who was appointed to Lecompte and White Chapel, is thereby sent to Plaquemine and Donaldsonville.

Cross-Bearer's Missionary Reading Circle.

The Rev. M. B. Chapman, D. D., editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, is one of the directors of the Cross-Bearer's Missionary Reading Circle. Having made a tour of the world in order to study missionary fields, he desires to see hundreds of American Christians making a study of the problem of missions in all lands. The Cross-Bearer's Missionary Reading Circle plan of reading and study may be obtained from the Rev. Z. M. Williams, Gallatin, Mo.

M. L. GRAY.

Lineville, Iowa.

BEECHAM'S PILLS cure Bilious and Nervous Ills.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE ASSESSMENTS, 1894.

Districts.	Bishops.	For. Miss.	Dom Miss.	Church Ex.	Conf. Claim.	Education
Vicksburg	$ 260	$1,450	$ 650	$ 475	$ 850	$ 382 60
Woodville	155	1,200	500	330	600	228 10
Seashore	155	1,200	550	350	550	228 10
Brandon	155	1,000	400	240	500	228 10
Jackson	260	1,450	650	475	850	382 60
Brookhaven	250	1,800	600	475	800	367 90
Meridian	260	1,450	650	475	850	382 60
	$1,495	$9,950	$4,000	$2,820	$5,000	$2,200

4 PICTURES 10 X 14 Inches FREE!

We will send you THE PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE, a 16-page illustrated weekly journal, devoted to General News, Literature, Art, Science, Household Economy, Wit, Humor, and interesting Miscellany, four weeks on trial, together with FOUR BEAUTIFULLY COLORED PICTURES, 10x14 INCHES, for only 15 cents. These pictures are all different subjects, RICHLY colored, and each one a GEM OF ART. We make this special trial offer to introduce our paper into as many new homes as possible, feeling SURE that after a trial each one will remit the regular price, $2, for a full year's subscription. Send 15 cents at ONCE for a trial subscription, with the four pictures, and if not entirely satisfactory we will refund your money.

THE PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE, 114 Nassau St., New York City.

REDUCED RATES
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the south of Cairo, on Dec 23, 24, 25, 30 and 31, and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 3, 1894, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Illinois Central agent.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Reduced Rates
FOR THE
HOLIDAYS!

For the above occasion, tickets will be sold at reduced rates between all stations on the line of the

YAZOO AND MISSISSIPPI VALLEY
RAILROAD

They will be on sale Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30 and 31 and on Jan. 1; good for return until Jan. 3, 1894, inclusive. Specific rates can be obtained of your local Y. & M. V. agent.

Millsaps College.

WANTED.—A few nice boys to board. For terms see College Catalogue. Good care taken of them in case of sickness. References: President W. B. Murrah, Bishop C. B. Galloway, Rev. A. F. Watkins. Apply to MRS. M. J. FORD.

Pear Trees.

IDAHO and KEIFFER incon LeConte roots; two years old; 25 cents each; less by the dozen or hundred. Also two-year old LeConte trees and grape vines. Address
DR. H. SHANNON,
Ocean Springs, Miss.

I Have Just Received

A supply of Peloubet's and Hurlburt's Notes on the Sunday-school Lessons for 1894—$1.25 per copy. Order at once. Also Jack-Knife and Brambles, A Ramble among Gurnemes, and other new books for the holiday trade. Bibles from 25 cents to $25 by mail. Testaments from 5 cents to $3.50. A beautiful line and large lot of Christmas, New Year, birthday and Sunday-school cards and booklets.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres street (near Canal), - New Orleans.

HOPKINS' PRINTING OFFICE,
20 Commercial Place,
John P. Hopkins. New Orleans
ALL KINDS OF PRINTING.

WANTED.

Lady with eight years' experience desires position as Teacher of Piano and Harmony or Voice Culture, for second half of session of 1893-94. Conservatory Methods. Best references. Address S., care ADVOCATE.

$21 PAID WEEKLY

To active, faithful men and women, boys and girls, working for us taking orders for THE ILLUSTRATED WORLD'S FAIR, edited by John McGovern, the Prince of the Literary West. 25c. a month, or $2.50 a year. Entire Series, from July, 1891, to January, 1894, 30 monthly issues, only $6.00. Sells at sight. Most beautiful, interesting and popular, and the only publication receiving official recognition. THE ORGAN OF THE FAIR. Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It is a handsomely prepared and valuable publication, to which many celebrities are contributors." Send 15c. (stamps) for full particulars and sample copy containing fifty large rich engravings of the PRINCIPAL ATTRACTIONS of the World's Fair. Address.

THE NATIONAL BOOK CONCERN,
134 VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music,
MISS CLARA BAUR, Directress.

Thorough musical education after the methods of foremost European conservatories. The Conservatory will as usual be open during the entire Summer, and students can, as during the school year, enter at any time.

Branches taught: Vocal culture, the Pianoforte, Organ, Harp, Violin, and all other Orchestral Instruments; also Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo; Elocution, Delsarte, Modern Languages, English Literature and Art.

Young ladies from a distance can board in the Conservatory building, where they pursue their studies under the supervision of the Directress. For Catalogue address in full,

MISS CLARA BAUR,
Conservatory of Music, 4th and Lawrence,
Cincinnati, O.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.
40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas Street,
E. F. DYER, Pres. E. P. MACKIE, Treas.
WHOLESALE DEALERS IN
Refrigerators, Freezers, Water Coolers, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Oars, Hammocks, Croquet, Baseballs, Baskets, Brooms, Brushes, Fruit Jars, Bottles, Flasks, Demijohns, Rope, Twine, Axle Grease, Wrapping Paper, Bags, Stationery, Cheese Safes, Cages, Scales, Tacks, Chimneys, Lamps, Tinware, Blacking, Woodenware, Cutlery, Clocks, etc.

THEY CAN'T ESCAPE.

The liver when active is the watch-dog of the system—the destroyer of germs and impurities. The truth is: ninety-nine out of every hundred diseases begin with a sluggish liver. A slight cold or chill may amount to something serious. If you correct the liver you'll cure the cold. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets rouse the liver to vigorous action. After dinner, if you're bilious, take one of these tiny, sugar-coated Pellets. Take them when you have wind or pain in stomach, giddiness, fullness, loss of appetite, or when you suffer from costiveness, indigestion, sick or bilious headaches.

The makers take the risk of their benefiting you. If they're not satisfactory, your money is refunded.

Can you ask more?

Grand National Prize at Paris, of 16,600 francs to T. LAROCHE.

QUINA-LAROCHE,

HIGHLY ENDORSED by the medical faculty of Paris. An agreeable and highly efficacious Remedy. London Lancet.

For Stomach affections, Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Poorness of the Blood, Fever and Ague, Retarded Convalescence.

PARIS: 22 rue Drouot.
E. FOUGERA & CO., AGENTS FOR THE U.S.
30 North William St., N. Y.

The sower has no second chance. If you would at first succeed, be sure and start with

FERRY'S SEEDS.

Ferry's Seed Annual for 1894 contains the sum and substance of the latest farming knowledge. Every planter should have it. Sent free.

D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich.

HENRY P. DART,

Attorney-at-Law,

49 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Desire of : : : : All Nations.

A Christmas Service for 1893

THIS PROGRAMME, from our Sunday School Department, is fully equal to the one for last year, which received high praise from the best judges. Every feature of the service is new, bright, and inspiring. The Songs, Readings, Dialogues, Recitations, etc., are judiciously selected and arranged. Words and music of all the Songs are given in full. The whole is embraced in a nicely printed leaflet of eight pages. Price 20 cents per dozen. $1.25 per hundred. Let every Sunday school be supplied in time with this handy, cheap, and appropriate Christmas Exercise. Send orders to

BARBEE & SMITH, Agents,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

Founded by Dr. Eben Tourjee. CARL FAELTEN, Director.

The Leading Conservatory of America.

In addition to its unequalled musical advantages, exceptional opportunities are also provided for the study of Elocution, the Fine Arts, and Modern Languages. The admirably equipped Home affords a safe and inviting residence for lady students. Calendar Free.

FRANK W. HALE, General Manager,
Franklin Square, Boston, Mass.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Is Devoted to the Education of Girls and Young Ladies.

FALL TERM OPENS SEPTEMBER 5TH, 1893.

The Institute affords the very best advantages for culture in Vocal and Instrumental Music; in Art, Drawing, Painting, etc.; and in all the branches of collegiate study—English, Latin, French and German. The teachers are experienced and competent. The Boarding Department is home-like and comfortable. The health is fine. The expenses are moderate. For catalogue address Rev. Thos. J. Newell, A. M., Pres., Grenada, Miss

Mississippi Industrial Institute and College.

BUREAU OF EDUCATION.

Persons desiring to employ competent teachers, or young women qualified to do good work as dress makers, telegraphers, type writers and book keepers, are invited to correspond with this Bureau. No charge for services.

Apply to MISS S. C. McLAURIN,
I. I. and C., Columbus, Miss.

When answering advertisements please mention the Advocate

HOME CIRCLE.

I WOULDN'T BE CROSS.

BY MRS. M. E. SANGSTER.

I wouldn't be cross, dear, it's never worth while;
Disarm the vexation by wearing a smile.
Let hap, a disaster, a trouble, a loss,
Just meet the thing boldly and never be cross.

I wouldn't be cross, dear, with people at home,
They love you so fondly; whatever may come,
You may count on the kindness around you to stand,
O, loyally true, in a brotherly band!
So, since the fine gold far exceedeth the dross,
I wouldn't be cross, dear, I wouldn't be cross.

I wouldn't be cross with a stranger. Ah, no!
To the pilgrims we meet on the life path we owe
This kindness, to give them good cheer as they pass,
To clear out the flint-stones and plant the soft grass.
No, dear, with a stranger, in trial or loss,
I perchance might be silent; I wouldn't be cross.

No bitterness sweetens, no sharpness may heal
The wound which the soul is too proud to reveal,
No envy hath peace; by a fret and a jar
The beautiful work of our hands we may mar.
Let happen what may, dear, of trouble and loss,
I wouldn't be cross, love, I wouldn't be cross.

Where Lies the Blame?

We heartily agree with the Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts when he says that the greatest evil and peril in American church life is the general non-attendance of the Sabbath-school at the preaching service. He says: "In all my journeyings I have found but three city churches in which the members of the Sabbath-school generally attend one or more of the preaching services. Ministers and Sabbath-school teachers discuss this question as if it were as hard as 'How to Reach the Masses?' of which it is indeed a part, for we shall not reach the masses while we dismiss our Sabbath-schools into the street, rather than into the church."

As we have traveled to and fro we have been led to deplore this well nigh universal custom of Sunday-school scholars absenting themselves from the preaching service. At whose door lies the blame? Primarily with the parents. The habit of church attendance is not formed in childhood and, therefore, they grow up without any special attachment to the services of the sanctuary. The child should be taken early to church, and the church service should take the precedence of the Sunday-school:—Buffalo Christian Advocate.

Archdeacon Farrar, in a recent sermon delivered to a great audience in Westminster Abbey, told a story of the Fifteenth Century, which should inspire the mothers of to-day in their precious work. There then lived a lady named Monica, who had a dearly loved son whose name was Augustine. The boy grew up vain and wanton, and then the mother prayed over him with bitter tears; and at last, when he had long forsaken her and gone to Italy, she went to the Bishop to ask his advice. "Fear not, Monica," he said, "the child of so many prayers can not perish." The mother visited him, and found him still an unholy and a faithless man. As he sat one day remorseful, but yet hardly penitent under one of the trees in the orchard, he heard the voice of a boy singing, "Tolle, lege; tolle, lege"—"Take it and read; take it and read." He took up the book and began to read at the first place his eyes fell on. That was on the words: "Not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, . . . but put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof." It was at that Augustine's heart was touched; the forgotten lessons of his childhood, the prayers which had been offered for him, came over him like a flood. It is to his mother Monica and to her lessons to her son in his first years that the church owes St. Augustine, the most brilliant of the Latin fathers, the most eloquent of her early sons.—New York Advocate.

Telling Mother.

I have seen in the past what a sad mistake I have made by not confiding more in my mother, and I feel like warning all the children against such an evil habit. Children are apt when they hear things that are not what they should be and things that their mothers ought to know, to tell their young friend, rather than their mother who is their best earthly friend. It not only makes them form the habit of deceiving their parents, but it will in time make a gulf between them and their parents which nothing but the grace of God can enable them to get over.

I once had for a friend a young girl who told her mother at the close of every day all that had been told her or that she had seen during the day, as nearly as possible. When we would try to get her to promise not to tell some secret to anyone, she would say, "Don't tell me anything I can not tell to my mama." We were all very careful what we told to such a girl as that. I have felt many times in the past that I should like to confide in my mother, especially when I was in trouble, but I had not been used to doing so and I thought I could not do it.

How sad it is to see children telling their secrets and plans to everyone else in preference to their mother when God has given them mothers to help, instruct and guide their young lives. Don't do it. If you are doing so now, stop it at once. It will do you nothing but harm all your life. It is one of Satan's plans to ensnare your feet. You will find you will love God and mother more if you confide in her, and it will be much easier for you to get saved when you have a clear conscience in this matter. There are many little foxes to spoil the vines, and this is one of them. Take all your troubles to mother and talk them over with her, and you will have the respect of all who know you and God's smile resting upon you.—The Vanguard.

Making Sunday Pleasant.

The responsibility of making Sunday a pleasant day for the children ought not to fall upon mothers alone. Fathers often excuse themselves on the ground that they have worked hard all the week, and need rest on that day, forgetful of the fact that their wives have also been working through the week. In a certain family Sunday is called "papa's day," because he then devotes himself almost exclusively to the children. He takes one hour for rest, but the remainder of the time is given to them. The mother joins in the plans, but does not assume any care, and thus finds the relief from the watchfulness which she has exercised over them all the week.

In pleasant weather the family take a quiet walk together. This is far better than allowing the boys and girls to go off with companions of their own age. In this household those who are old enough to attend Sunday-school study the lesson together and talk about it at the breakfast table. The hour before the little ones retire is spent in singing hymns, ending with a simple devotional service, in which one of the older children reads the Scriptures, and each member of the family offers a short prayer. In this home the children consider Sunday the shortest and pleasantest day of the week.—Congregationalist.

The will without the deed is better than the deed without the will. A person who is charitably disposed, for instance, but who lacks pecuniary ability, may confer a greater benefit by means of sincere prayers and good wishes than he could possibly do by merely giving him money; and thus the means of being charitable can never be said, in the strict sense of the word, to be wanting.—Lee.

Modesty is to merit as shades to figures in a picture, giving it strength and beauty.—Bruyer.

THEY DIDN'T THINK.

BY PHŒBE CARY.

Once a trap was baited
With a piece of cheese,
It tickled so a little mouse
It almost made him sneeze;
An old rat said, "There's danger,
Be careful where you go!"
"Nonsense!" said the other,
"I don't think you know!"
So he walked in boldly—
Nobody in sight;
First he took a nibble,
Then he took a bite;
Close the trap together
Snapped as quick as a wink,
Catching monsey fast there,
'Cause he didn't think.

Once a little turkey,
Fond of her own way,
Wouldn't ask the old ones
Where to go or stay;
She said, "I'm not a baby,
Here I am half-grown;
Surely I am big enough
To run about alone!"
Off she went, but somebody,
Hiding, saw her pass;
Soon like snow her feathers
Covered all the grass.
So she made a supper
For a sly young mink,
'Cause she was so headstrong
That she wouldn't think.

Once there was a robin
Lived outside the door,
Who wanted to go inside
And hop upon the floor:
"No, no," said the mother,
"You must stay with me;
Little birds are safest
Sitting in a tree."
"I don't care," said robin,
And gave his tail a fling,
"I don't think the old folks Know quite everything."
Down he flew and kitty seized him
Before he'd time to blink;
"Oh," he cried, "I am sorry,
But I didn't think."

Now, my little children,
You who read this song,
Don't you see what trouble
Comes of thinking wrong?
And can't you take a warning
From their dreadful fate
Who began their thinking
When it was too late?
Don't think there's always safety
When no danger shows,
Don't suppose you know more
Than anybody knows;
But when you're warned of ruin,
Pause upon the brink,
And don't go headlong,
'Cause you didn't think.

How to Prosper.

Upward of thirty years ago, when David Maydole was a roadside blacksmith at Norwich, New York, six carpenters came to the village from the next county to work upon a new church. One of them, having left his hammer behind, came to the blacksmith's to get one made, there being none which gave satisfaction in the village store.

"Make me a good one," said the carpenter—"as good a one as you know how."

"But," said the young blacksmith, who had already considered hammers, and had arrived at some notion of what a hammer ought to be, and had a proper contempt for cheapness in all its forms, "perhaps you don't want to pay for as good a hammer as I can make."

"Yes, I do; I want a good hammer." And so David Maydole made a good hammer that perfectly satisfied the carpenter. The next day the man's five companions came, each of them wanted just such a hammer, and when they were done the employer came and ordered two more. Next the storekeeper of the village ordered two dozen, which were bought by a New York tool merchant, who left standing orders for as many such hammers as David Maydole could make. And from that day to this he has gone on making hammers, until now he has one hundred and fifteen men at work. He has never pushed, he has never borrowed, he has never tried to compete with others in price, because other men had done so. His only care has been to make a perfect hammer, to make as many such as people wanted and no more, and to sell them at a fair price.

Boys, whatever you undertake, do it perfectly, with your might (Eccl. ix, 10), and you will succeed.—The Sunlight.

How to Keep Your Temper.

Ruskin in a letter to young girls says: "Receive the thing that is provoking or disagreeable to you, as coming directly from Christ's hand, and the more it is like to provoke you, thank him for it the more, as a young soldier would his general for trusting him with a hard place to hold on the rampart. And remember that it does not in the least matter what happens to you—whether a clumsy school-fellow tears your dress or a shrewd one laughs at you, or the teacher doesn't understand you. The one thing that does matter is that none of these things should vex you.

"Say to yourself each morning, just after your prayers, 'Whoso forsaketh not all that he hath can not be my disciple.' This is exactly and completely true, meaning that you are to give all you have to Christ to take care of it for you. Then, if he doesn't take care of it, of course you know it wasn't worth anything. And if he takes anything from you, you know you are better without it. You will not, indeed, have to give up houses and lands, or boats or nets; but you may, perhaps, break your favorite tea cup or lose your favorite thimble, and might be vexed about it, but for this second Saint George's precept."

A Lovely Mama.

"Won't you come and see my mama? I's got a lovely mama!"

The speaker was a fair little maiden, and the lady so charmingly invited was her new Sunday-school teacher, whom she had just overtaken on the street.

"A lovely mama!" The thought lingered.

We had never seen the mama so sweetly praised; we did not know whether or not she would seem beautiful to the eyes of strangers; but we did know she was gentle and lady-like in manner; that she had a never-failing supply of sweet old stories and quaint old nursery songs; and had a gift for dressing dollies, and tying sashes and shoulder-knots.

We were certain that she had a merry, tender way of coaxing the tangles out of flaxen ringlets, and of kissing the hurt out of bruised little fingers; and because of all this she reigned the undisputed queen of her child's loving heart.

Happy and blessed are the children who can say, "I've got a lovely mama!"—Selected.

What I Would Do.

If I were a little boy or girl, I would begin at once to do all the good I could.

I would be kind to every living creature, and never speak a harsh word or do an unkind act.

I would be polite to young and old, wherever I might be.

I would always speak the truth, and be very careful what I said of everyone.

I would never make sport of the poor, the aged, or the infirm.

I would never sit in a street car or elsewhere when older people were standing.

I would obey my parents, and be kind to my brothers and sisters.

I would learn all I could at school, and try to be an honor to myself and my friends.

I would be so careful in every way that people should see I had been well taught at home.—Humane Herald.

The Cowardice of Lying.

Little James was one day sent with a pitcher for some water. He accidentally dropped the pitcher and broke it, and as it was a very valuable one he felt very bad about it. As he stood looking sadly at the broken pieces, another boy came along and inquired what was the matter.

James told him, and he said, "Well, go home and tell your mother that a boy threw a stone at you and broke the pitcher."

"No; I shall go home and tell mother that I dropped it and broke it."

"But you will surely get whipped if you do. She will think that you were careless."

"I don't care if I do get whipped. I shall tell the truth. I would rather take a thousand whippings than tell a lie to my mother."

A circumstance in Prof. Tyndall's life has in it much that would serve as a model for young men, and also as an encouragement to those who give wise advice to young men. Herein his career parallels that of William Paley. While Prof. Tyndall was serving as a member of the Irish Ordnance Survey, when he was about twenty-one years of age, one of the officials interested in him asked him how his leisure hours were employed. The answer was not satisfactory, and the official said: "You have five hours a day at your disposal, and this time ought to be devoted to systematic study. If I, when at your age, had had a friend to advise me as I now advise you, instead of being in a subordinate position, I might have been at the head of the Survey." The next morning Tyndall began studying before five o'clock, and kept it up for twelve years.

Would you rather buy l[amp] chimneys, one a week [for] year round, or one that [will] till some accident breaks [it]?

Tough glass, Macbeth "pearl top" or "pearl glass" almost never break from heat; not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost? Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.

Pittsburgh. GEO. A. MACBETH CO.

STRENGTH And beauty of leather is Vacuum Leather Oil; 25c, and your money back if you want it.

Patent lambskin-with-wool on swob and book—How to Take Care of Leather—both free at the store.

Vacuum Oil Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Whether quaffed from a vessel of tin, glass or gold; There's nothing so good for the young or the old—as

Hires' Root Beer

A delicious, health-giving, thirst-satisfying beverage. A temperance drink for temperance people. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons.

Sold and Enjoyed Everywhere.

ATHENS, GA.

I can say from experience that it is the best water I ever knew. It is my life and health. I have received more permanent benefit from it as a dyspeptic than all the other remedies I have used. I would suggest that you get druggists all over the land to keep it, and then boom it in the papers. It is good for piles, skin diseases, dyspepsia, etc. My general health never was better, and the Matchless Mineral Water is the prime cause of it. I have preached sixteen times it the last ten days, and feel no inconvenience from it. I am always glad to hear from you.

Very truly and sincerely,
S. P. RICHARDSON,
Presiding Elder.

—FOR SALE BY—
Chas. B. Pack, 100 Camp St., New Orleans.

Have patience, Alice, I will drive the [pain] from your body and get you well.

I have got that Wilkinson's Matchless Phosphoric Acid and Iron Well Water and send and get a circular and let you read all about it.

PRICE, 50c. and $1.00 per Bottle.
Chas. B. Pack, 100 Camp St., New Orleans.

Tulane -:- University Scholarships.

TULANE UNIVERSITY, New Orleans, for the purpose of encouraging post-graduate studies, offers fifteen scholarships to the graduates of its own and other colleges. The appointments are made for merit, and entitle the holder to free tuition and an honorarium of one hundred and fifty dollars.

For further particulars address the Secretary of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

WIDOW HOOD'S LODGING HOUSE,

No. 19 ST. CHARLES ST.

I wish to announce to the public that I have renovated and refitted my house, and solicit the patronage of the traveling public. Open all night. Beds can be had for 25 and 50 cents. I especially solicit the patronage of Christian people visiting the city.

WIDOW A. A. HOOD

8% GUARANTEED by a leading Trust Company is offered at par. Suitable for large and small investments. Full information furnished by W. E. Lown, Mills Building, New York.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No in Millions of Homes—40 Years the

MARRIAGES.

LANIER—PAGE.—At the residence of the bride's grandfather, Mr. John G. Page, near Starkville, Miss., by Rev. T. O. Wier, Mr. W. R. Lanier, Jr., to Miss Lena Page.

BROWN-SHEARER.—In the Methodist Church, Starkville, Miss., Nov. 8, 1893, by Rev. T. C. Wier, Mr. Mahlon Brown, of Aberdeen, Miss., to Miss Lillie Shearer, of Starkville.

DAVIS—BUFKIN.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Vossburg, Miss., Dec. 6, 1893, by Rev. R. Bradley, Mr. Ben R. Davis to Miss Lois A. Bufkin.

FUSSELL-WOOD.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. P. Wood, Nov. 30, by Rev. W. M. Sullivan, Mr. James Fussell to Miss Mollie Wood, all of Washington parish, La.

FORD—FLEMING.—At the residence of the bride's mother, three miles east of Crystal Springs, Dec. 5, 1893, by Rev. W. W. Morse, Mr. J. S. Ford and Miss Jennie Fleming, both of Copiah county, Miss.

TERRILL—ALFORD.—At the residence of the bride's father, Pike county, Miss., Nov. 2, 1893, by Rev. W. M. Sullivan, Mr. William Terrill to Miss Ola Alford.

ABNEY—VARNADO.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. G. W. Varnado, Nov. 23, by Rev. W. M. Sullivan, Dr. W. R. Abney to Miss Rosa Varnado, all of Franklinton, La.

DEDON—MILLER.—At the parsonage in Franklinton, La., Nov. 30, by Rev. W. M. Sullivan, Mr. Jesse Dedon to Miss Flora Miller.

PEEK—JOHNSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Harrison Johnson, Wednesday evening, Dec. 6, by Rev. R. F. Witt, Mr. O. E. Peek, of Rose Hill, and Miss Mattie Johnson, near Hickory.

OBITUARIES.

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words, and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

BOGGS—Mrs. THEODOSIA BOGGS, daughter of the late Jacob Curtis and Mrs. Jane Curtis, was born in Pike county, Miss., Aug. 4, 1858; joined the church under the ministry of Rev. B. Crawford, 1872, and was married to Chas. W. Boggs, Nov. 30, 1890. On Aug. 20, 1893, a son was given them, a pledge of God's love, and their home was filled with a new joy! On Aug. 28, 1893, the shadow of death fell across the threshhold of this happy home, and the life of the young mother went out, and the joyous home left desolate, casting a gloom over the community where she resided, and where she was greatly loved, from which they have not fully recovered.

Sister Boggs was the granddaughter of late Rev. Z. Reeves, of precious memory. She was a special favorite in her own family. Modest, refined, gentle, kind to everyone; affectionate, industrious, and capable, her life was beautiful, her death radiant and triumphant. She gave her infant to her sister, Mrs. P. Norman, and spoke comforting words to her husband, commended her aged mother to their care, and left a loving message for her absent sister in Wesson. She was quiet and undemonstrative, but was recognized by all who knew her as a pure Christian and ripe for glory. She sleeps in the grave, but her influence still lives, and will be felt for years to come. Her resignation to her Father's will was lovely to behold, and the great change came as softly and peacefully as the closing in of a Summer day.

She has left a good name and gone to her eternal rest to watch for the coming of those who linger behind. Her husband, an aged mother, two sisters and three noble brothers to whom she was devoted, mourn her loss. Funeral services conducted by Rev. Mr. Gambrel, of Brookhaven, and Rev. J. G. Cammack, of Summit. Many were the tears shed on that sad occasion and vows made to meet her in a better world.

Her friend and sister in Christ,
MRS. M. L. J. HOOVER.

Myrtle Place, Miss.

FERRILL—The subject of this memoir, Rev. JOHN WESLEY FERRILL, was born in the State of Georgia, Feb. 6, 1812, and fell asleep in Jesus, Oct. 10, 1893. He came to the State of Mississippi, Wayne county, with his parents, Bryant and Susannah Ferrill, when quite young, and spent almost the remainder of his entire life in the State. On Nov. 25, 1841, he was united in marriage to Miss Eveline Hough, of Jackson county. In 1842 was licensed to preach in Wayne county, and from that time continued in the ministry until within a few weeks of his death.

Blest with an iron constitution, a heart full of love for the souls of men, and burning with holy zeal for the cause of Christ, he went through cold and heat, calm and sunshine, storm and tempest, when this country was comparatively a wilderness, to carry the "glad tidings of salvation;" his field for many years as a local itinerant embracing a territory reaching from the coast to Wayne county, Miss. He was a good preacher, a clear thinker and a man of God. He died in the gospel harness and with the Christian "armor" on. His last sermons were preached just a few weeks before his death in Old Zion Church, at Escatawpa, Miss., near his home. He selected for his subject, "Salvation." He treated his subject with a great deal of fervor, as if feeling impressed that this was to be his "farewell." What an appropriate theme for the winding up of a ministerial life of fifty-one years! He went home, was taken sick and, surrounded by friends and loved ones, passed over the "river." His last words were, "I'm trusting in Jesus." G. R. ELLIS.

Escatawpa, Nov. 18, 1893.

OSTEEN—Sister MARY OSTEEN departed this life Aug. 26, 1893. She joined the M. E. Church in early youth, and was ever afterwards a devoted Christian. Her sufferings were great, but often she was heard to say, "Jesus is with me; why should I murmur?" What a blessing it must be for her husband, children and friends to know that she is to-day one of God's jewels, and will have no more pains to suffer. She was a kind and affectionate wife, a loving mother and a good neighbor. She was loved by all who knew her.

A cheerful home is made sad, but with humble submission we bow to the will of Him who doeth all things well. May her death be sanctified to the good of her loving children, and by the grace of God prepare them to meet their mother in heaven. Her body was consigned to its last resting-place in the graveyard at Bogue Chitto, Miss., Aug. 27, 1893.

HER FRIEND NINNIE.

DARSEY—In loving remembrance of SICILY LILLIAN DARSEY, little daughter of H. P. and A. E. Darsey, who died April 8, 1893, aged seven months.

Weep not, mother and father, for sweet little Lillian has gone before to greet you on the blissful shore. HER AUNT.

STEVENS—Mrs. CORA MCCLELLAN STEVENS died Oct. 24, 1893, at Tallulah, La., whither she had gone on a visit, her home being in Carrollton, Miss. She was buried in the cemetery at Vicksburg.

She was the daughter of the late B. L. McClellan, of Milliken's Bend, La., and was born Jan. 7, 1870. She graduated from Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Miss., and afterwards took a course of study at Oxford, Miss. There she met Mr. W. F. Stevens, then a student in the Law Department, to whom she was married Dec. 11, 1889. This union was a very happy one and was blessed with one son.

She combined rare intellectual endowments with the sweetest of womanly graces. She was a loving wife, a kind mother, a true friend. She had connected herself with the Methodist Church in her school days, but it was during the last year of her life that she felt an assurance of her acceptance with God. Since then her growth in grace had been rapid. The societies of her church found in her a faithful and efficient member and in the ladies' prayer meeting she will be greatly missed. Her influence lives on in the lives she touched.

During her illness she talked frequently to those about her of the change soon to occur, assuring them she felt no fear. She asked that her husband and little boy meet her in heaven.

B.

RAY—Mrs. MARTHA E. RAY, wife of the late Rev. W. A. Ray, was born Dec. 19, 1832, and died Oct. 20, 1893. Sister Ray professed religion and united with the M. E. Church, South, early in life, thus devoting the strength and glory of her womanhood to the service of the Master. She not only conformed to the ordinances of the church in her outward life, but she was a woman of deep inward piety. She rejoiced in a sense of sins forgiven, in constant and holy communion with her Savior, and in hope of the glory that awaited her in the great beyond.

During her illness I visited and inquired into her spiritual condition and future prospects. She assured me that all was peace, and that her way was clear. Just before the summons came she expressed a desire to depart and be with Christ. She exhorted those about her to be faithful, requesting them to meet her on the other shore. At the rising of the sun she sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. Her remains were deposited in the cemetery at Pearl River M. E. Church to await the resurrection.

H. L. NORTON.

FALK—ALMEDIA, daughter of Alfred and Clara Falk, was born Nov. 27, 1890, and died after a very brief illness of diptheria, Nov. 27, 1893. Had she lived but one day more, she would have been three years old. That little life was very brief, but long enough to twine itself around the hearts of all who knew her, and especially that of the mother to whom she was very dear.

May the comforting influence of the Holy Spirit be around the broken-hearted parents to strengthen and uphold them in this sad hour of bereavement, and may he guide them to that home of rest, where the little one has gone before, and where there will be no more parting and no more tears!

G. A. GUICE.

WIGGINS—LEONARD B. WIGGINS, son of J. W. and Lottie Wiggins, was born June 16, 1870, and after a short spell of fever fell on sleep, Nov. 15, 1893. He was married in his twenty-first year to Miss Alice Murray, July 7, 1891.

Loved ones, it was not in cruelty, not in wrath, that the reaper came that day. It was an angel that visited the earth and took the dear one away. I know the cup seems bitter, and sometimes we are long draining it. Then, with sweet submission, let us say, "Not our will, but thine be done." The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away. HIS SISTER.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this receipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures nightsweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper.

Do not croak; do not suffer yourself to grow lugubrious. There is no good reason for it. The skies are bright these crisp, joyous days, the corn is in the shock, the lowing cattle stand in the fields, an abundant yield has Mother Earth afforded, and why should you not be happy? If you love beautiful things, you may soon feast your eyes; for the frost, the most wondrous of artists, will touch the forests with his magic brush, and what wealth of ruby and scarlet and old gold and royal purple and russet will be spread out before you! Only lift up your eyes and look and rejoice.

"Why should the children of a King Go mourning all their days?"

—Religious Herald.

Asthma can't be cured? Oh! yes it can. Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar will do it. I know it because it gave me relief. Every winter I was troubled with asthma, especially if the weather was damp, suffering severely. I took about six bottles of Davis' Wild Cherry and Tar, and am completely cured. It is the remedy for asthma. CHAS. HEINKE, 500½ Chippewa Street, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Davis' Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar is a sure and speedy cure for coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and consumption, and gives immediate relief in cases of croup and whooping-cough. Try it. One dollar bottles hold two and a half times as much as a 50c. bottle.

If Methodism ever abandons her itinerant system, she will lose her crown. Her's is the only plan ever devised by which every church has a pastor, and every pastor a church. Other denominations have vainly tried to solve the problem, and their greatest trouble is their pastorless churches and their idle preachers. The Interior says that 1,265 Presbyterian Churches are vacant-seventeen per cent. of the whole number, and nine per cent. of the ministers are secularized or unsettled.—St. Louis Advocate.

I want an active agent in every parish in the bounds of the Louisiana Conference to handle that wonderful new book by Bishop Fitzgerald, The Epworth League Book. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime. First come first served! Prospectus, 75 cents.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

Be sure that you make conscience of the great duties that you are to perform in your families. Teach your children and servants the knowledge and fear of God; do it early and late, in season and out of season. Neighbors, I charge you, as you will shortly answer before the Lord, your judge, that you neglect not these duties.—Richard Baxter.

Notice.

I have the best thing in the way of a Teacher's Bible for an agent to handle ever published. Write for full descriptive circulars at once.

F. D. VAN VALKENBURGH,
9 Chartres St., - - - - - - - New Orleans.

No mineral water will produce the beneficial results that follow taking ONE or more of "BEECHAM'S PILLS" with a glass of water immediately upon arising in the morning.

Painless. Effectual. Covered with a tasteless, soluble coating.
"Worth a guinea a box."—Price only 25 cents.
Of all druggists, or a box will be mailed on receipt of 25cts. in stamps by D. F. Allen Co., 365 Canal St., New York.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR
The Celebrated
CHOCOLAT MENIER
Annual Sales Exceed 33 MILLION Lbs.
Write for Samples. Sent Free. Menier, Union Sq., N. Y.

Marble, Slate and Hardwood Mantels.
TILES for Fire-places and Floors. GRATES of all kinds.
SLATE HEARTHS. BUILDING MATERIAL.
GEO. M. LEAHY,
No. 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Designs and prices furnished on application.

—THE—
Great Southern Music House of
Philip Werlein
Is Prepared to Suit All Comers.
Elegant and Durable Pianos from $250 up.
Good Second-hand and Slightly Used Pianos from $50 up.
Send for Catalogues and Prices.
135 Canal St., New Orleans.

Classical and Commercial Institute.
7 PRYTANIA STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Regular session begins Sept. 4th. Students admitted at any time. Full Classical and Literary Courses. Commercial Sciences taught practically. Normal Penmanship. Shorthand and Type-writing, standard systems. Day and night classes. Ladies admitted to Commercial Department. Boarding Department under supervision of Principal. Write for circular.
Endorsed by the editor of the ADVOCATE and W. H. LaPrade, D. D., pastor of Carondelet Street Church. H. S. CHENET, A. M., Principal.
G. W. HARMAN, Prin. Com. Dep't. LYMAN C. REED, A. M., Assistant.

W. W. CARRÉ
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS LA.

WM. HILLSMAN,
Painter, Gilder and Varnisher.
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
PAPER HANGING, Glazing and Kalsomining.
(Estimates Given Free.)
NO. 97 NORTH PETERS ST.
Residence, 79 Enghein St., NEW ORLEANS.
Graining and Marbling a Specialty.

Millsaps College,
Jackson, Miss.
The Second Session Begins Sept. 20th, 1893.
College Fees, Only $30 for the Entire Session.
Board in Students' Homes and in Private Families, $12 per month.
Provision has been made for the payment of the College Fees in the case of young preachers and the sons of preachers.
For Catalogue and other information address
W. B. MURRAH, PRESIDENT.

Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company.
Losses Paid by Chicago Fire, 1871 $3 239 091.
Losses Paid by Boston Fire, 1872, $1,420,729.
All Losses Paid in Cash without Discount, as Soon as Adjusted.
Losses and all matters of business settled by officers and directors in New Orleans without reference to any other office, the same as with local companies
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
GUSTAF R. WESTFELDT, Chairman. L. O. FALLON, LUCAS E. MOORE, O. M. SORIA.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y. H. V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.

Home Insurance Co., of New Orleans.
No. 78 CAMP STREET.

CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1886,	$400,479.06
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1887,	$413,860.76
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1888,	$459,369.50
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1889,	$510,584.54
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1890,	$551,897.82
CASH ASSETS, December 31st, 1891,	$600,414.81

Steadily Increasing in Strength and Popularity.
Solicits Fire and River Business
Liberal Settlements and Prompt Payments.
Thos. Sefton, Pres't. Capt. J. B. Woods, Vice-Pres't. Jno. G. Byrd, Sec'y
J. B. WOODS, JOS. BAYLE, JNO. BARKLEY, JNO. J. BARR, ANDREW STEWART, CHAS. CHAFFE, J. B. LEVERT, E. BORLAND, P. R. RICE, W. B. BLOOMFIELD, W. T. HARDIE, THOS. SEFTON.

W. B. LYMAN, President. JOSEPH BOWLING, Vice-President. JOHN E. WHITING, Secretary
Crescent Insurance Com'y.
Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849.
Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.
Cash Capital, - - - - - - $300,000.
Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849. ANNUAL and TERM POLICIES Issued on Desirable Fire Business.
See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

AS A GARMENT OF MERIT
THE GENUINE JACKSON CORSET WAIST
STANDS AT THE FRONT.
It is Rapidly Replacing Old-Style, Uncomfortable and Unhealthful Corsets.

Easy-fitting, yet giving complete support to the form. It is well made, of good material and fast colors. We ask you to try it.
For sale by leading merchants everywhere. Take no substitute. If your dealer will not get it for you, write to the factory.
Made Only by the JACKSON CORSET CO., Jackson, Mich.

FURNITURE!
Largest Stock,
Lowest Prices,
Greatest Variety,
Most Reliable Goods.
J. G. Grant. 28 & 30 Camp St., New Orleans, La.
Write for Illustrated Catalogue.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

It is announced that the gates of the San Francisco Mid-Winter Fair will be opened on Sunday.

It is said that Hon. William F. Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, aspires to be the next governor of Nebraska, and will probably manage to secure the Republican nomination.

On Tuesday, Jan. 9, next year, there will be held in this city a session of the Western Waterways Convention. It will be composed of delegates from all the States along the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers, and it will discuss all matters relating to the improvement of the navigable rivers of the West, to the protection and improvement of the harbors on those waters, and to levees and protection from floods.

Now that it is known that the tariff bill will be taken up in the House immediately after the holiday recess, the preparations for the wordy war are going forward. The prospect for sugar in the House is no clearer now than it was some time back, and this uncertainty is likely to prevail until it is settled how the deficit in revenue produced by the bill is to be met. In the Senate, however, the prospect is better. It may be said that there is a strong disposition there among the senators from beet-growing States to make every effort for the preservation of the sugar industry, and this friendly feeling is not confined to these senators or to either side of the Chamber.

The report of United States Treasurer Morgan shows that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, the net ordinary receipts exceeded the net ordinary expenditures by $2,341 674, against $9 914,453 the year before. There was this decrease of nearly $7,600,000 in the surplus, notwithstanding an increase of nearly $31 000,000 in the net revenues. The rapid progress toward a deficit was due to an increase of nearly $38 500 000 in the expenditures. The deficit already stated by Secretary Carlisle to be more than $28 000 000, is growing at a rate that will bring it up to $60 000 000 or $70,000,000 by the time the fiscal year shall close, that is, on June 30, 1894. The deficiency of $28 000 000 is for the five months of the present fiscal year—that is, from the first day of July to the first day of December. With this sum for five months, and at the same rate of progress, the deficiency by June 30, 1894, will aggregate some $67,000,000.

FOREIGN.

Pope Leo, after having introduced electric light, the telephone and the phonograph into the Vatican, is now giving still further evidence of his progressive ideas by having an elevator constructed to hoist visitors up into the hall of St. Peter's Cathedral.

The French Minister of the Interior, M. Raynal, has requested the prefects of the different departments to have a special watch placed upon socialists and to take every step possible to repress inflammatory language and to punish all incitements to commit outrages.

Of the 200 Russian veteran soldiers who were poisoned by eating putrid meat contained in pies, recently, at the annual banquet in the Winter palace of the soldiers, decorated with the cross of St. Andrew and St. George, 160 are still in a serious condition and thirty-six have died,

The French police are still on the alert against anarchists, and the latter continue sending threatening messages to various officials and announce that further outrages may be anticipated. In addition the police are in receipt of several suspicious packages and supposed infernal machines continue to be found in the streets and elsewhere.

After the debate on the navy, on last Tuesday, in the House of Commons all the lords of the admiralty resigned, and it was only after Sir William Vernon Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer, had explained to the lords of the admiralty that the government intends to maintain the British navy's supremacy, that the resignations were withdrawn.

The regular army of China is said to consist of 323,000 men. Besides this, the emperor's army, there is a national army of 650,000 men, who are paid about $1 a month, but in consideration of this munificence are required to feed themselves. The cavalry receive $3 a month, feed their own horses, and if lost or killed, are required to replace them out of the pay given by the government.

Advices from Massowah, Egypt, say that the Italian forces have been again confronted by a large force of dervishes. The latter arrived there at 5 o'clock on the evening of Dec. 2. There were 6 000 of the tribesmen armed with guns and 4,000 more armed with spears. After a pitched battle, which lasted two hours, the dervishes were routed and driven across the Barrea river, leaving hundreds of dead upon the field of battle. Among the killed was Mohammed Ali and nearly all the emirs who followed his standard. The Italians captured sixty flags and a machine gun.

The importance of keeping the liver and kidneys in good condition can not be overestimated. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a great remedy for regulating and invigorating these organs.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and effectively, on the liver and bowels. 25 cents.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

The second edition of the December World's Fair Cosmopolitan brings the total up to the extraordinary figure of 400,000 copies, an unprecedented result in the history of magazines. Four hundred thousand copies—200 tons—ninety-four million pages—enough to fill 200 wagons with 2,000 pounds each—in a single line, in close order, this would be a file of wagons more than a mile and a half long. This means not less than 2,000 000 readers, scattered throughout every town and village in the United States.

One of the features of The Popular Science Monthly for 1894 will be a series of articles on the evolution of ethics, by Prof. E. P. Evans. The first of this series, dealing with The Ethics of Tribal Society, is to open the January number. It shows that among the ancient Hebrews, Greeks, Germans, and other peoples, when in an undeveloped social stage, acts of violence or plunder were not deemed wrong if committed against a member of another tribe. Traces of this spirit persist among even civilized people at the present day.

The January Harper's Magazine, which appeared on the 22d inst., will count among its attractive features the first part of Mr. George du Maurier's novel, "Trilby," with his own illustrations; the concluding paper describing and illustrating Mr. Edwin Lord Week's journey across Persia by caravan; "The West and East Ends of London," by Richard Harding Davis; a short story of New York life, by Mr. Brander Matthews; and a tale of the Wild West, by Mr. Owen Wister, called "Balaam and Pedro." The hero of the last-named sketch is a spirited Wyoming horse with a cruel master.

The multiplicity and excellence of other magazines, far from lessening the usefulness of the Review of Reviews, makes this unique periodical more and more a necessity. Its indexes, condensations of leading articles, classified list of new books, and general survey of things written, things said, and things done during the month preceding its issue, would suffice to keep the busy reader in touch with the current of life and thought, even if he were able to read nothing else. The December number is as full of variety and freshness as its predecessors have regularly been; and to those who know the Review of Reviews this is a sufficient commendation.

A double holiday number for December marks the completion of the first volume of The School Review. The number opens with a full report of the recent meeting of the New England Conference of Colleges and Preparatory Schools held at New Haven. The report is prepared by Ray Greene Huling, and contains the addresses of President Eliot, of Harvard; Prof. Barrett Wendell, of Harvard, and Dr. Samuel Thurber, of Boston, in complete form.

Following this is a double installment of Prof. Laurie's remarkable series of articles on the Early History of Education, which, when completed, will undoubtedly be the best account of the period in English if not in any language.

There are valuable reviews by Prof. W. G. Hale, of the University of Chicago; Prof. Margaret K. Smith, of the Oswego Normal School, and Prof. R. W. Moore, of Colgate University. The editors announce a strong list of contributors for 1894.

The School Review, $1.50 a year. Hamilton, N. Y.

More than one hundred and sixty of the leading minds of the world will contribute their best thoughts to Dr. Barrow's great work on the Parliament of Religions.

The Catholic papers of Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop Keane, Father Hewitt, Rev. Dr. Byrne, Prof. Wade, and other scholars and divines of the elder faith of Christendom, were admirable in spirit, powerful in reasoning, and of a masterly sagacity in recognition of human brotherhood under all of the faiths of mankind. Dr. Theodore T. Munger's paper on Christianity in Literature, Prof. Terry's on the sacred books of the world as literature, Dr. Brigg's summary of advanced criticism of Hebrew scripture, Prof. Estlin Carpenter's paper on the need of a better conception of revelation, Dr. Lyman Abbott's on religion essentially characteristic of humanity, Dr. Moxom's argument for immortality, Prof. Goodspeed's study of the dead religions, Dr. Washburn's kindly survey of Mohammedanism, Rev. Mr. Slater's similarly sympathetic review of Hindu ideas, and Rev. Mr. Candlin's powerful plea for union among Christians as a moral support to mission work, not to mention other notable papers, would alone make a book almost unexampled in significance and interest.

The Treasury of Religious Thought closes the year with an excellent number. Its literary table is spread for all, and on it will be found an abundance and variety of timely food, amply sufficient for a feast of reason and a flow of soul. Dr. Christlieb, of Louisville, is honored with the first place. His portrait, sermon, sketch of life and view of church are given. The sermon by Prof. Anthony, of Cobb Divinity School, should be carefully read. Driftwood, by Rev. C. H. Ricketts, is a capital sermon for young people. Suitable thoughts for Christmas are given by Revs. M. M. MacLeod and E. E. Burroughs; and Rev. John McNeill, Dr. Duryea and Dr. Dowling furnish excellent Sermonic Thoughts. Dr. John Hall supplies an excellent paper on the line of Higher Criticism. Dr. E. M. Deems discusses the influence of Christianity on the Physical Life of Mankind, and Rev. E. E. Hatch, The Church and the Farmer. The Catacombs of Early Rome is pleasantly treated by Miss E. Hurll, late of Wellesley College. Reconciliation to God is furnished by Rev. W. W. Taylor. Persia is described as a Mission Field. Dr. Kitchen describes the Eastern Hackmill. Thoughts for Family Life are many and seasonable. The Sunday-school Lessons are ably treated by Dr. Moment. Current Religious and Secular Thoughts are amply handled. Beautiful Thoughts and Illustrative Thoughts are generously supplied. Yearly, $2.50. Clergymen, $2 Single copies 25 cents. E. B. Treat, publisher, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

Our Little Men and Women, for December, sounds the true Christmas note. "My Neighbors on the Ganges," "The House that Was Made for Me," "Three Little Gold-Diggers," "A Little Columbian Grandpapa," and "Clook o' the Year," will always bring to mind agreeable association, helpful thoughts, and an incentive to push on, spite of everything, to the attainment the boy and girl who lives in the story has won. Price $1 00 a year; 10 cents a number.

The Pansy, for December, is always a welcome visitor. The Pansy is even more attractive and fascinating in the improved magazine features it assumed at the beginning of its new volume. The Christmas number emphasizes the peace and good-will the season denotes in every expression of picture and story. Pansy's serial discloses phases of character and modes of life that no other writer can so well depict. Margaret Sidney urges the need and shows the impoitance of true individual worth of character through her Golden Discovery papers, with a touch few writers have excelled. "Why the Chimes Rang," is significant of a truth which will appeal to everyone. The Christian Endeavor Bulletin, Our Mission Bulletin; Greek Literature Papers, The Baby's Corner, and Daily Thoughts, all teem with the joy of Christmas tide, and impart a freshness and vigor which will enthuse and inspire as only noble helps and noble aids can do. Price $1.00 a year; 10 cents a number.

Volume I. of the two-volume edition of the Funk & Wagnalls Standard Dictionary of the English language was issued on Dec. 16. This volume has been four years in making; two hundred and thirty-eight editors and specialists have been employed upon it, and the cash outlay has been about a half million dollars. The advance orders for the work mount up into the tens of thousands.

The following letter was received by the publishers from a well-known gentleman, prominently identified with the late World's Fair at Chicago:

Mines and Mining Building,
Jackson Park, Ill.

Messrs. FUNK & WAGNALLS,

Gentlemen: "I am pleased to inform you that the Standard Dictionary has been granted an award (diploma and medal) in group No. 150. The exact wording of all the awards will not be announced for probably three or four weeks."

The Dictionary exhibit consisted of a number of proof sheets, as the work was only part in type—this fact makes the award more significant. The award of diploma and medal is the only class of awards granted. A gentleman who was present during the examination informs the publishers that the judges devoted nearly three hours to a critical inspection of the sheets (it was a very unusual thing to devote so much time to the examination of any exhibit), comparing the definitions with those of other dictionaries, and that they frequently expressed themselves as highly pleased and in favor of the features of the STANDARD. At the close of the examination one of the judges remarked: "I have the best of other dictionaries, but this work has desirable features that others have not. I must possess a copy when it is published."

The vocabulary of the STANDARD is extraordinarily rich and full, that of no other Dictionary nearly equalling it, although great care was taken to throw out all useless words.

The following is an actual count of words and phrases recorded under the letter A:

STORMONTH Dictionary, total terms in A	4,692
WORCESTER Dictionary, total terms in A	6,983
WEBSTER (International) Dictionary, total terms in A	8,358
CENTURY DICTIONARY, total terms in A	15 621
THE STANDARD DICTIONARY. TOTAL TERMS IN A	19,736

The full number of words and terms in these dictionaries for the entire alphabet is as follows: Stormonth 50 000; Worcester, 105 000; Webster (International), 125 000. Century (six volumes, complete), 225,000; STANDARD, 300,000.

A person is prematurely old when baldness occurs before the forty-fifth year. Use Hall's Hair Renewer to keep the scalp healthy and prevent baldness.

Admiral Mello's fleet warships, the Aquidaban and the Republica, passed Pernambuco, on Dec. 25, sailing northeast. The Nictheroy has gone in pursuit of them. A desperate naval fight is expected when they meet.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Philip Werlein,

New Orleans, wants you to write to him if you want to get a good Piano cheap, or an Organ, Music or Musical Instruments. His is the old reliable music store of New Orleans.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg...(Conf., 2 P. M., Tues.)	Dec. 24, 30
Ellisville.....(Conf., 7 P. M., Fri.)	29, 30, 31
Moss Point.....(Conf., 7 P. M., Fri.)	Jan. 5, 6, 7
Americus—Escatawpa .....(Wed.)	10
Vancleave, at Mt. Carmel	13, 14
Biloxi.....Conf., 7 P. M., Wed.)	17 18
O Springs—Scranton, at O S	20, 21
Bay St. Louis, at Long Beach	27, 28
Whittington, at Colerville(Conf., Mon.)	28, 29
Heidelberg al H (Conf., 8 P. M., Fri.)	Feb. 2, 3, 4
Augusta, at Pamelia	10, 11
Williamburg, at Good Hope	17, 18
Mt Carmel, at Blountville(Conf., Mon.)	18, 19
Columbia, at Columbia.....(Wed.)	21
Purvis, at Lumberton	24, 25
Eastabuchia, at Hebron	Nov. 2, 4
Covington, at Covington(Conf., 7 P. M.)	10, 11
Tallisbeck, at Parkerville....(Wed.)	14
Pearlington.....(Conf., 7 P. M.)	17, 18

Other preaching appointments: Zion Church, Jan. 8, night; Caswell Spring, Jan. 2, morning; Shiloh, Jan. 12, night; Tallisbeck C. G., Monday morning and afternoon, Feb. 12; Nicholson, Thursday night, Feb. 15. Let Church Conference be held at each appointment practicable, fast day be observed and Quarterly Conference Records brought to quarterly meeting. A "consecration service" will be held the Saturday night of each meeting.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crawford Street—Vicksburg	Dec. 23, 24
South Vicksburg	24, 25
South Warren, at Red Bone	30, 31
Jefferson street—Natchez	Jan. 6, 7
Wesley Chapel—Natchez	7, 8
Washington, at Washington	13, 14
Fayette and Harriston, at Fayette	20, 21
Roxie, at Hamburg	27, 28
Meadville, at Oak Grove	Feb. 3, 4
Martin, at Cane Ridge	10, 11
Learned, at Learned	17, 18
Utica station	24, 25
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge	Mar. 3, 4
Hermanville, at Hermanville	10, 11
Port Gibson station	17, 18
Warren, at Bradley's	24, 25
Mayersville, at Mayersville	31, Apr. 1
Rolling Fork and Anguilla, at A	7, 8
Cary, at Cary	14, 15

The district stewards will meet in the Methodist Church in Port Gibson, Jan. 8, at 8 A. M. Let each pastoral charge be represented in this meeting.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

Postoffice: Port Gibson, Miss.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Yazoo City	Dec. 31
Jackson—Capitol Street	Jan. 6, 7
Jackson—First Church	0, 7
Edwards	13, 14
Silver Creek and B Lake, at B Lake	20, 21
Jackson circuit, at Flagg Chapel	27, 28
Flora, at Flora	Feb. 3, 4
Sharon, at Lone Pine	10, 11
Canton .....(night)	11
Benton, at Benton	17, 18
Yazoo cir., at Short Creek....(Tues.)	20
Bolton, at Bolton	24, 25
Lake City and Lodi, at Lake City	Mar. 3, 4
Camden, at Shrock's	10, 11
Tranquil, at Locust Grove	17, 18
Madison, at Madison	24, 25
Mount Olivet, at Bentonia	31, Apr. 1

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Capitol Street, Jackson, Wednesday, 2 P. M., Feb. 7, 1894.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

McComb City	Jan. 6, 7
Magnolia, at M	13, 14
Brookhaven	20, 21
Gallman, at Bethesda	27, 28
Crystal Springs .....(night)	28
Terry, at Terry	Feb. 3, 4
Wesson station	10, 11
Adams at A	17, 18
Bowerton, at Rehoboth.....(Fri.)	28
Lebanon at Brandywine	24, 25
Caseyville, at Sweetwater....(Fri.)	Mar. 3
Beauregard, at Mathews	3, 4
Pleasant Grove, at P Grove...(Fri.)	9
Providence, at Bahala	10, 11
Summit, at Bogue Chitto	17, 18
Martinsville	24, 25
Hazlehurst .....(night)	25
China Grove, at Waterboles	31, Apr. 1

The district stewards and trustees of district parsonage of Brookhaven district are earnestly requested to meet at 9 o'clock A. M., Wednesday, Jan. 17, in Brookhaven, in the pastor's study. Pastors cordially invited. All entertained.

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian—East End	Dec. 23
Meridian—West End.....(night)	24
Meridian—Central and South Side	30
Enterprise and Stonewall, at E	Jan. 6
Vossburg circuit, at Vossburg	1
Leake ville circuit, at Adamsville	2
W'boro and State Line, at W.(Tues.)	23
Waynesboro cir., at Mt. Hebron(Th.)	15
Eucutta circuit, at Eucutta	78
Shubuta circuit, at Shubuta (Tues.)	30
Matherville circuit, at Liberty(Thurs.)	Feb. 1
Bluesville circuit, at Scooba	3, 4
North Kemper circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	10, 11
DeKalb circuit, at DeKalb	11, 12
Linwood circuit, at Bethel	17, 18
Daleville and Soule Chapel, at D	18, 19
Lauderdale circuit, at Lauderdale	24, 25
Marion circuit, at Lockhart	25, 26
Why Not circuit, at Why Not	Mar. 2, 4
Chunkey circuit, at Chunkey (Tues.)	16

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Inka circuit, at Snowdown	Dec. 23
Inka station	24, 25
Booneville circuit, at Carolina	20, 21
Corinth circuit, at Box's Chapel	Jan. 6, 7
Corinth station	7, 8
Kossuth, at Maddin	13, 14
Rienzi, at Rienzi	20, 21
Booneville and Baldwyn, at Booneville	25
Marietta, at Bodges	27, 28
Pleasant Ridge, at Pleasant Ridge	Feb. 2
Brown's Creek, at Mt. Nebo	3, 4
Guntown, at Guntown	10, 11
Blue Springs, at Olive Springs	17, 18
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	22
Ripley circuit, at Paynes	24, 25
Ripley and New Albany, at New A	Mar. 3, 4
New Albany circuit, at Locust Grove	10, 11

District stewards' meeting at Booneville, Jan. 17 and 18. A full attendance is very much desired.

T. W. LEWIS, P. E.

KOSCIUSKO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Kosciusko and Durant, at Kosciusko	Dec. 10, 17
Pickens circuit, at Goodman	23, 24
Poplar Creek, at Friendship	28
Sallis, at Spring Dale	30, 31
Belzoni, at Belzoni	Jan. 6, 7
Lexington and Tchula, at Lexington	13
Eupora circuit, at Eupora	13, 14
Kosciusko, at Bethel	20, 21
Rural Hill, at Macedonia	20
Ethel, at Ethel	27, 28
Wier circuit, at Wier	Feb. 2
Chester, at Chester	3, 4
Ebenezer, at Ebenezer	10, 11
Stewart, at Foster Grove	12
Louisville, at Louisville	17, 18

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Jonestown	Dec. 17
Gunnison	24
Arcola	31
Hollandale	Jan. 7
Greenville	14
Tunica	21
Lula	28
Duncan	Feb. 4
Clarksdale	11
Cleveland	18
Shaw	28
Hill House	Mar. 4
Friar's Point	11
Rosedale	18
Bullivar	28

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, Jan. 18, 7.30 P. M.

The district stewards are: J. D. Smith, J. T. Sims, J. E. Rather, R. E. Gray, Geo. Shelby, W. O. Harris, G. R Page, C. W. Portee, T. H. McKenzie, J. H. Johnson, C. H. Fant, Dr. W. P. Barton, E. H. Moore, Price Blanchard, J. W. Mason.

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec. 2, 10
Tibbee	23 24
Columbus station	30, 31
West Point	Jan. 6, 7
Crawford	13, 14
Starkville circuit	18
Columbia circuit	20, 21
Sparta	27, 28
Brooksville	Feb. 3, 4
Cedar Bluff	10, 11
Mashulaville	17, 18
Ahnquelak	21
Macon	24, 25
Sturges	Mar. 2, 4
Hebron	10, 11

The district stewards will please meet me at Artesia, Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 10 o'clock A. M.

T. C. WIER, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—FIRST ROUND.

Minter City and Strathmore, at M. C	Dec. 30, 31
Chapel Hill, at Mars Hill	Jan. 4
Grenada circuit, at Bethel	6, 7
Grenada station	13, 14
Tillatoba, at Tillatoba.....(Thurs.)	18
Charleston, at Charleston	20, 21
Coffeeville, at Coffeeville	27, 28
Water Valley circuit, at Pine Flat	Feb. 3, 4
Abbeville, at Abbeville.....(Fri.)	9
Oxford station	10, 11
Toccopola, at Lafayette Sp'gs(Thurs.)	15
Paris, at Salem	17, 18
Ecru, at Hurricane	24, 25
Pittsboro, at Pittsboro	Mar. 3, 4
Atlanta, at Beneta	4, 5

The district stewards will meet at Grenada, Jan. 12, 1894.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sardis	Dec. 10
Como	17
Coldwater	24
Batesville	31
Senatobia	Jan. 6, 7
Pleasant Hill	13, 14
Nesbit	20, 21
Courtland	27, 28
Pleasant Grove	Feb. 3, 4
Morgansville .....(Wed.)	7
Arkabutla	10, 11
Cockrum.....(Thurs.)	15
Wall Hill	17, 18
Tyro.....(Tues.)	20
Panola	24, 25

The district stewards will all please meet me in the Methodist Church, Senatobia, Jan. 8, at 11 A. M., for the transaction of important business.

H. C. MOREHEAD, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Prairie circuit, at Muldon	Dec. 30, 31
Aberdeen	Jan. 4
Verona and Nettleton, at Verona	6, 7
Tupelo	8
Okolona circuit, at Blackville	13, 14
Okolona station	15
Shannon circuit, at Pleasant Grove	20, 21
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley	27, 28
Buena Vista, at Pleasant Grove	Feb. 2, 4
Saltillo, at Mooresville	10, 11
Amory and Smithville, at Greenbriar	17, 18
Nettleton, at Union	22
Fulton, at Fulton	24, 25
Pontotoc, at Pontotoc	Mar. 3, 4
Tremont, at New Salem	7
Athens, at New Hope	10, 11

The district stewards will meet at Tupelo, Jan. 17, in the Methodist Church, at two o'clock P. M. It is important that every charge be represented. Brethren, please come.

W. S. LAGRONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Greenwood station	Dec. 16, 17
Winona	24
Carrollton	30, 31
Indianola	Jan. 6, 7
Sidon	13, 14
Valden	20, 21
Black Hawk	27, 28
West	Feb. 3, 4
Winona circuit	10, 11
McNutt	17, 18
Carrollton circuit	24, 25
Brooklyn and Dublin	Mar. 3, 4
Leherton	10, 11

District stewards' meeting will convene in Greenwood, Miss., Jan. 13, at 2:30 P. M., at the M. E. Church.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Potts' Camp, at Potts' Camp	Jan. 6, 7
Holly Springs station	13, 14
Byhalia, at Byhalia	20, 21
Waterford, at Waterford	27, 28
Holly Springs circuit, at Hudsonville	Feb. 3, 4
Olive Branch, at Olive Branch	10, 11
East Holly S. circuit, at Harmony	17, 18
Cornersville, at ——	24, 25
Red Banks, at Wesley Chapel	Mar. 3, 4
Asbland, at Salem	10, 11
Mt. Pleasant, at Mt. Pleasant	17, 18

The district stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church, in Holly Springs, at 11 A. M., Jan. 15, 1894.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Morgan City	Dec. 30, 31
Patterson	Jan. 6, 7
Jeanerette	10, 11
Franklin	12, 14
Cypremort	17
New Iberia	20, 21
Lafayette	23, 24
Opelousas	27, 28
Washington	Feb. 3, 4
Abbeville	10, 11
Pisquemine Brules	17, 18
Indian Bayou	24, 25
Crowley	Mar. 3, 4
Lake Charles	10, 11
Jackson street and West Lake	12
Grand Chenier	17, 18
Lake Arthur	24, 25
Sulphur Mine	27, 28

The district stewards are requested to meet at Lafayette, Jan. 24.

J. M. BEARD, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lisbon circuit, at Lisbon	Jan. 6, 7
Summerfield circuit, at Harmony	10
Farmerville, at Farmerville	13, 14
Downsville, at Downsville	18
Vernon and Gansville, at Vernon	18
Calhoan and Lapine, at Indian Village	20, 21
Haynesville, at Haynesville	27, 28
Homer station	28, 22
Tulip, at Tulip	20
Valley, at Pleasant Valley	Feb. 3, 4
Minden, at Minden	4, 8
Ringgold, at Andrew Chapel	8
Sparta, at Ebenezer	8
Arcadia, at Arcadia	10, 11
Vienna, at Vienna	17, 18
Ruston, at Ruston	18, 18

District stewards will meet at the district parsonage in Arcadia, Wednesday, Jan. 24, 1894.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lecompte	Dec. 30, 31
Everareen, at Bunkie	Jan. 6, 7
Melville at M	13, 14
Chicot, at C	20, 21
Simsport at Riverside	27, 28
Ada, at Palestine	Feb. 3, 4
Pineville, at Fellowship	10, 11
Alexandria	11, 12
Centerville	17, 18
Montgomery, at Atlanta	24 28
Winfield	26, 27
Columbia	Mar. 3, 4
Spring Creek, at C. G	10, 11
Dry Creek	17, 18
Nugent mission	24, 25
Boyce	31, Apr. 1

S. J. DAVIES, P. E.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

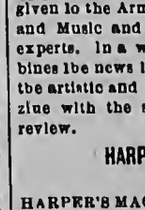
West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

BABY'S BLOOD AND SKIN

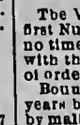
Cleansed and purified of every humor, eruption, and disease by the celebrated

CUTICURA REMEDIES



These great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies afford immediate relief in the most torturing of Itching and Burning Eczemas and other itching, scaly, crusted, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Thousands of grateful testimonials attest their wonderful, unfailing, and incomparable efficacy. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston. "All About the Skin, Scalp, and Hair," mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.



HOW MY SIDE ACHES!

Aching Sides and Back, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains, and Rheumatism relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing, strengthening plaster.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC For CHOIRS and SUNDAY-SCHOOLS Address, The Beke Music Co., LaFayette, Ind. FREE

1894.

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is beyond all question the leading journal in America, in its splendid illustrations, in its corps of distinguished contributors, and in its vast army of readers. In special lines, it draws on the highest order of talent, the men best fitted by position and training to treat the leading topics of the day. In fiction, the most popular story-writers contribute to its columns. Superb drawings by the foremost artists illustrate its special articles, its stories, and every notable event of public interest; it contains portraits of the distinguished men and women who are making the history of the time, while special attention is given to the Army and Navy, Amateur Sport, and Music and the Drama, by distinguished experts. In a word, HARPER'S WEEKLY combines the news features of the daily paper and the artistic and literary qualities of the magazine with the solid critical character of the review.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

Per Year:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE	$4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY	4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR	4 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE	2 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

The Volumes of the WEEKLY begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY for three years back, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume) for $7 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of $1 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address: HARPER & BROTHERS, NEW YORK.

FREE by return mail, full descriptive circulars of MOODY'S NEW and MOODY'S IMPROVED TAILOR SYSTEMS OF DRESS CUTTING. Revised to date. These, only, are the genuine TAILOR SYSTEMS invented and copyrighted by PROF. O. W. MOODY. Beware of imitations. Any lady of ordinary intelligence can easily and quickly learn to cut and make any garment in any style, to any measure, for ladies, men and children. Garments guaranteed to fit perfectly without trying on. Address MOODY & CO., CINCINNATI, O.

WALL PAPER.

Heath, Schwartz & Co.,

LIMITED.

Our Fixed Policy is to sell only first-class goods, and at very low prices.

We Offer You Beautiful Lines of

WALL PAPER,

Mattings, Window Shades, Upholstering Goods, Stair Carpets.

Etc.

Beautify your house. Make it bright Long evenings are coming.

Samples sent to country free of charge.

116 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water.

W. W. Wilkinson's Matchless Mineral Water is still on sale at Gloster, Miss., by Wm. B. Hines, as heretofore, and as advertised in this NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Now I wish sub-agents all over Louisiana and Mississippi, who can have circulars by writing to me for them. Will be glad to have the same patronage given heretofore by friends and sick ones. This water is making wonderful cures. WM. B. HINES.

Evergreen College,

EVERGREEN, LA.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Offers Board and Tuition from Dec. 27, 1893, to the end of the present session for $72. Special offer. Address

C. C. WIER.